Shoot To Kill, Ordered In Shanghai Rioting

MAYOR ACTS AS VIOLENCE STILL RAGES

MOOSA

Many Injured, Reports Of Deaths Denied—Blame Put On Communists

Shanghai, Monday, Dec. 2 (AP)—Shoot-to-kill orders were issued to police last night, and the Woosung garrison declared an emergency as shuttered Shanghai strove to choke off bloody rioting which authorities blamed on the Communists.

At least 100 persons were reported injured and property damage was high in the wreckage of shops, automobiles and streetcars from the riots which began Saturday with the wholesale arrest of unlicensed sidewalk vendors.

Carry On, Mayor Urges Business

In an emotion-choked broadcast last night, Shanghai's Princeton-educated Mayor K. C. Wu, ordinarily suave and serene, announced he had ordered police to shoot to kill anyone disturbing the peace or carrying unauthorized arms. He said no one had yet been killed, despite reports to the contrary.

One unconfirmed report said seven were dead, but the Mayor insisted that all death reports were incorrect.

An Associated Press photographer was prevented by police from investigating or picturing two bodies which lay under blankets in the Whangpoo station yard.

In the latest pitched battle, about 10 A.M. yesterday, he saw at least three persons shot down, but the crowd whisked them off before it could be determined whether they were dead.

Clashes Through Day And Night

Firing continued frequently through the day and night, with the police station the favorite target of snipers, but most of the mob relied on bricks, stones, bottles and almost any portable objects as weapons.

The Mayor appealed to all places of business to reopen today. Most were closed yesterday under threat of the riot leaders to smash them if they opened.

Proclamation of the Mayor's orders were posted throughout the city.

Dozens Of Shops Reopen

Dozens of Shanghai shops reopened this morning. Many stores, however, still were closed and tightly shuttered, with their proprietors evidently fearful of further violence.

The day began quietly, and at mid-morning a municipal spokesman said, "we think we have the situation under control."

Wu announced that the Woosung garrison had been placed in a state of emergency and that martial law—never repealed since the liberation—was being strictly invoked for the first time.

Mayor Blames Communists

Rifle-bearing members of the peace-preservation corps yesterday patrolled the tense streets, in which the unwonted silence was broken by intermittent gunfire. Regular troops had not yet been called in, however.

The Mayor told foreign correspondents flatly that he held the Communist underground responsible for the outbreak and said they were terrorists whose sole aim was to destroy the peace and security of this greatest city in China.

In his statements for domestic consumption he did not name the Communists, possibly fearing that this would aggravate a situation which already was the ugliest since Japanese occupation. The Mayor long has been known as a political middle-of-the-road man.

The Mayor said, however, that representatives of the sidewalk merchants visited him at his home yesterday and gave him a written declaration that they were not responsible for the rioting. This was an indirect way of accusing the Communists.

The rioting began Saturday in front of the Whangpoo police station, where scores of arrested peddlers had been taken.

Failing to storm the jail, which police defended with fire hoses, tear gas, guns and clubs, the mob spread outside through the heart of Shanghai, wrecking and looting. A theater near the race course was seized by the rioters for use as headquarters.

The uproar continued all Saturday night and there was sporadic firing all day yesterday. Shops which opened yesterday were wrecked.

Last night the city presented a grim appearance. All stores on the once-thriving thoroughfares were shuttered and dark. The usually noisy nightlife was almost completely stilled.

Night Spots Heed Advice

Keepers of several foreign-owned bars and cabarets said well-dressed Chinese called on them and in impeccable English advised them to close immediately or risk "plenty of trouble." The perators said they did not know these Chinese but took them at their word and closed.

A careful check of riot incidents indicated that anti-foreign feeling was not a factor in the rioting, although some foreigners said their faces were punched by ruffians who stopped their cars.

Some of the attackers, they said, shouted, "Down with Nanking," and "Chou En-lai is right." Chou En-lai is China's No. 2 Communist and recent unsuccessful negotiator with the Government.

Situation Is "Very Bad"

All American service personnel and dependents were restricted to quarters to avoid trouble.

Mayor Wu told the Associated Press he had authorized the peddlers to work on certain streets and had released all those arrested but "the situation is very bad. Restoration of normalcy depends entirely on the Communists. This is well-organized terrorism."

The Mayor said he had made a full report to Nanking, where there was good reason to believe it was getting Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's personal attention.

Set Up Since Jap Surrender

Since the Japanese surrender, several thousand peddlers have set up businesses on Shanghai's principal streets. They sell meals and hawk all sorts of merchandise, including cigarette lighters, chocolate, belts, clothing, bolts of cloth and United States Army rations, much of which is believed to have been stolen.

These vendors undersell regular storekeepers and make many of the streets virtually impassable, including the famous Bund.

For a long time Mayor K. C. Wu was reluctant to clean them out, saying that many were refugees from Communist-controlled areas and that they had to make a living. Many Shanghai citizens, however, contended the peddlers included more local business racketeers than bona fide refugees.

Return After Roundups

Police drives were started against them, but after every roundup the hawkers returned to their old beats, as clamorous as ever. Many spread their wares on cloths which they could gather up hurriedly and retreat when police appeared.

In the past few days police determined to stamp out this condition, which was generally regarded as a public nuisance. Scores were arrested Saturday and jailed in the Whangpoo police station.

Rumors, which authorities said were Communist-inspired, spread that several had died in jail. Immediately thousands of persons gathered outside the station and began demonstrations which turned into general rioting.

CAMERA CLICKS AS MOB RIOTS

F. HAMPSON

AP Photographer In Thick Of Shanghai Street Strife

Shanghai, Dec. 1 (AP)—Photographing the Shanghai riots for twenty consecutive hours, Don Carlos da Costa Roque, Associated Press cameraman, narrowly missed death or injury several times and finally was arrested by city police.

The 22-year-old China-born Portuguese was released after an appeal to Mayor K. C. Wu.

Roque said he first arrived on the scene about 2.30 P.M. Saturday to find a howling crowd menacing the Whangpoo Police Station in the old French concession.

Two Bodies Under Blankets

Two bodies lay under blankets in the station compound. A policeman with drawn bayonet chased the photographer when he attempted to take a picture.

Then the mob tried twice to storm the station. Snapping pictures, Roque was struck with a brick and a thrown bottle but said it was worth it because he got some action closeups at 10 feet.

As police drove the rioters back, he said he aimed his camera and was fired upon by a policeman with an automatic weapon.

Blanks?—Heard Bullets Whistle

"The police claimed they were shooting blanks, but I heard bullets whistle," he said.

Throughout Saturday night and Sunday the camera man alternated between police and riot sides, photographing the looting of numerous shops.

"Once the mob built a bonfire of loot in view of the police station," he said.

"Another time I saw a shopkeeper with his money sack running from the mob. I took a picture and the flash bulb startled the crowd so that the merchant escaped."

After daylight today, he climbed a ladder to a power pole for a picture while the mob shouted encouragement. He barely got down, however, for someone chose his ladder to use as a battering ram against a shop door.

"At 10 o'clock this morning another pitched battled broke out and police fired into the crowd," he said. "I saw one boy and two men shot. The boy was only 5 feet from me. I think he was dead. Before I could make sure, the mob stopped a bus, loaded the victims into it and drove it away."

Then The Police Nab Him

A few minutes later Roque was between the lines when persons on the fifth floor of the Chungwei Bank Building began shooting into the police station.

At this juncture the police arrested him, saying they had decided there should be no more pictures.

"I recognized many of the demonstrators as sidewalk hawkers," he said, "but there were thousands in it who were not. Maybe they were Communists, as the Mayor says. I don't know; I can't recognize a Communist by looking at him."

GROUP NAMED TO SCAN VETO

1946 J. PARRIS

United Nations Move Follows British Proposal On Curbs

San Francisco, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Chronicle said tonight it had learned "on high authority" that the Army has agreed to give up the San Francisco Presidio as a permanent home for the United Nations.

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 1 (AP)—Despite Britain's assertion that it was a move to "pass the baby," the 54-member United Nations Political and Security Committee tonight appointed a subcommittee to study all proposals affecting the use of the big power veto voting privilege in the Security Council.

This development came at the close of a three-hour session in which Great Britain submitted seven suggestions aimed at softening the use of the veto but declared that the big powers must presently retain their special voting privilege because they might be outvoted on some issue of vital interest to them.

Issue Sidetracked Again

In sending the controversial issue to the subcommittee, the United Nations once again sidetracked any immediate action on the veto problem.

Australia, foremost opponent of the veto, contended that it was impossible to secure an agreement on the various resolutions before the committee, particularly her own and one submitted by Russia.

The Soviet Union, however, readily accepted the proposal for a subcommittee to study the issue. The United States, Britain and Australia is opposed to the suggestion, but the committee voted, 33 to 8, to set up the subcommittee, comprising the Big Five, Australia, Peru, Cuba, the Philippines, Poland, Denmark, India, Argentina and Venezuela.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, of Britain, in opposing establishment of the subcommittee, declared "this is just passing the baby."

Instructed To Meet Today

The subcommittee was instructed to meet tomorrow morning and attempt to work out a resolution on the veto that would be acceptable to both large and small powers.

Resolutions have been submitted by Australia, Cuba, Peru, the Philippines, Russia and Argentina. The most drastic is that of Cuba which calls for abolition of the veto.

The big powers were agreed that the veto must be retained for the present at least.

Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas), United States representative on the Political Committee, defended the veto, but said the permanent members of the Security Council should not use it indiscriminately.

"Vestiges Of Isolation"

Guillermo Belt, Cuban delegate who has proposed abolition of the veto, declared that "the United States defends the veto because there are still, unfortunately, vestiges of isolation in this country."

In taking up the veto issue today, the Political Committee momentarily sidetracked the all-important discussion on world-wide arms limitation. The committee, however, was scheduled to resume debate on the arms question tomorrow.

The British suggestions for softening the use of the veto were revealed to the committee by Shawcross. They were suggestions British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had presented to the major powers during private consultations on the veto.

1. The powers possessing the right of veto might agree among themselves to consult each other, where possible, before a vote is taken, if their unanimity is required to enable the Security Council to function effectively.

2. If there is not unanimity, it might be agreed that the minority of the permanent members, "mindful of the fact that they are acting on behalf of all the United Nations," would only exercise the veto where they consider the question of vital importance to the United Nations as a whole, and they would explain on what grounds they consider this condition to be present.

3. The permanent members might agree that they will not exercise their veto against a proposal simply because it does not go far enough to satisfy them.

4. The permanent members might agree to advocate rules of conduct for the Security Council providing that questions are only brought before the Security Council after other means of settlement have been tried and must then be presented in proper form to the Council.

Procedure Rules Suggested

5. The permanent members might agree to support the establishment of further rules of procedure for the conduct of the Security Council's business, such as appointing a rapporteur or a committee of some of its members to make a further attempt at conciliation before resorting to the final discussion and voting.

6. It might facilitate the work of the Security Council if a formula could be devised on which all would agree, for the definition of a "dispute."

7. It would be of great advantage if it were possible to provide, by some means, that a permanent member could abstain from voting without automatically vetoing the proposal, similarly, that mere absence of a permanent member should not have the effect of a veto.

Pleads With Russia

Sir Hartley pleaded with Russia to "move a little towards our point of view so we can together evolve a joint plan which will serve the common interests of all." However, he said Britain would not vote for any proposal that would lead to any revision of the Charter.

"The plain fact is," he said, "that the great powers, each of them, must retain the right of veto last, by a combination of other powers, whose voting strength is greater than their real size or influence in the world, they may be involved in some vital interest of theirs."

Sir Hartley declared that "we must move towards a new conception and new treatment of vital interests."

"The excessive exercise of the veto is not the disease," he said. "It is only a symptom. The disease is the lack of confidence, the suspicion, the rivalry which overshadows the relations of the great powers."

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky then submitted a draft resolution to the committee calling upon the General assembly to express "the confidence that in the future the Security Council shall duly take into account the experience of its work during the preceding period with a view to secure conditions which would be as favorable as possible to the adoption of agreed decisions."

The resolution, however, said that international cooperation should be extended among all nations, large and small, "while avoiding excessive regimentation and formalism in the activity of their bodies."

U.N. Delegates' Display Of Amity Token Of Peace

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 1 (AP). The United States and Russia won applause from the United Nations Political Committee and spectators at a committee meeting today with a display of friendship by Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas) and Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Vice Foreign Minister.

During his address on the veto question, Connally, gesturing with both arms, said, "We of the United States want peace with Great Britain on our left and the Soviet Union on our right."

As he extended his right arm to Vishinsky, the Soviet delegate seized his hand and shook it vigorously.

The committee chairman, Dmitri Manuilsky, of the Ukraine, noted the friendliness shown by Connally, Vishinsky and Sir Hartley Shawcross, of Great Britain, at the committee table, observing wryly, "The Chair is satisfied that peace exists in this committee."

London, Monday, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Daily Mail said today that songs and jokes which might offend ministers of the Labor Government will face "stenger scrutiny" from the Lord Chamberlain, the Government official who censors British stage productions.

The newspaper said that all jokes dealing with Cabinet members have been deleted by the Lord Chamberlain's staff from the songs and comedians' scripts for the forthcoming musical titled "Between Ourselves."

Geoffrey Coop, who wrote one of the songs, "The Left Honorables," a satirical number naming several ministers, was quoted by the newspapers saying the song was heavily cut and returned with a letter saying it was against the Lord Chamberlain's policy to allow such political ribbing.

The Lord Chamberlain's office declined comment, the Daily Mail said. The Earl of Clarendon is the present Lord Chamberlain.

Britain May Import Norwegian Power

London, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Sunday Dispatch reported today a British plan to import electric power from Norway via submarine cables is under consideration.

The paper said that British and Norwegian cable engineers, conferring in Norway, had agreed that Norway's surplus hydroelectric power could be sent to Scotland through 300-mile-long cables beneath the North Sea.

The Dispatch did not state whether the plan was sponsored by the British Government, which plans to nationalize the nation's industrial power industries to meet a growing fuel and power crisis.

McMahon Denies Report

PARIS, Monday, Dec. 2.—(AP) Senator Brien McMahon (D-Conn) denied today a story carried in the British newspaper Reynolds News which said he had told members of the British Parliament that the United States was making atomic bombs "600 times as powerful as those dropped on Japan."

McMahon was irate when told the publication said he had made the statement before a "hush hush" private meeting of members of Parliament of all parties.

M'MAHON A-BOMB TALK IN BRITAIN IS REPORTED

LONDON, Dec. 1 — (AP) Reynolds News said today that U. S. Senator Brien McMahon (D.-Conn.) had told a "hush-hush all-party meeting" of Parliament members recently that the United States was making atomic bombs "600 times as powerful as those dropped on Japan."

McMahon, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, visited England last month on a tour of Europe. He was reported today to be in Germany and could not be reached immediately for comment.

"While the general impression given by Mr. McMahon's speech was the need for international agreement on control of atomic power, the view was voiced by some M.P.'s that his revelations explained the pro-war section in America who claim that atom bombs must be used against the U.S.S.R. within the next few years," the Sunday newspaper said.

Germans Throughout U.S. Zone Approve New Constitution

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 1 (AP). German voters in today's election in Bavaria and Greater Hesse appeared to have approved overwhelmingly their new democratic constitutions, and the Hessians also apparently voted for socialization of basic industries, incomplete returns showed tonight.

Both German states are in the United States Occupation Zone.

The slightly left-of-center Social Democratic party apparently received a majority in the one-house legislature of Greater Hesse, while the Christian Social Union piled up a seemingly insurmountable margin in Bavaria.

CSU Suffers Losses

The church-supported Christian Social Union party, hitherto the most powerful party in the American zone, suffered substantial losses, chiefly in Greater Hesse, most highly industrialized state in the zone. In that state, where the party was known as the Christian Democratic Union, it lost up to 40 per cent of its previous support in some areas.

However, the CSU appeared to have held its own as No. 1 party in rural Bavaria. Nevertheless, American political analysts said that even there it had lost some support among conservative, strongly religious voters.

The voters turned out in large numbers in both states, despite cold, rainy weather. Estimates were that 75 per cent of the more than 7,000,000 eligible voters in the two states cast their ballots.

In some areas of both states invalid votes amounted to almost ten per cent, and military government observers regarded faulty ballot markings as "protest" or "abstention" votes.

Socialization Leads

Figures from 23 of 39 county districts in Greater Hesse gave these results:

For socialization of basic industries, 414,721; against, 164,818; invalid, 83,681.

For the constitution, 441,171; against, 141,122.

The popular vote received by parties in the balloting for legislative representations:

Social Democrats, 272,183.
Christian Democrats, 189,770.
Communists, 55,205.
Liberal Democrats (Right Wing), 112,681.

Guarantees 4 Freedoms

Included in the Hessian socialization program are mines, electric power, and railroads.

The new constitutions, previously approved by the United States occupation authorities, guaranteed freedoms of the press, religion, speech and assembly for the first time in thirteen years. Wuerttemberg-Baden, the third state in the United States Zone, adopted its constitution last Sunday.

Approximately 60 per cent of the Bavarian electorate voted. Returns from 30 of the 400 election districts, including almost all of Munich, showed: For the constitution, 269,800; against, 88,152.

Communists In 4th Place

The popular vote received by parties in the voting for legislative representatives:

Christian Social Union, 218,687.
Social Democrats, 90,102.
Communists, 16,931.
Economic Reconstruction Party (considered Rightists), 18,881.

Officials in Greater Hesse said votes were being counted by localities and that the overall total would not be known until each individual election district had completed its returns.

Favors Democratic Germany

Dr. James Newman, of Floral Park, Long Island, N.Y., director of the American Office of Military Government for Greater Hesse, said "the acceptance of the constitution and the election of a Landtag (legislative assembly) mark another step in the development of democracy in Germany."

Explaining that the United States policy favored a democratic Germany but not necessarily one based on American institutions, Dr. Newman added:

"We leave it to the people here to determine what form best suits them."

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 1 —(AP) The Rev. Martin Niemoeller took off for the United States today "to thank the church people there for the help they have given German churches since the end of the war."

Pastor Niemoeller said American churches had sent food to Germans and had lent money for rebuilding war-damaged German churches.

The World War I U-boat commander, who spent eight years in a concentration camp for his opposition to national socialism, was invited to the United States by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. In addressing the council next Wednesday at Seattle, he said, he will give his impressions of the church in Germany "and the lessons that can be drawn from the past 12 years, not only in relation to national socialism but in relection to the present times."

Pastor Niemoeller's trip was authorized by the American Military Government. It will be his first visit to the United States, and he palns to stay about eight weeks.

U.S. VETOES LENIN FABLE IN BERLIN

Controversy Flares Over Its Use In German Schools

DELUGE

Berlin, Dec. 1 (AP)—A Marxist fable about the Russian Revolution—vetoed by American educators as ideologically unfit for reading in Berlin schools—was fuel today for another controversy between United States and Soviet Military Government officials.

Titled "How Lenin And The Czar Divided The Russian People Between Themselves," the story relates the triumph of a "black-boned" proletariat over a worthless "white-boned" bourgeoisie.

The story was one of 45 selected from world literature by a German publisher. The stories were compiled into a book for children, with Soviet approval, and submitted to the four-power Kommandantur which rules Berlin.

Soviet, British and French members of the Kommandantur's education committee approved the reader. The American committeeman, Paul F. Shafer, followed a directive to block acceptance. The dispute has reached this week's agenda of the deputy Allied commandants.

Shafer, on leave as assistant superintendent of Los Angeles city schools, said the fable ridiculed landlords, business men and manufacturers as a whole and was an objectionable infiltration of class-warfare theories.

The American action was reported to be especially vexing to Otto Winzer, Moscow-trained German Communist, who has been chief of public education here since his appointment by the Russians shortly after the fall of Berlin.

If the Americans stand pat on their veto, the book cannot be used in the city.

When Shoe Was On Other Foot

Just a year ago the shoe was on the other foot, with Soviet educators attacking as "militaristic" two children's readers reprinted by the Americans from original Weimar texts.

The Americans admitted at that time they had overlooked the possible effect of a few Christmas verses about a little boy's dream of tin soldiers and a toy cannon, which the Russians complained gave the wrong slant to German re-education.

Several thousand copies of the readers were promptly shipped back from Berlin to the United States occupation zone.

The new Soviet-sponsored volume, "You And the World," contains writings by such varied authors as Mark Twain, Rudyard Kipling and Maxim Gorky. The piece under American attack was by the relatively obscure Lydia Sejfullina.

How Lenin Tricked The Czar

Miss Sejfullina imaginatively ascribed magical powers to Lenin and told of his tricking Czar Nicholas into giving him all the workers, peasants and soldier, while the Czar kept the upper classes and their riches as his own.

Only the peasants grumbled a bit at Lenin's bargain, because they said they needed money. But Lenin confidently laughed them into silence.

When the Czar tried to reconquer the "black bones," his "white-boned" followers proved worthless and were doomed to extinction.

British Map Relief Plan

HAMBURG, Germany, Dec. 1 (AP)—The British Military Government announced today that the Zonal Advisory Council had made sweeping proposals to alleviate what was described as "growing distress and lack of hope" in British-occupied Germany.

The recommendations include reduction in the exports of fuel and power, halting the dismantling of German factories, and the import of foods and fats to "save the population from further starvation and achieve the normal output of work."

The council, at a meeting last week, also urged release of prisoners of war, establishment of foreign credits to revive economic activity in the zone, the distribution of fertilizers and agricultural implements to farmers and the building of a fishing fleet.

WOMEN TO ACCUSE NAZI TORTURERS

HAMBURG, Dec. 1. — (AP) Twenty four brave women will face their torturers here Dec. 5 when the trial of the staff of Ravensbruck Concentration Camp begins.

LICHTBILDER

Romanian King Also Wants Better Relations With Britain

Bucharest, Dec. 1 (AP)—King Mihai today told Romania's first postwar Parliament that the country desired better relations with the United States and Britain.

No American or British military or political representative was present to hear the King's address.

Some of the old splendor and pomp of state was revived as the King drove to the Metropolitan Church to attend divine service and later went to open Parliament.

Approximately 100 Communist and Socialist members cheered loudly in welcoming the King. Some deputies wore full evening dress, but sober black coats and striped trousers predominated.

Latest Paris Hats Noted

The latest Paris fashions in ladies' hats proclaimed to onlookers in the galleries that women had come to Romania's Parliament for the first time and for keeps.

The King, whose eleven-minute royal address did not mention the new women members of Parliament, spoke in a matter-of-fact tone. He said he hoped Romania would receive a place among the United Nations, which he said the country deserved for breaking with the Axis powers. He hailed the Russian forces which liberated his country and spoke of improved relations with neighboring nations.

Warning the deputies of the difficulties ahead, the King underlined the economic goal, mentioning nationalization of the state bank, encouragement of private enterprise, a war against speculators and better salaries for civil servants and the army personnel. He pledged simplification in governmental administration. help for the church and improved modern arms for the Romanian Army within treaty stipulations.

Mentions Danube Basin

Dr. Petru Groza, the Premier, commenting after the opening ceremonies on the failure of some Western nations to recognize the present Romanian Government, said his regime was working for peace and order.

"The dollar runs away from insecurity," he said, adding that the security which the present regime offered in the Danube basin would encourage Western nations to trade with Romania and that trade in turn would bring recognition.

National Peasant and Liberal party members, constituting the opposition, confirmed to decisions of their Central Party committees, which refused to accept results of the recent election, were not present for the opening of Parliament.

20 Reported Dead In Magyar Exodus

Budapest, Nov. 30 [AP—Delayed]. The newspaper Vilaossag reported today from Rajka that twenty persons had lost their lives so far in the exodus of Maygars from Czechoslovakia.

[Czechoslovakia is promoting the exchange of 100,000 Maygars now living in that country for the same number of Slovaks from Hungary, as a step toward the elimination of the problem of national minorities.]

The Hungarian paper said a majority of those who died were presumed to have been drowned, although some who crossed streams to reach Hungary said they heard shots from the Czech side of the border at the time one boat overturned.

Meanwhile, Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, of Budapest, cabled appeals to Francis Cardinal Spellman, of New York, and Bernard Cardinal Griffin, of Westminster, England, asking them to urge immediate settlement of the Maygar-Slovak population problems.

DENIES HE ACCUSED MOSCOW EMBASSY

Elliott Roosevelt Repudiates United Press Sequel to Report in Newsweek

CLIPMORC

MOSCOW, Dec. 1 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt said tonight that he had not accused the United States Embassy or Embassy officials of being implicated in the publication of an off-the-record discussion he had soon after his arrival here.

"A correspondent who apparently sent out such a story is the very person who suggested to me that the Embassy was involved," he declared. "I am calling him right now to tell him this. I am also informing the Embassy here."

This referred to a United Press story, published in the United States, in which Mr. Roosevelt was quoted as saying that publication of his off-the-record remarks was a "put up job" by the American Embassy to bait him.

Reaching "Absurd Proportions"

"This is getting to be a tempest in a teapot, and reaching pretty absurd proportions, but I still don't like to be misquoted or to have the words of someone else attributed to me," Mr. Roosevelt asserted today.

"I may have something to say and something to write about how I think this original story of an off-the-record discussion got out from Moscow, but I am making no accusations now and I have made no accusations."

[The original story, published in Newsweek, quoted Mr. Roosevelt as citicizing the foreign policy of the United States and as saying that America had broken pledges made at Yalta, Potsdam and Teheran.]

Mr. Roosevelt said that he talked with his mother by radio telephone this afternoon and that they discussed American newspaper reports about his trip to Russia.

He left Moscow by train tonight for a trip in southern Russia expected to take about ten days.

Chet Shaw, executive editor of Newsweek, said here yesterday that "Newsweek stands by the statement in its original story that the material came from a reliable individual who attended the party."

He added in an interview with The Associated Press that Newsweek had wired Mr. Roosevelt yesterday offering to print a statement by him up to 500 words but had not received a reply.

'Pravda' Is Disturbed Over Iran Vote Outlook

Sees 'Foreign Imperialism' Pressing on Qavam

MOSCOW, Dec. 1 (AP).—The Communist party newspaper "Pravda" expressed concern today over the approaching Parliamentary elections in Iran and charged that the government of Premier Ahmad Qavam "either lacks the resolve or is unable to counter the ever-rising pressure of recationary circles." It blamed "agents of foreign imperialism."

The new Iranian Parliament, or Majlis, is to ratify a June 13 agreement according autonomy to Azerbaijan, a northern province bordering upon Russia.

Pravda Quotes Critic Of U.S. State Department

Moscow, Dec. 1 (AP)—Pravda carried today a dispatch from a New York correspondent criticizing the United States State Department for inviting Povilas Zadeikis to a diplomatic dinner as a representative of Lithuania.

[The United States has not recognized the incorporation of Lithuania, Latavia and Estonia into the Soviet Union].

The correspondent said State Department officials had "a weakness for dead souls," and were "losing a sense of a measure of decorum by retaining in the diplomatic register a 'representative' of the long nonexistenant Fascist government of Lithuania."

Moscow Press Assails Troop Census Revisions

Moscow, Dec. 1 (AP)—Moscow newspapers declared today that British-American amendments to the original Soviet proposal to the United Nations General Assembly for a troop census had reduced the plan when finally approved to "a misty, confused and to a considerable extent empty resolution."

Investit, the Government newspaper, charged that the British delegation deliberately tied up the troop census with the question of a general armaments reduction "in order to avoid the submission of concrete factual information on the presence of troops in foreign countries."

NEW PALESTINE PLAN OUTLINED

Peace Formula Published As Fresh Violence Is Probed

Jerusalem, Dec. 1 (AP)—A new seven-point plan reportedly suggested by Palestine Government experts for bringing peace to the Holy Land was published today as police questioned 52 persons in connection with last night's machine-gun attack on a police station and accompanying violence that injured two Jews and two British constables.

An official communique declared that the attackers were believed to have sustained injuries, and said that sixteen road mines had been removed from highways leading into the city.

Seven Points Summarized

The usually reliable Socialist Hebrew paper Mishmar published the latest plan for Palestine, and said the Palestine Government had offered it as a basis for future discussions among the Jews, Arabs and British. The seven points were:

1. Continuance of the present British mandate for fifteen years with a new decision possible after that time.

2. Opening Palestine to 100,000 Jews within the next eighteen months.

3. Federalizing Palestine into purely Jewish, Arab and British sectors with the British sector, including places of special interest to Christians.

Settlement Proposals

4. Halting further Jewish settlement where Arabs constitute more than 70 per cent of the population, and making land purchase for Jewish colonization possible in other areas only under certain conditions.

5. Jewish settlement in the southern Palestine desert, namely Negueb, to be permitted.

6. Establishment of separate Jewish and Arab police forces jointly headed by the British supreme police command.

7. Establishment of a legislative council of 40 per cent Jews, 40 per cent Moslem Arabs and 20 per cent Christian Arabs and other Christians to assist the mandatory administration.

[A foreign Office spokesman in London said he had not heard of the plan. He considered it "very unlikely" that such a proposal, if it existed, had reached any official level.]

Montgomery Goes To Athens

Meanwhile, Field Marshall Lord Montgomery, chief of the British imperial general staff, went to Athens after a series of conferences with military and other security officers.

A dispatch from Famagusta on Cyprus reported that approximately 1,500 men, women and children —part of the 4,000 Jewish immigrants who had been barred from Palestine last week—were landed there for removal to detention camps.

The landing was carried out quietly.

Palestine also was quiet today, with the only flurry of excitement an anonymous "bomb warning" received at the Jerusalem post office.

30 Jewish Youths Arrested In Cairo

Cairo, Dec. 1 (AP)—Police announced today the arrest of 30 Jewish youths said to be members of a Zionist-organized "Hebrew Association" and charged that they were planning terroristic action in Egypt.

The announcement said they were arrested in a raid last night on a Cairo school. The police declared the organization had 160 members and was financed by wealthy Egyptian Jews.

Opposes Assembly Delay

Bombay, Dec. 1 (AP)—Sardar Vallabhai Petel, Congress party leader and Home Minister in the interim Government, told a huge mass meeting tonight that nothing should be allowed to delay the scheduled meeting December 9 of India's constituent assembly.

Patel said he had declined an invitation to participate in a conference in London on Indian independence because he believed the solution of India's political problems was in India and not abroad.

Other leaders of the predominantly Hindu Congress party, together with representatives of the Moslem League and the Sikhs, agreed to fly to London from Karachi for the conference.

3,000 IN U.S. FLEET VISIT THE LEBANESE

DAVIDSON

People Seem 'Cordial . . . And Happy To See Us,' Says Vice Admiral Bieri

Beyrouth, Lebanon, Dec. 1 (AP)—Three thousand United States naval [illegible]rs and men with the United States Mediterranean fleet arrived here today on the biggest good-will tour the Lebanese capital has ever known and were received enthusiastically by officials and the people.

Vice Admiral Bernard H. Bieri, fleet commander, arrived aboard his flagship, the cruiser Fargo, and Rear Admiral John Perry aboard the carrier Randolph. Together with their staffs they made a round of visits to Lebanese dignitaries during the day.

President Bechara el Khoury was absent from the presidential palace inspecting Lebanese troops when the American visitors called.

Lebanese Cordial And Happy

"It's a very pleasant visit," Bieri commented. "The Lebanese seem genuinely cordial and happy to see us."

A wreath was placed on Lebanon's Monument of Martyrs, commemorating the deaths of eight patriots hanged during Turkish domination of the country, by Radar Operator Richard James Zander, 19, of Chicago, and Radarman Angelo Pluguez, 18, of New York city.

Some 1,500 of the sailors were permitted to go ashore and mingle with the population of 200,000 French-speaking Arabs.

"I Want To See Lake Erie"

Despite the festive air of the welcome, some homesickness was apparent among the bluejackets.

"I'd rather go home to see Esther (his wife) and Linda, my daughter, whom I've never seen," said William McNamara, 22, of Knoxville, Tennessee.

"I've seen the world, now I want to see Lake Erie," remarked Jack Kiehl, third class musician, of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, who has been in the navy for four years.

Fleet To Sail Wednesday

The fleet will remain here until Wednesday, when it will sail for Piraeus, the port of Athens. The ships are due back in Naples December 10. The Randolph will go to Malta from Piraeus before heading back for the United States.

Bieri said that the cruise by the nine vessels, which began November 18, was "for recreation and to acquaint our 3,000 officers and men with this part of the world."

HEAVY MANCHURIA FIGHTING LOOMS

NANKING, Dec. 1. — (AP) The focal point of China's civil war moved into wintry Manchuria today, with military sources indicating the next large - scale battles could be expected there rather than around the Communist capital of Yenan.

The Peiping official paper Chin Shih Jih Pao carried a confusing report that government forces had entered the Soviet-occupied Manchurian port of Dairen but admitted that this was denied by the highest Chinese authorities and was without confirmation.

Government authorities, however, confirmed that armies of Gen. Tu Li-Ming were within 50 miles of Dairen, and the reliable paper Hsin Min Pao said the distance was only 40 miles.

The same paper said Communists massed in Kirin Province of eastern Manchuria were making repeated attacks on the provincial capital of the same name. It is 60 miles east of Changchun, capital of all Manchuria.

Another Communist drive was reported still in progress against Nungan, 40 miles north of Changchun, but government sources reported it was repulsed and government troops had recaptured Fulungchuan, three miles west of Nungan.

Press dispatches from Peiping and Mukden said government troops in the northeast were well-equipped with warm clothing and might launch an attack against Communist-held Harbin to relieve any Red threat against Changchun.

In China proper, Hsin Min Pao said the Communists were moving 200,000 men into position for possible attacks on the Tsingtao-Tsinan railway, and other press dispatches said there was street fighting in the Shansi province town of Chinhsien, 125 miles southwest of Taiyuan, the provincial capital.

Pacific Is 'Definitely Ours,' Izac Tells Press In Tokyo

Tokyo, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Pacific "is definitely our ocean" and the United States must have "unilateral control" of islands which served the wartime military machine, Representative Ed V. Izac (D., Cal.) declared today.

Izac, chairman of the House Naval subcommittee now touring the Orient, advocated creation of a special American agency, directly responsible to the President, to administer the islands.

An Annapolis graduate and Congressional Medal of Honor winner in World War I, Izac told a conference of Japanese and Allied reporters "we evidently are the only ones who have the resources to administer these (Pacific) islands, which include the United States islands, those mandated to Japan, and islands mandated to other countries.

Others Too Far Away

"France is too far away and England is too far away. United States control would be for peace and for the welfare of the inhabitants."

Izac said military administration could be worked out by the Army and Navy, but civilian administration should be under a separate new agency which could recruit personnel from among experienced military government officers.

Another member of the subcommittee, Representative C. W. Bishop (R., Ill.), agreed that strategic Pacific islands might well be called "United States islands."

Conference With MacArthur

Bishop, Izac and their three fellow congressmen conferred for two hours with General MacArthur before holding their press conference.

Bishop said the supreme commander of the occupation told them he was "pleased with the progress made" in the American program in Japan and with "the co-operation of the Japanese people."

MacArthur told them, Bishop said, that "the occupation is not costing the American taxpayer anything," in contrast with the high costs in Germany.

No Ulterior Motives Seen

Japan is "practically self-sustaining and is paying for" the American program, while the Japanese people have been "above-board and forthright in voluntarily accepting the American program with no ulterior motives," he quoted MacArthur as saying.

Izac remarked that he had expected to find "smouldering resentment" in Japan, "but I've found none in our 24 hours here."

He inquired of the Japanese reporters if they were happier now that they were free of the old regimentation. A notable silence ensued.

"Some Don't Understand"

Finally a Kyodo News Agency man replied that those who knew what it was all about were happier, "but some people don't understand yet."

Present besides Izac and Bishop were Representative Andrew J. Biemiller (D., Wis.), Ned R. Healy (D., Cal.), and Michael J. Mansfield (D., Mont.) All said they felt that MacArthur was "doing a great job."

After visiting Yokosuka tomorrow, the party plans to go to Tsingtao, China, on Tuesday and return to the United States via Okinawa, the Philippines, Palau, Truk, the Carolines, Marshalls and Hawaii.

JAP SQUATTER MOVE DELAYED

16 Repatriates Await Reply To Demand For Peer's Home

Tokyo, Monday, Dec. 2 (AP)—Japan's newest "squatter" move died aborning as sixteen homeless repatriates who had demanded use of the empty home of Marquis Mori agreed to wait until Thursday for an answer.

"There was no trouble," the manager of the mansion said today. The repatriates, including two ex-soldiers on crutches, moved into the grounds—but not the house—briefly Saturday afternoon and "talked about space. We agreed to give them an answer Thursday. Then they left."

He added that no policemen were called.

Estimate 220,000 Without

Metropolitan police said recently that 220,000 persons would be without shelter here this winter, and that owners of large, vacant homes were disregarding Government pleas to make some space available.

Repatriates were merely checking space which might be available and not thrusting themselves in, the manager of the Mori residence explained.

The Kyodo news agency said the action resulted from a public meeting in Shiba ward at which it was concluded "there is no alternative but for homeless repatriates to open direct negotiations with holders of large houses with empty rooms."

Many wealthy Japanese families which have homes in Tokyo are living on country estates where the food problem is easier. Some of their unoccupied houses were requisitioned as residences for high-ranking Allied officers. Others have been the subject of lengthy discussions in connection with Tokyo's housing problem.

BEATING OF WAINWRIGHT TOLD AT JAP TRIAL

TOKYO, Monday, Dec. 2—(AP) General Wainwright, hero of Bataan, and other high ranking Allied officers held in a Formosa prison camp often "were beaten up by ordinary Japanese sentries, either for no offense or for an offense so trivial they did not know they had committed it," an Australian officer told the International War Crimes Court today.

Such beatings were daily occurrences in the camp, the witness, Brigadier Arthur Seaforth Blackburn, testified. They were deliberate, he declared, and under orders of the Japanese army officers in command of the camp.

In his direct testimony, Blackburn said, "I have seen the governors of Hong Kong and Malaya, and General Wainwright and General Percival (Sir Arthur Percival, prewar commander at Singapore) beaten."

Taft Tells Of Interest In Pan-American Road

Guatemala, Guatemala, Dec. 1 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) said here today that he was much interested in seeing the completion of the Pan-American highway and would be willing to aid this project in any reasonable way.

The Republican Senator, who left for Panama after a week's visit in Guatemala, said there was no reason why Republicans could not make as effective use of the good-neighbor policy as had the Democrats. He added that there would be less inclination under a Republican Administration for the United States to spend Government money in foreign countries.

Taft expressed the belief Republicans would encourage American business enterprise in foreign countries.

Uranium Believed Found In Argentina Province

Buenos Aires, Dec. 1 (AP)—Press dispatches today quoted the Mendoza Province Mine Bureau as saying that a uranium deposit had been found in bituminous fields 12 miles from the city of Mendoza.

The bureau was unable to determine as yet the extent of the find, the dispatches said. Uranium is used in the development of atomic energy.

Civilian Atomic Control Delayed; Army May Hold Reins Until '48

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. — (AP) The complexities of putting the Civilian Atomic Energy Commission into full operation may require retention of the Army's Manhattan District until mid-1948.

The government, it was learned today, has included such a contingency in its plans for placing complete peacetime control of atomic energy research and development, including both military and civilian application, in the hands of the new super agency.

The current appropriation for the War department includes $375,000,000 for "atomic service" to cover a period from last July 1 to June 30, 1948. Persons in a position to know said this will allow Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves' Manhattan District to carry on while the civilian commission headed by David E. Lilienthal analyzes its assignment and makes ready to take over.

Whether Groves, who has directed the Manhattan Project since its inception, would continue in that post until the district is finally absorbed by the commission was not clear.

Liaison Board Named

As part of the planning for the transition, the Army and Navy have appointed a joint liaison committee. The Army delegation is headed by Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton and the Navy membership by Rear Admiral Thorvald A. Solberg. This group has been given the job of advising the civilian commission on that part of atomic energy useful to the military, including the business of making bombs.

The liaison committee, which held its fourth meeting yesterday, is engaged in the spade work of preparing an agenda of military matters for consideration of Lilienthal's commission. In addition to the immediate matter of bomb research and manufacture, the military's interest in atomic energy is directed into several fields. These include atomic power for military and naval installations; atomic propulsion of ships and planes at some distant date when many technical problems have been solved; the use of nuclear fission by-products in therapy and other utilization paralleling civilian applications.

One of the questions under consideration by the liaison group presumably is whether future production of atomic bombs should be under private contract or directly by the commission, somewhat as government arsenals now manufacture standard weapons. While the Los Alamos, N. M., laboratories are government-owned, the five atomic bombs so far exploded were produced under private contract with the University of California supplying the personnel management and operating the facilities.

Actually, the Manhattan District now functions more as a directing agency than as an operating unit. The two big atomic plants—Handford, Ore., and Oak Ridge, Tenn.—are operated under contract with the General Electric Company and the Monsanto Chemical Company, respectively. Virtually all research also has been contracted out to non-governmental organizations.

CUT IN ARMS IS BUDGET KEY

Decision Of New Congress Will Govern Tax Slash

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—The new Congress must decide without delay whether the national defense can stand more than a $2,000,000,000 trimming next fiscal year, officials said today, for the answer is the key to the biggest fiscal problems.

On the reductions made in Army and Navy spending depend the chances for tax reduction, budget balancing and debt retirement.

Army and Navy spending proposals are likely to get early attention not only because of their size and importance but also because the new Congressional Reorganization Act requires that a committee report be submitted by February 15 on a budget which will set the spending ceiling for the whole Government.

$2,000,000,000 Cut Proposed

The Administration is expected to propose a $2,000,000,000 cutback from the total $13,500,000,000 allowed the services so far this year.

Some influential Republican Congressmen have expressed belief that a deeper reduction could be made with safety.

However, this year's Army spending still may be boosted to meet additional occupation costs. Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War, disclosed last night that Congress would be asked for an extra $369,000,000 for this purpose.

Patterson said the extra needs are due to an unforeseen increase of "persons fleeing oppression in Poland," together with higher food costs and a cut in army budget requests.

Congress Meets Next Month

Congress will meet January 3 and will receive the presidential budget proposals then, but will have nothing of its own to go on by February 15 unless its committees show unprecedented speed in probing agency requests for funds.

Since thoroughly considering all agencies' requests has always been a longer process for both Congress and the Budget Bureau, career fiscal men said, the most flexible items—notably military spending—probably will get detailed consideration first.

In contrast to fixed items like interest on the national debt and others capable only of minor adjustment, military spending has been specified by both the Administration and Republicans as the prime field in which savings are possible.

Other Troublesome Items

Other items expected to be especially troublesome to a Congress attempting to fix ceilings on spending are veterans' benefits and public works.

Veterans get fixed allowances for many things, such as college attendance, but it is highly uncertain how many of them will take advantage of the program.

The Budget Bureau ran into trouble on its estimates on the college program for veterans this year. It took top estimates from the colleges on the number of veterans they expected, but the estimates on the number—and hence their cost—proved far too low.

Truman Savings Cut

On public works, President Truman tried to cut spending by $700,000,000 by fixing a $900,000,000 ceiling for this fiscal year, but with congressmen in both parties exerting sharp pressure, the President's savings figure was knocked off one-third in four months.

Currently, informed persons look for both spending and revenues for the present fiscal year to exceed the respective budget estimates of $41,500,000,000 and $39,600,000,000, leaving a deficit in line with or greater than the budget estimate of $1,900,000,000.

They also look for the Administration's spending figure for next year to come close to splitting the middle between this year's $41,500,000,000 and some Republican forecasts of $32,000,000,000 or $30,000,000,000, and to end up around $37,000,000,000.

Arrival at the actual figure is some time off, however. The Budget Bureau is still going over agency requests and pruning totals.

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—The State Department is considering plans to revamp and expand its "voice-of-America" short-wave broadcasts to foreign countries, Government officials disclosed today.

One proposal now ready for study by Secretary Byrnes would turn the entire broadcasting job over to a Government-financed foundation controlled by private American citizens.

Officials said if the program is approved, Congress will be asked to appropriate additional funds to increase the number of broadcasts and boost the power of the 37 transmitters now being used in the United States.

"Private-Enterprise Approach"

Some key Government officials are reported urging this "private-enterprise approach" to the problem in an effort to end criticism that present State Department supervised newscasts are "propaganda."

Continuation of Government short-wave broadcasting during peacetime was approved by Congress this year, but only after considerable opposition.

State Department officials, headed by William Benton, assistant secretary, currently are directing all American short-wave broadcasting to overseas listeners. This arrangement is regarded as temporary pending a decision by Congress on whether the Government shall continue such work or return the facilities to private companies.

The Proposed Commission

Under the proposal now being studied, a governing commission of nine to fifteen members would be set up to chart the policy and direct operations.

A maximum of three representatives would be Government officials from key departments. The rest would be qualified citizens interested in the work, some of them press and radio executives.

Informants connected with the plan said the idea already has been discussed with private radio corporations and they appeared to be interested.

Up To Byrnes And Truman

Both Byrnes and President Truman will have to approve the scheme before the Administration decides whether to ask Congress for the legislation and funds.

Although the private citizens on any governing commission could outvote Government representatives, officials said the State Department would expect the foundation's newscasts to support American foreign policy.

The amount of money necessary to put the plan into operation has not been finally determined. Officials said it undoubtedly would be more than the $7,500,000 appropriated by the last session of Congress for short-wave broadcasting.

FCC "Blue Book" Assailed

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—Sol Taishoff, editor and publisher of the trade magazine Broadcasting, charged today that the Federal Communications Commission and its recently published "Blue Book" of radio regulations was a threat to the freedom of radio.

Taishoff, speaking before the Florida Association of Broadcasters, outlined what he termed the Government's "undue encroachment upon radio's freedom" by the licensing authority of the FCC in Washington.

He said although the FCC was established to act as a "traffic director" it had now expanded to where it had "wide abuse of the freedom of radio."

Taishoff claimed that the authors of radio's Blue Book, the official FCC guide to broadcasters, had based the publication on their own personal likes and dislikes of radio listening, without taking into consideration the general public's listening tastes.

given in a bloodthirsty talk to Nazi generals at a secret conference at his mountain retreat at Obersalzberg.

The war crimes staff, in publishing the transcript along with other Nazi documents, said it was referred to at Nuernberg but not made a part of the trial record.

'Me and Stalin'

At the conference, on the eve of the Nazi agreement with Russia and less than ten days before the attack on Poland, Hitler announced his intention to "go with Stalin" for the time being and "undertake with him a new distribution of the world."

"Stalin and I are the only ones that see only the future," he said.

Exhorting his military leaders to a pitiless attack on Poland, Hitler told them the Nazi's strength lay in "our quickness and our brutality," and continued:

"Ghengis Khan had millions of women and children killed by his own will and with a gay heart. History sees only in him a great state builder. What weak western European civilization thinks about me does not matter. x x x

Jap Emperor 'Weak'

"We must take into account the defection of Japan. I have left to Japan a whole year's time to decide. The emperor is the companion piece of the late Czars. Weak, cowardly, irresolute, he may fall before a revolution. x x x

"The occasion is favorable now as it has never been. I have only one fear and that is that Chamberlain or such another dirty swine comes to me with propositions or a change of mind. He will be thrown downstairs. And even if I must personally kick him in the belly before the eyes of all the photographers.

"No, for this it is too late. The invasion and the extermination of Poland begins on Saturday morning."

Bristling Nazi Document Shows Hitler in Super-Boastful Mood

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. — (AP) A bristling Nazi document published yesterday by the American War Crimes Prosecution Staff disclosed Adolf Hitler once ranked Stalin with Mussolini and himself as the "only three great statesmen in the world."

Hitler deemed Emperor Hirohito of Japan to be "weak" cowardly, irresolute."

That was the estimate of the Fuehrer in 1939, two years before he turned on Soviet Russia, as

GUFFEY CLAIMS GOP IS WIDENING SOVIET ISSUES

Defeated Senator Says

Byrnes Is Attempting To Bridge Differences

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—Senator Guffey (D., Pa.) accused the Republican leadership today of widening the differences with Russia, which he said James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, "is attempting to bridge."

Senator Ball (R., Minn.) fired back that Republican co-operation with Byrnes will continue unless it is "undermined" by Democrats of Guffey's views.

Guffey, defeated in the November election, issued a farewell statement saying that "should the anti-Communist theme of the recent Republican campaign become crystallized into a definite isolationist policy of the party controlling Congress, it can exert a seriously adverse influence on world affairs."

Must Not 'Gang Up' On Russia

"If we want a lasting peace we can neither play Britain off against Russia nor 'gang up' with Britain against Russia," he added.

"Secretary of State Byrnes, in my opinion, has recognized that fact and has guided our diplomacy accordingly, but his task will become an impossible one if Republican leadership continues to widen the difference which he is attempting to bridge. At present there is a definite move in that direction which is very disheartening to the supporters of Secretary Byrnes's policies."

Ball said he considers Guffey a representative of a wing of the Democratic party which has openly criticized Byrnes's policies. Henry A. Wallace, former Secretary of Commerce, whom Guffey has supported, voiced such criticisms in speeches before the election.

Ball Strikes Back

"The Wallace-Pepper-Guffey PAC Democrats have done more to undermine the Byrnes-Vandenberg-Connally approach to bipartisan foreign policy than any Republican," Ball declared.

"It is quite understandable that Guffey should feel that the country is lost without the particular PAC brand of Democratic control with which he was affiliated, but I think the American people will get along all right."

Ball forecast that change in control of Congress from the Democrats to the Republicans would not disturb general foreign policy co-operation, but added that the Republicans are likely to subject to serious questioning some international economic proposals.

Regrets Liberal Setback

Guffey, a long-time supporter of the policies of President Roosevelt, said he regretted "the temporary setback which liberal principles of government recently received at the polls."

Announcing he is retiring from active politics, he said he intends to do all he can to "advance the two interests which are closest to my heart, one the welfare of a liberal Democratic party, the other, the cause of a just and lasting peace."

Economy Ax Hits Army's New Garb

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Army's plans for snappy new blue dress uniforms for officers and enlisted men alike fell victim today to economy and shortage of textiles.

The War Department disclosed that its new budget estimates omit any request for funds in the fiscal year ending in mid-1948 for the resplendent, brass-buttoned garb that has been on display over the country in recent months.

Still effective, however, is an order that after June 30, 1948, officers and men will dress alike in battle jackets and trousers of the same olive drab shade now used in GI's clothing. The blue uniforms were proposed for dress and special occasions.

BASE PLANS NOT SPECIFIC

Philippine President Alluded to Broad Idea, Washington Says

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The United States and the Philippines are agreed "in principle" on establishment of United States bases in the island republic, John Carter Vincent, director of the State Department's Office of Far Eastern Affairs, said tonight.

However, he added, no agreement has yet been reached for establishment of specific bases. The two countries have been negotiating the matter for several months.

Philippine President Manuel A. Roxxas said in a talk in Luzon yesterday that "we have an agreement with the United States permitting her to establish bases here for mutual defense."

Mr. Vincent said that Mr. Roxas evidently referred to the broad principle of bases rather than an agreement on specific bases.

"We are in general agreement that there should be an understanding on bases," he said, adding he is hopeful of a specific agreement in the near future.

HICKAM FIELD PLANS DEC. 7 CEREMONIES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. — (AP) The American flag which waved over Hickam Field, Hawaii, on December 7, 1941, will fly again from the same mast next Saturday—fifth anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

At the order of Gen. Carl Spaatz, commanding general of the Army Air forces, the tattered flag will be raised at 7:55 a.m. (Hawaii time)—the hour of the attack which drew the United States into World War II.

There will be solemn ceremonies to commemorate Americans who died in the war.

Faded and discolored by smoke, fire and bombs which ravaged Hickam Field, the garrison flag is being taken from Washington to Hawaii by airplane. It will be returned to Washington later.

Welles Sees Strike Aiding French Left

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—Sumner Welles, former Under Secretary of State, said tonight the coal strike may aid the Communist party in France.

In his weekly broadcast Welles commented that French inability to buy United States coal because of the strike would be reflected in the thinking of most of the French people.

"It is easy enough for us here to repeat the time-worn platitudes that a majority of the French people are truly democratic and that the French farmer and the French provincial will never be misled by Communist propaganda," Welles said.

Woodruff Asks Probe Of Sugar Shortage

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP) Representative Woodruff (R-Mich) called on the Republican Food Study committee of the House today to look into the sugar shortage, asserting the Administration has "let the American producers and consumers carry the load for other nations."

In a letter to Representative Jenkins (R-Ohio), chairman of the committee, Woodruff said the total sugar supply for the United States for 1947 will be below that of 1946 despite increased production here and in Cuba.

"With our beet sugar production up and Cuba's production up, one may well ask why our sugar bowls are empty, and why so much fruit and vegetables cannot be canned for lack of sugar," he said.

GREATER LATITUDE FOR WOMEN URGED

Anthropologist Tells Of 'Growing Discontent'

New York, Dec. 1 (AP)—American women—homemakers and business women—are becoming increasingly discontented with their lot because they cannot make a free choice in the way their lives are spent, Margaret Mead, anthropologist, asserted today.

Writing in the current issue of the magazine Fortune, Dr. Mead, herself a wife and mother, said that "more than a quarter of the women . . . are articulately, definitely disturbed about their lot—as women," and traced the general causes to their isolation and loneliness in the home and their inability to choose their work after marriage.

Solution Suggested

The only workable solution, she suggests, is elimination of "the semi-voluntary slavery to housekeeping that we now impose on married women" by more labor-saving inventions, and by American men assuming more responsibility in the family home life.

"Women in our society complain of the lack of stimulation, of the loneliness, of the dullness of staying at home," she writes. "Little babies are poor conversationalists, husbands come home tired and sit reading the paper, and women who used to pride themselves on their ability to talk find on the rare evening they can go out that their words clot on their tongues."

Men are taught they are free to "choose their jobs for one set of reasons, and their girls for another"

Can't Choose Work

"But while girls are taught they will choose their jobs in the same way as boys and choose their husbands as boys choose their wives . . . they can't choose their work after marriage."

And all girls, whether they love or hate cooking, like or dislike children, are expected "because they fall in love and want to be married, to want also to be homemakers and to enjoy the routine of bringing up children," she adds.

Dr. Mead discards as unworkable the suggestion that girls be re-educated "not to be persons first and women second, but to be women primarily." Similarly, she is opposed to the theory that housekeeping drudgery can be done away with by spreading around homemaking in community agencies, nursery schools, day-care centers, laundries, diaper service, play schools and infirmaries. Child-care specialists, she notes, have studied children brought up in institutions, and "the results are discouraging."

Removal Of Drudgery

The solution to the mounting discontent, she says, lies in removing household drudgery with inventions and by women working together on projects, such as canning or laundry.

"What would remain in the home would be shared living, a family eating, sleeping and playing together," Dr. Mead says, adding that the man must take "a greater part in these activities that we call living, as opposed to making a living."

REFUGEE AID IS OUTLINED

Hilldring Says Europe Needs "Outside" Help

Atlantic City, Dec. 1 (AP)—John H. Hilldring, Assistant Secretary of State for Occupied Areas, declared today that due to a lack of funds it would be impossible for UNRRA, the United Nation's new International Refugee Organization and the United States Army to meet effectively the 1947 needs of displaced Europeans without "considerable outside assistance" in Europe.

Hilldring was one of a number of speakers at a national mobilization conference of the United Jewish Appeal, which has under consideration the raising of $215,000,000 in 1947 for world-wide needs of Jewry.

Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia, told 1,700 delegates to the conference that slow progress in peacemaking and the generally unsettled condition of the world made it "definitely unwise for American Jews to rely exclusively, or even to a large extent" on intergovernmental agencies for effective relief.

Problem Of Fund Raising

Hilldring said that of all the post-war problems, the greatest was the raising of funds.

"If we only had all the money we needed, there is harly a problem we could not solve—and solve legitimately and effectively," he said, adding "there is not enough money available to the administrative branches of this Government" to handle European relief effectively.

Hilldring declared the "biggest disappointment" of 1946 was a lack of progress in finding permanent homes for displaced Jews.

He said: "You are all familiar with our Government's efforts to obtain 100,000 immigration visas for Palestine.

"If the unanimous recommendation of the Anglo-American Committee to that effect had been adopted—as the President urged last spring—our ships would now be shuttling thousands of Jews to Palestine, not to Cyprus.

"Adds Certain Ominousness"

"Our efforts toward this objective will continue unabated. You must continue to plan for the day when they will succeed."

Masaryk told the delegates:

"The closing down of UNRRA and the lack of decision as to who is to be responsible for further relief and where it is to come from adds a certain ominousness to the human welfare needs of Europe for 1947."

He said: "We are doing everything in our power to see to it that equality of opportunity is made available so that all citizens in Czechoslovakia may make their own livelihood and not depend on the charity of others."

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., former Secretary of the Treasury, said that for a world that was trying to make a permanent peace there was "too much hate between peoples, between countries and between different economic and religious groups."

He said it was the responsibility of American Jews to "set an example of brotherliness" and to make sure that 250,000 homeless European Jews were not disappointed in their efforts to reach Palestine and to build homes there.

ECONOMIC UNITY ACCORD REACHED; CONNALLY ASKS U. N. ACTION ON FRANCO

Proposal To Assembly Would Call On Gerenalissimo To Step Down—American Fights Any Veto In Arms Control Program

U. S., BRITAIN VOTE ECONOMIC MERGER OF GERMAN ZONES

Pact Designed to Make the Territory Self-Sustaining Within 3 Years.

DETAILS WITHHELD

Big 4 Reaches Agreement on Return of Seized Property of Jews.

SINGLETON

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—(AP) Britain and the United States signed tonight a bi-lateral pact for the economic merger of their zones of occupation in Germany designed to make the territory self-sustaining within three years.

The action came at the end of prolonged negotiations in Germany, Washington and here. The agreement was signed by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

NOT Secret

The details were kept secret pending presentation of the terms to the British House of Commons tomorrow afternoon.

Completion of the arrangement was announced by Michael McDermott, State Department spokesman. It followed two weeks of conferences between Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Occupation chief in Germany, and Gen. Bryan Robinson of Britain, and their advisors.

Although details of the plan were lacking, it was understood on the basis of reports from London that the merger would be carried through on a 50-50 financing basis and would involve a total expenditure by Britain and the United States of approximately $1,000,000,000 over the three-year period.

Both Britain and the United States—thus far without success—have attempted to persuade Russia and France to join in the economic merger of Germany, contending that it would reduce substantially the cost of occupation and speed the economic recovery of Europe.

Under the setup prior to the merger, the United States levy, exclusive of maintaining troops, amounted to approximately $200,000,000 annually. This money went chiefly for relief foods in Germany.

Meanwhile, the four-power foreign ministers council set a $150,000,000 ceiling tonight on the total amount of war reparations which Greece and Yugoslavia will each receive from Italy and Bulgaria.

Agree on Seized Property

In another compromise, the four diplomatic chiefs reached an agreement on return of war-seized property to Jews in Romania and Hungary.

Under the adopted plan, the return would be administered by local organizations rather than by an international group as advocated by Byrnes. In the event that the former owner had died or could not be located, the property would be used for Jewish relief.

In the course of a three-and-a-half-hour session, the council attempted to plug an apparent loophole on removal of occupation troops from the trouble spot of Trieste after the zone's international government deems that step possible.

Yugoslavia has indicated its opposition to the Italian peace pact, containing the Trieste clauses, leaving open the possibility that the Yugoslav government will refuse to sign the treaty.

Byrnes emphasized that this would leave Britain and the United States in the position of being forced to withdraw their occupation troops while those of Yugoslavia remained in the internationalized zone. With support from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Byrnes urged a redrafting to prevent that possibility.

The council postponed until tomorrow a decision on the question of revising Bulgaria's frontiers, but persons present at the talk said that there was general agreement that they should remain unchanged.

With brief discussion, the diplomatic chiefs agreed, too, that Italy, the Balkan satellites and Finland should be allowed some motor torpedo boats, but did not decide how many. This question also went over until tomorrow.

The Council, near the end of a two-year controversy over peace pacts for the Axis satellites, groped today for a trade pattern which might establish a precedent for future international economic relations.

The diplomatic chiefs of Britain, France, Russia and the United States focused their immediate attention on economic clauses in projected treaties with Italy, Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary and Finland. Their decision will become a big factor in deciding how far the big powers will go in eliminating trade barriers.

Assembly Urged To Ask Franco To Give Up Powers

CARPENTER

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—The United States, in two important policy moves on urgent United Nations problems, demanded today that the United Nations set up a "comprehensive system of disarmament" minus any veto on safeguards and urged the Assembly to ask Generalissimo Franco to step down as head of the Spanish state.

Other prime developments in a day and night crammed with committee debates were:

1. Russia fought hard to prevent United Nations approval of an Australian resolution censuring Russia for frequent use of the veto in the Security Council.

Two Sites Recommended

2. The special United Nation site committee shaped a report recommending the Presidio, army post at San Francisco, and the Belmont Plateau-Roxborough areas of Philadelphia as having "equal merit" for the United Nations permanent home. The United States made available the Presidio subject for congressional approval. The committee indicated a site in Westchester county, New York, at Harrison, east of White Plains, would be secondary choice.

Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, acted for the United States in pressing both the disarmament stand and the Franco declaration upon the United Nations Political committee.

Postpone Arms Debate

The political committee postponed this morning until tomorrow the debate on disarmament. Russia's Deputy Foreign Minister, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, who crossed verbal swords with Connally in sharp debate, said the Soviet delegation was not prepared to discuss a United States proposal of broad disarmament principles introduced in the committee last Saturday.

At an afternoon session the committee turned to resolution demanding United Nations action against Franco and his regime.

Urges Surrender Of Power

Connally introduced a resolution proposing:

1. That Franco surrender his powers to a provisional government.

2. That the Spanish people proceed as soon as possible after the setting up of the provisional regime to hold free elections so that they might take their place among the democratic governments of the world.

3. That the Franco regime be barred from all organizations started by the United Nations.

Connally reserved his speech on the resolution until a later meeting but a United States spokesman said the United States favored action by peaceful means in the Franco case.

Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, charged before the committee that Franco "continues to shelter enemy agents including those wanted by the Allied authorities and the governments concerned." He said the Government desired a severance of diplomatic relations by all United Nations states with Franco and the barring of Franco from membership and participation in any of the organs of the United Nations.

El Salvador and Costa Rica opposed action against Franco.

Hector Castro, of El Salvador, said Franco had not had an opportunity to defend himself.

Draws Parallel In Japan

Pointing to the United States actions in Japan after the war, Castro said:

"Let's not forget that the United States in upholding Hirohito did constructive work in Japan. It would be incongruous if upholding Hirohito we should try to upset Franco and perhaps force the Spaniards into an even bloodier way of trying to solve their internal problems."

The United Nations committee plunged into night sessions tonight as the Assembly strove to complete work by the present target date of December 11.

In the disarmament debate, Senator Connally lost no time rejecting Russia's disarmament proposal as "too narrow and circumscribed."

Interprets Russian Aim

"It seems to my untutored mind," he said, "that the two objectives of the Soviet proposals are to get rid of the atomic bomb, and then, whatever regulations with regard to armaments may take place shall be vested in the Security Council, where the 'atomic bomb' of the veto awaits anything that may be undesirable to any member of the Security Council."

He said that the United States felt the necessary safeguards, including inspection and control, "must not be subject to being blocked and destroyed by any state or group of states through the veto."

Vishinsky, answering Connally's charge that Russia's proposal names only the atomic bomb and does not mention other weapons, such as jet-planes, biological war and poison gas, said that Russia's resolution speaks of a "general reduction." He said this meant other weapons but that Russia would be glad to specify each weapon by name if desired. He insisted the talk was bearing now on trifles."

Resolutions Proposed

The United States resolution last Saturday would have the effect of giving top priority to control of atomic weapons and would eliminate the veto from any system of safeguards.

Russia's resolution called for a general reduction of armaments, with the atomic weapons stipulated as the primary task. Russia has accepted inspection and control within the framework of the Security Council, to which some delegates have objected on the ground that it put the regulatory system under the veto right of the five great powers on the Council.

Vishinsky apparently interpreted a reference by Connally to "reparations" as a reflection on Russia and opened his statement with a long review of Russia's sacrifices.

"That is why we will exact both punishment and reparations. We are right—that ought to be understood by a newborn baby," Vishinsky said, obviously with great agitation.

Disclaimed By Connally

Connally attempted to gain the floor at that point to reply immediately but was forced to wait when Vishinsky did not yield. After Vishinsky completed his statement, Connally told the committee that he had repeatedly praised in the United States Senate the contribution of Russia to the war; that when he "spoke of the United States not asking for reparations, I made no reflection on anyone. These matters must be settled in the peace treaties."

Alexandre Parodi, of France, told the delegates in effect that the veto by any nation on the Security Council of a proposed inspection of that country would be a tip to the other nations that the objecting nation had something to hide. This would be sufficient signal for the other nations to take such steps as they deemed necessary.

Curb On A-Bomb Is Soviet's Only Aim, U.S. Says

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—The United State scharged today that the primary object of Soviet Russia's arms limitation program seemed to be to get rid of the atomic bomb and then place all other arms questions under the United Nations Security Council where they would be subject to the "atom bomb of the veto."

Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas), continuing the arms reduction debate before the 54-nation Political Committee of the General Assembly, bluntly rejected the Soviet proposals as "too narrow and too circumscribed."

Inspection Veto Opposed

Connally made it clear that the United States was opposed to any injection of the veto into the inspection and control machinery which would be set up to make sure that no nation violated the proposed international agreements on arms limitation.

"We do not want to turn it all over to the Security Council for its unbridled action," he declared.

He said the Soviet proposal, while emphasizing that the atomic bomb must be outlawed, made no mention of jet-propelled weapons, poison gas or other weapons of mass destruction.

Include Other Weapons

"We think a man dead of poison gas is just as dead as if he were struck by an atomic bomb," Connally added. "We think other weapons must be included—all forms of these extraordinary weapons of mass destruction."

Then referring to the veto question, he said:

"The United States will not agree to any plan unless . . . there is inspection machinery to see that all nations which get the atomic secrets shall rigidly observe the regulations without a veto."

Connally said Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had accepted the principle of international inspection and control. He then asked: "How can there be international control if any member of the Security Council can rise in his seat and veto inspection?"

"Veto Must Not Apply"

"That is not international control," he asserted. "That is individual control. . . . We insist that the veto must not apply on inspection and control."

He said the United States insisted that measures of control must "be effective," and, pounding the table, he added: "That means effective."

Connally said the United States was firmly opposed to any interruption of the work of the Atomic Energy Commission or any interference with its work.

"It must go on with its work," he said. "It must not be hamstrung."

Veto Issue Is Sidetracked

Meanwhile, a small-nation drive to curtail the veto privileges of the Big Five was sidetracked today as two international groups—the United Nations Assembly and the Council of Foreign Ministers—grappled with the twin tasks of penalizing the aggressors of the last war and preventing a new one.

Over Britain's contention that it was a move to "pass the baby," the Assembly's Political and Security Committee sent the question of veto modification to a subcommittee from which there seemed little chance of positive action before the end of the session.

Big 5 United On Veto

The decision came as no surprise. The Five Big Powers—Britain, China, France, Russia and the United States—stood solidly aligned behind the general principle that the veto must be retained even though there was accord aside from the Soviet, that agreement on voluntary modification would increase diplomatic harmony.

Meanwhile, the Council of Foreign Ministers concentrated on peace pacts for the Axis satellites, with their chief immediate problem centering on finding an equation for award of reparations to Greece and Yugoslavia.

The diplomatic chiefs—Ernest Bevin, of Britain; Maurice Couve de Murville, of France; Molotov, and James F. Byrnes, of the United States—were agreed that the two victims of Nazi tryanny should be treated on a fifty-fifty basis, but thus far have been unable to agree on the exact amount for reparations.

Would Ensure Early Pacts

A solution of this question would ensure finished peace pacts for Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland, probably within ten days. Other than reparations, the chief problems stemmed from economic questions involving the five nations.

At Lake Success, headquarters for the Assembly, a political and security subcommittee was scheduled to meet today to take up the veto question. Britain yesterday advanced seven suggestions for softening the special privileges in an unsuccessful effort to get a yes-or-no answer.

Referred By 33-8 Vote

The question was sent to the subcommittee, by a 33-to-8 vote, after Sir Hartley Shawcross, of Britain, had declared that "this is just passing the baby."

Frisco, Philadelphia High On List For U.N. Home

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—San Francisco and Philadelphia were reported high on the list of preferred sites today for the permanent headquarters of the United Nations, New York city having apparently been dropped.

Authoritative sources said that while the United Nations subcommittee working on the site question had not yet made a formal decision it seemed definite that New York rated well below the other cities in the minds of many delegates, with San Francisco apparently holding the top spot.

The San Francisco Chronicle said last night that it had learned "on high authority" that the United States Army had agreed to give up the Presido—an army post in San Francisco—as a home for the United Nations.

"First Recommendation"

The Chronicle said this attitude made it "certain the Presidio will be the first recommendation of the United Nations subcommittee on sites."

The subcommittee held a closed session yesterday and scheduled another today. Informants said it might reach a definite decision today, but there was no indication when that decision would be made public.

The subcommittee has just returned from inspection visits to Philadelphia, San Francisco, Boston and Westchester county, New York.

San Francisco or Philadelphia Recommended as UN Home Site

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 2.—(AP) A special United Nations site committee announced tonight that it had agreed to recommend the Presidio at San Francisco and the Belmont Plateau-Roxborough areas of Philadelphia as most desirable sites for the permanent UN headquarters.

Second choice of the sub-committee, which will present its report to the full 54-nation headquarters committee on Wednesday, was the White Plains-Harrison site in Westchester County, N. Y.

A minority report of Russia and Yugoslavia is to be drafted by the delegations of those countries and submitted as an annex of the sub-committee report.

It was understood that Russia and Yugoslavia still are supporting a site in the New York area as first choice.

Only Recommendation

The sub-committee's announcement said that its report "of course, does not preclude consideration of other sites" by the full committee, meaning that the merits of the rejected sites in the Boston area, Flushing Meadow in New York City and Crystal Springs near San Francisco, still might be debated.

The announcement said that giving two sites as first choice meant that "the choice between east and west lies within the competence" of the full committee, indicating decided cleavage in the sub-committee over this issue.

Recommendations of the sub-committee, the announcement added, were made irrespective of the merits of the two cities and were solely on the basis of suitability of the proposed sites.

Warren R. Austin, chief of the United States delegation, told the sub-committee this morning that, subject to the approval of Congress, the U. S. government would make the Presidio available to the UN.

In a second statement to the sub-committee this afternoon, he strengthened the offer as coming from President Truman with "a certain sanctity" as an international commitment and expressed confidence that it would receive congressional approval.

He revealed that the question of offering the Presidio to the United Nations had been considered by President Truman and his cabinet "without a dissenting vote."

Under the U. S. Constitution, Austin stated, the offer to make the Presidio available, which he had relayed as the president's personal representative, had "tremendous validity" and "represents an international act between the United States and the United Nations."

However, the U. S. delegate continued, the authority of Congress could not be disregarded, and he quoted the section of the Constitution giving Congress power to dispose of property belonging to the United States.

Interpretation of this statement as indicating U. S. support of San Francisco as the UN's permanent home was stoutly denied by U. S. delegation spokesmen, who said the delegation would maintain its neutral attitude stated by Austin at the reopening of the UN site question several weeks ago.

Senator Connally's Speech in U. N. on U. S. Arms Plan

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 2—The text of a statement of the United States position toward disarmament and the veto, made by Senator Tom Connally today before the Political and Security Committee, follows:

It seems to me that the Soviet proposal is altogether too narrow and circumscribed. If you will consult the draft you will observe that in paragraph 2 of the Soviet proposal it says that the reduction of armaments should include as the primary object the prohibition to produce and use atomic energy for military purposes. Paragraph 3 says: "shall be established within the framework of the Security Council, etc., etc."

It seems to my untutored mind that the two objectives of the Soviet proposal are to get rid of the atomic bomb, and then whatever regulations with regard to armaments may take place shall be vested in the Security Council, where the "atomic bomb" of the veto awaits anything that may be undesirable to any member of the Security Council.

The United States delegation feels that the question of international disarmament is a much bigger question. We have already expressed our view somewhat on this subject, but I desire to comment briefly upon the copy of the proposal advanced by the United States—on the 30th of November, and I would ask the indulgence of the committee while I read this matter in detail.

'Armaments'—in the Plural

Paragraph 1: "With a view to strengthening international peace and security in conformity with the purposes and principles of the United Nations, the General Assembly recognizes the necessity of an early general regulation and reduction of armaments." Not "armament"—"armaments."

"Accordingly, the General Assembly recommends that the Security Council give prompt consideration to working out the practical measures, according to their priority, which are essential to provide for the general regulation and reduction of armaments pursuant to international treaties and agreements and to assure that such regulation and reduction will be generally observed by all participants and not unilaterally by only some of the participants."

So we thoroughly agree with the fact that it must cover all forms of these extraordinary weapons for mass destruction.

Now, in paragraph 3 we say: "The General Assembly further recognizes that essential to the general regulation and reduction of armaments is the provision of practical and effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions. Accordingly, the General Assembly recommends to the Security Council that it give prompt consideration to the working out of proposals to provide such practical and effective safeguards in connection with the control of atomic energy and to other limitation or regulation of armaments."

We do not mean by that section to suggest that the Security Council would have jurisdiction or authority itself to do the inspecting and to do the regulating. We merely mean that it may draw up a plan, submit it, which if adopted, will thereafter be operative. And the United States will not agree to any plan as to atomic energy, whatever, unless it provides that the operating agency shall have wide and rigid and adequate inspection powers to see that all nations that secure the atomic bomb secrets shall observe the regulations and the inspections without a veto.

For a Comprehensive System

Paragraph 4: "The General Assembly calls upon the government of all states to render every possible assistance to the Security Council and the Atomic Energy Commission in order to promote the establishment of international peace and collective security with the diversion for armaments of the world's human and economic resources."

Let me say that the United States does not believe in any partial system. We want a comprehensive system of disarmament. Our proposal does not go into the great details of these matters. It outlines merely a set of general principles. But I want to say that this system of inspection and control is absolutely fundamental. There must be adequate international control.

Mr. Molotov, a few days ago, accepted the principle of international control and inspection. How can there be international control and inspection if any member of the Security Council can rise in his seat and interpose a veto at any stage of inspection and control? That is not international; that is individual.

So that we insist that the question of effective safeguards, including inspection and all forms of adequate control, must not be subject to being blocked and destroyed by any state or group of states through the veto. We do not think that at this particular time, when there is a prospect of a subcommittee, the Assembly should undertake to go into too much detail with respect to this matter.

Supports Atomic Commission

We further insist that the Atomic Energy Commission, which is acting by the authority of this Assembly, shall not be interfered with in its jurisdiction. The United States initiated and moved the creation of that commission.

We who, along with Canada and Great Britain, possess the atomic bomb—we were the ones who indicated to the world that we do not want to use it for destructive purposes. Neither do we want any other nation to use it for destructive purposes. Therefore, we do not favor divulging it to the other nations of the world until they admit and acknowledge the inspection and the regulation and all forms of adequate control that shall insure that it shall not be used for military purposes.

By this we mean that the Security Council must devise the plan which will then be subject to the adoption or ratification, through treaties, by the respective nations. We do not mean by that language to agree to the proposition that we turn everything over to the Security Council for its uncontrolled and unbridled action.

Paragraph 2: "The General Assembly recognizes that essential to the general regulation and the reduction of armements is the early establishment of international control of atomic energy and other modern technological discoveries to insure their use only for peaceful purposes. Accordingly, in order to insure that the general regulation and reduction of armaments will be directed towards the major weapons of modern warfare, and not merely toward the minor weapons, the General Assembly recommends that the Security Council give first consideration to the report of the Atomic Energy Commission, which the Atomic Energy Commission will make to the Security Council before Dec. 31, 1946, and facilitate the progress of the work of that commission."

Equality of Weapon Victims

It will be observed that the Russian proposal does not mention the other weapons, such as jet-planes, such as biological warfare, such as poison gas. We think that a victim of poison gas is just as dead as if he is struck by an atomic bomb. We see no reason why one who is infected by a biological germ that kills him has any better prospect of revival and rehabilitation than one who is a victim of the atomic bomb. And we see no reason why these other deadly measures shall not be included in any plan of disarmament. We think that the victim of a jet bomb will be just as uncomfortable as if he is struck by an atomic bomb. He will not be in a position to inquire what kind of a bomb it was that hit him.

There has been some suggestion that this commission has not done a great deal. Well, it has only been in existence a relatively short time, and it has already done a great deal. It will submit its report by the thirty-first day of December of this year. It is now engaged in undertaking to solve this question. And we do not want it robbed of its authority or jurisdiction.

Why did we appoint it by unanimous vote? Why did we invest it with this exclusive authority and jurisdiction? Did we do so in order that we may at this stage rebuke and destroy it, sidestep it, evade it? No, it must go on with its work, must not be interfered with, must not be "hamstrung."

Let me suggest also that, in addition to its particular task, it may set a splendid pattern for the approach to these other weapons and these other controls, and may afford this committee and this assembly very valuable suggestions and lessons with regard to these matters.

So in brief our attitude is that there must be no partial system, which, like the Russian resolution, shall be confined to the atomic bomb. We do not favor turning over to the Security Council the operations as to atomic energy and other weapons of that kind. It may submit a plan of operation, but the Russian resolution emphasizes "that there shall be established within the framework of the Security Council——." That would seem clearly to indicate—and if it does not clearly indicate it clearly implies—that within this Security Council, within that framework, these agencies, inspections and regulations shall be created. That means, of course, that they should be under that jurisdiction, under the jurisdiction and control of the Security Council.

Bars Any Veto on Inspection

We insist that the plan should be submitted by the Security Council and that it shall be made clear in the establishment of the agencies for the inspection and control that the veto shall not apply to the enforcement of the measures of inspection and regulation which these commissions must necessarily possess if they are to perform the high functions which we have in mind.

We further insist that whatever inspection or regulation may be adopted, they shall be effective—effective not on a picture screen, not on a piece of paper, but effective. And that means effective. We have already observed that we do not favor any veto on inspection. We do not believe that it is quite logical to say: Oh, yes, we are for inspection, but do not inspect this and do not inspect that, and do not inspect over there.

No, we believe that the inspection should reach every proper avenue, every factory if need be, every activity, everything which might in any way affect either the atomic bomb or the other warlike measures to which we have heretofore referred.

These are our views and, in short, views which we cannot give up, views as to which we do not propose to tolerate any veto. They remain our views. And so this is a big question and we must meet it in a big way. We must meet it in conformity with the principles and purposes of the Charter and world peace. We must not meet it in any narrow sense. We must not meet it with amendments and resolutions which serve our own individual interests. But we must meet it in a fashion which will serve the world.

The United States has been interested in disarmament for a great many years. We have paid millions of dollars toward disarmament. We have not only poured out our treasure, but we have poured out our blood in behalf of restoring peace to the world. But we want peace in the world. We are willing to pay for peace as we have paid in the past. We ask that all of the nations—all of the United Nations—stand together in the attempt to promote the peace of the world.

Therefore, in dealing with the subject of disarmament, the regulations and safeguards must be set forth with a view to the safety of the entire world—we must ever keep in mind the peace of the world and the well-being of the human race.

U. S. Resolution on Franco

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 2—The text of a resolution on Spain, introduced by Senator Tom Connally today before the Political and Security Committee:

The people of the United Nations, at San Francisco, Potsdam and London, condemned the Franco regime in Spain and decided that as long as that regime remains, Spain may not be admitted to the United Nations.

The people of the United Nations assure the Spanish people of their enduring sympathy and of the cordial welcome awaiting them when circumstances enable them to be admitted to the United Nations.

Therefore, the General Assembly of the United Nations,

Convinced that the Franco Fascist Government of Spain, which was imposed by force upon the Spanish people with the aid of the Axis Powers and which gave material assistance to the Axis Powers in the war, does not represent the Spanish people, and by its continued control of Spain is making impossible the participation of the Spanish people with the peoples of the United Nations in international affairs;

Recommends that the Franco Government of Spain be debarred from membership in international agencies set up at the initiative of the United Nations and from participation in conference or other activities which may be arranged by the United Nations or by these agencies, until a new and acceptable Government is formed in Spain.

The General Assembly further,

Desiring to secure the participation of all peace-loving peoples, including the people of Spain, in the community of nations,

Recognizing that it is for the Spanish people to settle the form of their Government;

Places on record its profound conviction that in the interest of Spain and of world cooperation the people of Spain should give proof to the world that they have a Government which derives its authority from the consent of the governed; and that to achieve that end General Franco should surrender the powers of Government to a provisional government broadly representative of the Spanish people, committed to respect freedom of speech, religion and assembly and to the prompt holding of an election in which the Spanish people, free from force and intimidation and regardless of party, may express their will;

And invites the Spanish people to establish the eligibility of Spain for admission to the United Nations.

Papers Groom Molotov For Stalin Post

London, Dec. 2 (AP)—An unexpected new publicity buildup for Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov in the Government-controlled Russian press set tongues wagging throughout Europe today in the popular game of trying to pick Prime Minister Stalin's successor.

Many diplomats and others who had not regarded Molotov as the most likely candidate were inclined to guess again after Moscow newspapers, reporting the 56-year-old Russian diplomat's election as an honorary member of the Soviet Academy of Science, lauded him lengthily as Stalin's closest assistant.

Some Say Stalin Is Ill

This almost unprecedented singling out of a Stalin deputy for public praise came less than a month after Stalin, 67 years old and by some accounts in poor health, failed for the second consecutive year to take part in the recent nation-wide celebration of the Russian Revolution anniversary.

To some students of Soviet affairs it looked as though Stalin might be stepping down, or perhaps be gradually relinquishing his powers, and as though Molotov was perhaps being groomed for advancement.

Well Known In Western World

Molotov, undoubtedly the Russian leader best known to the Western world by virtue of his prominence in big-power deliberations at London, Paris and New York, has been a lifelong worker for the Communist party and is one of eight vice chairmen of Russia's Council of Ministers, of which Stalin is chairman.

Should Molotov succeed Stalin it would surprise those who have been "backing" such other leading officials as Georgi M. Malenkov, Andrei Andreyev, Lavrenti P. Beria, A. A. Zhdanov, A. I. Mikoyan and L. M. Kaganovich.

Malenkov, 45, became a vice-chairman of the Council of Ministers only last October, although he had been a member of the Communist party's powerful Politburo since 1941. Often described as a "master in the art of power," he holds a position similar to that occupied by Stalin when Nikolai Lenin's death in 1924 precipitated a struggle for power.

Zhdanov, the only one of the seven who is not a member of the Council of Ministers, won fame as Stalin's deputy at Leningrad and delivered the speech Stalin had been expected to make on the twenty-ninth anniversary of the Revolution.

Beria, who like Stalin is a Georgian, is in charge of Russia's atomic energy development. Andreyev is directing the purge of collective farming. Mikoyan, an Armenian, is Minister for Foreign Trade. Kaganovich is a vice-chairman of the Council of Ministers.

BRITISH, INDIAN PARLEY DELAYED

LONDON, Dec. 2—(AP) The British government races against time tonight in last minute efforts to push through its independence plan for India and break a deadlock regarded officially as tantamount to civil war.

The London conference of British and Indian leaders was postponed a full day by delay of the airplane bringing the contingent from India, and the talks were compressed into a less than four-day schedule. Gale which grounded the plane, a Malta dispatch said.

Those aboard the plane included Viceroy Lord Wavell; Pandit Jawaharl Nehru, Congress party leader and vice president of the Indian interim government; Mahomed Ali Jinnah and Liaquat Ali Kahn, president and secretary of the Moslem League; Sardar Baldev Singh, leader of the Sikhs. It was scheduled to arrive today but was delayed in Malta and will not arrive before tomorrow morning.

LASKI LOSES LIBEL SUIT

LONDON, Dec. 2—(AP) Laborite Harold Laski lost his widely publicized libel suit today as a jury of five men and two women held "fair and accurate" a newspaper story quoting Laski as saying in the 1945 election campaign that labor might "have to use violence, even if it means revolution."

The king's bench division jury took only 40 minutes to reject Laski's claim to "exemplary damages" from the weekly Newark Advertiser and to rule that Laski must pay the heavy costs of the six-day trial. He declined to say whether he would appeal.

Laski, until last June chairman of the Labor Party and long associated with its left wing, denied making the statement.

LASKI LOSES SUIT AND MUST PAY COST

London, Dec. 2 (A. P.).—Harold Laski, former chairman of the Labor party, today lost his libel suit against a weekly newspaper that quoted him as saying that labor might have to resort to revolution by violence. A jury in the Kings Bench Division in 40 minutes decided for the defendants, the publishers and editor of the Newark Advertiser, with costs against Laski.

Chief Justice Lord Goddard had charged the jury of seven to determine whether the newspaper was fair and accurate in quoting Laski as having said: "As for violence, if Labor could not obtain what it needed by general consent, we shall have to use violence, even if it means revolution."

Goddard told the jurors that if they decided the report was not fair and accurate, they must say whether Laski was an advocate of violence and revolution and whether he used seditious words at a 1945 political meeting. He also left it for the jury to decide whether it was a matter of public concern that heckling at a political meeting should be reported. Personally, he said, he thought it should, explaining: "It is what people go to hear. It is part of the fun.

"The occasion of the speech was election time, when speeches are not always calm and temperate," Goddard said. "Tempers run high. Questions are asked which speakers resent, and no one ought to be too thin-skinned. But because a man ought not to be too thin-skinned, he must not have things fastened on him that he did not say."

face of the earth."

"This is no fantastic nightmare," he said in an address to the Bradford Textile Society. "It is a catastrophe which may come upon the human race within the next 20 or 30 years.

Devastation Described

"There can be little or no doubt that another world war in which the belligerents had atomic bombs would lead to the death or mutilation of tens of millions of human beings and the ruin of cities and towns, the devastation of huge tracts of country so that it would be impossible to grow any food on them, and it is even possible that forces might be set in motion which would sweep belligerents and non-belligerents off the face of the earth.

"Sometimes they say the weapon (atom bomb) is so awful that no civilized nation would ever dare to use it; but it has already been used by the two most civilized nations. Is it really to be thought that the Balkan States, for instance, would be more scrupulous about its use than Great Britain and the United States?"

Pleads For Resolute Faith

The Archbishop said it was his own conviction that the Christian religion—"not a vague sentimental faith but a resolute faith"—alone could curb "men's impulse to destroy."

Speaking for Britain, he said, "We must do everything in our power to strengthen our friendship with the United States and to make possible co-operation with Russia." Without a friendly understanding with Russia, he added, "there can be no hope of peace in Europe."

Archbishop Of York Warns Of Atom Bomb Catastrophe

Bradford, England, Dec. 2 (AP)—Dr. Cyril Foster Garbett, the archbishop of York, said tonight that if leading nations failed to reach a good understanding they faced the possibility of another world war which might "sweep belligerents and nonbelligerents off the face of the earth."

"This is no fantastic nightmare," he said in an address to the Bradford Textile Society. "It is a catastrophe which may come upon the human race within the next 20 or 30 years.

any definite action in the event of certain eventualities."

He issued a statement in denying an assertion in London's Communist Daily Worker that Britain was about to enter secretly into a ten-year far-reaching de facto military alliance with the United States.

The informant said that any negotiations now in progress between the two nations involved only the integration of armaments, and cited Prime Minister Attlee's recent replies in th House of Commons concerning standardization of weapons geared to American specifications.

Flurry Of Comment Recalled

He said there was little to add to Attlee's statement that the proposed agreements on armament integration were being considered within the framework of the United Nations and that Attlee had hoped Russia would be a participant.

The story in the Daily Worker recalled the flurry of comment set off when Winston Churchill proposed a virtual military alliance between the United States and Britain in a speech at Fulton, Mo., last March. His speech drew vigorous critimism from some Labor members of Parliament. London afternoon newspapers, however, failed to print anything on the Daily Worker story.

The Government source said that a program of arms integration based upon British experience in two world wars already has been undertaken in the Army and probably will be extended later to the Royal Air Force and the Royal Navy, where, for the moment, there is less need of change.

The Daily Worker's front-paged story reported that a comprehensive military alliance to run for ten years and intended to affect land, sea and air forces would be implemented when A. V. Alexander took over as Defense Minister.

War Office Statement

The War Office commented in a brief statement:

"In view of a report in a morning paper, the War Office denies that any official announcement has been made concerning the conclusion of a military pact between Britain and America."

The Daily Worker attributed some of its information to "official" spokesmen of the War Office, and stated that negotiations were under way "behind the back of Parliament."

The War Office statement appeared to some observers to disavow only an "official announcement" and not what might be made known later, and speculation was stimulated rather than subdued by the denial.

Plan For Military Pact Denied

London, Dec. 2. (AP)—A source high in the Labor Government declared tonight that Britain was not formulating plans "for any sort of a military pact with America which would commit one or the other to Arms Pact With U.S. Pends, London Hears...

London, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Daily Worker, British Communist tabloid, said today the Labor Government soon would enter into a ten-year de facto military "pact" with the United States, negotiated "behind the back of Parliament."

"The plan, people in closest touch with the Cabinet admit," the newspaper said, "assumes that in the event of war the United States would supply the arms and Britain the fighting men."

The Worker reported it had learned "officially" at the War Office that the virtual "merging" of the respective land, sea and air forces was to take effect when A. V. Alexander became Defense Minister under legislation now pending in Parliament.

Secrets Disclosed, Claim

"General Sir William Morgan, now commanding in the Mediterranean, is being sent to Washington as chief of a military mission at the end of the year to put the scheme into effect," the paper said.

The Worker declared that Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada proposed the move in April and discussions toward "binding Britain to total dependence on the United States as regards arms" began in May.

"All Britain's military secrets, as officially stated," the article added, "are being given to the United States."

On October 30, authoritative British military informants said British Empire and United States political and military chiefs had agreed in principle to standardize land, air and naval weapons and munitions to United States sizes and patterns and Alexander would put the decision into effect as soon as he took office.

"I don't believe there is a single military secret between ourselves and the Americans," one British source said at that time.

Leahy's Visit Cited

The Worker said Admiral William D. Leahy's visit to London some months ago and Lord Montgomery's later visit to Washington were concerned with the plans, and noted that Prime Minister Attlee acknowledged to foreign-policy rebels in the House of Commons November 18 that bilateral staff talks still were taking place.

"As part of the arrangement," it went on, "Britain has completely reversed her position on the atomic bomb."

It said that Sir Hartley Shawcross last Friday at a United Nations meeting in New York "warmly welcomed" Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's proposal to abolish atomic warfare, but next day described the proposal as "this humbug."

Deportation Of Japs In Canada Upheld

London, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Privy Council, highest British court, ruled today that Canadian orders for deportation of Japanese from Canada were valid.

The council dismissed an appeal made by the Co-Operative Committee of Japanese-Canadians against deportation orders imposed on interned Japanese and also on Canadian or British citizens of Japanese descent who had asked to be repatriated.

Of the 24,000 Japanese in Canada, some 10,632 voluntarily had asked repatriation, but by last August 6,313 had withdrawn the requests. The Labor Ministry said 3,150 had been sent to Japan by August. However, pending outcome of the appeal to the Privy Council, the Canadian Government decided there would be no forcible deportations, but that it would assist anyone who desired to go voluntarily to Japan. The Supreme Court of Canada previously upheld the order.

Under War Measures Act

Orders permitting the Canadian Labor Minister to order the Japanese deported were passed under the War Measures Act and continued by the Transitional Act of last December.

"The interests of the Dominion are to be protected and it rests with the Parliament of the Dominion to protect them," the Privy Council ruled. "What those interests are the Parliament of the Dominion must be left with considerable freedom to judge. It is not pertinent to the judiciary to consider the wisdom or propriety of the particular policy embodied in the emergency legislation. Determination of the policy to be followed is exclusively a matter for the Parliament of the Dominion and those to whom it has delegated its powers."

Baldwin Flies to Palestine.

London, Dec. 2 (A. P.).—Joseph Clark Baldwin (R.-N. Y.) left London by air for Palestine today to confer with Jewish and Arab leaders.

Baldwin, administrative chairman of the Political Action Committee for Palestine, spent two weeks in England, discussing the Palestine question with British officials. His mission is unofficial.

32 Kin Welcome Returning GI Bride

London, Dec. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Rosina Berman, 19, GI bride who celebrates her first wedding anniversary next Friday, slept late today after an uproarious welcome home by all her sisters and her cousins and her aunts—a chartered busload.

Thirty-two relatives in all, including Mr. and Mrs. William Ledger, her parents, piled out as the bus and the plane bringing Rosina and her husband, David, of Detroit, arrived simultaneously at London Airport last night.

Rosina stuck it out in officers' quarters at Fort Bragg, N.C., and later in Detroit, she said, until somebody sent her postcards of Westminister Abbey and somebody else—Papa Ledger—offered David a job in London.

Atomic Power Seen Coal Rival

PARIS, Dec. 2 (AP)—Dr. Arthur H. Compton, noted atom scientist, might become a serious competitor might become a serious competitor to the coal industry in the United State by about 1955, provided "political difficulties do not interfere."

His prediction was contained in a speech on the fourth anniversary of the loosing of nuclear fission in Chicago, made to a gathering of top-ranking scientists at Sorbonne University.

Dr. Compton, chancellor of Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., also upheld the use of the atom bomb against Japan, declaring "not to have used this new found power to stop short the most disastrous war of history would have been unpardonable."

"Humanity's greatest need was a decisive weapon," he said. "We who had atomic power in our hands would have been traitors to mankind if we had not built the weapons and used them with tempered blows."

He said that heat byproducts of atomic energy were being used now in experiments heating water pouring into the Columbia river. He painted a picture of modern cities using heat from central stations without a pall of smoke covering the area, and of atomic power as a source of electricity in areas where coal and water power were scarce or costly.

The Nobel prize winning physicist asserted that the alternative to an agreement that no atom bombs will be made in the future was a a competitive armaments race, but he added:

"I believe that the odds favor considerably the view that major wars between the great powers are already a thing of the past. I am confident that we have a good fighting chance of establishing a permanent peace."

French Bakers Destroy Bread Coupons In Raid

Paris, Nov. 30 [Reuter]—More than 100 bakers raided the local food office at Mont de Marsan in southwest France and destroyed all bread coupons they could find in protest against the continuance of bread rationing.

Only bread coupons were taken and no other damage was done.

Job Shifts In Russia

GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 2 (AP)—Russia's manpower pool of "essential" workers will be increased by the release of a considerable number of persons from "nonessential" jobs in factories and offices in order that they can enter work considered more vital to success of the latest five-year plan, it was disclosed today.

NIGHT

How many workers would be funneled into activities connected directly with the five-year plan was not revealed, but it was estimated that releases in some offices would run as high as 30 per cent. The releases will probably take place before the end of the year.

The workers will not be assigned arbitrarily to new jobs, but will be permitted to select their fields of endeavor, it was said. Some will go to technical and trade schools to prepare themselves for skilled jobs in factories, while others will go to work in the transport industry, the mines and the steel and iron industry.

Will Get Better Rations

As compensation for leaving their old jobs the workers will get better rations, and in many cases when they go to new cities in far away sections they will be able to benefit by new housing and other projects of postwar Russia.

The Soviet Union's industrial plan for the next five years envisages a wide diversification of industry, which should see new industrial centers blossoming out in the Urals, in the Southeastern Asia republics and in central, eastern and western Siberia.

Organs of the Government and Communist party have complained several times recently that there are too many people in offices and nonessential jobs, and many persons have voluntarily left this kind of work for something considered more constructive.

Look To Arms Reduction

In connection with the general need for workers, Russians look to world-wide reduction of armaments, which the Soviet delegation is advocating in the United Nations sessions, to provide many more men for heavy industry. Russians hope arms limitation agreements by the great powers will permit the transfer of men from the Army back to the fields and factories.

It can be said with certainty that Russia could give every man now in uniform a peacetime job, so broad is the scope of the five-year plan. This does not mean that the Soviet Union contemplates doing without an army, but many Russians believe that the smaller the army the better.

There is no talk of war here, no talk of new weapons or new armaments.

Youth Enters Trade Schools

The younger people are entering the trade schools in large numbers. A wide choice of work is open now to young Russians. Thousands are choosing to become engineers, perhaps more than are selecting any other work, although there is heavy emphasis on public health and the need for doctors, dentists, nurses.

One sees fewer and fewer men in uniform in Russian cities these days and some of these are just wearing their army clothes, with insignia removed, until they can get others.

In a family with five sons three of the young men had been in the Red Army during the war; two of these are now out of uniform and have factory jobs. They believe they are through with the army forever. Younger sons were students during the war; they are still studying engineering — with no thought or desire of entering the army.

Russians Vacating Nonessential Jobs

Moscow, Dec. 2 (AP)—A large percentage of Soviet workers now engaged in nonessential factory and office work will be released shortly so they can take jobs considered more essential to the five-year plan.

Estimates of the exact percentage vary, but in some Moscow offices it reaches 30 per cent.

Newspapers have complained recently that there are too many people working in offices and nonessential jobs and already many persons have voluntarily left such work for something more constructive.

Given Their Choice

When the new groups are released, probably before the end of the year, they will not merely get new jobs, but will be allowed to pick their assignment.

Some will go to technical and trade schools to prepare for skilled jobs in factories working on capital goods. Others will go into transport, mines and blast-furnace operation.

General disarmament would contribute many more persons to jobs in heavy industry.

Better Rations, Housing

Persons transferring from these nonessential jobs to essential ones will receive better rations and in many cases will benefit from postwar-housing projects.

Russia's industrial plan for the next few years calls for a widespread diversification of industry and for new developments in the Urals, in southeastern Asia republics and in Siberia.

Elliott Denies Accusing U. S. Moscow Embassy.

GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 2 (A. P.).—Elliott Roosevelt, off on a tour of Southern Russia, has denied that he charged the United States Embassy or its officials with being implicated in publication of off-the-record remarks attributed to him.

DAY

The son of the late United States President, visiting the Soviet Union with his wife, issued the denial last night before leaving on a train trip of ten days or longer.

Correspondent Blamed.

"A correspondent who apparently sent out such a story is the very person who suggested to me that the embassy was involved," he said. "I am getting him right now to tell him this. I am also informing the embassy here."

[The United Press in the United States distributed a story quoting Roosevelt as saying that the publication of off-the-record statements he was reported to have made here was a "put up job" of the embassy. The statements were published in Newsweek Magazine, which quoted Roosevelt as saying at a party in Moscow that the United States had broken pledges given at Yalta, Potsdam and Tehran and said that he criticized his country's current foreign policy.]

Roosevelt, who termed the affair a tempest in a teapot, but said he still didn't like to be misquoted, declared: "I may have something to say and something to write about how I think this original story of an off-the-record discussion got out from Moscow, but I am making no accusations and I have made no accusations."

He said that he had talked about the stories with his mother in America by radio-telephone yesterday.

No Reply Received.

In New York, Chet Shaw, Newsweek's executive editor, said that the magazine had received no reply to an offer to print a 500-word statement from Roosevelt. Shaw said that the offer was cabled to Roosevelt Saturday.

"Newsweek stands by the statement in its original story that the material came from a reliable individual who attended the party," Shaw said.

Russian Expresses Fear For China

Moscow, Dec. 2 (AP)—Soviet Commentator M. Markin expressed the view in Pravda today that the Kuomintang was incapable of coping alone with internal Chinese affairs and added that he feared the consequences of promulgation of a "democratic constitution."

This is the first Soviet editorial reaction to the convoking at Nanking November 15 of the Chinese National Assembly, without the participation of the Chinese Communists and the Democratic League.

ALL U. S. ZONE STATES NOW SELF-GOVERNING

DeAVE

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 2—(AP) All three states in the American occupation zone of Germany had adopted constitutions permitting or compelling socialization of basic industries and elected parliaments for self government, leaving the U. S. army tonight in only a supervisory role.

Greater Hesse, most strongly leftist and highly industrialized state under American rule, adopted yesterday a proposal requiring immediate socialization of mines, power facilities and railroads and state supervision of banks and insurance companies. The vote was 1,081,124 to 422,159.

NIGHT

Rural, Catholic Bavaria in Sunday balloting adopted a constitution permitting but not compelling moderate socialization of basic industries 2,092,385 to 871,027. A similar constitution was adopted in Wuerttemberg-Baden a week earlier, requiring the immediate socialization of basic industries. The Bavarian constitution, like that adopted in Wuerttemberg-Baden a week ago, permits but does not compel such socialization.

The slightly left-of-center Social Democrats, who sponsored the socialization plank, won the most seats in Greater Hesse's new Landtag (Parliament) with 38 seats out of 90. The conservative, church-supported Christian Democratic Union ran second with 28. Both lost seats, however, in comparison with the number they held in the assembly that drafted the constitution, the Social Democrats losing four and the Christian Democrats seven.

Liberal Democrats, Reds

The seats they lost went to the extreme right-wing Liberal Democratic party, which won fourteen seats, compared with its former six, and the Communists, who won ten compared with their previous seven.

In rural, strongly Catholic Bavaria, biggest of the three American-ruled states, the Christian Social Union retained its majority of the Landtag's 180 seats, winning 104 places for a loss of five. The Social Democrats were second with 54 seats, eight more than they held in the constitutional convention.

No Seats To Reds

By popular vote the Right-wing Economic Reconstruction party and the extreme Right-wing Free Democratic party gained most, although adding fewer parliamentary seats. The Economic Reconstructionists won thirteen seats, a gain of four, and the Free Democrats won nine, a gain of two.

Although the Bavarian Communists gained in popular vote, their votes were so widely distributed they did not win a single Landtag seat. They held nine seats in last summer's constitutional Assembly.

Bavaria's popular vote: Christian Social Union, 1,595,025, against 1,584,679 in the last election; Social Democrats, 873,030, against 785,538; Economic Reconstruction party, 225,922, against 137,525; Free Democratic party, 172,261, against 68,629, and Communists, 185,178, against 144,676.

Constitution Votes

The vote on the Bavarian constitution was 2,092,385 in favor and 871,027 against.

In Greater Hesse, the constitution won by a vote of 1,156,710 to 350,358. The socialization-of-industry provision fared almost as well, with 1,081,124 "yes" votes to 422,159 "no."

The party vote in Greater Hesse was: Social Democrats, 686,423; Christian Democratic Union, 495,667; Liberal Democrats, 251,430, and Communists, 171,373.

Seventy-five per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots in Bavaria and 77.4 per cent in Greater Hesse.

Center Wins, But Rightists Gain In U.S. Zone Voting

DOAVE

Frankfurt, Dec. 2 (AP)—Significant gains by extreme right-wing parties were shown today in final returns from yesterday's elections, in which two American-occupied German States adopted democratic constitutions and elected State Legislatures that will assume almost complete self-government.

Although the two major middle-of-the-road parties retained their established leading positions, both lost ground to rightest minor parties. The Communists also gained slightly at the expense of the centrists.

The constitutions, establishing parliamentary forms of government, were adopted overwhelmingly in both Bavaria and Greater Hesse.

DAY

Socialization Issue

Greater Hesse, the mostly industrialized and the most leftist of the three American-controlled states, also adopted a separately submitted constitutional provision

Gem-Theft Trial For Durant Set

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 2 (AP). Col. Jack W. Durant, the last of three defendants in the $1,500,000 Kronberg Castle jewel theft, was formally served with charges today and his court-martial will begin here in about ten days, United States Army officials said.

His wife, the former WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash, is serving a five-year prison sentence for a part in the theft and Major David Watson, of Burlingame, Cal., former assistant to Colonel Durant, a three-year sentence for receiving a part of the jewels.

Army sources said the court-martial might be moved to Washington or Chicago to hear testimony of witnesses in the United States.

Four charges involving twelve separate counts were served on Durant. The counts included larceny, aiding and abetting larceny, aiding and abetting embezzlement, conspiracy to steal, evading customs duties, improper conversion of an army pistol to his own use, "wrongfully and without authorization" signing another colonel's name to official papers in an effort to speed his army discharge.

He is held under guard in a Frankfurt jail.

Col. Durant Slated For Hesse Case Trial

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 2 (AP). Col. Jack W. Durant, of Chicago, was charged formally today with participation in the theft of the $1,500,000 Hesse family jewels, and United States Army officials said he would be tried by court-martial in about ten days.

His wife, WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash Durant, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Major David F. Watson, of Burlingame, Cal., already have been convicted in the case.

Durant's trial may be held in part in Washington or Chicago. If

War Department permission is obtained, the court of ten colonels may go to either of the cities to receive testimony, taking the jewels along as court exhibits, army sources said.

Durant, 37, a former executive officer of personnel in the United States Army headquarters here, has been held under guard in a Frankfurt hotel. He was arrested in the United States last June.

Curb On Ruhr Coal Exports Is Predicted

Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 2 (AP)—Informed sources here said today that British occupation authorities are believed about to take a step toward giving greater stability to their zonal economy by declaring a six-month moratorium on all Ruhr coal exports with the exception of certain limited shipments to France.

These sources thought a statement to this effect might be made tomorrow simultaneous with scheduled statements by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin on developments in the plan for merging the American and British zones.

German Court Tries 6 In Asylum Killings

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 2 (AP). Charged with the "mercy killing" of thousands of old and mentally defective Germans, six Nazi insane-asylum officials went on trial for their lives here today in the first mass trial of war criminal suspects by German courts.

The German prosecutor, Dr. Rudolf Gilmer, Assistant Minister of Justice in the Greater Hesse government, asserted in his indictment that the deaths were carried out under Adolf Hitler's order calling for euthanasia killing of the "incurable sick."

GERMANS INDICT FRITZSCHE

Nazi Freed by Allies Will Face Denazification Board

NUREMBERG, Germany, Dec. 2 (AP)—Hans Fritzsche, German propagandist acquitted in the international trial of German war leaders, was indicted today for trial by a German denazification board. The indictment proposed that Fritzsche be tried in the second half of December before a denazification court as a "principal criminal" in helping to maintain Nazi power through extraordinary propaganda methods.

3,100,000 Parcels for Germans

BERLIN, Dec. 2 (AP)—Americans have delivered 3,100,000 parcel post gift relief packages, containing food and other comforts for Germans, since last June, the American Military Government disclosed today in its weekly review. This service is authorized in the three western zones of occupation. Military government postal officials said there was still a huge backlog of packages in America and that shipments would be increased.

Batt in Berlin for Rubber Talks

BERLIN, Dec. 2 (AP)—William L. Batt, American industrialist and Government coordinator for rubber, arrived here today to consult American Military Government officials on industrial problems in the American zone. Mr. Batt, who heads the SKF ball-bearing plant in Philadelphia, came here from The Hague, where he was a delegate to a world conference on rubber. He is scheduled to leave on Wednesday for England.

SLOVAKIA PUPPET HEAD ON TRIAL

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia, Dec. 2—(AP) The Rev. Josef Tiso, the roundfaced priest who served the Germans as president of the puppet state of Slovakia, went on trial for his life today on a charge amounting to treason.

The stocky defendant unsuccessfully challenged both the authority of the people's court and the impartiality of the presiding judge. He contended it was illegal for the U. S. Army to arrest him 19 months ago.

Dr. Igor Daxner, the presiding judge, was imprisoned by Father Tiso in 1943. The court overruled both protests and started reading the indictment charging crimes against the state.

Special precautions were taken because of divided sentiment. Many persons, including a group of bishops and clergymen, had circulated a petition asking for Tiso's release, asserting he had done his best for Slovakia.

Grenades Explode In Cairo

Cairo, Dec. 2 (AP)—Hand grenades exploded simultaneously tonight in front of seven district police stations in Cairo. Three policemen and three passers-by were injured.

Holy Land Mine Kills 5 Britons

Jerusalem, Tuesday, Dec. 3 (AP)—Five British soldieres were killed in Palestine within the last 24 hours in two road mine explosions, a military source said today.

One soldier was killed and a second was injured when their jeep was blown up by a mine near Benjamina south of Haifa last night.

Earlier a mine containing rivets killed four soldiers in a jeep on a mountainous road west of Jerusalem, and touthorities hunted two persons seen speeding from the vicinity in a black taxicab.

This latest outburst of violence occurred as Palestine Jews awaited the arrival in the Holy Land of the first boat load of Jewish immigrants selected from detainees on Cyprus. The selections was made in accordance with a British policy to admit into Palestine Jews on Cyprus for whom immigration certifications could be made available out of the regular quotas.

A dispatch from Famagusta said 298 Jews left there yesterday on the Empire Rival and that another 700 would be leaving soon.

Authorities believed that the mine which killed the British soldiers, members of the 6th Airborne Division, was electrically detonated by the two who fled the scene. The blast occurred on the same spot where mines were detonated on two previous occasions as jeeps or military trucks passed.

PLAN OFFERED FOR PALESTINE

Experts Urge Seven-point Basis for Peace.

Jerusalem, Dec. 2 (A. P.).—A seven-point plan reportedly suggested by Palestine Governmeent experts to bring peace to the Holy Land was the subject of wide discussion here today as the police questioned fifty-two suspects in connection with a machine gun attack on a police station, highlight of a week end of violence.

The latest plan for Palestine was published by the usually reliable Socialist Hebrew paper, Mishmar, which said that the Palestine Government had offered it as a basis for future discussions.

The seven points embodied in the plan are as follows:

Continuance of the present British mandate for fifteen years, with a new decision possible after that time; opening Palestine to 100,000 Jews within the next eighteen months: federalizing of Palestine into purely Jewish, Arab and British sites, with the British sector including places of special interest to Christians; halting further Jewish settlement where Arabs constitute more than 70 per cent of the population and making land purchase for Jewish colonization possible in other areas only under certain conditions; Jewish settlement in the Southern Palestine Desert, namely Neguel, to be permitted; establishment of separate Jewish and Arab police forces jointly headed by the British Supreme Police Command; establishment of a legislative council of 40 per cent Jews, 40 per cent Moslem Arabs and 20 per cent Christians to assist the mandatory administration.

Three British soldiers of the Sixth Airborne Division were killed and one was seriously injured today when a jeep in which they were traveling was blown up by a mine in the Jerusalem-Jaffa Road, it was announced officially.

The police said that two Jews and two British constables were injured in the week end gunfire, described as the heaviest in Jerusalem's modern history.

Athens Sees British Arms Aid

ATHENS, Dec. 2 (AP)—A high Greek source said today that Britain intended to give Greece nearly 10,000 additional pieces of armament—mostly heavy automatic weapons—and has approved an increase, estimated at 5,000 men, in the Greek Army.

The army will be increased to nine battalions, this source said. He added the need for heavy automatic weapons became obvious during fighting against guerrillas in northern Greece, where the guerrillas were often better equipped than the Greek regulars sent against them.

No Decision Yet In London

In London, a Foreign Office spokesman said the question of increased arms supplies to the Greek forces had been under discussion for some time, but that no decision had been reached.

Britain does, he said, determine the size of the Greek Army and gendarmerie "as a practical matter" since their size depends on the arms available to them, and Britain is supplying arms.

IRAN GROUPS HINT OF WAR

Government Plan To Direct Azerbaijan Vote Disputed

CURTIS 1946

Tehran, Dec. 2 (AP)—Reliable reports said tonight that 3,000 Azerbaijan troops were concentrated along the main road and mountain pass between Mianeh and the province border as the Central Iranian Government awaited reaction to Premier Ahmed Qavam's statement that he would insist upon sending Government troops into the province to supervise elections.

The Government troops were about 12 miles south of the border but there was no indication they had entered the Leftist-dominated province—a step that Dr. Salamollah Javid, Azerbaijan Governor General, said would lead to "civil war."

NIGHT

Two Azerbaijan Factions

Qavam announced that parliamentary elections would be held as scheduled in a two-week period beginning in December.

Qavam had informed Javid that "if the sending of troops is met with resistance and insubordination, it will bring a terrible result, the responsibility for which will rest upon the shoulders of provincial authorities."

Javid, who had refused Qavam's request to permit Government troops to cross the Azerbaijan border, sent him a summary of the province council's views which said:

"There are two factions in Azerbaijan—the pro-Democrats and the anti-Democrats. The presence of Government troops would encourage the latter to rise and fight the Democrats. Civil war would ensue, which would spread throughout the country."

Troops To Guard All Voting, Qavam Says

Tehran, Dec. 2 (AP)—Premier Ahmed Qavam said last night that "necessary forces will be sent to Azerbaijan" to supervise elections in the semi-autonomous province despite an assertion by the Leftist-dominated Provincial Council that the presence of Government troops might start a civil war.

Qavam, who had requested and been refused permission to send in Government security forces, telegraphed Azerbaijan's Governor General, Dr. Salamollah Javid:

"If the sending of troops is met with resistance and insubordination, it will bring a terrible result, the responsibility for which will rest upon the shoulders of provincial authorities."

More Deputies Sought

In his earlier request, the Premier had said that hindrances to the entry of troops might delay voting to begin next Saturday on 161 national parliamentary deputies. Azerbaijan has sought to double its parliamentary delegation of 21 deputies.

Government forces last night were reported camped about 12 miles south of the Azerbaijan border at Sarcham, which lies 25 miles south of Mianeh, the first sizable town inside the province.

Earlier reports had said Azerbaijanians were mining bridges and fortifying the main road and mountain pass into Azerbaijan.

In reply to Qavam's original request, Javid sent him a summary of the Council's view, which pointed out that inspectors or local and foreign correspondents might be sent in to oversee the elections, but added that the dispatch of troops might cause trouble.

Explains War Threat

"There are two factions in Azerbaijan—the pro-democrats and the anti-democrats," Javid had told Qavam. "The presence of Government troops would encourage the latter to rise and fight the democrats. Civil war would ensue, which would spread throughout the country."

Yesterday's Left-wing Tehran newspapers carried an open letter to Qavam signed by the Tudeh (Leftist) and five other parties in which they charged Qavam's three-month-old Democrat party with "threats and other means to bring people to your party by force," and said this proved that the elections would not be free.

Four French Soldiers Killed.

Hanoi, Indo-China, Dec. 1 (Delayed) (A. P.).—French sources reported today that Viet-Namese last Saturday killed four French soldiers in an attack on a garrison at Doson, a small French-held seaside resort south of Haiphong.

2 Java Reds Sentenced In Plot

Batavia, Java, Dec. 2 (AP)—The former president and secretary of the Java Communist party, Dr. Jusof and Dr. Suprapto, were sentenced today by an Indonesian Republican court at Cheribon to serve 3½ years in prison.

An Indonesian Information Ministry spokesman said both were involved in a short-lived Communist attempt last spring to seize power in the Cheribon region.

He said Moscow-trained Tann Malaka and several other Communist leaders still were awaiting trial in the interior of Java on charges connected with the kidnaping of Premier Sutan Sjahrir last August in what the spokesman termed another unsuccessful Communist coup d'etat.

Chinese Reds Mass In Mid-Manchuria

Nanking, Dec. 2 (AP)—Government reports said today Chinese Communists had concentrated more than a half-million troops in Central Manchuria for an attack on Yungki (Kirin) and then on the capital city, Changchun, 90 miles to the west.

NIGHT

Communist military and political headquarters had been moved from Harbin to far northeastern Kiamusze, the Government Central News Agency said. Kiamusze is nearly 300 miles from Changchun and 180 from Harbin.

Nationalists "Won't Fire First"

Crack Red troops were reported to have been shifted from Harbin to Shulan, 125 miles northeast of Changchun. Others which had been attacking Government forces in the Nungan area, north of Changchun, were said to have been withdrawn toward the Yungki sector.

Government leaders were watching these movements closely, semi-official military sources said, "but we will not fire the first shots." They said Chiang Kai-shek's troops have been observing his recent cease-fire order, except when attacked.

Reds Accused Of Pillage

As Chiang's troops continued to clean up the Liaotung peninsula of southern Manchuria, reports reaching Peiping accused the Chinese Communists of stripping the industrial section of Dairen, the free port near the tip of the peninsula. These reports, entirely without confirmation and carried by the pro-Government press of Peiping, said the Reds were shipping the dismantled machinery across the Yellow Sea to the Shantung peninsula.

Communist troops were reported within 8 miles of Tatung, Government communications center 225 miles west of Peiping. It withstood a Red siege last fall.

Nanking Reports 552,000 Reds In Manchuria

Nanking, Dec. 2 (AP)—A Government source said today the Chinese Communists' top military man, Gen. Chu Teh, left for Moscow November 20 with an "important military mission." This was wholly without confirmation.

Nanking, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Government's Central News Agency said today the Chinese Communists had massed 552,000 troops in Manchuria and had moved their military and political headquarters from threatened Harbin to Kiamutze, 180 miles to the northeast.

Military sources said Government leaders were aware of the movements, but "we will not fire the first shot."

Chinese press reports in Peiping, meanwhile, accused the Communists of stripping the industrial section of Dairen, Manchuria's greatest port, and transporting machinery across the Yellow Sea to the Shantung peninsula of North China.

Iron Works Reported Taken

Unconfirmed reports said twelve iron works, one arsenal and several heavy industrial plants had been carried off.

The Nanking newspaper Ta Kang Pao, meanwhile, reported in a Peiping dispatch that Government forces were within 12 miles of Dairen, and that one column had already entered the Soviet-occupied port.

Gen. Tu Li-ming's troops last were reported within 40 miles of Dairen and negotiating for Soviet withdrawal.

Government troops have not yet slammed the door to peace by mounting any direct attack upon the North China Communist capital of Yenan.

Mistreatment Denied

Tientsin, Dec. 2 (AP)—Chinese officials of the Changchun Railroad Administration at Mukden today denied the Soviet Embassy's charge that Russian employés had been mistreated.

The Embassy at Nanking said Thursday that Soviet employés of the railroad were being withdrawn because some had been beaten and robbed by Chinese.

"The Soviet staff's treatment is the best," the CRA declared. "They live in the best houses. Some show relaxation in their work, but none is prevented from carrying out his duty."

The CRA said a few scuffles had occurred between individual Chinese and Soviets, but only over minor matters, such as:

"A Soviet staff member met a Chinese with a dog. The Soviet wanted the dog, so he tossed a stone at the Chinese."

Shanghai Resumes Normal Activity

Shanghai, Dec. 2 (AP)—Shops reopened and Shanghai resumed its normal Oriental hubbub today following a week end of rioting in which fully 100 persons were injured and perhaps several killed. Property damage was heavy.

The day passed without further incident, and some of the armed street patrols were removed.

Places of amusement opened for business, restrictions on American service personnel and dependents were lifted and street traffic became as congested as ever.

Many Americans enjoyed outings after being confined to quarters since Saturday night, when the disorders were ignited by the effort of city authorities to clear the sidewalks of thousands of unlicensed peddlers. Mayor K. C. Wu later modified the order to permit the vendors in certain sections, but the rioting continued.

Blaming the outbreak on the Chinese Communists, Mayor Wu said that its purpose was to create "disastrous bloodshed and tragedy" as a prelude to a general strike for which the authorities would be made to appear responsible. He said the agitators had failed but warned "they still exist."

Various reports that up to a dozen persons were killed during the street demonstrations were officially denied.

Don Carlos da Costa Roque, an Associated Press photographer, reported he saw two bodies under blankets in the police station compound Saturday and that Sunday morning he saw "one boy and two men shot" when police fired point-blank into a crowd. The victims were removed before he could determine whether they were dead.

Apparently there was no anti-foreign spirit in the demonstrations.

Some Shanghai Shops Reopen

Shanghai, Dec. 2 (AP)—Some shopkeepers hesitatingly reopened for business today as police with shoot-to-kill orders guarded against any resumption of the week end rioting which resulted in at least 100 injuries and unofficial reports, denied by city officials, of five to twelve deaths.

At midmorning a city spokesman said "we think we have the situation under control." He reiterated that nobody had been killed, by official count.

Many stores remained closed, their owners fearful of further trouble. Numerous shops had been damaged in the demonstration.

Mayor Blames Communists

Rioting began Saturday after municipal authorities sought to clear the streets of the thousands of unlicensed sidewalk peddlers. Mayor K. C. Wu later eased the order by restricting the vendors to certain sections of the city, but the rioting continued.

The Mayor told foreign correspondents he blamed the Communists for the outbreak.

He told newsmen the "purpose behind" the riots was to create "disastrous bloodshed and tragedy" as a prelude to a general strike but that the agitators had "failed in their effort to paralyze Shanghai."

An Associated Press photographer, China-born Don Carlos Roque, found a howling crowd menacing the Whangpoo police station in the former French concession in midafternoon Saturday. He saw two bodies under blankets in the station compound but was chased away by a policeman with drawn bayonet when he sought to take a picture.

Mob Fired Upon, Report

Roque said police fired point-blank to break up the crowd.

Sunday morning Roque saw another riot scene and again reported police fired into the mob.

Boom, Bust China Style

Shanghai, Dec. 2 (AP)—The bloody riots in Shanghai over the week end were tragic for some shopkeepers.

A fruit stand celebrated its opening by setting off a long string of firecrackers—to scare off the evil spirits.

The explosions were mistaken for gunfire and caused a near panic.

Angrily the rioters tore down the stand.

In another part of town a mob threw the furnishings of a print shop into the street and set them afire despite the pleas of the proprietor, tears in his eyes, that the shop had been in his family for 95 years.

Mayor K. C. Wu summoned the printer to his office and gave him a check for 1,000,000 Chinese dollars ($175) as "an expression of my sympathy." The donation set off a public movement to raise funds for the printer.

Japan Finds New Source Of Seals

Tokyo, Dec. 2 (AP)—The newspaper Mainichi says Japan has discovered seal-hunting grounds off Haikkaido, her northern home island, "superior to the Karafuto coast" of Shakhalin which Russia took over.

Three ships of a Japanese hunting company returned with 1,080 pelts, encouraging the dispossessed Karafuto seal hunters to prepare for large-scale hunting off the north coast next spring. From 40,000 to 50,000 seals used to be caught off Karafuto yearly.

Fall Kills GI In Japan

Yokohama, Dec. 2 (AP)—An accidental fall into a tunnel shaft caused the death of Pfc. Freeman L. Fitzgerald, of Amelia, Va., the 8th Army announced today. The body of Fitzgerald, who dropped from sight two weeks ago, was found by a salvage crew November 27.

Philippines Face $145,000,000 Deficit

Manila, Dec. 2 (A. P.).—Confronted with an expected deficit of $145,000,000 during the fiscal year, the administration was reported today to be seeking United States loans from sources other than the RFC and the Export-Import Bank.

Budget Commissioner Pio Pedrosa estimated the deficit could be covered if the $400,000,000 loan requested by President Roxas from the United States is approved.

Sites For Bases In Philippines Under Study

Manila, Dec. 2 (AP)—President Manuel Roxas today amplified his November 30 statement regarding United States bases in the Philippines by explaining that while it was agreed that bases would be established, the question of exact location still is under negotiation.

From high United States Army sources it was learned that present bases at the mouth of the Pasig River and at other strategic points along the water front and in metropolitan Manila are not necessarily permanent.

Roxas said that the matter of sites still was under study, although agreement has been reached on the basic principle of permitting the United States to establish bases in the Philippines for the defense of both countries.

100-Year Lease

Under one American plan, understood to be agreeable to Roxas, the jungle-covered Mariveles area of Bataan would be converted into an atomic bomb-proof base with extensive underground installations.

Authorization for such a base would necessarily have to come from the United States Congress and it would cost about one billion dollars. The Mariveles area would be leased to the United States for 100 years.

The American flag still waves over the big prewar Fort Stotsenburg military reservation, which includes the Clark Field network of airfields.

Some Favor Other Isles

Some American officers, however, favor pulling out of the Philippines and building entirely new atom bomb-proof installations in the Western Pacific islands, where there would be no question of their authority or jurisdiction.

It was pointed out that the Navy already has greatly reduced the number of bases it wishes to retain here in favor of Guam, 1,500 miles to the east.

Only 2 Ground Forces Men In Australia

Sydney, Dec. 2 (AP)—A captain and a lieutenant are the only United States Army ground force personnel on duty today in Australia, which saw more than two million Americans during the war.

The United States command base at Sydney, which had shrunk to a handful of officers, enlisted men and civilians, closed November 30 and the last commanding officer, Col. Roy L. Schuyler, with two other officers and four enlisted men, left Sydney in an Army plane today for Manila. Remaining behind in Sydney were Capt. Peter M. Anderson, of Ninety Six, S.C., and Lieut. Richard G. Severson, of Chicago.

There still is an airforce headquarters at Brisbane.

Inquiry Into AMG Believed Up To Vandenberg

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The final decision on how far the new Republican-controlled Senate will go in an investigation of the American Military Government in Germany appears today to rest largely with Senator Athur Vandenberg, of Michigan.

Vandenberg is not a member of the War Investigating Committee whose GOP members, angered over a solid Democratic vote blocking an inquiry now, are determined to launch one as soon as they get command.

Influence To Be Weighty

But as the Senate's prospective new presiding officer and chairman of its Foreign Relations Committee, Vandenberg's influence will be weighty on the conduct of any probe touching on international affairs.

Interested legislators say they believe Vandenberg may want to have the committee's authority defined rather sharply when any investigation it undertakes threatens to encroach on the broad field of foreign policy.

Thus far, Vandenberg's attitude has been that the committee could well go ahead with its inquiry if it is careful to stick to phases of the AMG's operations that are of domestic but not international concern.

Byrnes Opposes Inquiry

Secretary of State Byrnes has opposed any probe at this time, contending that it would interfere with his negotiations on delicate international questions.

When he took that attitude, the six Democrats on the committee voted last week against sending a subgroup to Germany to hold hearings. The four Republican members then joined in a statement contending that the Administration must be "seeking desperately to conceal something wrong with the administration of occupied areas."

Guffey Attacks Republicans

The general effect of Republican congressional control on foreign policy was brought to the front over the week end by an assertion of Senator Guffey (D., Pa.) that GOP leaders had engaged in moves "disheartening" to the supporters of Byrnes's policies.

Contending that Byrnes recognized that the United States cannot side with either Britain or Russia or play one off against another, Guffey said the cabinet member's task "will become an impossible one if Republican leadership continues to widen the difference which he is attempting to bridge."

Senator Ball (R., Minn.) retorted that the "Henry A. Wallace school of Democrats," with which he said Guffey has associated himself, had done more to "undermine" Byrnes's policies than any Republican.

Wartime-Power Acts' Present Need Studied

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—Republicans are polling President Truman's Cabinet on the question of which emergency war powers can be safely cut off and which should continue.

Senator Wiley (R., Wis.) said today that he has sent the inquiries to Cabinet members and the head of the Veterans Administration to prepare the way for quick action by the new Congress to terminate all possible war powers and controls.

Wants To Play Safe

"Some people, without thinking, are telling us to decontrol, get rid of everything," he said.

"But we want to be sure we cut off suckers and not the tap roots of these trees. We want to be certain what we are pruning."

Anticipating his election as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Wiley sent identical letters to the Cabinet members and Veterans Administrator Omar Bradley asking a statement on:

1. "Which wartime and emergency powers of the President currently apply to his Cabinet department.

2. "Which powers, in his opinion can be terminated and why, and when.

3. "Which, in his opinion, cannot be terminated and for how long does he believe it is advisable that they be kept in force."

About 500 Wartime Laws

Wiley said a preliminary survey indicated there are some 500 different statutes dealing with war powers and controls. Their expiration dates vary, but many of the most important continue until six months after the official end of the war.

Republicans are anxious to end them and "bring back the free enterprise system," he said, but want to be certain that "conditions and circumstances" will permit.

The Senator said congressional action must be based upon estimates of "what will be foreign conditions and what will be domestic conditions."

GOVERNORS FAVOR U. S. CONTINUATION OF RENT CEILINGS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 2 — (AP) The executive council of the National Governors Conference indicated today that they felt the government should and would continue rent ceilings.

Gov. Millard F. Caldwell of Florida, chairman, who outlined the discussions at the end of the meeting, said a general round table talk was held on the question of whether states should take up rent controls if the federal government dropped them.

"There was an awareness of the problem by all, and it was the consensus that rent controls would be taken up by the states under those circumstances," said Gov. Caldwell.

Favor U. S. Control

"My own feeling is that the national government will continue rent controls and that state control would not be effective or satisfactory. There were indications that other governors favored continued federal control."

The conference also:

1. Selected Utah for the next national governors' conference and set the date of the gathering for July 6, 1947. The invitation was made by Gov. Herbert B. Maw who told his colleagues he wanted them to see a new industrial empire beginning in the west. Governor Maw will name the city, which probably will be Salt Lake City.

2. Discussed state-local and federal-state relationships, including the wisdom of the federal aid system.

3. Discussed the need for better state services, including such problems as better pay for teachers, hospital and airport construction, education, health and welfare.

The session was slow in starting because of the belated appearance of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Other members of the executive council present, in addition to Govs. Caldwell, Maw and Dewey, were E. Gregg Cherry of North Carolina, Horace A. Hildreth of Maine, and Samuel C. Ford of Montana.

The board of managers of the council of state governments begins two days of executive sessions tomorrow, and the southern governors' conference starts Thursday and runs through Saturday. The final day, however, will be one of recreation.

Jewry-Aid Outlook Called Good 1946

Atlantic City, Dec. 2 (AP)—American Jewry, encouraged by a report that the United States would experience record prosperity in the first six months of 1947, today planned a United Jewish Appeal campaign for a fund to relieve world-wide Jewish distress that would exceed this year's $100,000,000 goal.

Robert R. Nathan, New York economist, told the U.J.A. national mobilization conference last night that profits and total income in the first six months of 1947 "may proceed upward and establish new records." He said he could find no evidence to support reports of development of a serious depression next year.

215 Millions Asked

Affiliates of the U.J.A., concerned over the cessation next June of UNRRA and what they term ineffective aid from other intergovernmental relief agencies, have asked a total of $215,000,000 to meet resettlement and repatriation requirements of displaced European Jews next year.

A U.J.A. spokesman said a budget in excess of $100,000,000 for 1947 would be reported by the resolutions committee, but that it probably would be short of the requests of the affiliate organizations.

Nathan, former deputy director of reconversion, said the "underlying economic picture of America is strong" and, "personally, I think, on the whole, the first half of 1947 is likely to be a very active one and that profits and total income may proceed upward and establish new records.

Possible "Economic Reaction"

"Supplies of raw materials and of critical components are increasing rapidly, and therefore total production and efficiency of operation will improve further.

"Even if we do have an economic reaction in the second half of 1947, it will not represent the beginning of a serious depression.

Army's Decision On Draft Likely This Week

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—An army decision is expected this week on whether to resume the draft in January after a two-month holiday—a step that manpower advisers are reported to favor.

Officials said recommendations are awaiting action by Secretary Patterson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief of staff.

Those advisers favoring a call on selective service for a quota next month are understood to contend it would spur volunteer recruiting as well as supplement it.

Slight Rise Reported

Latest reports show that volunteer recruiting rose in the third week of November, after a steady decline for more than a month.

Recruits, including regulars who re-enlisted or extended shorter terms of service to three years, totaled 5,006, compared with 4,444 the previous week.

But for the entire month only about 20,000 were expected, representing little more than half the 37,000 fixed by the War Department as a minimum monthly requirement of the regular Army.

Reason For Postponement

It was to determine the recruiting trend that the draft decision has been postponed since the October quota of 25,000 was unexpectedly canceled, when only half filled, along with the November quota of 15,000.

Selective Service was informed at that time that there would be no more calls for men from the War Department at least until after the year's end.

The action was laid to a temporary state of army overstrength which has since been reduced by discharges. It left Selective Service with a supply of qualified registrants, between 19 and 25, considered ample to meet renewed monthly calls of 25,000 the first quarter of 1947.

No Hints Received

Officials are giving no hints whether the Army will ask extension of the draft beyond March 31.

That question is wrapped up with the War Department's announced intention of pressing in the new Congress for universal military training on grounds that some form of compulsion is imperative to meet needs of the regular Army, the National Guard and organized reserve units.

If extension should be asked, officials have said that the War Department would propose that the draft terminate with the start of universal training.

Proximity Torpedo Warhead Disclosed By Navy Officials

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Navy disclosed today that in the last days of the war it possessed a new proximity torpedo warhead described as "a versatile and deadly weapon of almost foolproof performance."

The new warhead, the Mark 9 torpedo exploder, designed to function either by proximity to the target or by actual contact, was developed by the applied physics laboratory at the University of Washington in Seattle.

Versatility Of Launching

Equipped with this exploder, a torpedo may be launched from aircraft traveling at high speeds, PT boats or submarines.

The Mark 9 has several distinct advantages over the conventional mechanical exploder. For one, its firing is not dependent upon collision with a ship.

Design of the device was predicated on the fact that ships are built of steel, which is magnetic and therefore distorts the magnetic field in the ship's vicinity.

Highly Sensitive Mechanism

By responding only to this distorted field the explorer triggers a highly sensitive electrical mechanism that sets off the destructive charge in the warhead with a degree of control never before attained, the Navy said.

The first test of the exploder against a large vessel was in May, 1945, off the coast of Curacao, Dutch West Indies. Torpedoes launched from aircraft were fired at the Ampetco, a 13,000-ton tanker. The ship sank ten minutes after the second hit.

REICH REPORT IS PROTESTED BY PATTERSON

Release On Conditions In U.S. Zone Opposed; Called Distorted

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War, today strongly opposed release of a confidential report on conditions in the American occupation zone in Germany, prepared by George Meader, chief counsel for the Senate War Investigating Committee.

His protest was made public by Senator Kilgore (Dem., W.Va.), committee chairman, after the four Republican members of the committee announced their intention of making the report available for publication.

Purported portions of the report, each page of which is marked "confidential," have appeared in print in the last two weeks.

Misconduct Charged

Published versions have stated that the report charges there is widespread misconduct among American occupation troops, an exceedingly high venereal rate, a low quality of replacement troops, a tremendous migration of Jews into the United States occupation zone, and excessive occupation costs.

Meader wrote the report after making a spot check of conditions in the American zone, which he had been authorized to undertake preliminary to a general committee investigation. The proposed excursion abroad of the senators themselves, however, was called off last week by a straight 6-to-4 party-line vote with the current Democratic majority on the winning side.

Kilgore called a news conference to make public Patterson's criticisms after he had heard of the Republicans' plan to release the report and allied testimony taken at executive sessions of the committee in Washington.

"The War Department is opposed to the release of this report," Patterson wrote Kilgore. "It is the view of this department that as written, this report gives a distorted and frequently erroneous picture of the military government in Germany.

Byrnes's Stand Cited

"From information available it appears that the subject matter of the report is based upon unsworn statements and in many cases upon hearsay evidence."

Patterson's letter explaining that Meader had "informally submitted" a copy of the report to the War Department for security clearance.

Kilgore said that James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, and his senatorial advisers, Tom Connally (D., Texas) and Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.), "felt that publication of the report would severely impair their effort at the United Nations conference."

Special Meeting Friday

Kilgore handed reporters copies of a letter he addressed today to all members of the committee, summoning them to a special meeting Friday to pass upon requests that the Meader report be made public.

In view of the impending issuance of the report by the Republicans, Kilgore admitted that the Friday session might turn out to be "just a meeting between the chairman and himself." He said many members are out of the city. Senator Brewster (R., Maine) is in South America.

In his letter, Kilgore expressed the strongest opposition to publication of the confidential report.

"The Senate has authorized the committee — not employés of the committee—to conduct investigations. . .. If we are going to allow this report to be released as an investigator's report, we must ourselves take the responsibility of everything contained in it and it will, in fact, be a committee report," Kilgore wrote.

"In this instance, the major portion of the subect matter contained in this report has already been voted by the committee to be outside our jurisdiction and within the scope of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee."

Deploring that any part of the report became public before the committee had a chance to study it, Kilgore contended that in sections dealing with displaced persons, refugees and certaitn bodies of American troops, it attacks groups "upon evidence gleaned with reference to small members of those groups or on hearsay evidence."

Action In Ruhr Called Barrier To Recovery

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—British occupation management of the German Ruhr was described as "uncertain, ineffective, and on the whole, incompetent," today in a National Planning Association report on European recovery.

Written by John Kenneth Galbraith, of the association's committee on international policy, the report lists restoration of Ruhr coal production as "the single most urgent requirement of both German and European recovery." He termed the Ruhr's "long stagnation" a "scandal from which all Europe suffers."

The report listed these as the prime barriers to European recovery:

Fears that the United States will withdraw its interest in Europe.

Apprehension that competition between East and West will increase.

Europe's shortages of materials.

The disorganized state of the German economy.

Germany, said the report, remains "the major counter in the adjustment between East and West. A Communist Germany would do much to insure a Communist Europe. A Germany with strong western affiliation and orientation would be a deep bridgehead into Eastern Europe."

ROOSEVELT'S SON WILL FACE QUIZ

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2 — (AP) The Herald and Express today quoted Ernie Adamson, chief counsel for the House Committee on Un-American Activities, as saying the committee will subpoena Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President, as soon as he returns from Moscow and question him concerning his reported statements there.

Adamson was quoted as saying he had discussed the matter with Representative John S. Wood (D-Ga), committee chairman, and that Wood agreed young Roosevelt should be questioned.

Roosevelt has denied reports published in the United States that he publicly criticized American foreign policy during his Russian visit.

Judge Wood and I read his several denials and we think he should be asked just what he did say," Adamson was quoted.

Neither Adamson nor Representative Wood could be reached immediately.

Adamson was quoted as saying the committee will open hearings here tomorrow involving "some agitators and propagandists around Los Angeles." Representative John R. Murdock (D-Ariz), a member of the committee, will sit with Chairman Wood in the hearings, he said.

Has No Comment

Elliott Roosevelt said in Moscow Sunday that he had no comment on earlier reports that he might be summoned before the committee on un-American activities. Roosevelt left Moscow Sunday night for a 10-day trip in Southern Russia and was not quickly available for further comment.

TRUMAN GETS BUTTON

Washington, Dec. 2 (A. P.).—A world war II Congressional Medal of Honor wearer pinned a diamond-studded membership button of the Thirty-fifth Division Association in President Truman's lapel today.

The presentation, by Staff Sgt. Junior Spurrier of Bluefield, W. Va., took place in the President's White House office before a group of members of the division, which won fame in two world wars.

Mr. Truman, who commanded Battery D, 129th Field Artillery, in world war I, removed his familiar discharge button from the lapel to make room for the new insignia.

Major-Gen. Butler B. Miltonberger, chief of the National Guard Bureau, also gave the President membership card No. 1 in the association. Mr. Truman is a past president of the association.

Anniversary Of Atom

Chicago, Dec. 2 (AP)—Four years ago today scientists first learned that atomic energy could be released and controlled.

On December 2, 1942, a small group watched the first nuclear chain reaction fashioned by man, under the stands of Stagg Field, at the University of Chicago. To commemorate the anniversary, many of those who aided in the original experiments met today to discuss the progress of nuclear fission in the past four years.

Catholics Urge Truman Action On Stepinac

Philadelphia, Dec. 2 (AP)—More than 20,000 Catholics—the largest throng ever assembled in Philadelphia's convention hall—urged President Truman and the United States State Department to "insist on the immediate release" of Archbishop Aloysius Stepinac, imprisoned prelate of Yugoslavia.

At the same time, the protest meeting participants unanimously adopted a resolution calling on the President and State Department to halt "cessation of the persecution of Catholics in Yugoslavia."

The huge meeting, held under the auspices of the Philadelphia county chapter, Catholic War Veterans, was one of 1,100 protest meetings which will be held throughout the country within the next few weeks by Catholic veterans' and other organizations.

So many persons attended the rally yesterday that police were confronted with a major traffic snarl. Two large parades converged on the meeting place, bringing motor traffic to a standstill.

Dixon, Ill., Dec. 2 (AP)—A Frenchwoman who said her American romances in both world wars had soured, sought $20,000 heart balm from a veteran who she said broke a promise to marry her when she arrived here recently from France.

Claire Kulbicki, 46, said "this is my country and I want to stay here," in filing the circuit court suit against Charles P. Herzog, of Amboy, Ill., 35-year-old lineman for the Illinois Northern Utilities Company.

Mrs. Kulbicki, the former Claire Freminet, of Toul, France, said she was married in France in 1920 to Joseph Kulbicki, who fought in World War I. She said they came to America, subsequently were divorced, and she returned to France in 1936.

Then she met Herzog when the Yanks came again to France. She charged he wooed her and won her consent to marry, but when she came to Amboy last August 14 on Herzog's promise to marry her, she said he changed his mind.

Mrs. Kulbicki said she has been employed in recent weeks as a housekeeper in Ashton, Ill. She said her father and two brothers were killed in the war and that her 77-year-old mother and her three other brothers now live in Toul. She became a United States citizen by marriage.

War Romance Wins After Year's Red Tape

Salt Lake City, Dec. 2 (AP)—A romance between an English girl and an American soldier blossomed today despite a fourteen-month "red-tape" separation.

Reunited were Gordon Christensen, 22, now an employé of a commercial airline, and his British fiancé, Joan Parker, of Manchester, England.

Miss Parker made the trip by plane, leaving England last Saturday.

"We'll be married as soon as possible," at any rate before Christmas," Christensen said.

SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES AND BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY BEVIN GOT TOGETHER EARLY TODAY, PRESUMABLY TO DISCUSS ECONOMIC MERGER OF THE ANGLO-AMERICAN ZONES OF OCCUPATION IN GERMANY. LT. GEN. LUCIUS CLAY, DEPUTY AMERICAN COMMANDER IN GERMANY, RECENTLY RETURNED HERE FROM WASHINGTON WITH A TENTATIVE DRAFT OF AN AGREEMENT, SUBJECT TO AN OK BY BYRNES AND BEVIN.

A GOVERNMENT SOURCE IN LONDON SAID TODAY THE BRITISH CABINET HAD DECIDED TO ACCEPT THE DRAFT PLAN ON A 50-50 FINANCIAL BASIS, PROVIDING THAT THE PURCHASE OF SUPPLIES AND EQUIPMENT WAS NOT CONFINED TO DOLLAR COUNTRIES.

THIS PLAN WAS AIMED AT MAKING THE AMERICAN-BRITISH TERRITORY IN GERMANY SELF-SUSTAINING WITHIN THREE YEARS, WITH THE REQUIRED CAPITALIZATION ESTIMATED AT $1,000,000,000.

THE COUNCIL, MEANWHILE, WAS CONCERNED PRIMARILY WITH THE AMOUNT OF REPARATIONS FROM ITALY AND BULGARIA. RUSSIA LATE LAST WEEK RELUCTANTLY AGREED THAT GREECE AND YUGOSLAVIA SHOULD RECEIVE A FIFTY-FIFTY TREATMENT IN THE TOTAL ALLOCATION. THE CHIEF CONTROVERSY STEMMED AROUND A SOVIET DEMAND FOR A FIFTY PERCENT REDUCTION IN THE SIZE OF THE BULGARIAN ASSESSMENT.

ASIDE FROM THE QUESTION OF REPARATIONS, THE COUNCIL APPEARED TO HAVE HURDLED ITS MAJOR DIFFICULTIES, ALTHOUGH A FEW TECHNICALITIES REMAINED ON THE DISPUTE OVER THE SETUP OF A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT FOR TRIESTE BEFORE A FREE ELECTION CAN BE HELD.

THE FOUR MAJOR POWERS WERE AGREED IN PRINCIPLE ON A STATEMENT CALLING FOR FREE NAVIGATION OF THE DANUBE. THE UNITED STATES HAS RUN INTO RUSSIAN OPPOSITION ON INCLUSION OF SUCH A STATEMENT IN THE BALKAN TREATIES. RUSSIA HAS ADVOCATED A CONFERENCE AFTER CONCLUSION OF THE BALKAN PACTS TO DRAFT AN ECONOMIC TREATY GOVERNING FUTURE CONTROL OF THE DANUBE.

THERE WAS NO OFFICIAL STATEMENT ON THE NATURE OF THE CONVERSATIONS. THE MEETING BETWEEN THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN DIPLOMATIC CHIEFS WAS HELD AT BEVIN'S REQUEST. OBSERVERS IN A POSITION TO KNOW RULED OUT THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE CONFERENCE DEALT WITH THE TICKLISH PALESTINE QUESTION.

BELIKEF PREVAILED THAT BEVIN AND BYRNES GOT TOGETHER TO SEAL A LONG PENDING AGREEMENT TO BLEND ECONOMIC POLICIES IN GERMANY IN A MOVE DESIGNED TO MAKE THEIR ZONES SELF-SUSTAINING AT THE END OF A THREE-YEAR PERIOD.

U.N.-FOREIGN MINISTERS (400)
BY ALEX H. SINGLETON
NEW YORK, DEC. 2-(AP)-A SMALL NATION DRIVE TO CURTAIL THE VETO PRIVILEGES OF THE BIG FIVE WAS SIDETRACKED TODAY AS TWO INTERNATIONAL GROUPS -- THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY AND THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS -- GRAPPLED WITH THE TWIN TASKS OF PENALIZING THE AGGRESSORS OF THE LAST WAR AND PREVENTING A NEW ONE.

OVER BRITAIN'S CLAIM THAT IT WAS A MOVE TO "PASS THE BABY," THE ASSEMBLY'S POLITICAL AND SECURITY COMMITTEE SENT THE QUESTION OF VETO MODIFICATION TO A SUB-COMMITTEE FROM WHICH THERE SEEMED LITTLE CHANCE OF POSITIVE ACTION BEFORE THE END OF THE SESSION.

A DEFINITE SHOWDOWN ON THE ISSUE, ONE OF THE MOST ACRIMONIOUS CONFRONTING THE DELEGATES, WHO ARE UNDER PRESSURE TO FIND METHODS FOR BARRING AGGRESSION, CAME AS THE ASSEMBLY PREPARED TO RESUME DEBATE ON WORLD-WIDE LIMITATION OF ARMS.

THE DECISION CAME AS NO SURPRISE.

THE FIVE BIG POWERS -- BRITAIN, CHINA, FRANCE, RUSSIA AND THE UNITED STATES -- STOOD SOLIDLY ALIGNED BEHIND THE GENERAL PRINCIPLE THAT THE VETO MUST BE RETAINED EVEN THOUGH THERE WAS ACCORD, 7&3 !49.
THE SOVIET, THAT AGRE

VETO MUST BE RETAINED EVEN THOUGH THERE WAS ACCORD, ASIDE FROM THE SOVIET, THAT AGREEMENT ON VOLUNTARY MODIFICATION WOULD INCREASE DIPLOMATIC HARMONY.

MEANWHILE, THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS CONCENTRATED ON PEACE PACTS FOR THE AXIS SATELLITES, WITH THEIR CHIEF IMMEDIATE PROBLEM CENTERING ON FINDING AN EQUATION FOR AWARD OF REPARATIONS TO GREECE AND YUGOSLAVIA.

THE DIPLOMATIC CHIEFS -- ERNEST BEVIN OF BRITAIN, MAURICE COUVE DE MURVILLE OF FRANCE, V.M. MOLOTOV OF RUSSIA AND JAMES F. BYRNES OF THE UNITED STATES -- WERE AGREED THAT THE TWO VICTIMS OF NAZI TYRANNY SHOULD BE TREATED ON A FIFTY-FIFTY BASIS, BUT THUS FAR HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO AGREE ON THE EXACT AMOUNT FOR REPARATIONS.

SOLUTION OF THIS QUESTION WOULD INSURE FINISHED PEACE PACTS FOR ITALY, ROMANIA, BULGARIA, HUNGARY AND FINLAND, PROBABLY WITHIN 10 DAYS. OTHER THAN REPARATIONS, THE CHIEF PROBLEMS STEMMED FROM ECONOMIC QUESTIONS INVOLVING THE FIVE NATIONS.

AT LAKE SUCCESS, HEADQUARTERS FOR THE ASSEMBLY, A POLITICAL AND SECURITY SUB-COMMITTEE WAS SCHEDULED TO MEET TODAY TO TAKE UP THE VETO QUESTION. BRITAIN YESTERDAY ADVANCED SEVEN SUGGESTIONS FOR SOFTENING THE SPECIAL PRIVILEGES IN AN UNSUCCESSFUL EFFORT TO GET A YES-OR-NO ANSWER.

THE QUESTION WAS SENT TO THE SUB-COMMITTEE, BY A 33 TO EIGHT VOTE, AFTER SIR HARTLEY SHAWCROSS OF BRITAIN DECLARED THAT THE "THIS IS JUST PASSING THE BABY."

ALTHOUGH THE UNITED STATES SUPPORTED MODIFICATION OF THE VETO, CUBAN DELEGATE GUILLERMO BELT DECLARED THE U.S. WAS BACKING RETENTION OF THE POWER "BECAUSE THERE ARE STILL, UNFORTUNATELY, VESTIGES OF ISOLATION." ANDREI Y.VISHINSKY, DEPUTY SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER, DEFENDING THE SOVIET PROPOSALS, SAID CONNALLY HAD DESCRIBED THEM AS "TOO NARROW," BUT THAT RUSSIA HAD NOT INTENDED TO LIMIT CONTROL TO ATOMIC WEAPONS.

VISHINSKY SAID THE OUTLAWING OF THE ATOMIC BOMB WAS THE "MAIN TASK" BUT THAT RUSSIA ACTUALLY HAD STRESSED THE NEED FOR GENERAL SLASHES OF ARMAMENTS AND THAT SHE WAS WILLING TO "SPECIFY ALL WEAPONS."

HE SAID HE BELIEVED THE ARGUMENT CONCERNED ONLY "TRIFLES" AND SAID CONNALLY'S STATEMENT "MERITS CLOSE ATTENTION." AT THE SAME TIME HE URGED THAT THE DEBATE BE KEPT OPEN TO ALLOW A FULL OPPORTUNITY FOR DISCUSSION.

VISHINSKY DID NOT MENTION THE VETO.

APPARENTLY INTERPRETING A REFERENCE BY CONNALLY TO "REPARATIONS" AS A REFLECTION ON RUSSIA, VISHINSKY LAUNCHED INTO A LENGTHY REVIEW OF RUSSIA'S SACRIFICES DURING THE WAR AND SAID:

"THAT IS WHY WE WILL EXACT BOTH PUNISHMENT AND REPARATIONS. WE ARE RIGHT--THAT OUGHT TO BE UNDERSTOOD BY A NEW-BORN BABY."

CONNALLY TOOK THE FLOOR AGAIN TO CLARIFY HIS STATEMENT.

"WHEN I SPOKE OF THE UNITED STATES NOT ASKING FOR REPARATIONS," HE SAID, "I MADE NO REFLECTION ON ANYONE. THESE MATTERS MUST BE SETTLED IN THE PEACE TREATIES."

BRITISH DELEGATE SIR HARTLEY SHAWCROSS SAID IT WAS NOT PROFITABLE TO ENTER INTO A PROFIT AND LOSS INVENTORY OF THE WAR, AND ADDED:

"THE PLAIN FACT IS THAT SOMETHING LIKE 20,000,000 PEOPLE LOST THEIR LIVES IN THE WAR--AND IT WAS NOT THE ATOM BOMB WHICH KILLED THEM. WE MUST PROHIBIT THE MOST TERRIBLE WEAPONS AND WE CANNOT SAY ANY LONGER THAT THE ATOM BOMB IS THE MOST TERRIBLE."

HE PROPOSED THE APPOINTMENT OF A SUB-COMMITTEE TO BEGIN DETAILED STUDY IMMEDIATELY ON THE SOVIET, AMERICAN, AUSTRALIAN AND CANADIAN PROPOSALS ON ARMS LIMITATIONS NOW BEFORE THE COMMITTEE.

AFTER HEARING FRENCH DELEGATE ALEXANDRE PARODI, THE COMMITTEE DECIDED TO DISCONTINUE THE DEBATE UNTIL TOMORROW TO GIVE RUSSIA MORE TIME TO STUDY THE UNITED STATES PROPOSALS. VISHINSKY SAID HE HAD NO OBJECTION TO THE CREATION OF A SUB-COMMITTEE TO TRY TO RECONCILE THE VARIOUS PLANS, BUT THAT HE WAS NOT READY TO DISCUSS THE U.S. PLAN TODAY.

A149UN

PARODI SAID THE QUESTION OF THE VETO WAS BEING OVER-EMPHASIZED. HE ASKED WHETHER ANY SYSTEM OF INSPECTION COULD OPERATE IN ANY COUNTRY IF THAT COUNTRY OBJECTED AND ANSWERED "CERTAINLY NOT."

HE SAID THAT IF ANY COUNTRY USED THE VETO TO PREVENT INSPECTION WITHIN ITS BORDERS THE WHOLE QUESTION OF DISARMAMENT WOULD BE RE-OPENED AND "OTHER COUNTRIES COULD RESUME LIBERTY OF ACTION." THIS WAS INTERPRETED AS MEANING THAT ALL ARMS LIMITATIONS AGREEMENTS WOULD BE CANCELLED.

WITH THE PRESIDIO, THE U.N. WOULD RECEIVE, IN ADDITION TO LAND, A NUMBER OF BUILDINGS SUITABLE FOR SECRETARIAT OFFICES, INCLUDING THE LETTERMAN GENERAL HOSPITAL BUILDING, AND SOME RESIDENCES.

BY OLEN CLEMENTS

SAN FRANCISCO, DEC.2-(AP)-THE PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO IS HALF A FORT AND HALF A TOWN.

UNDER THREE FLAGS--SPANISH, MEXICAN AND THE U.S.--IT HAS GUARDED THE GOLDEN GATE SINCE 1776. 1946

UNDER THE FLAGS OF MANY NATIONS IT MAY KEEP FREEDOM'S WATCH AS THE HOMESITE OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

SPANISH SOLDIERS FIRST BUILT IT OF MUD AND WOOD, HAULED 30 MILES.

IT STANDS HIGH ON THE PROMONTORY THAT OVERLOOKS GOLDEN GATE AND SAN FRANCISCO BAY. THE RAMBLING OLD FORT ORIGINALLY WAS LAID OUT OVER 3,000 SQUARE YARDS.

SEVENTEEN SPANISH SOLDIERS UNDER DON JUAN ANZA, A SUBORDINATE OF THE MONTEREY (CALIF.) PRESIDIO COMMANDANTE, DON JOSE MORAGA, LAID CLAIM TO IT AFTER DON JUAN DE AYALA FIRST SAILED A SHIP THROUGH THE STRAIT.

THEY CLAMBERED OVER BARE ROCKS AND SAND DUNES BUILDING A HIGH, THICK MUD WALL AROUND THE SITE. BEHIND THE WALL THEY ERECTED ADOBE BUILDINGS COVERING THEIR ROOFS WITH STRAW AND TULE FROM THE BEDS OF RUSHES NEARBY. THE WALL WAS STUDDED WITH BRONZE CANNON.

FOG, SUNSHINE AND SALT WINDS BEAT DOWN ON THE FORT. THE CLIMATE WAS NEVER TOO WARM FOR COMFORT. THERE THE 17 SOLDIERS LAZED OUT THEIR LIVES, AUGMENTED NOW AND THEN BY CATLAN VOLUNTEERS AND A FEW ARTILLERYMEN WHO STRAYED THEIR WAY FROM THE SOUTH.

THEY BUILT A HOUSE FOR THE COMMANDANTE. THAT BUILDING, RENOVATED GREATLY, STILL STANDS AND IS THE OLDEST BUILDING IN SAN FRANCISCO, ALTHOUGH MANY PEOPLE THINK THAT OTHER PARTS OF THE FORT ARE OLDER. IT IS USED NOW AS AN OFFICER'S CLUB.

SLOWLY THE PRESIDIO GREW. BY 1812 IT WAS A GOOD VILLAGE BUT THE GREAT EARTHQUAKE OF THAT YEAR LEVELLED THE CHURCH AND PART OF THE FORT. HARDLY HAD THE SPANISH REBUILT IT WHEN THE MEXICANS REVOLTED IN 1821 AND TOOK OVER THE PRESIDIO.

THE MEXICANS IMPROVED IT GRADUALLY. BY JULY 9, 1846, WHEN U.S. NAVY COMMANDER JOHN B.MONTGOMERY RAISED THE U.S. FLAG OVER SAN FRANCISCO, IT WAS A SMALL CITY.

THE NAVY AND MARINES GARRISONED THE PRESIDIO UNTIL 1847, WHEN THE ARMY'S STEVENSON REGIMENT TOOK OVER. IT HAS BEEN THE ARMY'S SINCE, ALTHOUGH IT WAS NOT OFFICIALLY THEIRS UNTIL AN EXECUTIVE ORDER IN 1850.

THROUGH THE WAR BETWEEN THE STATES, THE SPANISH AMERICAN WAR, THE BOXER UPRISING, THE PHILIPPINE INSURRECTION AND BOTH WORLD WARS, THE PRESIDIO HAS BEEN A BASTION OF DEFENSE ON THE WEST COAST. BUT THERE IS NO RECORD OF HER HAVING FIRED A SHOT IN ANGER IN ALL THOSE YEARS. AT PRESENT IT IS HEADQUARTERS FOR THE SIXTH ARMY, COMMANDING ALL ARMY FORCES IN THE WESTERN STATES.

NOTHING MUCH WAS DONE TO IMPROVE THE GROUNDS UNTIL 1880 WHEN GENERAL GRAHAM SENT TO AUSTRALIA FOR SOME EUCALYPTUS TREES. TO THESE A FEW YEARS LATER GENERAL MCDOWELL ADDED PINES. THE TREES WERE PLANTED IN ROWS SO THAT GATLIN GUNS COULD COMMAND THE AREA IN BETWEEN.

WHEN THE GREAT 1906 EARTHQUAKE ROCKED THE CITY, THE PRESIDIO WAS USED FOR REFUGEES. IT GAVE GENEROUSLY OF ITS MEDICAL SUPPLIES.

BUT AS LATE AS 1911 IT WAS STILL AN OLDTIME FORT THAT CLUNG TO KEROSENE LAMPS AND MILDEWED WALLS. CONGRESS THAT YEAR GAVE THE WAR DEPARTMENT $6,000,000 TO SPRUCE IT UP AND MAKE IT INTO THE WEST'S GREATEST FORT.

BIG GUNS WERE INSTALLED. NEW BUILDINGS AND A HOSPITAL, NOW LETTERMAN GENERAL HOSPITAL, WERE ERECTED. STREETS WERE PAVED. GOLF COURSES AND TENNIS COURTS WERE ADDED, ALTHOUGH GOLF WAS BANNED THERE IN 1912 FOR A SHORT WHILE. THERE IS A HUGE NATIONAL CEMETERY.

DURING THE FIRST WORLD WAR IT WAS A TRAINING CAMP. DURING THE SECOND IT WAS A PARK-LIKE ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER, ITS EUCALYPTUS AND PINES NOW FULL GROWN AND ITS ROLLING HILLS STUDDED WITH GREEN GRASS. IT WAS A POST MUCH SOUGHT AFTER BY ARMY OFFICERS WHO KNEW ITS COMFORT AND SPACIOUSNESS.

SAN FRANCISCANS ARE PROUD OF THE PRESIDIO. IT IS A SHOWPLACE IN THE WEST.

THERE HAVE BEEN MOVES TO SELL THE PRESIDIO FOR A RESIDENTIAL SITE. ONE OF THE MOST NOTABLE WAS IN 1923 WHEN REP.MARTIN R.MADDEN OF ILLINOIS PROPOSED THAT T BE SOLD FOR $20,000,000. SAN FRANCISCANS REBELLED AND BLOCKED THE MOVE. REAL ESTATE DEALERS WANTED TO SUBDIVIDE IT AGAIN THIS YEAR, BUT WERE TURNED DOWN.

3. THAT THE PEOPLE PROCEED AS SOON AS POSSIBLE AFTER THE SETTING UP OF THE PROVISIONAL REGIME TO HOLD FREE ELECTIONS.

HECTOR CASTRO OF EL SALVADOR ARGUED THAT THE UNITED NATIONS UNDER ITS OWN CHARTER HAD NO RIGHT TO INTERVENE IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF SPAIN.

"THE FRANCO GOVERNMENT," HE DECLARED, "HAS NOT HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO BE HEARD OR TO DEFEND ITSELF."

AT ANOTHER POINT, CASTRO SAID:

"LET'S NOT FORGET THAT THE UNITED STATES IN UPHOLDING HIROHITO DID CONSTRUCTIVE WORK IN JAPAN. IT WOULD BE INCONGRUOUS IF IN UPHOLDING HIROHITO WE SHOULD TRY TO UPSET FRANCO XXX AND PERHAPS FORCE THE SPANIARDS INTO AN EVEN BLOODIER CIVIL WAR BY TRYING TO SOLVE THEIR INTERNAL PROBLEMS."

LAKE SUCCESS,N.Y., DEC.2-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES TODAY CALLED ON THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY TO ASK GENERALISSIMO FRANCISCO FRANCO TO STEP DOWN AS HEAD OF THE SPANISH GOVERNMENT AND AT THE SAME TIME URGE THE SPANISH PEOPLE TO SEE THAT FRANCO SURRENDERED HIS POWERS.

IN A RESOLUTION WHICH SEN. TOM CONNALLY (D-TEX) WAS READY TO INTRODUCE BEFORE THE 54-NATION POLITICAL COMMITTEE, THE AMERICAN DELEGATION ALSO PROPOSED:

1. THAT AN INTERIM GOVERNMENT BE SET UP IN SPAIN IMMEDIATELY.
2. THAT THE PEOPLE PROCEED AS SOON AS POSSIBLE AFTER THE SETTING UP OF THE PROVISIONAL REGIME TO HOLD FREE ELECTIONS SO THAT SPAIN MIGHT TAKE A PLACE AMONG THE DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENTS OF THE WORLD.

THE UNITED STATES SUGGESTED FURTHER THAT THE FRANCO REGIME BE BARRED FROM ALL ORGANIZATIONS STARTED BY THE UNITED NATIONS.

WHILE THE RESOLUTION DID NOT SPECIFY THAT THE RESIGNATION OF FRANCO WAS TO BE SOUGHT WITHOUT VIOLENCE, A SPOKESMAN FOR THE U.S. DELEGATION SAID THE UNITED STATES ALWAYS STOOD FOR ACTION BY PEACEFUL MEANS.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC 2-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS COMMITTEE ON ECONOMICS ADOPTED PLEDGES TODAY WHICH WOULD IN EFFECT RETURN THE UNITED STATES, AMONG OTHER NATIONS, TO THE FOOD CONTROLS OF LAST SUMMER.

THE FOOD CONTROL PLEDGES ASK THE U.N. GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO "URGE" THE MEMBER GOVERNMENTS TO TAKE THE FOLLOWING STEPS:

TO INCREASE THE OUTPUT AND COLLECTION OF FOOD, TO PREVENT THE REDUCTION OF ACREAGE IN GRAIN, TO INCREASE EXPORTS OF FOOD, TO ALLOCATE FOOD TO THE COUNTRIES IN MOST URGENT NEED, AND TO PREVENT "UNWARRANTED INCREASES" IN THE PRICE OF FOOD.

COMPLAINTS HAVE BEEN MADE HERE BY NATIONS IN NEED OF FOOD THAT GRAIN RAISERS ARE BEGINNING TO CUT BACK ACREAGE IN FEAR OF A FUTURE DROP IN PRICES.

THE VOTE TODAY ALSO ASKS NATIONS TO CONTINUE TO INSIST ON THE HIGH EXTRACTION RATES AT GRAIN MILLS WHICH GAVE THE UNITED STATES, EARLIER THIS YEAR, ITS "GRAY" BREAD; AND TO RESTRICT THE USE OF GRAINS FOR BEVERAGES AND FOR FEEDING LIVE-STOCK.

REPORTS HAVE BEEN MADE TO THE COMMITTEE THAT FOOD WILL CONTINUE SHORT AND WILL PROBABLY DEMAND THE SAME SORT OF EMERGENCY MEASURES AS WERE PUT INTO EFFECT BY THE UNITED STATES LAST SPRING.

NEW YORK, DEC 2-(AP)-YUGOSLAVIA CHARGED TONIGHT THAT THE AXIS FIFTH COLUMN WHICH OPERATED IN WARTIME WITHIN HER OWN BORDERS STILL EXISTED IN THE FORM OF SUBVERSIVE ORGANIZATIONS IN REFUGEE CAMPS UNDER ALLIED CONTROL IN ITALY, AUSTRIA AND GERMANY.

THE YUGOSLAV CHARGES WERE CONTAINED IN A DOCUMENT FORMALLY SUBMITTED TO THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY. THE DOCUMENT ACCUSED WAR TIME FIFTH COLUMNIST GROUPS OF INSTIGATING FRATRICIDAL WARS, PROVOKING RACIAL AND RELIGIOUS HATRED AND COMMITTING MASS MURDERS IN YUGOSLAVIA ON BEHALF OF HITLER AND MUSSOLINI.

DECLARING THAT THESE "SUBVERSIVE" ORGANIZATIONS REMAINED UNDISTURBED IN ALLIED-CONTROLLED REFUGEE CAMPS, THE REPORT SAID:

"THEIR COMPLETE ORGANIZATION STILL EXISTS AS WELL AS THE SYSTEM ACCORDING TO WHICH THEY WORK--QUISLING MILITARY FORMATIONS WHICH NOT ONLY FUNCTION AS SUCH, BUT WHICH ARE BEING EDUCATED IN THEIR IDEOLOGY.

"AND SO, THE PEOPLE LIVING IN THESE CAMPS, WILL GET THE CONVICTION THAT THEIR FORMER QUISLING ACTIVITIES HAVE BEEN HONEST AND THAT THEY CAN, WITH THE HELP OF THE ALLIES, RESUME THEIR WORK AGAINST THEIR COUNTRY, AS THEY HAVE DONE DURING THE WAR."

THE REPORT ASKED WHY "THESE FORMER FASCIST NUCLEI" SHOULD BE PERMITTED TO "COMPROMISE ALLIED AUTHORITY," AND DECLARED THAT THE SUBVERSIVE GROUPS HAD A DEMORALIZING EFFECT ON THE "UNSPOILED ELEMENT" IN THE REFUGEE CAMPS.

IN THE MIMEOGRAPHED DOCUMENT YUGOSLAVIA CHARGED THAT SOME OFFICERS WHO SERVED UNDER THE EXILED GOVERNMENT OF KING PETER HAD USED THEIR POSITION TO TRAVEL BETWEEN THEIR HOMELAND AND ITALY DURING THE WAR FOR PERSONAL PROFIT.

THE REPORT CITED CASES OF OFFICERS WHO, IT CLAIMED, CROSSED THE BORDER TO SELL CURRENCY, JEWELRY, AND OTHER VALUABLES, AND SAID THAT THEY HD FORGED BRITISH AND AMERICAN DOCUMENTS TO FILL THEIR POCKETBOOKS.

GREEK AMBASSADOR VASSILI DENDRAMIS SAID HE WOULD MEET THE PREMIER AT THE AIRPORT AND THAT THEY WOULD THEN DECIDE JUST HOW THE CHARGES WERE TO BE BROUGHT. IT HAD NOT YET BEEN DETERMINED WHETHER THE CASE WOULD BE LAID BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL OR THE ASSEMBLY, IT WAS SAID.

LONDON, DEC.2-(AP)-A MOSCOW RADIO COMMENTATOR DECLARED TODAY THERE COULD "NO LONGER BE ANY DOUBT" THAT VICE PREMIER STANISLAW MIKOLAJCYK'S POLISH PEASANT PARTY HAD "TIES ABROAD AND WITH THE UNDERGROUND TERRORIST MOVEMENT" WITHIN POLAND.

THE RENEWED ATTACK ON MIKOLAJCZYK WAS COUPLED BY COMMENTATOR D.MELNIKOV, BROADCASTING IN ENGLISH, WITH A BLAST AT "INTERFERENCE" BY THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN IN THE POLISH ELECTIONS SCHEDULED FOR JAN. 19.

"QUITE A SHORT TIME AGO BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES FOR THE SECOND TIME SENT A NOTE TO THE POLISH GOVERNMENT, TRYING TO EXERT PRESSURE UPON IT WITH REGARD TO THE ORGANIZATION OF THE ELECTIONS," MELNIKOV SAID.

"BUT EXPERIENCE SUCH AS THAT OF THE RECENT ELECTIONS IN BULGARIA AND ROMANIA, TO SAY NOTHING OF THE WHOLE POLITICAL STRUGGLE IN POLAND, SHOWS VERY CLEARLY THE USELESSNESS OF SUCH ATTEMPTED OUTSIDE INTERFERENCE IN THE AFFAIRS OF DEMOCRATIC COUNTRIES."

LONDON - ADD CREECH

CONSERVATIVE NEWSPAPERS HAD SEIZED UPON THE STATEMENT AS A LEADING CAMPAIGN ISSUE.

THE STATEMENT, AS QUOTED BY THE NEWSPAPER, SAID: "AS FOR VIOLENCE, IF LABOR COULD NOT OBTAIN WHAT IT NEEDED BY GENERAL CONSENT, WE SHALL HAVE TO USE VIOLENCE, EVEN IF IT MEANS REVOLUTION."

THE JURY CONCURRED WITH THE DEFENSE CONTENTION THAT THE NEWSPAPER'S ACCOUNT OF THE MEETING WAS FAIR AND ACCURATE AND THAT THE MATTER WAS ONE OF PUBLIC CONCERN, THUS MAKING IT PROPER FOR PUBLICATION. TESTIMONY DISCLOSED THAT THE STATEMENT WAS GIVEN TO THE NEWSPAPER BY WENTWORTH DAY, CONSERVATIVE PARTY PUBLICIST WHO SAID HE HAD BEEN HECKLING LASKI AT THE MEETING.

LASKI TESTIFIED DURING THE TRIAL THAT HE BELIEVED VIOLENCE WOULD OCCUR ONLY IF THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY FAILED TO ACCEPT THE SOCIAL CHANGES OF THE LABOR PARTY'S GOVERNMENT.

LASKI, AN ECONOMICS PROFESSOR AND AUTHOR OF MANY BOOKS ON SOCIALISM, HAS THREE OTHER LIBEL SUITS PENDING AGAINST PUBLICATIONS WHICH PRINTED THE "WE SHALL HAVE TO USE VIOLENCE" STATEMENT. HE REFUSED TO SAY WHETHER THEY WOULD BE AFFECTED BY TODAY'S DECISION.

THE SIKHS. IT WAS SCHEDULED TO ARRIVE TODAY BUT WAS DELAYED IN MALTA AND WILL NOT ARRIVE BEFORE TOMORROW MORNING.

PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE, WHO WILL LEAD THE BRITISH IN THE DISCUSSIONS, WENT OVER WITH HIS CABINET PLANS FOR BRINGING THE INDIANS TOGETHER IN TIME FOR THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OPENING DEC. 9.

GOVERNMENT SOURCES HAVE DESCRIBED THE DEADLOCK OVER THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY AS CREATING A SITUATION AMOUNTING TO CIVIL WAR.

ATTLEE, FORCED TO CANCEL HIS DINNER TONIGHT WITH LORD WAVELL, WAS EXPECTED TO CONFER WITH THE VICEROY SOON AFTER HIS ARRIVAL, NOW EXPECTED AT 7:30 A.M. TUESDAY.

A GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID ATTLEE AND THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, LORD PETHICK-LAWRENCE, WOULD HOLD INDIVIDUAL TALKS WITH THE INDIAN LEADERS TUESDAY "TO SEE HOW FAR APART THEY ARE ON THEIR VIEWS FOR THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY."

THE MAIN DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE PREDOMINANTLY HINDU CONGRESS PARTY AND THE MOSLEM LEAGUE, THE GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID, ARE OVER WHAT POWERS OF LEGISLATION THE CONSTITUTION WILL DELEGATE TO THE PROVINCES.

THE SOURCE SAID THE CABINET HAD REAFFIRMED ITS INTENTION TO MAKE THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY SUCCESSFUL, BUT EMPHASIZED THE PURPOSE OF THE CONFERENCE WAS NOT TO REVISE OR SCRAP THE GENERAL GOVERNMENT PLAN FOR INDIA'S INDEPENDENCE.

LONDON, DEC.2-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE REVIEWED FOR THE BRITISH CABINET TODAY THE STEPS HE AND HIS FELLOW-NEGOTIATORS WILL TAKE THIS WEEK TO SUPPORT THE INDIAN INDEPENDENCE PROGRAM.

RIVAL INDIAN LEADERS, TOGETHER WITH THE VICEROY, FIELD MARSHAL LORD WAVELL, WERE EN ROUTE TO LONDON BY PLANE WHILE THE CABIMET HELD A TWO-HOUR SESSION.

A GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID THE CABINET REAFFIRMED ITS INTENTION TO MAKE THE MEETING OF THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY, SCHEDULED TO BE HELD IN NEW DELHI DEC. 9, SUCCESSFUL AND EFFECTIVE "WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S PLAN, ANNOUNCED LAST MAY, FOR INDIA'S INDEPENDENCE."

ED951AES NM

LONDON, DEC.2-(AP)-A GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID THE CABINET DECIDED TODAY TO ACCEPT THE DRAFT PLAN FOR UNITY OF THE U.S. AND BRITISH ZONES IN GERMANY ON A 50-50 FINANCIAL BASIS, PROVIDED THE PURCHASE OF SUPPLIES AND EQUIPMENT WAS NOT CONFINED TO DOLLAR COUNTRIES.

THE CABINET'S DECISION WAS IMMEDIATELY CABLED TO FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN IN NEW YORK.

UNDER THE AGREEMENT SUBMITTED TO THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT FOR APPROVAL, THE ESTIMATED CAPITALIZATION OF THE TWO ZONES IN GERMANY WAS PLACED AT $1,000,000,000, SPREAD OVER A THREE-YEAR PERIOD.

1946

B78 (120)

LONDON, DEC. 2-(AP)-THE HOUSE OF COMMONS APPROVED IN PRINCIPLE TONIGHT THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S PLAN TO CONTINUE THE WARTIME SYSTEM OF BULK BUYING OF RAW COTTON BY A BRITISH STATE COMMISSION, WITH THE LIVERPOOL COTTON EXCHANGE REMAINING CLOSED.

THE COTTON BILL WAS APPROVED ON SECOND READING BY 291 VOTES TO 144, DESPITE ARGUMENTS BY THE CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION THAT CONTINUANCE OF THE PROGRAM WOULD DAMAGE THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY.

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE, SAID THE GOVERNMENT ITSELF WOULD NOT BE BUYING COTTON.

"NOR WILL THE GOVERNMENT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR DAY-TO-DAY OPERATIONS OF THIS COMMISSION, NOR WILL PROFITS GO TO THE GOVERNMENT," HE ADDED. X X X "THEY WILL GO TO BUILD UP A RESERVE OR TO REDUCE THE PRICE OF COTTON SOLD TO SPINNERS."

GN1056PES

Adoption of the bill was urged earlier in the dabate by H. A. Marquand, secretary of the Overseas Trade Department of the Board of Trade.

Marquand said that the commission had a stockpile of 1,500,000 bales of cotto[illegible]--about 50 per cent greater than amounts held by private importers in Britain before the war--and expected to accumulate about 1,800,000 bales by next March.

He predicted the commission would reap a profit of $100,000,000 on its transactions for the current fiscal year. Marquand explained that the commission would receive $840,000,000 with which to do its buying, although he added it was doubted whether such a sum would ever be needed.

He defended keeping the Liverpool cotton exchange closed on the grounds that it would shut off the "opportunity for outsiders to dabble in the fortunes of this great industry."

Oliver Lyttleton, Conservative and former president of the Board of Trade, charged that Marquand's estimate of profits was "juggling with figures" and described the trading in cotton as being carried out on a "thoroughly unsound basis."

Moscow, Dec. 2--(ap)--The new periodical Culture and Life today called soviet historians to task for such faults as "idealing the past" and "nationalistic errors."

The publication urged historians in the soviet union to devote more attention to the history of western europe, america, and the oriental world, and to produce works on the post-revolutionary era of the soviet union.

It asked the historians show the influence of the russian historical process on world history and to expose "anti-scientific conceptions of bourgeois historiography," referring particularly to racial interpretations of history.

The magazine declared that book markets in the United States and Britain were filled with works of "falsifiers" of history,

The periodical criticised "serious nationalist errors" in recently published works on the history of the ukrainian kazakh, bashkir and tatar peoples and noted defects in a new history of the white russians which "idealized conditions of white russian life under the Lithuanian state in medieval times."

The new magazine also called on Soviet psychologists to produce texts for secondary school use, warning them not to take revolutionary or contemporary "bourgeois" texts as models, since the latter "explain the origin and development of the human mind purely idealistically."

The Communist Party's Central Committee, pronouncing the absence of logic and psychology from the curriculum of Soviet secondary schools directed that those subjects be taught to "utterly abnormal."

THE CHRISTIAN SOCIAL UNION RETAINED A MAJORITY OF 104 SEATS IN THE 180-PLACE PARLIAMENT OF BAVARIA, LARGEST OF THE STATES UNDER AMERICAN RULE, LOSING FIVE SEATS THEY HELD IN THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION. THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATS WERE SECOND WITH 54, A GAIN OF EIGHT. THE RIGHT WING ECONOMIC CONSTRUCTION PARTY WON 13 SEATS, A GAIN OF FOUR, AND THE EXTREME RIGHT WING FREE DEMOCRATS WON NINE, A GAIN OF TWO.

BAVARIAN COMMUNISTS GAINED IN POPULAR VOTES BUT THE VOTES WERE SO WIDELY DISTRIBUTED THAT THEY LOST ALL NINE SEATS HELD IN THE CONSTITUTIONAL ASSEMBLY.

IN GREATER HESSE, THE SLIGHTLY LEFT-OF-CENTER SOCIAL DEMOCRATS WON 38 OF THE 90 SEATS IN PARLIAMENT, A LOSS OF FOUR. TOKYO, DEC.2-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES ALONE MUST CONTROL MILITARILY IMPORTANT PACIFIC ISLANDS, SAY TWO MEMBERS OF A HOUSE NAVAL SUBCOMMITTEE TOURING THE ORIENT.

REP.ED V.IZAC (D-CALIF), CHAIRMAN, TOLD JAPANESE AND ALLIED NEWSMEN YESTERDAY THAT "UNILATERAL CONTROL" WAS NECESSARY AND THE PACIFIC "IS DEFINITELY OUR OCEAN."

"WE EVIDENTLY ARE THE ONLY ONES WHO HAVE THE RESOURCES TO ADMINISTER THESE ISLANDS," HE ADDED, LISTING UNITED STATES POSSESSIONS, ISLANDS MANDATED TO JAPAN AND THOSE MANDATED TO OTHER COUNTRIES. "FRANCE IS TOO FAR AWAY AND ENGLAND IS TOO FAR AWAY. UNITED STATES CONTROL WOULD BE FOR PEACE..."

REP.C.W.BISHOP (R-ILL), A MEMBER OF THE SUBCOMMITTEE, SAID THAT STRATEGIC ISLANDS MIGHT WELL BE CALLED "UNITED STATES ISLANDS." 1946

SENDAI, JAPAN, TUESDAY, DEC. 3-(AP)-PFC.LEONARD SANDERS, 109 NORTH MAPLE ST., DU QUOIN, ILL., AND PVT.BINFORD H.SMITH, 831 SUMMIT ST., DARBY, PA., HAVE BEEN SENTENCED BY COURT MARTIAL TO FIVE YEARS IMPRISONMENT AND DISHONORABLY DISCHARGED, THE ARMY ANNOUNCED TODAY. THEY WERE CONVICTED OF ASSAULTING A JAPANESE WITH INTENT TO ROB. THE SENTENCES ARE SUBJECT TO REVIEW BY HIGHER AUTHORITY.

WITH SHANGHAI

TIENTSIN, DEC.2-(AP)-MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES TODAY ORDERED SIDEWALK MERCHANTS TO MOVE FROM THE MAIN THOROUGHFARE, TURNING DOWN A PETITION THAT THEY BE ALLOWED TO OPERATE THERE UNTIL THE END OF THE CHINESE YEAR.

SIDEWALK VENDORS IN PEIPING ALREADY HAVE BEEN RESTRICTED TO BACK STREETS.

SHANGHAI, DEC.2-(AP)-AN UNRRA SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY THAT CHINESE POLICE HAD ARRESTED HUBERT R.HEATH, AN AUSTRALIAN, DEPUTY MANAGER OF THE CHINESE RELIEF AND REHABILITATION ADMINISTRATION'S ENGINEERING WORKS, ON CHARGES OF COMPLICITY IN THE UNAUTHORIZED SALE OF UNRRA ALUMINUM AND PLYWOOD.

FIVE CHINESE WERE ARRESTED SATURDAY ON THE SAME CHARGES, AND ANOTHER FOR THE ALLEGED PURCHASE OF A TRUCKLOAD OF ALUMINUM KNOWING IT WAS STOLEN PROPERTY.

HEATH WAS AN UNRRA EMPLOYE ON LOAN TO CNRRA.

SUNDAY MORNING, ROQUE SAW ANOTHER RIOT SCENE [illegible] POLICE FIRED INTO THE MOB. SHANGHAI—ADD MOOSA

"I SAW ONE BOY AND TWO MEN SHOT," HE RELATED. "THE BOY WAS ONLY FIVE FEET FROM ME. I THINK HE WAS DEAD. BEFORE I COULD MAKE SURE, THE MOB STOPPED A BUS, LOADED THE VICTIMS INTO IT AND DROVE IT AWAY."

ROQUE MADE PICTURES FOR 20 HOURS FROM PRECARIOUS SPOTS -- ONCE DRAWING FIRE FROM A POLICEMAN'S AUTOMATIC RIFLE -- BEFORE BEING ARRESTED. HE WAS RELEASED AFTER AN APPEAL TO THE MAYOR.

THERE APPEARED TO BE NO ANTI-FOREIGN ELEMENT IN THE DEMONSTRATIONS, ALTHOUGH SOME FOREIGNERS REPORTED THEIR CARS WERE STOPPED AND THEIR FACES PUNCHED BY THE RIOTERS.

SOME OF THE DEMONSTRATORS, THEY SAID, WERE SHOUTING "DOWN WITH NANKING", AND "CHOU EN-LAI IS RIGHT." CHOU EN-LAI IS THE CHIEF COMMUNIST NEGOTIATOR WHOSE PEACE TALKS FAILED IN NANKING.

RIOT BACKGROUND
BY FRED HAMPSON

SHANGHAI, DEC. 2-(AP)-SIDEWALK PEDDLERS, NOTORIOUS AND NOISY FEATURE OF POSTWAR SHANGHAI, WERE THE CAUSE OF, OR THE PRETEXT FOR, THE CURRENT RIOTS IN THIS CITY OF 4,000,000.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES SAY THE COMMUNIST UNDERGROUND FOMENTED THE TROUBLE BY CAPITALIZING ON THE MUTUAL ANIMOSITY OF PEDDLERS AND POLICE AND ENLISTING THE EAGER AID OF HOODLUMS AND OTHER UNRULY ELEMENTS.

SINCE THE JAPANESE SURRENDER, SEVERAL THOUSAND PEDDLERS HAVE SET UP BUSINESSES ON SHANGHAI'S PRINCIPAL STREETS. THEY SELL MEALS AND HAWK ALL SORTS OF MERCHANDISE, INCLUDING CIGARETTE LIGHTERS, CHOCOLATE, BELTS, CLOTHING, BOLTS OF CLOTH AND U.S. ARMY RATIONS, MUCH OF WHICH IS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN STOLEN.

THESE VENDORS UNDERSELL REGULAR STOREKEEPERS AND MAKE MANY OF THE STREETS VIRTUALLY IMPASSABLE, INCLUDING THE FAMOUS BUND.

FOR A LONG TIME MAYOR K.C. WU WAS RELUCTANT TO CLEAN THEM OUT, SAYING THAT MANY WERE REFUGEES FROM COMMUNIST-CONTROLLED AREAS AND THAT THEY HAD TO MAKE A LIVING. MANY SHANGHAI CITIZENS, HOWEVER, CONTENDED THE PEDDLERS INCLUDED MORE LOCAL BUSINESS RACKETEERS THAN BONA FIDE REFUGEES.

POLICE DRIVES WERE STARTED AGAINST THEM, BUT AFTER EVERY ROUNDUP THE HAWKERS RETURNED TO THEIR OLD BEATS, AS CLAMOROUS AS EVER. MANY SPREAD THEIR WARES ON CLOTHS WHICH THEY COULD GATHER UP HURRIEDLY AND RETREAT WHEN POLICE APPEARED.

IN THE PAST FEW DAYS POLICE DETERMINED TO STAMP OUT THIS CONDITION, WHICH WAS GENERALLY REGARDED AS A PUBLIC NUISANCE. SCORES WERE ARRESTED SATURDAY AND JAILED IN THE WHANGPOO POLICE 1946

STATION.

RUMORS, WHICH AUTHORITIES SAID WERE COMMUNIST-INSPIRED, SPREAD THAT SEVERAL HAD DIED IN JAIL. IMMEDIATELY THOUSANDS OF PERSONS GATHERED OUTSIDE THE STATION AND BEGAN DEMONSTRATIONS WHICH TURNED INTO GENERAL RIOTING.

NOW MAYOR WU HAS ANNOUNCED RELEASE OF THE ARRESTED PEDDLERS AND HAS AUTHORIZED THEM TO OPERATE ON CERTAIN STREETS. THIS COMPROMISE MIGHT LEAD TO RESTORATION OF NORMAL CONDITIONS UNLESS, AS THE MAYOR STATES, THE COMMUNISTS HAVE SEIZED UPON A MINOR EPISODE AS THE CHANCE FOR A LONG-PLANNED CAMPAIGN TO PARALYZE THE CITY.

SHANGHAI WAS DARK AND UNEASY TONIGHT, AND OLDTIMERS WERE BETTING ON WHICH WAY THINGS WOULD GO.

SAN FRANCISCO, DEC.2-(AP)-YOU DEVELOP A CURIOUS, DODGING, CAT-LIKE TREAD WHEN YOU WALK SHANGHAI STREETS -- FOR SELF PROTECTION.

OTHERWISE YOU'RE LIKELY TO BARK YOUR SHINS ON A JERRY-BUILT PEDDLER'S STAND, SUFFER A CRACKED HEAD UPON CONTACT WITH A PORTABLE KITCHEN OR STUMBLE OVER PILES OF TANGERINES, CHEAP NECKTIES OR BLACKMARKET U.S. ARMY GOODS SPREAD OUT ON THE SIDEWALK IN A MANNER CAREFULLY DESIGNED TO BLOCK TRAFFIC.

THESE ARE THE PEDDLERS WHO ARE CAUSING THE TROUBLE IN SHANGHAI. THE CITY GOVERNMENT FIRST MOVED TO BAN THEM ALTOGETHER, THEN RESTRICTED THEM TO CERTAIN AREAS, BUT THE REACTION WAS SO VIOLENT (WITH COMMUNIST AID, MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES SAY) THAT BLOOD WAS SHED AND STOREKEEPERS SHUTTERED THEIR SHOPS IN FEAR OF A MINOR REVOLUTION.

ALL CHINA HAS ITS PEDDLERS, BUT ONLY SHANGHAI HAS THEM IN SUCH NUMBERS. THEY CLUTTER EVERY THOROUGHFARE, EVEN THE WIDE BUND WHICH FRINGES THE DOCK AREA.

MOST OF THEM CAME INTO BEING AFTER THE JAPANESE SURRENDER, DURING THE HECTIC WEEKS WHEN CONTROLS WERE LAX. POLICE DRIVES AGAINST THEM WERE INEFFECTUAL; THE PEDDLERS WOULD BE BACK AT THEIR POSTS IN THE MORNING.

YOU CAN BUY EVERYTHING FROM A HOT BOWL OF RICE AND GREENS TO A DIAMOND RING FROM THE STREET PEDDLERS, AT PRICES SUBSTANTIALLY UNDER THOSE IN THE STORES. THE HAWKERS ARE THE BEST SOURCE FOR BLACKMARKET CIGARETTES, CANDY BARS AND RATIONS STOLEN FROM U.S. ARMY SUPPLIES.

IN A TWO-BLOCK WALK ALONG THE BUND PEDDLERS HAWK SUCH A VARIETY OF ITEMS AS LIVE PHEASANTS, NECKTIES, TWISTED CHUNKS OF GREASY, MALODOROUS DOUGH, YOUR FAVORITE BRAND OF CIGARETTES, PORNOGRAPHIC LITERATURE, HOT SOUP, SHOESTRINGS, TOY PUPPETS FOR THE KIDS, RICE CAKES, AND BOLTS OF CLOTH. THEY'LL TAKE LOTTERY BETS ON THE SIDE, AND TELL YOU WHERE TO GET A GOOD HOUSEBOY.

MOST OF THE PEDDLERS ARE SEVERE HAZARDS TO PEDESTRIAN NAVIGATION. ESPECIALLY THE "FLYING KITCHENS," AS THE AMERICANS CALL THE PORTABLE STOVES CARRIED BLITHELY THROUGH THE MOST CROWDED STREETS. IF YOU FAIL TO SMELL THESE COMING IN TIME TO DUCK, YOU'RE LIABLE TO GET CONKED BY A HOT STOVE FULL OF YELLOW CHINESE PANCAKES FLOATING IN BOILING OIL.

MOST FOREIGNERS WHO HAVE BECOME ARTFUL DODGERS CONSIDER THE SIDEWALK PEDDLERS AN EQUAL HAZARD WITH THE SPEEDING RICKSHA COOLIES. YOU'RE NOT SAFE ON THE SIDEWALK OR THE STREET.

HONOLULU, DEC.2-(AP)-GEN.THOMAS C.HANDY, DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF, TOLD INTERVIEWERS TODAY THAT "WE HAVE REACHED THE MINIMUM OF OCCUPATION TROOPS IN JAPAN," THAT "SO FAR AS I KNOW THERE IS NO PLAN TO REDUCE FORCES EITHER IN GERMANY OR JAPAN." HE ADDED THAT HALF OF AMERICA'S TROOPS NOW ARE OVERSEAS.

THE ARMY, HE SAID IS "DOING SOMETHING" ABOUT WHAT HE TERMED ITS BIGGEST PROBLEM--LACK OF TRAINED PERSONNEL.

THE VIRGINIAN, GENERAL EISENHOWER'S DEPUTY, IS RETURNING FROM A TOUR OF ARMY UNITS IN ALASKA, HAWAII, THE PHILIPPINES, JAPAN AND CHINA.

AMERICAN TROOPS IN JAPAN ARE NOW AT "THE MINIMUM SET BY GENERAL MACARTHUR FOR EFFICIENT ADMINISTRATION."

"ALTHOUGH THERE ARE ABOUT 18,000,000 PEOPLE IN THE AMERICAN ZONE IN GERMANY AND ABOUT 75,000,000 PEOPLE IN JAPAN, THE ARMY HAS PROPORTIONATELY MORE TROOPS IN GERMANY THAN IN JAPAN," HE NOTED. JAPAN HAS AN EFFICIENT CENTRAL GOVERNMENT, THE COUNTRY IS NOT SPLIT INTO ZONES, AND OCCUPATION PROBLEMS ARE VASTLY DIFFERENT THAN IN GERMANY.

TERMING OCCUPATION TASKS "THE BIGGEST AND MOST IMPORTANT JOB THE ARMY HAS TODAY," HE REPORTED:

THE ARMY IS HAVING DIFFICULTIES, BUT MORALE AMONG TROOPS IN THE PACIFIC IS GOOD; CONDITIONS ARE NOT AS BAD AS REPORTED; "BASICALLY OUR PROBLEM IS PERSONNEL--AND THIS GOES BACK TO RAPID DEMOBILIZATION."

HIS TOUR, CONVINCED HIM A MERGER OF THE ARMED FORCES IS INEVITABLE--"THE ONLY LOGICAL, REASONABLE THING."

MANILA, TUESDAY, DEC.3-(AP)-THE BOOM OF ARTILLERY WAS CLEARLY AUDIBLE IN MANILA EARLY TODAY AS FILIPINO MILITARY POLICE OPENED A FULL SCALE BATTLE AGAINST INFILTRATING HUKBALAHAP BANDS 15 MILES EAST OF THE CAPITAL. THE U.S. 86TH DIVISION HEADQUARTERS WAS JUST ACROSS A MOUNTAIN RIDGE FROM THE SCENE.

A SPOKESMAN SAID, HOWEVER, THAT NO UNUSUAL PRECAUTIONS WERE BEING TAKEN AND THE AMERICAN CAMP WAS NOT AFFECTED. HE SAID MORTARS, MACHINEGUNS AND MOUNTAIN ARTILLERY EVIDENTLY WERE BEING USED AGAINST THE HUKS--AN ANTI-ADMINISTRATION PEASANT FACTION WHICH HAS RETAINED ARMS FROM ITS WARTIME GUERRILLA DAYS.

THE HUKS REPORTEDLY WERE HIDING IN CAVES BUILT BY JAPAN AS DEFENSES IN THE SHIMBU LINE--SCENE OF A SIX-MONTHS CAMPAIGN LAST YEAR AS FIVE U.S. DIVISIONS ROUTED OUT THE UNSURRENDERING JAPANESE.

Buenos Aires, Dec. 2--(ap)--Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Sergueiev is leaving for New York by plane Wednesday to confer with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, it was learned tonight.

Sergueiev and Constantino Shevelev, head of a Russian commercial mission here, conferred at length during the day with Argentine Foreign minister Juan Bramuglia. Bramuglia later went to the government palace to report to President Juan D. Peron. There was speculation that the conferenes dealt with negotiations for a Russian-Argentine trade treaty which have been stalemated for several months.

U. S., Britain Flatly Oppose Coercive Action on Franco

Split Sharply with France, Russia, Who Ask Complete Break.

F. Carpenter

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 3.—(AP) The United States and Great Britain turned thumbs down tonight on direct coercive United Nations measures against Franco Spain, splitting sharply with France and the Russian group which demanded a complete and instant rupture of relations by all the UN states with Generalissimo Francisco Fra[illegible]

NIGHT

The United States contended that such stringent action conceivably could lead the world into another war.

The political committee of the UN assembly heard the Spanish question debated at length in two sessions lasting more than six hours all told and then adjourned until tomorrow at 10:30 a. m., E. S. T. with more speakers on the list. The schedule calls for the committee to discuss disarmament in the morning and to continue the Spanish discussion tomorrow afternoon (3 p. m., E.S.T.).

The Developments

Elsewhere on the accelerated United Nations program today:

1. Soviet Russia came out officially for the Flushing Meadow site in New York City, where the assembly is now meeting, as permanent home of the UN. Russia suggested exclusion of the Presidio of San Francisco, which President Truman said today he would help the United Nations obtain if it wants it. A headquarters site committee will begin debate tomorrow on a lengthy report of a sub-committee which reported that Philadelphia and San Francisco have "equal merit" as top choices in the headquarters derby. The United States is neutral in the fight. The British lean toward Philadelphia; Australia and China are for San Francisco.

2. Great Britain opposed efforts of the Philippine Republic to obtain assembly approval of regional conferences among non-self-governing territories.

3. There was no change on the veto question, with a sub-committee appointed to draft an acceptable resolution for the political committee still deadlocked over Russian and Australian viewpoints.

4. China asked the United Nations commission on narcotic drugs for a provision in the eventual Japanese peace treaty prohibiting Japan from production and traffic in narcotic drugs.

5. The UN atomic energy commission was called to meet Thursday (6 p.m. EST) for what was said to be an important session on its future course in view of assembly consideration of general arms limitation, including prohibition of the atomic bomb. Some delegates have insisted the atomic commission must not be hampered by any assembly action.

Split Over Franco

Some United Nations observers said after the long debate that the positions of the nations on the Spanish question had not changed from their previous expressions toward Franco. Mexico demanded an end to the talk and a vote just before the session adjourned but several delegates remained to be heard.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, acting chief of the British delegation to the assembly, followed the United States with an endorsement of its resolution which would have Franco step down in favor of a provisional government which would be replaced, the United States said, by a freely-elected regime.

Sir Hartley said the British would do nothing "which might precipitate the shedding of blood again over the question of Spain's form of government, whether it be the blood of British soldiers or of the Spanish people."

He opposed a break in diplomatic relations and economic sanctions.

Leon Jouhaux, of France, secretary general of the Trade Union Congress, told the committee that the United States resolution would not be effective; that France, which has closed its border with Spain, supported the Polish proposal for a complete break.

Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex), U. S. delegate, emphasized before the 54-member political committee of the assembly that the United States is opposed to Franco but that his government does not believe Spain is a present threat to the peace." (ADD)

Spain Civil-War Warning Given

D. Hartigan

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—The United States contended today that adoption of Polish and White Russian measures to isolate Franco Spain could lead to bloody civil strife that might eventually involve other nations in a new war.

Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas), setting forth the views of the United States before the 54-member Political Committee of the United Nations Assembly, declared that the approval of either proposal would produce no positive results beyond cutting the Spanish people off from the rest of the world.

DAY

Civil War Prophecy

On the negative side, he said, they might well "lead to civil strife, with serious international complications." He added that the proposals might array various Spanish factions against each other and "enlist the support of various members of the United Nations."

He referred to Poland's resolution calling for a world-wide diplomatic break with the Franco Government and the White Russian proposal asking for economic sanctions.

Arms Debate Delayed

Connally joined the Spanish debate after delegates of several small countries had spoken for and against the various measures now before the committee, including a United States resolution introduced late yesterday proposing that the Assembly ask Generalissimo Francisco Franco to step down as leader of the Spanish Government.

Connally summed up the American position as follows:

"1. We are opposed to Franco and welcome any democratic change in Spain which protects basic human rights and freedoms.

"2. We shall take part in any necessary action against the Franco regime, under the United Nations Charter, if and when this regime becomes a threat to international peace and security."

Opposed To Coercion

"3. Pending such an eventuality, we are opposed to coercive measures by the United Nations, such as severance of diplomatic relations or the imposition of economic sanctions, because they would either aid Franco by uniting the Spanish people against outside interference, or would precipitate the Spanish people themselves into the disaster of civil war with unknown but inevitable costly consequences.

"4. We shall join in continuing to oppose the admission of the Franco regime, not only to the United Nations, but to any international agencies set up at the initiative of the United Nations.

Self-Determination

"5. Finally, we believe that the Spanish people should determine their own destiny. Following the withdrawal of the Franco regime it is our hope that they will establish a provisional government and hold a free election so that Spain may once again assume her rightful place as a member of the family of nations."

The committee decided to defer debate on the arms-limitation question until its afternoon session, when Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky was expected to give Russia's views on an American proposal.

The political subcommittee on the veto debated a series of proposals for three hours without decision and then put the question over until tomorrow.

Not Prepared

Vishinsky told the committee yesterday that the Soviet delegation was not prepared to discuss the United States proposal at that time. It was understood that the Soviet delegation has asked Moscow for instructions.

The United States rejected Russia's disarmament proposal as "too narrow and circumscribed."

Veto 'Atom Bomb'

Senator Connally told the committee that "the two objectives of the Soviet proposal are to get rid of the atomic bomb and then whatever regulations with regard to armaments may take place shall be vested in the Security Council, where the 'atomic bomb' of the veto awaits anything that may be undesirable to any member of the Security Council."

Connally said the United States felt the necessary safeguards, including inspection and control, "must not be subject to being blocked and destroyed by any state or group of states through the veto."

Russia's resolution called for a general reduction of armaments, with the atomic weapons stipulated as the primary task. She accepted inspection and control within the framework of the Security Council, where the veto could be applied.

Censure Move

Meanwhile, Russia fought bitterly to block United Nations approval of an Australian resolution censuring the Soviet Union for her frequent use of the big-power veto in the Security Council.

Vishinsky told a subcommittee yesterday that the Australian measure must be rejected on grounds that it violated the fundamental principles of the subcommittee's work—that it should not "condemn past practices of the Security Council."

On the question of a permanent home for the United Nations, a headquarters site subcommittee shaped a report recommending the Presidio, army post at San Francisco, and the Belmont Plateau-Roxborough areas of Philadelphia as having "equal merit." The committee indicated a site in Westchester county, New York, at Harrison, east of White Plains, would be a secondary choice.

Text of Senator Connally's Speech in U. N. on Spain

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 3 —The text of Senator Tom Connally's statement on Spain before the Political and Security Committee today:

Yesterday, on behalf of the United States delegation, it was my privilege to present to this committee for its consideration a resolution relating to the Spanish question. Today, with your permission, I would like to examine briefly the resolution we have introduced and explain the position the United States has taken.

The attitude of the United States toward the Franco regime is well known. We have made that perfectly clear at San Francisco, Potsdam and London and on other occasions. Its fascist origins, nature and policies are completely alien to our way of life. We reaffirm the basic concept of the inherent worth of the individual, which such totalitarianism denies, and we advocate the establishment of effective democracy in all nations, where, through free elections, the people can select their governments and representatives.

It is for these reasons that we are unalterably opposed to the Franco regime, its totalitarian character and its suppression of human rights and freedoms. We would like to see it replaced by a democratic government chosen by the freely expressed will of the Spanish people.

Opposes Pressure

We are convinced, however, that the restoration of the Government of Spain to the Spanish people cannot be achieved through action by the General Assembly involving pressure, such as that proposed in two of the resolutions under consideration.

The Polish delegation proposes that members of the United Nations terminate diplomatic relations with the Franco regime. The Byelo-Russian delegation apparently does not consider that this form of moral condemnation will be adequate to achieve the objective and would amend the proposal to include the termination of economic relations.

In the opinion of the delegation of the United States, both proposals are inherently defective and would not lead to the realization of the common objective.

The proponents of a break of relations have not explained the sequence of events which they hope would follow and how these events would contribute to the desired end. For its part, the United States delegation believes that such a measure would produce no result beyond cutting off the Spanish people from communication with the rest of the world and thus making worse their present condition.

More extreme coercive measures, such as the application of economic sanctions against Spain, would, in the long run, almost certainly produce economic and political chaos in that country. Political and economic chaos in Spain would undoubtedly lead to widespread civil strife.

Against Such an Imposition

We would not desire to impose upon the General Assembly the responsibility of a course of action leading to economic and political chaos which could not be prevented from degenerating into civil war with serious international complications, which would array different Spanish factions against each other and enlist in varying degrees the support of different members of the United Nations.

The United States does not believe that such conditions, particularly at a time when the economic and political reconstruction of Europe is of paramount importance, would contribute either to the development of a democratic regime in Spain or to the cause of international peace and security.

The coercive measures proposed are the appropriate methods set out in the Charter for dealing with threats to and breaches of the peace. The Security Council has already considered this question of a threat to peace. After a full examination of the facts, the Council defeated by a vote of 7 to 4 a Polish resolution which called on the members of the United Nations, under Chapter VII of the Charter, to sever diplomatic relations with the Franco Government.

In our view, the situation has not changed. We do not believe Spain is a present threat to the peace. We do not, therefore, favor either the Polish or the Byelo-Russian resolutions or any similar proposals designed to bring forceful coercion to bear on the development of the situation in Spain.

We are, of course, ready to take our part in any action that may be necessary against the Franco regime under the Charter when and if it is found to constitute a threat to the peace. We believe that the Council, which is able to take prompt and effective action on behalf of all the members of the United Nations, should keep that aspect of the question under the closest surveillance in order that it may be ready at all times to take whatever action may be necessary. Experience has shown that, under circumstances favorable to them, totalitarian regimes can become a danger to neighboring states and ultimately to world peace.

Our resolution sets forth clearly the action which we feel the General Assembly can and should take at this time.

Would Banish Regime

Firstly, the Assembly should confirm and complete the banishment of the Franco regime from the organized community of nations. To this end it should not only continue to deny the regime admission to the United Nations, but should exclude it from membership in all international agencies set up at the initiative of the United Nations, and from participation in international conferences, until an acceptable government is formed by the people of Spain.

Secondly, the Assembly should express its profound conviction that the Spanish people themselves, through their united action, should peacefully restore self-government in Spain. This could be accomplished, following the withdrawal of Franco by the establishment of an interim Government under which the Spanish people could hold a free election.

We are confident that the democratic ideals of the Spanish people will reassert themselves to create the foundation of a stable Government, based on the will of the people and dedicated to the promotion of their fundamental rights and liberties. It is our expectation that in this manner the people of Spain will be able to find a solution which will make it possible for Spain to resume an honorable place in the family of nations.

In conclusion, I would like to summarize very briefly the position of the United States with respect to the Spanish question.

(1) We are opposed to Franco and welcome any democratic change in Spain which protects basic human rights and freedoms.

(2) We shall take part in any necessary action against the Franco regime, under the United Nations Charter, if and when this regime becomes a threat to international peace and security.

(3) Pending such an eventuality, we are opposed to coercive measures by the United Nations, such as a severance of diplomatic relations or the imposition of economic sanctions, because they would either aid Franco by uniting the Spanish people against outside interference or would precipitate the Spanish people themselves into the disaster of civil war, with unknown but inevitably costly consequences.

(4) We shall join in continuing to oppose the admission of the Franco regime, not only to the United Nations but to any international agencies set up at the initiative of the United Nations.

(5) Finally, we believe that the Spanish people should determine their own destiny. Following the withdrawal of the Franco regime, it is our hope that they will establish a provisional government and hold a free election so that Spain may once again assume her rightful place as a member of the family of nations.

Non-Intervention Still Rules

In yesterday's debate a number of delegations expressed their opposition to any action by the United Nations which might constitute intervention in the internal affairs of Spain. Let me reassure the members of the committee on this point. The United States is fully committed to the fundamental principle of non-intervention. It is a basic tenet of our foreign policy. Our resolution in no way violates this fundamental principle.

The Government of Spain belongs to the Spanish people and it is for them to determine the form of government they shall have and the people who shall administer it. We are not here proposing intervention. The United Nations in this resolution would simply explain to the Spanish people in the clearest possible terms why their country is not at present eligible for membership and full participation in the community of nations and the conditions which they themselves must create in order to remove those obstacles.

It seems to the United States that this proposed course of action is both prudent and wise, and the one most likely to accomplish the end we all desire. It is submitted for your serious consideration and we hope that it will meet with your approval.

SPAIN ASSAILS U.S. REQUESTS

Offended By Suggestions For Change, Madrid Reports

F. West

Madrid, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Spanish Foreign Ministry, in a note handed to Philip W. Bonsal, United States charge d' affaires, declared today that the Spanish nation was offended by an American request to the United Nations asking for a change in the Spanish Government.

The note denied that Generalissimo Francisco Franco's regime was Fascist, that it had been imposed by force on the Spanish people or that it owed its existence to the Axis.

NIGHT

A resolution introduced yesterday at Lake Success, N.Y., by Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas) prompted the Foreign Ministry's note. Connally, United States representative on the 54-nation United Nations Political Committee, proposed that the Spanish people see that Franco surrenders his powers, that an interim regime succeed the Generalissimo and that free elections be held in Spain as soon as possible.

Action What He Expected

[At Lake Success, Senator Connally said that Franco's action was about what was to be expected and that he preferred not to comment further at this time.]

Connally's proposal for a provisional Spanish government was heard here on foreign radios and was the subject of wide comment in cafés.

In its note the Foreign Ministry rejected Connally's proposal on these seven counts:

1. Spain is not Fascist because it has a "regime which respects the fundamental liberties of the human person."

Foreign Volunteers 2%

2. Franco's regime was not imposed by force but was brought "by the people . . . at the price of its blood in a fight against Communist tyranny."

3. The regime does not owe its existence to the Axis because foreign volunteers in Franco's army during the civil war "constituted under two per cent of its forces."

4. The regime is not unrepresentative because the people are "demonstrating loyalty despite fomentation to rebellion from abroad."

5. The regime does not constitute an obstacle to co-operation with the United Nations if the United Nations respects national sovereignty since Spain's tradition of neutrality entitles her particularly to participate.

Liberties 'Protected'

6. In Spain fundamental liberties "are defined, protected and respected" more than in many countries which are accusing her.

7. Spain rejects interference in her internal affairs and "therefore the Spanish Government actively deplores that the United States representative in the United Nations Assembly . . . has in Spain's absence expressed himself in terms which, although they will not produce any positive effect, offend the Spanish nation by their injustice."

Britain Backs Philadelphia In Battle Over UN Home Site

L. Hauck

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 3 —(AP) Great Britain has decided to spearhead the fight for Philadelphia as permanent headquarters for the United Nations, it was learned tonight as a three-way battle shaped up over the long-delayed decision.

San Francisco was expected to draw its strongest support from Australia and China while Russia was pictured as leader of a stay-in-New York movement.

These developments emerged from last-minute lobbying on the eve of opening of general debate in the 54-nation headquarters committee.

NIGHT

Truman Urging Aid

Meanwhile, in Washington President Truman said today he will help the United Nations get the historic Presidio in San Francisco for its permanent meeting place if the U. N. wants it.

Mr. Truman was questioned at his news conference about a statement at Lake Success yesterday by Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, offering on the president's behalf to turn over the Presidio to U. N.

Austin's statement, the president said, was absolutely correct.

He added that the president wants to help the United Nations get the San Francisco site if the United Nations wants it.

The headquarters committee has before it a lengthy summary from an inspecting sub-committee which reported after a coast-to-coast tour covering Boston, San Francisco, Philadelphia and New York that Philadelphia and San Francisco had "equal merit" as top choices.

The United States delegation, which holds a key position in the battle, has reiterated its neutrality but supporters of San Francisco point to the strenuous efforts made by the Americans to get the army to release the Presidio site in the California city.

Political Angle

With the east and west coast sites being given equal rating as to physical qualities, the issue now has developed into a political one.

Britain based its preference for the east on the contention that attendance of Europe's top-flight diplomats would be assured by an east coast headquarters with additional travel time causing inconvenience and cancellation of some visits.

France, the other member of the big five, has not committed itself. Britain, however, expected to draw support from western European nations and some Latin American countries.

The Arab bloc was expected to join in the San Francisco movement, as were some of the Latin-American states.

Russia would be joined in the New York move, which could mean either Westchester County or the old World's Fair site in Flushing Meadows, by Poland, Yugoslavia and other Slav states.

Mayor Roger Lapham of San Francisco returned here today to press the case for his city. He expressed special pleasure at "freeing" of the Presidio.

Philadelphia has had members of its city planning commission here and site models have been set up in a conference room.

Byrnes Hopes Work On Austria May Be Started At N.Y.

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes, jointly announcing with Foreign Minister Bevin a British-American economic merger in Germany, declared today that he would ask the Big Four Foreign Ministers to discuss peace plans for Austria as well as Germany before ending their New York sessions.

Byrnes and Bevin said in a statement that the zone economic merger would become effective January 1, that it should make 40,000,000 Germans self-sufficient in three years and that they hoped it would lead to discussions with Russia and France for the economic unification of all Germany.

Held News Conference

Byrnes discussed the radical new agreement, which diplomats consider the most important development in Allied policy on Germany since the occupation started, at a news conference. It was his first meeting with reporters since the Foreign Ministers Council opened here a month ago.

He made these major disclosures:

1. The Foreign Ministers Council, in his opinion, may wind up this week the peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland and proceed at once to a discussion of the German question.

2. On Germany, Byrnes intends to insist, as he had previously said he would, on a discussion of Germany's western frontiers—chiefly whether France should get the Saar and have the Ruhr internationalized.

[Diplomatic authorities said that, since French President-Premier Georges Bidault is not attending the New York four-power meeting, France would oppose any such important talks on Germany here and the Big Four will probably agree to delay the boundary talks.]

Withdrawal From Austria

3. The United States will ask that the Austrian question be taken up here. The main issue, diplomatic informants said, is whether an arrangement can be made for the early withdrawal of Russian and other Allied troops from Austria.

4. Byrnes is adhering strictly to his policy—contrary to what the Russians want—that the Allied powers should not take any German reparations from current German production. The Russians are known to want an agreement by which they might collect reparations for many years to come.

5. The probable result of the four-power talks on Germany here will be the appointment of a commission of deputies to do the spade work for a Foreign Ministers' meeting in Europe early next year. Byrnes will favor hearings on the German question for Belgium, the Netherlands, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Luxembourg, all of which have asked to be heard, but it is uncertain whether any of them will be allowed actually to participate in the German discussions.

Boundary Issues

Byrnes said there were about seven questions into which the deputies should go in blocking out the future of Germany and, while he did not enumerate them, he made clear that they would include the boundary issues and probably the kind of government Germany ought to have.

The joint Byrnes-Bevin press release on economic fusion of the German zone said:

"The two Secretaries of State declared that they considered this agreement a first step in the economic unification of Germany as a whole, which they hope will lead to discussions with the other occupying powers for the extension of these or similar arrangements to the other zones of occupation.

To Cut Occupation Costs

"The agreement contemplates an economic program designed to make the area self-sustaining in three years. By this program it is expected not only to decrease the costs of occupation for the area, but also to make possible the gradual restoration of a healthy nonaggressive German economy which will contribute materially to the economic stability of Europe."

The agreement provides for two classes of imports into the merged zone—those such as food and medicine for prevention of disease and unrest and those for the restoration of peaceful German industries.

On Future Account

Imports in the food category will cost the United States and Britain about $1,000,000,000 through 1949, but they are charging the sum on Germany's future account for ultimate collection, according to Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States deputy military chief in Germany.

The agreement will raise the American cost for German occupation by an estimated $100,000,000 in 1947 because the United States and Britain agreed to share on a fifty-fifty basis the net deficit of the two zones. The deficit for the British zone has been about $400,000,000 a year while that for the American zone is only about $200,000,000.

The main method for making the zones self-sufficient is to build up their exports to the rest of the world. In order to restore production of exportable goods, the United States and Britain have agreed to build up a fund of about $140,000,000, none of which will require appropriations from Congress, but will come rather from such sources as British and American loans, German funds in Sweden and the like.

Byrnes and Clay said their hope is that this money, plus the first returns on future exports, would make it unnecessary ever to ask Congress for money specifically to promote Germany's economic recovery.

1,800-Calorie Diet

The economic agreement provides for an increase in the German ration standard from 1,550 calories per person per day to 1,800 calories, Byrnes said, under questioning, that actually the United States is at present hard pressed to meet the 1,550 level because of transportation difficulties in this country.

He said that he is working to break the bottleneck and hopes the Office of Defense Transportation and Interstate Commerce Commission can take emergency powers to give food exports to Germany priority in transportation.

Clay reported that he had lined up fairly good shipments for December but faced tough problems in obtaining a satisfactory export rate.

Negotiation Team

The British-American economic agreement, Byrnes said, was worked out in a series of conferences in Washington with Assistant Secretary of State Hilldring, heading an American negotiation team including Clay and spokesmen for the State, War and Treasury departments.

Clay made clear that while the merger would mean a joining of British-American economic agencies in Germany it would not mean combining the zonal military commands.

In the Big Four session last night, the Foreign Ministers wiped out several more controversies.

They agreed that Greece and Yugoslavia should each collect a total of $150,000,000 in reparations from Italy and Bulgaria, but they failed to decide how the $300,000,000 should be assessed between the two former enemy countries.

It was reported that the Big Four virtually agreed to end the Greek-Bulgarian border argument by Fixing Bulgaria's frontiers as they were in 1941.

Other Agreements

Other points settled, at least tentatively: that Albania, though not a United Nations member, should be allowed to sign the Italian treaty; that the Austrian-Italian agreement for settlement of the South Tyrol boundary dispute should be included in the Italian treaty; that if Yugoslavia refused to sign the Italian treaty (in protest against internationalization of Trieste) it should get no benefits such as reparations from Italy; that the Balkan satellites and Finland should be permitted to have some motor torpedo boats.

Scheduled for possible decision late today was the dispute between Russia and the Western powers over whether a clause guaranteeing freedom of navigation on the Danube should be written into the Balkan treaties.

New Slav Proposals On Trieste Reported

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—Diplomatic informants said today the Yugoslav Government of Premier Marshal Tito had sent to the Four-Power Foreign Ministers certain new proposals for settlement of the Trieste issue and related boundary disputes between Yugoslavia and Italy.

Persons familiar with the proposals said they did not seem to change substantially the Yugoslav ideas which the Western Powers have already flatly rejected.

The Big Four themselves have agreed on a plan for the internationalization of Trieste which is now virtually complete. Western power diplomats appear unanimous in the view that at this stage nothing short of mutual agreement between Italy and Yugoslavia would have any chance of acceptance here as an alternative to internationalization.

Yugoslav officials here said their new proposals would, like previous plans of theirs, provide that Trieste should go to Italy and Gorizia to Yugoslavia. The latter city, which is north of Trieste, has been steadily claimed by Italy and Italy recently decided against a move by Tito to trade Gorizia for Trieste.

The principal concession which the new proposal would make to Italy beyond previous Yugoslav plans, informants said, is the proposition that Mount Salcone should be Italian.

Vishinsky Says Russia Is Set To Make Trade Treaties

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, says his country is guided by a policy of peace and stands ready to negotiate nonaggression, disarmament and commercial treaties with capitalist countries.

Speaking at a "Get Together With Russia" rally at Madison Square Garden last night, Vishinsky called for lifting "the iron curtain that hides the truth about the Soviet Union from the rest of the world."

Need for Credits

Vishinsky said that Generalissimo Stalin expressed confidence as far back as 1927 that the Soviet could reach commercial accords with capitalist states and added that "trade forms the basis for agreement."

"We need credits and the capitalists need returns on those credits," Vishinsky declared. He said "the Soviet Union always pays promptly on its credits."

In regard to Russian foreign policy, Vishinsky declared that "it is based on the principle of friendly and peaceful co-operation with all friendly states. Observe the work of the Soviet delegation at the General Assembly and you will understand what the foreign policy of the Soviet Union is."

Vishinsky criticized "false prophets" in the United States whom he charged with seeking to undermine mutual confidence and disrupt cordial relations between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Publisher Named

He singled out William Randolph Hearst, newspaper publisher, and referred specifically to a paid advertisement on "Red Fascism" signed by Hearst which he said appeared in the November 25 issue of the New York Herald Tribune (not a Hearst publication). Vishinsky said the advertisement described the Soviet system as "the least successful and least humanitarian system of society."

He declared that "Hearst is not alone—he is not the only one who makes false prophecies. Are not these prophets a social danger? I might ask, here in our intimate circle, is it not time a straitjacket were used?"

Seen As Vain

Vishinsky said efforts to undermine Soviet-American relations would be in vain but suggested that they be counteracted by "sanitary measures against moral and political dirt."

He said that Hearst, Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D., Mont.) and others, including the New York Times military observer, had forecast defeat of the Soviet Union by Germany and declared that "I would not be wrong if I say that the defeat of Hitler's Germany was their defeat as well.

"Having suffered this defeat, these gentlemen have not calmed down and are still practicing their shameful trade to the detriment of their own country, though they consider themselves patriots," he said.

Soviet-Danish Pact Ratified.

London, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—Tass reported today from Moscow that the presidium of the U. S. S. R. Supreme Soviet ratified Sunday a treaty on trade and shipping between Russia and Denmark.

BRITISH, INDIAN LEADERS START CRUCIAL PARLEY

LONDON, Dec. 3—(AP) Prime Minister Attlee and his cabinet ministers opened talks with India's political leaders today against a background of simmering civil strife and warned them that world peace is related to the stability of the populous subcontinent.

Urgency was the keynote of the discussions, with the schedule cut short by delay in the arrival of the Indian leaders and with only three or four days allotted to the effort to break the deadlock which has threatened the fruition of the British plan for Indian independence. Civil conflict might arise from a breakdown.

Talks Discussions

An India office spokesman said the talks were being carried on frankly and on the broad issues, with Britain stressing the importance of peace in India to the general state of world peace.

(Dean Acheson, as acting U. S. secretary of state, told a news conference in Washington that "it will be in the interest of India as well as that of all the world, for its leaders to grasp this opportunity to establish a stable and peaceful India.")

Two hours and a half after the tired and worn-looking party had arrived in London from its two-day plane trip from India, Viceroy Lord Wavell went into conference with Attlee and the cabinet at No. 10 Downing Street, bringing them up to date on recent events in a two-hour session.

Then Attlee spoke for two hours with Jawaharlal Nehru, congress party leader in the interim government, while Pord Pethick-Lawrence, secretary of state for India, discussed the tense situation with the president of the rival Moslem league, Mahomed Ali Jinnah, and the secretary of the league, Liaquat Ali Khan.

It was Jinnah's boycott of the constituent assembly, scheduled to convene six days hence, that precipitated the crisis and threatened to break down the British plan for India's transition to independence.

Attlee also saw the Sikh leader, Sardar Baldev Singh, while Lord Pethick Lawrence met with Nehru.

Concessions Sought

Principal aims of the first round of talks, an India office spokesman said, was to obtain the minimum demand and maximum concessions the rival political leaders were prepared to make.

The central issue appeared to revolve around Moslem insistence upon vesting practically all power in provincial governments, and its advocacy of an independent Moslem state. The congress party favors a powerful central government.

Upon the possibility of compressing these divergent views into a workable solution hinged the question of whether the Indians could be brought together around a conference table. An open date for such a round table has been left for Thursday, if it materializes.

Possibly the key talk in the whole situation—between Attlee and Jinnah—will take place tomorrow.

BRITISH COTTON MILLS TO EXPAND THEIR PRODUCTION

Government to Aid Plants Re-equip Under New Five-year Plan.

Manchester, England, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—A comprehensive five-year plan for rebuilding Great Britain's cotton industry—to raise production despite a drop in manpower below pre-war levels—was announced today by Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade.

Cripps told a meeting attended by representatives of all sections of the industry that the Government would pay 25 per cent of the cost of mechanical re-equipment with the remainder to be borne by the industry itself.

Average output per worker must be increased through the introduction of labor-saving machinery, Cripps said, and the mills must work two shifts a day—instead of one as at present—for more effective use of the machinery.

Cripps did not estimate the cost of the program, which he said was the only one of its kind that the Government planned for any British industry. The program is based on recommendations of a Government-appointed working party that surveyed the industry.

"This scheme," Cripps said, "will apply only to groups of that size or new groups formed for the purpose.

"One of the objects of the scheme is to encourage a grouping of mills. The scheme is not a compulsory one in the sense that any mill will be compelled to re-equip, nor will there be any outside interference with the form of re-equipment chosen by any particular group. That will be for them to decide."

Cripps said the present labor force was about 245,000, compared with 370,000 before the war.

Approves Cotton Bill.

London, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—Britain's Labor Government has a House of Commons indorsement for its plan to keep the Liverpool Cotton Exchange closed and go on with the wartime system of bulk raw cotton buying by a state commission. Commons, disregarding Conservative arguments that the textile industry and the country as a whole would suffer, approved a bill to this effect, 291 to 144, on second reading last night.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Board of Trade president, said in debate that the Government itself would not be buying the cotton and that profits would not go to the Government, but into a reserve or toward reduction of the price of cotton to spinners.

Suspects U. S. on Free Trade

STOCKPORT, England, Dec. 3 (AP).—Lord Croft, chairman of the Empire Industries Association, said tonight: "You might as well book a passage by rocket to the moon" as expect the United States to adopt free trade. He added in a prepared speech: "The United States would lower their tariffs perhaps for a year or two whilst they are demanding that we eliminate imperial preference for fifty years. This is preposterous."

Paris, Wednesday, Dec. 4 (AP). The Socialists voted today to support the candidacy of Maurice Thorez, Communist leader, for the interim premiership of the new French Government, but it was not immediately announced whether they also would consent to enter his Cabinet.

Paris, Dec. 3 (AP)—Felix Gouin, Socialist leader, urged tonight that his party support the Communists in their bid for the interim premiership of the new French Government.

His recommendation came soon after the Communist candidate for temporary president of the National Assembly lost to a Socialist, Vincent Auriol.

The Communists in a last-minute gesture of impatience with the Socialists for refusing to make an early deal with them on the National Assembly presidency and interim premiership—put up 77-year-old Marcel Cachin as an opposition candidate to Auriol. The Radical Socialists put forward a third candidate, Alexandre Varenne.

Grave Economic Situation

Gouin, a former interim president after Gen. Charles de Gaulle resigned last winter, said the gravity of France's economic and financial situation demanded that the Socialists back Maurice Thorez, Communist leader, for the interim premiership and enter Thorez's cabinet.

"The masses will never understand a Socialist party failure to do for Thorez what it found itself able to do for Bidault," Gouin told a Socialist national congress. He was referring to the Socialist support of Georges Bidault, leader of the relatively conservative Popular Republican Movement (MRP) party and head of the last interim government.

Not Shared Wholeheartedly

Gouin's views were not shared wholeheartedly by his party's congress. Deputy André Philip opposed either supporting the candidacy of Thorez or entering a Communist-led government.

Another delegate, Marcoau Pivert, urged that the Socialists vote for Thorez for premier but with the understanding that they would not enter his Cabinet.

The election of Auriol as National Assembly president had been interpreted in some quarters as a setback to the Communists' bid for leadership of the new French Government.

Full Support Of MRP

The 62-year-old Auriol, with the full support of Georges Bidault's MRP party and some Rightist deputies, received 284 votes, 5 more than necessary for an absolute majority. Cachin received 170 and Varenne 98.

Only a few days ago the Communists had proposed to support Auriol for the legislative presidency in return for Socialist aid in putting Thorez in as premier.

The Communists have taken a stand for "popular front" government with the Socialists, in which Bidault's MRP would be excluded.

Auriol's election as president of the Assembly marked him as a possible strong contender for first president of the Fourth Republic. He presided over France's two constituent assemblies and was a member of the French delegation to Washington for the 1925 war debt talks.

Post Only Temporary

His new post is only temporary. The Assembly will re-elect officers in mid-January when, with both Houses of Parliament elected and sitting, the president of the republic and its first premier will be chosen. The MRP has proposed to support General de Gaulle for the presidency then, if he is a candidate.

It was believed certain the MRP would oppose Thorez for premier with a candidate of their own.

If this created a deadlock the Radical Socialists might come forward with Edouard Herriot as a compromise candidate.

French Socialists to Back Thorez for the Premiership

Socialist Elected Assembly Head By French

Paris, Dec. 3 (AP)—Socialist Vincent Auriol was elected President of the new French National Assembly today, defeating the Communist and Radical-Socialist candidates.

Auriol received 284 ballots, Cachin, Communist, 170, and Alexandré [illegible], Radical-Socialist, 98.

Auriol's election was made possible by the support of the conservative Popular Republican Movement (MRP), headed by Georges Bidault, retiring President-Premier.

The premiership is sought by Communist Maurice Thorez.

Thorez Only Open Candidate

Thorez thus far is the only announced candidate for the premiership, vacated last Thursday by Bidault in a constitutional step to open the way for the Fourth Republic.

The Communist bid for Socialist support grew out of the Assembly election November 10. No party got a majority of the Assembly's 618 seats. Balloting two weeks later for electors to help choose Parliament's other house, the Council of the Republic, likewise was inconclusive.

Selections Next Sunday

Most members of the Council of the Republic will be chosen by electoral colleges next Sunday. Once the council is seated on December 24, the two houses will join in the election of a president of the republic, who will nominate a premier to form a permanent government.

Many MRP members admit that they are thinking of Gen. Charles de Gaulle for president. De Gaulle is not talking.

Throng Seeks Copy of Leda and Swan

Replica of Painting Banned by Hitler as Obscene Attracts American and German Art Lovers.

Augsburg, Germany, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—Hundreds of American and German art lovers jammed a tiny store in Augsburg today, attracted by a life-sized replica of a painting personally ordered banned by Adolf Hitler in 1943 for its alleged obscenity.

The art lovers went to dealer Max Duschl's small art shop to bid for the recently uncovered replica of the Nazi painting, "Leda With the Swan," the original of which was the work of one of Hitler's favorite artists, Max M. Padua of Munich. Duschl said that the replica was copied in 1943 from Padut's original by a young Augsburg painter and was found a few weeks ago in a private Augsburg art collection.

When the original canvas was exhibited at a Nazi art show in 1943, it caused such a stir of indignation that Hitler himself ordered its removal from the exhibit. Press photographers at the time were forbidden to make pictures of the canvas. The public storm died after the painting disappeared. According to Duschl, it was destroyed by Nazi edict.

Duschl said, however, that Friedrich Schuller, a painter of the Augsburg Maximilian Art Museum, took a snapshot of the canvas at the exhibition, despite the strict ban, and began a copy. Schuller died late in 1943 at the age of 35, a few months after completing the replica of Padua's work.

Duschl said that the model for "Leda" was reported among art dealers to be the wife of a former high Nazi leader.

Army May Cut Food For German Children

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 3 (AP)—The United States Army tonight said it would be forced to halt its supplemental feeding of 245,000 undernourished German children soon unless [illegible] volume of imported food was increased.

The relief food is contributed chiefly by combined relief agencies licensed to operate in Germany and the International Red Cross. Army officials said the low supply of relief food was attributable to the dislocation of trans-Atlantic transport by the recent shipping strike.

U. S. Troops Arrest 82 Displaced Poles

Frankfurt, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—American constabulary troops arrested eighty-two displaced Poles and seized narcotics, pencillin and Ul[illegible] Government property valued at approximately $53,000 in a raid on a displaced persons camp at Bamberg November 25, United States Constabulary Headquarters announced today.

Reich Dropped Atom Bomb Idea, Hahn Says

Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 3 (AP)—Prof Otto Hahn, Nobel prize winner in chemistry for 1944, told reporters today that Germany never was likely to have produced an atomic bomb during [illegible] II.

The German scientist said German research had reached the stage of a parting of the ways between the atomic bomb and atomic energy. He said German scientists chose atomic energy and were trying to find a new form of energy for military purposes. This explained Germany's need for "heavy water" from Norway, he said.

ANTI-NAZIS 'ABUSED'

Frankfurt, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—United States Third Army officials said today that they were investigating charges published by the Munich newspaper Sueddeutsche Zeitung that anti-Nazi German prisoners of war returning from England were abused by fellow Germans at the Heilbronn Discharge Camp. The camp is supervised by American military personnel, but many German inmates are used to perform administrative duties, the officials said.

The Zeitung reported that 1,600 especially selected anti-Nazi war prisoners who returned to Heilbronn from England were pushed around and threatened and their personal belongings were requisitioned by the Germans who processed them into the camp.

Mysterious Leaflets Urge German Sabotage

Berlin, Dec. 3 (AP)—Leafleets inciting the Germans to sabotage and to resist occupation by the Americans and the British have been found circulating in the United States zone, American authorities said today.

Officials [illegible] endeavoring to trace the [illegible] of the flysheets, which they said were "more outspoken" than others which circulated earlier. The signature is "Red Front."

While the leaflets would appear to be "Communist - inspired," sources said, the possibility that they were "a Nazi or some other lunatic-fringe plant" was not being discounted.

Prison Brings Cure For Hess's Cramps

Nuernberg, Germany, Dec. 3 (AP). Rudolf Hess has thrown away his bicarbonate.

For the first time since the one-time Deputy Führer became prisoner, he is free from stomach cramps.

Prison doctors today said Hess's stomach aches were genuine, but were caused simply by nervous strain. Now that he no longer faces trial and his fate is settled—life imprisonment—his nerves are returning to normal and he is in good health.

WARNS GERMANS ON U. S. ZONE RULE

Stuttgart, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—Major-Gen. Frank A. Keating, acting deputy military governor, told a meeting of the American zone's German Council of States today that the military government is handing over to the Germans the functions of internal civil government, but intends to maintain a sharp watch to guarantee that democratic processes are observed. Keating addressed the first meeting of the Council to be held since the adoption of new constitutions by all three States, thus inaugurating, he said, a "new era in German history."

Keating said that the Americans must retain control of all international agreements affecting Germany, of all quadripartite policies and decisions connected with the occupation and of all basic policy decisons involved in the economic merger of the American and British zones. Additionally, he said, the Americans intend to retain such powers as are needed to insure that the Germans do not misuse any powers granted to them.

"In carrying on its remaining functions," Keating added, "military government will generally restrict itself to a process of review, observation and advice with regard to your efforts."

Jersey G.I. Killed in Reich.

Frankfurt, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—Pfc. William A. Jacobus of 244 Eastern Parkway, [illegible]s, N. J., was killed November 30 when a gun he was loading accidentally discharged at his constabulary post near Berchtesgaden, the United States Third Army announced today.

Greece Expected To Change Army

Athens, Dec. 3 (AP)—A well-advised foreign informant said today the Greek Army probably will be reorganized this winter along the lines of the mountain-trained, mule-packed artillery force which threw back Italian motorized columns in 1940 in order to wage effective warfare with the country's Leftist guerrillas.

This [illegible] the program of the British military mission here to modernize the Greek Army on mechanical lines and train it on a "World War strategy basis" which would make it "in a broad sense only three divisions of the British Army," had proved a handicap to the Greeks in fighting the hit-and-run guerrillas.

Advocated By Montgomery

The change, however, was "strongly advocated" by Marshal Lord Montgomery, chief of the British Imperial Staff, in conversations yesterday with high Greek Government and foreign diplomatic officials, the informant said.

Foreign military observers estimate that two thirds of Greece's approximately 80,000-man army has been engaged in training for the British objective of a fully mechanized three-division field force, while the other poorly equipped third has been pitted against well-armed guerrillas of the north.

Commanders of army posts in the embattled north complained to correspondents that they lacked especially radio communications and light mountain artillery to battle the swift-striking bands.

Roads Only For Mules

Word of the recent Leftist attack at Notia near the Yugoslav border was brought to a battalion headquarters an hour after it took place. Battalion headquarters attempted to dispatch reinforcements over roads intended only for mules. Motor-drawn guns sent from Salonika were halted 10 miles from the scene by impassable terrain.

The small gendarmerie unit at Mavron and Mandhalos, attacked a few days later, was wiped out because it did not have a radio to call for help. Army units sent to the scene were delayed while local farmers reinforced the bridges for the heavy trucks.

Monty Advocates New Training For Greeks

Athens, Dec. 3 (AP)—A well-posted foreign informant said today that British Field Marshal Lord Montgomery had strongly advocated that the partisan-buffeted Greek Army be reorganized this winter on a 'prewar hand-to-hand mountain fighting basis.'

Montgomery, chief of the British Imperial staff, talked yesterday with ranking Greek Government and foreign diplomatic officials. The British Military Mission now training the Greek Army, was said, however, to have opposed such a program, advocating the maintenance of a mechanized three-division field force. The mission said the partisan fighting was "disrupting the schooling."

Small Greek Army garrisons on the northern frontier, apparently baffled by hit-and-run tactics of the guerrilla bands and unable to communicate rapidly with supporting forces, have been sittin gducks for the mountain-based partisan attack groups.

Bulgars Moving, Report

A reliable source here said that Bulgarian military equipment termed "disproportionate" to needs had been concentrated along the Greek-Bulgarian border near the Turkish frontier.

Greek Army mobile equipment has been seen moving east toward the juncture of the Turkish-Bulgarian border, he said, and some military action has been reported against guerrillas in Thrace.

These developments followed a recent announcement of the Greek command at Salonika, even before stabilization of fighting just south of the Yugoslav border, that it would start mopping up Thracian bands.

[Constantin Tsaldaris, Greece's Royalist-Populist Premier-Foreign Minister, reached Paris yesterday on a flight to new York to complain to the United Nations against alleged violations of his country's northern boundary. He was quoted by the French press agency as saying he would ask that a mission be sent to study the situation.]

Fascists Active In Milan

Rome, Dec. 3 (AP)—An Ansa dispatch from Milan said Neo-Fascist leaflets praising Benito Mussolini and calling on Fascists and others to organize "black militias" in vengeance for fallen comrades" were posted on walls and scattered on streets in Milan early today.

Poles Put on 46-Hour Week

WARSAW, Dec. 3 (AP).—Poland's industry and trade are operating on a forty-six-hour work week. A new government decree, prescribing schedules in all industry, trade, mining, cummunications, transport "and all other undertakings, whether they are private, state, or self-government property," says there are to be eight working hours daily (without reckoning the breaks for lunch or rest), and six working hours on Saturday, but the working week may not exceed forty-six hours.

Russian Authors Warned Against 3

Moscow, Dec. 3—Marcel Proust, Ernest Hemingway and Erich Remarque are singled out by the current issue of the literary magazine Znamia as Western writers whom Soviet writers must avoid imitating.

It says "Our critics must be intransigent to all uncritical 'Westernizing' and any imitations of Proust, Hemingway and Remarque." Clearly, Proust is considered to be overly introspective and "individualistic."

Remarque is the writer who "debunked" the glamour of war heroes more than anyone else — and stressed the unspeakable ugliness and squalor of war. It was a different war which had nothing to commend it, but there is clearly no desire that the uglier sides of the 1941-5 war should be treated by anyone in a manner approaching Remarque's.

Hemingway in "Farewell to Arms," his book best known in Russia, also sinned in the same way. Points against Hemingway are his individualism, his staccato style and other stylistic manerisms, and his frequent lapses into "obscenity and eroticism, all of which are not well looked upon. One recent Russian novel was severely condemned for dwelling on the "dark, animal instincts" of the hero which turned his marriage into a sordid triangle "unworthy of Soviet family life."

The same Znamia article stresses the necessity for Russian writers to elaborate the clear-cut 'Soviet aesthetics and the Soviet literary theory.

TALK EXPLAINED BY ROOSEVELT

Denial of Comment on U. S. Embassy Reported.

Moscow, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—Elliott Roosevelt and his wife were en route to South Russia today on an eight to ten-day trip which should just about conclude their visit to the Soviet Union.

Before leaving late last night, Roosevelt called on Lieut.-Gen. W. B. Smith, the American Ambassador, and gave his version of the publicized "off the record" discussion at an American party shortly after reaching Moscow. Roosevelt is said to have reiterated that he had not accused or involved the United States Embassy or officials here in the discussion at the reception, or had blamed them for publication of what he termed an inaccurate version of the incident.

It was Roosevelt's second call on the Ambassador.

What view Gen. Smith took of the explanation was not disclosed. Roosevelt said that he had been promised a retraction by the correspondent who sent the story in which he was alleged to have involved the embassy and officials.

Roosevelt, who had planned to leave Moscow around December 7, said that he wished to travel through Poland and, if time permitted, to spend a day or two in Dublin. He said he expected to be back in Hyde Park, N. Y., by Christmas.

Elliott Roosevelt to Be Called.

Los Angeles, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—Investigation of alleged subversive activities in Hollywood will be opened today by a House Committee on un-American Affairs, whose chairman said that Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President, will be subpoenaed, if possible, to testify concerning remarks he is reported to have made in Moscow.

Representative John S. Wood (D.-Ga.), committee chairman, said that he understood Roosevelt will be back in the States December 18, and: "I would like to know just what he said (in Moscow) if anything." Elliott had denied published reports he criticized American foreign policy.

Wood said that a number of film colony figures will be called. The meetings will be closed, he added, because "the radicals gang up on us with their heckling."

Stalin Reported Seriously Ill

Two Turkish Papers Assert Soviet Leader's Condition Is Getting Worse.

Istanbul, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—Two Istanbul newspapers published assertions today that Prime Minister Stalin of Russia was seriously ill.

The political correspondent of Tanin, crediting his information to "authoritative reports," said that Stalin's illness was so serious that "all high ranking Soviet officials and his closest friends are now near him." The account said that Stalin did not recover from an illness last spring and that his condition was "getting more and more serious."

The newspaper Tasvir quoted political circles at Sofia as saying that Stalin's "illness has taken a dangerous course despite doctors' efforts."

Neither newspaper indicated the nature of the reported illness.

An important person who returned from Moscow less than two weeks ago said in an interview that secrecy surrounding the health of Stalin; that the growing infrequency of Stalin's appearances at public functions had given rise to rumors that he was not well, and that it was interesting that more and more pictures of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov were appearing.

A Moscow dispatch of November 7, which Russian censors delayed for twelve days, said that persons close to Stalin said that he was in good health and in about the same physical condition as a year ago. The dispatch suggested that his absence from the Bolshevik Revolution celebration November 7 was occasioned by vacation.

U.S. Plane Flies Drug For Egyptian Premier

Cairo, Dec. 3 (AP)—A special United States Army plane arrived here today from Germany with a quantity of the drug streptomycin for Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha.

When the Premier's condition made streptomycin necessary, S. Pinkney Tuck, United States Ambassador to Cairo, cabled the commander in chief of the United States zone of Germany, who sent the streptomycin and an American military doctor.

6 KIDNAP JEW FROM HOSPITAL

Taken From Operating Table By Bandits In Tel Aviv

Jerusalem, Dec. 3 (AP)—A Jew who was seriously wounded while participating in an attempted robbery in Tel Aviv today was taken from an operating table in the Hadassah Hospital in that port city a short time later by six armed men, an official press release said.

The patient still was under an anesthetic when he was removed from the building and rushed out an exit. The six men who took him told the doctors and nurses in the operating room:

"We thank you very much for your help, but we are awfully sorry, we must have the man now."

One Killed During Holdup

One man was killed during the attempted robbery which occurred, police said, when several armed men overpowered two Polish refugee committee messengers carrying relief money from the Tel Aviv branch of Barclay's Bank to the committee office.

Cries of the messengers brought Jewish and British police. An exchange of shots between the police and the masked gang forced the robbers to abandon a satchel believed to have contained $28,000.

The man killed during the robbery attempt was thought to have been one of the robbers. In addition to the person taken from the operating table, a policeman and a bystander were wounded.

Two Jeeps Blown Up

Meanwhile, two more British jeeps were blown up by mines on Palestine roads, bringing to six the number of British soldiers killed in this way during the past 48 hours.

One British soldier was killed when his jeep was blown up on the Mount Carmel road near Haifa. Two British soldiers were wounded seriously when a jeep on the Tel Aviv-Haifa road was blown up. Yesterday, five British soldiers were killed when two jeeps hit mines.

Robbery Attempt In Tel Aviv Fails

Jerusalem, Dec. 3 (AP)—An exchange of shots between a police patrol and masked robbers in Tel Aviv ended with the escape of the thwarted bandits and the wounding of at least three persons—a policeman, a robber and a bystander.

The shooting affray began, police said, when several armed men overpowered two messengers from the Polish Refugee Committee carrying relief money from the Tel Aviv branch of Barclay's Bank to the committee office.

Abandon Loot

The robbers abandoned a satchel containing several thousand pounds when the messengers' cries brought Jewish and British police.

[Reuter reported that five armed Jews burst into the operating theater of a Tel Aviv hospital and carried off a young Jew who had been wounded in the attempted robbery. The Jew was one of three persons injured — one fatally — when four gunmen threw scare bombs to cover their getaway after the unsuccessful holdup attempt. It had been reported, but not confirmed, that one of the wounded belonged to the gunmen's party.]

Yesterday's death toll by violence in Palestine, meanwhile, mounted to five with the death of a British soldier in a jeep blown up by a mine south of Haifa. Four other British soldiers died earlier when their jeep hit a road mine containing rivets west of Jerusalem.

TO TOUR EUROPE AND PALESTINE

Mrs. David M. Levy Named 'Ambassador of Hope.'

Atlantic City, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—Mrs. David M. Levy of New York, national conference chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, was named today "ambassador of hope" to carry to Europe's 1,500,000 Jews assurance that they will have American assistance in their efforts to recover from the ravages of war.

Mrs. Levy is scheduled to fly tomorrow for a tour of Europe and Palestine to gain first-hand knowledge of the conditions and needs of displaced Jews.

Rabbi Jonah B. Wise of New York said that Mrs. Levy would be "the bearer of a sacred promise of Jews of this country in the form of a decision to raise $170,000,000 through the United Jewish Appeal" of 1947.

Named to Lead Drive.

Committees of the organization met today in post-conference sessions to lay the groundwork for the 1947 fund raising campaign that will call for contributions almost twice this year's oversubscribed goal of $100,000,000 and six times the fund raised in 1945.

Named to lead the 1947 drive in various industries were S. Ralph Lazrus and Harry Hensel of New York in jewelry; Samuel Rotberg of Peoria, Ill., in liquor; Barney Balaban of New York in motion pictures; Sidney R. Rabb of Boston and Nathan Cummings of Chicago in food; John D. Schapiro of Baltimore in scrap metal; I. M. Cohen of New York in men's clothing; Fred Mann of Philadelphia in paper; Louis H. Salvage of Boston in shoes; Joseph Kolodny of New York in tobacco, and Fred Monosson of Boston in rainwear.

Peter B. Colwin of New York was named to serve as director of the trade and industry division of the campaign.

Chinese Control Of Dairen Seen

Peiping, Dec. 3 (AP)—Reports, prevalent for weeks, that Chinese Government troops would take over control of Russian-occupied Dairen, the great port of southern Manchuria, drew a statement today from Government military authorities that the transfer would be made soon.

The Chinese, under Gen. Tu Li-ming, have been at Pulantien, 45 miles north of Dairen, since November 1. They halted there in a drive to clear the Chinese Communists from the Liaotung peninsula while negotiatfons apparently proceeded with the Russians over Dairen.

Soviet troops have occupied Dairen since the Japanese surrender. The Sino-Russian treaty of 1945 designated it a free port.

China Reported Ready To Take Over Dairen

Peiping, Dec. 3 (AP)—Government military authorities said today that Gen. Tu Li-ming's Nationalist troops soon would take over Dairen, Manchuria's largest port, which has been occupied by Soviets since the Japanese surrender.

Tu's troops have been poised at Pulantien, 45 miles north of Dairen just inside the border of the old Japanese Kwantung-leased territory, pending negotiations with the Red Army commanders.

Dairen was specified a free port in the 1945 Sino-Soviet treaty.

Residents Reported In Panic

Unconfirmed reports in the Chinese press described the residents of Dairen as in panic because of Chinese Communist activity.

These followed unsubstantiated stories in all pro-Government newspapers that the Communists were stripping Dairen industrial plants and hauling parts away by sea.

In north China, 26,000 Communist troops were reported advancing westward toward Yangku (Taiyuan), capital of Shansi province, in an effort to ease the menace of a flank attack on Yenan, the Communist stronghold.

"Four-Way Threat" To Yenan

A Communist spokesman said 180,000 National troops were concentrated in the Yanan region, threatening the Red base from four directions.

In Manchuria, Communist Gen. Lin Piao was gradually expanding his offensive by attacking positions on the south bank of the Sungari River, midway between Changchun and Harbin.

One Red spearhead was reported 27 miles from Changchun, the Manchurian capital.

Marshalls Go On Picnic

Nanking, Dec. 3 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, presidential envoy to China, left his headquarters at noon today for a picnic with his wife and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek.

New Iran Clash Threatened

Tehran, Dec. 2 [AP—Delayed]—The Tabriz (Azerbaijan) radio said tonight that countless citizens of that semi-autonomous province had been given arms during the day and declared that the central "Government will face arms if it enters Azerbaijan with arms."

"All our workers throughout the province, all our party members, our national militia called Fedaies, all members of our young people's associations and all Azerbaijan's Democrats have been given arms today in all parts of Azerbaijan to defend our freedom to the last," the broadcast said.

Charges Freedom Imperiled

The radio claimed the actions of central Government troops in Zenjan proved that the "Government intends to suppress our freedom and after entering Azerbaijan will take actions against our party organizations."

Premier Ahmed Qavam of the central Government has insisted that he must send central Government troops into Azerbaijan to supervise parliamentary elections scheduled to begin in a few days. The Governor of Azerbaijan, Dr. Salamollah Javid, says this would mean "civil war." Central Government troops were reported near the Azerbaijan border.

U.S. Sailor Reported Shot At Beyrouth

Beyrouth, Lebanon, Dec. 3 (AP)—Reliable sources today said a gunman hiding in the dock area Sunday night shot an American sailor standing on the United States destroyer Perry.

The seaman was said to have been wounded slightly in the leg.

Postwar Indonesian Revolt Laid To Japs

Tokyo, Dec. 3 (AP)—Japan was accused in the International War Crimes Court today of inciting Indonesia's postwar rebellion against the Dutch before news of Japan's surrender reached the Indonesian people.

Maj. Gen. W. G. F. Borgerhoff Mulder, an Australian prosecutor representing the Netherlands, told the court he would produce evidence that the surrender had not halted Japan's "conspiracy" against the potentially rich Netherlands Indies.

Exploiting the invaded islands, Japan gave no thought to welfare of the inhabitants until Japan's own situation became critical, Borgerhoff Mulder declared. Then, he said she initiated measures for proclaiming Indonesia's independence.

Conference On Jap Reparations Reported

Tokyo, Dec. 3 (AP)—Premier Shigeru Yoshida conferred with General MacArthur today in what some Japanese sources described as an attempt to learn whether reparations terms would be softened.

The Cabinet earlier heard a detailed explanation of the Pauley reparations report, and informants said the Ministers considered it "unexpectedly severe."

No official statement was given out, however, pending clarification as to whether Edwin A. Pauley's recommendations would be followed in the final Allied plan.

Repatriates Form Jap Jobless Union

Tokyo, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—Japan's unemployed—or part of them—now have a union.

Representatives of jobless repatriates have set up an organization, as yet unnamed, and announced today plans to enroll 3,200,000 former soldiers, sailors and civilians returned from abroad. Their platform of seventeen demands upon the Government includes special issues of food and clothing this winter.

Insurgents Fired On Outside Manila

Manila, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—Philippine military police units today fired between 100 and 150 rounds of heavy mortar fire and a stream of light machine-gun bullets into a supposed bivouac area of the insurgent Hukbalahaps a dozen miles from Manila. There were indications, however, that the armed peasants—reported migrating from the central plains of Luzon to former Japanese mountain hideouts east of the capital—were willing to make a stand.

The Manila police were placed on twenty-four-hour guard duty to balk any Hukbalahap infiltrations of the city.

Would Expel 'Times' Writer

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 3 (AP).—"El Lider," a newspaper with close ties to Interior Minister Angel Borlenghi, demanded the expulsion today of Frank Kluckohn, "New York Times" correspondent, for what he described as a "grotesque attack" in an article on President Juan D. Peron. "El Lider" said Kluckohn should be deported "for his own physical safety" under the seldom-used residence law, which is directed against "agitators." The newspaper published his picture, saying it did this "so people can know him," but warned readers against a physical attack.

President of Panama Replaces 2 Advisers

Panama, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—President Enrique Adolfo Jimenez said that he would issue an executive decree today, confirming his appointment of Cabinet Ministers to replace two whose disagreement over a trade school site brought a Cabinet crisis.

The new officials were Max Arosemena, succeeding Daniel Crespo as Minister of Education, and Octavio Vallarino, succeeding Aristides Romero as Minister of Public Works. During a special Cabinet meeting for the discussion of government economy, Crespo and Romero unexpectedly disagreed over the school site and, at Romero's suggestion, both resigned. Other Ministers submitted their resignations to give the President a free hand, but he asked them to stay in office.

Sensational Charges Against Yanks in Germany Bared

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. — (AP) Charges of wild immorality and other excesses by American forces in occupied Germany were made public tonight, and the War Department swiftly replied "hearsay" and "gossip."

President Truman, in response to questions at a news conference, took the position that a congressional investigation of the military government in Germany is unnecessary.

Four Republican members of the Senate War Investigating committee formally "confidential" tag on a secret report made by committee Council George W. Meader after a four-weeks flying tour of the American occupation area.

Meader's report listed numerous allegations of immoral conduct by some of the American occupation troops, heavy venereal infections, misconduct by officers, and objectionable action by displaced persons.

Even before the report appeared in print committee Chairman Kilgore (D-WVa) released what amounted to a report on the report, based on an investigation of the investigation.

Made by Brig. Gen. Elliott D. Cooke of the army inspector's general office, it summarized an inquiry into testimony given by Col. Francis P. Miller, who was one of the key witnesses before the Senate committee sometime ago, before it dropped plans for a further inquiry into the subject.

The inspector general's report said that Miller was unable to substantiate some of his broad allegations, and that he tried without success to make some changes in his original testimony.

Meader made his tour and study for the committee to ascertain whether it should undertake a full inquiry.

The Republican committee members of the committee—Senators Brewster (Maine), Ball (Minn), Ferguson (Mich) and Knowland (Calif)—said they made Meader's report public as the "only way to correct" inaccuracies in versions which have already appeared in print.

The War department had protested that the report is "distorted and frequently erroneous."

Secretary of War Patterson wrote Chairman Kilgore (D-WVa) of the committee that "it appears that the subject matter of the report is based upon unsworn statements and in many cases upon hearsay evidence."

Kilgore himself expressed opposition to release of the report in a letter to committee members, saying the committee had already voted that the report was outside its jurisdiction and "within the scope of the Senate foreign relations committee."

Kilgore also said that Secretary of State Byrnes and his senatorial advisers, Senators Connally (D-Tex) and Vandenberg (R-Mich) had expressed belief publication of the report would impair their work at the United Nations conference.

After Meader's trip to Germany, there was a solid democractic vote in the committee not to undertake a full scale inquiry into the situation in Germany. Both the War and State Departments voiced objections to an inquiry.

Negro Troops Criticized

In his report Meader cited cases of alleged misconduct by Negro troops and said:

"It is my belief that the War Department is aware of the situation, but is reluctant to take any action to correct it because they fear political repercussions from Negro groups.

"Certainly the conduct of the Negro troops, as provable from War Department records, is no credit to the Negro-race and proper action to solve the problem should not result in any unfavorable reaction from intelligent Negro leaders.

"In 1945 the average Negro strength was 10 per cent of the theater strength. Negroes committed 50 per cent of the major crimes. x x x in the first eight months of 1946, Negroes constituted 12 1-2 per cent of the theater strength and committed 35 per cent of the major crimes among the military."

However, Meader said "the standard of discipline of some of our other troops has been little short of disgraceful."

In saying that "the quality of white troop replacements has been inferior," the committee investigator reported that in one shipment of 236 enlisted men, "about one-tenth are not even high-grade morons."

Negro soldiers and German women have been consorting to a considerable extent, Meader said, adding:

"In view of food shortages, some German women have been unusually receptive to the generosity of the Negro troops."

High Venereal Rate

The report said that the venereal disease rate among Negro troops averages 397 cases per 1,000 men. Meader said that last March the rate reached 1,049 per 1,000 while in the same month, the rate for white troops was 158 per 1,000. (It noted that some men may contract a disease more than once a year.)

Meader relayed an officer's report that in Wertinger, near Stuttgart, Negro troops beat up the burgermeister because they believed he had instigated a raid by military government forces on homes where they had billeted their girls.

Attached to the report were excerpts from weekly intelligence reports from U. S. forces in Germany. These cited:

"Senseless and unprovoked attacks: burgermeisters threatened and beaten, civilian police disarmed and clubbed with their own weapons women being publicly molested, and civilians being stopped at night by soldiers who examine their passes, then calmly slug them senseless.

"Flagrant and public misconduct x x x.

"The continuation of incidents involving American troops is bringing severe criticism from the Germans who claim that the Americans cannot control their own troops.

"Unprovoked assaults, excessive public drunkenness, assistance in the violation of German law, black market activities and similar breaches of discipline lower the prestige of the American army."

Another official army paper attached as an exhibit said that a survey of the Mannheim area showed:

Officers Under Fire

"That in many cases commanding officers of various units are not accepting their command responsibilities as they pertain to the administration of military discipline by:

"(1) Failing to take proper corrective action against colored personnel, officers and enlisted men, for fear of race discrimination.

"(2) Authorizing illegal activities on the part of enlisted men and civilian personnel.

"(3) Accepting low standards of military discipline and military courtesy."

Meader said he was told by the staff of Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, the military governor, that U. S. forces in Germany are "presently incapable of any combat or defensive mission."

He commented that McNarney "thinks the War Department should bring the Negro troops home and says that he is attempting to get them into barracks as quickly as possible."

The Republicans, in a statement accompanying the report, stressed that it has not received the approval of the committee or any member.

"Accordingly," they said, "the members of the committee are not to be charged with responsibility for the statements it contains."

In this connection, the names of several officers were mentioned under the caption "misconduct of officers."

One Officer Sent Home

One officer, it said, has been returned to the United States under an article of war dealing with moral turpitude. Another was said to be awaiting trial for "illegal movement of art treasures."

Other charges listed were trading with the enemy, black market activities, obstruction of justice, drunkenness and disorderly conduct, embezzlement and neglect of duty.

It noted that the army was taking action in these cases and said "an undetermined number of officers" will probably be added to the list.

Meader cited an example of conflict between the army and military government at Stuttgart. He said the military government, in encouraging Germans to grow their own food, converted a golf course into gardens, but the local military commander in July, 1945, decided he wanted to play golf instead and it had to go all the way to top levels before he was overruled.

The report said it would be wrong to conclude, on the basis of an investigation as brief as Meader's, "that specific individuals in top executive positions were competent or incompetent." Then he added:

"However, outstanding merit is difficult to conceal. No such unusual ability asserted itself on the level of division heads and top executives in Berlin, aside from that of General Clay himself."

He referred to Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor.

Business Firms Hit

The counsel suggested that in fairness to all concerned the facts should be fully ascertained as to charges "that business representatives of American firms are serving their companies' interest rather than their country's interest in positions of economic power in military government."

In discussing the question of breaking up German trade cartels, Meader commented:

"It is perfectly obvious that individuals with Wall Street connections and philosophy would not naturally be inclined to advocate forcibly and effectively a program of decartelization. x x x x

"It can be said that little progress has been made in the decartelization program. Apparently, however, this lack of progress is largely chargeable to the British authorities."

Discussing the matter of Jews coming into the American zone of Germany from Poland, Meader said that at Babenhausen "a train-load of Jews had refused to get off the train because the camp was not good enough."

Under the heading "displaced persons, persecutees, and expellees," Meader wrote:

Critical of DP's

"These persons are, for the most part, penniless and do not desire to work but expect to be cared for. x x x It is very doubtful that any country would desire these people as immigrants."

The investigator said that when he talked with Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate foreign relations committee, in a Paris conference, Connally "observed that the United States was the biggest sucker in the world and that in Germany we were accepting people from all the other zones and feeding them."

Meader said that lack of employment opportunities for displaced persons "may contribute in part to the general security problem which they have created for the occupying forces. He continued:

"Black market activities have offered a convient substitute for regular employment, and certain criminal elements have committed numerous crimes of violence."

Meader's report said that President Truman, in a conference last September 30, expressed concern at first over the possibility an investigation might hurt delicate international negotiations.

He was reassured, the report went on, that the inquiry by Meader would be purely preliminary "with no publicity attending it."

Meader recommended among other things:

That the United States forces, European theater, and the office of Military Government be consolidated.

That military government be placed under the State Department.

That steps be taken immediately to improve the quality of occupying troops.

Probers Demand 'Truth' On Occupation Charges

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — (AP) The Senate War Investigating Committee was disclosed today to have told the War Department it wants the truth on reports:

1. That high-up generals in the U. S. occupation of Germany have been "conducting themselves in a manner to destroy the morale of the whole [illegible]NIGHT

2. That general officers in the Pacific theater have been "hi-jacking cigarettes for sale on the black market."

3. That some discharged officers in Europe procured their discharge and got UNRRA jobs "for the purpose of continuing their black market operations under UNRRA which they had formerly operated under the Army."

Members of the Senate committee mentioned these reports in a secret hearing last September 26. Republican members of the committee released the transcripts of this and other sessions today, along with a preliminary report on German occupation prepared by George W. Meader, committee Counsel.

High Generals Involved

Senator Brewster (R-Maine) told Howard C. Petersen, assistant secretary of war, of previous secret testimony that Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy U. S. commander in Germany, "must be cognizant of the behavior of certain of his high generals who were conducting themselves in a manner to destroy the morale of the whole troops."

Senator Kilgore (D-W.Va.) added:

"I have recently talked to a number of young officers out in the Pacific theater, and I have received stories from those officers in the Philippines about the misconduct of general officers, even to the question of hi-jacking cigarettes for sale on the black market. I personally know from my conversation with those young men that that had ruined their morale."

Ferguson also brought up the reports of officers starting black market operations while in the Army and then transferring to UNRRA for the purpose of continuing them.

He ascribed the reports to "three returning officers" who came to him.

Petersen told of Army efforts to locate and stamp out wrongdoing, but Chairman Kilgore declared:

"You will never convince the people that the Army inspecting itself is turning out all they know."

On the other hand, Kilgore said, the committee has a good record of satisfying the public with the completeness of its investigation.

Black Market Profits

Col. Francis P. Miller testified that August 14 he had heard of one colonel who bought a hotel and another who had $50,000 in a Swiss bank "made out of the black market."

The witness mentioned generally crookedness, dishonesty, black market activities" and lax living.

On the point of troop conduct, Miller said that white soldiers at times behaved reprehensibly "but for generations to come, the German people will remember what undisciplined, uncontrolled Negro troops have done to them."

He said that "because of the political situation in this country no one dared touch" the problem of disciplining Negro troops properly.

"It is my considered judgment," said Miller, "that the German troops occupying France had a better record in their personal contact with the population than the American troops occupying Germany."

General Clay appeared on November 18 and was asked whether he has seen the statement by Miller. He replied:

"I have not seen the full statement, but many of the matters which he talked about in his statement in that part which I had seen had been under investigation in Berlin for some time."

Clay testified that he could turn over military government to a civilian agency immediately if told to, but that this is a matter of timing. He said two-thirds of his executive personnel is now civilian.

At another place, Clay remarked that "we can't democratize any country with men in uniform."

Soviets Discredit Yanks

Of the Russians, Clay said:

"While we have attempted to refrain from malicious criticism of the Soviet, the Soviet overt press and the German press in the Soviet zone utilizes every opportunity to criticise and discredit not only American but British military government."

He said that when an American officer is convicted of law violation, the Russian press plays it up "to the fullest extent possible."

Clay said he preferred a congressional inspection to an investigation, explaining:

"An inspection x x x may not imply a possible lack of confidence which an investigation manifestly does imply." He added:

"We will be very happy to show the operations of our military government in Germany to any members of Congress at any time, and to any other group. That applies as far as I personally am concerned."

Maj. Gen. O. P. Echols, director of the War Department's civil affairs division, told the committee he is "absolutely convinced that we are not going to be able to keep Germany sliced up' into competing zones very long.

In testimony April 5, Echols quoted a saying he reported was current in Germany about the division of the conquered nation into zones: "The Russians have the food, the British and French have the manufacturing and mining facilities, and we have the scenery, the skiing and the yodelers."

And the costs to the United States of administering its part of Germany are problematical, he said—anywhere between $500,000,000 and a billion dollars a year, perhaps.

Imported German Experts Push Research on Rockets

E. Bomar

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—An estimate that German and Austrian scientists have saved the United States more than $750,000,000 in basic research in rockets alone was made today by the War Department in announcing that some 730 additional experts would be brought to this country.

Detailing for the first time the employment of former enemy brain power, an announcement said the scientists had advanced American research in several fields from two to ten years.

Since September, 1945, the number put to work for the United States, principally at Wright Field, Ohio, and White Sands rocket proving ground, in Mexico, has grown to 270. The total is to be increased to about 1,000 as soon as transportation arrangements are completed. Some already have sailed from Bremen.

Others Hired By Russia, Britain

The scientists and technicians include the former chief designer for the Messerschmitt Aircraft Works and the technical director of the Nazis' wartime Peenemunde rocket proving ground on the Baltic. They came to the United States voluntarily.

Others have been hired by Soviet Russia and Great Britain, who have disclosed neither the number nor the work in which they are engaged.

Those coming to this country after being carefully screened for reliability are paid on contract a top of $3,120 in United States currency, plus a $6 daily expense allowance—considerably less than the salaries paid American civil-service workers doing comparable work.

Additional Emoluments

In addition, however, many have been authorized to apply for American citizenship, all can send food packages to relatives at home, and their families are provided living quarters at Landshut, near Munich, Germany. A limited number, too, have been authorized to bring their families from Europe.

Lifting the secrecy in effect for more than a year on "Operation Paper Clip," the War Department last month permitted interviews and photographs of the 86 at Wright Field and 118 at Fort Bliss, Texas, and the near-by White Sands proving ground.

A formal announcement issued as these were released for publication today said:

1. Some are helping design a new high-speed, lightweight Diesel engine intended primarily as a prime mover for light, high-powered locomotives, but adapted to marine and other uses.

2. The men who developed the ribbon parachute are helping improve this device for high-speed landing of cargo and men, and for slowing down aircraft in landing and diving.

3. Others are helping in perfecting heavy-duty equipment of German design for fabrication of light metals. One scientist turned over "invaluable" reports on techniques for aeronautical research.

4. Still others are engaged in developing aircraft wind tunnels, consolidating information on jet propulsion as related to rotary wing design, and on synthetic petroleum production. The latter includes hydrogenation of coal to produce synthetic pretroleum products, carbonization of coal and oil shale, and synthesis of gas by the German "Fischer Tropsch" process.

Rocket Experts First To Arrive

First of the scientists to arrive here were rocket experts, including those who helped develop the Nazis' V-12, whose knowledge and skills were utilized to advance upper atmospheric studies. They were followed by experts in aerodynamics.

Today, the War Department said, the program has developed to a point where many of the scientists can shortly be released to private industry, research laboratories and educational institutions.

Less than a dozen have been returned to Germany. They left because their fields of research became exhausted, desired to return for private reasons or proved unsuitable. Approximately a score voluntarily have renewed their contracts.

Fields Covered By Their Work

The work of the foreign technicians covers the fields of electronics, supersonics, guided missiles and jet propulsion. Others of value to industry include fuels and lubrications, Diesel and turbo-jet engines, optics, synthetics and similarly important phases of applied physics and chemistry.

"Of inestimable value to American industry and science are a large volume of their writings, both publications and private notes, which they have brought with them, along with many valuable pieces of equipment perfected in Germany for technical advancement," the War Department said.

Some At Wright Field

Dayton, Ohio, Dec. 3 (AP)—Representing the Luftwaffe's most agile brains, the group of 88 German aeronautical experts here at Wright Field includes only a few of the Germans now engaged in a continuation in this country of scientific delving halted by Allied victory.

Others, the Army Air Forces said, are working with the Army Engineers, Ordnance, Transportation Corps and with the Navy.

Until now the AAF—like other agencies—kept the closet door slammed shut on this scientific skeleton, fearing reprisals by German terrorists against families of the volunteers, apparently with reason.

Danger Of Reprisals Past

"We know reprisals were planned, but that danger now is virtually past," said Capt. C. H. Barnett, administrator of the Germans' camp near the tall wire fence surrounding Wright Field, center of AAF research and development.

Nazi aviation know-how was on parade before the press at Wright Field—smiling, co-operative technicians, most of whom hope one day to become American citizens. Some of them have been at Wright Field since September, 1945.

There was Dr. Rudolf Hermann, the guided missile man who was a leader in the development of the V-2 rocket.

As To Ocean-Spanning Rocket

"We were five years of peacetime development away from completion of an actual ocean-crossing rocket," he said in an interview, adding that most such weapons were but dreams.

It is entirely possible with the propelling forces now at hand to span the ocean with a 100-ton missile with a 200-ton thrust, he said.

INVENTOR OF V-2 BARES SECRETS OF GERMAN WEAPON

There was Friedrich Doblhoff, young Viennese baron who designed the world's first jet-powered helicopter, a whirling blow-torch with miniature jets at the tips of tubular rotor blades.

Compressed air and fuel are shot through the blades, ignited and expelled at the tips. The 30-year-old scientist explained that comparable performance with much smaller, less expensive machines is possible with jet propulsion.

Dr. Zobel Measures Air Flow

Or, you could talk with Dr. Theodor Wilhelm Zobel, who took a roomful of mirrors and a camera and came up with a means of measuring air flow without disturbing that flow. Termed the interference-Schlieren method for flow examinations, Zobel's arrangement also works with heat.

There were many others: Dr. Alexander Lippisch, who, as chief designer for Messerschmitt Aircraft works, turned out the ME-163 rocket fighter; Ernst Rudolf Eckert, one of the world's foremost thermodynamacists; Doctors Helmut Heinrich and Theodore Knacke, who designed and developed ribbon parachutes, the answer apparently to high-speed ballouts.

May Enter Private Employment

Universities and industries have been clamoring for the services of these men, and one day the Government plans to allow those who show "the proper characteristics" to become citizens and to enter private employment.

"Yes, some of the Germans were members of the Nazi party," said Captain Barnett. "Not active members, for even ward-heelers were ruled out (in bringing scientists to this country). Just passive members, so they could continue their work."

The Germans' work at Wright Field laboratories and as consultants to American industrial plants "probably is saving the United States several hundred million dollars," explained Col. P. F. Helmick, the officer responsible for their technical work.

"In practically all cases, the scientists are eager to give all they know and to hold back nothing," he commented.

FORT BLISS, Tex., Dec. 2—(AP) A titled young German's schoolboy dreams of "going to the moon" inspired studies leading to development of the V-2 rocket.

Partial lifting of a tight curtain of military secrecy brought the disclosure today that the V-2's principal inventor, [illegible]-year-old Baron Wernher von Braun, has been in this country a year as a civilian consultant in the Army Ordnance department's guided missiles research program.

The onetime technical director of Germany's Peenemunde proving ground on the Baltic sea heads a group of 118 of his countrymen—scientists, engineers and technicians—engaged in rocket studies at Fort Bliss and the nearby White Sands, N. M., proving ground.

In the first interview the Army has permitted with von Braun he disclosed.

1. Production of the V-2 was too small at the time to have delayed the Allied invasion of Normandy. It later was stepped up to 900 a month.

2. The Germans had given serious thought to a two-stage missile which was calculated to span the Atlantic with a range of about 3,100 miles, but it never reached the drawing board.

3. One-third of the tests at White Sands have been failures, against five per cent at Peenemunde, largely due to age of the reassembled Nazi rockets and rough handling in shipment to this country.

With facilities available at Peenemunde, von Braun believes he might have put a rocket on the moon in ten years. Smilingly he hazarded that finding means to establish a refuelling station or platform outside the earth's atmosphere "is merely a question of time."

"Man could ride the V-2 now," von Braun said. "The main trouble is how to get him down."

Ludwig Roth, 37-year-old designer-engneer, told newsmen he thought it possible that "in ten to twenty years we may go around the world in rockets."

TRUMAN DRAFTING 'STRONG' MESSAGE

President Plans Overall Report on Nation for Republican Congress.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. — (AP) President Truman today said he will send Congress in January the strongest message of which he is capable.

The President made this assertion when he was asked at a news conference about a statement yesterday by Representative Rankin (D-Miss) predicting a strong message on labor legislation.

His message, Mr. Truman told reporters, will not be confined to the subject of labor but will be an overall report on the State of the Union and of course he will give Congress the strongest message he can.

It will be Mr. Truman's first message to a Congress controlled by Republicans.

The President said he did not know whether the financial part of the message will be combined with the legislative features, as was the case last [illegible]

That decision, he said, is yet to be made.

Budget Undetermined

The size of the budget he will recommend to the new Congress, Mr. Truman continued, has yet to be determined.

Asked whether it might run between 32 and 37 billion dollars, he said it was not possible to say now, adding:

Nobody knows what the budget will be until it is finished.

Mr. Truman also told his news conference:

1. He does not think it necessary to have a congressional investigation of U. S. military government abroad. The Senate War Investigating committee has decided against investigating in Germany, acting strictly on a Democratic majority vote. Republican members have protested, saying it looks as though an effort is being made to hide something.

2. He is willing to turn over the Army's Presidio at San Francisco, subject to congressional approval, to the United Nations if the UN wants it as a headquarters. He added he had no preference.

Silent on Mitchell

The President told questioners that he had not heard of any decision to appoint Senator Mitchell (D-Wash) to the Maritime commission and he knew of no Federal job being lined up for Senator Mead (D-NY). Both were defeated in the September elections.

Mr. Truman was asked about a visit he had Sunday from Prime Minister Jan C. Smuts of South Africa. Describing it as purely social, he replied that it was one of the most interesting he had had since becoming President. Smuts is a grand old man, Mr. Truman added.

There was a question as to whether housing matters would figure in the new liquidation agency being planned to close out wartime controls. Mr. Truman said the government is trying to work out something now.

He hadn't heard of any attempt to apply the "Toledo plan" on labor-management relations on a national scale. This is a cooperative labor-management venture to prevent work interruptions.

Mr. Truman apparently misunderstood a question about naming a new chairman of the Federal Communications commission. He said he would fill it when he finds a man for the job. Later, the White House announced the appointment of Charles Denny, who has been acting chairman.

GARDNER NAMED ENVOY TO LONDON

Washington, Dec. 3 (A. P.).—President Truman named former Gov. O. Max Gardner of North Carolina today to be Ambassador to Great Britain, succeeding W. Averell Harriman.

Mr. Truman said that Gardner, now Under Secretary of the Treasury, will take over his duties in London as soon as he can arrange to do so. He said Gardner's successor in the Treasury Department has not yet been selected.

Gardner, 64 years old last March 22, was born in Shelby, N. C. He was graduated from North Carolina State College and studied law at the University of North Carolina in 1905-07. He became Governor of North Carolina in 1928, serving four years, and in 1933 set up his law office in Washington.

Last February President Truman appointed him to the Treasury post after he had served as chairman of the advisory committee of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. He is a former member of the joint Anglo-American Commission on the Palestine problem.

Woman's Design Chosen For Admiral King Medal

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—Victor over six competing male artists, Miss Brenda Putnam, New York city sculptor, today won an award of $1,500 for designing a gold medal to be presented to Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King.

The medal was authorized by Congress last March 22 and is to be presented to Admiral King on behalf of the nation for his services as commander-in-chief of the United States fleet and Chief of Naval Operations during the war.

The five-member jury which made the award is to meet later this week to judge designs for a similar medal to be presented to General of the Army George C. Marshal. Army Chief of Staff during the war. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, director of the mint, is one of the jurors.

Another Diplomatic Dinner At White House

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—The President and Mrs. Truman were hosts tonight to the second of two diplomatic dinners made necessary by the increased number of countries maintaining missions here. The corps has outgrown the state dining room in the White House.

To the first dinner last Tuesday—and the first diplomatic dinner since 1939—was invited the dean of the corps, Ambassador Carlos Martins, of Brazil, and the remaining odd numbers—3, 5, 7, and so on—on the diplomatic list. This list is ranked by the State Department according to length of service in this country.

To the second dinner were invited the even numbers, and the country whose representative has served second longest in the United States is Spain. But Spanish Ambassador Gardenas is out of the country, and in his absence the honor of ranking diplomat went to Uruguay's Ambassador, Dr. Juan Carlos Blanco.

EXPORTS IN SHARP DROP

Decline for September Blamed on Maritime Strikes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Census Bureau reported today that exports to practically all countries declined sharply during September, principally because of maritime strikes. Imports were affected much less.

September exports to European countries were $234,000,000, down $120,000,000 from August. Except for a $30,000,000 decline in UNRRA exports to Russia, reductions occurred mainly in shipments by private enterprises, the report said.

Exports to Latin America dropped $62,000,000 from August to $137,000,000 for September.

Exports to Canada declined only slightly, while those to Mexico increased $1,600,000 to a total of $45,000,000.

Army Air Forces Issues Special Call

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Army Air Forces today issued a call for reserve officers specializing in communications, weather, design and development, and procurement to apply for appointments in the regular army.

The AAF said officer personnel in these categories is "critically short."

Niemoeller, Wife Arrive In U.S.

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, who spent eight years in Nazi concentration camps because of his opposition to Hitler, arrived here today by plane from Berlin, accompanied by his wife, Else Bremer Niemoeller.

Pastor Niemoeller, head of the church foreign office of the Evangelical Church in Germany and a member of the provisional committee of the World Council of Churches, is scheduled to address the biennial meeting of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America at Seattle tomorrow.

The pastor said this was his first visit to the United States and that he and his wife hoped to renew acquaintances with American churchmen who had visited Germany.

Two Troopships Due At N.Y.

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—The transports Henry Gibbins from Bremerhaven with 150 war brides and children and 80 troops and the Wilson Victory from Leghorn with 1,149 troops, both due here, are the only troopships scheduled to arrive in the United States today.

WYATT REPORTED READY TO RESIGN

Housing Expediter Irked Over Failure to Get Powers He Demands.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — (AP) An official in close touch with the White House said tonight that Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt intends to resign within the next 48 hours as a result of failure to get powers he had demanded from President Truman.

Wyatt visited the President this afternoon for the second time this week seeking an answer to his proposals. After [illegible] no official statement was forthcoming from the White House and Wyatt declined to say whether or not he intended to resign.

This official, who asked that he be not identified by name, said Wyatt had refused to accept a compromise in his demands for fuller authority to push the housing program.

The White House earlier, however, had indicated that the issue was not settled finally. This raised some speculation that a change of mind might head off a Wyatt resignation.

"The matter still is being worked on," Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, told newsmen after the meeting between Wyatt and the President.

He said there would be "no statement from the President or from Mr. Wyatt."

There already had been reports that Wyatt planned to quit if the White House did not accede to his demand for power to override other government agencies with which he has been in conflict over some phases of the housing program.

Notable among those conflicts has been the one with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation over loans for prefabricated housing producers. One of the main things he wanted was authority to direct the RFC to make the loans.

World Control of Resale Of Atom Energy Opposed

Hinshaw Plans Bill to Clarify Law on Rate-Fixing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP).—Representative Carl Hinshaw, Republican, California, said today that he will introduce legislation to "clarify a general term in the atomic energy act which might be harmful to the interests of the United States."

Representative Hinshaw objected to a provision in section 8 of the act which directs the atomic energy commission to give "maximum effect" to the policies contained in any international agreement.

He suggested, for example, that by international agreement an international commission might be given authority to determine rates for the sale of power generated from atomic energy.

"The question of rates is one of vital concern in the industrial development of the west," Representative Hinshaw told a reporter. "Giving international rate authority to an international commission might be giving it the power to determine where certain industries, such as aluminum production, might be located.

"I am not willing that the United States representatives on the atomic energy commission give 'maximum effect' to any agreement that would tend to favor one section of the country against another, or one part of the world against another."

The term "maximum effect," he said, should be removed from the act or at least clarified "in the interest of protection to the United States."

He suggested also that "some consideration" should be given to revising subsection D of section 7 of the act giving the atomic energy commission the right to control the resale prices of by-product power. "That," he said, "would evade the right of any state utility commission to control rates for electricity produced from atomic energy."

'Caretaker' Status For Coast Defense

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—The nation's fixed coastal artillery defenses, historically the final line to repel invasion and naval bombardment, are being stripped down to a bare "caretaker" status, army officials said today.

The changed style of warfare is primarily responsible for the move, although demobilization and economy presumably play some part in the decision.

The usual funds for manning and supplying harbor defenses do not appear in the military budget now being prepared, the officials pointed out.

DAY

Listed Under "Caretaking"

They explained that the item to cover this field is now listed under "caretaking" operations, which means that forces only sufficient to keep installations from falling into disrepair will be assigned to the harbor defenses.

The advent of air bombardment, in the opinion of many military authorities, doomed fixed coast artillery as a defense against seaborne attack.

Coast-defense strategy, they say, now places heavy reliance on highly mobile weapons, including anti-aircraft, in much greater depth than contemplated originally.

Still Have High Value

Coast-artillery experts contend, however, that the fixed installations still have high defense value, pointing out that one casemented 16-inch gun battery can fire twelve tons of projectiles every five minutes.

In addition, coastal artillery customarily includes 8 and 6 inch guns, 155-millimeter "Long Toms" and 90-millimeter dual-purpose guns.

Underwater defense mines, many of which are remotely controlled and fired, are also coast artillery weapons.

RFC Approves 3 Loans For Housing

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation increased its total of prefabricated housing loans above $4,000,000 today and reopened two more applications totaling $26,000,000, but a National Housing Administration spokesman said the Government money actually in sight would permit only a fraction of planned production.

DAY

Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt, his plans unaffected by the new RFC loan action, arranged a conference late today with President Truman to make his second bid in a week for stronger authority. One thing he wants is power to direct the RFC to make loans.

Comparison Is Made

Housing officials compared the $4,000,000 in loan approvals with what they described as turndowns from the RFC on applications for some $60,000,000. They said the approved borrowers had plans for less than 20,000 homes while the unsuccessful applicants had planned 79,325 prefabricated units.

The agency's original 1946 prefabricated housing goal was 250,000 units, while 1947 plans called for 600,000.

New loans reported by the RFC today were:

Clements Corporation, Southport, Conn., $1,100,000 for 2,500 units.

Laminated Wood Products, Chicago, $130,000 for production of a new type of flooring.

New-Type Wall Material

Interlocking Walls Corporation, Los Angeles, $69,000 for a new type wall material for 1,000 homes.

The reopened cases were those of Andrew J. Higgins, Inc., of New Orleans, seeking $11,000,000; and Reliance Houses, Inc., Lester, Pa., $15,000,000.

In addition, the RFC listed these applications as pending, without any decision one way or the other:

Timber Fabricators, Inc., Shamrock, Fla., $850,000.

Crawford & Co., Baton Rouge, La., $850,000.

Vacuum Concrete Corporation, Philadelphia, $500,000.

Western Gypsum, Inc., Sigurd, Utah, $800,000.

In the category of applications turned down outright without any present plans for reconstruction, the RFC put those of General Houses, Inc., of Columbus, Ohio, for $2,000,000, and the Lustron Corporation, of Chicago, $52,000,000.

MADRID, DEC. 3-(AP)-THE TEXT OF A NOTE HANDED TO U.S. CHARGE D'AFFAIRES PHILIP W.BONSAL BY THE SPANISH FOREIGN MINISTRY (ABOUT 700):

1. THE SPANISH GOVERNMENT EXPRESSES REGRET TO THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES OVER THE TERMS OF THE MOTION PRESENTED BY THE AMERICAN DELEGATION, BEFORE THE POLITICAL AND SECURITY COMMITTEE OF THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY, WHICH CONTAINED TOTALLY ERRONEOUS JUDGEMENTS ON THE SPANISH PEOPLE AND THEIR GOVERNMENT WHICH OFFEND THE SPANISH NATION. with LAKE Success (UN-Spain)

2. (A) THE SPANISH PEOPLE REJECT THE LABEL OF FASCISM WITH WHICH THE SAID MOTION STRIKE AT THEM, SINCE THEIR REGIME RESPECTS THE FUNDAMENTAL LIBERTIES OF THE HUMAN PERSON AND IN IT THE EXERCISE OF AUTHORITY FINDS ITSELF ADJUSTED TO THE NORMS OF RIGHT.

(B) THE SPANISH PEOPLE KNOW THAT THE REGIME ESTABLISHED JULY 18, 1936, WAS NOT IMPOSED ON THEM BY FORCE. THE REGIME WAS WON BY THE PEOPLE WITH THEIR OWN EFFORTS AND AT THE PRICE OF THEIR BLOOD IN A FIGHT AGAINST COMMUNIST TYRANNY THAT HAD TAKEN OVER THE COUNTRY AND SUBJUGATED IT THROUGH TERROR AND CRIME. THE PROOF OF ITS LEGITIMACY IS THE FACT THAT ALL NATIONS OF THE WORLD EXCEPT MEXICO AND RUSSIA, AND INCLUDING THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, RECOGNIZED THE NATIONAL REGIME AS SOON AS THE CIVIL WAR ENDED, AND FOR A PERIOD OF SEVEN YEARS HAVE MAINTAINED NORMAL DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH THE SAME.

(C) THE SPANISH PEOPLE DENY THAT THEIR REGIME OWES ITS EXISTENCE TO AID FROM AXIS COUNTRIES. THE PRESENCE OF FOREIGN VOLUNTEERS IN

NATIONAL RANKS CONSTITUTED UNDER TWO PERCENT OF ITS FORCES AS IS SHOWN BY STATISTICS AND DOCUMENTATION OF THE CAMPAIGN. THIS VOLUNTEERING MOREOVER WAS NOT PERMITTED IN THE NATIONAL ARMY UNTIL THE ARRIVAL OF COMMUNIST "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADES" IN THE RANKS OF THE RED ARMY WAS ESTABLISHED.

(D) THE SPANISH PEOPLE DO NOT ADMIT THE AFFIRMATION THAT THEIR REGIME DOES NOT REPRESENT THEM SINCE FOR 10 YEARS THE SPANISH NATION HAS GIVEN CLEAR AND ENTHUSIASTIC PROOFS NOT ONLY OF ITS CONSENT BUT ALSO OF ITS SUPPORT OF THE GOVERNMENT AND IS DEMONSTRATING LOYALTY DESPITE FOMENTATION TO REBELLION FROM ABROAD AND DESPITE MACHINATIONS AGAINST ITS PEACE AND SECURITY FROM THE OTHER SIDE OF THE PYRENEES.

(E) THE SPANISH PEOPLE DENY THAT THE REGIME HINDERS PARTICIPATION OF SPAIN IN THE UNITED NATIONS IF THIS SOCIETY RESPECTS AS IT SHOULD THE PRINCIPLE OF SOVEREIGNTY AND INDEPENDENCE OF PEOPLES. THERE IS NO NATION WITH SUCH A BACKGROUND TO CONTRIBUTE TO THE WORK OF PEACE AS THE SPANISH NATION WHICH OVER ITS 100 YEAR INTERNATIONAL TRADITION HAD BEEN ABLE IN SPITE OF DIFFICULTIES TO REMAIN NEUTRAL IN TWO WORLD CONFLAGRATIONS IN THIS CENTURY, AND IN THE LAST THANKS PRECISELY TO THE GOVERNMENT WHICH RULES TODAY.

(F) THE SPANISH PEOPLE REJECTS THE IMPUTATION THAT THEIR GOVERNMENT DOES NOT RESPECT INDIVIDUAL LIBERTIES. IN SPAIN THE FUNDAMENTAL LIBERTIES OF THE HUMAN PERSON ARE DEFINED, RESPECTED AND PROTECTED: PERSONAL SECURITY; SECURITY OF THE TRUE RELIGION; SECURITY OF EDUCATION AND TEACHING; SECURITY OF WORK X X X AND AS FOR POLITICAL LIBERTIES, THOSE THAT THE REGIME RECOGNIZES ARE MUCH MORE SINCERE AND ARE FAR ABOVE THOSE FEIGNED DEMOCRATIC DECLARATIONS OF SOME COUNTRIES THAT CARRY THE INITIATIVE IN THE ACCUSATION.

(G) THE SPANISH PEOPLE REPELS WITH ENERGY THE MEDDLING IN THEIR INTERNAL AFFAIRS: THE ATTACKING FROM ABROAD OF THEIR INSTITUTIONS; THE AGITATION TO SUBVERSION AND TO REVOLT; AND THE DICTATING TO THEM FROM ABROAD OF THE ROAD THEY SHOULD FOLLOW.

3. AS A CONSEQUENCE, THE SPANISH GOVERNMENT ACTIVELY DEPLORES THAT THE UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE IN THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY, DOUBTLESS THROUGH LACK OF INFORMATION OR PERHAPS BY CONCESSION TO CIRCUMSTANCES, HAS IN SPAIN'S ABSENCE EXPRESSED HIMSELF IN TERMS WHICH, ALTHOUGH THEY WILL NOT PRODUCE ANY POSITIVE EFFECT, OFFEND THE SPANISH NATION BY THEIR INJUSTICE."

NIGHT LEAD FOREIGN MINISTERS (770)

BY ALEX H.SINGLETON

NEW YORK, DEC.3-(AP)-SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F.BYRNES SAID TODAY THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD PRESS FOR AN IMMEDIATE START ON AN AUSTRIAN SETTLEMENT, SEEK A DEFINITE AND BASIC PLAN FOR A PEACE CONFERENCE EARLY NEXT YEAR ON GERMANY AND BACK THE SMALL NATIONS IN THEIR PLEA FOR A VOICE IN THE FINAL GERMAN ACCOUNTING.

HIS DISCLOSURES CAME AS HE AND BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN, AT SEPARATE PRESS CONFERENCES, UNFOLDED DETAILS OF AN UNPRECEDENTED PLAN FOR AN ANGLO-AMERICAN ECONOMIC PARTNERSHIP IN THEIR ZONES OF OCCUPATION IN GERMANY.

IN A JOVIAL MOOD, SHOWING BUT SCANT SIGNS OF HIS ARDUOUS DIPLOMATIC

DIFFICULTIES, BYRNES EXPRESSED HIS CONVICTION THAT THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS HAD SURMOUNTED THE MAJOR DIFFICULTIES IN DRAFTING PEACE PACTS FOR ITALY, THE BALKAN STATES AND FINLAND. HE EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT THEY WILL BE COMPLETED THIS WEEK.

THE PRESS CONFERENCE WAS CALLED PRIMARILY TO EXPLAIN THE ECONOMIC MERGER IN GERMANY--A MOVE AIMED AT MAKING THE AREA UNDER THE CONTROL OF BRITAIN AND THIS COUNTRY SELF SUSTAINING BY THE END OF A THREE YEAR PERIOD. THE TWO COUNTRIES WILL DIVIDE THE ESTIMATED COST OF $1,000,000,000 ON A 50-50 BASIS. BUT BYRNES, IN HIS FIRST MEETING WITH THE PRESS SINCE THE COUNCIL SESSIONS BEGAN, SWITCHED UNDER QUESTIONING TO MAKE THESE POINTS:

1. THE UNITED STATES WILL ASK THE DIPLOMATIC CHIEFS OF THE FOUR POWERS TO TAKE UP THE QUESTION OF A SETTLEMENT FOR AUSTRIA BEFORE ADJOURNING THEIR NEW YORK SESSIONS. BYRNES DID NOT EXPRESS AN OPINION ON THE DOUBTFUL CHANCE THE DISCUSSION COULD BE COMPLETED NOW. THE TARGET FOR THE TALKS PROBABLY WOULD BE AN AGREEMENT ON WITHDRAWAL OF RUSSIAN AND OTHER OCCUPATION TROOPS. AUSTRIA IS CONSIDERED AN ALLIED ASSOCIATE RATHER THAN AN EX-ENEMY COUNTRY.

2. BYRNES WILL RAISE--PERHAPS LATE THIS WEEK--THE GERMAN QUESTIONS OF FRONTIERS, FORMULATION OF AN AGENDA FOR A CONFERENCE NEXT YEAR LISTING ABOUT SEVEN MAJOR ISSUES, AND APPOINTMENT OF DEPUTIES TO DO THE SPADEWORK ON THESE ISSUES BEFORE THE START OF THE FORMAL CONFERENCE. IN THE ABSENCE OF PRESIDENT-PREMIER BIDAULT OF FRANCE, THERE SEEMED LITTLE LIKELIHOOD THAT THE COUNCIL WOULD BE ABLE TO REACH A HARD-AND-FAST AGREEMENT ON BOUNDARIES.

3. THIS COUNTRY WILL SUPPORT THE PLEAS OF THE SMALL NATIONS FOR A HEARING BEFORE THE GERMAN PEACE TREATY IS DRAFTED. THUS FAR FIVE COUNTRIES--BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS, LUXEMBOURG, POLAND AND CZECHOSLOVAKIA--HAVE ASKED TO BE HEARD. WHETHER THEY WILL BE ALLOWED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE DECISIONS THEMSELVES REMAINED UNCERTAIN.

BYRNES, MEANWHILE, MADE IT CLEAR THAT HE WAS NOT BUDGING, DESPITE RUSSIAN PRESSURE, FROM HIS OPPOSITION TO EXTRACTING ALLIED REPARATIONS FROM GERMANY'S CURRENT PRODUCTION.

HIS STAND-PAT ATTITUDE ON THIS ISSUE WAS IN LINE WITH THE UNDERLYING PLAN OF THE BRITISH-AMERICAN ECONOMIC MERGER--FIRST ORDERED AT THE POTSDAM CONFERENCE AND CREATED BILATERALLY ONLY AFTER RUSSIA AND FRANCE TURNED DOWN A UNITED STATES BID TO MAKE IT APPLY TO ALL FOUR OCCUPATION ZONES.

TERMS OF THE MERGER, EFFECTIVE JAN 1, WERE SPELLED OUT IN A JOINT BEVIN-BYRNES PRESS RELEASE. BYRNES ELABORATED ON THEM WITH THE HELP OF LT.GEN.LUCIUS CLAY, DEPUTY AMERICAN OCCUPATION CHIEF IN GERMANY. BEVIN, SIMULTANEOUSLY, CALLED IN BRITISH NEWSMEN FOR A SIMILAR BRIEFING. LATER IN THE DAY, BYRNES AND BEVIN MET PRIVATELY.

"BY THIS PROGRAM," DECLARED THEIR JOINT ANNOUNCEMENT, "IT IS EXPECTED NOT ONLY TO DECREASE THE COSTS OF OCCUPATION FOR THE AREA BUT ALSO TO MAKE POSSIBLE THE GRADUAL RESTORATION OF A HEALTHY NON-AGGRESSIVE GERMAN ECONOMY WHICH WILL CONTRIBUTE MATERIALLY TO THE ECONOMIC STABILITY OF EUROPE."

A203

ITS MAJOR TERMS INCLUDE:

1. POOLING OF RESOURCES OF THE TWO AREAS WITH THE DOUBLE OBJECTIVE OF RAISING THE STANDARD OF LIVING AND INCREASING EXPORTS TO THE POINT WHERE GERMANY CAN FOOT HER OWN BILLS.

2. RELAXATION OF GERMAN TRADE BARRIERS "AS RAPIDLY AS WORLD CONDITIONS PERMIT" TOGETHER WITH ESTABLISHMENT OF AN EXCHANGE VALUE FOR THE GERMAN MARK--NOW WORTH IN TERMS OF SERVICE ABOUT 27 CENTS.

3. SUPPORT OF A RATION INCREASE TO 1,800 CALORIES TO THE EXTENT THAT FUNDS PERMIT. THE PRESENT LEVEL IS ABOUT 1,550 CALORIES A DAY.

THE PLAN WILL DIVIDE THE AREA'S IMPORTS INTO TWO CLASSIFICATIONS--THOSE NECESSARY TO PREVENT DISEASE AND UNREST, AND THOSE TO BE DESIGNED TO REBUILD GERMANY'S PEACETIME ECONOMY.

CLAY SAID THE ESTIMATED $1,000,000,000 COST WILL BE CHARGED TO GERMANY FOR ULTIMATE COLLECTION. BYRNES, IN RESPONSE TO A QUESTION, EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT IT WOULD BE UNNECESSARY TO SEEK A DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATION FROM CONGRESS TO GET THE PROGRAM UNDERWAY.

£3 ?-'3$ THIS OPINION ON A FV

DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATION FROM CONGRESS TO GET THE PROGRAM UNDERWAY.

HE BASED THIS OPINION ON A FINANCIAL PLAN TO BUILD UP AN INITIAL OPERATING FUND OF APPROXIMATELY $140,000,000, THE MONEY COMING FROM BRITISH AND AMERICAN LOANS, CURRENT EXPORTS FROM THE UNITED STATES ZONE AND GERMAN FUNDS IN SWEDEN.

BYRNES SAID THE PLAJOM

DE BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STA 1946

BYRNES SAID THE PLAN MADE BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES PARTNERS IN A JOINT ENTERPRISE, BUT HE REFUSED FLATLY TO SPECULATE ON ITS POLITICAL IMPLICATIONS. HE SAID THAT HE HAD NOT PRESSED AT THE PRESENT COUNCIL SESSION HIS REQUEST THAT FRANCE AND RUSSIA PARTICIPATE, BUT EXPRESSED HOPE THAT ULTIMATELY THEY WOULD DO SO.

IN RESPONSE TO QUESTIONS, CLAY AND BYRNES DENIED THAT THE POOLING PLAN WOULD RESULT IN SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTION OF COAL EXPORTS FROM THE PRESENT BRITISH ZONE TO FRANCE AND OTHER LIBERATED COUNTRIES. CLAY SAID THAT COAL PRODUCTION HAD INCREASED IN THE PAST MONTH.

"ANY CHANCE OF EXPORTING SOME OF THAT COAL TO US, SAY IN ABOUT SIX WEEKS TIME?" A REPORTER INQUIRED.

BYRNES SIDESTEPPED THAT ONE WITH A SMILE.

NEW YORK, DEC 3-(AP)-THE BIG FOUR COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS REJECTED TONIGHT A PARIS CONFERENCE RECOMMENDATION TO GIVE THE WORLD COURT AUTHORITY TO SETTLE FUTURE DISPUTES CONCERNING THE PEACE PACTS FOR THE AXIS SATELLITES.

INSTEAD, PERSONS PRESENT AT THE DELIBERATIONS SAID, THE COUNCIL DECIDED TO HANDLE SUCH CONTROVERSIES THROUGH SPECIAL THREE-MEMBER BOARDS.

ON THESE BOARDS WOULD SIT A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE FORMER SATELLITE, THE ALLIED GOVERNMENT CONCERNED AND A THIRD ARBITER NAMED BY THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

THE DECISION CAME AS THE CHIEF ACTION IN A FOUR-HOUR SESSION DURING WHICH THE DIPLOMATIC CHIEFS OF BRITAIN, FRANCE, RUSSIA AND THE UNITED STATES BOGGED DOWN ON A NUMBER OF MINOR POINTS, MOST OF THEM INVOLVING ECONOMIC QUESTIONS IN FINAL SETTLEMENT OF TERMS FOR ITALY, THE BALKAN STATES AND FINLAND.

RUSSIA, HOWEVER, YIELDED IN ITS EFFORT TO OBTAIN FOR BULGARIA AND HUNGARY SPECIAL GUARANTEES FOR RECOVERY OF WAR-SEIZED PROPERTY IN ALLIED COUNTRIES. THOSE TWO BALKAN STATES WILL BE TREATED LIKE OTHER ENEMY POWERS IN SUCH CASES.

WITHOUT SUCCESS, U.S.SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES SOUGHT A COMPROMISE ON THE PAYMENT OF RUMANIAN REPARATIONS, AN ISSUE CENTERING CHIEFLY AROUND USE OF OIL PROPERTY FOR THAT PURPOSE. THE QUESTION WAS POSTPONED TEMPORARILY.

NOR WAS THERE ANY DECISION IN A COUNCIL CONTROVERSY OVER WHETHER THE SATELLITES WILL BE PERMITTED USE OF MOTOR TORPEDO BOATS. BYRNES, OPPOSING THE PROPOSAL, COMMENTED TERSELY THAT A SMALL FELLOW WITH A BIG GUN CAN KILL YOU JUST AS QUICKLY AS A BIG FELLOW WITH A BIG GUN.

OTHERWISE, THE PROPOSAL WAS SUMMED UP AS ONE WHICH WOULD BRING THE PROPOSED YUGOSLAV-ITALIAN BORDER AS LAID DOWN BY BELGRADE CONSIDERABLY CLOSER TO THE SO-CALLED FRENCH LINE, WITH CERTAIN CORRECTIONS IN HALF A DOZEN SPOTS WHICH YUGOSLAV DID NOT IDENTIFY. THE WESTERN POWERS HAVE REPEATEDLY STATED THAT THEY WOULD NOT ACCEPT FOR ITALY ANY BORDER LYING WEST OF THE FRENCH LINE, SO THAT THE YUGOSLAV PROPOSAL WOULD APPEAR TO BE STILL SHORT OF THEIR MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS.

LONDON, DEC 3-(AP)-A COMMUNIST NEWSPAPER'S ALLEGATION THAT BRITAIN WAS "ABOUT TO ENTER" A 10-YEAR MILITARY PACT WITH THE UNITED STATES APPEARED LIKELY TO GET AN AIRING TODAY AS THE HOUSE OF COMMONS MET TO CONSIDER AN OFFICIAL REPORT ON PLANS FOR THE ECONOMIC MERGER OF THE TWO COUNTRIES' GERMAN OCCUPATION ZONES.

"AMAZED AND ANGRY LABOR MP'S ARE DEMANDING AN EXPLANATION," THE COMMUNIST DAILY WORKER SAID OF ITS STORY YESTERDAY THAT NEGOTIATIONS WERE NEAR COMPLETION FOR MUCH BROADER COOPERATION THAN THAT CONTEMPLATED IN GERMANY.

THIS REFERENCE, WHICH WAS NOT SPECIFIC, APPARENTLY WAS TO LABOR MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT KNOWN AS SOVIET SYMPATHIZERS--"CRYPTO-COMMUNISTS," FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN CALLS THEM--WHO MIGHT BE EXPECTED TO RAISE THE POINT AS A BACK-BENCH QUESTION.

THE WORKER'S ORIGINAL STORY SAID THAT BRITISH AND U.S. CHIEFS OF STAFF HAD AGREED ON VIRTUAL MERGER OF THE RESPECTIVE LAND, SEA AND AIR FORCES AND THAT BY AGREEMENT THE U.S. WOULD SUPPLY THE ARMS AND BRITAIN THE MEN IN ANY HOSTILITIES.

THE U.S. EMBASSY COMMENTED, "IT'S ALL NEWS TO US."

THE WAR OFFICE, TAKING NOTE OF THE WORKER'S CLAIM OF OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION FOR THE STORY, SAID YESTERDAY:

"IN VIEW OF A REPORT IN A MORNING NEWSPAPER, THE WAR OFFICE DENIES THAT ANY OFFICIAL STATEMENT HAS BEEN MADE CONCERNING A MILITARY PACT BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES."

IN PUBLISHING THIS DENIAL, THE PRESS FOR THE MOST PART WITHHELD COMMENT. HOWEVER, THE LIBERAL NEWS CHRONICLE TERMED THE STATEMENT "CURIOUS" AND SAID:

"THE WAR DEPARTMENT YESTERDAY CONTRIVED TO CONVINCE A GOOD MANY PEOPLE THAT A STORY IT WAS APPARENTLY ANXIOUS TO DENY WAS IN FACT TRUE."

THE CONSERVATIVE TELEGRAPH FRONT-PAGED A WASHINGTON DISPATCH QUOTING WAR AND STATE DEPARTMENT DENIALS AND NOTING THAT THE COMBINED CHIEFS OF STAFF IN WASHINGTON WERE TO OPERATE "UNTIL PRESIDENT TRUMAN OFFICIALLY DECLARES THE WAR OVER."

THE DAILY WORKER INCLUDED IN ITS STORY OF THE CASE TODAY A PART OF AN ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH FROM LONDON OCT.30, SAYING AUTHORITATIVE BRITISH MILITARY SOURCES SAID THAT BRITISH EMPIRE AND AMERICAN POLITICAL AND MILITARY CHIEFS HAD AGREED IN PRINCIPLE TO STANDARDIZE LAND, AIR AND NAVAL WEAPONS AND MUNITIONS TO FIXED U.S. SIZES AND PATTERNS.

THE SOURCES DECLARED THAT DEFENSE MINISTER-DESIGNATE A.V. ALEXANDER WOULD GIVE THE DECISION PRACTICAL EFFECT AS SOON AS HE TOOK OFFICE, THE DAILY WORKER FURTHER QUOTED. ASKED WHETHER SUCH AN AGREEMENT IMPLIED THE CONCLUSION OF A FORMAL MILITARY ALLIANCE BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES, AN ARMY SOURCE SAID "NO, BUT IT DOES MEAN A DELIBERATE DECISION FROM THE BRITISH SIDE TO SETTLE ANY DISPUTES THAT MIGHT ARISE IN THE FUTURE BY DISCUSSION."

"'AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES' IS AN ACCEPTED INDICATION TO THE READER THAT THIS WAS AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT FROM THE WAR OFFICE, "THE COMMUNIST ORGAN STATED.

IN AN ACCOMPANYING EDITORIAL IT SAID "GUIDANCE FROM WHITEHALL SOURCES IS ABUNDANTLY CLEAR" IN THE ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH, ADDING:

LONDON, DEC 3-(AP)-INDIA'S POLITICAL LEADERS AND BRITAIN'S VICEROY LORD WAVELL PLUNGED TODAY INTO A HURRIED ROUND OF CABINET-LEVEL CONFERENCES AS TIME RAN SHORT FOR PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE'S ELEVENTH HOUR EFFORT TO SMOOTH THE SUB-CONTINENT'S PATHWAY TO INDEPENDENCE.

WAVELL, TIRED AND WORN LOOKING AFTER A TWO-DAY PLANE TRIP FROM KARACHI, WAS FIRST TO SEE ATTLEE AND HIS THREE CABINET EXPERTS ON INDIA.

HE WENT INTO A CLOSED SESSION AT NO.10 DOWNING STREET TWO HOURS AND A HALF AFTER ARRIVAL OF THE PLANE THAT CARRIED HIM, PANDIT JAWAHARLAL NEHRU OF THE ALL-INDIA CONGRESS PARTY; MAHOMED ALI JINNAH OF THE MOSLEM LEAGUE; AND SARDAR BALDEV SINGH OF THE SIKHS FROM INDIA TO ENGLAND.

THE LEADERS OF THE RIVAL INDIAN GROUPS RESTED AT THEIR HOTELS BEFORE BEGINNING THEIR SEPARATE TALKS THIS AFTERNOON.

AIDING ATTLEE IN THE TALKS WERE LORD PETHICK-LAWRENCE, INDIA SECRETARY; SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE; AND DEFENSE MINISTER-DESIGNATE A. V. ALEXANDER. THESE THREE NEGOTIATED THE INDIA INDEPENDENCE PLAN IN A PROTRACTED SERIES OF CONFERENCES IN INDIA LAST SUMMER.

THE BRITISH LEADERS WERE SEEKING TO PERSUADE THE INDIAN LEADERS THAT THEIR FACTIONS SHOULD COOPERATE PEACEFULLY IN THE FIRST MEETING OF THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY SCHEDULED TO OPEN AT NEW DELHI DEC.9. BECAUSE NEHRU HAS ATTLEE'S PROMISE THAT HE WILL BE GIVEN FACILITIES TO RETURN TO INDIA THIS WEEKEND, THE BRITISH EFFORT MUST BE COMPLETED BEFORE SATURDAY.

AN INDIA OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID, AS THE SESSIONS STARTED TODAY, THAT THE TALKS WERE "CRUCIAL." OTHER AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES HAVE SAID THAT FAILURE TO SETTLE THE DIFFERENCES MIGHT BE FOLLOWED BY CIVIL WAR IN INDIA.

NEHRU WAS NEXT ON SCHEDULE TO SEE ATTLEE AND WHILE THEY TALK, JINNAH WILL CONFER WITH LORD PETHICK-LAWRENCE. BALDEV SINGH WILL SEE ATTLEE WHILE PETHICK-LAWRENCE INTERVIEWS NEHRU. JINNAH, WHOSE MOSLEM LEAGUE HAS REFUSED TO JOIN THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY, WILL HAVE HIS INTERVIEW WITH ATTLEE TOMORROW.

THE ATTLEE-JINNAH TALK MIGHT WELL BE THE KEY TO THE ENTIRE CONFERENCE.

IT WILL BE FOLLOWED BY A FORMAL ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE OF ALL THE INDIANS AND ALL THE BRITISH NEGOTIATORS. AN INDIA OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID THE BRITISH HOPED JINNAH WOULD WITHDRAW FROM HIS ASSEMBLY BOYCOTT WHILE NEHRU WOULD ADOPT "A MORE ACCOMODATING" LINE.

WASHINGTON, DEC 3-(AP)-ACTING SECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON TODAY STRONGLY URGED OPPOSING INDIAN POLITICAL FACTIONS TO SETTLE THEIR DIFFERENCES DURING CURRENT TALKS WITH THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

"I FEEL MOST STRONGLY IT WILL BE IN THE INTEREST OF INDIA AS WELL AS THAT OF ALL THE WORLD, FOR ITS LEADERS TO GRASP THIS OPPORTUNITY TO ESTABLISH A STABLE AND PEACEFUL INDIA," ACHESON SAID AT A NEWS CONFERENCE.

FO/0 2dN (India)

THE ACTING SECRETARY SAID THE UNITED STATES "AWAITS WITH DEEP CONCERN" THE OUTCOME OF CURRENT LONDON TALKS BETWEEN HINDU AND MOSLEM LEADERS.

"I AM CONFIDENT THAT IF THE INDIAN LEADERS SHOW THE MAGNANIMOUS SPIRIT THE OCCASION DEMANDS THEY CAN GO FORWARD TOGETHER ON THE BASIS OF THE CLEAR PROVISIONS ON THIS POINT CONTAINED IN THE CONSTITUTIONAL PLAN PROPOSED BY THE BRITISH CABINET MISSION LAST SPRING, HE SAID.

ACHESON ADDED THE PLAN WAS INTENDED "TO FORCE AN INDIAN FEDERAL UNION IN WHICH ALL ELEMENTS OF THE POPULATION HAVE AMPLE SCOPE TO ACHIEVE THEIR LEGITIMATE POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC ASPIRATIONS."

ACHESON WAS REFERRING TO THE CONFLICTING INDIAN VIEWPOINTS ON THE CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH CERTAIN PROVINCES COULD JOIN OR REMAIN OUTSIDE FEDERATIONS IN NORTHWEST AND NORTHEAST INDIA.

HE CALLED THIS DIFFERENCE "THE CRUX OF THE INTERNAL PROBLEM NOW CONFRONTING INDIA."

ACHESON RECALLED THAT THE UNITED STATES "HAS LONG TAKEN A SYMPATHETIC INTEREST IN THE PROGRESSIVE REALIZATION OF INDIA'S POLITICAL DESTINY."

THE UNITED STATES HAS EXPRESSED THROUGH ITS RECENT ESTABLISHMENT OF FULL DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH THE PROVISIONAL INDIA GOVERNMENT, HE SAID, "OUR CONFIDENCE IN THE ABILITY OF THE INDIAN LEADERS TO MAKE THE VITAL DECISIONS THAT LIE IMMEDIATELY AHEAD."

HE SUGGESTED, FOR EXAMPLE, THAT BY INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENT AN INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION MIGHT BE GIVEN AUTHORITY TO DETERMINE RATES FOR THE SALE OF POWER GENERATED FROM ATOMIC ENERGY.

"THE QUESTION OF RATES IS ONE OF VITAL CONCERN IN THE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT OF THE WEST," HINSHAW TOLD A REPORTER. "GIVING INTERNATIONAL RATE AUTHORITY TO AN INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION MIGHT BE GIVING IT THE POWER TO DETERMINE WHERE CERTAIN INDUSTRIES, SUCH AS ALUMINUM PRODUCTION, MIGHT BE LOCATED.

"I AM NOT WILLING THAT THE U.S. REPRESENTATIVES ON THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION GIVE 'MAXIMUM EFFECT' TO ANY AGREEMENT THAT WOULD TEND TO FAVOR ONE SECTION OF THE COUNTRY AGAINST ANOTHER, OR ONE PART OF THE WORLD AGAINST ANOTHER."

THE TERM "MAXIMUM EFFECT," HE SAID, SHOULD BE REMOVED FROM THE ACT OR AT LEAST CLARIFIED "IN THE INTEREST OF PROTECTION TO THE UNITED STATES."

HINSHAW ALSO SUGGESTED THAT "SOME CONSIDERATION" SHOULD BE GIVEN TO REVISING SUBSECTION D OF SECTION 7 OF THE ACT GIVING THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION THE RIGHT TO CONTROL THE RESALE PRICES OF BY-PRODUCT POWER.

"THAT," HE SAID, "WOULD EVADE THE RIGHT OF ANY STATE UTILITY COMMISSION TO CONTROL RATES FOR ELECTRICITY PRODUCED FROM ATOMIC ENERGY."

MOLOTOV CLEARS WAY FOR ACTION ON ARMS SLASH

CARPENTER

Agrees to Remove Veto from Efforts in Surprise Compromise Move.

POWERS HAIL STAND

Makes It Clear That Veto Power Is Not Surrendered in Security Council.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 4—(AP) V. M. Molotov, Soviet Russian foreign minister, cleared the way today for a major advance toward world arms limitation by an unequivocal declaration that inspection and control machinery regulating arms restrictions must be free of the big power veto.

Molotov, in an obviously conciliatory statement to the United Nations political committee, also accepted the United States proposal on arms limitation as a basis for discussion at this assembly session.

Speeds Action

The committee, which had been hoping for just such a statement as Molotov made, quickly agreed unanimously on a 20-nation subcommittee to whip into shape an acceptable resolution for action by the assembly.

The Soviet Union did not surrender the veto power in the security council. It still guards that right jealously against all attempts at this assembly session to modify the veto power in that council.

But Russia did make it clear—in answer to repeated proddings last week from Great Britain, Canada and other delegations—that the organizations to be set up within the framework of the security council for the inspection and control of arms limitations would be autonomous and would be clothed with full authority.

This means that inspectors and control officials could act without veto, and presumably would be free to go anywhere in the world on their mission. But these organizations would report to the security council.

The veto power still would rest there but, as Canada's foreign minister, L. S. St. Laurent pointed out, the use of the veto by any power or the refusal of any nation to permit inspection would be tantamount to an open declaration of war against the rest of the world.

Molotov Praised

Canada, Great Britain, the United States and Australia praised Molotov's contribution to the committee's work. St. Laurent said "the people of the world will be grateful to the representative of Russia for his speech of this morning."

Molotov, obtaining the floor as soon as the committee session began, notified the delegates Russia would not insist on its own proposals, but would offer certain amendments to the American plan.

One amendment would provide that the security council "expedite consideration of a draft convention for the prohibition of atomic weapons." A second provides for two control commissions, one for atomic weapons and one for other weapons, "within the framework of the security council."

Gives Russian Stand

Then he turned to the veto in this fashion as the delegates, advisers and a smattering of the general public listened closely:

"There is need to dispel an obvious misunderstanding which has arisen. The Soviet government is in favor of the security council adopting measures to prohibit weapons of mass destruction. Only the principle of unanimity in the council can guarantee the adoption of a reduction of arms. Unanimous action is necessary in adopting regulations on control commissions.

"The question of the principle of unanimity in the Security Council has no relevancy to the work of control. It is wrong to say that any state which has the veto has the power to prevent control and inspection. Any attempt to prevent the implementation of control and inspection would be a violation of the decision of the security council. Talk of the veto can be interpreted as an attempt to evade direct answer to the question of reduction of arms."

Molotov told the committee that the Soviet delegation felt the security council by resolution could take decisions on arms reduction, thus expediting the task.

U. S. Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex), U. S. member of the committee and chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee praised Molotov's declaration but disagreed on the manner of making the reduction effective.

He said the Security Council was charged with "formulating" arms measures for submission to the governments of the United Nations to be ratified in accordance with their constitutional processes. He said that the United States could not undertake any such international arrangement without the consent of the senate.

Paul Hasluck, Australian delegate, said Molotov's statement placed the committee in position to work toward a decision.

Greece Asks Aid

Greece called on the United Nations Security Council today to help settle the explosive situation along her northern frontier, which she charged was due to repeated border violations by Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria.

The case formally came before the U. N. when Greek Ambassador Vassili Dendramis handed Secretary-General Trygve Lie a 40-page complaint outlining alleged incidents and urging that a U. N. commission make an "on-the-spot" investigation.

The document was being translated tonight and prepared for circulation among the 11 security council members.

don't want to go to war over this issue—at least, I don't think you do. Yet when you use economic sanctions, you bring force into play, the forces of hunger and want. Nothing would be more likely to unite the Spanish people behind Franco than the use of force of that character."

At the end of lengthy and sometimes acrimonious debate on procedure, the committee voted 38 to 0 with two abstentions to turn all proposals on Spain over to a subcommittee to draft a resolution for the assembly. Connally and Sir Hartley Shawcross, acting chief British delegate, refused to vote for or against and did not declare themselves as abstaining.

Charges Three Neighbors With Border Violations

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 4 (AP)—Greece called on the United Nations Security Council today to help settle the situation along her northern frontier, which she charged was due to repeated border violations by Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria.

The case formally came before the United Nations when Greek Ambassador Vassili Dendramis handed to Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary-General, a 40-page complaint outlining alleged incidents and urging that a United Nations commission make an "on-the-spot" investigation.

Details Alleged Violations

The document was being translated tonight and prepared for circulation among the eleven Security Council members. Although publication was withheld until copies had been received by the delegates, the complaint was said to consist largely of detailed accounts of alleged border violations.

Premier Constantin Tsaldaris, of Greece, is expected to present the case personally before the Security Council, probably next week. Tsaldaris, now en route to New York, was reported delayed in Ireland when his plane from Paris developed engine trouble today.

Russian Envoy Informed

Dendramis said the case was being filed under Articles 34 and 35 of the United Nations Charter providing for pacific settlement of situations or disputes which are likely to endanger world peace and security.

Filing of the case had been expected for some time, as a result of the deterioration of relations between Greece and her northern neighbors. Tsaldaris last week informed the Soviet chargé d'affaires in Athens of the contemplated action.

Control Of Arms Outside Power Of Veto: Russ

HARRISON

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 4 (AP)—The United Nations moved swiftly toward concrete action on world arms reduction today after Soviet Russia had agreed to accept the general principles laid down by the United States, including a provision that inspection and control machinery should be free of the big-power veto.

Shortly after Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had tossed this new surprise factor into the Political Committee of the General Assembly the delegates of the 54 nations agreed unanimously to create a twenty-member subcommittee to reconcile the various proposals before them.

Two Soviet Amendments

These were principally the United States plan for giving first priority to atomic control and for setting up "practical and effective" control and inspection agencies, and two Soviet amendments offered this morning.

There was an air of optimism in all the speeches as the delegates sent the question to the subcommittee and turned again to debate on proposed action against Franco Spain.

The members of the subcommittee on arms reduction are the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France, China, Norway, The Netherlands, Poland, Canada, India, Czechoslovakia, Mexico, Egypt, Australia, Brazil, Colombia, Belgium, Syria, the Soviet Ukraine and Argentina.

Not Serious Obstacles

Molotov's amendments were not considered as offering serious obstacles to ultimate agreement.

His statement was hailed immediately by British Delegate Sir Hartley Shawcross as an "important concession."

Australian Delegate Paul Hasluck said the new Soviet stand opened the way for immediate United Nations action.

U.S. Welcomes Stand

Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas), speaking for the United States, said the American delegation welcomed both the Soviet decision to accept the United States plan as a basis for discussion and Molotov's explanation that the inspection and control system would be free of the veto.

To Seek Amendments

Molotov told the Political Committee that Russia was ready to withdraw her own proposals in favor of the American plan, but that Russia would press for certain amendments.

On the veto, he said:

"There is need to dispel an obvious misunderstanding which has arisen. The Soviet Government is in favor of the Security Council adopting measures to prohibit weapons of mass destruction.

"Only the principle of unanimity in the Council can guarantee the adoption of a reduction of arms. Unanimous action is necessary in adopting regulations on control commissions.

Two Issues Unrelated

"The question of the principle of unanimity in the Security Council has no relevancy to the work of control. It is wrong to say that any state which has the veto has the power to prevent control and inspection. Any attempt to prevent the implementation of control and inspection would be a violation of the decision of the Security Council.

"Talk of the veto can be interpreted as an attempt to evade direct answer to the question of reduction of arms."

Molotov's position thus seemed to be that the veto should apply during the setting up of the inspection and control machinery by the Security Council, but that once the machinery was ready to operate the veto would not apply.

Conforms To U.S. Policy

This is in conformity with the American position that the Security Council should be the agency to set up controls but that the machinery should be independent after it is created.

Connally, while welcoming Molotov's declaration, said: "We are not prepared now to accept Mr. Molotov's amendments, but we will give them the most meticulous consideration."

Senate Vote Needed

He pointed out that in the case of the United States any international agreements must be ratified by the United States Senate and said:

"We want to make that clear and to say that our action is subject to that procedure. It is up to the Security Council to formulate a plan and it is up to the governments then to accept or reject it."

He insisted that no action be taken that would interfere in any way with the Atomic Energy Commission or prevent it from concluding its work.

Shawcross, replying to the Soviet concessions, said: "We are glad to see that the Soviet Union, contrary to its original stand, is in agreement that a rigid control and inspection system must be set up.

Four-Point British Position

"I was particularly glad," he said, "to hear Mr. Molotov say that the Soviet Government was in agreement generally with the American proposals."

Shawcross then laid down a four-point summary of the British position:

1. The atomic question should be handled by the Atomic Energy Commission until the commission can report to the Assembly.

2. No partial system of disarmament should be adopted in the sense that atomic weapons would be prohibited but that other weapons of mass destruction, such as rockets, would not.

3. Any agreement to reduce arms must be implemented by a system of controls and inspection.

4. Operation of the control and inspection system must not be subject to the veto.

Two Soviet Amendments

Molotov offered two amendments to the American proposals.

One provides that "the Security Council expedite consideration of a draft convention for the prohibition of atomic weapons."

The other provides for the creation of two control commissions—one for atomic weapons and one for other weapons—"within the framework of the Security Council."

This phrase, "within the framework of the Security Council," originally gave rise to widespread opposition on the ground that it would inject the veto into the inspection and control machinery.

Molotov's new declaration, however, threw a different light on the issue and may have removed much of the objection.

In announcing the new Soviet position, Molotov said:

"We are anxious for unanimity. We will not insist on our draft, but will take the American draft as a basis for discussion."

At the same time, Molotov said he would submit amendments to the United States proposals to remove the Soviet objections.

The Atomic Energy Commission will meet tomorrow in what, it was said, will be an important session on its future course in view of Assembly consideration of general arms limitation, including prohibition of the atomic bomb.

Well-informed sources said Bernard Baruch, United States representative on the Atomic Commission, might make a "very important" statement tying in with disarmament.

The United Nations secretariat announced that Assembly plenary sessions would be held at Flushing Meadows Saturday and Sunday nights in an effort to meet the adjournment deadline of December 11.

Molotov Speech Soviet Proposals, and Shawcross Statement

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 4—The texts of the amendments proposed today by the Soviet Delegation for the United States draft resolution on the reduction of armaments follow:

To draft paragraph 2 as follows:

"As an essential step toward the urgent objective of eliminating from national armaments atomic weapons and all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction, the General Assembly urges the expeditious fulfillment by the Atomic Energy Commission of its terms of reference as set forth in section 5 of the General Assembly resolution of Jan. 17, 1946. Accordingly, in order to insure that the general regulation and reduction of armaments are directed toward the major weapons of modern warfare and not merely toward the minor weapons, the General Assembly recommends that the Security Council expedite consideration of the report which the Atomic Energy Commission will make to the Security Council before 31 December 1946, and facilitate the progress of the work of that commission and also that the Security Council expedite consideration of a draft convention for the prohibition of atomic weapons."

To add to paragraph 3 the following:

"To insure the adoption of measures for the reduction of armaments and prohibition of the use of atomic energy for military purposes there shall be established within the framework of the Security Council, who bear the main responsibility for international peace and security, international control operating on the basis of a special provision which should provide for the establishment of special organs of inspection for which purpose there shall be formed:

(A) A commission for the control of execution of the decision regarding the reduction of armaments.

(B) A commission for the control of the execution of the decision regarding the prohibition of the use of atomic energy for military purposes."

The text of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's statement on the control of armaments, made today before the Political and Security Committee, follows:

Mr. Chairman, Gentlemen:

A considerable number of delegates have expressed their views here on the question of the reduction of armaments. The Soviet delegation notes with satisfaction that the majority of the speakers took a positive attitude toward this proposal. Therefore, it may be considered that the prevailing opinion among the United Nations is that it is necessary to set about the reduction of armaments.

If any reference is to be made to individual speeches, I must dwell, in the first place, on the statements of the British delegate, Sir Hartley Shawcross. His attitude is somewhat contradictory. Sir Hartley Shawcross may be understood to mean, on the one hand, that he, like other speakers also, is in favor of adopting a resolution for the general reduction of armaments, but on the other hand his speeches reflect great dissatisfaction that this question has been submitted to the General Assembly for consideration.

Sees Stream of Suspicions

This is the only explanation that can be given for the stream of doubts and suspicions that pours out when he speaks and warns against the possibility of deception, pitfalls and propaganda, to which he has devoted so much of his eloquence. Let us hope, however, that he will also clearly realize, when the question is decided, who is in favor and who is against the general reduction of armaments, who is in favor and who is against the prohibition of atomic weapons.

When you hear speeches of that kind, various questions arise. Perhaps the Soviet Government was wrong to raise the question of a general reduction of armaments? But nobody here has said so openly. Perhaps, however, this question has been placed before the General Assembly inopportunely? Here again, nobody has said so definitely.

Sometimes it is hinted that we should first insure collective security and only after that has been done should we set about disarmament. It is quite easy to perceive the falseness of this argument. It is comprehensible to everyone that the general reduction of armaments under the direction of the United Nations will strengthen international security.

Therefore, it is precisely those who are anxious for international peace and security who should strive to bring about the general reduction of armaments. Otherwise, references to the necessity of strengthening general security would only serve as a screen for those who, in reality, do not admit the necessity of a general reduction of armaments.

What did the Soviet Government have in mind when it submitted the question of the general reduction of armaments to the General Assembly for consideration?

Notes Three Questions

Our purpose was a very simple one. It was that the General Assembly should take the first step in solving this important problem. We considered and still consider it quite sufficient that the General Assembly should express its mind on the following three questions.

First, the General Assembly would do a great deed by declaring in a firm voice that the time has come to set about the general reduction of armaments.

Second, the General Assembly is faced with the task of expressing its mind on the question of the prohibition of atomic energy, since it is known that the menace of atomic weapons is causing great alarm among the nations.

Third, the General Assembly should recognize the necessity of establishing reliable international control over the execution of the decision for a general reduction of armaments and the prohibition of atomic weapons, so that this international control should have at its disposal means of inspection for verifying the situation in all countries.

The adoption of these three resolutions by the General Assembly would really constitute an important step forward in the cause of the general reduction of armaments. After such a resolution the Security Council should take up the task of working out concrete measures. This is the substance of the Soviet Government's proposal.

If we are all agreed upon the necessity of this, the General Assembly will be able to adopt such a resolution for the reduction of armaments, which will have historical significance.

Since the Soviet plan was submitted, we have received also a number of other plans on the question of the reduction of armaments. It is necessary to mention, above all, the proposals of the Australian and Canadian delegations. Finally, in the last few days the plan of the United States of America has been submitted to us, on the subject of which Senator Connally gave his explanations on Dec. 2.

To a greater or less extent the initiative of the Soviet Union is finding support in all these plans.

It seems to us that in this respect the American plan merits particular attention.

Calls U. S. Plan One-Sided

I will not hide the fact that the American plan in its present form cannot satisfy us. We consider it to be insufficiently clear and rather one-sided. We are going to submit amendments to this plan, which express our desires.

While pursuing the aim of achieving unanimity in the resolution of the General Assembly for the general reduction of armaments, we are prepared not to insist on the plan submitted by us and express our willingness to take the American plan as a basis for further discussion. We hope that this step by the Soviet delegation will enable us to achieve unanimity so that the General Assembly, sitting in New York, may take the first step in this important cause.

Further, I wish to say a few words about the amendments which the Soviet delegation would like to make in the American plan. There are in all three amendments.

I will begin with the amendment relating to paragraph one. On the one hand, this paragraph speaks of the Security Council, which should work out practical measures for the reduction of armaments. On the other hand, the same paragraph speaks of international treaties and agreements for the reduction of armaments. The question arises, in what way will the decision on the reduction of armaments be taken: will it be taken by concluding international conventions or by a resolution of the Security Council?

If we take the view that the reduction of armaments is to be carried out by means of international agreements, this will give rise to a good many pretexts for all sorts of delays. For this reason the Soviet delegation is of the opinion that the decision on the reduction of armaments should be taken by means of a resolution of the Security Council. It is very important that the General Assembly should adopt this point of view; then the cause of the reduction of armaments will be considerably expedited. The wording of the first paragraph must be amended accordingly.

With regard to Paragraph 2 of the American plan, the Soviet delegation would suggest that it be adopted in the following form:

"As an essential step toward the urgent objective of eliminating from national armaments atomic weapons and all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction, the General Assembly urges the expeditious fulfillment by the Atomic Energy Commission of its terms of reference as set forth in Section 5 of the General Assembly resolution of 24 February, 1946. Accordingly, in order to insure that the general regulation and reduction of armaments are directed toward the major weapons of modern warfare and not merely toward the minor weapons the General Assembly recommends that the Security Council expedite consideration of the report which which the Atomic Energy Commission will make to the Security Council before 31 December 1946, and facilitate the progress of the work of that commission and also that the Security Council expedite consideration of a draft convention for the prohibition of atomic weapons.

Offer Some Clarifications

Now permit me to make some clarifications on the subject of this proposal.

A study of the text submitted will show that the first sentence of this draft, replacing the corresponding sentence of the second paragraph of the American draft, is taken bodily from the second paragraph of the Australian draft. The value of this sentence consists in the fact that it recalls the resolution adopted by the General Assembly on 24 January of this year regarding the establishment of a commission to deal with the problems raised by the discovery of atomic energy, and also that, in accordance with the resolution referred to, that commission must consider as an urgent aim the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons and of all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction. We consider that such a proposal ought not to meet with objections here.

In the second sentence of this paragraph of the American draft, in addition to a slight amendment in the text, the following words are added at the end: "And also that the Security Council expedite consideration of a draft convention for the prohibition of atomic weapons." This addition eliminates that one-sidedness which exists in the text of the second paragraph of the American draft, recalling the necessity to examine also a draft convention for prohibiting atomic weapons.

I have to state that the Soviet delegation would consider it necessary to mention more precisely the prohibition of atomic weapons, as was done in the second paragraph of Soviet draft. However, the Soviet delegation is prepared not to insist upon its original proposal, if the text of the second paragraph of the American proposal is accepted, with those amendments which I have just mentioned.

For Two Commissions

The text of the third paragraph of the American proposal we consider to be acceptable. We consider, however, that there should be added to the end of this paragraph what is stated in the third paragraph of the Soviet proposal where, as you are aware, the creation of two control commissions is mentioned: One—for the control of execution of the decision regarding the reduction of armaments, and the other—for the control of the execution of the decision regarding the prohibition of the use of atomic energy for military purposes. As far as it has been possible to judge from the course of discussion, such a proposal should not meet with any objections here.

The fourth paragraph of the American draft is acceptable and no amendments are necessary. There is no necessity to dwell at present on the other amendments of lesser importance.

I will proceed to the question of veto, or more accurately speaking, to the question of the application of the principle of unanimity of the great powers. In the present case, it is necessary to dispel the obvious misunderstanding which has arisen in the course of discussion.

As you already know, the Soviet Government takes the stand that a decision of general reduction of armaments and on the prohibition of atomic weapons should be adopted by the Security Council. The adoption of such a decision offers no small difficulties. It is possible that various points of view will be expressed in the Security Council on this or that question connected with this problem. Only the attainment of unanimity in the Security Council and, above all, of unanimity between the five permanent members can guarantee the adoption of the decision to reduce armaments.

"Right of Veto" Maintained

There can be no doubt of the fact that, not any one power, but the Security Council in its entirety—and, inter alia, all the five powers who are permanent members—are interested in the attainment of that unanimity. Consequently, in the formulation of a decision by the Security Council to reduce armaments, the "right of veto" can be exercised by any one of thme great powers, as long as unanimity is not reached between all the great powers, and as long as the Security Council does not take its decision in accordance with the rules of the Charter.

Observance of the principle of unanimity of the five great powers is also necessary for those decisions by the Security Council referring to the establishment of a commission for control of armaments reduction, and of the prohibition of atomic weapons. But when decisions regarding the composition of the control commissions are taken and the control commissions begin their task, they will, of course, work in accordance with those rules drawn up for them by the Security Council.

It should be quite obvious that the question of the well-known principle of unanimity operating in the Security Council has no relation at all to the work of the commissions themselves. Consequently, it is entirely wrong to consider the matter in the light that any government possessing the "right of veto," will be in a position to hinder the fulfillment of the control and inspections.

The control commissions are not the Security Council, and, therefore, there are no grounds whatsoever for saying that any power making use of the "right of veto" will bein a position to obstruct the course of control. Every attempt to obstruct the control or inspection carried out in accordance with the decisions taken by the Security Council will be nothinng other than a violation of the decisions of the Security Council.

That is why talk about a "veto" in connection with control and inspection is devoid of foundation. Such talk cannot be understood as anything other than an attempt to substitute one question for another, as an attempt to evade a straight answer to the question raised regarding the general reduction of armaments.

Thus, we must take an important decision. The General Assembly must take the first step in dealing with problems of general reduction of armaments. We must prepare that decision and not allow any further procrastination in this matter.

The Soviet delegation hopes that the American draft and the Soviet delegation's amendments thereto will make for a good fundamental decision by the General Assembly.

The following are the four general principles of Britain's attitude toward disarmament, as expressed by Sir Hartley Shawcross in the Political and Security Committee this morning:

(1) The atomic side of regulation and disarmament must continue to be handled by the Atomic Energy Commission. The Assembly must do nothing to interfere with or discourage their work.

(2) No partial system of disarmament must be agreed to, in the sense that we must not get into a position where, for instance, the manufacture of atomic bombs is prohibited, but the manufacture of other weapons, for instance, rockets, is not. It might happen that we might be able to secure unanimous agreement on the atom bomb, but that, having abolished that, we could not secure unanimity on other dangers, possibly not less dangerous, perhaps even more dangerous. Therefore, the Atomic Energy Commission must complete its present work and put forward a plan for control and regulation. When that has been generally accepted, it should come into operation contemporaneously with a similar plan—the preparation of which would not inviove anything like the same difficulties—for the abolition or control of the other mass-destruction weapons. I say that a plan for these would not present the same difficulties as the atomic energy. We only want to prohibit and destroy the rocket, but while we must prohibit the use of atomic energy for warlike purposes we must make its vast potentialities for peace available to the whole world.

(3) Any system of disarmament must provide for an immediate and effective system of control and inspection. There must, of course, be full disclosure of information about armaments to be contemporaneous with the establishment of the organization for control and verification.

(4) The operation of the control and inspection agency and the extension of its work to newly invented weapons must not be subject to any veto. We regard that as very vital. There must be some international organization which can deal with newly invented weapons. For when the atom bomb is abolished scientists will, I dare say, devote themselves to the discovery of something even more terrible. There must be an international body, not subject to veto, which can at once deal with any such situation.

I am sure that Mr. Molotov's statement gave us reason to hope that by free and frank discussion, in a reasonable spirit of give and take, we may reach a composite resolution embodying the best points of all drafts.

'FRISCO GETS FLYING START IN SITE RACE

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 4—(AP) San Francisco got away to a fast start today in general debate over permanent headquarters for the United Nations, with four of the first six speakers endorsing the West Coast city.

China, the Philippines, Saudi Arabia and El Salvador spoke in favor of San Francisco's Presidio. Great Britain backed Philadelphia and Yugoslavia spoke up for New York.

Boston, the fourth city visited by a subcommittee on an inspection tour, drew no support.

General debate will continue tomorrow with three of the big five powers still to speak.

90 Americans Accuse U.S. Of 'Food Politics'

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 4 (AP)—Ninety prominent Americans put their names to a statement today asserting that the United States Government is preparing to use food "as a weapon of foreign policy" in war-wrecked nations.

The statement was issued through the office of F. H. LaGuardia, director general of UNRRA, who also said that throughout the last week he has received copies of similar protests from 27 national organizations.

The protests are in answer to a refusal from the Washington Government to enter any further plans for international distribution of food after UNRRA closes shop this month for Europe and in March for the Far East.

LaGuardia Plan Opposed

LaGuardia has suggested a $400,000,000 international purse to meet the needs, with the food to be allocated through a United Nations committee without consideration for political advantage. He was strongly supported here by some twenty nations.

The United States in reply proposed that food needs can be met through loans or outright grants, but the distribution of American food through those means would then be at the discretion of the United States Government.

The statement today said of the United States proposal:

"This is a reversion to power politics, the use of food as a weapon of foreign policy—an approach to world problems utterly opposed to the concept of the United Nations.

"Course Of Politics"

"Unhappily, the United States Government, despite the generous attitude of the American people, indicates it will follow the course of politics."

Signers of the statement include Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, president of the Federal Council of Churches; Mrs. Lafell Dickinson, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Oscar Cox, former assistant solicitor general.

Mrs. J. H. Welt, president of the National Council of Jewish Women; James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union; Evans Clark, director of the Twentieth Century Fund; Freda Kirchwey, editor of the Nation.

Dorothy Canfield Fisher, novelist; Dr. Mary B. Gilson, Wellesley professor of economics; Mrs. Dorothy Groeling, of the Y.W.C.A. national board; Mayor H. H. Humphrey of Minneapolis; Roger Baldwin, of the Civil Liberties Union.

Rabbi S. Lazaron, of Baltimore; Yehudi Menuhin, violinist, and Dr. Helen C. White, president of the American Association of University Women.

Bishop Oxnam has notified LaGuardia that the bishops and district superintendents of the Methodist Church have been asked to "mobilize their membership to telegraph the Secretary of State urging that the United States delegation to the United Nations support the LaGuardia plan."

BIG 4 DISCUSS TRIESTE POINT

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—(AP) Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov objected tonight to a British-American proposal that the big four Foreign Ministers Council ask the United Nations to make good any deficit incurred by the proposed free territory of Trieste in its operations.

The east-west dispute over this point prevented final agreement on the whole Trieste issue, and was one of several controversies which delayed the council's efforts to wind up five axis satellite peace treaties.

Other outstanding open questions highlighted in tonight's session:

Reparations—U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes objected to Molotov's demand that provision for $10,000,000 of reparations to Albania be made in the Italian treaty. Byrnes said he was opposed to adding more financial burden to Italy.

Compensation for destroyed property of allied nationals — British Foreign Secretary Bevin, who has been insisting on compensation at the rate of 75 per cent of property value, said he would accept 66 2-3 per cent payment in order to settle the issue. Molotov said he could not go above 40 or 50 per cent.

One provision which did get final agreement was that each of the powers with occupation forces in Trieste—the United States, Britain and Yugoslavia—would have the right to order its forces not to obey a specific command of the governor of Trieste although in general all the forces would be under his direction.

Regarding Trieste financing, Bevin proposed that the Big Four should ask the UN General Assembly to send a commission to Trieste for an on-the-spot investigation of its financial needs. Byrnes suggested asking the assembly to authorize payment of United Nations funds to meet any Trieste deficit.

Molotov said that any deficit ought to be met by the territory itself.

Printing To Delay Satellite-Pact Signing

New York, Dec. 4 (AP)—Diplomatic informants said today that the signing of Axis satellite peace treaties, now being completed here by the Council of Foreign Ministers, almost certainly would be delayed until early next year because of mechanical problems involved in printing final official texts.

The Big Four hope to wind up their work on the pacts for Italy, Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Finland in a few days and come to grips before the week end with the task of outlining preliminary problems involved in a German settlement.

They are scheduled to hold a conference on Germany in Europe early in 1947 and the five satellite treaties may not be signed until then.

Big Four action on the satellite treaties last night was mainly limited to debate, and some agreement, on tedious but relatively minor economic and political questions.

Still unsettled were the amounts of Italian and Bulgarian reparations and the issue of writing into the Balkan treaties a guarantee of freedom of navigation on the Danube River. These were expected to come up for action at today's session.

INDIA CLASH IS UNSOLVED

Attlee Concludes Talks With Leaders Without Success

London, Dec. 4 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee wound up his program of talks with India's embittered political leaders tonight, and 36 hours before the deadline there was no sign that his efforts to break the roadblock to peaceful Indian independence had been successful.

An India Office spokesman said neither the Congress party nor the Moslem League representatives appeared to have been in a mood to make concessions in the round of crucial discussions in which the British plan for India's transition to independence and hopes to avert civil war have been described as at stake.

No announcement was made even as to whether the British would attempt to bring the Indians to the same table for a joint discussion tomorrow.

Key To Success Hope

The British decision whether to attempt to do so appeared to be the key to hopes for success or failure.

A Government source previously had said a round-table discussion would be scheduled if it appeared the individual talks showed a reasonable chance for agreement.

But tomorrow's schedule thus far was blank. The crucial talk of the day—between Attlee and Mohamed Ali Jinnah and Liaquat Ali Khan, Moslem League leaders, apparently was not encouraging.

Working against time and the unbending attitude of the Hindu and Moslem chieftains, Attlee summoned his Inner Cabinet for India to meet tomorrow to plot a further course.

Assembly Meeting Seen

British Government quarters declined even to discuss the possible alternatives should the London talks prove fruitless.

But observers believed the British would stand on the present plan, permitting the Constituent Assembly to convene on schedule on December 9 whether the Moslems participated or not. In effect this seemingly would allow the Congress party to write the new constitution without the league, which claims to represent the 90,000,000 Moslem minority, with the consequences in dissatisfaction and strife yet to be determined.

An informed source said Jinnah told the Prime Minister the Moslems never would submit unreservedly to the complete sacrifice of their political and religious identity which they believed would result from Britain's present program for India's independence.

Would Threaten World Peace

The Prime Minister, in turn, was said to have told the Moslem leaders that the future peace of the whole world, as well as of India, would be threatened if the Moslems declined to play their part in a united India.

The Moslems have refused to join in the Constituent Assembly, which meets in New Delhi on December 9, because of a fear that under the voting procedure, as interpeted by the Congress party, they would be outnumbered and unable to press the interest of their minority.

Both the Congress party leader, Jawaharlal Nehru, who saw Attlee yesterday, and Jinnah held two-hour separate discussions today with the viceroy, Lord Wavell, and the Cabinet mision members, Lord Pethick-Lawrence, Sir Stafford Cripps and A. V. Alexander. It was this Cabinet mission which went to India last spring and evolved the present plan after months of negotiations.

Continued Violence

An authoritative source said Attlee and the other Government members all emphasized to Jinnah that Britain would not reopen negotiations for Indian independence outside the framework of the existing plan.

Only 36 hours remained before the Indians were to leave for the opening of the Constituent Assembly in which Jinnah has forbidden Moslem League members to participate.

Bombay dispatches, meanwhile, told of continued violence in which the Indian Office estimated more than 6,000 persons have been killed in recent months. Police at Bombay fired on a riotous crowd last night and sixteen persons were injured in clashes, eight by stabbing, and eight by acid throwing. Unofficial estimates said about 600 persons have been killed in three months of disorders at Bombay.

Although the curfew, enforced since September 1, was lifted at Bombay, this was because of the Moslem holiday, Muharram.

U.S. Mine Strike Perils Industry In Europe

London, Dec. 4 (AP)—Industrial crises threatened today in at least half a dozen European nations cut off from American coal supplies by the United Mine Workers strike.

France, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland and Denmark were suffering most from the immediate effects of the American work stoppage.

Observers in Sweden, Norway and Germany, less dependent on American supplies, reported no evidence yet of industrial breakdown but saw the prospect of increasing difficulties unless the coal dispute was settled quickly.

Britain Studies Situation

Worried lest the American strike further endanger Britain's already precarious supply position, officials of the Ministry of Fuel and Power announced that the situation was under review.

A British Government spokesman forecast requests, particularly from Scandinavian countries, for more British coal.

"Denmark, for one," he said, "probably will turn to us."

Unable wholly to supply the domestic market's demands, Britain now exports an average of 403,740 tons a month, compared with 2,988,000 tons in 1938.

A survey by Associated Press correspondents indicated that France, Italy and Denmark were hardest hit by the American miners' walkout.

Half Comes From U.S.

Reporting that American supplies represent more than half of France's total coal imports, a spokesman for the Ministry of Industrial Production predicted widespread work stoppages.

American coal imports by France, compared with total imports in recent months, included: September, 713,000 tons and 1,188,000 tons; October, 350,000 tons and 718,000 tons.

Though admitting the likelihood of serious setbacks to French industry, Henri Marcel, secretary general of the French Miners Union, said it was likely that union officials would vote a resolution of solidarity "with our American comrades" at a meeting Friday.

Danes On War Basis

In Copenhagen, officials clamped down wartime restrictions. Only half the city's street lights were burning, public transport was curtailed, including reduction of railway traffic to one third the prewar level. Gas consumption was ordered cut 50 per cent.

Comparatively mild weather helped Italians, but the United States strike constituted a severe jolt for Italy's industry.

The Italian Government appointed the Minister of the Treasury and the administrator of state railroads to direct a new agency for the acquisition of coal and coke.

At Bern, Robert Grimm, fuel administrator, said that continuance of the American strike would force the Swiss Government to ration even poorer grades of coal.

In Brussels, the Belgian Government issued a communiqué declaring that "severe restrictions are required in the use of coal, gas and electricity." A spokesman for the Ministry of Economic Affairs reported that Belgium was seeking supplies of Polish coal.

Dutch officials said that, should the strike continue for a month, gas and electric services would be in danger.

BRITISH GET SECRET GERMAN PRESSES

London, Dec. 4 (A. P.).—Secret drawing presses which enabled the Germans to use steel instead of brass in the manufacture of heavy cartridge cases are in the first consignment of German reparations now being unloaded in Britain, the Board of Trade reported today.

The drawing presses will be used for experimental work to find possible alternative industrial uses, the announcement said.

ATTLEE TELLS OF EARLY JAPANESE PEACE OFFER

LONDON, Dec. 4. — (AP) Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today that Japan made "an offer of peace" on July 22, 1945 and that the "offer was not accepted until August 10"—four days after Hiroshima was devastated by the first war-used atom bomb.

Whether or not Attlee's statement indicated that Japan was willing to comply with unconditional surrender demands made before the bomb was dropped was not clear from his brief reply to a question.

War Leaders Named Knights Of The Garter

London, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Government announced last night that King George had appointed five war leaders and two politicians as Knights of the Garter.

The King made the appointments without formal ministerial advice, on agreement with Prime Minister Attlee and the opposition, with a view to removing the 600-year-old order from politics, an official said.

The new knights were Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein, chief of the imperial general staff; Field Marshal Viscount Alan-Brooke, wartime chief of staff; Field Marshal Viscount Alexander of Tunis; Admiral Viscount Mountbatten of Burma; Marshal of the RAF Viscount Portal of Hungerford, and two House of Lords leaders, Viscount Addison, of the Government, and Viscount Cranborne, of the opposition.

Sees Minorities Facing New Perils

London, Dec. 4 A. P.).—Dr. C. F. Garbett, Archbishop of York, today called upon the British Government to work in international conferences for the protection of civil and religious rights against "the rising tide of nationalism in almost every country throughout the world." He told the House of Lords that the position of minorities today is very precarious.

several newspapers against which Laski has suits pending. All the suits are based on published accounts of his statement at the 1945 election meeting.

Tsaldaris Delayed By Airliner Trouble

Limerick, Eire, Dec. 4 (A. P.).—A Transworld passenger plane carrying Greek Premier Constantine Tsaldaris from Paris to New York, where he plans to complain to the United Nations about border warfare, was delayed at Shannon Airport today by mechanical trouble. Airline officials said that Tsaldaris might have to remain here overnight.

COMMUNIST BID FAILS IN PARIS

Assembly Votes Down Party's Move For Premiership

Paris, Dec. 4 (AP)—The National Assembly crushed the Communist party's initial bid for interim premiership of the new French Government today, and prepared to make it impossible to form any government. Without Socialist support the MRP will not be able to muster 310 votes needed for an absolute majority, and the Communists have little or no chance of electing Thorez on a second try.

Another Condition

As another condition of their entering the new Government the Socialists stated that there must be prior agreement on a policy of the "intervention of the state in (the nation's) economy and complete orientation away from all liberalism."

Jacques Duclos, Communist leader, announced shortly after the Assembly had voted that his party would continue to support Thorez's candidacy.

The MRP—middle-of-the-road party of former Premier Georges Bidault—announced that it would present a candidate to the Assembly. The name of the candidate was not immediately made public, but most speculation centered around Bidault himself, who resigned the post last week, and Robert Schuman, former Finance Minister.

Indo-China Fighting

The short debate which preceded today's vote was marked by a charge by Deputy Maurice Viollette that the Soviet Union was responsible for furious fighting in Indo-China between Fenreh troops and Indo-Chinese natives.

Viollette, former governor of Indo-China and a member of the political group called the "Leftist Rally," said the fighting was part of the "anti-France policy sustained by Moscow."

"Most of those who attack us are themselves conquerors and colonialists," he added.

In opposing Thorez, Violette said it was shameful that "a Frenchman today can have two countries—Russia and France."

Duclos Answers Charge

Duclos, replying to Viollette, said the Communists would "cultivate the friendship of all the Allied nations, in an absolute independence."

The Communists, he added, are "ready to govern in the most absolute respect of republican legality." He said that while France never had had a Communist government, "there must be a beginning to everything."

A voice from the Rightist benches shouted "and that would be the end." While laughter echoed through the ornate chamber, Duclos thundered: "What cannot be today, will be, ineluctably, tomorrow."

Russ Ambassador Present

Alexandre Bogomolov, Russian Ambassador, was in the gallery during the debate and the voting. Neither the British nor United States ambassadors were present, but both were represented by subordinates.

Today's setback was the second in as many days for the Communists, whose candidate for temporary president of the National Assembly lost yesterday to Vincent Auriol, Socialist.

The temporary president of the Assembly, like the interim Premier of the Government, will serve only until mid-January, when the first officers of the Fourth Republic will be selected.

Unsuccessful Libel Suit May Cost Laski $60,000

London, Dec. 3 (AP)—Attorneys estimated today that Harold Laski, former chairman of the British Labor party, might have to pay up to $60,000 costs from his unsuccessful libel suit against the weekly Newark Advertiser.

A high court jury assessed the costs against Laski yesterday in holding that the newspaper did not libel him by reporting he said at a 1945 election meeting that labor might "have to use violence."

Party May Not Pay For Him

Persons familiar with Labor party affairs said it was unlikely that the party would pay the costs for Laski, although party members could contribute to a fund for him. Laski is an economics professor and writer, and is not regarded as a wealthy man.

Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard said today that the verdict "vindicated the freedom of the press."

The Evening Standard is one of vote again tomorrow in what may be a direct test between the Communist and Popular Republican Movement (MRP).

Maurice Thorez, Communist and only candidate whose name was placed before the Assembly, received 259 votes—51 short of the 310 required for an absolute majority. Two votes were cast for Andre le Troquer, Socialist, and 318 Rightist and Centerist deputies cast blank ballots.

Most Of Socialist Vote

Thorez received the solid vote of his party and most of the Socialist votes. However, eight Socialists deliberately abstained from casting ballots and twelve others were absent from the chamber of the Palais Bourbon.

Tonight the National Congress of the Socialist party voted to enter a new French Government only if Communists were in it, thus throwing the Cabinet crisis into further confusion.

The practical effect of the Socialists' decision apparently was to

Thorez Fails In Try For Premiership

Paris, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Communist party was defeated today in its bid for leadership of the French interim government, when Maurice Thorez, its candidate for Premier, failed of election in the new National Assembly.

Election tabulators said Thorez lacked 51 votes of the necessary majority. He would have required an absolute majority of 310 votes.

His defeat for the office followed the announced decision of the moderate MRP (Popular Republican Movement) and the Radical Socialists to abstain from voting for him.

Vote Again Tomorrow

In the absence of any other avowed candidates, the Assembly adjourned until tomorrow, when it will try again to choose a Cabinet leader.

Official results showed that Thorez, who received the support of most of the Socialist deputies, received 259 votes.

Communist Leader Jacques Duclos announced that his party would maintain Thorez's candidacy.

The MRP, whose leader, Georges Bidault, surrendered the reins of the provisional Government last week, had announced that if Thorez failed to get such a majority it would put forward its own candidate on the next ballot—either Bidault or former Finance Minister Robert Schuman.

The interim Premier would serve until a permanent government is formed in mid-January.

Senator McMahon Hits Russ Atom Stand

Paris, Dec. 4 (AP)—Senator Brien McMahon (D., Conn.), chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, told European and American press representatives today that Russia's atomic-control proposals were not satisfactory and that "I do not wish to dwell" on the consequences of a failure in negotiations.

Soviet proposals, he said, boiled down to a pact in which each party "would promise" not to use atomic armaments, and that promises were insufficient under the circumstances, which, he contended, required absolute international control.

McMahon said he had found "surprising lack of information" in Europe about America's offer to share atomic energy and an impression among many that the United States was seeking a monopoly.

week alone ten robberies with murder were committed in Potsdam, allegedly by men in "foreign uniform" who appeared bent on "taking what they can get before they are ordered to move on."

Meanwhile, the first German state government in the Soviet zone took office in the province of Sachsen-Anhalt, as a part of the Russian program to transform provincial administrations into provincial governments.

Russ Demobilization Rapid

Berlin, Dec. 4 (AP)—German press dispatches said today that Russian occupation troops are being demobilized so rapidly that considerable patrol and guard duty is being turned over to German policemen.

These dispatches said that several police companies had been assembled to replace Russians in patrolling certain border sectors along the Oder River, and that Germans also were being assigned to guard bridges and other strategic points hitherto guarded by Russians.

Inspection Tour Canceled

Another indication of continuing widespread troop movements in the Soviet zone was the canceling of a scheduled inspection tour of German armament factories. Responsible quarters said demobilization and redeployment could be expected to strain railway and highway facilities in the Russian zone until early January. They pointed out that the Russians earlier had canceled a scheduled tour by United States newsmen because of troop movements.

Four-power inspection teams originally were to enter each of the four occupation zones to make spot checks on the progress being made in eliminating Germany's war potential. The teams now may not get under way until January 6.

Little Noticeable In Berlin

Some military observers said the Soviet practice of tearing up and sending to Russia one track of double-track railways in Germany resulted in a jam during troop movements.

Redeployment was hardly, if at all, noticeable in the Russian sector of Berlin.

However, unofficial German informants said that in Potsdam, headquarters of the Russian Army just outside Berlin, residents had been "living in a state of fear" ever since the redeployment began.

These sources declared that last

Reich Press Hits, Hails Bizonal Trade Unity

Berlin, Dec. 4 (AP)—British and American licensed German newspapers today greeted the economic merger of the United States and British zones as a step toward eventual German unification, but Soviet-controlled papers criticized the step as perilous for Germany's future economy.

The British-licensed Telegraf said the British-American pledge to revive industry for peace production in the merged zones was a good omen not only for Germany but for all Europe.

Telegraf said French and Soviet opposition to a restoration of Germany's economic unity "are not to be regarded as their final decisions." It predicted the British and Americans would continue to press upon the Russians their arguments for wiping out all economic zonal boundaries.

Red Papers Hostile

While professing to advocate "real economic unity," the Soviet-licensed Berliner Zeitung and the Socialist Unity party's Neues Deutschland sharply criticized the bizonal merger.

"Halfway measures will not suffice," said the former. "What is needed is an economic policy that gauges the production capacity and the needs of Germany as a whole and plans for them. This is impossible now because no central German agencies have yet been established. The Potsdam agreement's provision of German economic entity must be fulfilled."

The Neues Deutschland, which expresses Communist views, asserted: "The merger of the British and American zones is not the way to achieve a real and lasting economic unity of Germany. This can be attained only through the application of identical economic principles in the eastern (Soviet) and western sections of our country through central agencies.

"Only then, when the German economy is really democratized in all sections of the country through the disarming of monocapitalists and recationaries, can we rebuild Garman economy for a unified Germany."

Army Tries Officers In Reich Probe

Berlin, Dec. 4 (AP)—An Army-sponsored cleanup of misconduct and immorality among occupation troops in Germany, along the lines of charges made in a report to the United States Senate War Investigating Committee, has resulted in a series of court-martials which have been under way for some weeks.

Two lieutenant colonels, one in Berlin and one in Bremen, have been arrested, as well as several minor officers. Some have been sentenced to prison terms.

A special judge advocate court now is investigating hundreds of other charges ranging from large-scale black marketing to conduct unbecoming an officer.

Started Months Ago

Army officers said the investigation was started months before the Senate War Investigating Committee's chief counsel, George Meader, appeared in Germany.

These officers said the Army's special Criminal Investigation Division investigated the conduct and activities of hundreds of officers, particularly in the Berlin area.

A CID report, finished about three months ago, listed hundreds of cases of black-market dealings and of American officers and men consorting with German girls in billets and elsewhere.

A special judge advocate was sent to Berlin and the CID report was turned over to him with instructions that all cases where the evidence was deemed sufficient to prosecute were to be placed before court-martial boards and the officers concerned arrested.

Many Cases Passed Over

A large number of cases have been passed over, high army officers said, because of "insufficient evidence."

Some of the men involved are being sought in the United States after having been released from the Army. Capt. Norman T. Byrne, 45, of Hollywood, Cal., was arrested in San Francisco August 12 and is now waiting trial in Berlin on charges of removing two paintings worth $10,000 and valuable porcelain from Germany.

17,330,000 Dwell In Soviet Zone

Berlin, Dec. 4 (A. P.).—The Soviet Military Administration today announced a population of 17,330,000 for the Russian zone of Germany, based on an October 30 census. This was an increase of about 1.1 millions over the estimated population of a year ago.

'Hate German' Policy Ended

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 4 (AP). Gen. Joseph T. McNarney was officially reported today to have scrapped the United States Army's "hate the Germans" policy, and to be preparing to ask Washington to revamp its entire orientation of youthful soldiers heading for occupation zones.

An informed army source said the United States policy of teaching soldiers to regard the Germans as an innately militaristic people was halted by a directive issued by McNarney's European theater command.

The directive reportedly recalled all army training manuals, books and films in the theater tending to instigate hate, and ordered troops to help the Germans rebuild the economy and political freedom of their war-torn country.

Policy Found Out Of Date

The army source said that "we suddenly woke up to the fact that the policy of teaching GI's to hate the Germans was out of date, inasmuch as we are stimulating the democratic growth of the German government, youth organizations and trade unions."

The officer said that new soldiers were still getting "hate the German" indoctrination back home, and that McNarney consequently would ask the War Department to overhaul its education program.

An official spokesman said that McNarney would announce details of the change in attitude at a news conference tomorrow.

The Army's wartime policy of instructing soldiers in the history of German aggression was intensified last year, after charges that the Army was "too soft" and that soldiers were falling for the German line that individual Germans had no war guilt.

Must Be One World

End of the "hate" indoctrination was first reported in the Occupation Chronicle, official newspaper of the Army's European headquarters, which said editorially:

"In the long winter of occupation ahead, we cannot think of ourselves as Allies and Germans, but as people in what must be one world."

The newspaper added that army officials were worried by the low educational level of troops now in Germany. The average age was said to be 19 and "in some units the illiteracy rate is as high as 40 per cent."

International Understanding

It said officers hoped that the new constitutional program would give the "provincial" GI a good basic "international education and understanding, and would eliminate "frictions which develop between the Army and the civilian population."

The newspaper printed an editorial cartoon showing a ragged German boy picking up a cigarette butt from a demolished sidewalk. The caption said: "His only Christmas gift?"

Army Drops 'Hate' Policy In Germany

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 4 (AP)—The United States Army's wartime policy of "hating the Germans" was reported officially halted today, as all occupation troops in Germany were ordered to help the Germans rebuild their devastated country.

The new army attitude toward the Germans was announced in the official newspaper of the Army's European headquarters. Spokesmen said details of a change of official attitude to be fostered among American troops would be announced tomorrow by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, European theater commander.

The newspaper said the Army was recalling all training manuals and films that would tend to instigate hate.

Army Denies Charges Nazis Were Mistreated

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 4 (AP). United States 3d Army headquarters today denied published charges that German prisoners of war returning from England were mistreated by fellow Germans working at the Heilbron prisoner-of-war enclosure.

The charges were published last Sunday by the Munich newspaper Sueddeutsche Zeitung, which said 1,600 specially selected anti-Nazi prisoners were pushed around and threatened and relieved of personal belongings as they passed through the camp for release from imprisonment.

The headquarters statement categorically denied that any of their belongings were taken away and said none of the prisoners voiced any complaints of personal mistreatment. However, a few prisoners were injured in transit from the rail station to the camp when they fell off a truck after one of their own number unfastened the truck's side wall, headquarters said.

German Doctor Admits He Killed 30 Children

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 4 (AP). Dr. Walter Eugene Schmidt, a former lieutenant colonel, admitted before a German war crimes court today that he killed 30 children as part of the Nazi program of exterminating thousands of ailing or defective Germans.

The children would have died in two or three days anyway, insisted the former chief physician at the Eichberg asylum.

Schmidt is one of six doctors, nurses and administrators accused of operating the asylum as a "murder factory" where euthanasia killings were systematically carried out.

They are the first Germans to be tried by Germans themselves on war-crimes charges.

Two Germans Executed For Killing U.S. Prisoners

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 4 (AP). Two German civilians convicted of killing American prisoners of war were hanged today at Landsberg Prison, bringing to 31 the number of German war criminals executed there.

The two hanged today were Heinz Endress, merchant, who shot six soldiers to death after they surrendered, and Richard Drauz, former Nazi district leader, who shot a captured Air Corps officer.

P.).—Guido Ravella, president, and Ercole Leoni, secretary, of a Trieste branch of the Italian Action party have been arrested by Allied Military Government police in connection with the discovery of a small arsenal in the party headquarters last week, it was announced today. Tiso Denies Slav Separation Plot

Bratislava, Czechoslovakia, Dec. 3 (AP—Delayed)—The Rev. Josef Tiso, war-time president of the German puppet state of Slovakia, took the witness stand today in his own defense against charges amounting to treason, and denied having plotted the separation of Slovakia from Czechoslovakia.

Banging his fists on a table, the priest declared that everything he had done was in accord with the Pittsburgh Agreement.

The Pittsburgh Agreement was was signed in America after World War I by emigree Slovaks. It outlined what was to be the status of Slovakia in the Czechoslovak state. Many Slovaks contend that the agreement guaranteed virtual autonomy within the republic.

Admonished By Court

Father Tiso was admonished by the people's court four times for making ironic remarks, and finally was directed to address no further comments to his prosecutors.

He testified that his policy in governing the Slovak state, which separated Bohemia from Moravia when the Germans marched in, was to safeguard Slovak interests.

He said he did no plotting for separation in advance of the German entry, insisting that he never read newspapers and did not even know of the Sudeten issue nor other international affairs.

Precautions taken to prevent demonstrations arising from divided sentiment in Bratislava limited the attendance in the courtroom, which was only half full.

Questioning of Father Tiso was expected to take several days.

Polish Foreign Office Says Catholics Incite Pogroms

Cites Painting Seized in Church as Anti-Jewish Stimulus

WARSAW, Dec. 3 (Delayed) (AP).—A Foreign Ministry spokesman declared at a news conference today that certain elements of the Catholic Church are contributing to the instigation of anti-Semitic acts, which he said have been "sporadic" since the July 4 pogrom in Kielce.

The spokesman exhibited a sixteenth-century painting depicting the ritual murder of a child by Jews and a glass-inclosed coffin with a mummified child which he said reposed near the altar of a Jesuit Church at Leczyca, near Lodz, and "served as a drastic propaganda stimulus to instigate the Polish population against Jews."

The spokesman said the objects were seized by security police on Nov. 10 and the priests admitted that such displays could provoke anti-Semitic attacks. He said the priests blamed their superiors for failure to instruct the removal of the objects, while the superiors, he continued, blamed the priests.

Greeks Recess Parliament in Anger at Big 4

Protest Failure to Extend Frontier; Bulgarians Are Linked to Border Strife

ATHENS, Dec. 4 (AP).—The Greek Parliament adjourned tonight on a motion that the session be suspended "as a sign of national mourning and disgust" that the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers in New York had disregarded Greek's territorial claims. The adjournment followed a unanimous decision that a formal note of protest to the United Nations "would serve no useful purpose."

[British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin abandoned Monday his proposal at the Foreign Ministers' session that Greece's frontier with Bulgaria be moved northward.]

Meanwhile, an American official said a statement by a Greek prisoner was the "first definite confirmation of many reports that Bulgarians are involved with the Yugoslavs and Albanians in moving Buljkes-trained (Yugoslav-trained) agents into northern Greece."

The statement, said to have been made to American and British military interrogators by a captain of a Leftist band captured by the Greek Army in western Thrace, was reported under study by American and British diplomatic officials, as Premier Constantin Tsaldaris flew to New York to lay allegations of border violations by Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria before the U. N.

The American official identified the Greek only as a band captain "trained at Buljkes, Yugoslavia, to foment disorders in Greece." In the statement, the prisoner said he and other Buljkes-trained Greeks were transported from the training center to the Bulgarian frontier by rail, then by "Bulgarian trucks" to a place where they were armed "by Bulgarians" and conducted across the Greek frontier to join a band at Komotine, capital of western Thrace.

The American official said that observers considered the captive's statement "accurate and factual," and that it was being transmitted to Washington and London.

A responsible informant said Communists have touched off new fighting in southern and central Greece to divert attention from violence along the northern frontiers. He said the new outbreaks are a part of a Communist scheme to create conflict within Greece, to demonstrate that the resistance is internal and not inspired from the outside.

Russia Says U. S. May Step In LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP).—The Moscow radio, quoting a Tass (Soviet official news agency) dispatch from Ankara, said today that the possibility that the United States will send troops to Greece "is not precluded," despite recent denials.

"Well informed Greek circles assert that at present the British are negotiating with the Americans in order to obtain the latter's consent for the dispatch of at least a small American force to northern Greece," the broadcast said.

The British aim, the radio report said, is "to facilitate the position of the British in the country and to create a pretext for the further stay of British troops."

Bloody Fights Are Reported In Greece

Athens, Dec. 4 (AP)—Newspapers reported bloody outbreaks in the Peloponnesus and interior Greece today and a responsible source said the fighting was started by "Communists" to divert attention from recent northern border violence on which Greece is protesting to the United Nations.

Premier Constantin Tsaldaris left Paris on another leg of his trip to New York, where he will register his protest. His journey was delayed at Limerick, Eire, when the plane developed engine trouble.

Alleged Motives

The responsible informant said he believed the "Communists" would direct their efforts to create labor unrest and incidents in the interior of Greece, in an attempt to show that disorders were not inspired from the outside. Greece has accused her northern neighbors, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania, of harboring Leftist raiders.

Newspaper reports said more than a score of gendarmes and at least 38 guerrillas had been killed in actions in the Peoponnesus.

The policemen died at Paleohori, 40 miles northeast of Sparta, during a six-hour attack by 200 irregulars using machine guns, grenades and mortars, the dispatches said.

Police Outnumbered

The fighting in the Mt. Parnon district started around dawn yesterday with the Partisans outnumbering the gendarmes five to one. The police were beaten after their ammunition was exhausted, although some were said to have escaped.

The attackers were reported to have killed a number of Nationalist civilians.

Kozane dispatches said twelve soldiers, an officer and a civilian had been sentenced to death there for "subversive activity and mutiny." Another 22 soldiers were sentenced to life imprisonment by a military court for "offenses against the State." Three insurgents were executed at Yannina on the same charges.

Earlier dispatches said 38 guerrillas had been killed in the last 48 hours and that extreme Rightists had raided a village in northern Peloponnesus, killing one civilian and beating another severely.

Insurgent bands were reported to have suffered these losses:

Fifteen killed and twelve wounded in a full-scale battle two days ago near Agrapha, in the Agrapha Mountains of Central Greece.

Three killed in a band that attacked Kriminion village, near Neapotis, about 25 miles west of Kozane, where two soldiers also were said to have died.

Mopup Deaths Total 10

Ten killed in a mopup of the Khassia Mountains in Central Greece, and eight captured by gendarmes on Mount Pelion, east of Volos.

Ten killed in new action on Mount Paikon, scene of bloody fighting ten days ago.

The army announced that guerrilla winter installations had been destroyed on Mount Paikon and that guerrillas were withdrawing to Mount Jena, just south of the Yugoslav border, near Notia.

In Western Thrace, where fresh action broke out a few days ago, two trains were said to have been derailed in running into a section of track that had been removed, but no casualties were reported.

Istanbul, Dec. 4 (AP)—Reports from the Greek-Turkish frontier city of Edirne said the Salonika-Istanbul express was derailed Tuesday by guerrilla bands in the Greek Macedonian province of Kavalla. No casualties were reported.

U.S. May Send Soldiers Into Greece: Tass

London, Dec. 4 (AP)—British Foreign Office and War Office spokesmen denied today the existence of Russian-reported British and American negotiations concerning the sending of United States troops to Greece. Greek sources also denied that such negotiations were in progress.

Moscow, Dec. 4 (AP)—Tass's correspondent in Ankara said today that the British were negotiating with Americans for the sending of at least a small contingent of United States troops to Greece "to ease the British position in that country and create an excuse for the further presence of British troops there."

Another report published here today said Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, British chief of staff, visiting Greece, had had two conversations with the Greek War Minister and had been received next day by the King and the acting Premier.

Heard In London

[Moscow radio, quoting the Tass dispatch from Ankara, was heard in London.

[The Soviet broadcast did not say where nor by whom the reported negotiations were being carried on, but declared the alleged British proposal followed appeals which the Athens newspaper Eleftheria said Premier Constantin Tsaldaris had made to United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in Paris and later to the American Embassy. "The result of the negotiations is so far unknown," the radio reported.

[The account said the American military attaché in Athens recently admitted United States officers were in northern Greece "studying the situation" with a view to giving assistance of an unspecified nature.

December Arrival Publicized

["Lately the Athens press also has been widely advertising the arrival scheduled for December of the American Mediterranean squadron in Greek ports," the broadcast said.

[The United States Navy announced in Washington on November 8 that the 27,000-ton aircraft carrier Randolph, the light cruiser Fargo and the destroyer Perry would call at Turkish and Greek ports in November and December in "training exercises."]

U.S. Holiday Blotted: Russ

Moscow, Dec. 4 (AP)—Soviet newspaper readers were told today that the average American ate his Thanksgiving turkey under the shadow of approaching crisis and vanishing standards of life.

"Postwar life in the United States is hard and filled with deep divisions," cabled Izvestia's Correspondent V. Poltoratski from New York.

He declared that the average American's well-being, symbolized by the Thanksgiving turkey, was "illusory."

Describing the effects of the coal strike in the form of dimmed lights, a blackedout Broadway and unlighted show windows, Poltoratski pictured the lot of the American common man as one of increasing hardship. Prices rise daily and alarm over the future steadily deepens, he said.

"Lately in America the influence of reaction has been intensified in all spheres of social life," he wrote.

PALESTINE JEWS RAP AMERICAN 'BERGSON GROUP'

JERUSALEM, Dec. 4—(AP) The president and executive committee of Vaad Leumi, the Jewish National Council, issued a statement today declaring the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation, which operates in the United States, "is wholly outside the organized Jewish community."

"We have learned with amazement," the statement said, "that an organization styling itself the 'Hebrew Committee for National Liberation,' which operates in the United States of America under the Aegis of the so-called 'Bergson Group,' has been parading as a representative organization of the Jewish community of Palestine. This committee consists of persons who are self-appointed and who represent no one except themselves.

"It is wholly outside the organized Jewish community, whose leadership and discipline it rejects. Vaad Leumi wishes to make it unequivocally clear that it in no way is connected with or responsible for activities of this 'committee' or its sponsors, whose impudent claim to represent Palestine Jewry is utterly unfounded.

"We are issuing this statement in order to ensure that the Jewish and non-Jewish public in the United States of America will be no further deceived by grandiloquent claims put forward by or on behalf of this 'committee,' whose resounding title is calculated to mislead people who are not fully acquainted with the true facts of the situation in Palestine."

Peter H. Bergson, chairman of the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation, announced in New York last July that his organization did not advocate a "Jewish state, a Moslem or a Christian state in the religious sense," but a "Palestinian Republic."

Bergson was out of New York today.

A member of the committee, Dr. David Wdowinski, identified as a leader in the Warsaw Ghetto battle and president of the Union of Hebrew Partisans, issued a statement declaring the Hebrew committee "is the temporary spokesman of the Hebrew nation."

Chinese Reds Gain Victories In Five Areas

Government Admits Shansi Advances; Communists Widen Changchun Drive

PEIPING, Dec. 4 (AP).—Important victories for Chinese Communist armies in five districts of Shansi Province were acknowledged today by government military sources, as the Communists advanced swiftly toward Yangku (Taiyuan), provincial capital 250 miles southeast of Peiping, and Fenyang, sixty miles farther south.

Confirmed reports said the Communists captured a group of cities and villages in southwest Shansi and were pushing northeastward toward Fenyang, one of the province's largest cities.

A Communist offensive in Manchuria, aimed at the capital city of Changchun, also gathered force, with attacks on Chiuchen, thirty miles to the northeast, and several points east of the capital. Large Communist forces were reported massed east of Changchun.

Other Communists, squeezed into the lower Kwantung Peninsula of Manchuria by government forces under General Tu Li-ming, were reported to have retreated southward to within seventeen to twenty miles of Russian-occupied Dairen.

Tu's troops still held to their safety zone outside Dairen, and an official military spokesman at Nanking said they are awaiting the green light from the Defense Ministry before moving in, because occupation of the port "has international complications which must receive full consideration." He said the Chinese were "given specific orders not to enter Dairen until the Foreign Ministry concludes negotiations under way with Soviet officials. These forces will not approach Dairen until the Ministry of Defense gives the order."

Reports reaching here said the Chinese Communists continue to evacuate personnel and equipment from Dairen in the mean time.

Communist armies also were astir in Shantung Province, across the Gulf of Chihli from Dairen. A Central News Agency dispatch from Tsinan placed the activity in the southwestern section of the province, where the Communists have captured Chuncheng, ancient provincial capital.

The Nanking newspaper "Ta Kang Pao" said 25,000 Communists were regrouping in western Shantung for a drive against the government-held eastern section of the Lunghai railroad.

The newspaper quoted Chin Chan-en, Communist party committeeman in North Kiangsu, as saying an all-out Nationalist drive in that area might force the Communists to retreat southward "and possibly menace the national capital of Nanking."

Reds Advance In North China

Peiping, Dec. 4 (AP)—Chinese Communist forces in sweeping new gains in North China were today reported to be moving swiftly on Yangku, capital of coal-rich Shansi province, and Fenyang, 60 miles to the south.

In Manchuria, the position of Changchun, the capital, became more precarious, with Communist assaults within a 30-mile arc north and east of the city. Large Communist concentrations were reported east of Changchun.

Communists withdrawing southward on the Kwantung Peninsula before Gen. Tu Li-ming's army were reported 17 to 20 miles from Dairen, which Government troops are expected to take over from the Soviets shortly.

Occupation Held Off

In Nanking an official military spokesman said Tu's troops were awaiting the green light from the Defense Ministry before moving into Dairen because occupation of the port "has international complications which must receive full consideration."

He said the Chinese were "given specific orders not to enter Dairen until the Foreign Ministry concludes negotiations under way with the Soviet officials.

"These forces will not approach Dairen until the Ministry of Defense gives the order."

Government sources said the Communists were sending reinforcements against Tsingyuan (Paoting), capital of Hopei province. Meanwhile, fighting raged for Yihsien, 23 miles north of Tsingyuan, and Wantu, the same distance to the south.

Communist guerrillas again harassed the Peiping-Mukden railway. Mines wrecked a coastal train near Pehtaiho.

Nisei Corporal Is Accused Of Extortion

Tokyo, Dec. 4 (AP)—The provost marshal's office today disclosed the arrest of a Japanese-American corporal of the United States Army who allegedly had extorted 700,000 yen ($46,447) from Japanese building contractors over a two-month period.

Officers said the 24-year-old Nisei was attached to a unit dealing with Japanese builders renovating Tokyo billets, and had obtained the money by threatening to cut off further work.

They said the corporal had purchased 250 pearls, sixteen unmounted cut diamonds, jeweled rings and other jewelry which he hoped to send to the United States through another Nisei. The gems were recovered and the accomplice arrested. Both Americans were held for court-martial.

Jap Official Hits Reparations Plan

Tokyo, Dec. 4 (AP)—Jiro Hoshijima, Minister of Commerce and Industry, told a Liberal party rally today that if Edwin A. Pauley's reparations recommendations are accepted, Japan would be unable to sustain 80,000,000 persons.

"Japan's economy," he said, "would fall back to the days prior to the Sino-Japanese war of 1894-95, when the population was 40,000,000."

56 Japanese Repatriates Squat In Diet

Tokyo, Dec. 4 (AP)—Fifty-six newly repatriated Japanese resorted to squatter tactics in the austere Diet (Parliament) Building today.

They announced they were determined to remain until the Government gives them a satisfactory reply to their demands for accommodations, a free issue of blankets and clothing and lifting of restrictions on their bank accounts.

Diet Building custodians were puzzled over what measure to take. Said one: "This is the first time we've had such guests, and we don't want to establish any precedent."

Two days ago sixteen homeless repatriates demanded use of the empty estate of Marquis Mori but left without squatting when the manager of the mansion promised to give them an answer tomorrow.

VARGAS BLAMES BERLE

Rio De Janeiro, Dec. 5 (A. P.). Former President Getulio Vargas today accused Adolph A. Berle Jr., former American Ambassador to Brazil, of contributing to the creation of the atmosphere which led to the overthrow of the Vargas regime in the fall of 1945.

The coup against him by the armed forces, Vargas told a news conference, was made under a false atmosphere created by the Ambassador's tempestuous attitude."

Wyatt Quits Housing Post In Protest Over Policies

Spokesman Hits Government's Failure to Sanction Emergency Methods.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 — (AP) Wilson W. Wyatt quit today as housing administrator in what aides described as a protest against "business as usual" policies by the administration in dealing with the housing program.

President Truman made the resignation public and said he did so "reluctantly." He did not mention the controversies between Wyatt and heads of other government agencies which preceded the resignation. The President did say that the resignation does not mean "any major modification in the objective of rapidly and adequately housing our veterans has occurred."

At the same time Mr. Truman declared that government controls over the building industry "must be relaxed as rapidly as possible without threatening the success of the housing program."

Wyatt declined comment on his resignation, which becomes effective tomorrow, telling reporters his position in the controversy "should be obvious."

An agency spokesman said, however, that "the attitude of the administration makes it impossible for Wyatt to stay," adding that "they plainly do not believe in emergency methods."

He told reporters that Wyatt had insisted that housing be regarded as an "all-out emergency" program but that the President and his advisers had refused to accept this policy.

Housing officials predicted that priorities control over distribution of building materials would be the first to go under the future program.

In his statement the President said that congress would be asked to give financial aid to multi-unit low-rent apartments, one of Mr. Wyatt's objectives.

He added that "with regard to factory built housing. Government loans and market guarantee contracts will be continued. Attention will continue to be given to the merits of the individual project and to the effect upon our entire economy."

Clashed With RFC

Wyatt had sought unsuccessfully to persuade the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make loans to prefabricated housing manufacturers which the RFC contended were "unsound."

Reviewing the housing picture, Mr. Truman said that after a year of emergency action "the time has come for an appraisal of the accomplishments of our efforts and reappraisal of the program itself."

He recalled asking Wyatt to come to Washington in December from Louisville, Ky., where he formerly served as mayor. An emergency program was developed and extraordinary powers were given Wyatt to accomplish his task, the chief executive said.

"It is now become clear that 1,000,000 dwelling units will have been put under construction and some 700,000 completed by the end of 1946," he said, adding that work has started on about 300,000 conversions and temporary dwelling units.

"The veterans emergency housing program has successfully passed through the first phase and is now well into the second phase," the President said. Many building materials are being produced "at the highest levels in history."

Now, Mr. Truman said, "the program must be given its proper emphasis in the overall economy and controls must be relaxed as rapidly as possible without threatening the success of the housing program."

The president said that in addition to steps already taken to stimulate rental housing, "Congress will be urged to give financial support to multi-unit low rent apartments so as to enable private enterprise to go ahead with construction at current high costs with some assurance of being able to earn a fair return on the capital invested at the desired low rentals.

"Congress will again be requested to pass the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill which contains important provisions to stimulate rental housing, the absence of which has been a serious handicap to the veterans emergency housing program of 1946."

Truman To Make Statement On Housing

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—The White House today promised a statement from President Truman on the controversy over the housing program which reportedly has led to a decision by Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt to resign.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the statement would be issued today or tomorrow.

"There is a very definite possibility it will come today, but not a certainty," he told a news conference.

Ross was asked what information he had as to whether Wyatt is quitting. There is nothing on Wyatt yet, Ross replied.

"Makes No Forecast"

Another reporter then asked whether the President's forthcoming statement would be an announcement that Mr. Truman is accepting Wyatt's resignation.

"I make no forecasts," Ross replied.

Friends said Wyatt decided to step out rather than accept a compromise in his demands for fuller authority to push the program along the lines he declares are necessary.

Wyatt conferred with President Truman yesterday afternoon for the second time within a week.

Democrat Wants Probe Of Yanks' Deeds In Reich

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—Senate Republicans bided time today for a chance to explore charges that immorality, venereal disease, dishonesty and incompetence in the armed forces jeopardize success of the occupation of Germany.

The Republicans will have control of the new Congress in January and there seemed no doubt of their determination to investigate the allegations despite:

1. A denial by the War Department that conditions are as bad as described.

2. President Truman's statement yesterday that he does not think an investigation is necessary.

Johnson Favors Full Inquiry

Although the President's headshake obviously blocked any immediate revival of the investigation, Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Col.) told a reporter he thought a full inquiry is in order.

"The American people have a right to know just exactly what is going on," the Colorado Senator said. "If the report is not correct, an investigation will show it. If it is correct, the people ought to know it."

It was the four Republican members of the Senate War Investigating Committee who made public, over objection of the six-man Democratic majority, a report by the committee's counsel, George Meader.

The Meader report recounted tales of immoral conduct by some of the American occupation troops, unsatisfactory performances by Negro soldiers, misconduct by officers, and an expensive influx of Jews and other displaced persons into the United States zone.

Accuracy Challenged

The War Department contended that many allegations by one of Meader's witnesses, Col. Francis P. Miller, were unbased upon "gossip and hearsay."

A proposed investigation was called off after Meader came back from a four-week tour of Central Europe and presented his confidential report to the committee. On advice of the State and War departments, which contended the inquiry was inadvisable at present, the six Democratic senators voted for cancellation.

The four Republicans voted to proceed, in the first party-line split in the history of the committee.

Generals Criticized

The Republicans also gave out a transcript of secret committee hearings last summer in which the members demanded from the War Department the truth of reports that:

Conduct of generals in the United States occupation forces in Germany has been such as to "destroy the morale of the whole troops"; generals in the Pacific theater have been "hijacking cigarettes for sale on the black market"; some discharged officers in Europe took UNRRA jobs "for the purpose of continuing their black-market operations."

Financial Gain Alleged

Colonel Miller testified that he had heard of one colonel whose black-market operations enabled him to buy a hotel and another who banked $50,000.

Aware that the Republican committee members were making Meader's report and the secret hearing transcripts public, Chairman Kilgore (D., W.Va.) handed out a summary by the Army inspector general's office.

The summary declared Miller could not substantiate some of his allegations.

EXPERTS SET TO WORK ON DEFENSE PLAN

Board Created To Meet Possible Atom Bomb Attack

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—The armed forces, alarmed at the frightful lessons learned in the atom-shattered cities of Japan and in the Bikini tests, have set experts to work on defense plans for American cities and fighting men.

The Army disclosed in a cryptic announcement today creation of a board of five generals, with an advisory group of other officers, "to study the question of civil defense for the United States in so far as it pertains to War Department participation in this essential part of national defense planning." The board will work with prominent civilian authorities.

Headed By General Bull

The board's president is Maj. Gen. Harold R. Bull, chief of operations for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower when he commanded the European theater.

The Navy meanwhile has appointed a "director of atomic defense," Rear Admiral William S. Parsons, physicist and technical chief for the joint Army-Navy task force at the Bikini atomic-bomb experiments.

The studies of the army board, it is understood, are directed not only at anti-atom-bomb measures but any other methods of modern mass destruction, including bacteriological warfare. One official explained that procedure must be perfected to prevent chaotic conditions, such as occurred in Hiroshima, from arising out of any form of enemy attack. Such conditions could be exploited militarily by an attacker.

Viewed Only As Spade Work

Those discussing the survey emphasized that it should be viewed only as spadework, the presentation of problems to be expected, with some recommendations for meeting them. The cautious statement that the army board was studying the question "in so far as it pertains to War Department participation" indicated War Department disinclination to take over complete responsibility for so broad a subject unless specifically directed by Congress or the White House.

Persons familiar with the policy underlying establishment of the board reasoned this way: A national plan for defense against atomic age attack, involving as it does such questions as dispersion of industry and possible shifts of populations, involves fundamentals not the responsibility of the military. The military, however, is in a position to advise on such subjects as underground shelters for populations and factories as well as to carry out active defense measures against an attacking force.

Navy's Mission Different

The Navy, with a mission somewhat different than the Army's, centers its major interest on protection of its own ships and shore installations. However, Admiral Parsons, who has worked on the atomic bomb project since its inception, also is interested directly in civilian protection against the weapon.

Co-ordination of studies by the two departments presumably is maintained through several agencies, including the joint chiefs of staff and the joint Army-Navy liaison committee appointed as an advisory group for the new Atomic Bomb Commission.

Both Admiral Parsons and War Department planners bear in mind the dictum of scientists that "there is no defense against the atomic bomb."

Three Possibilities Cited

But they agreed today that there were three possibilities:

1. A workable agreement on international control which would outlaw the bomb from the world's arsenals.

2. Positive defense — and this means only counterattack with atom bombs and rockets and whatever new weapons are available. The United States must make ready now for this form of defense by providing the material, training the men and maintaining an adequate intelligence system to warn of attack.

3. Passive defense—the preparation of vast underground installations, machinery for evacuation or dispersion of populations and industry, a thorough indoctrination on what to expect in an atom-bomb attack, including deadly radioactivity.

Steelman Denies Discussing Pipelines With Labor Leaders

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—Answering a blast by Harold L. Ickes, John R. Steelman, reconversion director, declared today he had never discussed with any labor leader the disposal of the Big Inch and Little Inch pipelines, which will transport natural gas during the coal-strike emergency.

Ickes, former Interior Secretary, told the House Surplus Property Investigation Committee yesterday that Steelman is a long and "obliging" friend of the mine-union chief, John L. Lewis.

Moreover, the former Cabinet member suggested that Steelman, whom he termed "District 51 of the United Mine Workers Union," should be summoned for questioning as to whether he had any part in "lack of planning" for earlier use of the pipelines for gas transportation.

Never Intervened, Says Steelman

In a letter today to Representative Slaughter (D., Mo.), the committee chairman, Steelman said he had not intervened in problems connected with disposal of the war-built carriers "in any manner."

Ickes, who criticized the Government for not having started using the pipelines for gas long ago as competition for Lewis, had also urged that Steelman be asked whether he had suggested to the war assets administrator that if an "inadequate bid" for the pipelines for oil transportation were accepted, it would help settle the coal strike.

Steelman aserted he had not telephoned the WAA chief or anyone "about the pipelines problem" nor talked with any labor leader about it.

Probably Within 48 Hours

Meanwhile, there were these developments in the use and ultimate disposition of the 1,500-mile lines built at a cost of $145,000,000 in wartime to transport oil:

1. Gardiner Symonds, of Houston, Texas, president of the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company, told the committee his company, which was granted a lease for operation of the lines during the coal-strike emergency, expects to have natural gas flowing through them from Texas eastward probably within 48 hours.

2. A representative of the National Coal Association, organization of coal producers, informed the committee that movement of gas through the lines would serve to alleviate very little, if any, of the fuel shortage caused by the strike. The organization contended the emergency lease is "designed solely for alleviating the shortage of natural gas."

Recommends Early Sale

3. Ralph K. Davies, acting director of the Interior Department's oil and gas division, told the committee the department recommends "that the lines should be sold to private enterprise at the earliest possible moment for natural-gas transmission, under conditions assuring that they will make the maximum contribution to conservation and to national security."

Steelman declined an invitation to appear personally before the House committee but instead sent the letter.

Slaughter explained in a statement that Steelman had offered to appear personally if the committee insisted. He indicated the committee would not insist.

"I would like to make it emphatically clear to the committee," Steelman wrote, "that I have not intervened in the problems connected with the disposal of the Big Inch and Little Inch pipelines in any manner. . . . I have never telephoned General Littlejohn (WAA administrator) or any other person in his office or elsewhere about the pipelines problem and I have never discussed it with any labor leader."

Gas May Flow In Inch Lines In 48 Hours

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—A congressional committee was told today that natural gas to afford a measure o relief from the coal shortage will probably start flowing through the Big Inch and Little Inch pipelines within 48 hours.

Gardiner Symonds, of Houston, Texas, president of the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company, told the House Surplus Property Investigating Committee that his men are already at work on the properties and the gas will be "turned on soon, possibly in a day or two."

The committee questioned Symonds while awaiting a response to an invitation to Reconversion Director John R. Steelman to answer Harold L. Ickes, who testified that Steelman is an "obliging" friend of John L. Lewis.

Connections Being Made

When the gas begins to flow will depend largely on weather conditions in southern Louisiana, where pipe connections are being made, Symonds said.

The war-built lines run from the Texas and Louisiana gas fields to the New York area.

Deliveries will be made first, Symonds testified, to the Ohio Fuel Gas Company.

He voiced serious doubt that the natural gas can cross the Pennsylvania border. There are possibilities of legal difficulties because of the nature of the easements obtained when the Government built the lines for transmission of oil, he said.

May Ease Fuel Demands

However, he added that he expects use of the gas in Ohio, parts of Tennessee and Kentucky to ease fuel demands to the eastward.

Symonds told the committee that the first time he knew that his company had been given a lease for a four-month emergency operation of the lines was when Interior Secretary J. A. Krug made the announcement before the committee on Monday.

Symonds denied that his company has "any connection whatsoever" with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. This statement was in answer to testimony by Ickes that, under the lease, the pipelines "will be subordinated to the interest of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey."

Sees No Violation

Symonds said he could not see where the temporary lease would be affected in any way by anti-trust laws, as suggested by Ickes. He pointed out that the Federal Power Commission, would regulate the sale of the gas, designating the points of delivery.

Symonds told the committee that, as of today, his company is not interested in permanent acquisition of the lines, as it now is arranging to build lines of its own.

Sugar-Rations Court Attack Dismissed

[Evening Sun Washington Bureau]

Washington, Dec. 4—A potential threat to the sugar-rationing program, one of the few functions remaining to the Office of Price Administration, was averted at least temporarily today when a motion attacking distribution methods was dismissed in Federal court.

The Maple Leaf Dairies, Inc., of Brooklyn, N.Y., had obtained a temporary injunction November 28 to prevent the OPA from issuing sugar rations under an amendment to its regulations. The firm has a sweetened condensed milk plant at Neenah, Wis.

The amendment provided that if firms were not engaged in the manufacture of condensed unsweetened milk prior to August 27, 1946, they would get no sugar. Top Government officials had predicted that if the company's suit were successful it would mean the scrapping of all sugar rationing.

Mutual Dismissal Consent

The motion to have the suit dismissed was made jointly by attorneys for the OPA and for the Maple Leaf Dairies before Federal Judge Jennings Bailey. Carl A. Auerbach, acting general counsel for the OPA, explained that the agency had denied the dairy sugar under a misapprehension.

The amendment to OPA regulations provides that dairies which had invested capital and materials in a plant prior to August 27, 1946, but had not yet begun operations on that date, would be entitled to ask for allocations of sugar on a historical basis just as are older firms.

At the time OPA denied Maple Leaf Dairies a sugar allocation it had not been aware that the company had invested funds in its plant prior to the August deadline, Auerbach said. OPA now is considering the company's application, the agency's attorney said.

Okay Not Certain

Auerbach explained that this did not mean the company would obtain a sugar allocation. It meant that OPA would consider its application on its merits, as it does with other established companies, and not on an interpretation of the amendment to regulations.

Raymond R. Dickey, attorney for the Maple Leaf Dairies, said the company would await the outcome of the OPA consideration before determining its next step. It was possible he said, that if the application was denied a motion might be made again to seek an injunction against the OPA.

Meanwhile, the sugar situation was stirring on another front. Representatives of American distributors and industrial users of sugar have drawn up a petition asking for larger allocations to this country in 1947. The petition was presented to Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture.

U.S. C.Of C. A Petitioner

The petitioners included manufacturers of soft drinks and bakery products, the Grocery Manufacturers of America, the National Retail Druggists and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

These interests are asking that they be permitted to receive at least as much in allocations as they had in 1941 before the war. It pointed out that current allocations are between 50 and 60 per cent below prewar figures.

A total of 2,828,000 tons of sugar was allocated for industrial use in 1941. This represented 38 per cent of the total civilian use of sugar in the United States.

There was no indications what attitude the Department of Agriculture would take on the petition. In the past, however, it had been said repeatedly that the sugar situation would remain tight for some time. Department officials also have warned that decontrol would mean a risk of the repetition of 1919 and 1920, whe. sugar went to 20 cents a pound wholesale and then broke to 4 cents a pound.

Truman Hopes Big 4 Will Quit Austria Soon

Accepts Credentials of 1st Post-War Envoy, Voices Plea for an Early Treaty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP).—President Truman accepted today the credentials of Austria's first post-war Minister to the United States and voiced hope for an early treaty and early withdrawal of all four occupying powers from Austria.

Letters formally exchanged by the President and the new Minister, Dr. Ludwig Kleinwachter, were released by the State Department.

The Austrian said that by renewing diplomatic relations with Austria the United States has "once more reaffirmed the support accorded by country from the start on its difficult path of recovery."

Mr. Truman said in reply that the United States government is "of the opinion that the early consideration and conclusion of a treaty settlement" providing for simultaneous withdrawal of the four occupying powers is desirable.

"It is my expectation," the President said, "that the renewal of the friendly relations mentioned by you, Mr. Minister, will greatly facilitate and strengthen our common efforts to secure for the Austrian people the unhampered control and enjoyment of their own territory, so that they may meet the difficult tasks of economic reconstruction with the full utilization of their own resources, assisted by the material support which this country and other friendly nations may be able to give."

Truman Appoints Denny to FCC Post

Washington, Dec. 4 (A. P.).—President Truman today appointed Charles R. Denny Jr., of Baltimore, to be chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. The appointment was forecast yesterday by the President's press secretary, Charles G. Ross.

Denny has been acting chairman of the FCC since Paul A. Porter left that post to be the OPA administrator. The chairmanship had been held for Porter until his decision last week not to continue in Government service.

MEYER RESIGNS AS PRESIDENT OF WORLD BANK

Former Publisher Says He Has Finished Job Of Starting Institution

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—Eugene Meyer, first president of the 38-nation World Bank, resigned today exactly six months after being elected to that office.

The resignation, accepted "with profound regret" by the bank's directors and to be effective December 18 or earlier if a successor is chosen before then, came as a surprise to Washington.

Meyer wrote the directors that the bank now was passing from the "preliminary work of preparation" and that he felt it now needed someone to serve as permanent head. He noted that he had been asked to launch the bank and had not been expected to serve indefinitely.

Lehman Mentioned As Successor

Speculation on a successor to the $30,000 a year post immediately centered on Herbert Lehman, four-time Governor of New York and defeated Democratic candidate for the Senate from New York in the November election.

Vice president of the bank at $22,500 a year is Harold D. Smith.

The $8,000,000,000 institution, launched last March, thus far has made no loans. Seven nations have asked it formally or informally for credits totaling $2,290,000,000. Only $767,000,000 of its capital subscriptions have been paid in.

First Security Issue Next Year

Its United States director, Emilio G. Collado, estimated yesterday that the first security issue of the bank would not be offered to American investors until well into 1947, instead of this year as had once been expected.

Meyer himself had already taken cognizance of criticism in various quarters that the bank was proceeding unduly slowly, and had been resolute in insisting that care rather than speed was necessary to insure its soundness.

War Had To Be Fought To End, Pastor Niemoeller Declares

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 4 (AP)—Pastor Martin Niemoeller, German church leader who spent eight years in Nazi prison camps, made his first public appearance in the United tSates tonight before the General Assembly of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

In a prepared address, Pastor Niemoeller, who had been imprisoned because he held to his faith in God in defiance of Hitler, said that the war could not have been avoided.

"It had to be fought to the end—until either state renounced its totalitarian claim on the very souls of its subjects or the churches invoked the binding character of God's will for human life."

War Between Church And State

"Through the whole period of the Nazi regime a war raged between the totalitarian state and the Christian churches," he pointed out. "The churches (that means for Germany the Evangelical and the Roman Catholic) were the two big organizations left which did not surrender to Hitler's claim for unrestricted control of public life."

The war had to be fought, he asserted, to settle the issue.

"Even though I am looked upon as a victim of national socialism, the fact remains," Pastor Niemoeller stated, "that I can't cease being a member of my German nation and that I signed the Stuttgart declaration, thereby affirming my personal share in the joint liability of my nation just now in its present state of guilt and contempt.

Aid Bridging The Gulf

"This being so, your invitation to speak here shows that there is a bridge that overcomes the gulf by which our nation is separated from the rest of the human world."

The German religious leader said that "on purpose I did not speak of the material misery in Europe. We know that you are aware of it. Your yourselves know that a great many of us would have died from starvation months ago if we had not had your sustaining help and regular support. But in spite of all sincere efforts hunger, cold and homeless are spreading more and more. No one can see the end of them. And, even more, we feel troubled by the growing hardness and apathy of souls."

BERLIN, DEC 4-(AP)-RUSSIAN DEMOBILIZATION AND REDEPLOYMENT IN EASTERN GERMANY ARE EXPECTED TO CONTINUE STRAINING RAILROADS AND HIGHWAYS UNTIL EARLY JANUARY.

THE NEWEST SIGN OF THE EXTENT OF THE MILITARY MOVEMENTS CAME TODAY WITH THE POSTPONEMENT OF THE FIRST SCHEDULED TOUR OF ARMAMENT PLANTS THROUGHOUT GERMANY BY FOUR INSPECTION TEAMS REPRESENTING THE UNITED STATES, RUSSIA, GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE. RESPONSIBLE QUARTERS ATTRIBUTED THE DELAY TO THE SHIFTING OF RUSSIAN FORCES.

RUSSIAN DEMOBILIZATION APPEARED TO BE SO FAR REACHING THAT CONSIDERABLE PATROL AND GUARD DUTY AT BRIDGES AND OTHER STRATEGIC POINTS IS BEING TURNED OVER TO THE GERMANS.

TROOP MOVEMENTS WERE HARDLY, IF AT ALL, NOTICEABLE IN THE RUSSIAN SECTOR OF BERLIN. BUT FROM POTSDAM, RUSSIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN THE SUBURBS, UNOFFICIAL GERMAN INFORMANTS SAID THE RESIDENTS WERE "LIVING IN A STATE OF EAR" SINCE THE REDEPLOYMENT OF RUSSIAN TROOPS BEGAN. FRANKFURT, GERMANY, DEC.4-(AP)-THE SO-CALLED "SOCIALIZATION" PLAN ADOPTTED DEC. 1 BY THE GERMAN STATE OF GREATER HESSE ACTUALLY WILL AFFECT ONLY A SMALL PART O THE STATES INDUSTRIES, AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL AID TODAY.

NOR WILL THE PLAN PROVIDE SOCIALISTIC STATE O NERSHIP AND OPERATION OF THE AFFECTED INDUSTRIES IN EITHER THE BRITISH OR THE RUSSIAN MANNER, THESE OFFICIALS PREDICTED.

BUT IT WILL, THEY AGREED, PROVIDE STATE REGULATION OF MOST BASIC INDUSTRIES AND A FORM OF PUBLIC OPERATION WHICH WILL PREVENT INDIVIDUAL DOMINATION OF LARGE ENTERPRISES VITAL TO THE WELFARE OF ALL THE PEOPLE.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION REQUIRES THAT MINES, IRON, STEEL AND PO ER PLANTS, AND RAIL TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS "SHALL BE TRANSFERRED TO COLLECTIVE PROPERTY."

"COLLECTIVE PROPERTY," THE CONSTITUTION DECLARES, IS THE POSSESSION OF THE PEOPLE. THE DISPOSAL AND ADMINISTRATION OF SUCH PROPERTY IS TO BE ASSIGNED ON THE BASI OF DETAILED LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS TO SUCH LEGAL ENTITIE A OFFER A GUARANTEE THAT THE PROPERTY WILL SERVE THE WELFARE AND PROSPERITY OF THE PEOPLE EXCLUSIVELY AND THAT ACCUMULATIONS OF POWER WILL BE AVOIDED.

EXACTLY HOW THAT WILL BE ONE REMAINS TO BE WORKED OUT IN DETAIL BY THE NEWLY ELECTED PARLIAMENT.

HOWEVER, MILITARY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS SAID, STATEMENTS OF THE CONSTITUTIONS AUTHORS AND THEIR TENTATI E DRAFTS OF PROPOSED LEGISLATION MAKE THIS CLEAR:

IT IS NOT INTENDED THAT THE STATE GOVERNMENT ITSELF TAKE OVER OWNERSHIP AND OPERATION OF THE "COLLECTIVIZED" INDUSTRIES.

INSTEAD, THE PROPERTIES WILL BE TRANSFERRED TO PUBLIC OR QUASI-PUBLIC ORGANIZATIONS SUCH A CITIES, COUNTIES, TRADE UNIONS OR CONSUMER COOPERATIVE , WITH PERHAPS SEVERAL SUCH ORGANIZATIONS SHARING IN THE OPERATION OF A SINGLE CONCERN.

"THE MAIN IDEA I THAT NO SINGLE INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP SHOULD GAIN

COMPLETE CONTROL OF ANY BASIC ENTERPRISE," ONE OFFICIAL SAID.
THE SCOPE OF THE PLAN IS SHARPLY CURTAILED, HOWEVER, BY THE EXCEPTION FROM COLLECTIVE OWNER HIP OF BUSINESS ENTERPRISES "THE SEAT OF WHICH IS NOT LOCATED IN GREATER HESSE."
THE FIRMS WITH HEADQUARTERS OUTSIDE THE STATE MERELY "SHALL BE PLACED UNDER STATE ADMINISTRATION OR SUPERVISION"--WITH NO TRANSFER OF OWNERSHIP.

B36 (SEG) 1946 1946
A RECENT SURVEY SHOWED THAT MOST OF HESSE'S LARGE MINES AND IRON OR STEEL PLANTS HAVE HEADQUARTERS OUT IDE THE STATE, AND MOST OF ITS POWER PLANTS AND RAIL LINES ALREADY ARE UNDER PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.
MINES WILL BE MOST HEAVILY AFFECTED YET THIS URVEY INDICTS THAT ONLY 53 OF THE STATE' 57 MINES WILL BE SUBJECT TO COLLECTIVE OWNER HIP--AND THEY ARE ALL COMPARATIVELY SMALL MINEE WITH AN AVERAGE EMPLOYMENT OF ONLY 70 PERSONS EACH.
ONLY ONE IMPORTANT FOUNDRY CONCERN APPEARS ELIGIBLE FOR COLLECTIVIZATION, AND ONE OF ITS THREE PLANTS IS EARMARKED FOR REPARATIONS.
ONLY ONE OF THE STATE'S 11 WATER POWER PLANTS AND ONLY TWO OF IT EIGHT STEAM POWER PLANTS ARE PRIVATELY OWNED, WHILE THE 22 POWER DISTRIBUTING SY TEM ARE OWNED ALMOST EXCLUSIVELY BY GOVERNMENTAL UNITS.
LIKEWISE, THE MAIN RAILROAD SYSTEM--THE "REICHSBAHN"--AND STREET RAILWAYS.
SO THE EFFECT OF SOCIALIZATION ON PUBLIC UTILITIES AND TRANSPORTATION WILL HARDLY BE NOTICEABLE, OFFICIALS BELIEVE.
NO BANKS OR INSURANCE OMPANIES WILL BE BROUGHT INTO COLLECTIVE OWNERSHIP, ALTHOUGH ALL LARGE ONES WILL BE PLACED UNDER STATE ADMINI-TRATION OR SUPERVISION.

MOSCOW,DEC.4-(AP)-PRAVDA CHARGED TODAY THAT GEORGE V.ALLEN, UNITED STATES AMBASSADOR TO IRAN, WANTED TO "PROVOKE ARMED CONFLICT" IN THAT COUNTRY.

THE COMMUNIST PARTY NEWSPAPER MADE THE ACCUSATION IN CONNECTION WITH REPORTED REMARKS OF ALLEN IN SUPPORT OF THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT'S INTENTION TO SEND TROOPS TO SEMI-AUTONOMOUS AZERBAIJJAN TO KEEP ORDER IN THE COMING PARLIAMENTARY ELECTION.

PRAVDA SAID ALLEN WAS QUOTED AS TELLING A BRITISH CORRESPONDENT THAT "THE DECISION TO DISPATCH FORCES TO MAINTAIN ORDER IN ALL PARTS OF IRAN, INCLUDING POINTS WHERE THESE FORCES DO NOT NOW CONTROL THE SITUATION, FOR MAINTENANCE OF ORDER AT THE TIME OF THE ELECTIONS IS, FROM MY VIEWPOINT, PERFECTLY NORMAL AND PROPER."

TERMING THIS STATEMENT "INTERFERENCE IN INTERNAL AFFAIRS" OF IRAN, PRAVDA'S CORRESPONDENT WROTE:

"THE AMERICAN AMBASSADOR KNOWS NATURALLY ABOUT IRANIAN GOVERNMENT OBLICATIONS TO SETTLE THE AZERBAIJAN QUESTION PEACEFULLY AND ABOUT THE GOVERNMENT AGREEMENT WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE POPULATION OF IRANIAN AZERBAIJAN BY VIRTUE OF WHICH MAINTENANCE OF ORDER IN AZERBAIJAN, UNTIL CONSIDERATION OF THESE AGREEMENTS BY THE FIFTEENTH MAJLIS (PARLIAMENT), IS THE RESPONSIBILITY OF ARMY AND GENDARME UNITS ON HAND THERE, HEADED BY CHIEFS SENT OUT BY THE GOVERNMENT FROM TEHRAN.

Stuttgart, Germany, Dec. 4-(AP)-Sumner Sewall, former governor of Maine and now governor of the German state of Wuerttemberg-Baden, said his new job with the American military government was an opportunity to bring to Germans the principles of democracy and a chance to help build a lasting peace.

Former Gov. Gordon Browning of Tennessee has a similar position in Bremen. It was reported that former Gov. Dwight Griswald of Nebraska might take an important job in Berlin with the U.S. military government.

Sewall, a pursuit pilot in the first world war who won American, French and Belgian decorations, said he believed Americans with governmental experience could do worthwhile work in the administration of Germany.

Sewall relinquished the presidency of the [redacted] American Overseas airlines and any immediate political prospects at home to take the post the war department offered. He commented:

"This is a tremendously important period in world affairs. In a sense it is as important as the war itself, because the efforts of those who fought and died will be in vain unless we can make the peace a lasting one.

MOSCOW, DEC.4-(AP)-THE POLITICAL AIMS WHICH GEN. MACARTHUR IS PURSUING IN JAPAN WERE ASSAILED AS "REACTIONARY" AND "ABNORMAL" TODAY IN ONE OF THE STRONGEST PROTESTS OVER THE JAPANESE SITUATION TO APPEAR TO DATE IN THE SOVIET PRESS.

POLITICAL COMMENTATOR A. SIBIRYAKOV SAID IN RED STAR:

"THE POLICY CONDUCTED BY MACARTHUR (OF COURSE NOT WITHOUT THE KNOWLEDGE AND APPROVAL OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT) PURSUES FAR FROM DEMOCRATIC AIMS AND SHARPLY DEPARTS FROM THE POLICY PLANNED BY ALLIED LEADERS FOR JAPAN."

EXPRESSIN "SERIOUS ALARM" OVER THE PRESENT SITUATION IN JAPAN, WHICH HE CHARACTERIZED AS ONE OF DAILY RISING TENSION CAUSED BY PREMIER SHIGERU YOSHIDA'S GOVERNMENT'S INABILITY AND LACK OF DESIRE TO SOLVE INTERNAL PROBLEMS SUCH AS UNEMPLOYMENT AND DEMILITARIZATION, SIBIRYAKOV DECLARED:

"THE PRESENT SITUATION IN JAPAN NOT ONLY IS PROOF OF THE COMPLETE FAILURE OF THE POLICY OF YOSHIDA'S GOVERNMENT, BUT THE NATURAL CONSEQUENCE OF THE LINE PUR UED BY MACARTHUR, WITHOUT WHOSE SUPPORT THE REACTIONARY POLICY OF THE PRESENT JAPANESE GOVERNMENT WOULD BE AB OLUTELY IMPOSSIBLE. EVIDENTLY THE MAIN REASON FOR THE SITUATION WHICH HAS BEEN CREATED LIES IN THE VERY CHARACTER OF POLITICAL AIMS PURSUED BY THE AMERICANS IN JAPAN AND, WE WOULD SAY, IN THE FAR EAST."

CHARGING THAT NOT ONE IMPORTANT PROPOSAL OR RECOMMENDATION MADE THUS FAR BY THE ALLIED COUNCIL HAD BEEN ADOPTED BY MACARTHUR, SIBIRYAKOV WROTE:

"THE ABNORMAL CONDITIONS OF THE ALLIED COUNCIL'S ACTIVITY HAVE EVOKED DISSATISFACTION OF ALL ITS MEMBERS EXCEPT, OF COURSE, THE UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE."

THE WRITER INTERPRETED A PROPOSAL MADE BY THE UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE, GEORGE ATCHESON, JR., LAST SEPTEMBER THAT THE COUNCIL BE EXPANDED AS A "SIGN IT IS BECOMING HARDER FOR THE AMERICANS TO IGNORE THE ALLIED COUNCIL'S DECISIONS AND THAT THE AMERICANS WOULD LIKE TO CONVERT THE COUNCIL INTO A CUMBERSOME, CLUMSY ORGAN IN WHICH THE REPRESENTATIVES OF MANY COUNTRIES WOULD ENTER" INTO ENDLESS TALKS.

REFERRING TO A RECENT SOVIET PROPOSAL IN THE COUN IL TO COUNT ALL FORMER JAPANESE ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS, SIBIRYAKOV SAID:

"A CENSUS REGISTRATION OF FORMER JAPANESE OFFICERS WOULD EXPOSE BEFORE THE WHOLE WORLD THE FACT THAT THEY ARE BEING EMPLOYED IN AIMS VERY FAR FROM THE PRINCIPLE OF THE POTSDAM AGREEMENT."

THE WRITER ASSERTED THAT TALK WAS SPREAD "IN AMERICAN AGGRESSIVE CIRCLES THAT THE JAPANESE ARMY SHOULD FIGHT IN A FUTURE WAR DRESSED IN AMERICAN UNIFORMS."

BARUCH APPEALS TO REDS TO ADOPT U. S. ATOM CURBS

'Time Has Come for Action,' Declares American Representative.

CALLS PLAN WORKABLE

Proposal Is Submitted to Control Committee for Study.

F. Carpenter

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 5—(AP) Bernard M. Baruch, declaring emphatically that the "time has come for action," appealed directly to Soviet Russia tonight to approve the United States plan for harnessing the atom for peace.

Speaking [illegible] most important meetings yet held by the United Nations Atomic Energy commission, Baruch, as the U. S. representative, urged the commission —including Russia—to adopt the American plan as its basic recommendation for controlling atomic energy.

Baruch Loses No Time

Baruch thus lost no time in acting on major Russian concessions which were clearly enunciated, after some delay, only yesterday by Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Russian foreign minister, to the UN Political committee.

Saying that the United States welcomed the support of those countries which have already indicated their acceptance of the U. S. plan, Baruch added:

"We seek especially the participation of the Soviet Union. We welcome the recent authoritative statements of its highest representatives. From these, we are justified in concluding that it no longer regards the original American proposals unacceptable, as a whole or in their separate parts, as its member of this body stated at an earlier meeting.

Stand on Principles

"I repeat—we welcome cooperation but we stand upon our basic principles even if we stand alone . . .the time for action is here."

He said that if the nations can control the atomic weapon, they can go on from there to control other instruments of mass destruction. He thus agreed directly with numerous delegates who have insisted in the disarmament debate that there must be general arms limitation.

Baruch formally presented a resolution by which the commission would report the American plan to the United Nations Security Council on Dec. 31 as the commission's decision on the best way to control the atom.

Baruch said these three elements were inherent in any treaty that is to be written:

"1. The erection of an international authority which shall effectively prevent the manufacture and use of atomic bombs for war purposes, and which shall develop the use of atomic energy for social gain.

"2. The right of free and full international inspection in support of these purposes (Russia now has approved the idea).

"3. The definite agreement that once a treaty becomes effective providing for deterrents against offenses and punishments for offenders, there can be no veto to protect wilful violators, or to hamper the operations of the international authority."

Asks for Study

These elements also were contained in the resolution Baruch read to the commission. He did not ask for a vote now but submitted the proposal for study.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, said the commission needed time to study the Baruch resolution and Chairman Alexandre Parodi of France said it would be taken up by a working group next week. Parodi said a scientific-control committee now at work on a report covering safeguards also would have its summarry ready next week.

The United States resolution immediately raised one potential stumbling-block in the form of a renewed demand that the punishment of violations of a proposed treaty regulating atomic energy must not be subject to the veto of the five permanent members of the Security Council.

Russia has yielded the point of no veto on inspections and control but has stood adamant against any of the numerous proposals from small nations to alter or discard the veto power in the Security Council.

The United States resolution, in effect re-stating the essentials of the United States plan, called for a "strong and comprehensive international system of control of atomic energy" to be set up by treaty which shall be effective "only when those members of the United Nations necessary to assure its success," agree to accept and support it.

Terms of Treaty

The treaty would:

1. Establish in the UN an international authority clothed with complete powers and responsibility for administration of the treaty and for carrying out its "day-to-day" duties.
2. Afford representatives of the authority complete freedom to move in and out of nations in performing their inspections and other duties.
3. Prohibit the manufacture, possession, and use of atomic weapons by all nations signing the treaty and by all of their nationals.
4. Provide for disposal of any existing stocks of atomic bombs.
5. Specify the means and methods of determining violations of the treaty, "stigmatizing such violations as international crimes, and establishing the nature of the measures of enforcement and punishment to be imposed upon individuals and upon nations guilty of violating its provisions."

5. Provide for the prompt reporting of violations to the nations signing the treaty and to the Security Council.
6. Provide that in dealing with such violations the permanent members of the Security Council should agree not to use the veto to protect a violator.

Would Negate Enforcement

The United States said that the provisions of the treaty would be wholly ineffectual if, in any such situation, the enforcement provisions of the treaty could be rendered nugatory by the veto of a state which has voluntarily signed the treaty."

The Atomic Energy Commission last month decided, upon considerable urging from the United States in commission discussions, to take a report from its Political Committee on December 20 and to submit its own report to the Security Council on December 31.

M. Parodi called tonight's meeting to determine the commission's course in view of the Assembly action on Russian and United States proposals for disarmament, including all weapons. The United States and Russia agree that atomic weapons must have top billing in any arms limitation discussions but the United States has demanded, along with several other delegations, that nothing be done to hinder completion of the commission's task.

Control Held Feasible

In a section on findings, Baruch's proposals tonight declared it is "scientifically, technologically and practically" feasible to control atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

The American delegation also found that "effective control of atomic energy depends upon effective control of the production and use of uranium, thorium and their fissionable derivatives."

Baruch's Address to Atomic Energy Board and His Proposals for an Agreement

The text of Bernard M. Baruch's address to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission and his proposals follow:

Dec. 5, 1946.

My Fellow Members of the Atomic Energy Commission:

The primary responsibility for originating a system to protect the world against the atomic bomb has been placed squarely in our hands. Regardless of discussions elsewhere, the Atomic Energy Commission cannot escape its duty. Our task came to us from three high sources—first, the meeting in Washington, November a year ago, of the chiefs of state of the United States, Canada, and the United Kingdom; second, the meeting of the Foreign Ministers of the United States, the United Kingdom, and the Soviet Union, in Moscow last December; third, the definitive resolution of the General Assembly in London last January.

I note that the debates on disarmament in the General Assembly have followed closely the proposals laid down by the United States on June 14, before this body. It remains, however, the responsibility of this commission to submit definite plans to the Security Council. It is to that business I address myself. I entreat all to join in the enterprise so that we may show speed, as well as vision, in our assignment.

The stakes are greater than ever before offered mankind—peace and security. For who can doubt, if we succeed in controlling the atomic weapon, that we can go on to the control of other instruments of mass destruction. The elimination of war itself is within the range of possibility. I repeat:

"The man who learns to say A can learn, if he chooses, the rest of the alphabet, too."

For Victory in Great Crusade

But we must make a beginning. Let us delay no longer. The awakened conscience of humanity is our goad. In all my life, now past the biblical allotment of three score and ten years, never before have I seen so rich an opportunity for deathless service as is presented to us here. I want my country associated with victory in this great crusade.

For myself, as I look upon a long past and too short a future, I believe the finest epitaph would be: He helped to bring lasting peace to the world.

But we must have whole-hearted and not half-way measures. The world is not to be fooled by lip service. The world will resent and reject deception. We must march together in the bonds of a high resolve. We dare not wait too long.

I do not intend, at this time, to debate the plan that we are about to offer here, in broad outline. I shall content myself with comments as to the imperative necessity for speed.

I beg you to remember that to delay may be to die. I beg you to believe that the United States seeks no special advantage. I beg you to hold fast to the principle of seeking the good of all, and not the advantage of one.

We believe that the original proposals of the United States, made on June 14th, were generous and just. Through the acid test of deliberation and debate, before this commission and before the public opinion of the world, they have been proven so. In the long and protracted series of seventy odd meetings of this commission and its various committees, studying all phases of the subject, we have found inherent and inevitable in any treaty that is to be written, covering this subject, three major elements:

(1) The erection of an international authority which shall effectively prevent the manufacture and use of atomic bombs for war purposes, and which shall develop the use of atomic energy for social gain.

(2) The right of free and full international inspection in support of these purposes.

(3) The definite agreement that once a treaty becomes effective, providing for deterrents against offenses and punishments for offenders, there can be no veto to protect willful violators, or to hamper the operations of the international authority.

However much one may seek to escape from these primaries, always the discussion, no matter where held, has come back to them. We have heard words that sometimes seemed to be steering us away from our goal, only later to hear others that led us back toward it.

The outline here presented is the bone and the sinew of any effective international control that may be—that shall be—that must be established if the civilized world is not to be ended; if the peoples are to live in security instead of being paralyzed by fear.

Time a Double Danger

Time is two-edged. It not only forces us nearer to our doom, if we do not save ourselves, but, even more horrendous, it habituates us to existing conditions which, by familiarity, seem less and less threatening.

Once our minds have been conditioned to that sort of thinking the keen edge of danger is blunted, and we are no longer able to see the dark chasm on the brink of which we stand.

Action at this time may well change hope into confidence. How can it profit any of us to avoid the issue, unless by so doing, we seek a special advantage; unless a chaos of fear will help particular ambitions.

Let us assume a report of the nature described in the American proposals is placed before the Security Council, together with such additions thereto as this body may desire. In it there will not be found a derogation of the dignity or might of any nation. On the contrary, the plan will build up, in all the world, a new and greater strength and dignity based on the faith that at last security is in sight; that at last men can walk erect again, no longer bent over by the numbing fear the atom bomb strikes into their hearts.

The price we have set upon the surrender of the absolute weapon is a declaration of peaceful intent and of interdependence among the nations of the world, expressed in terms of faith and given strength by sanctions—punishments to be meted out by concerted action against willful offenders. That is one of the great principles of the United Nations—justice for all, supported by force. But there can be no unilateral disarmament by which America gives up the bomb, to no result except our own weakening. That shall never be.

It is for us to accept, or to reject—if we dare, this doctrine of salvation. It springs from stark necessity, and that is inexorable. My country, first to lay down a plan of cooperative control, welcomes the support of those countries which have already indicated their affirmative positions. We hope for the adherence of all.

We seek especially the participation of the Soviet Union. We welcome the recent authoritative statements of its highest representatives. From these, we are justified in concluding that it no longer regards the original American proposals unacceptable, as a whole or in their separate parts, as its member of this body stated at an earlier meeting.

I repeat: We welcome cooperation but we stand upon our basic principles even if we stand alone. We shall not be satisfied with pious protestations lulling the peoples into a false sense of security. We aim at an effective plan of control and will not accept anything less.

The time for action is here. Each of us perceives clearly what must be done. We may differ as to detail. We are in accord as to purpose. To the achievement of that purpose, I present a program in the form of resolutions, which have been placed before you.

I do not ask you to discuss or vote on these proposals at this time. They are now presented for your study and consideration. But I do ask the chairman to call a meeting of this commission, as early as convenient, to debate, if necessary, and to act upon the findings and recommendations contained in these resolutions, so that the position each nation takes on them may be recorded in this commission's report which must be drafted by Dec. 20, and presented to the Security Council by Dec. 31.

I shall now read these resolutions.

The Proposals

Proposals by the United States Representative for the Consideration of the Atomic Energy Commission of Certain Items to be Included Among the Findings and Recommendations in the Forthcoming Report of the Commission to the Security Council.

Pursuant to the resolution of this commission passed at its meeting held Nov. 13, 1946, the Report of the Proceedings, Findings and Recommendations of this commission to be submitted to the Security Council by Dec. 31, 1946, consists of three parts:

Part I, a summary of the proceedings together with the records of this commission and of its committees and subcommittees;

Part II, certain findings of this commission based upon its deliberations to date; and

Part III, certain recommendations of this commission based upon its findings to date;

RESOLVED, that Part II of said report shall contain among others, the following Findings of the commission:

PART II

Findings

Based upon the proposals and information presented to the commission, upon the hearings, proceedings and deliberations of the commission to date, and upon the proceedings, discussions and reports of its several committees and subcommittees, all as set forth in Part I of this report, the commission has made the following findings:

(1) That scientifically, technologically and practically it is feasible

(a) to extend among "all nations the exchange of basic scientific information on atomic energy for peaceful ends,"*

(b) to control "atomic energy to the extent necessary to ensure its use only for peaceful purposes,"*

(c) to accomplish "the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons,"* and

(d) to provide "effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions."*

(2) That effective control of atomic energy depends upon effective control of the production and use of uranium, thorium and their fissionable derivatives. Appropriate mechanisms of control to prevent their unauthorized diversion or clandestine production and use, including inspection, accounting, supervision, licensing and management, must be applied through the various stages of the processes from the time these minerals are severed from the ground to the time they become fissionable materials and are used.

(3) That, whether the ultimate fissionable product be destined for peaceful or destructive uses, the productive processes are identical and inseparable up to a very advanced stage of manufacture. Thus, the control of atomic energy to ensure its use for peaceful purposes, the elimination of atomic weapons from national armaments, and the provision of effective safeguards to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions must be accomplished through a single unified international system of control designed to carry out all of these related purposes.

(4) That the development and use of atomic energy are not essentially and exclusively matters of domestic concern of the individual nations, but rather have predominantly international implications and repercussions.

(5) That an effective system of control of atomic energy must be international in scope, and must be established by an enforceable multilateral agreement (herein called "the treaty") which in turn must be administered by an international agency within the United Nations, possessing adequate powers and properly organized, staffed, and equipped for the purpose.

Only by such a system of international control can the development and use of atomic energy be freed from nationalistic rivalries with consequent risks to the safety of all peoples. Only by such a system can the benefits of widespread exchange of scientific knowledge and of the peaceful uses of atomic energy be assured. Only such a system of control would merit and enjoy the confidence of the people of all nations.

(6) That an international agreement outlawing the production, possession and use of atomic weapons is an essential part of any such system of international control of atomic energy. An international convention to this effect, if standing alone, would fail (a) "to insure" the use of atomic energy "only for peaceful purposes"* and (b) to provide "for effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions,"* and thus would fail to meet the requirements of the terms of reference of the commission. To be effective, such an agreement must be an integral part of a treaty providing for a comprehensive system of international control and must be fortified by adequate guarantees and safeguards in the form of international supervision, inspection and control adequate to insure the carrying out of the terms of the convention and "to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions."*

FURTHER RESOLVED, that Part III of said report shall contain, among others, the following recommendations:

PART III

Recommendations

Based upon the findings of the commission set forth in Part II of this report, the commission makes the following recommendations to the Security Council with respect to the matters covered by the terms of reference of the commission, which recommendations are interdependent and not severable, constituting together and as a whole, the fundamental principles and basic organizational mechanisms necessary to attain the objectives set forth in the commission's terms of reference.

(1) There should be a strong and comprehensive international system of control of atomic energy aimed at attaining the objectives set forth in the commission's terms of reference.

(2) Such a system of international control of atomic energy should be established and its scope and functions defined by a treaty in which all of the nations members of the United Nations should be entitled to participate with the same rights and obligations. The international control system should be declared operative only when those members of the United Nations necessary to assure its success, by signing and ratifying the treaty, bind themselves to accept and support it.

(3) The treaty should include, among others, provisions

(a) Establishing, in the United Nations, an international authority (hereinafter called "the Authority") possessing powers and charged with responsibility necessary and appropriate for effective administration of the terms of the treaty, and for the prompt carrying out of its day-to-day duties. Its rights, powers, and responsibilities, as well as its relation to the several organs of the United Nations, should be clearly established and defined by the treaty. Such powers should be sufficiently broad and flexible to enable the Authority to deal with new developments that may hereafter arise in the field of atomic energy. In particular, the authority shall be responsible for extending among all nations the exchange of basic scientific information on atomic energy for peaceful ends, for preventing the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes and for stimulating its peaceful beneficent uses for the benefit of the people of all nations.

The authority should have positive research and developmental responsibilities in order to remain in the forefront of atomic knowledge so as to render the Authority more effective in promoting the beneficent uses of atomic energy and in eliminating its destructive ones. The exclusive right to carry on atomic research for destructive purposes should be vested in the Authority.

Decisions of the Authority pursuant to the powers conferred upon it by the treaty should govern the operations of national agencies for the control of atomic energy. In carrying out its prescribed functions, however, the Authority should interfere as little as necessary with the operations of national agencies for the control of atomic energy, or with the economic plans and the private, corporate and state relationships in the several countries.

(b) Affording the duly accredited representatives of the Authority unimpeded rights of ingress, egress and access for the performance of their inspections and other duties into, from and within the territory of every participating nation, unhindered by national or local authorities.

(c) Prohibiting the manufacture, possession, and use of atomic weapons by all nations parties thereto and by all of their nationals.

(d) Providing for disposal of any existing stocks of atomic bombs.

(e) Specifying the means and methods of determining violations of its terms, stigmatizing such violations as international crimes, and establishing the nature of the measures of enforcement and punishment to be imposed upon individuals and upon nations guilty of violating its provisions.

The judicial or other processes for determination of violations of the treaty and of punishment therefor, should be swift and certain. Serious violations of the treaty should be reported immediately by the Authority to the nations party to the treaty and to the Security Council. In dealing with such violations, the permanent members of the Security Council should agree not to exercise their power of veto to protect a violator of the terms of the treaty from the consequences of his wrongdoing.

The provisions of the treaty would be wholly ineffectual if, in any such situations, the enforcement provisions of the treaty could be rendered nugatory by the veto of a state which has voluntarily signed the treaty.

(4) The treaty should embrace the entire program for putting the system of international control of atomic energy into effect and should provide a schedule for the completion of the transitional process over a period of time, step by step in an orderly and agreed sequence leading to the full and effective establishment of international control of atomic energy. In order that the transition may be accomplished as rapidly as possible and with safety and equity to all, this commission should supervise the transitional process, as prescribed in the treaty, and should be empowered to determine when a particular stage or stages have been completed and subsequent ones are to commence.

UN Registers Real Progress Setting Up Arms Cut Machinery

By Harrison

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 5—(AP) The United Nations made its first real progress today toward setting up machinery for world arms reduction, but it appeared the discussions might run into a snag tomorrow over a United States proposal to include controversial provisions on the control of atomic energy.

NIGHT

A 20-nation working subcommittee laid the foundation for the arms limitation program by agreeing unanimously on the general principles of procedure to be followed in launching the program.

With Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex) and British Delegate Sir Hartley Shawcross in accord on the general plan, the committee decided that the Security Council should be given the task of formulating measures for reducing arms and for setting up effective controls.

It also was agreed that once the plans were drafted by the Security Council they must be submitted to the 54 members of the United Nations for their ratification before becoming effective.

These provisions were embodied in the first paragraph of a United States resolution, which the subcommittee had accepted unanimously as a basis for discussion.

Connally Stands Firm

Connally said the United States would insist that the Security Council not only consider measures to prohibit the use of atomic weapons, as proposed by the Russians, but also to establish controls over the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Connally's proposal in effect injected into the discussions the old controversy over conflicting American and Soviet plans for atomic control. The Russians have insisted on the immediate outlawing of atomic weapons while the United States has maintained that the outlawing of atom bombs must be a part of a general atomic control plan.

The question was further complicated by Shawcross' proposal that all weapons of mass destruction, such as jet-propelled weapons and bacteriological weapons, be prohibited along with the atomic bomb.

Meanwhile, two other subcommittees of the 54-nation Political committee worked on the controversial Spanish and veto questions in an effort to reconcile the various viewpoints and speed final action before the assembly's Dec. 13 adjournment deadline.

In the subcommittee on the veto question, efforts to reach a compromise failed and the delegates instructed the secretariat to prepare a report to this effect, reviewing the conflicting points of view. The subcommittee is scheduled to act formally on the report at its meeting tomorrow.

U.S. Arms Plan Set As Basis For Talks

By Harrison 1946

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—United Nations efforts to set up world-wide arms-limitation machinery started off on a note of harmony today when a subcommittee agreed unanimously to accept the United States plan as a basis for discussion.

1946

The new spirit of conciliation, initiated yesterday by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's agreement that any inspection and control agencies to enforce an arms reduction program must be free of the veto, was evident from the opening o fthe new twenty-nation drafting subcommittee's first session.

DAY

Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas) and Molotov started the session by proposing that Assembly President Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium be elected chairman. The subcommittee agreed unanimously.

Sentence-By-Sentence

Spaak immediately announced that the committee would begin a sentence-by-sentence discussion of the American resolution which provides that the atomic bomb be given top priority and that "practical and effective" control machinery must be set up without any big power veto.

There was no objection when Spaak, in response to a question from Connally, asserted that the United tSates resolution would be used as the "basis for discussion."

The committee approved the first sentence without a dissenting vote. This merely declared that "the General Assembly recognizes the necessity of an early regulation and reduction of armaments." (400)

Near-By Nations Aid Guerrillas, Greece Says

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Greece charged today that "the whole guerrilla movement against Greece is receiving substantial support from the countries adjacent to Greece's northern boundaries, and particularly from Yugoslavia."

In a 35-page document filed with the United Nations Security Council and made public today, the Greek Government also linked Albania and Bulgaria directly to the disorders along the border and called on the United Nations to order an "on-the-spot" investigation The complaint charged specifically that:

Specific Charges

1. Groups of men "are being trained and organized in foreign territory" and "are then sent into Greece, together with consignments of war material."

2. Armed bands or isolated members of such bands "are crossing the boundary lines in both directions under the protection and guidance of the frontier authorities of the neighboring countries."

3. Greek fugitives from justice and "anarchists are being received and cared for in foreign territory, and are being incited by propaganda to carry on subversive activities in Greece."

Names Yugoslavia

The complaint then charged that the evidence offered by Greece "confirms the view of the Greek Government that the guerrilla warfare that is being conducted on the northern boundaries of Greece enjoys official Yugoslav support."

It added "that Bulgaria and Albania bear a similar responsibility for the activities of the hostile bands operating on Greece's northern frontiers."

"This situation, if not promptly remedied, is, in the opinion of my Government, likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security," said Greek Delegate Thanassis Aghnides.

Tsaldaris On His Way

Aghnides filed the complaint in behalf of Premier Constantin Tsaldaris, who was en route to New York to present the case personally before the Security Council. Tsaldaris left Shannon, Ireland, by plane today after being delayed by engine trouble.

Asks Immediate Probe

"The Greek Government," Aghnides said, "desires to draw the attention of the Security Council to the urgent necessity for an investigation to be undertaken on the spot, in order that the causes of this situation may be brought to light.

"They (the Greek Government) are confident that in this way the charges brought by them may be confirmed authoritatively, and means provided for the settlement of the question."

GREEK PREMIER ARRIVES IN U. S. TO ASK UN HELP

1946

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—(AP) Premier Constantin Tsaliaris of Greece declared tonight that he had brought to New York evidence of Yugoslav support of guerrilla actions in northern Greece which he declared have already cost the lives of thou-

NIGHT

Tsaldaris said the evidence would be available to the United Nations Security Council if the council desired it. This was in connection with a Greek request made public earlier today for the assignment of an impartial commission to make a first hand investigation of the border dispute which British-supported Greece is having with Russian-allied Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

The urgent need, Tsaldaris told a news conference shortly after he arrived here by plane, is for speedy action by some responsible international agency to make the investigation which the Greek government insists is essential to peace in the Balkans.

"What we want to do," he said, "is establish the truth. We understand that the Security Council is the competent agency to make the investigation, but we do not care which agency does it so long as it is done quickly."

Hints Big 4 Appeal

There was some indication, in what he said that he would appeal to Secretary of State Byrnes, British Foreign Minister Bevin, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and French Deputy Foreign Couve de Murville for aid in supporting Greece's request before the Security Council.

On other questions, Tsaldaris declared that:

1. Greece is dissatisfied with a recent Big Four decision to leave the Greek-Bulgarian frontiers unchanged because the Greek government never had a chance to be heard by the Foreign Ministers Council.

2. Greece needs great outside help (evidently running into hundreds of millions of dollars) for her reconstruction.

Late yesterday the Greek government filed with the Security Council a 35-page appeal for dispatch of an international commission to the troubled northern border. This document, made public today, charged that "the whole guerrilla movement against Greece is receiving substantial support from the countries adjacent to Greece's northern boundaries, and particularly from Yugoslavia."

The document also named Albania and Bulgaria as sharing responsibility for the bloody disorders.

Tsaldaris did not go into details.

In a formal statement to the news conference, Tsaldaris declared that what he is asking is an "eleventh hour" action which Greece first requested more than a year ago and which she now demands again "because only this way the road for Balkan cooperation will be open."

U. S. FOOD PLAN HIT BY LAGUARDIA

By Price

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 5—(AP) F. H. La Guardia, director-general of UNRRA, asked the 54-member United Nations committee considering food relief today to defeat the American post-UNRRA plan for dealing out relief by individual countries.

"If you fail here, gentlemen," he said, "[illegible] people will be your responsibility, and I'll remind you around Easter when the food supplies are running short in many nations. I'm discouraged. May God have mercy on the hungry people of the world."

NIGHT

His plea against the policy of his government followed three weeks of committee deadlock here over the manner in which relief will be given nations expected to be short of food and foreign exchange during 1947.

The American delegation told a news conference later that the American plan would make it possible to shut off relief to nations where "hostile acts" occur against this country.

It said, however, the United States would take no account of the political or economic system of a nation if genuine need for help in 1947 is proved.

The committee has two resolutions before it.

The La Guardia plan would set up an international board that would assess the food needs of nations, get commitments from nations willing to contribute and then distribute the supplies without consideration for politics.

The counter-proposal, offered by the United States, the United Kingdom and Brazil, asks for "consultations among nations" over the needs.

Russians Flatly Turn Down San Francisco as UN Site

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 5—(AP) Russia stated flatly tonight that it would not accept San Francisco as a permanent headquarters for the United Nations. A strong supporter of New York City, the Soviet said it was willing however, to agree to Philadelphia.

Georg[illegible] delegate, attacked the United States delegation for "attempting to present a proposal (San Francisco) which in no way satisfies more than five of the delegations," and told the 54-nation headquarters committee:

"The American delegation is insisting and is attempting to drag certain delegations to its side. But if it is experimenting in marshalling votes, maneuvering for votes which I witnessed at the Paris conference(the Soviet and U. S. S. R., delegations, which respect its name, will not go to San Francisco."

Cites London Decision

Saksin based his argument on the fact that the General Assembly had unanimously agreed in London to make its permanent headquarters in the eastern part of the United States and declared that the United States delegation "for the past 34 days has launched a very active campaign to break that decision."

The London assembly decision was overruled last month when that body voted to reopen the whole question to include all of the United States.

The United States, however, has maintained it was neutral in the matter and publicly has gone no further than making the Presidio site in San Francisco "available."

Saksin, still pointing to numerous advantages of New York city for the headquarters, concluded by stating that "in order to reach a unanimous decision the Soviet has decided that it would join with the United Kingdom and can accept the Philadelphia proposal as in keeping with the General Assembly resolution."

Warren R. Austin, chief American delegate, told the 54-nation Headquarters Site committee this morning that President Truman intended to offer the Presidio free of charge, subject to congressional consent.

Now Austin was reported prepared to go even further and specifically name the United States choice from among the four cities being considered—San Francisco, Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

The eventual United States decision was expected to have a strong bearing on the 20 Latin American votes which some observers believe may prove to be the deciding factor.

5 For West Coast

At the end of three sessions San Francisco also had the formal approval of China, the Philippines, India, Saudi Arabia and Australia and it was assumed that it would eventually draw the backing of all the five Arab states represented in the U. N.

Great Britain was leading the drive for Philadelphia, Yugoslavia favored New York and the Soviet Ukraine and the Netherlands spoke for any of the East Coast sites.

Indian Delegate P. N. Saptu pleaded for San Francisco with the statement:

"We want the United Nations to bring about true cooperation between the East and the West and in San Francisco we have a city in a Western country but it faces the East."

He said that California's temperate climate would cut U. N. doctor bills, adding with a chuckle: "Myself, I am a little rheumatic."

Lev Medved of the Ukraine stressed economy in supporting the East Coast. He said that for his delegation of 20 persons the trip to San Francisco would cost $6,000 more and added:

"We could find better places to put that money. We are not rich."

Norman J. O. Makin of Australia, plumping for the West coast, complained that the debate had turned into mere expressions for and against San Francisco without any arguments being made in favor of the East coast sites.

Delegates hoped to reach a vote by tomorrow night in the committee. The decision then will be subject to approval of two-thirds of nations present and balloting at a plenary meeting of the General Assembly.

Frisco, Philadelphia Lead For U.N. Site

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—San Francisco and Philadelphia emerged today as the leading contenders in the battle over a permanent home for the United Nations, with the West Coast city having an early edge of the basis of opening speeches in the 54-nation Headquarters Committee.

Discussion was scheduled to resume with India, the Soviet Ukraine, Iraq, Honduras, the Netherlands, Australia and Russia on the speakers' list. India and Iraq have said off the floor that they would back San Francisco.

Another meeting will be held tonight in an effort to speed a decision.

Russ[illegible]m York

Russia has already declared herself, outside the committee, for the New York area, which yesterday also drew the support of Yugoslavia. Boston, the fourth city visited by an inspecting subcommittee, has not been mentioned and was generally considered out of the running.

Of the other speakers yesterday, four—China, the Philippines, Saudi Arabia and El Salvador—declared themselves for San Francisco and Great Britain made an hour-long appeal for Philadelphia.

The trend of the early debate was believed to have set the pattern which finds the Pacific states, the Arab countries and part of the Latin-American group in favor of the West Coast.

Philadelphia Support

The Philadelphia group, spearheaded by Britain, was expected to draw general backing from the countries of Western Europe and some from South America.

Russia and her supporters were plumping for New York, which could mean either the old World's Fair site in Flushing Meadows or the White Plains area in adjoining Westchester county.

The United States still insisted it was remaining neutral despite strenuous efforts leading to army agreement to turn over San Francisco's Presidio site to the United Nations. France, the other member of the Big Five, contended it had not reached a decision within its delegation.

BULGARIAN STAND WON BY MOLOTOV

J. Highlower

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 — (AP) Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov finally won tonight—with the reluctant agreement of Secretary of State Byrnes—his long fight to slash Bulgarian reparations and increase Italian reparations payments.

A final decision on the reparations issue was reached in the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council along with cleanup agreements, involving several concessions by Molotov, on outstanding issues in the Axis [illegible] treaties.

Progress was so great in tonight's session, diplomats present reported, that it seemed certain the treaties would be finally agreed upon by Saturday and a start made, probably Monday, on discussions of a final peace settlement for Germany.

The final decision on reparations means that Italy will have to pay a total of $360,000,000, which is $35,000,000 more than was recommended by the Paris peace conference last fall. Bulgaria will have to pay a total of $70,000,000, or $55,000,000 less than the Paris conference recommended.

Italy's total is divided: $100,000,000 to Russia, $125,000,000 to Yugoslavia, $105,000,000 to Greece, $25,000,000 to Ethiopia and $5,000,000 to Albania.

Bulgaria pays $25,000,000 to Yugoslavia and $45,000,000 to Greece. Thus Yugoslavia and Greece each will collect a total of $150,000,000.

Cost-Of-Trieste Issue May Go To Assembly

J. Highlower

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—A dispute over who should pay the bills for the proposed new international territory of Trieste appeared likely today to spread from the Foreign Ministers Council to the United Nations Assembly.

Moreover, unless the issue is settled in a few days, some diplomats see a possibility that the whole Trieste settlement might be jeopardized by lack of funds to operate the new te[illegible]

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin recommended in a session of the Big Four Council last night that the United Nations Assembly be asked to authorize the payment of funds for Trieste to cover both the salaries of the Governor and his staff and any deficit which might be incurred in the operation of the territorial government.

Russian Position

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov opposed this on the ground the territory itself should meet its own financial needs and he indicated a belief that any deficit might be financed by assessing the costs against private property in the Trieste area.

While there was some hope that the Big Four would be able to iron out their differences, there was considerable expectation that when they made a recommendation to the United Nations a row might very well break out in the Assembly over using United Nations funds for such a purpose.

A decision will have to be reached before the Assembly completes its work here, however, if money is to be available from that source for making the Trieste territory a going concern.

Last Unsettled Issue

The question of finances is the last unsettled issue in the long-debated problem of Trieste. There are several other open questions, however, involved in the Italian and Balkan peace treaties which are yet to be decided by the Big Four Foreign Ministers.

These questions involve chiefly a Russian demand for $10,000,000 in reparations from Italy to Albania, the amounts of reparations to be paid by Italy and Bulgaria to Greece and Yugoslavia, and the percentage of compensation to be paid by Italy for property losses suffered by British and other United Nations citizens in that country.

There also remains a decision on the question of including in the Balkan treaties a British-American proposal to guarantee freedom of navigation on the Danube.

Indications were that all these questions would probably be resolved in the final rounds of bargaining in the next day or so.

HINDUS, MOSLEMS REMAIN AT ODDS ON INDIAN SETUP

A. Gershon

LONDON, Dec. 5—(AP) The 11th hour effort of Britain's highest officials to weld India's Moslems and Hindus into constitutional unity appeared on the brink of failure tonight after three days of intensive explorations for a possible solution.

Informed sources declared the effect of Prime Minister Attlee's vain attempt to mediate the Hindu-Moslem dispute may be the prolongation of Britain's stay in India.

Forecast

Frank A. King, usually well-informed political writer for the British Press association, said "unless within the next 24 hours the deadlock between the Congress party and the Moslem League can be broken there must inevitably be delay in transferring power from British to Indian hands, and with political currents flowing powerfully in India, the dangers of renewal of communal strife on a scale amounting to civil war are ever-present."

An India office spokesman said, however, that the continuing impasse did not mean the scrapping of Britain's plan for a free India—although it might necessitate "revisions"—and the Congress Party spokesman here, Jawalharlal Nehru, said he did not think there was danger of civil war.

Nehru's Moslem counterpart, Mahomed Ali Jinnah of the Moslem League, declined to comment on the future.

British officials pinned their hopes for a successful meeting of India's constitution-writing assembly next Monday on a final round of separate talks tomorrow with Nehru, Jinnah and Sardar Baldev Singh, leader of the Sikhs.

There remained a possibility, a spokesman said, that a "thirteenth hour" face-saving solution might be found after the Indian leaders leave London to bring the Moslems into the constituent assembly meeting.

Chances Seen Slight

If Jinnah stayed out, as seemed virtually certain now, however, it appeared that the chances of Moslems and Hindus agreeing on the new India constitution were very slight.

The central idea of the British plan for independence therefore would be wrecked, for that plan specified that the subcontinent's rival political and religious groups were to evolve an "agreed constitution."

The constitutional differences have originated chiefly from varying interpretations of that part of the British plan providing a grouping of provinces with certain powers. Nehru and the congress party have insisted on a strong central government, while Jinnah has advocated virtually autonomous Moslem provinces.

The virtual breakdown of the London talks was reported after Attlee had summoned his cabinet which decided that no attempt would even be made to get the rival leaders together at a round table session. The separate talks apparently had disclosed no basis for a possible meeting.

Attlee withdrew from the proceedings tonight. Viceroy Lord Wavell, Lord Pethick-Lawrence, Secretary of State for India, A. V. Alexander, Defense Minister-designate, and Sir Stafford Cripps, board of trade president, will conduct the separate meetings with the Indians tomorrow.

Nehru and Singh are expected to leave for New Delhi early Saturday, while Jinnah and Liaquat Ali Kahn, of the Moslem League, will stay on in London for a time.

Britain Is Unable To Solve Hindu, Moslem Row

London, Dec. 5 (AP)—The British Government was unable today to break the Hindu-Moslem deadlock over Indian independence, and informed sources said one of the first effects may be prolongation of Britain's stay in India.

The rival Indian leaders, now in London, will not be called into round-table conference. This decision was reached today after a special session of the Cabinet, which followed a meeting between Viceroy Lord Wavell and the Cabinet Mission to India. The Indian Constituent Assembly meeting, set for December 9 to draft a constitution, seemed doomed before it could beg[illegible]

If M. A[illegible] of the Moslem League, stays away from the December 9 meeting, as seems virtually certain now, the chances of agreement over India's constitution are "very slender indeed," informed persons said.

Unity First Requirement

They added that, while British policy was to back the program for Indian independence, that plan specified that rival religious and political groups must evolve an agreed constitution.

Government sources expressed fear that the Hindu-Moslem failure to compromise on their differences presaged new waves of fratricidal strife in India.

They said that when the danger of civil war was pointed out to Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru by Prime Minister Attlee and his team of mediators, the Congress party leader calmly asserted that his group proposed to carry on the establishment of Indian sovereignty regardless.

To Push Constitution

Nehru was also quoted as having said the writing of a constitution for a united India, within the framework of the British plan, would be continued and, as soon as India was formally free, Britain would be asked to withdraw "all her men and all her works."

Nehru, vice president of the Indian interim government, was not immediately available for comment on the British sources' account of what he said.

Jinnah's attitude in the discussions was equally "uncompromising," the Government sources declared.

Subjugation Opposed

They stated that the Moslem leader had told Attlee and his colleagues that the League's 90,000,000 adherents would never agree to the subjugation of their political and religious identity to a Hindu-dominated central government of the nature implied in Nehru's interpretation of the British constitutional plan.

Hindu-Moslem differences have sprung from their varying interpretations of that part of the British plan relating to the grouping of provinces and the powers that would go to those groups.

Acid Throwing in Bombay

BOMBAY, India, Dec. 5 (AP)—Two fatal knifings and acid throwing in which eleven persons were injured marked the start of the Muharram holiday today following a night of sporadic communal violence—the first night without curfew restrictions in Bombay since Sept. 1.

8 Killed, Over 100 Hurt During Moslem Holiday

Calcutta, Dec. 5 (AP)—At least eight persons were killed and more than 100 injured today as Moslems brought to a close the celebration of Muharram, a religious observance that included processions through the streets.

Most of the deaths resulted when police and military forces opened fire to break up Hindu-Moslem clashes in north and northeast Calcutta, scene of some of the bloodiest rioting last August.

Flaming torches thrown through shop windows caused several fires along the main thoroughfares and there were frequent exchanges of brickbats between Moslem processionists and Hindus.

Two knifings and acid throwings in which nine persons were injured were reported during the holiday in Bombay.

False A-Bomb Report Laid To 'Mishearing'

London, Dec. 5 (AP)—The British Press Association said today a "mishearing" of a statement by Prime Minister Attlee in the House of Commons yesterday was responsible for an incorrect report that the two atomic bombs were dropped on Japan after the Japanese had offered to surrender.

The association, which distributes its report to most British newspapers and to various news agencies operating in the United Kingdom, dispatched a correction story to editors explaining:

"Owing to the mishearing of a reply by the Prime Minister to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, the impression was conveyed by our report that Japan had made a peace offer before the first atomic bomb was dropped.

Correct Version

"Mr. Attlee's statement was that the first atomic bomb was dropped on August 6 and that the offer of peace made to Japan by the Potsdam Declaration on July 26 was not accepted until August 10."

The correct version of the Prime Minister's statement, the press association declared, was:

"The decision in principle to use atomic weapons against Japan was taken at the beginning of July, 1945, and the first bomb was dropped August 6. The offer of peace made to Japan by the Potsdam Declaration on July 26 was not accepted until August 10."

The earlier press association account of what the Prime Minister said, was:

"Mr. Attlee, answering Mr. (Thomas L.) Horabin (an Independent member of Parliament) said the decision to use the atomic weapon against Japan was taken at the beginning of July, 1945. The first atomic bomb was dropped on August 6, and the offer of peace made by Japan on July 22 was not accepted until August 10."

Horabin announced he planned to ask the Prime Minister in the House of Commons "when the first overatures for peace were received from Japan." He said he would put the question at the first opportunity.

Spears Libel Suit Settled

LONDON, Dec. 5 (AP).—A libel suit by Major General Sir Edward Spears, former British Minister to Syria and Lebanon, against Associated Newspapers, Ltd., publishers of "The Sunday Dispatch," was settled out of court today after one day of testimony. Sir Valentine Holmes, Spears' lawyer, said in court that the defendants had agreed to pay an unspecified sum by way of damages and costs.

FRENCH POLITICAL LEADERS CALLED TO CRISIS PARLEY

PARIS, Dec. 5 — (AP) National Assembly President Vincent Auriol summoned all France's party chiefs to confer tonight in an attempt to resolve a thus far insoluble government crisis, after a day marked by futile balloting in which MRP Leader Georges Bidault failed to muster enough votes for election as interim premier president.

Bidault, receiving only the ballots of the MRP (Popular Republican Movement) and the Rightis parties, polled only 240 votes in the newly elected national assembly—70 less than necessary for an absolute majority and 11 less than received by Communist Maurice Thorez yesterday when he, too, failed of election.

The crisis engendered by the assembly's attempts to set up the interim government, which will serve until mid-January when the government of the Fourth Republic will be established, hourly grew more complicated, and patently was insoluble unless one of the three major parties—the MRP, the Socialists or the Communists—agreed to give ground.

Auriol pleaded with the deputies to resolve the deadlock as rapidly as possible so that the legislature might consider financial measures "necessary to save the franc."

Under the circumstances Socialist Auriol himself might consent to arbitrate the crisis and take the interim premiership, in which event Radical Socialist Leader Edouard Herriot might become president of the assembly in his place. Auriol was elected assembly president earlier this week.

Virtual Impasse Over Premier In France

Paris, Dec. 5 (AP)—France's week-long governmental crisis was completely deadlocked today with the current position of rival parties making the formation of a new government impossible until there is a concession in some quarter.

The National Assembly was set to try again this afternoon to select an interim premier, but success was extremely doubtful.

Former Premier Léon Blum's Socialists forced the crisis into an impasse last night by voting 2,242 to 2,145, with 55 abstentions, not to enter any cabinet that excluded Communists.

Reds Spurn MRP

Earlier yesterday, Maurice Thorez, the Communist candidate for the interim premiership, had been defeated in the National Assembly.

Smarting under that defeat, the Communist party announced today it would refuse to support another Cabinet headed by the MRP (Popular Republican Movement), thus tying another knot in the already complex situation.

The only ways out of the growingly serious situation appeared to be:

1. Mutual concessions by Communists, Socialists and the MRP that would result in electing an MRP Premier.

2. A rescue move by the Radical Socialists in persuading 74-year-old Edouard Herriot, like Blum a prewar Premier, to serve as a compromise candidate.

To Abstain In Vote

Last night's decision by the Socialist National Congress was coupled with an agreement to abstain from voting in today's balloting for the interim premiership in the Assembly, in which the Communists will again present Thorez's candidacy.

The M.R.P. had announced it would present an opposition candidate, probably Georges Bidault or former Finance Minister Robert Schuman.

The Socialist stand produced the impasse in forming a new Cabinet for these reasons:

1. Thorez cannot be elected but will receive 170 Communist votes. The 100 Socialist votes will go to no one.

2. The MRP might possibly squeeze through with the 310 votes necessary to elect a Premier, but unless they change their stand the Communists will refuse to enter his Cabinet. So will the Socialists, and the MRP would find itself only theoretically able to govern.

Unpopular Duties

3. But, unless the MRP changes its stand, it will not consent to head a government that excludes the nation's largest (Communist) and third largest (Socialist) parties. For the new Cabinet, which will last only until mid-January, will be occupied with voting a budget and imposing unpopular new taxes and drastic economies.

So, without some giving in all along the line by the three big parties, none can form a Cabinet.

The Socialists imposed another condition of their entry into a Cabinet: prior agreement on the principle of state-directed economy.

AFL Delegation Hits 4-Power Reich Rule

Berlin, Dec. 5 (AP)—William C. Doherty said today his three-man American Federation of Labor delegation had concluded that four-power government in Germany is "a colossal failure and the alternatives are a speedy peace treaty with Germany or setting up of a central German administration."

The delegation, which has spent a month studying German trade unions in the American and British occupation zones, also believes, Doherty said.

That Germany's standard of living must be raised through speedy industrial revival and greater food relief shipments from the United States.

That the fear of reviving German war potential through industrial revival is "the biggest bugaboo of all times."

His Associates

Doherty is president of the National Letter Carriers' Association, vice president of the AFL and chairman of the delegation. His associates are Israel Feinberg, of New York, vice president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, and Anton Jakob, of Detroit, international representative of the Butchers and Meat Cutters Union.

Doherty told a news conference the delegation had received excellent co-operation from the American and British military governments and from German workers, but was barred from the Russian and French zones.

End Of Mission

"Our mission came to an abrupt conclusion when the Soviet authorities refused to admit us to their zone of Germany," he said. "The representatives of free, democratic trade unionism, as espoused by the AFL, were denied the privilege of peering behind the well-known iron curtain. We were also barred from visiting Mainz on November 7 and 8 by the French Goverment, which apparently yielded to the advice of alleged communistic influences within the infant World Federation of Trade Unions. Of that we are certain."

Doherty said that, "as far as trade unions are concerned, there cannot be any practice of free democratic trade unionism when we have four different powers setting up different rules for the German people to follow."

Restrictions On Germans

He said, however, that the committee would not advocate lifting of all restrictions on the Germans.

"It will be necessary to stay and watch Germany for years," he said.

Doherty said his delegation would recommend in its report to be submitted to the AFL executive council—that the Allies raise the level of industrial production they had previously agreed upon "so that Germans can make a good living, something more than the necessities of life."

Lack Of Co-Operation

Doherty said he had found a lack of co-operative spirit between Germans of various sections.

He said some German workers interviewed had criticized the American maritime strike because it held up supplies to Germany and added: "I assume that if the American coal strike had been on at the time we were on tour we would have encountered criticism of that too."

Berlin Official Urges Vote on German Unity

Leader of Red-Supported Party Assails Federalism and Anglo-U. S. Merger

BERLIN, Dec. 5 (AP).—Walter Ulbright, deputy chairman of the Soviet-Socialist Unity Party, proposed today a national plebiscite "for re-establishment of Germany's unity and against federalism."

Speaking before the Sachsen-Anhalt Legislature in the Soviet occupation zone, Ulbright assailed the newly concluded economic fusion of the British and American zones as an "effort to dismember Germany."

Ulbright continued: "When they ask us why the eastern zone doesn't join the bi-zonal fusion, then we pose a counter question: Do we want to join the economic crisis in western Germany, or the food crisis? Do we want to submit to the dictates of the Western big banks and big business?

"In accordance with the will of the majority of our people, we declare that neither a bi-zonal system nor a federal state system, nor any other federalist or separatist regulation, can find the support of our people."

Therefore, Ulbright said, the Socialist party proposes the establishment of a great anti-Fascist and democratic national movement throughout Germany through a national plebiscite: "For the re-establishment of the unity of Germany and against federalism; "for a national parliamentary order in which the representation of the people is the supreme law-making and controlling body; for safeguarding of peace and democracy; for confiscation of combines, syndicates, big banks and estates over 100 hectares (240 acres)."

German Paper Suspended

BERLIN, Dec. 5 (AP)—In response to a Soviet protest, French authorities imposed today a one-day suspension upon the French-licensed Berlin newspaper The Kurier because of its handling of a report on Russian plans for the new Berlin city government. The Kurier's report on a letter by the Russian commandant, Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, to Berlin's Lord Mayor, stating Soviet views on the city government set-up was called "critical and too detailed."

BERLIN TAX SHIFT

Berlin, Dec. 5 (A. P.). — The Allied Control Council reduced today the steep tobacco taxes and set a corporation tax on a scale ranging from 35 per cent on annual incomes up to $5,000, to 65 per cent on incomes of more than $50,000.

The council also formally abolished the labor structure set up under the law of 1934 which abolished freedom of contract, free labor unions and free collective bargaining. The law had been inoperative since the occupation began.

The cigarette tax was cut from 80 per cent to 75 per cent of the retail price for cheaper brands and from 90 to 80 per cent for the more expensive.

OIL NEED CITED BY M'NARNEY

General Says Army Overseas Must Continue To Receive Fuel

5. O'Regan

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 5 (AP). Gen. Joseph T. McNarney declared today that United States forces in Germany "must continue to receive gasoline and oil" throughout the coal emergency in the United States to prevent serious effects in the occ

The European theater commander told a news conference that so long as the railroad freight embargo at home did not apply to food and fuel, the work stoppage by United States mine workers would not affect the Army's job in Germany "to any great degree."

"In view of the extreme coal shortage in the United States I wouldn't appeal for anything but the continued movement of food and fuel," McNarney said. "We must continue to receive gasoline and oil. As far as food in concerned, we are in reasonably good shape. We can last a good two months."

To Get New Instructions

McNarney, confirming official reports that the "hate the German" policy in the Army was ended, said he hoped to make the American occupation one of the "greatest in history."

He said American soldiers would get new instruction "in keeping with Secretary of State Byrnes's policy speech at Stuttgart last summer." In that address the Secretary of State said the American people want to see "peaceful, democratic Germans remain free and independent" under a democratic government guaranteeing fundamental human rights.

"The Morgenthau plan for Germany went out with Byrnes's speech, and the Army is bringing itself up to date," McNarney said, referring to proposals by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., former Secretary of the Treasury, for a hard peace with Germany.

Marriage Rule Not Changed

But the new policy does not change the rule against marriages between American soldiers and German frauleins, the General said.

The theater commander said he was asking the War Department to revise its preoverseas education of young soldiers so that they know it was their duty to support the growth of democracy in Germany to prevent "disease and unrest."

The theater chief, commenting on the planned merger of the American and British occupation zones, said one immediate aim was to increase the German food ration to 1,800 calories per person daily in both zones.

Plans To Raise Ration

"When the world food situation is such that the food is available—even though we have to pay with dollars or sterling—we shall raise the ration to 1,800 calories," he said.

McNarney said he had no knowledge that there was any starvation among Germans in the American zone.

In the de-Nazification program, he said, there has been "considerable improvement" since German authorities were told their laxity might force the military government to take over the job.

REDS HOLD PLANE, TWO YANK FLIERS

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 5 (AP)—U.S. Airforce headquarters disclosed today that an American photo reconnaissance plane engaged on a "routine training flight" and its crew of two was being held by the Russians at Egyek, Hungary, where it made an emergency landing four days a

A spokesman said however, that the fliers were "being shown every courtesy and consideration" and that "momentary clearance for the plane to return to its base in Fuerth, Germany" was expected.

Earlier, a delayed dispatch from Budapest, dated Dec. 4 said the crew members were First Lt. George A. Curry (no home town address given) and Staff Sgt. Donald G. Gelnet of Dubois, Penn.

The spokesman said the pilot lost his way in bad weather, landing in a pasture in the Russian zone, 110 miles east of Budapest, when he ran low on fuel.

There was no immediate explanation of where the plane was headed on its "routine" flight or why the plane's disappearance was not announced until four days after it left its base.

Budapest dispatches said complications might arise from the fact it was a photo reconnaissance plane, but that after turning down the requests the Russians had permitted Lt. Gordon Bowman of Dallas, Tex., to take gasoline to the stranded craft.

Murphy to Explain Merger

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Dec. 5 (AP)—Robert D. Murphy, political adviser to the United States military commander in Germany, will speak to the German peeople in the United States occupation zone by radio from the United States tomorrow night on the economic merger with the British zone.

Torture, Murder Laid To Germans

Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 5 (AP)—Systematic torture and mass slaughter of thousands of Allied women were charged today to the staff of the Ravensbruck Concentration Camp, who went on trial before a military court for violation

The prosecution said that 100,000 of the women who passed through the camp, largest women's prison in history, were unaccounted for; that from 3,000 to 7,000 women were slaughtered in gas chambers and that others were killed by shooting and injections.

The defendants—twelve German men, seven German women and a Swiss woman—all pleaded innocent.

The first prosecution witness, a Norwegian woman named Sylvia Salvesan, testified she saw sterilization of many women, including even girls 8 or 10 years old.

The prosecutor, Major S. M. Stewart, said the prosecution would produce witnesses to tell how women died rather than face the horrors of the camp hospital; how doctors experimented on healthy patients, and how women were punished by being tied up in degrading positions.

War-Crime Trial Of 20 Starts

Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 5 (AP)—A British prosecutor said today that 100,000 women who entered the Ravensbruck concentration camp were unaccounted for.

His re[illegible]ned a war-crime trial of twenty persons, seven of them German women and one a Swiss woman. All pleaded innocent to violating usages of war by killing Allied nationals.

Major S. M. Stewart, the prosecutor, described starvation, overwork and cruelty which, he said, comprised a "definite systematic policy to bring about the deaths of the women" at Ravensbruck, largest women's prison on record.

"Game" Played By Guards

Stewart described a "game" played by SS guards, who would throw a scrap of mouldy bread among a crowd of starving women and watch them fight savagely for the crumbs. He said the Russian army liberated the camp on May 1, 1945, and that conditions "horrified even seasoned warriors."

The prosecutor said Heinrich Himmler, the Gestapo chief who committed suicide after capture, visited the camp frequently and complained that captives were being killed too slowly. Stewart estimated that from 3,000 to 7,000 were gassed and said others were shot or killed by injections.

CAPTAIN FACES COURT

Rome, Dec. 5 (A. P.).—Capt. P. Gruelle, 56 years old, of Dry Ridge, Ky., went on trial here today before a general court-martial on charges of profiting illegally from currency transactions while in service abroad. Gruelle has been attached to the civil affairs of the Allied Commission in Italy.

The prosecution charged that Gruelle, by shifting United States currency into occupation money and changing that into Italian lira and the lira into war bonds and money orders, made profits totaling several thousand dollars.

Gruelle's defense, made in statements during the preliminary investigation, was that he brought part of the funds from the United States, intending to purchase a house in Italy, and won the rest gambling.

Greeks Give Up Medals

Athens, Dec. 5 (AP)—The Greek Disabled Veterans Association addressed a resolution to the United Nations today saying its members were returning all Allied medals and decorations in protest against the rejection of Greek claims by the Big Four.

The veterans will place their decorations at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at a wreath-laying ceremony Sunday.

Athens streetcar operators and conductors went on strike this morning demanding wage increases.

Dutch-American Industrial Link Formed

Amsterdam, Dec. 5 (AP)—With the purpose of futhering American participation in Dutch industries, the Institute for Dutch-American Industrial Co-Operation has been founded here.

The institute will act as intermediary between Dutch and American industries and also take initiative on its own. Although there will be close contact between the institute and the Government, all negotiations and transactions will be made on a private basis, Dr. H. Albarda, vice president of the institute and director of the Dutch Trading Company, said.

As an instance of Dutch-American co-operation, Albarda cited the combination of the Goodrich Company at Akron and the Dutch rubber plant at Vredestein resulting in the production in Holland of automobile tires.

Yugoslavs Protest 'Looting'

TRIESTE, Dec. 5 (AP).—The Yugoslav military government sent a strongly worded note today to the joint Anglo-American Economic Commission for Venezia Giulia protesting the alleged removal of [illegible] industrial equipment from the Allied enclave of Pola, which the Italian treaty draft gives to Yugoslavia, to other parts of the Anglo-American zone and to metropolitan Italy. The Yugoslavs said that the "constant and systematic' removal of machinery constituted a breach of a 1945 agreement, and that previous protests had "met only evasive replies."

CAIRO, Dec. 5 (AP).—A Royal Air Force source said today that removal of the Middle East headquarters of the R. A. F. from Cairo to Ismailia and Abu Sueri in the Suez Canal Zone has been practically completed. The same source said that the remaining R. A. F. units in Cairo would move by March.

These disclosures followed closely an announcement by the British Army that Middle East headquarters of the British land forces would begin moving this month from Cairo to Fayid in the Canal Zone and that this move also would be completed by March.

British Continue Jerusalem Search

Jerusalem, Friday, Dec. 6 (AP)—A curfew imposed swiftly in Jerusalem after at least four persons were killed and many others injured in two explosions was lifted early today but soldiers and police continued screening residents in several parts of the city.

Meanwhile, a highly reliable source said General Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner of Palestine, had informed Isaac Ben Tsevi, acting head of the temporary Jewish Agency executive, that the imposition of a military regime on the Jewish population of the Holy Land was [illegible] a "final decision in London."

The explosions occurred yesterday on the Street of Prophets near the center of Jerusalem, and near an Army office at the closely guarded Sarafand Military Camp.

In the street incident a civilian truck loaded with explosives skidded into a tree and blew up. The two occupants of the truck, believed to have been undeground agents on a mission of destruction, were killed.

The Street of Prophets incident was followed by outbreaks of rifle fire in many parts of the city and the flinging of grenades at the home of General Sir Evelyn Barker, British Palestine commander in chief.

The Stern Gang, a Jewish extremist group, claimed responsibility for blowing up a truck at the large Sarafand Military Camp. It was reported officially that one British officer and a serviceman of other rank were killed at the camp.

Earlier an explosion wrecked an army office at the closely guarded Sarafand military camp, killing a British officer and a serviceman of other rank. An official announcement said 21 persons, including seven British army officers, were injured and hospitalized as a result of the explosion. Twenty others, among them British army personnel and civilians, were treated for minor injuries.

The explosion at the camp occurred, the announcement said, 15 minutes after a truck drove up to the office and parked. The statement did not say whether the explosion was an accident or an act of attackers.

CAMP BLAST KILLS 2 BRITISH SOLDIERS

Jerusalem, Dec. 5 (A. P.).—An explosion today killed two British soldiers and wrecked the Army office in the Sarafand Camp, largest and most closely guarded military cantonment in Palestine.

An official announcement said that in addition to those killed, four officers and a number of civilian workers were injured.

The official statement said that the explosion came fifteen minutes after a truck drove up to the office and parked there. The statement did not mention any attackers, thus suggesting that the explosion could have been accidental.

China Sets Final Assembly Session

Nanking, Dec. 5 (AP)—China's National Assembly, framing a permanent constitution aimed at providing democratic government, voted today to wind up floor discussion with today's session and hold its final meeting December 19.

Delegates [illegible] present ideas in writing to the Presidium, Government council, until Saturday.

At today's session, Shao Li-tze, influential Kuomintang (Government party) member, defended a chapter of the revised draft which provides that China will fulfill all treaty obligations and observe the Atlantic Charter.

When adopted, the constitution will replace the provisional one which has been in force since June, 1931.

While the Communists continued to hold aloof from the Assembly, a delayed dispatch from Yenan reported there was no indication at the Communist capital of a move to force a final, decisive break with the Government by calling a convention of border region delegates.

Associated Press correspondent John Roderick reported that leading Communists at Yenan denied as "absurd and untrue" government reports that the Reds had decided to summon a convention of their own next Thursday. Thus, Roderick added, there still remained the admittedly slender possibility of the Nationalists and Communists reaching an understanding.

Russ Yield Town To Chiang Units

Nanking, Dec. 5 (AP) — Chinese Government forces moving northward from Antung along the Manchurian-Korean border took over the Yalu River town of Changtienhokou from the Soviet Army, the reliable newspaper Ta Kang Pao reported today in a dispatch from Mukden.

There was no explanation why the Soviets were occupying a city 25 miles above Antung on the Manchurian side of the river.

The same dispatch described a "most harmonious" meeting between the Chinese commander of the Antung garrison and the Russian commander at Hsinyichow, a city on the opposite bank of the Yalu. A steel bridge links Manchuria and Korea at that point.

Closer To Dairen

Peiping dispatches meantime reported that Gen. Tu Li-ming's Nationalist troops had moved 8 miles closer to Soviet-occupied Dairen in their slow advance down the Kwantung peninsula along the Mukden-Dairen railway.

The Government troops apparently were avoiding any fight with the retreating Chinese Communists.

More Marines Due Home From China

Shanghai, Dec. 5 (AP)—Admiral Charles M. Cooke, Jr., commander of the China-based United States Seventh Fleet, told newsmen today 4,000 more Marines, including the seventh regiment of the 1st Division, would be sent home from north China "very shortly" but he declined to divulge the remaining strength.

That question, he said, is on an international level, and he would prefer that any answer come from Washington. [Published reports have estimated current Marine strength at 14,000 men.]

Admiral Cooke disclosed that an American landing craft visited the Soviet-occupied Manchurian port of Dairen on November 20 and disembarked a courier, a communications expert and supplies for United States Consul General Beninghoff

Visits Exchanged

Dairen at that time was still under control of the Soviets and not the Chinese Communists, he said.

American naval officers exchanged visits with the Russian commandant, Brig. Gen Zukov, during a 40-hour stay. It was the first time an American naval vessel had been permitted to put into Dairen since the end of the war.

In referring to radio equipment put ashore for the Consul General, Cooke said he was not sure whether Beninghoff would be permitted to transmit messages from Dairen, but would be able to receive.

AZERBAIJAN LINE VILLAGE CAPTURED BY IRAN CAVALRY

By EDWARD CURTIS

WITH IRANIAN TROOPS AT THE AZERBAIJAN BORDER, Dec. 5 — (AP) Irregular Iranian cavalry clashed in a sharp battle with forces of the semi-autonomous province of Azerbaijan yesterday and captured a tiny frontier village, while the Iranian army waited orders to enter the province and supervise forthcoming parliamentary elections.

(A dispatch to Moscow from the Azerbaijan capital, Tabriz, quoted President Shabestari of the Azerbaijan provincial council as warning Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam that "the dispatch of troops to Azerbaijan means a declaration of war on the democratic movement." Associated Press Correspondent Eddy Gilmore said in a dispatch from Moscow that "there is no doubt this stand is fully supported in Moscow.")

Drive Out Enemy

About 120 mounted guards attached to the regular Iranian army in North Khamseh province swept into the village of Rejin and drove out the Azerbaijan force which had seized the mud-hut village the day before.

The guards also clashed with the Azerbaijans near the border Tuesday, capturing two in a nine-hour skirmish.

From the top of a hill I watched through field glasses as the tribesmen battled the Azerbaijans at Rejin, about three miles forward. Rifle and automatic weapons fire, punctuated by a single report from one field piece, was heard. The Iranian field commander said the shot came from the Iranian side.

Army officers said the Azerbaijans retreated toward Noruzabad, eight miles inside Azerbaijan.

Clifton Daniel of The New York Times, Christopher Sykes of The London Daily Mail and I had asked permission to visit the battle scene. An armored car was brought up to escort us, but after some delay we were told we could not enter the village, which sits on a hill near the main road into Azerbaijan.

We had left Tehran by automobile in an attempt to reach Mianeh, the first sizeable city inside Azerbaijan, but Iranian army officials declined to permit us to pass their forward observation post.

The government's main forces are concentrated in the Tazehkand area, about 12 miles from the Azerbaijan border, with forward road guards at Sarcham, four miles south of the nearest Azerbaijan outpost. The government troops formed a two-mile line across the main road and railway, both commanded by several light field pieces.

Flanked by Irregulars

Zulfaghari irregulars flank the regular forces in the wide valley. Col. Mazarheri, the field commander, said the Azerbaijans were reported to have three field pieces and six tanks, and that the main Azerbaijan defense was concentrated at Ghaflankooh, with reserves at Mianeh.

"We could have reached Tabriz, the Azerbaijan capital, in 10 hours, if we had gone on through immediately," Mazarheri said, "but the delay while Prime Minister Qavam negotiates with the Democrats gives them time to form a defense."

A corkscrew road through the narrow pass might now slow the advance, should the Democrats resist, the peppery and confident commander said.

The railway to Mianeh is blocked, but some truck convoys carrying non-military supplies are allowed to pass both lines. The route to Azerbaijan, both rail and road, is in a valley edged with hills. The province's military governor, Col. Hashemi, directs operations from Zenjan, 43 miles south of Tazehkand. Government reserves and heavy artillery are held at Zenjan.

"We are going to Mianeh and Tabriz," Hashemi said, "but we don't know when the order to move will be received."

Red Press Jabs At MacArthur

Tokyo, Dec. 5 (AP)—Blunt Russian press criticism of General MacArthur was regarded in informed quarters today as the start of a new Soviet propaganda campaign against occupation policies in Japan, with the supreme commander for the first time under direct fire.

Official comment was not available, but some sources saw a planned timing between an article in Red Star yesterday and an intensified left-wing propaganda campaign within Japan coinciding with winter and the restlessness of the unemployed.

Reactionary Aims Charged

Political Commentator A. Sibiryakov wrote in Red Star that MacArthur was pursuing "reactionary" political aims in Japan, which were "far from democratic aims and sharply departs from the policy planned by Allied leaders for Japan."

Heretofore, Soviet critics have avoided identifying MacArthur directly with the policies in Japan which they have attacked.

Now the Russians claim a direct link between MacArthur and the Government of Premier Shigeru Yoshida, which is under bitter vocal attack from leftist Japanese.

Yoshida came into power several months ago to the protests of several mass demonstrations which Japanese Communists admitted they organized.

Paramushiro Jap Resistance To Russ Told

Tokyo, Dec. 5 (AP)—A Japanese fisherman from the rocky island of Paramushiro in the Far North Kurile chain told newsmen today that the 35,000 Nipponese soldiers and sailors on that island refused to acknowledge the Emperor's rescript ending the war but bloodily resisted Soviet landings on the islands in August, 1945.

This was the first light shed on that phase of the surrender.

The fisherman, Yoshitaro Kondo, said the commanding officer, a Lieutenant General Tsutsumi, received the surrender order flashed from Tokyo but commanded his men to resist any "invaders."

The morning of August 17, Kondo related, one battalion of Russians landed at Shumushu Island, just northeast of Paramushiro, under fleet cover. The Japanese on Paramushiro quickly moved to Shumushu and counter-attacked in three days of "bloody furious fighting."

Victorious, the Russians then occupied Paramushiro, Kindo said.

Kondo said life under the Soviets was "not hard," but he complained that food was scarce, prices high and work uncertain.

Telephoning In Japan Is Longtime Job

By Tom Lambert

Tokyo, Dec. 5 (AP)—Allied headquarters says a shortage of telephone poles is "one of the principal bugs in Japan's telephone system."

Ha! That's what they think.

Headquarters has a fancy army-installed system with branch exchanges and all sort of gadgets. The Japanese setup is a caution.

One thing is the way the Japanese answers the number he is calling. He dials the operator, passes the time of day and then casually mentions that he would like to be connected with such and such a number. He gives the operator his own number and hangs up.

He gets his party in anywhere from one minute to two weeks.

The Associated Press office still is waiting for two numbers placed fifteen months ago when it first moved in.

Occasionally a harassed Japanese becomes impatient with the slow system, with disastrous effects on the instrument. He picks up the receiver and slams it back on the cradle in rhythmic motion, all the time howling "Moshi moshi! Anonay! Moshi! Moshi! Anonay!"—Hello, hello! Are you there?

It's disastrous to call a telephone repair man. Usually they come in pairs, playfully toy with the wires, utter mournful wails into the instrument—and then tear out the whole set, wires and all. You may never see it again.

Yes, sir. The Japanese system needs more than new poles.

Hiroshima To Be Site Of Christian University

HIROSHIMA, Dec. 5 (AP).—This atom-bombed city has been chosen as the site of a proposed Christian University of Japan by the Rev. Dr. T. T. Brumbaugh, of the American Foreign Mission of the Far East, the Kyodo news agency reported today. Kyodo said one Hiroshima resident has offered his property to the project.

[Dr. Brumbaugh is executive director of the Committee to Establish a Christian University in Japan, a recently formed interdenominational body sponsored by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and the Foreign Missions Conference of North America, with headquarters at 156 Fifth Avenue, New York.]

GI In Japan Sentenced

The sentence is subject to review.

Canadian Army Gives Up Kilts

However, other of the regiments desiring kilts for walking out and for ceremonial occasions, such as church parades and Remembrance Day services, may buy them at their own expense.

Truman Names Committee of 15 To Fight Violation of Civil Rights

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—President Truman, condemning organized groups which fan "hatred and intolerance" that cause mob violence, tonight set up a fifteen-member Civil Rights Committee to combat them.

The committee is directed to study and recommend new civil rights legislation and other measures to protect "all parts of our population."

In an executive order the President declared that the action of those who take the law into their own hands "gravely threatens our form of government." He added in a statement that "in some places, from time to time, the local enforcement of law and order has broken down."

As chairman the President named Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric Company and former executive vice-chairman of the old War Production Board.

The committee is to prepare a written report containing recommendations for legislation and for more effective procedure for the protection of civil rights.

The committee members are to serve without pay. In addition to Mr. Wilson, they are:

Mrs. Sadie T. Alexander, Assistant City Solicitor of Philadelphia.

James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Text of Statement

President Truman's statement said:

"Freedom from fear is more fully realized in our country than in any other on the face of the earth. Yet all parts of our population are not equally free from fear. And from time to time, and in some places, this freedom has been gravely threatened. It was so after the last war, when organized groups fanned hatred and intolerance, until, at times, mob action struck fear into the hearts of men and women because of their racial origin or religious beliefs.

"Today, freedom from fear, and the democratic institutions which sustain it, are again under attack. In some places, from time to time, the local enforcement of law and order has broken down, and individuals—sometimes ex-servicemen, even women—have been killed, maimed or intimidated.

"The preservation of civil liberties is a duty of every government—state, Federal and local. Wherever the law enforcement measures and the authority of Federal, state and local governments are inadequate to discharge this primary funotion of government, these measures and this authority should be strengthened and improved.

Statutes Are Inadequate

"The constitutional guaranties of individual liberties and of equal protection under the laws clearly place on the Federal government the duty to act when state or local authorities abridge or fail to protect these constitutional rights.

"Yet in its discharge of the obligations placed on it by the Constitution, the Federal government is hampered by inadequate civil rights statutes. The protection of our democratic institutions and the enjoyment by the people of their rights under the Constitution require that these weak and inadequate statutes should be expanded and improved. We must provide the Department of Justice with the tools to do the job.

"I have, therefore, issued today an executive order creating the President's Committee on Civil Rights and I am asking this committee to prepare for me a written report. The substance of this report will be recommendations with respect to the adoption or establishment by legislation or otherwise of more adequate and effective means and procedures for the protection of the civil rights of the people of the United States."

DRAFT 'HOLIDAY' EXTENDED MONTH

Army Plans No January Service Calls; February in Doubt.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—Temporarily overstrength, the Army extended the draft holiday today through January but made no promises for February.

A brief announcement that for the third successive month there will be no Selective Service for men was accompanied by official hints that a substantial February quota would be necessary because of a sharp decline in voluntary enlistments.

Whether congress will be asked to extend Selective Service beyond March 31, its present expiration date, was left unanswered.

In mid-October, when the War department cancelled draft quotas for the remainder of this year, voluntary enlistments were more than meeting the regular army's need for an average of 37,000 new men each month.

Enlistments Drop Off

Since then, the announcement notice said, there has been "abrupt and continuing reduction" in the number of volunteers. In November they averaged fewer tha 9,000 a week.

The decision to extend the draft holiday another month was made, nevertheless, by Secretary of War Patterson and General Dwight D. Eisenhower because the Army's payroll is still too large in view of administration economy orders. Another reason was that officials are uncertain what the Army's strength will be by the year's end.

Latest reports show the regulars are down to about 1,200,000 effectives with about 250,000 officers and men classed as "ineffectives" because of being on terminal leave, in hospitals or otherwise unavailable for service.

Total strength has been reduced by about 300,000 in the last two months and under announced plans is to be further cut to about 1,310,000 by Dec. 31. To comply with congressional orders, regular army strength by mid-1947 must be down to 1,070,000.

Since last May only the Army has relied on Selective Service for manpower. The Navy has been able to meet its needs with volunters.

DAVID L. KROOTH IS MADE ACTING HOUSING CHIEF

Chicagoan Appointed To Succeed Wyatt As National Administrator

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—President Truman announced tonight the appointment of David L. Krooth, of Chicago, as acting National Housing Administrator, replacing Wilson W. Wyatt.

The President also designated Krooth as housing expediter, another role performed by Wyatt until his resignation yesterday as the outgrowth of differences with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, over loans for prefabricated housing.

Krooth, for some time connected with Federal housing programs, served for a time this year as acting commissioner of the Public Housing Aurthority.

RAIL EMBARGO HELD BLOCKING HOUSING PLANS

Builders' Group Is Told That 400,000 Veterans' Homes Cannot Be Completed.

WYATT'S LEAVING CLIMACTIC

Truman's 'Jumble of Pious Words' Is Scored by Speaker at Conference.

Washington, Dec. 5 (A. P.).—A "speedy halt" to home construction because of the rail embargo was forecast today as Wilson Wyatt stepped out as housing expediter in a climax to a bitter fued over the housing program.

The National Association of Home Builders, predicting the construction stoppage, added in a statement that 400,000 homes for veterans now being built "will be kept from completion while the embargo is in effect."

The embargo, going into effect tomorrow as a step to conserve coal, limits shipments virtually to food, medicines and fuel. The home builder group said suspension of lumber shipments would be felt immediately.

Wyatt chose to bow out as housing expediter rather than go along with a White House policy of relaxing controls over the building industry "as rapidly as possible."

Construes Truman Statement

President Truman announced the resignation of the youthful former Mayor of Louisville last evening and said he had accepted it "reluctantly." But his statement meant that Mr. Truman had overruled Wyatt's contention that the housing program must be pushed on an "all out emergency basis."

The President's statement was described today by Lee W. Johnson, executive vice president of the National Public Conference, as a "jumble of pious words." Johnson, substituting for Wyatt in an address before the conference, said:

"The White House beat its breast with pride for the housing job that was accomplished during the last 10 months and then with many tongues in many cheeks, it talked of returning to a normal economy and stated in effect that the days for fighting leadership are over.

He termed the development a victory for "rich lobbies, selfish interests whose only desire to help the veteran is to help relieve him of every drop of cash that a grateful government is willing to advance him to obtain a home."

The conference is attended by representatives of 200 national organizations, including the U. S. O., Red Cross, and other groups. It was called to determine how local communities can best serve veterans.

SMALL RESIGNS AS HEAD OF C.P.A.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—John D. Small turned in his resignation today as civilian production administrator with the assertion that industrial transition from the war to the peace "is largely behind us."

The 53-year-old Chicago businessman and former naval officer, whose agency was set up to facilitate industrial reconversion, told President Truman in a letter:

"For the past several months we have had practically full employment. Production has been the highest in our peacetime history. For these reasons I believe that the industrial transition from war to peace is largely behind us. I do not mean to imply that all of our problems have been overcome.

"However, once the difficult labor-management problems confronting the country are solved—and I am confident that they will be solved—still higher levels of production will pave the way to an even higher standard of living for the American people."

Small's resignation comes at a time when administration attorneys are whipping into shape a formula for setting up one over-all liquidation agency to carry on the remaining functions of CPA, OPA and other emergency agencies.

President Truman, accepting Small's resignation, praised him for exercising "rare skill and discretion" in carrying out a broad grant of authority.

CZAR ADVOCATED FOR VETS' AFFAIRS

Vital Need for Top Federal Coordinator Stressed in Report.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—(AP) A new top Federal coordinator for veterans affairs with "authority to cut red tape and act" was urged in a War department report released tonight by Secretary Patterson.

The report was submitted by Lt. Col. Winthrop Rockefeller, grandson of the late John D. Rockefeller. In a six-month survey for the war secretary, Rockefeller found that among the nearly 14,000,000 war veterans "disillusionment is rampant, and unemployment and under-employment has reached distressing proportions."

The report was submitted July 18. There was no explanation why it was not released sooner.

Declaring that prompt, "drastic action" was needed, Rockefeller proposed also creation of a citizens' group "to conduct a far-reaching employment drive designed to correct injustices and hardships that have been the lot of far too many deserving men."

This group, he said, should "be so fearless that there will no longer be an excuse for those able-bodied veterans whose lack of self-respect would permit them to ride the bandwagon indefinitely, to continue living off the public."

A third major recommendation was to amend certain administrative portions of the G.I. bill of rights "which currently does not provide for either effective or efficient operation."

Patterson directed the survey early this year because he said the War department felt a moral responsibility for the welfare of the millions of men and women released from the Army after war service. He commended the report tonight at the National Conference of Veterans Affairs as "thorough, constructive and sympathetic."

30.24-6785

Rockefeller, 33, whose brother Nelson is a former assistant secretary of state, advised that the lack of a postwar "master plan" for coping with veterans' problems had resulted in "confusion" both in the Federal government and local communities.

He proposed appointment of a czar of veterans affairs to coordinate the work of 15 or more Federal agencies which he said currently were concerned with veterans affairs.

Lehman Mentioned For Bank Post

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Speculation on a successor to Eugene Meyer as president of the 38-nation world bank centered today on the name of Herbert Lehman.

Lehman, a four-term governor of New York and defeated Democratic senatorial candidate in the November 5 elections, has a background of considerable banking experience and connections.

Another possibility mentioned for the $30,000-a-year, tax-free post is Vice President Harold D. Smith, former United States director of the budget, whom Meyer took into the bank with him last June.

Served Six Months

Meyer's resignation was submitted last night, six months from the day he was appointed. He asked that it be effective December 18 or earlier if a successor is chosen before then.

Meyer, in his letter of resignation to the directors, said he had a mutual understanding with President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes when they persuaded him to take the job that "I would not be expected to serve indefinitely," but would "launch the bank and 'get it started.'"

Passing First Stage

The letter added that the bank "is now passing from the preliminary work of preparation to the stage of operating activities" and "henceforth must be viewed in terms of long-time continuous operations."

"Therefore," Meyer wrote, "I have the strong conviction that, from the standpoint of the bank, the moment has arrived when a permanent head should be selected so he may participate in the further building of the organization and the development of operating policies and practices."

Ike 'Priceless Material'; Use As Diplomat Urged

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Representative Frances Bolton (R., Ohio) today described Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as "priceless material" who shouldn't be hemmed in by his duties in Washington.

She suggested that Eisenhower's ability should be applied to this country's interests in international problems rather than to military problems, now that fighting has ceased.

Saying that no man was more successful "in securing co-operation than was he during the war," Mrs. Bolton suggested that General Eisenhower was "the one man fitted by nature and experience to take on the task of winning understanding and co-operation from Premier Stalin of Russia, who held the General in high regard."

Army Families To Fly To European Theater

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP) — Air travel will be used to speed the reunion of wives and children with army men in the European theater, the War Department announced today.

About 100 a week who had been awaiting first-class accommodations on surface ships will be given passage on commercial air liners from LaGuardia Field to Frankfurt, Germany.

'MAYFLOWER' IS SOLD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 — (AP) The Mayflower, official yacht of five presidents and a veteran of two world wars has been sold to a Canadian ship operator for $20,159.99.

The Maritime Commission said today the 50-year-old vessel went to Frank M. Shaw of Montreal, who submitted the only bid when the vessel was declared surplus recently.

The 275-foot craft, built at Glasgow, Scotland, was last used as a Presidential yacht by President Hoover.

Army Fires German Rocket 95 Miles Above Earth

WHITE SAND, N. M., Dec. 5—(AP) Army ordnance specialists fired a German V-2 rocket 95 miles above the earth today, achieving with it a new record velocity of 5,000 feet per second.

Lt. Col. Howard R. Turner, White Sand proving ground commandant, said the missile's top speed was achieved at the end of the 63.5 seconds required to consume its 11-ton load of alcohol and liquid oxygen fuel.

NIGHT

The altitude was nine miles short of a 104-mile mark posted last July but the rocket may have ranged 80 miles to the north, another new mark.

The point of impact was not immediately located in the 5,000 square mile Whitesands reservation pending reports from outlying observation stations.

Radio controls "ruptured" the rocket on its downward trajectory, blasting free a nose section laden with instruments prepared by the naval research laboratory in Washington, D. C.

Col. Turner said initial reports indicated that the firing, 16th in a series with reassembled German rockets, "may be classed highly successful."

The next launching is scheduled for the night of Dec. 17, when observatories over the southwest have been alerted to watch for man-made "shooting stars" in the form of small iron pellets to be discharged from the projectile.

Atom Competition For $10 Coal Seen

Philadelphia, Dec. 5 (AP)—Atomic power plants can be constructed on the eastern seaboard to compete economically with those using coal if bituminous prices rise as high as $10 a ton, says an executive of the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) atomic project.

Dr. Charles A. Thomas, vice president of the Monsanto Chemical Company, who is now directing the conversion of the Oak Ridge plant to nonmilitary uses, declared that at the present price of $7 a ton, coal is the cheaper form.

First Experimental Plant

But even if technological progress or rising coal prices bring about the atomic power plant, Dr. Thomas said atomic energy would never wipe out the coal or oil industries. He said it would supplement rather than supplant the use of these fuels.

The first experimental power plant ever to use atomic energy will be in operation at Oak Ridge by 1948, Dr. Thomas told a lecture group at the University of Pennsylvania last night.

The Oak Ridge unit, he said, costs two and one-half times as much to build as would one using coal, but he added that technological advances would reduce the initial outlay considerably.

Useful In Alaska

Dr. Thomas warned, however, that "in the shadows is the bomb itself" and the question of its future control "imperils all peacetime advances in the use of atomic energy."

An atomic power plant would be most valuable, said Dr. Thomas, in a desolate region such as Alaska. He said one airplane flight could supply Alaska with enough fuel to operate for two or three years.

Dr. Thomas, one of the men who drafted the fundamental outlines of the Baruch plan for the control of atomic power, envisioned atomic energy leading to giant ocean liners operating for more than a year without refueling and to substances that might attack malignant growths and eradicate cancer.

'SUBVERSIVE GROUPS' CALLED MAJOR PROBLEM

CHICAGO, Dec. 5—(AP) The president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police said today "subversive groups are the basic cause behind our thwarted efforts to reconvert to peacetime pursuits."

T. P. Sullivan, Springfield, Ill., who also is director of the Illinois State Department of Public Safety, told the annual meeting of Chicago Railway Special Agents and Police association:

"Call them Communist, fascist or what you will, these groups create a problem that far overshadow other pertinent issues such as juvenile delinquency and traffic safety.

"The police must know the men behind this sabotage of our economic structure. They must be ever ready to apprehend these men wherever our laws are broken. Only when every police department, like our justly famous FBI, maintains an unceasing vigil against these interests, can we stamp out this threat to our country."

Atlanta Sees 1,200 Mules Off For Greece

Atlanta, Dec. 5 (AP)—A trainload of mules—1,200 of them—were on their way from here today to Savannah for transshipment to Greece under an UNRRA program of aid to that war-stricken nation.

The mules were purchased from the Ragsdale-Lawhon Commission Company by the Department of Agriculture for UNRRA and are a part of a total of 15,000 to be sent to Greece.

Similar shipments are being made from Nashville, Memphis, Kansas City, St. Louis, Omaha, Little Rock and Louisville.

PRISONERS' RETURN URGED

Byrnes Calls On European Nations To Speed Move

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—A United States effort to speed the return home of 674,000 German war prisoners from four western European nations was announced today by James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, and diplomats said the move probably would strengthen American leadership in Germany.

Byrnes reported, thus far, only partial success in his efforts to have France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg send back to Germany prisoners who were captured by American armies in Europe and turned over to those countries during the w

NIGHT

Neither Russia nor Britain was involved in today's development because neither had received any captured Germans from the American Army.

Under Geneva Convention

A statement issued by Byrnes's office said the Secretary had asked the four western European governments, "under the letter and the spirit of the Geneva convention," to return the captured Germans to Germany as soon as possible.

He set October 1, 1947, as deadline for full repatriation to allow time for "an orderly withdrawal of the prisoners of war by occupational groups in a manner which will least disturb the economic rehabilitation of Europe."

The statement showed that Belgium, with 40,000 prisoners, and Luxembourg, with 4,000, had advised Byrnes that they could complete repatriation of their American-captured prisoners by next July.

French Accord Forecast

France, with 620,000, has not given an official reply, but individual French leaders have led Byrnes to believe that the Government will be in accord with the objective of his program. The Netherlands, with 10,000, formally expressed accord.

The United States once had 378,898 German prisoners in this country, but nearly all have been returned.

Meanwhile, the Foreign Ministers' Council was still working on final disputes involved in the settlement of the Italian and Balkan peace treaties which are due to be largely if not completely finished before discussions begin here on a German settlement.

TOWARD CURBING ATOMIC ENERGY FOR PEACEFUL USES.
BARUCH, THE UNITED STATES DELEGATE ON ENERGY COMMISSION, WAS SAID AUTHORITATIVELY TO HAVE PREPARED A STATEMENT AND SOME RESOLUTIONS FOR PRESENTATION AT AN IMPORTANT
POLICY-SHAPING MEETING OF THE COMMISSION (6 P.M. E.S.T.).
DELEGATION BUT OBSERVERS POINTED OUT THAT THE UNITED STATES WANTS
JUST WHAT HE WILL PROPOSE HAS BEEN CLOSELY GUARDED BY THE ACTION ON THE ATOMIC QUESTION. THIS WAS, SAID, TO BE ESPECIALLY THE CASE SINCE V.M. MOLOTOV, RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER, MADE A STATEMENT YESTERDAY WHICH UNITED NATIONS DELEGATES HAD AWAITED FOR A CONSIDERABLE TIME.

MOLOTOV GOT DOWN TO BRASS TACKS ON THE INSPECTION AND CONTROL FEATURES OF DISARMAMENT WHEN HE TOLD THE U.N. POLITICAL COMMITTEE THAT ORGANIZATIONS SHOULD BE SET UP WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL FOR THE INSPECTION AND CONTROL OF ARMS LIMITATION REGULATIONS.

RUSSIA HAS PROPOSED GENERAL DISARMAMENT BUT THE SOVIET DELEGATION AND THE UNITED STATES AGREE THAT ATOMIC WEAPONS SHOULD HAVE TOP PRIORITY IN CONSIDERING CONTROL.

MOLOTOV SAID THE VETO POWER OF THE FIVE PERMANENT MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL HAD NO RELATION TO THE WORK OF THE COMMISSIONS.

"CONSEQUENTLY," HE SAID IN THIS HIGHLY SIGNIFICANT PARAGRAPH CONTAINED IN THE U.N. TRANSLATION OF HIS SPEECH, "IT IS ENTIRELY WRONG TO CONSIDER THE MATTER IN THE LIGHT THAT ANY GOVERNMENT POSSESSING THE 'RIGHT OF VETO' WILL BE IN A POSITION TO HINDER THE FULFILLMENT OF THE CONTROL AND INSPECTIONS.

"THE CONTROL COMMISSIONS ARE NOT THE SECURITY COUNCIL AND THEREFORE THERE ARE NO GROUNDS WHATSOEVER FOR SAYING THAT ANY POWER MAKING USE OF THE 'RIGHT OF VETO' WILL BE IN A POSITION TO OBSTRUCT THE CURSE OF CONTROL. EVERY ATTEMPT TO OBSTRUCT THE CONTROL OR INSPECTION CARRIED OUT IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE DECISIONS TAKEN BY THE SECURITY COUNCIL WILL BE NOTHING OTHER THAN A VIOLATION OF THE DECISIONS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL."

BARUCH HAS FOUGHT SINCE LAST JUNE 14--AND EVEN BEFORE--FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF A SYSTEM OF CONTROL AND REGULATION OF ATOMIC ENERGY WHICH WOULD NOT BE SUBJECT TO THE RIGHT OF VETO IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

RUSSIA, FOR LONG WEEKS OF DEBATE IN THE COMMISSION, HAS INSISTED THAT INSPECTION WOULD BE A VIOLATION OF NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY AND URGED INSTEAD THAT ATOMIC ENERGY BE REGULATED BY AN INTERNATIONAL TREATY ABOLISHING ATOMIC WEAPONS AND PROVIDING FOR INDIVIDUAL NATIONAL CONTROL OF OFFENDERS.

THUS THE MATTER STOOD UNTIL OCTOBER WHEN PRIME MINISTER STALIN OF RUSSIA SAID IN A STATEMENT THAT THERE SHOULD BE INTERNATIONAL CONTROL FOR ATOMIC ENERGY. MOLOTOV FOLLOWED THAT YESTERDAY WITH HIS CLEAR STATEMENT, IN ANSWER TO REPEATED QUESTIONS FROM OTHER DELEGATIONS.

MANY COMMITTEE MEETINGS AGAIN WERE SCHEDULED TODAY FOR THE U.N. ASSEMBLY, WHICH IS TRYING TO COMPLETE ITS WORK BY LATE NEXT WEEK.

SUB-COMMITTEES ON DISARMAMENT AND SPAIN, APPOINTED BY THE POLITICAL COMMITTEE AFTER LONG DEBATE YESTERDAY WERE CALLED TO MEET AT 10:30 A.M. E.S.T. A THIRD SUB-COMMITTEE CHARGED WITH DRAFTING AN ACCEPTABLE COMPROMISE ON THE VETO QUESTION, WAS CALLED TO MEET AT 3 P.M.E.S.T., AT THE SAME TIME THE POLITICAL COMMITTEE ARRANGED TO MEET. REPORTS FROM THE VETO SUB-COMMITTEE SAID IT HAD MORE PROPOSALS NOW THAN IT HAD WHEN THE MATTER WAS REFERRED TO IT EARLIER THIS WEEK.

THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN REFUSED TO VOTE OR TO RECORD THEMSELVES AS ABSTAINING WHEN THE POLITICAL COMMITTEE DECIDED TO NAME A SUB-COMMITTEE TO ATTEMPT TO RESOLVE THE SPANISH QUESTION. BOTH POWERS MAINTAINED THAT A SUB-COMMITTEE WOULD BE INEFFECTIVE.

RUSSIA'S PLAN PRESENTED TO THE COMMISSION LAST JUNE ENVISIONED AN INTERNATIONAL PACT OUTLAWING ATOMIC WEAPONS, THE DESTRUCTION OF EXISTING ATOMIC BOMBS WITHIN 90 DAYS AFTER THE PACT TOOK EFFECT, AND THE ENACTMENT OF NATIONAL LAWS AGAINST VIOLATIONS SIX MONTHS AFTER THE PACT IS EFFECTIVE. ADD Lake Success (VL-Baruch-Atomic) XXX Dem

THE RUSSIANS MAINTAINED AT THAT TIME AND IN LATER DEBATE THAT THE VETO MUST NOT BE ALTERED IN SPITE OF AMERICAN DEMANDS THAT THE VETO MUST NOT APPLY TO ATOMIC CONTROLS. THE FIRST CHANGE IN THE RUSSIAN ATTITUDE CAME IN OCTOBER WHEN JOSEPH STALIN SAID THERE MUST BE AN INTERNATIONAL CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY AND THE CONCESSIONS REVEALED DURING THE U.N. ASSEMBLY FOLLOWED. (Carpenter)

U.N.-TRUSTEESHIP

BY JOHN WALLACE

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC.5-(AP)-SOVIET RUSSIA CALLED TODAY FOR DEFINITION OF THE FIVE MAJOR POWERS AS "STATES DIRECTLY CONCERNED" WITH FORMER MANDATED TERRITORIES, BUT SAID SHE HAD NO INTENTION OF INTRODUCING VETO PRIVILEGES INTO THE PROPOSED UNITED NATIONS TRUSTEESHIP SYSTEM.

THE RUSSIAN DECLARATION EVOKED A GENERAL EXPRESSION OF OPINION AMONG THE DELEGATES ON THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S TRUSTEESHIP SUB-COMMITTEE THAT THE WAY WAS NOW OPEN FOR IMMEDIATE CREATION OF THE U.N. TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL.

JOHN FOSTER DULLES, UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE, SAID "THE SOVIET STATEMENT SEEMS TO SUGGEST A REAL POSSIBILITY OF ACCORD IN THE TRUSTEESHIP SYSTEM," A VIEW SHARED BY REPRESENTATIVES OF OTHER COUNTRIES ON THE 17-NATION SUB-COMMITTEE.

UNDER THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER, ALL DRAFT TRUSTEESHIP AGREEMENTS MUST BE APPROVED BY 3) $843:5)6 :9,:34,

UNDER THE UNITED NATION CHARTER, ALL DRAFT TRUSTEESHIP AGREEMENTS MUST BE APPROVED BY "STATES DIRECTLY CONCERNED." THE UNITED STATES HAD SOUGHT TO POSTPONE ANY ATTEMPT TO DEFINE THIS TERM DURING THE PRESENT SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY ON THE GROUND THAT THE QUESTION MIGHT HOPELESSLY SNARL THE WHOLE TRUSTEESHIP SYSTEM.

NIKOLAI V.NOVIKOV, REPRESENTING RUSSIA ON THE SUB-COMMITTEE, SAID THAT THE QUESTION OF DECIDING WHAT NATIONS WERE "STATES DIRECTLY CONCERNED" WITH TERRITORIES FORMERLY MANDATED BY THE OLD LEAGUE OF NATIONS "IN SOME CASES X X X WAS DECIDED UNILATERALLY AND ARBITRARILY BY THE MANDATORY POWERS THEMSELVES."

HE DESCRIBED "SUCH A STATE OF AFFAIRS" AS CONTRARY TO THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER, AND SAID THAT UNLESS A PROPER DEFINITION IS GIVEN NOW TO WHAT NATIONS ARE "STATES DIRECTLY CONCERNED" WITH THE TRUSTEE TERRITORIES, IT "MAY LEAD TO ALL KINDS OF PRIVATE DEALS OF MANDATORY STATES WITH SOME OF THE OTHER POWERS."

NOVIKOV EXPRESSED THE RUSSIAN VIEW THAT "AMONG THE STATES DIRECTLY CONCERNED MUST BE, IN THE FIRST PLACE, COUNTED THE FIVE GREAT POWERS."

THEN, ANSWERING INQUIRIES FROM OTHER DELEGATES, HE SAID THAT "THE SOVIET DELEGATION HAS NO INTENTION OF INTRODUCING THE VETO INTO THE (UNITED NATIONS) SYSTEM OF TRUSTEESHIP."

DULLES REPEATED HIS ADMONITIONS AGAIN T ANY DEAL IN SETTING UP THE TRUSTEESHIP YSTEM AND SAID THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, IN APPROVING PAR

PARTICULAR TERMS OF TRUSTEESHIP, "DOES NOT PREJUDGE THE QUESTION OF WHAT STATES ARE OR ARE NOT 'DIRECTLY CONCERNED' WITHIN THE MEANINGS" OF THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER.

NOVIKOV SAID RUSSIA "DEEMS IT PARAMOUNT TO REACH AN AGREEMENT THAT EACH OF THE POWERS WHICH IS A PERMANENT MEMBER OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL AND OF THE TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL HAS THE RIGHT TO STATE THAT IT IS A STATE DIRECTLY CONCERNED AS REGARDS TRUST TERRITORIES.",

"HOWEVER," HE ADDED, "THIS DOES NOT NECESSARILY MEAN THAT EACH OF THESE POWERS ACTUALLY WILL MAKE SUCH A STATEMENT WITH REGARD TO ALL TRUST TERRITORIES."

THE UNITED STATES EXPRESSED ITS STRONG OPPOSITION TO THE INTRODUCTION OF ANY FORM OF VETO SYSTEM INTO THE STRUSTEESHIP SYSTEM, AND NOVIKOV MAINTAINED THAT RUSSIA DID "NOT IMPLY INTRODUCING THE VETO."

NOVIKOV SAID THAT THE FIVE BIG POWERS, "ONCE THEY ARE RECOGNIZED AS STATES DIRECTLY CONCERNED" WITH TRUST TERRITORIES, "SHOULD HAVE NO SPECIAL POWERS ABOVE THOSE OF ANY OTHER STATE," SMALL, MEDIUM OR LARGE.

U.N.--SPEEDUP (400)
BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC 5-(AP)-FATIGUE CIRCLES UNDER THE EYES ARE THE BADGES TODAY OF EVERY PARTICIPANT IN THE CURRENT UNITED NATIONS DRI E TO WIND UP THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY BY THE END OF NEXT WEEK.

AS THE PRESSURE GETS STRONGER--THERE WAS A RECORD NUMBER OF 26 MEETINGS HELD YESTERDAY AND THE TOTAL I EXPECTED TO BE EVEN HIGHER TODAY--EVERYONE IS SHOWING THE STRAIN OF MORNING, AFTERNOON AND EVENING SESSION . THEY ARE GRIPING LIKE GIS AND GRIMLY PUTTING IN THE EXTRA HOURS.

SALES OF HEADACHE REMEDIES, CIGARETTES AND CIGARS ARE SPIRALING. THE CLINIC AND FIRST AID STATION REPORTS STEADILY INCREASING PATRONAGE. STRAPPED ANKLES AND BANDAGED HANDS--OBVIOUSLY THE ESULT OF FALLS ON THE SLIPPERY CORRIDORS--ARE MORE AND MORE FREQUENT SIGHTS.

NEXT TO THE DELE ATE , WHO ARE KEPT AT A DOG-TROT RUNNING BETWEEN MEETINGS, THE MOST HARRIED GROUP IS THE ONE WHICH MAKES THE PHYSICAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE SESSION . THERE ARE 16 CONFERENCE ROOMS AND TWO BIG COUNCIL CHAMBERS, AVAILABLE UNDER A PRIORITY SYSTEM. SO FAR ALL MEETINGS HAVE BEEN ARRANGED AND FITTED IN WITHOUT ANY CROSS-UP, BUT THE CONFERENCE COORDINATION DIVISION HAS ITS COLLECTI E FINGERS CROSSED.

JAMES W.MUCKELL, DIVI ION HEAD, SAID THAT HIS CLEAN-UP STAFF HAS, UNDER IDEAL CONDITIONS, AN HOUR TO PREPARE A ROOM FOR A MEETING: SWEEP UP THE OLD CIGARETTE BUTTS AND PAPERS FROM THE FLOOR; CHANGE THE NAME-BLOCKS WHICH IDENTIFY THE NATION OF EACH PARTICIPATING DELEGATE, AND RE-ARRANGE CHAIRS.

"WE CERTAINLY ARE MAKING THE TURN-AROUND IN MUCH FASTER TIME THAN THAT NOW," HE COMMENTED. "AND TO MAKE IT HARDER, WE'VE A CHAIR SHORTAGE, SO E HAVE TO KEEP MOVING THEM FROM ROOM TO ROOM."

ANOTHER SERIOUS SHORTAGE UNDER THE SPEEDUP IS REPORTERS WHO TRANSCRIBE THE PROCEEDINGS IN ENGLISH AND FRENCH.

"WE DON'T HAVE ENOUGH VERBATIM REPORTERS TO HANDLE ALL THE MEETINGS IN PROGRESS," MUCKELL SAID, "SO IN SOME OF THE CONFERENCE ROOMS WE ARE MAKING SOUND RECORDINGS OF THE PROCEEDINGS. WE'LL GET THEM TRANSCRIBED ON PAPER AFTER THE AS EMBLY HAS ADJOURNED."

CLERICAL EMPLOYES ARE ORGANIZED INTO HIFTS TO KEEP THE FLOW OF REPORTS, TATEMENTS AND AGENDA ON SCHEDULE: THE COMMISSARY DEPARTMENT HAS INCREA ED ITS FOOD SUPPLIES TO HANDLE 1 ,500 MEALS--INSTEAD OF 10,000--AILY. AND THE DELEGATES' DINING ROOM NOW REMAINS OPEN FOR THE EVENING MEAL.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC.5-(AP)-A GROWING TREN FOR ESTABLISHING THE CAPITAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS ON SAN FRANCISCO'S HISTORIC PRESIDIO MILITARY RESERVATION DE ELOPED TODAY IN DEBATE BEFORE THE 54-MEMBER PERMANENT HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE.

THE AMERI AN DELEGATION, STILL MAINTAINING OFFICIAL NEUTRALITY ON THE LOCALE TO BE CHOSEN FOR THE PEACE CAPITAL, ANNOUNCED THAT IT WAS PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S INTENTION TO OFFER THE PRESIDIO FREE OF CHARGE, SUBJECT TO CONGRESSIONAL CONSENT.

WARREN R.AUSTIN, THE CHIEF AMERICAN DELEGATE, EMPHASIZED THAT THE GIFT OF THE PRESIDIO WOULD HAVE TO BE APP OVED BY CONGRESS, BUT HIS BRIEF STATEMENT TO THE COMMITTEE WAS TAKEN TO MEAN THAT TOE ASHINGTON GOVERNMENT HOPED THE SAN FRANCISCO PINE AND PALM-FRINGED BAYSIDE WOULD NOT BE BY-PASSED IN THE SHOWDOWN WITH PHILADELPHIA, NEW YORK AND LAST-RUNNING BOSTON.

AFTER TWO DAYS OF DEBATE, WITH ANOTHER SESSION SCHE ULED FOR TONIGHT, SAN FRANCISCO HAD BEEN GIVEN FORMAL APPROVAL BY CHINA, THE PHILIPPINES, INDIA, SAUDI ARABIA, EL SALVADOR, AU TRALIA AND HONDURAS, AND OTHERS YET TO BE HEARD IN THE COMMITTEE HAVE INDICATED THEY WOULD FOLLOW SUIT FOR THE PRESIDIO.

THU FAR, THE SOVIET UKRAINE AND THE NETHERLANDS HAVE COME OUT FOR ONE OF THE THREE PROPOSED EAST COAST LOCATIONS--THE NEW YORK, PHILADELPHIA AND BOSTON AREAS; SOVIET RUSSIA HAS NOT YET SPOKEN UP IN COMMITTEE BUT HAS ANNOUNCED IT FAVORS THE FLUSHING MEADOW PARK AREA OFFERED BY NEW YORK CITY--STRICTLY ON AN ECONOMY BASIS; YUGOSLAVIA HAS FAVORED NEW YORK CITY IN THE COMMITTEE.

THE UNITED KINGDOM CAME OUT FLATLY FOR PHILADELPHIA YESTERDAY AFTER HAVING PLUMPED PREVIOUSLY OR THE SUBURBAN WESTCHESTER COUNTY AREA APPROVED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN LONDON LAST WINTER, BUT SINCE VIRTUALLY ABANDONED IN THE FACE OF LOCAL OPPOSITION AMONG RESIDENTS FEARING LOSS OF THEIR HOMES.

A LONG LIST OF SPEAKERS FROM THE 45-MEMBER NATIONS REMAINS TO BE HEARD BUT OFFICIALS HOPED A VOTE WOULD BE REACHED TOMORROW OR NOT LATER THAN SATURDAY WHICH WOULD SEND THE RECOMMENDATION OF A SITE TO THE ASSEMBLY IN PLENARY SESSION AT FLUSHING MEADOW.

AUSTIN'S STATEMENT SAID:

"IN RESPONSE TO THE INQUIRIES PROPOUNDED BY THE DISTINGUISHED DELEGATES FROM BOTH CHINA AND INDIA, I WISH TO SAY THAT THE EVENTS HAVE OCCURRED WHICH I HAVE BEEN ANTICIPATING AND I AM CONSEQUENTLY ABLE TO SAY THAT IT IS THE PURPOSE OF THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT TO MAKE THE PRESIDIO AVAILABLE TO THE UNITED NATIONS WITHOUT COST. OF COURSE, YOU UNDERSTAND, THIS IS ALL SUBJECT TO IMPLEMENTATION BY CONGRESS."

THE COMMITTEE DEBATE WENT INTO ITS SECOND DAY WITH SAN FRANCISCO AND PHILADELPHIA AS THE MAIN CONTENDERS IN THE HEADQUARTERS RACE.

INDIA LED OFF THIS MORNING WITH THE EXPRESSED HOPE THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD FIND IT POSSIBLE TO OFFER THE PRESIDIO.

"IN ANY CASE," SAID INDIAN DELEGATE P.N. SAPTU, "MY NATION WILL VTE FOR SAN FRANCISCO AS A FIRST CHOICE REGARDLESS OF COST AND FOR PHILADELPHIA SECOND."

AUSTIN'S NEW DECLARATION CLARIFIED A SITUATION WHICH AROSE YESTERDAY WHEN HE TOLD THE COMMITTEE HE WAS NOT SURE WHETHER THE PRESIDIO WOULD BE OFFERED FREE OF CHARGE. IN THE OPINION OF SOME DELEGATES, THIS UNCERTAINTY AS TO WHETHER THE U.N. WOULD HAVE TO PAY FOR THE SITE HAD DIMINISHED SAN FRANCISCO'S CHANCES OF BEING SELECTED.

ON THE BASIS OF NEW INSTRUCTIONS, AUSTIN ISSUED HIS LATEST STATEMENT TO REMOVE DOUBTS AS FAR AS POSSIBLE.

SAPTU PLEADED FOR SAN FRANCISCO AS AN IDEAL MEETING PLACE SAYING: "WE WANT THE UNITED ATIONS TO BRING ABOUT TRUE COOPERATION BETWEEN THE EAST AND WEST AND IN SAN FRANCISCO WE HAVE A CITY IN A WESTERN COUNTRY, BUT IT FACES THE EAST."

HE OBJECTED TO ARGUMENTS THAT SAN FRANCISCO WAS TOO FAR AWAY FROM THE WORLD'S CAPITALS. HE WONDERED IF THE CITY WAS FARTHER FROM THE 20 REPUBLICS OF SOUTH AMERICA THAN PHILADELPHIA AND HE ASKED: "WHAT OF TOMORROW. WHO CAN TELL WHAT POLITICAL CAPITALS WILL BE IMPORTANT IN THE FUTURE?"

HE BROUGHT A CHUCKLE FROM THE COMMITTEE WHEN HE ARGUED THAT SAN FRANCISCO'S TEMPERATE CLIMATE WOULD CUT THE UNITED NATIONS' DOCTOR BILLS.

"MYSELF, I AM A LITTLE RHEUMATIC," SAPTU SAID.

HE ASKED THE SECRETARIAT FOR ESTIMATES ON THE HOURS AND COSTS OF AN AIR TRIP FROM INDIA, VIA SHANGHAI, TO SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO ENJOYED AN EDGE OVER THE FIELD OF CONTENDERS, ALSO INCLUDING NEW YORK AND BOSTON, AFTER THE FIRST ROUND OF DEBATE YESTERDAY.

LEV MEDVED OF THE UKRAINE TOLD THE COMMITTEE THIS MORNING THAT HIS DELEGATION WOULD VOTE FOR AN EAST COAST SITE IN THE UNITED STATES. HE MADE NO CHOICE AMONG NEW YORK, PHILADELPHIA AND BOSTON.

HE SAID FOR HIS DELEGATION OF 20 PERSONS THE TRIP TO SAN FRANCISCO WOULD COST $6,000 MORE AND ADDED: "WE COULD FIND BETTER PLACES TO PUT THAT MONEY. WE ARE NOT RICH."

"FURTHERMORE," MEDVED SAID, "SAN FRANCISCO IS 3,000 MILES FARTHER FROM OUR CAPITAL, KIEV, THAN NEW YORK. IN FACT NEW YORK IS CLOSER FOR 49 NATIONS HERE AND SAN FRANCISCO FOR ONLY FIVE. IF, AS WE EXPECT, NEW NATIONS JOIN US I CAN THINK OF ONLY FIEW NEW MEMBERS FROM ASIA AND PERHAPS 15 FROM EUROPE."

HONDURAS FAVORED SAN FRANCISCO FIRST AND PHILADELPHIA SECOND.

3WE MUST NOT WORRY TOO MUCH ABOUT THE EXPENSE AND TIME SPENT IN TRAVEL," HONDURAN DELEGATE DR.JORGE FIEDEL DURON SAID. "WE MUST ~~THINK FARTHER AHEAD TO THE TIME WHEN WE HAVE PERMANENT PERSONNEL~~ AT THE U.N. HEADQUARTERS. SAN FRANCISCO MEETS ALL THE REQUIREMENTS OF A WORLD CAPITAL AND IT WOULD BE DIFFICULT TO FIND A FRIENDLIER CITY ANYWHERE."

DR.M.P.M. VAN KARNEBEEK OF THE NETHERLANDS SAID HIS COUNTRY WOULD FAVOR ONE OF THE EAST COAST SITES BECAUSE OF THE ADDED TIME AND EXPENSE INVOLVED IN THE TRIP TO SAN FRANCISCO.

HE EXPRESSED THE "DEEPEST ADMIRATION FOR THE MANNER IN WHICH MAYOR LAPHAM OF SAN FRANCISCO AND HIS COMMITTEE HAVE AIDED THE DELEGATES." LAPHAM AND HIS PARTY WERE HERE FOR THE FINAL SHOWDOWN.

N.J.O.MAKIN OF AUSTRALIA PLEADED FOR "A BROADER VIEW OF THE FUTURE OF THE UNITED NATIONS" AND STRONGLY SUPPORTED THE PRESIDIO SITE "WHICH HAS BEEN SO GENEROUSLY OFFERED THE UNITED NATIONS TODAY."

MAKING TOLD THE DELEGATES WHO EXPRESSED WORRIED ABOUT EXPENSE THAT IF THE UNITED NATIONS WENT TO THE PRESIDIO THEY WOULD HAVE GREAT BUILDINGS WHICH HAD BEEN USED FOR AN ADMINISTRATIVE ARMY POST.

"THE U.N. HOME SHOULD BE AS FAR AS POSSIBLE FROM ANY NATIONAL CAPITAL SO THAT NO SUGGESTION WOULD EVER ARISE THAT ANY SINGLE GOVERNMENT WAS EXERTING UNDUE INFLUENCE ON THE WORLD ORGANIZATION'S DELIBERATIONS AND HENCE SAN FRANCISCO SHOULD BE CHOSEN," MAKIN SAID.

HE SAID THE DEBATE HAD TURNED INTO MERE EXPRESSIONS FOR AND AGAINST SAN FRANCISCO AND THAT NO ARGUMENTS HAD BEEN MADE IN FAVOR OF ANY OTHER SPECIFIC SITE.

ANOTHER MEETING X X X AS BEFORE.

THE ARGUMENTS SO FAR HAVE BEEN RELATIVELY SIMPLE. THOSE SUPPORTING THE EAST COAST STRESS THE ADDITIONAL DISTANCE DELEGATES WOULD HAVE TO TRAVEL FROM ALMOST EVERY SECTION OF THE WORLD. WEST COAST ADVOCATES HAVE RETORTED THAT SAN FRANCISCO REALLY IS HALF-WAY BETWEEN THE EAST AND WEST AND IN ADDITION CLAIM MANY ADVANTAGES FOR THE CALIFORNIA CITY SUCH S CLIMATE, LOWER LIVING COST AND HOSPITALITY. 900 (day-SITE) XXX decisions (March)

REGARDLESS OF THE OUTCOME OF THE DEBATE, WHICH WAS EXPECTED TO BRING A VOTE BY TOMORROW, PERSONS HIGH IN THE SECRETARIAT ESTIMATED IT WOULD BE FIVE TO SEVEN YEARS BEFORE THE U.N. COULD MOVE FROM ITS INTERIM HEADQUARTERS HERE.

SUPPORTING THI TATEMENT, IT WAS SAID THAT THE WORLD AGENCY FIRST WOUL HAVE TO ET UP A PLANNING COMMISSION, WHICH WOULD REQUIRE AT LEAST A YEAR FOR A FULL REPORT. AFTER THAT PREPARATIONS WOULD HAVE TO BE MADE TO LET BIDS AND APPROVE DESIGNS AND ALL THIS WAS EXPECTED TO TAKE NEARLY TWO YEARS. THE DELEGATES THEN BECAME INVOLVED IN A DISCUSSION OVER THE QUESTION OF WHETHER THE SECURITY COUNCIL ITSELF COULD PUT THE ARMS REDUCTION PROGRAM INTO EFFECT OR WHETHER IT WOULD HAVE TO BE RATIFIED FIRST BY INDIVIDUAL NATIONS.

CONNALLY ACCEPTED A SUGGESTION BY SPAAK THAT THE AMERICAN RESOLUTION SHOULD BE CLARIFIED BY ADDING A SENTENCE TO STATE SPECIFICALLY THAT RATIFICATION WAS NECESSARY. MOLOTOV SAID THIS PROBABLY WOULD BE APPROVED, BUT SUGGESTED THERE OUGHT TO BE SOME SORT OF TIME LIMIT.
AUSTRALIAN DELEGATE PAUL HASLUCK AGREED THAT MOLOTOV HAD PUT HIS FINGER ON THE DIFFICULTY--THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF ANY AGREEMENT. HE POINTED OUT THAT NATIONS WHICH ARE NOT MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL MUST BE GIVEN TIME TO CONSIDER THE PLANS FORMULATED BY THE 11-NATION COUNCIL.
BRITISH DELEGATE SIR HARTLEY SHAWCROSS DECLARED THAT THE ARMS REDUCTION PROGRAM SHOULD NOT BE MADE DEPENDENT ON RATIFICATION BY ALL 54 MEMBERS OF THE U.N.
"PERHAPS RATIFICATION BY THE FIVE MAJOR POWERS WILL BE ENOUGH," HE SUGGESTED.

NEW YORK, DEC. 5-(AP)-SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES DISCLOSED TODAY THAT HE HAD REQUESTED FRANCE, BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS AND LUXEMBOURG TO RETURN A TOTAL OF 674,000 GERMAN WAR PRISONERS TO GERMANY AS SOON AS POSSIBLE, AND THAT THEY WERE GENERALLY IN ACCORD WITH HIS REQUEST.

DAY-BYRNES-FOR.MIN.

THE PRISONERS WERE CAPTURED BY AMERICAN FORCES DURING THE WAR, TRANSFERRED TO THE WESTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES AND HELD BY THEM SINCE. BYRNES TOLD THE COUNTRIES THAT THE PRISONERS SHOULD NOW BE RETURNED TO THEIR HOMELAND AS SOON AS POSSIBLE "UNDER THE LETTER AND THE SPIRIT OF THE GENEVA CONVENTION."
AT THE SAME TIME AN ANNOUNCEMENT ISSUED BY THE SECRETARY'S OFFICE HERE STATED THAT STEPS WERE BEING TAKEN TO RELEASE 96,000 GERMAN WAR PRISONERS UNDER CONTROL OF AMERICAN FORCES IN EUROPE, INCLUDING THOSE IN GERMANY. IT WAS FURTHER STATED THAT ALL PRISONERS OF WAR WHO WERE IN THE UNITED STATES, EXCEPT 153 GERMANS AND 22 ITALIANS IN HOSPITALS OR OTHER INSTITUTIONS, HAD BEEN REPATRIATED.
THE BYRNES ACTION ON THE PRISONERS APPEARED TO BE IN LINE WITH AMERICAN POLICY FOR THE REBUILDING OF WESTERN GERMANY AT MAXIMUM SPEED IN ORDER TO MAKE IT ECONOMICALLY SELF-SUPPORTING AND POLITICALLY RESPONSIBLE AND INDEPENDENT.

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

NEW YORK, DEC 5-(AP)-A UNITED STATES EFFORT TO SPEED THE RETURN HOME OF 674,000 GERMAN WAR PRISONERS FROM FOUR WESTERN EUROPEAN NATIONS WAS ANNOUNCED TODAY BY SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES AND DIPLOMATS SAID THE MOVE PROBABLY WOULD STRENGTHEN AMERICAN LEADERSHIP IN GERMANY.
BYRNES REPORTED, THUS FAR, ONLY PARTIAL SUCCESS IN HIS EFFORTS TO HAVE FRANCE, BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS AND LUXEMBOURG SEND BACK TO GERMANY PRISONERS WHO WERE CAPTURED BY AMERICAN ARMIES IN EUROPE AND TURNED OVER TO THOSE COUNTRIES DURING THE WAR.
NEITHER RUSSIA NOR BRITAIN WAS INVOLVED IN TODAY'S DEVELOPMENT BECAUSE NEITHER HAD RECEIVED ANY CAPTURED GERMANS FROM THE AMERICAN ARMY.
A STATEMENT ISSUED BY BYRNES' OFFICE SAID THE SECRETARY HAD ASKED THE FOUR WESTERN EUROPEAN GOVERNMENTS," UNDER THE LETTER AND THE SPIRIT OF THE GENEVA CONVENTION," TO RETURN THE CAPTURED GERMANS TO GERMANY AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. HE ET OCT. 1, 1947 AS DE

SOON AS POSSIBLE. HE SET OCT. 1, 1947 AS DEADLINE FOR FULL REPATRIATION TO ALLOW TIME FOR "AN ORDERLY WITHDRAWAL OF THE PRISONERS OF WAR BY OCCUPATIONAL GROUPS IN A MANNER WHICH WILL LEAST DISTURB THE ECONOMIC REHABILITATION OF EUROPE."
THE STATEMENT SHOWED THAT BELGIUM, WITH 40,000 PRISONERS, AND LUXEMBOURG, WITH 4,000, HAD ADVISED BYRNES THAT THEY COULD COMPLETE REPATRIATION OF THEIR AMERICAN-CAPTURED PRISONERS BY NEXT JULY.
FRANCE, WITH 620,000, HAS NOT GIVEN AN OFFICIAL REPLY, BUT INDIVIDUAL FRENCH LEADERS HAVE LED BYRNES TO BELIEVE THAT THE GOVERNMENT WILL BE IN ACCORD WITH THE OBJECTIVE OF HIS PROGRAM. THE NETHERLANDS, WITH 10,000, FORMALLY EXPRESSED ACCORD.
THE UNITED STATES ONCE HAD 378,898 GERMAN PRISONERS IN THIS COUNTRY, BUT NEARLY ALL HAVE BEEN RETURNED.
MEANWHILE THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL WAS STILL WORKING ON FINAL DISPUTES INVOLVED IN THE SETTLEMENT OF THE ITALIAN AND BALKAN PEACE TREATIES WHICH ARE DUE TO BE LARGELY IF NOT COMPLETELY FINISHED BEFORE DISCUSSIONS BEGIN HERE ON A GERMAN SETTLEMENT.

NEW YORK--2ND ADD FOREIGN MINISTERS (WHICH MAKE NIGHT LEAD) X X X $150,000,000.

MOLOTOV SCORED TWO POINTS BY OBTAINING THE REDUCTION IN BULGARIAN REPARATIONS AT THE EXPENSE OF ITALY AND BY WINNING THE PAYMENT FOR ALBANIA. HE LOST HIS DEMAND THAT ALBANIA SHOULD RECEIVE A TOTAL OF $10,000,000 AND THAT BULGARIA'S MAXIMUM PAYMENT SHOULD BE HELD TO $60,000,000.

LINKED TO THE REPARATIONS SETTLEMENT WAS ANOTHER DECISION WHICH DIPLOMATIC INFORMANTS SAID WOULD EASE SOMEWHAT THE FINANCIAL BURDEN ON ITALY. THIS PROVIDES THAT ITALY WILL HAVE TO COMPENSATE FOR PROPORTS LOSSES TO UNITED NATIONS CITIZENS, CHIEFLY BRITISH, AT THE RATE OF 66 2/3 PER CENT INSTEAD OF 75 PER CENT OF VALUE. BYRNES HAD URGED THE REDUCTION IN THE RATE TO 50 PER CENT AND BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY BEVIN HAD ASKED FOR AT LEAST 75 PER CENT. MOLOTOV HAD ARGUED FOR A COMPENSATION RATE OF EVEN LESS THAN 50 PER CENT, SO THAT ON THIS CLAUSE THERE WERE COMPROMISES ALL AROUND.

IN CONNECTION WITH THE DECISIONS ON REPARATIONS AND COMPENSATION, BYRNES MADE CLEAR HIS OPPOSITION TO INCREASING THE FINANCIAL BURDEN, AS HE HAS TERMED IT, ON ITALY. HOWEVER, HE SAID THAT ALTHOUGH HE DID NOT HESITATE TO DECLARE HIS DISLIKE OF THE FORMULAS ARRIVED AT, HE WOULD NOT HOLD OUT FOR HIS VIEWS AND THEREBY PREVENT CONCLUSION OF THE PEACE TREATIES. 1946

ON ANOTHER POINT OF THE ITALIAN TREATY MOLOTOV FINALLY ACCEPTED AN AMERICAN-SPONSORED PROVISION AIMED AT YUGOSLAVIA WHICH STATES THAT ANY COUNTRY THAT REFUSES TO SIGN THE TREATY SHALL BE DENIED ITS BENEFITS. YUGOSLAVIA HAD ONCE STATED AN INTENTION NOT TO SIGN BECAUSE OF OPPOSITION TO THE INTERNATIONALIZATION OF TRIESTE.

MOLOTOV ALSO YIELDED ON THE LONG-STANDING DISPUTE OVER THE PRINCIPLES OF FREE NAVIGATION OF THE DANUBE RIVER AND AGREED THAT THIS PRINCIPLE SHOULD BE WRITTEN INTO THE BALKAN PEACE TREATIES. THE BIG FOUR THEN AGREED THAT THEY WOULD CALL FOR AN INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE TO SET UP A KIND OF DANUBE NAVIGATION AUTHORITY WITHIN SIX MONTHS AFTER THE BALKAN TREATIES BECOME EFFECTIVE. ON THE TRIESTE ISSUE VIRTUALLY FINAL SETTLEMENT WAS WORKED OUT ON A PERMANENT STATUTE FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROPOSED NEW INTERNATIONAL TERRITORY.

ANOTHER QUESTION CLOSED TONIGHT CONCERNED ALLOWING THE FORMER ENEMY COUNTRIES TO POSSESS MOTOR TORPEDO BOATS. AGREEMENT WAS REACHED WHEN MOLOTOV WITHDREW A RECOMMENDATION THAT THE BALKAN STATES SHOULD BE ALLOWED TO HAVE SUCH NAVAL CRAFT EVEN THOUGH ITALY WAS FORBIDDEN TO HAVE THEM. THE AGREEMENT MEANS THAT ALL THE COUNTRIES INVOLVED IN THIS ROUND OF PEACE TREATIES WILL BE PROHIBITED FROM HAVING SUCH CRAFT.

A83

MOLOTOV ALSO AGREED TO THE PRINCIPLE OF ARBITRATION IN DETERMINING FAIR PRICES FOR INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT OWNED BY UNITED NATIONS CITIZENS IN ROMANIA BUT REMOVED FROM ROMANIA TO RUSSIA FOR REPARATIONS.

A COUNCIL COMMITTEE WAS INSTRUCTED TO DRAW UP PROPOSALS FOR UNITED NATIONS AUTHORIZATION OF PAYMENT OF SALARIES AND EXPENSES FOR TRIESTE'S GOVERNOR AND HIS STAFF, AND A DECISION IS EXPECTED TOMORROW ON SATURDAY.

LONDON, DEC.5-(AP)-DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER HERBERT MORRISON TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TODAY THAT BRITAIN'S OCCUPATION FORCE IN JAPAN MIGHT BE REDUCED.

SPEAKING AFTER AN AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID IN CANBERRA THAT BRITAIN WOULD CUT HER OCCUPATION FORCE BY ONE THIRD, LEAVING ABOUT 5,000 BRITISH TROOPS IN JAPAN, MORRISON TOLD A QUESTIONER:

"HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT IS ANXIOUS TO REDUCE THEIR MILITARY COMMITMENTS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD AND, IN VIEW OF THE DEGREE OF STABILITY ALREADY ACHIEVED IN JAPAN UNDER THE ALLIED OCCUPATION, THEY HAVE CONSIDERED REDUCING THE UNITED KINGDOM ELEMENT IN THE COMMONWEALTH OCCUPATION FORCES IN JAPAN.

"AS OTHER COMMONWEALTH FORCES ARE INVOLVED, AND THE COMMAND IS HELD BY AN AUSTRALIAN, WE ARE DISCUSSING THIS POSSIBILITY WITH THE GOVERNMENTS OF AUSTRALIA, NEW ZEALAND AND INDIA, AND GEN.MACARTHUR AND THE UNITED STATES HAVE BEEN INFORMED ABOUT THE PROPOSALS.

"ALL THAT IS CONTEMPLATED IS PARTIAL REDUCTION OF THE STRENGTH OF THE U.K.FORCES. THE ROYAL NAVY AND THE ROYAL AIR FORCE WILL NOT BE AFFECTED."

A LABOR MEMBER, RONALD CHAMBERLAIN, ASKED IF IT WAS NOT AN "IMPORTANT MATTER TO STRENGTHEN OUR VERY WEAK CIVILIAN PERSONNEL, SEEING THAT GEN.MACARTHUR SEEMS VERY ANXIOUS THAT WE SHOULD KEEP OUR NOSES OUT OF JAPAN?"

MORRISON DID NOT REPLY. 1946

CANBERRA, DEC. 5-(AP)-AN AUTHORITATIVE GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID TODAY THE AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT HAD AGREED TO THE BRITISH FORCE IN JAPAN BEING REDUCED BY ONE-THIRD, LEAVING APPROXIMATELY 5,000 BRITISH TROOPS IN JAPAN.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WAS UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE SUGGESTED WITHDRAWAL OF SOME OF ITS TROOPS BECAUSE OF DIFFICULTY IN MEETING MANPOWER COMMITMENTS FOR ARMED FORCES AND INDUSTRY.

BENTON IS CHIEF OF THE U.S. DELEGATION TO THE UNITED NATIONS EDUCATIONAL, SCIENTIFIC AND CULTURAL ORGANIZATION MEETING IN PARIS.

BENTON SAID THAT "TO THE ORDINARY MAN OF ANDERSON, IND., OR CZECHOSLOVAKIA OR CHINA OR URUGUAY, UNESCO CAN MEAN THAT HIS SON WILL NOT HAVE TO GO TO WAR."

HE DECRIED THE SIZE OF ITS $7,000,000 BUDGET FOR 1947, SAYING THIS WAS ONE TEN-THOUSANDTH OF THE EXPENDITURES OF ALL NATIONS NEXT YEAR FOR MILITARY AND NAVAL ESTABLISHMENTS.

THE COMPLEX SITUATION, BRIEFLY, IS THIS:

THE COMMUNISTS HAVE REFUSED TO JOIN A CABINET HEADED BY THE MODERATE MRP.

THE SOCIALISTS HAVE REFUSED TO JOIN ANY GOVERNMENT WHICH WOULD EXCLUDE THE COMMUNISTS.

THE MRP HAS INSISTED THAT IT WOULD NOT JOIN ANY GOVERNMENT WHICH DID NOT REPRESENT ALL THREE OF THE NATION'S LARGEST PARTIES--COMMUNISTS, SOCIALISTS AND MRP. HOWEVER, THE MRP ABSTAINED FROM VOTING FROM COMMUNIST THOREZ FOR PREMIER YESTRDAY.

THE RADICAL SOCIALISTS ABSTAINED FROM VOTING FOR THE MRP CANDIDATE FOR PREMIER-PRESIDENT TODAY, ALTHOUGH YESTERDAY THEY JOINED THE MRP IN ABSTAINING FROM VOTING FOR THE COMMUNIST FOR THE OFFICE.

IN TODAY'S VOTING ON BIDAULT'S CANDIDACY, THE COMMUNISTS, SOCIALISTS, AND THE LEFTIST RALLY BLOC, WHICH IS HEADED BY THE RADICAL-SOCIALISTS, ALL ABSTAINED FROM VOTING. BIDAULT RECEIVED ONLY THE VOTES OF HIS OWN AND THE RIGHTIST PARTIES.

FOLLOWING AS IT DID THE SOCIALIST DECISION LAST NIGHT NOT TO ENTER A GOVERNMENT WHICH EXCLUDED THE COMMUNISTS, IT CREATED A TIGHTLY KNOTTED DEADLOCK AMONG THE THREE MAJOR PARTIES. WHILE THE THREE PARTIES REMAINED ADAMANT IN THESE POSITIONS, IT WOULD BE VIRTUALLY IMPOSSIBLE TO FORM A MAJORITY GOVERNMENT.

ONCE EDOUARD HERRIOTT'S RADICAL SOCIALISTS ANNOUNCED THEIR INTENTION OF ABSTAINING FROM VOTING FOR AN MRP CANDIDATE, IT BECAME CERTAIN THAT BIDAULT COULD NOT WIN THE NECESSARY 310 VOTES.

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, DEC 5-(AP)-A YEAR OF POLITICAL REORGANIZATION IN THE AMERICAN-OCCUPIED ZONE OF GERMANY HAD FIRMLY INSTALLED IN POWER TODAY CONSERVATIVE PARTIES WHICH WERE EXPECTED TO GUIDE THE NEWLY FORME GERMAN STATE GOVERNMENTS DOWN THE MIDDLE OF THE POLITICAL ROAD.

THE POST-WAR POLITICAL TIDE WHICH SWEPT MANY EUROPEAN COUNTRIES TOWARD THE LEFT HAS NOT PENETRATED VERY FAR INTO TRADITIONALLY CONSERVATIVE GERMANY. COMMUNISM IS DISTINCTLY A MINOR PARTY HERE.

ON THE OTHER HAND, NEITHER HAVE THE EXTREME RIGHT WING FACTIONS BEEN ABLE TO COME BACK STRON LY ENOUGH FROM THE DEFEAT OF FASCISM TO SEIZE ANY POLITICAL POWER.

THE TWO PARTIES WHICH EMERGED DOMINANT FROM LAST WEEK'S STATEWIDE ELECTIONS ARE BOTH ESSENTIALLY CONSERVATIVE, RANKING NEAR THE CENTER IN POLITICAL ALIGNMENT.

STRONGEST PARTY NUMERICALLY IS THE CHRISTIAN SOCIAL UNION (OR CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC UNION), A CHURCH-SUPPORTED GROUP WHICH WON FIRST PLACE IN THE STATES OF BAVARIA AND WUERTTEMBERG-BADEN AND RAN A STRONG SECOND IN GREATER HESSE. IT STANDS POLITICALLY ON THE RIGHT OF CENTER.

LEADING IN GREATER HESSE AND SECOND IN THE OTHER TWO STATES IS THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY, A MILDLY LEFT WING GROUP.

THE COMMUNISTS RAN FOURTH IN EVERY STATE. THEY DIDN'T EVEN WIN A SINGLE SEAT IN THE BAVARIAN PARLIAMENT.

THAT APPEARS TO BE THE POLITICAL LINEUP IN THE AMERICAN ZONE FOR THE NEXT FOUR YEARS--OR UNTIL SOME POLITICAL UNIFICATION OF THE FOUR OCCUPATION ZONES IS ACHIEVED. THE PARLIAMENTS JUST ELECTED WERE CHOSEN FOR FOUR-YEAR TERMS.

IN THE SAME ELECTIONS ALL THREE AMERICAN-OCCUPIED STATES ADOPTED DEMOCRATIC CONSTITUTIONS, CLIMAXING A YEAR OF REBUILDING GERMAN SELF-GOVERNMENT FROM THE SMALLEST LOCAL LEVEL TO THE NEW STATE-WIDE PARLIAMENTS.

BOTH CITY AND COUNTRY GOVERNMENTS WERE CHOSEN IN PREVIOUS ELECTIONS.

NOW THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT, WHICH ONCE MADE AND ADMINISTERED ITS OWN LAWS IN DEFEATED GERMANY, WILL STEP BACK TO THE SIDELINES AND MERELY KEEP A WATCHFUL EYE ON HOW THE GERMANS PROCEED TO GOVERN THEMSELVES.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON DEC. 5-(AP)-FOLLOWING IS THE TEXT (ABOUT 600) OF A STATEMENT BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN ANNOUNCING THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A COMMITTEE ON CIVIL RIGHTS:

FREEDOM FROM FEAR IS MORE FULLY REALIZED IN OUR COUNTRY THAN IN ANY OTHER ON THE FACE OF THE EARTH. YET ALL PARTS OF OUR POPULATION ARE NOT EQUALLY FREE FROM FEAR. AND FROM TIME TO TIME, AND IN SOME PLACES, THIS FREEDOM HAS BEEN GRAVELY THREATENED. IT WAS SO A TER THE LAST WAR, WHEN ORGANIZED GROUPS FANNED HATRED AND INTOLERANCE, UNTIL, AT TIMES, MOB ACTION STRUCK FEAR INTO THE HEARTS OF MEN AND WOMEN BECAUSE OF THEIR RACIAL ORIGIN OR RELIGIOUS BELIEFS.

TODAY, FREEDOM FROM FEAR, AND THE DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS WHICH SUSTAIN IT, ARE AGAIN UNDER ATTACK. IN SOME PLACES, FROM TIME TO TIME, THE LOCAL ENFORCEMENT OF LAW AND ORDER HAS BROKEN DOWN, AND INDIVIDUALS--SOMETIMES EX-SERVICEMEN, EVEN WOMEN--HAVE BEEN KILLED, MAIMED OR INTIMIDATED.

THE PRESERVATION OF CIVIL LIBERTIES IS A DUTY OF EVERY GOVERNMENT--STATE, FEDERAL, AND LOCAL. WHEREVER THE LAW ENFORCEMENT MEASURES AND THE AUTHORITY OF FEDERAL, STATE AND LOCAL GOVERNMENTS ARE INADEQUATE TO DISCHARGE THIS PRIMARY FUNCTION OF GOVERNMENT, THESE MEASURES AND THIS AUTHORITY SHOULD BE STRENGTHENED AND IMPROVED.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEES OF INDIVIDUAL LIBERTIES AND OF EQUAL PROTECTION UNDER THE LAWS CLEARLY PLACE ON THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT THE DUTY TO ACT WHEN STATE OR LOCAL AUTHORITIES ABRIDGE OR FAIL TO PROTE T THESE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS.

YET IN ITS DISCHARGE OF THE OBLIGATIONS PLACED ON IT BY THE ONSTITUTION, THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IS HAMPERED BY INADEQUATE CIVIL RIGHTS STATUTES. THE PROTECTION OF OUR DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS AND THE ENJOYMENT BY THE PEOPLE OF THEIR RIGHTS UNDER THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRE THAT THESE WEAK AND INADEQUATE STATUTES SHOUL BE EXPANDED AND IMPROVED. WE MUST PROVIDE THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE WITH THE TOOLS TO DO THE JOB.

I HAVE, THEREFORE, ISSUED TODAY AN EXECUTIVE ORDER CREATING THE PRESIDENT'S COMMITTEE ON CIVIL RIGHTS AND I AM ASKING THIS COMMITTEE TO PREPARE FOR ME A WRITTEN REPORT. THE SUBSTANCE OF THIS REPORT WILL BE RECOMMENDATIONS WITH RESPECT TO THE ADOPTION OR ESTABLISHMENT BY LEGISLATION OR OTHERWISE OF MORE ADEQUATE AND EFFECTIVE MEANS AND PROCE URES FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS OF THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES.

U.N. IN FULL AGREEMENT ON ARMS BAN

American Atom Energy Plan Accepted By Molotov

J. PARRIS

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—The United Nations, in the new spirit of harmony, took another long step today toward world disarmament.

By unanimous agreement, the 54-member United Nations political and security subcommittee on arms reduction adopted a provision for expediting a draft convention for prohibition of atomic weapons and all other weapons of mass destruction.

The convention also calls for establishing an adequate system of international control and inspection free from the use of the veto invested in the Security Council.

Russia Agrees On All Points

These developments were made possible by Russia, which agreed to all United States and British proposals.

The [illegible] NIGHT [illegible] as meaning that a program for worldwide disarmament would soon be drawn up.

Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister, agreed with the British and United States on all points, although there were times during the session when both the British and Americans appeared not to realize he was in full agreement with them.

Molotov began by accepting an American provision for early establishment of international control for atomic energy and "other modern technological discoveries" to ensure their use for peaceful purposes only.

Meets "Wishes Of All"

The proposal, put forward as an amendment yesterday by Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas), was described by the Russian Foreign Minister as meeting "the wishes of all of us."

It had been feared in some quarters that United States insistence on also establishing controls over the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes would snarl the discussions.

The Russian decision in effect represented an easing of its previous insistence that atomic weapons should be outlawed immediately in contrast to the American view that any such step would be part of a general atomic control plan.

Objection By Shawcross

"The Soviet Union is anxious to adopt a clear-cut and simple proposal for outlawing atomic weapons and let the Security Council consider it in detail," Molotov declared.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, chief British delegate, objected to Molotov's proposal for setting up a convention to outlaw atomic weapons and leaving other "so-called details" to the Security Council.

Shawcross stressed that he could not agree to leave "points of substance even though called details" open to the veto in the Security Council.

"Molotov is saying in effect that you want a whisky and soda," he said. "All right, here is the soda—we'll give the whisky to the Security Council."

Minor Wrangling Checked

But Molotov declared that was not what he meant. He said he was in agreement with both the United States and Britain.

Minor wrangling was checked by Paul-Henri Spaak, of Belgium, subcommittee chairman, who said he could not understand what the argument was about.

"It seems to me everybody is in agreement," Spaak said. "Therefore I call for a vote."

The subcommittee then voted unanimously to accept the provision for expediting the draft convention.

Russia Accepts U.S. Proposal On Atom

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov today accepted an American provision for early establishment of international control over atomic energy and "other modern technological discoveries" to insure their use for peaceful purposes only.

The proposal, put forward as an amendment yesterday by Senator Connally (D., Texas), in the United Nations drafting subcommittee debate on arms reduction, was described by Molotov as meeting "the wishes of all of us."

Snags Were Feared

Russia Votes Against Acceptance Of Agreements

J. Wolfe

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—A United Nations subcommittee tonight gave its provisional approval to draft trusteeship agreements submitted by New Zealand, Belgium, France and the United Kingdom.

They [illegible] NIGHT [illegible] by a vote of 12 to 3, with two abstentions.

Russia voted against acceptance of the agreements in their present form on the grounds that on each agreement it sustained its objections to the clauses which provided for the establishment of military bases, the administration of the territory "as an integral part" of the administering power and the establishment of customs, fiscal and administrative unions with neighboring territories under the same administration.

Two New Clauses

The two latter clauses did not appear in the New Zealand agreement on western Samoa.

On the intervention of India, Mexico and Yugoslavia it was agreed that, subject to any subsequent decision taken by the subcommittee on the procedure to be followed in the Trusteeship Committee, all delegations which had submitted amendments could reintroduce them before the full committee.

Agreed Compromise Difficult

The Soviet Union also indicated it would vote against any agreement which did not include an article providing for periodic revision of its terms.

The Australian agreement on New Guinea also was approved with the same reservations by a vote of 11 to 3, with three abstentions.

During the debate, John Foster Dulles, United States representative on the committee, said Russia and the United States had not been able yet to find an agreed compromise over the issue raised by the definition of the term "states directly concerned" in relation to trust territories.

Iran Complains To U.N. About Soviet Warning

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—Iran made a reserved complaint to the United Nations Security Council today that Russia had warned her against stationing troops in Azerbaijan province to police elections beginning [illegible] tomorrow.

The [illegible] reports asking no immediate Security Council action, said Russia had given "friendly admonition" through the Soviet Ambassador at Tehran that such movement of troops "may result in disturbances" within the province and on Russia's frontier.

The Soviet Ambassador, the report added, "advised that the Government's plans be abandoned."

Iran said the report's purpose "is to keep the Security Council informed of the further consequences of interference previously complained of." Iran's charges last winter and spring of Russian interference in her domestic affairs were kept dormant on the Security Council agenda after the removal of Russian troops from Azerbaijan.

New Greek Complaint To Be Heard Tuesday

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—The United Nations announced tonight that the Security Council would meet here at 3 P.M. Tuesday to consider the new Greek complaint against Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria and Siam's resubmitted application for membership.

Premier [illegible] Tsaldaris of Greece arrived in New York yesterday to press the Greek charges that guerrilla warfare inside Greece was supported by her three northern neighbors and that border incidents menaced peace in the Balkans.

Siam had withdrawn her membership application during negotiations with France to settle their Indo-China border dispute. France withdrew opposition to Siam's application recently after Siam yielded the territories seized under Japanese mediation from Indo-China in 1942.

Greek Premier Confers With Byrnes

J. Singleton

New York, Dec. 6 (AP)—Greek Premier Constantin Tsaldaris conferred today with Secretary of State Byrnes, presumably to press a demand for an international investigation of his charge that neighboring Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia are sponsoring guerrilla warfare against the Greek Government.

There was no official announcement on the nature of their conversation, but Tsaldaris made it clear upon his arrival here yesterday that he was anxious for United Nations action to halt what he has termed a threat to the peace and security of the world.

Envoy With Him

Tsaldaris was accompanied to Byrnes's headquarters by his ambassador to the United States, Cimon P. Diamantopoulos.

In addition to the border dispute, Diamantopoulos was prepared to protest to the secretary and other members of the Four-Power Council a Bulgarian peace treaty decision which denies Greek claims for changes in the Bulgarian-Greek border north of Salonika.

The basis for the objection, Tsaldaris said, is that Greece never had an adequate hearing for her case.

Economic Talks Seen

Still a third point which had been expected to enter into any talks between Tsaldaris and Byrnes concerns the economic reconstruction of Greece.

The Premier declared that if his country could really collect her reparations from Germany, Italy and Bulgaria it would have much of the capital required for rehabilitation.

But, he said, after World War I, reparations were not paid and if that happened this time Greece would require extensive outside aid, possibly from some such agency as the International Bank. He declared that he was not asking an American loan.

Greek Soldiers Battle Band Of 600

Athens, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Greek press said today that a partisan band of more than 600 was engaged in a seesaw battle with the reinforced Greek Army garrison at the Thracian village of Corymvos, eighteen miles northwest of the Greek-Turkish border town of Souphli.

Newspaper accounts said Leftists reported to have attacked a company of troops at Corymvos yesterday "were forced to retire into Bulgaria," and there re-formed and were reinforced.

Greek forces were also reported reinforced and reports said the battle was "continuing."

U.S. In Compromise Move On U.N. Budget

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—The United States has agreed to contribute 37½ per cent of the United Nations $23,000,000 administrative budget for 1947 in a compromise move realigning assessments against the 54 member states, it was reported authoritatively today.

Under proposals now before a budgetary subcommittee, the United States would pay that much for one year and thereafter would insist on only one third. The United States has refused flatly to pay the half share originally assessed.

U.S. FOR EAST AS U.N.'S SITE

Austin Makes Announcement; Philadelphia In Forefront

L. Hauck

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—The United States broke its long silence on choice of location for United Nations headquarters today with a flat indorsement of the East Coast and thus moved Philadelphia into a forefront position in the battle over a permanent peace capital site.

The American decision, made at top level after President Truman met with his Cabinet in Washington, was announced to the 54-nation headquarters committee by Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate.

Austin did not specify whether he favored Philadelphia, New York or Boston—the three Eastern seaboard cities inspected by a special subcommittee—but made it clear that he was against San Francisco's Presidio, the only West Coast site in the running.

The United States position was wrapped up in this terse statement:

"The United States is not for establishing headquarters on the West Coast. The United States is for headquarters on the Atlantic Coast."

After making his statement, Austin moved that the committee defer voting until Dr. Eduardo Zuleta-Angel, of Colombia, its ailing chairman, was able to return to the chair and added the suggestion that the first ballot should be on west versus east.

Neutral Up To This Point

"The United States will hold no bitterness whichever way it is decided," he added.

Glenn E. Bennett, committee secretary, said voting would begin on Monday at the next meeting of the group.

Taking note of a Russian representative's bitter charge that the United States had attempted to influence a decision for San Francisco by lobbying, Austin emphasized that his Government had been neutral up to this point. It now was making known its position because of pressure from other members and because the time has come "when we can't postpone a statement of our position," he added.

"At no time has it been the intention of the United States to undertake to persuade any other delegations to choose any site," Austin said.

Russians For Philadelphia

Apparently referring to strong support given the East Coast by Russia and Great Britain, which is Philadelphia's most ardent supporter, Austin said "we must have regard for the countries who will always be the main support for the United Nations," and added:

"Remoteness from Europe would be the cause of ever-diminishing effort and interest in this organization."

Russia originally plumped for New York city but later switched to Philadelphia after flatly rejecting San Francisco, Boston has not drawn any direct support in the debate thus far. On that basis of these considerations, it was considered safe to assign Philadelphia a big edge should the East Coast win the first test vote. (AP)

U.S. Delegates Confer On U.N. Site Issue

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—The American delegation, facing a new Soviet challenge, was busy today in last-minute consultations with Washington preparatory to naming its choice of a permanent headquarters site for the United Nations.

The delegation was expected merely to choose and not otherwise answer a charge made last night by Russia in the 54-nation Headquarters Committee that the United States had been conducting an undercover campaign for San Francisco.

Backed Philadelphia

The Russian representative, in hotly rejecting San Francisco, gave his support to Philadelphia, which is also Britain's choice.

The impending vote, which may be reached later today, was expected to decide between Philadelphia and San Francisco's Presidio.

There appeared to be little chance that a compromise would induce a swing to Boston or New York, the other two cities officially in the running but lacking sizable support in the general debate.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, was scheduled to state the American position at a meeting late today of the Headquarters Committee, where delegates have been arguing the merits of the four cities for three days.

Corridor Gossip

Russia's outright rejection of San Francisco and its swing from New York city to British-backed Philadelphia intensified corridor gossip over the balloting.

A simple majority is needed within the committee but the winning site must get two thirds of the votes once the decision goes to the General Assembly itself for final approval. (AP)

Manuilsky, Ukraine U.N. Delegate, Is Ill

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—Dmitri Manuilsky, Foreign Minister of the Soviet Ukraine and chief of its United Nations delegation, was absent from United Nations meetings today because of a heart condition which forced him to rest, his fellow delegates said.

Dr. Lev Medved, Ukrainian delegate who is also a physician, said Manuilsky probably would be able to return to his duties as chairman of the United Nations Political Committee on Monday.

He said Manuilsky was not seriously ill but merely was resting in his quarters.

Paul-Henri Spaak, president of the United Nations General Assembly, presided over the Political Committee today in the chairman's absence.

BYRNES BOOSTS PARTITION PLAN FOR PALESTINE

Jewish Leaders Now View Proposal Most Practical Solution, He Says in Note to Bevin

Secretary Informs Britain U. S. Will Sit in on 'Free And Full' Conference To Settle Holy Land Dispute

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—Secretary of State Byrnes formally disclosed tonight what he said was the willingness of "Jewish leaders" to support partition of Palestine and pledged the United States to sit in on a "free and full" conference to settle the Jewish-Arab dispute over the Holy Land.

Significantly, he declared in a letter to British Foreign Secretary Bevin—bearing the salutation "Dear Ernest"—that the "Jewish leaders * * * now regard the partition proposal as the most practical long term solution" of the problem.

Byrnes conferred privately a few days ago with Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, American Zionist leader, before the latter sailed for a World Zionist Conference in Switzerland. There was no definite indication, however, that he was reflecting the views of Wise.

Michael McDermott, Byrnes' press attache, making public an exchange of correspondence between the Anglo-American diplomatic chiefs, said that during the New York sessions of the Foreign Ministers Council, Byrnes and Bevin had held several conversations on the Palestine question.

In his statement, Byrnes acknowledged for the first time publicly that the United States had turned down a bid to attend the London conversations recently on the issue.

U. S. Will Accept Bid

But, at the same time, Byrnes declared the United States now "feels that the leaders of the Jews and the Arabs" should attend another conference and added, "if they do, the United States will accept an invitation to have an observer at that conference."

"After investigation," he said, "it is my opinion that a permanent solution of the very serious Palestine problem will be greatly facilitated if there is a free and full conference between the representatives of the British government and the Jewish and Arab leaders."

Near the beginning of the present meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers Byrnes told newsmen he was taking over the problem of Palestine. Previously, President Truman had taken personal responsibility for the issue, urging quick admission of 100,000 European refugees and, privately, advocating a division of Palestine to create a national home for the Jews.

In his statement, Byrnes declared Bevin had advised him that there was a conference scheduled for London in January to which the leaders of the two peoples had been invited.

The U. S. secretary said a letter from Bevin offered assurance the meeting would provide a chance for the Jews and Arabs to meet "on terms of equality" and added that he believed they should take this opportunity to surmount their difficulties.

In his letter to Byrnes, with the salutation, "Dear James," Bevin said flatly Britain's government did not regard itself "as committed in advance" to any proposal made for solution of the Palestine question by the Jews, the Arabs or the British delegation at the recent conference on the issue.

"Nor, of course," he said, "are they prepared to commit themselves in advance to any other proposal."

But he offered Byrnes his personal assurance the British government would "be ready to consider every possibility of reaching an agreed settlement, and will study most carefully all suggestions submitted to the conference."

In a reply sent Dec. 2, Byrnes declared the Jewish leaders would want to be assured specifically that the partition proposal "favored by them" would be considered fully by the British government in any such conference.

He said he based his opinion upon conversations with Jewish leaders with whom he conferred recently.

Byrnes asked Bevin to let him know whether Britain is prepared to give "serious consideration" to all alternative proposals offered at the London conference.

Anglo-Arab Talks Delayed

London, Dec. 6 (AP)—The resumption of the Anglo-Arab Conference on Palestine, originally scheduled to reopen on December 16, will be postponed until an unspecified date in January, the British Foreign Office announced tonight.

Arab Plan Rejected

CAIRO, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Arab Executive Committee of Palestine today rejected the plan for Palestine submitted by the representatives of the seven Arab League states to the British government at the recent London conference on the Holy Land.

A note signed by Haj Amin el Husseini, the exiled mufti of Jerusalem, informed the Arab League secretariat the committee could not accept the Arab states' plan because it could not approve of the establishment of a government in Palestine on the basis of one-third Jews and two-thirds Arabs.

"We do not consider the Jews have a right in the government and reject giving Palestinian nationality to all Jews now in Palestine," the note said. "Only those Jews who were in Palestine by 1919 and their sons are entitled to nationality."

The note also criticized the Arab League plan for a constitutional assembly on the one-to-two basis. It said the assembly "should not have the right to decide whether further Jewish immigration would be permitted," because there was no assurance of the caliber of members who would be elected.

HINT MARTIAL LAW NEAR IN PALESTINE

Jerusalem, Dec. 6 (A. P.).—Five British soldiers were injured, one seriously, when a jeep was blown up today by a mine north of Hedera, on the main Tel Aviv-Haifa road, military headquarters announced.

A highly reliable informant said that Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner for Palestine, has informed Isaac P[illegible] porary Jewish Agency, that the establishment by the British of a military regime over the Palestine Jewish population awaits only a final decision in London.

It was not known whether the imposition of a military administration would entail full martial law, the informant said.

[In London, a Colonial Office spokesman said today that there was no basis in fact for reports of an impending change from civil to military administration in Palestine.]

Meanwhile, a curfew imposed yesterday after four persons had been killed and more than a score had been injured in two explosions was lifted early today.

Big Four to Begin Talks on German Peace Pact Today

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Big Four Foreign Ministers Council agreed tonight to begin preliminary talks on a German peace settlement tomorrow morning.

The purpose of the initial discussions which are to be wound up next week, is to outline a program of issues covering probably seven or eight points, for a commission of Big Four diplomatic experts assigned to lay the groundwork for another council session in Europe early next year.

With all but a few minor technical points finally agreed upon in the European satellite peace treaties, the Big Four also agreed tonight that it would be impossible to sign the treaties here and that the actual signing probably would take place at their next session in Europe.

A committee of deputy foreign ministers informed the council it would take at least a month to put the treaties in proper formal language. After that, they will be circulated among all the 21 nations which attended the Paris Peace Conference and those nations are expected to participate in the final signing.

Before agreeing to the German talks, the ministers polished up virtually complete peace pacts for the five Axis satellites—Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland—as a preliminary to the German discussions.

Tonight's session produced one very unusual decision on the part of the foreign ministers. They agreed to keep completely secret, at least for the time being, a discussion which they had on a report made by their committee of naval experts.

This was concerned, presumably, with distribution of a portion of the Italian fleet among the great powers.

In cleaning up remaining points of the satellite peace treaties, the Big Four took their first specific step toward turning over to the United Nations Security Council responsibility for creation and supervision of an independent government over Trieste.

It was decided to inform the council officially of the plans for Trieste and the treaty provisions and draft statute for the government of the projected new international territory.

Satellite Pacts Are Virtually Completed

J. Hightower

New York, Dec. 6 (AP)—After more than a year of conferences sharpened by many bitter disputes between Russia and the Western powers, the Council of Foreign Ministers today counted the European satellite treaties virtually completed, due mainly to sweeping last-minute concessions by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Final agreement on outstanding issues was not reached, however, until Secretary of State James F. Byrnes had reluctantly accepted a proposal that Italy pay a total of $360,000,000 in reparations—$35,000,000 more than the Paris Peace Conference had recommended.

Fleet Distribution

In a session scheduled today, the Big Four was due to clean up a number of relatively minor unsettled points and to act on a report from their naval committee presumably concerning the distribution of the Italian fleet.

According to decisions reached at Paris, the Italians were supposed to retain two battleships and a number of other naval craft. The remainder of the fleet, including three battleships and five cruisers, was to be apportioned among the Allies.

It was a Big Four session last night which finally swept away the last points of dispute of any consequence and made it possible for diplomats participating in the council's work to predict that the treaties for Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland would be finally completed not later than Saturday afternoon. The council is then expected to move on to a preliminary discussion of a German settlement Monday.

Decision On Reparations

Here are the outstanding decisions made last night:

1. Reparations—Italy is to pay a total of $360,000,000—$125,000,000 to Yugoslavia, $105,000,000 to Greece, $100,000,000 to Russia, $25,000,000 to Ethiopia and $5,000,000 to Albania.

Bulgaria is to pay a total of $70,000,000 covering $25,000,000 to Yugoslavia and $45,000,000 to Greece, so that Greece and Yugoslavia will each receive $150,000,000.

2. Compensation for Allied property destroyed in Italy—Italy is to pay Allied citizens at the rate of 66 2-3 per cent of value. The Foreign Ministers had agreed before the Paris Conference that payment should be 100 per cent. The Paris Conference then reduced this to 75 per cent.

Free Use Of Danube

3. Danube Navigation—Molotov, yielding a point he had contested for months, agreed to include in the Balkan treaties a guarantee of free use of the Danube River. The Big Four then decided to issue, outside the treaties, a call for an international conference within six months after the Balkan treaties become effective to create a navigation regime for the river.

4. Denial of Treaty Benefits—Molotov accepted an American proposal that any country that declined to sign the treaty should not receive benefits from it. Byrnes put this forward first at Paris when Yugoslavia, protesting the internationalization of Trieste, threatened to refuse to sign. This provision would deny her reparations from Italy unless she signed.

Property In Romania

5. Fair Prices For Property Seized in Romania—Russia agreed to the principle of arbitration in fixing fair prices for industrial equipment (mainly American and British-owned petroleum machinery) seized by the Romanian Government for reparations to Russia. Romania must make compensation for such property.

6. Motor Torpedo Boats—Molotov withdrew a proposal that the Balkan states should be allowed motor torpedo boats though they were forbidden to Italy. Byrnes insisted that such craft be permitted or denied in all the treaties alike.

Czech Calls Hoodlum Attack Nonpolitical

New York, Dec. 6 (AP)—Joseph Forman, 60, head of the information service for the Czechoslovak consulate, said today an attack on him by four hoodlums early this morning was nonpolitical.

"I am quite sure that these four men had never seen me before and only attacked me to get at my money," said Forman, a resident of the city since 1941.

The hoodlums failed to get Forman's wallet, but one jabbed his leg with a pocket knife. They fled at the approach of a policeman.

ATTLEE'S INDIA ACCORD FAILS

Britain Refuses To Accept 'Partial' Constitution

O'Quinn

London, Dec. 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee failed tonight in a last-minute effort to bring the Hindus and Moslems together for the opening Monday of the constituent assembly to draft India's constitution of independence.

Following termination of inconclusive conferences here, the British Government flatly told bickering Indian leaders the British would not submit an Indian charter to Parliament unless all factions joined in writing it.

There was no disputing that a delay in drafting the constitution would prolong Britain's stay in India.

NIGHT

The Moslem League has refused to attend the constituent assembly because of differences of opinions with the All-India Congress party over voting procedure.

The London conferences, called by Attlee in an attempt to resolve the crisis, which has been described as tantamount to civil war, ended tonight when the Prime Minister presided over the first round-table talks of the rival Indian leaders, who flew to London four days ago for extensive and crucial discussions.

Afterward, the Prime Minister's office said in a 600-word communiqué reviewing the talks that Great Britain would not force a constitution, written by an assembly in which a large section of the Indian population was not represented, upon any unwilling sections of the vast country.

Federal India Court Urged

Great Britain, the communiqué said, urged the Moslems and the Congress party to submit their differences to a federal court of India, composed of British, Moslem and Hindu members. Technical concessions were asked from both the Moslems and the Congress to heal the breach.

Both Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leader of the predominantly Hindu Congress party, and Mahomed Ali Jinnah, head of the rival Moslem League, appeared stern and grave as they left the final conference. Nehru and Baldev Singh, the Sikh leader, prepared to depart tomorrow by air for New Delhi, scene of the opening Assembly meeting. Jinnah has planned to remain in London.

The failure to produce a compromise before the deadline did not mean the Moslems could not join the Constituent Assembly later to help frame a representative constitution.

The initial sessions of the Assembly will be taken up with procedural matters. Discussions of the controversial Moslem proposal for an independent Moslem state of Pakistan within India will not be reached until spring.

The communiqué said the agreement of all parties would be necessary to enable "the Indian people to formulate the constitution which his Majesty's Government would be prepared to submit to Parliament."

Technical Phases

"Should the constitution come to be framed by a Constituent Assembly in which a large section of the Indian population had not been represented," it said, "his Majesty's Government could not, of course, contemplate forcing such a constitution upon any unwilling parts of the country."

The remainder of the statement dealt almost entirely with the technical phases of the dispute except for a one-sentence Government explanation of why the talks had failed to bring immediate agreement:

"It was not expected that any final settlement could be arrived at since the Indian representatives must consult their colleagues before any final decision is reached."

Nehru Is Questioned

Nehru, asked whether the meeting at No. 10 Downing Street had been successful, replied: "Do you expect these things to be worked out suddenly?"

Jinnah, in reply to the same question, said: "For any information I suggest you go to the British Parliament."

Tonight's meeting marked the first time that Jinnah and Nehru had been brought together in the four-day conference. Previously they had conferred separately with British officials in the talks arranged by Attlee to bring all parties into the assembly which will begin on Monday the task of writing a new constitution for India.

Fear Being Outvoted

The Moslems have refused to attend because of a fear of being outvoted by the big majority of Hindus. While the Moslems have accepted participation in an interim government, they have not abandoned their demands for creation of Pakistan, a separate Moslem state, in India.

The Congress party favors a strong central government.

In addition to the political deadlock, the conversations were held against a background of months of Moslem-Hindu communal violence in which thousands have perished. The crisis has been described by some governmental circles as threatening civil war.

Others In Conference Room

Indians in the conference room at the official residence of the Prime Minister in addition to Nehru and Jinnah were Liaquat Ali Khan, of the Moslem League, and Singh. In addition to Attlee there were the Viceroy, the three India experts, Lord Pethick-Lawrence, Secretary of State for India; Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, and A. V. Alexander, defense minister-designate.

The meeting opened only fourteen hours before Nehru's scheduled departure for India.

11TH HOUR MEETING IS HELD ON INDIA

1946

London, Dec. 6 (A. P.)—Prime Minister Attlee held an unexpected, seventy-two-minute effort to save the London conference on the future of India.

Attlee previously had withdrawn from the discussions, and his re-entry indicated some new approach to the problem of Indian independence. Moslem demands for a separate State have been the principal stumbling block.

DAY

The Prime Minister met with M. A. Jinnah, Moslem leader; Jawaharlal Nehru, Congress party leader; Viceroy Lord Wavell and members of the British Cabinet mission on India. The conference came on the eve of Nehru's scheduled return to New Delhi for the Constituent Assembly called to draft an Indian constitution.

Nehru, asked as he was leaving the conference room if the meeting had been successful, countered: "Do you expect these things to be worked out suddenly?"

Jinnah referred inquiries to the British Parliament. Neither man was smiling.

MINERS' STRIKE MAY FORCE CUT IN BRITISH FOOD

E. Frazier

London, Dec. 6 (AP)—Food Minister John Strachey told the House of Commons today that the American coal strike threatened the "gravest consequences" to Great Britain and all other countries depending on North America for food supplies.

Unless the situation improves, Britain "almost certainly" must cut its bread ration from the present nine ounces a day and "it may well not prove possible to maintain the present bacon ration" of three ounces a week, Strachey said.

DAY

Argentine Strike Harmful, Too

Strachey also told the legislators that because of the recent meat-packing strike in Argentina "we have lost nearly seven weeks' shipments of meat, a loss which it is almost impossible to make up."

"No criticism," he said, "is implied or intended of the great trans-Atlantic exporting countries. I know they are fully conscious of the difficulties which may be experienced abroad as a result of their own domestic troubles."

Wheat Stocks Poor

The Food Minister said Britain's wheat stocks are little more than half what they were at this time last year, and added:

"It is necessary for us to obtain additional supplies of wheat for this country during the next three or four months, over those which we have already purchased. I have asked the United States Government for shipments of wheat and flour in the near future.

"If the United States Government is unable to agree to our request, or if circumstances develop which made it impossible for these quantities to be moved to the American seaboard for loading on ships in the first few months of next year, then far from it being possible to deration bread it would almost certainly be necessary to decrease the ration."

Hopeful Note

The recently announced grain surplus in the United States, Strachey said, gives rise to the hope that "one day, and perhaps it may be sooner rather than later," Britain will be able to import all it needs.

"When that time comes," he said, "we shall not forget those exporting countries which, despite their present difficulties, have stood by us during the period of scarcity."

British Censor Bans Quips On Labor Cabinet's Aitches

G. Crough

London, Dec. 6 (AP)—A musical comedy song kidding members of the Labor Government got past Britain's stage censor today, but the name of John Strachey, Food Minister, was blue-penciled and so were two hints that Labor Cabinet Ministers drop their h's.

Lord Clarendon, the Lord Chamberlain, originally disapproved the whole song—"The Left Honorables." He changed his ruling after the Conservative press raised a cry of "political censorship."

New Row Looms

Today's ruling seemed likely, however, to involve him in a new row since DAY Strachey out, he put in C. E. M. Joad—and Dr. Joad, one of Britain's best-known writers and speakers, rarely misses a chance to get into a controversy.

Out went these lines:

"That's all very well, but give him an aitch, he Wouldn't know where to put it in Strachey."

And in, at the Lord Chamberlain's suggestion, went these:

"That all very well, but tell us who was it
That studied poor Joad and lost his deposit."

Bearded Dr. Joad recently forfeited his deposit, under the election laws, because he polled less than one eighth of the votes cast in a Parliamentary byelection. He was an official Labor candidate.

Another Couplet Out

Lord Clarendon also took out this couplet suggesting that Ministers of the present Government speak in lower-class accents:

"And though I've hardly an aitch to my name.
I've mastered the A B C."

Instead he okayed:

"My ideas are exactly the same
As they were in '93."

The Lord Chamberlain explained that the song, to be introduced in a revue opening next week, was tampered with in "the ordinary procedure" of censorship, which bans "offensive" references to living persons.

Conservatives hinted broadly that the rule was interpreted to spare the feelings of Labor officials. Beverly Baxter, Conservative member of Parliament and Evening Standard dramatic critic, declared: "Abolish the censor. Proclaim the right of the people to laugh at their political rulers."

Nobody in the Government said anything publicly at all.

Anti-Nazi's Visit Natural, British Say

London, Dec. 6 (AP)—A French protest to Britain concerning the visit to London of Dr. Kurt Schumacher, leader of the German Social Democratic party, has drawn a reply that "it was quite natural that an anti-Nazi leader should visit this country," a British Foreign Office spokesman said today.

Dr. Schumacher arrived in England November 29, as the guest of the British Labor Party, for a two-week stay.

French Ambassador Rene Massigli yesterday told the Foreign Office of France's displeasure over the visit. French newspapers have characterized Schumacher as a "Nationalist," and fears have been expressed in Paris that his visit to London was of an official nature.

DeGaulle Seen Peacemaker

Paris, Dec. 6 (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle was reported today to be taking a hand in France's three-way political deadlock in which neither the Communists, Socialists nor MRP, the three strongest parties, have yet been able to put forward a successful candidate for the interim presidency.

The Ecole du Soir, a newspaper known to have close contacts with de Gaulle followers, quoted "a young conservative deputy" as saying de Gaulle had met with the Radical Socialist leader, 75-year-old Edouard Herriot, "for the purpose of finding a quick solution to the political crisis" which finds France without a government.

The newspaper said its informant had suggested that de Gaulle "would not be adverse to having his name mentioned in connection with the presidency of the republic," a post that is to be filled in mid-January.

The report of the conference gave rise to renewed speculation that the Radical Socialists, a relatively minor party in France's post-war setup, might put up a compromise candidate for the temporary premiership.

Dr. Huxley Named UNESCO Head

Paris, Dec. 6 (AP)—Dr. Julian Huxley, British scientist, has been elected director-general of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, it was announced today.

Although the term of office is six years, Huxley informed the body that he could not serve for two years.

Twenty-seven of the 30 countries eligible to vote cast ballots. Huxley received 22 votes. There were three against and two blank.

The 59-year-old scientist has been provisional executive secretary of UNESCO, shaping its activities since midsummer.

Free Lance Scientist

Huxley, a free-lance worker in science since a dispute in 1943 with the council of the Zoological Society in Great Briain, is world-renowned in the fields of biological and philosophical science. He is a grandson of Thomas Henry Huxley, who worked with Charles Darwin on evolution theories.

His career has included work at the Rice Institute in Houston, Texas, and with the Rockefeller Foundation in the United States. He has written extensively on TVA projects.

Germans' Release Held Catastrophe

Paris, Dec. 6 (AP)—A French Foreign Office spokesman said tonight that meeting of the United States request for the release of German prisoners of war in France would have "catastrophic" consequenses for the nation's economy.

The spokesman said that three days ago Jefferson Caffery, United States Ambassador, presented to the retiring Premier-Foreign Minister, Georges Bidault, a request that 500,000 prisoners of war "lent" to France by the United States Army be sent to Germany. The spokesman added that among these were 60,000 men working in coal mines whose loss would reduce France's coal production by twenty per cent.

Bernard Fay Gets Life Term in France

Paris, Dec. 6 (A. P.)—Bernard Fay, French writer known in the United States for his biography of Benjamin Franklin, was sentenced today to prison for life at hard labor after a high purge court found him guilty of aiding the Germans during the occupation.

Stalin's Illness 'Confirmed'

Paris, Dec. 6 (AP)—The London correspondent of the rightist French newspaper L'Epoque reported today that "sources in London" had "confirmed" rumors from Turkey that Soviet Prime Minister Stalin is seriously ill. This dispatch followed by two days a London columnist's report that "Stalin's illness" now was the subject of daily bulletins from the Kremlin.

The London Star carried Wednesday in the column "Star Man's Diary," the following item:

"Russians in London today were as anxious as everybody else to hear more about reports from Turkey that Stalin's illness has now taken a dangerous course.

"All But An Invalid"

"Embassy officials found it rather difficult to stick to the old formula about Stalin being in the best of health. It is now generally accepted, even there, that the 68-year-old leader, prematurely old through the strain of the last few years, is all but an invalid. It is significant that, for the benefit of embassy staffs, the Kremlin now issues bulletins about Stalin's health. Only a few people in London have been told the full contents of them."

In London a Russian press attache said that after the Star column appeared he checked at the embassy and found no one who had spoken to a Star representative.

"We have received no bulletins on Stalin's health here, and have seen none," this attache said. "We know nothing about his health."

In Copenhagen, the newspaper Berlingske today carried a Stockholm dispatch speculating on a Tass report from Moscow that Stalin failed to attend an official dinner in honor of a Czechoslovak delegation Wednesday.

The dispatch to L'Epoque quoted its London's correspondent's unnamed sources as saying Stalin suffered a new stroke November 4, "and was carried to Sochi, on the shore of the Black Sea near Batum, where last year he tried to recover his health.

"Declined To See Truman"

"Some weeks ago," the article said, "he (Stalin) declined to see President Truman on account of ill health. The last time he was seen in public was September 8 at a motorized forces' review."

[Two Istanbul newspapers, Tanin and Tasvir, published assertions on December 3 that Stalin was seriously ill.

[On November 7 Associated Press correspondent Eddy Gilmore filed in Moscow a dispatch which said that persons close to Stalin say he is in good health and that he probably will be in about the same physical condition on his birthday—December 21—as he was last year. This dispatch was not transmitted to New York until 11 P.M., Moscow time, November 13.]

Stalin Illness Reports Denied

By EDDIE GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 6 (AP)—I am informed that there is no basis for reports published in Turkey that Generalissimo Stalin is "seriously ill."

Stalin is taking a vacation just as he took a vacation at this time last year. He returned to Moscow last year on December 17. Presumably he will do approximately the same thing this year.

[Two Turkish newspapers earlier this week reported that Stalin's health had "taken a dangerous course" and that his closest friends "are now near him." No source was given for these statements.

[On November 7 Gilmore wrote—in a dispatch which was not transmitted from Moscow until twelve days later—that there was good reason to believe that Stalin was doing just as he had done in 1945—"taking a vacation far from Moscow."

[Gilmore said that the Generalissimo's absence from the November 7 Moscow celebrations of the anniversary of the Bolshevist Revolution did not mean that "something untoward had happened."

[Sochi, a favorite Black Sea coast resort of Soviet leaders, has been mentioned as the site of Stalin's holiday.]

BIAS CHARGED IN ARMY TRIAL

Attorney For Four Americans in Germany Resigns

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 6 (AP)—Thomas L. Foley, of Hayward, Cal., resigned as defense attorney for four Americans facing military court-martial today, charging "it is impossible to secure a fair and impartial trial" in this army headquarters command.

An army spokesman announced that the inspector general of the European theater will investigate Foley's charges.

Another spokesman called Foley's charges "utterly baseless" and said the attorneys had been given "every opportunity" to prepare their defense.

Secret Trial, Says Foley

The trials of his clients "are in the nature of an inquisition," Foley declared in his letter of resignation to Brig. Gen. Cornelius Ryan, headquarters commandant.

It was the second blast at army legal procedures by Foley, a former Air Corps major, since he came to Germany several weeks ago to defend three civilians accused of possessing counterfeit money and a soldier accused of murdering a German girl.

A week ago Foley complained that army officials had impounded his automobile "without any legal process."

"Intimidation" Charged

Foley's law partner in the court-martial cases was Earl Carroll, of San Bruno, Cal., a former Air Corps captain who has been a frequent and severe critic of the army's court-martial system.

There was no indication that Carroll also had resigned from the defense.

Carroll joined Foley in a letter to the trial prosecutor charging:

That defense witnesses were "intimidated" by the Army's methods.

That five Germans accused of comparable offenses were freed on bail while the accused Americans were denied bail and held in jail several months awaiting trial.

Alabaman Defended

That army prosecutors broke an agreement on the order in which the cases would be tried and "peremptorily" ordered first to trial the one they planned to try next to last.

The civilians Foley was defending are William C. McKinley, 24, of Bessemer, Ala.; John M. Logsdon, 24, of Detroit, and Alavin F. Bockbrader, 24, of Bowling Green, Ohio. The soldier is Pfc. Daniel P. Walczak, 22, of Detroit.

All were among the thirteen Americans Carroll said he discovered last August 11 to have been imprisoned in an army stockade here for one to two months without legal counsel or filing of formal charges.

2,500 Want Frauleins

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 6 (AP)—More than 2,500 American war veterans have applied for permission to take German girls to the United States to marry them.

This is the GI's answer to the Army's ban against American-German marriages in occupied Germany.

Congress last June approved immigration into the United States of war veterans' alien fiancées, with the provision that they must be married within three months or go back home.

1,000 At Munich

The Munich Consulate has received almost 1,000 applications, around 700 have been filed at Frankfurt, 250 at Stuttgart, and other hundreds at the consulates in Bremen, Berlin and Hamburg.

The Combined Travel Board in Berlin, which issues the "exit permits" enabling eligible applicants to leave occupied Germany, reported that about 40 permits had been granted.

It is a long road from application to visa. The Fraulein must prove she is free to marry and has a valid agreement to marry, has no criminal record, was not an active Nazi or a member of the German armed forces.

Vet Must Post Bond

The veteran must prove that he is able to support her and post bond to finance her return to Germany if there is no wedding. The German girl is subjected to careful screening by army investigators before she is approved.

The process takes two or three months and is further complicated by the shortage of transportation facilities.

Berlin Population Drops

Drug Racketeers Sentenced

Berlin, Dec. 6 (AP)—Twenty-eight Germans convicted by an American Military Government court of conducting a lucrative racket in manufacturing and selling fake penicillin today received sentences ranging up to ten years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine.

Nazis' Cards Meant Death, Says Witness

Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 6 (AP)—Sylvia Salvesan, woman member of Norway's famous "King's Messengers" underground movement, told a British military court today that pink work cards passed out among inmates by the Nazi staff of the Ravensbruck concentration camp were regarded as virtual death sentences.

The staff issued those able to work and gave them the pink cards, she testified, and they were the first to be selected for extermination.

Twelve men and seven women of the camp staff are on trial and charges of cruelties to thousands of Allied woman inmates are being heard.

The witness said thousands of Red Cross packages were stolen by the staff, although the prisoners were starving, and that only one in a thousand packages was distributed.

U.S. Navy Squadron Reaches Piraeus

Athens, Dec. 6 (AP)—A United States naval squadron that is making a series of informal calls at Eastern Mediterranean ports reached Piraeus, the Port of Athens, in the midst of a heavy thunder storm and high winds today.

The squadron includes the aircraft carrier Randolph, the light cruiser Fargo, the landing ship Donner and the destroyer Perry. The commander is Vice Admiral Bernhard H. Bieri, chief of United States naval forces in the Mediterranean.

'Christmas Gift' Bomb Kills Dutchman

The Hague, Dec. 6 (AP)—A bomb wrapped as a Christmas gift exploded in the living room of a family here last night, killing 48-year-old Frans Boer and seriously injuring his wife. Three other persons were slightly hurt.

Police said they had no definite clues upon which to work.

TITO NATIONALIZES SLAV INDUSTRIES

Assembly in Surprise Move Ordered by Leader Forces Economy Under State Rule

BELGRADE, Dec. 6 (AP)—Yugoslavia, whose governmental structure closely follows that of the Soviet Union, has placed its economy under strict state management with swift passage of a law nationalizing immediately all private economic enterprises, public utilities and industries.

Marshal Tito gave orders that the bill, passed unanimously yesterday by both houses of the National Assembly, be given top priority. Parliament officials said presentation of the measure came as a surprise and that only top men in the Parliament knew it was to be a matter of business on that day.

Federal Council Chairman Vladimir Simic offered the bill with the admonition for swift action from Tito, who is chairman of the Assembly and head of state. The bill was introduced in the morning and passed in the afternoon. All compensation to private owners will be estimated from that date.

The law names 42 branches of the Yugoslav economy to be nationalized. They include all land, sea and air communications and transportation, mining and metallurgy, all industries processing natural products, food and beverages.

Compensation to the owners in the form of state bonds will amount to the net assets of the property. The Federal Government and the individual republics of Yugoslavia will set up funds for the purpose of redeeming the bonds. However, in some cases cash compensation will be made.

The bill declares that the government will not pay obligations built up out of business with the enemy during the war.

No new private enterprise within the categories of the law may be started without government permission.

Various governmental ministries will take over temporarily from the private property owners the management of the nationalized enterprises until other directorates for management are created.

The only expression approaching dissension in passage of the bill came from Dr. Dragolyub Yovanovic, recently expelled from the Peasant Party, who argued that the people ought to have a chance to express their opinion.

(No mention of the nationalization of land and private houses, as in Russia, was made in this dispatch.)

The Yugoslav constitution, adopted last January, set forth certain economic principles such as approving the breaking up of large estates for distribution into small land holdings and placed foreign trade under state control, but its proponents declared that it did not go as far as Russia in setting up a socialized state.

The political structure, with the creation of a Federal People's Republic of six republican states and two autonomous provinces was regarded as following closely the pattern of the Soviet Union.

Slavs Nationalize All Industry

Belgrade, Dec. 6 (AP)—A law nationalizing all private economic enterprises, public works and industries in Yugoslavia was presented yesterday morning and passed unanimously yesterday afternoon by both houses of the National Assembly under the chairmanship of Premier Marshal Tito. It takes effect immediately.

Only the top men in the Assembly knew the bill was to be presented yesterday by the Federal Council chairman, Vladimir Simic, under orders from Tito to give it top priority, legislative informants said.

42 Branches Of Economy

The official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug says the nationalization includes "all movable and immovable property as well as all rights of ownership which belong to enterprise." It embraces 42 branches of the national economy, including mining, metalurgy, all industries processing natural products, food processing, beverages, building, transportation and all land, sea and air communications.

The law stipulates that no new private economic enterprise in the categories covered in the act may be founded without express permission from the Government.

People's View Urged

The only speech even approaching dissent was made by Dr. Dragolyub Yovanovic, who recently was expelled from the Peasant party. He said that the bill was perfect, but that since it affected all persons in the nation the people should be given an opportunity to express their will.

Compensation to former owners, which will be estimated as of December 5, will amount to net assets on that date. Payment will be in state bonds payable to bearer. Federal funds will be founded for the purpose of redeeming bonds. In some cases cash compensation will be made.

American Gets 4 Years For Crossing Frontier

Belgrade, Dec. 6 (AP)—A Yugoslav military court has sentenced Roy H. Stoeckel, of Kearny, N.J., a former American soldier who crossed the frontier from Austria on a picture-taking jeep tour, to four years at forced labor, the Foreign Ministry told the United States Embassy today.

The charges were crossing the frontier [illegible] purposes of espionage [illegible] and taking pictures of military positions and routes leading to the country across the frontier.

Stoeckel, 22-year-old civilian employé of the United States Army at Linz, Austria, has appealed the sentence to a higher military court and the ministry said the decision on the appeal would be announced in a few days.

He was tried at the town of Celje, where he had been held since his arrest in July by Yugoslav soldiers near the frontier. He said he had strayed across the border accidentally during a pleasure drive on which he was taking scenic photographs.

CHINESE REDS ASK RETURN OF AREA

Refuse to Participate In Assembly Until Terms For 'Fresh Start' are Met

NANKING, Dec. 6 (AP)—Peace talks will be resumed with the government, the Communists reiterated today, only on the basis of dissolving the National Assembly in session here and returning to the military [illegible] as of last Jan. 13. Such [illegible] ded as unacceptable by Chiang Kai-shek.

Chou En-Lai, chief Communist negotiator, outlined the terms in a letter to General Marshall, asking that he transmit the communication to Chiang.

Fresh Start Asked

Cou said the peace negotiations "may make a fresh start" in the Kuomintang (government party) agreed to these terms. The proposals represented no changes from earlier offers. Sources close to Chiang said there was no possibility the Generalissimo would give them serious consideration.

These sources characterized the letter as another effort to make the government responsible for a final split.

The Communists have boycotted the assembly, which is framing a new constitution, claiming it was called on a unilateral decision made by Chiang and is under Kuomintang domination.

A return to the military situation of Jan. 13 would be of great advantage to the Communists as they have lost large areas.

News from the military fronts in the civil strife was meager. It was reported in Peiping that the Communists were speeding their withdrawal from Dairen, the Russian-occupied free port in southern Manchuria, and that vanguards of Gen. Tu Li-ming's Government Army had advanced to within seven miles of the city.

Nanking, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Chinese Communists offered today to make a "fresh start" at peace negotiations but under such rigorous conditions that sources close to Chiang Kai-shek said there was no possibility that the offer would get serious consideration.

The offer came in the form of a formal communication from Gen. Chou En-lai, chief Communist negotiator now back in Yenan, to General Marshall, special United States envoy.

Chou Lists Terms

Chou described the terms as the only ones under which the Communists would consider resuming negotiations. They were:

1. The [illegible] (Government party) must dissolve immediately the National Assembly, which now is meeting in Nanking to draft a new constitution. The Communists have refused to attend.

2. The Government must restore the military situation to the status of January 13, which would require Government troops to give up broad stretches of North China wrested from the Communists since then.

Some quarters close to the Generalissimo considered that this "last offer" had blasted all hopes of further negotiations as well as the continuation of active American mediation.

Responsibility Stressed

They regarded the letter, which Chou asked Marshall to forward to Chiang, as a new attempt by the Communists to toss responsibility for a final split upon the Government.

It was predicted that Marshall, in the face of the latest development, would make preparations to return to Washington, at least for conferences, as soon as the National Assembly ends.

[In Peiping, Government reports said National vanguards marched to within 7 miles of Dairen as Chinese Communists in the area accelerated their withdrawal. Observers said Gen. Tu Li-ming's Government troops, who have been in the Dairen area more than a month, still were awaiting a go-ahead signal from the Russians to move into the city.]

A Foreign Office Spokesman confirmed that Soviet and Chinese Government representatives are negotiating for the Chinese to occupy Dairen, but added that "negotiations are on an informal basis."

May Be Held At Antung

He said the conferences are neither in Nanking nor Dairen but "another region"—presumably Antung, where Soviet and Chinese officials were reported to have conferred in the past few days.

[From Peiping, Associated Press Correspondent Tom Masterson radioed that Communist guerrilla bands gradually are pushing attacks closer to Peiping. They attacked two villages 20 miles east of that city, but failed to capture either.]

Chinese Reds Offer New Bid For Peace 1946

moval of the "few Marines" remaining in North China. One said the removal, long planned, had been held up for "an opportune moment."

One of the Marines' former duties was to guard vitally needed coal shipments to Peiping, Tientsin and Shanghai. Without coal, China's economy would have been ruined, observers said, and the Communists might have moved in and taken over the government.

Five Huks Killed In Luzon Raid

Manila, Dec. 6 (A. P.).—Five Hukbalahaps were killed, a rice field was set afire and 750 sacks of sorely needed rice were destroyed in a Huk (armed peasant) raid near Tarlac in Central Luzon, the press reported today. Civil guards engaged the Huks an hour until Filipino M. P. reinforcements scattered the raiders. Huks have been replenishing their food supplies by such raids.

Time Set For Marine Unit's Exodus In China

Peiping, Dec. 6 (AP)—United States Marine Corps headquarters today announced the last of the Leathernecks will be withdrawn from guard duty on the Peiping-Mukden Railroad the latter half of December.

The first and second battalions of the 7th Regiment will be transferred to the West Coast of the United States.

The withdrawal will leave Marines in Peiping, Tientsin, Tangku and Tsingtao. Those in the first three places [illegible] keep open the supply route [illegible] the United States branch of executive headquarters in Peiping. Those at Tsingtao are attached to the United States 7th Fleet, which is training Chinese naval cadets.

Their Railroad Job Ends

Removal of the Marines completes the program in effect since they began guarding the railroad after the Japanese surrender. In mid-October, Marines were removed from other sections of the railroad when the Chinese National Army took over.

While the Marines guarded the line, service between Peiping and Chinwangtao seldom was interrupted but since the Government took over, Chinese Communists have attacked trains, destroyed rails or blown up bridges almost daily.

Tokyo, Saturday, Dec. 7 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Frederick M. Hopkins, Yonkers, N.Y., was appointed today as commander of the Pacific Air Service Command at Manila replacing Brig. Gen. F. O. Carroll.

Ship Suspected Of Smuggling Sought

Manila, Dec. 6 (AP)—The United States Navy and all ships at sea in Philippine waters today were allerted by the Philippine Department of the Interior to watch for the Wan Jing, wanted by Shanghai police on [illegible] smuggling passengers [illegible]

The ship, formerly the LST 655, was sighted 125 miles south of Shantung November 22. It was due at Shanghai the following day, but has not been reported since.

The Manila Bulletin reported that 2,000 tins of opium and morphine illegally entered the Philippines in November and said smuggling is a serious problem here.

Navy Moves To Scrap Old Promotion System

Pearl Harbor, Dec. 6 (AP)—The navy high command is preparing to scrap its antiquated system of promotions by seeking congressional approval of a completely new plan stressing youth and proved ability, Admiral John H. Towers, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, disclosed today.

Sweeping changes in the Navy's old promotion system already have been approved by Admiral Nimitz and other top commanders, Towers said. A bill to revise existing laws will be placed before the next Congress.

Unless action is taken soon, Navy leaders are apprehensive that the old seniority system will govern promotions when the President's wartime powers are ended.

Strain Held Too Great

Towers, recently returned from Washington, said bitter experiences in the last war proved the necessity of moving younger men to the top.

He did not discuss details of the plan, but said "the Navy does not intend again to be caught in the position it was five years ago, with too many aging officers of flag rank.

"In prewar days, the average officer was 57 or 58 years old before he could attain flag rank. We learned early in the war that many officers were too old and were not qualified for a sea command. The physical strain was too much in such jobs as carrier task force commander or commander of a bombardment division of battleships.

Called Overcautious

"Not only were they too old, but they did not have experience in aviation and did not know how to use their weapons. As a result, they were overcautious—a natural result of ignorance and age."

Towers said there were exceptions "such as Admiral Marc A. Mitscher (famous carrier task force commander) who performed brilliantly and who knew their stuff.

"But the strain of combat duty and irregular hours takes it out of a man faster than he can replace it.

"We have young admirals now but they never would have reached their present rank except by drastic action which was necessary.

There are men just behind them who proved in the war that they are capable of being admirals."

Number Limited

Congress has fixed the number of peace time navy officers at 35,000 so there is relatively little opportunity for an officer to attain flag rank. However, Towers said he is certain the plan would give hope to younger officers.

Nimitz recently sent the proposed bill to his top commanders for study and suggestions. It was discussed when the selection board met recently in Washington. Among the admirals consulted were Towers, Raymond A. Spruance, Mitscher, R. S. Edwards, Thomas C. Kinkaid, Charles A. Lockwood, C. H. McMorris, W. H. P. Blandy and A. W. Radford.

Secret Records Revealed

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—Thirteen years after her defeat in World War I, Germany was conducting secret military preparations and balked at scrapping her pocket battleships even when on the brink of national bankruptcy.

This was disclosed by the State Department today in publishing for the first time, after the usual fifteen-year lapse, many confidential, documents on United States foreign policy in 1931. That was the year of the Hoover moratorium on world debts, the Polish Corridor controversy and the lengthening of Hitler's shadow over Europe.

Was "Coldly Aloof"

Behind-the-scenes glimpses of that year's historic events, as shown by the State Department's volume, depict a Germany teetering between Hitlerism and communism, smoldering bitterly under the restraints of the Versailles treaty and coldly aloof to proposals for disarmament.

"Germany has served notice that any limitation of land armaments . . . will afford her no incentive to be a party to the treaty," wrote Hugh Gibson, chairman of the American Delegation on the Preparatory Commission for the Disarmament Conference, in a dispatch to Henry L. Stimson, then Secretary of State.

"There is a considerable possibility that a treaty on land armaments . . . . would be used by Germany to justify precipitating the whole question of revising the military clauses of the Versailles treaty."

Warnings From Churchill

Even in those days—more than a year before Hitler's rise to power—the fiery eloquence of Winston Churchill was ringing out in warning against Germany.

Thus, on September 16, 1931, a dispatch to Stimson from Charles G. Dawes, United States Ambassador, in London, cited Churchill's opinion that "England has descended into a position of unpreparedness and insecurity such as it had never previously experienced, (and) that Germany and Russia were putting themselves into a position of superior preparation."

The dispatch went on to say that "Mr. Churchill may be considered the self-appointed spokesman of the 'give-no-quarter' fire-eaters" and "his militant views are not generally shared either by the leaders in the three political parties or by the English public as a whole."

Year Before Hitler

"The usual comment on Churchill's theories is that they might have worked in the days of Marlborough, his ancestor, and Wellington, but that they are decidedly out of date in 1931," Dawes's message said.

Hitler was still more than a year from power, but Germany's Chancellor Bruening set the fashion for the Nazi Führer in hedging on German armaments.

At the height of the crisis threatening Germany's financial collapse, the United States, Britain and France sought assurances that Germany would halt its construction of warships of the Deutschland pocket battleship type as a return gesture in connection with the Hoover debt moratorium.

Backed Army Officers

Old President von Hindenburg had appealed to Hoover to save Germany from economic ruin, but when the question of the battleship construction came up, United States Ambassador Sackett had this to report to the State Department:

"Bruening was convinced that any public statement made by the (Germah) Government which implied any renunciation of the meager rights granted by the Treaty of Versailles to Germany, especially with regard to the right of Germany to build cruisers . . . . would have so great a 'symbolic' meaning for the German nation that it would revive all the antagonisms and passions. . . .

"The younger (German) army officers in particular would view this as so great a renunciation of the interests of the armed forces of Germany that the loyalty of the army would be heavily jeopardized.

"In spite of what the Chancellor said, I again laid before him the fact that the peoples of the world thought that Germany was receiving everything and giving nothing. . . ."

Stimson 'Blew Up'

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—As Secretary of State, Henry L. Stimson found occasion to rebuke J. P. Morgan & Co. during the conduct of foreign relations in 1931, the State Department disclosed today.

Once, Stimson said, he "blew up" at what he viewed as interference by the New York banking firm in international affairs.

In a memorandum dated July 17, 1931, released in a volume of confidential State Department papers published today, Stimson told of conversations with the French Minister of Finance, M. Flandin, and the American Ambassador to France, Walter E. Edge, on the question [illegible] Germany stave off financial collapse.

"Got Them In Corner"

"Then Edge told me that Jay of Morgan & Co. had some things he wanted to talk to me about and got us apart in a corner," Stimson wrote.

"Jay pulled out a cable which he received from Tom Lamont and Russell Leffingweil (both members of J. P. Morgan & Co.) which maintained a very hard doubt of the possibility of raising any money in New York for Germany at the present time. . . . It was a closely reasoned argument of why no money could be floated and ended up with a request, as I recall it, that Jay convey their view to Moret of the Bank of France, and he told me that he had talked with Moret about it and was going to talk to Flandin.

"Then I blew up."

Says He Cited Folly

Stimson said he "pointed out the folly" of such action.

"I told him I happened to know that the Bank of France was holding back on the efforts of the French Government to solve the situation and this would add fuel to the enemies and end the only chance of conciliation.

"Just at that moment a waiter came in and said I was wanted on the telephone to talk to Washington. I went to the telephone and the President (Hoover) was on the other end, and this was his message: That everything depended on the London conference, that all the safety of the banks in New York who had advanced money to Germany was dependent on the conference going to London and the President had read in some English dispatches anxious statements for fear that the French would try to sidetrack the London conference.

Gave Reassurances

"I reassured him on the subject of the situation so far as our negotiations with the French were concerned. I said I was much encouraged to think that we were going all right, but I told him, 'If you want to help in the cause you are speaking of you will not do it by calling me up, but by calling up Tom Lamont. . . .' And I told him of the cable I had just seen. I said that was the one thing that would prevent the French from going to London.

"The President jumped at my remarks and said he agreed perfectly and would get after Morgan at once."

Stimson wrote that he then went back to Jay and told him, "You have hit the London conference right plumb in the eye and I want you to know it. I pointed out to him in unregulated language the folly of the bankers getting into a situation depending on psychology and (said) that they could not take refuge in narrow banking axioms. . . ."

J. P. Morgan & Co. identified Jay as Dean Jay, a Morgan partner who was in charge of the firm's European business at that time.

SPENDING ON FOOD EXPECTED TO DROP

Agriculture Dept. Also Sees Farm Prices Drop Likely In Noting Economic Trends

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that recent trends in consumer income coupled with work stoppages indicate that less money will be spent in the months ahead for foods and other non-durable products.

It also predicted, in a report on the economic situation, that farm prices during the next three months may drop from five to 10 per cent below the record level of mid-October.

The coal strike, it said, is already retarding the expansion of total employment and the output of industrial goods, which have attained record peacetime levels since last spring.

"If a prolonged stoppage of coal output develops, the general level of domestic economic activity will decline sharply."

The department added the domestic economic situation during 1947 cannot be properly appraised until the length of the strike and the nature of the settlement, with its repercussions on wages and prices, have been determined."

Analyzing economic reports of the Federal Reserve Board, the Census Bureau, and the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the department said there has been a tendency this year for a smaller share of the national income to go to wages and salaries and more to profits, interest and rents.

"Unless wages and salaries increase relative to total income payments, consumer expenditures may decline," the department said.

"As durable goods become available, it is possible that relatively more consumer purchasing power may shift to the purchase of such durable goods as automobiles, radios, and household appliances, and away from non-durable goods of which farm products are a major part.

"If there are substantial increases in disposable income, however, the expenditures for non-durables may continue at present high levels."

2 Men Sought To Supervise Decontrol

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Administration hung out a "help-wanted" sign today for two key men to administer President Truman's program for removal of war-time controls as rapidly as possible.

Officials familiar with the situation said the search is continuing for men to head the National Housing Agency and the projected Office of Rents and Priorities. The OPA, when formed, will administer the combined remaining functions of OPA and the Civilian Production Administration, together with some other war-time agencies.

Until these appointments have been made, officials said, most major decontrol steps will be held in abeyance.

Wyatt, Small Quit

Wilson W. Wyatt, former housing administrator and expediter, and John D. Small, former CPA chief, finished their tours of duty simultaneously yesterday. Paul Porter, former OPA head, left a day earlier.

The White House announced the interim appointment of David L. Krooth, NHA general counsel, to act in Wyatt's dual job, but officials said the selection was only to fill a gap until a permanent successor can be chosen, probably Monday or Tuesday.

Small's resignation yesterday carried out his oft-repeated intention of returning to private life as soon as plans could be worked out for the OPA-CPA liquidating agency. Officials said the agency would be established as soon as a man had been found to head it.

Wyatt, however, left in protest against White House policies which he contended failed to recognize housing as an "all-out emergency" problem.

Can't Meet Goal, He Says

At a final news conference yesterday, he said that housing was just as much an emergency now as ever and that next year's goal of 1,500,000 new homes could not be met in the absence of the emergency measures he had recommended to the President.

Wyatt disclosed that he had proposed 100 per cent Government financing of private rental housing, but the Reconstruction Finance Corporation turned it down, at least until Congress could be consulted.

The plan called for 90 per cent Federal Housing Administration loans with the remaining ten per cent to be put up by the RFC on a second mortgage.

Wyatt said that $200,000,000 of RFC funds would be involved if the needs of the program were met.

1947 Sugar Ration To Rise 5 Pounds

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—Barring "unpredictable disasters," American consumers will get an extra ration coupon entitling them to five pounds of sugar by next April 1.

This was announced today by Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, in a statement saying that additional extra allowances may be possible later in 1947.

Consumers got ration allowances of 25 pounds this year, including grants for canning. They will get at least 30 pounds next year if present plans turn out.

Anderson also announced that industrial users—such as candy makers, bakers, ice-cream makers and soft-drink bottlers—will get an additional ten per cent of the quantity they used in 1941. These users are now limited to between 50 and 60 per cent of their 1941 usage.

Eisenhower Going South For A Rest

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—At the insistence of Army physicians that he take a rest, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will start tomorrow on his first extended leave in more than a decade.

For a month he will be technically a patient at the Pratt General Hospital at Miami, Fla., where he will take treatments for bursitis, a painful inflammation in his left shoulder.

He expects, however, to take advantage of opportunities for golf, fishing and other outdoor activities, aides said today.

At 56, the War Department chief of staff was described as being in the best health he has enjoyed for years, aside from the recurrent shoulder pain from which he suffered before he became Supreme Allied Commander in Europe. He has shrugged off without comment published reports that he planned to retire.

Except for a week's fishing with his brothers last summer in the West and an earlier two-day visit to Sea Island, Ga., Eisenhower has had no leave since he went to the Philippines in 1935 with Gen. Douglas MacArthur as assistant military adviser to the Philippine Commonwealth.

Embassy Sends Report On Elliott Roosevelt

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP) — The State Department said today the American Embassy in Moscow has cabled a report on Elliott Roosevelt's recent remarks on Russian-American relations.

A department official said he understood Roosevelt made the remarks at a gathering arranged by the Embassy to introduce the new head of the Soviet Foreign Office's Russian-American division.

[Roosevelt originally was quoted in the magazine Newsweek as criticizing United States foreign policy at the gathering. He subsequently declared the discussion was off-the-record and said he had been misquoted.]

Newsprint Probe Asked; Langer Hints 'Trust'

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—Senator Langer (R., N.D.) announced today that he will ask the new Congress to make a sweeping investigation of newsprint supply and distribution.

"There is strong evidence," he asserted in a statement, "that a conspiracy exists between large publishing trusts and some newsprint manufacturers to force hundreds of independent newspapers and magazine publishers out of business."

He complained also of "serious trends toward monopoly . . . within the newsprint manufacturing industry" citing purchases of paper mills by big publishers.

Economic Maladjustment, Loss of Faith Incentives To War, He Tells NAM

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts of the Union of South Africa warned America in a speech at the National Association of Manufacturers meeting tonight that economic maladjustment and loss of faith were "powerful incentives to war."

He urged the United States and other free nations to conquer their internal industrial and social problems lest other nations mistake them as [illegible] and thus take steps that might lead to another great conflict.

"The free, democratic nations dare not to convey to the world an impression of supineness, of indifference, of peace at any price. If they do, the world may take us at our face value and be seriously misled, as Hitler was misled by America's professed neutrality during the pre-war period," Smuts said.

Industrial Peace Aim

The NAM today implemented its new "pro-public" labor and fiscal policies with a number of resolutions designed, officials said, to promote industrial peace and place public interests above those of either management or labor.

The resolutions, described as the "backbone" of the association's accomplishments during its strenuous and at times explosive three-day session, were accepted without debate by the more than 3,000 delegates representing management from every section of America.

The fiscal policy called for an immediate 20 per cent tax cut on personal incomes, elimination of civilian agencies by the federal government, annual reduction of $5 billion of the national debt, and a balanced budget.

Some of the more liberal phases of NAM's "attitud toward labor," it was learned, were bitterly protested by a small but vigorous and powerful minority.

The Majority Viewpoint

Earl Bunting, who will succeed Robert R. Watson as president of NAM on Jan. 1, said the announced policies and resolutions represented "the majority viewpoint" of the association.

The resolutions adopted at the last day's meeting advocated employment stabilization, a vigorous defense of freedom of speech, preference to veterans in industry and employment, increased facilities for education including more attractive inducements to teachers, and further vigorous opposition of Congress to 'Communist infiltration.

Grip On U.S. Is At An End, Red Reports

New York, Dec. 6 (AP)—The New York Times said today that William Z. Foster, national chairman of the Communist party, told party leaders at a closed session at an undisclosed meeting place last night that "Communists no longer had influence within the Government of the United States."

The account said that Foster made his statement at the end of a three-day post-election meeting of the party's national committee.

Charges Betrayal

The Times said Foster also told Communist leaders "that the Leftists and Liberals to whom the Communists looked for accomplishment of their political objectives as members of a coalition with more conservative Democrats had been 'seriously demoralized by the betrayals of the Truman Administration.'"

Foster also demanded, the Times continued, "that Communists be so active in working for a third party in place of the alliance between labor and the Democratic party that everybody in the labor movement will know that the main champions of a third party are the Communists.'"

SOVIET DELEGATE V.I.TEPLIAKOV CHARGED THAT THE CAMPS HARBORED GROUPS WHICH HOPED TO OVERTHROW THE SOVIET UNION.

MRS.FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT CHALLENGED THE RUSSIAN STATEMENT AND REPLIED THAT "THE ENDLESS REPETITION OF THESE CHARGES DOES NOT CONSTITUTE EVIDENCE OR PROOF OF THEIR VALIDITY."

TEPLIAKOV WAS TOLD BY LEON DE ROSEN OF FRANCE THAT THE SOVIET UNION THUS FAR HAD REFUSED FRENCH OFFICERS THE RIGHT TO SEEK FRENCH CITIZENS EITHER IN THE RUSSIAN OCCUPATION ZONE OR IN THE SOVIET UNION, ALTHOUGH SOVIET OFFICERS HAVE SUCH RIGHTS IN THE FRENCH ZONE.

THE RUSSIAN REQUEST FOR INVESTIGATION WAS PUT TO THE COMMITTEE BY A.Y.VISHINSKY, SOVIET DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER, IN A LETTER TO COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN, SIR CARL BERENDSEN OF NEW ZEALAND.

TEPLIAKOV CHARGED THAT 12,000 RUSSIAN CITIZENS REMAINED IN THE BRITISH ZONE AND 6,000 IN THE FRENCH ZONE WHO SHOULD RETURN HOME AND SAID FRENCH AND BRITISH AUTHORITIES "HIDE" RUSSIAN CITIZENS FROM RUSSIAN LIAISON OFFICERS BY ISSUING FALSE PASSPORTS DESIGNATING THEM VARIOUSLY AS CITIZENS OF POLAND AND TURKEY.

MRS.ROOSEVELT IN REPLY SAID THE RUSSIANS HAVE MADE THE SAME CHARGES MOST OF THE YEAR, BUT AFTER INVESTIGATION BY MILITARY AUTHORITIES THEY HAVE BEEN FOUND MAINLY WITHOUT BASIS.

"I WISH TO POINT OUT THAT AN ENDLESS REPETITION OF CHARGES DOES NOT CONSTITUTE EVIDENCE," SHE SAID. "I GATHER OUR RUSSIAN COLLEAGUE THINKS THAT BY CEASELESS REPETITION OF CHARGES WILL MAKE THEM STICK. THIS COMMITTEE HAS BEEN EXPOSED TO THAT TECHNIQUE NOW FOR WEEKS. I THINK THE COMMITTEE SHOULD TAKE INTO ACCOUNT THAT THIS IS A CONSCIOUS TECHNIQUE."

SHE POINTED OUT THAT SLAV LIAISON OFFICERS HAVE FREEDOM TO ENTER ANY CAMPS IN THE U.S.ZONE, AND THAT IF THEY WERE NOT ABLE TO MAKE THEIR CHARGES STICK CONCERNING VARIOUS REFUGEES THE SOVIET UNION MIGHT CONSIDER SENDING MEN "OF HIGHER CALIBER."

"HIS ATTITUDE WAS A MOST UN-MARXIAN PROCEDURE," ROMULO DECLARED. "KARL MARX WOULD THROW UP HIS HANDS IN HORROR."

ROMULO SAID SAKSIN'S INSISTENCE ON ADHERENCE TO OLD DECISIONS SINCE OVERRULED MAKE HIM A "REACTIONARY."

ROMULO THEN SAID THAT IF SAKSIN WANTED TO GO BACK TO THE VERY START HE SHOULD NOTE ONE OF THE THREE MEN WHO FIRST DECIDED TO MEET IN SAN FRANCISCO "WAS ONLY JOSEPH STALIN."

HE REFERRED TO THE ATTACK MADE LAST NIGHT BY SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE GEORGI SAKSIN ON SAN FRANCISCO AS A PROSPECTIVE U.N. HEADQUARTERS SITE. THE RUSSIAN ALSO CHARGED THE U.S.DELEGATION HERE WAS "CAMPAIGNING" FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

THE TEXT OF MAYOR LAPHAM'S STATEMENT:

"IT IS NOT UP TO A MAYOR TO IMPOSE HIS THOUGHTS ON MEMBERS OF THE HEADQUARTERS COMMISSION, NOR ON THE DELEGATION OF HIS OWN NATION, BUT I CAN SAY AS A PRIVATE CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES THAT I RESENT STRONGLY THE UNKIND REFLECTIONS OF THE U.S.R. PHILADELPHIA, DEC 6-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES IS LOBBYING FOR SELECTION OF SAN FRANCISCO INSTEAD OF PHILADELPHIA AS THE WORLD CAPITAL SITE, SAYS DR.ROBERT L.JOHNSON, CHAIRMAN OF THE PHILADELPHIA COMMITTEE.

DR.JOHNSON DECLARED THE PHILADELPHIA GROUP WAS AROUSED PARTICULARLY OVER REPORTED U.S. INTERVENTION BECAUSE OF REPEATED ADMINISTRATION PLEDGES THAT THE U.S. WOULD REMAIN NEUTRAL.

"THEY ARE EITHER NEUTRAL OR THEY ARE NOT AND THIS IS THE TIME TO FIND OUT," HE TOLD A REPORTER. "THE REPORTED LOBBYING BY U.S. OFFICIALS AT LAKE SUCCESS IS CERTAINLY NOT NEUTRALITY IN ANY SENSE OF THE WORD."

DR.JOHNSON SAID REPORTS HAD REACHED HIM THAT DELEGATES AT LAKE SUCCESS WHO HAVE NOT YET ANNOUNCED THEIR STAND ON THE PEACE CAPITAL WERE BEING BUTTONHOLED IN CORRIDORS OF UNITED NATIONS' HEADQUARTERS TO LEAVE NO DOUBT OF THE U.S. VIEW.

IN WASHINGTON, THE STATE DEPARTMENT AGAIN ASSERTED YESTERDAY THAT THE AMERICAN DELEGATION TO THE U.N. HAD BEEN PLEDGED "TO OBSERVE STRICT NEUTRALITY."

A SPOKESMAN SAID THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AND ITS OFFICIALS "OBVIOUSLY" COULD NOT TAKE SIDES ON SUCH A QUESTION, SINCE THEY REPRESENT THE ENTIRE COUNTRY.

BUT, SAID THE STATE DEPARTMENT, THE U.N. DELEGATION AT LAKE SUCCESS WAS NOW CHARGED WITH "CARRYING OUT THAT POLICY" AND WAS NO LONGER UNDER STATE DEPARTMENT CONTROL.

FRIENDS, WHOM WE MADE WELCOME TO SAN FRANCISCO LAST YEAR, HAVE SO MISCONSTRUED AND IMPUGNED OUR GENEROUS MOTIVES."

TODAY'S U.S.ANNOUNCEMENT IN EFFECT GAVE A SHARP ANSWER TO RUSSIA WHICH ACCUSED THE AMERICAN DELEGATION OF CAMPAIGNING FOR THE WEST COAST.

IT WAS NOT IMMEDIATELY APPARENT WHERE THE UNITED STATES WOULD LATER FAVOR ANY ONE OF THE EAST COAST SITES, SHOULD THE COMMITTEE FOLLOW ITS LEAD IN TURNING DOWN SAN FRANCISCO. AUSTIN SUGGESTED THAT ONLY IN THE EVENT OF SUCH A DECISION THE COMMITTEE SHOULD "RECONSIDER" THE WHOLE EAST COAST AND CAUTIONED AGAINST A HASTY DECISION.

THIS WAS INTERPRETED IN SOME CIRCLES AS MEANING THAT THE AMERICAN DELEGATION WANTED THE OTHER 53 NATIONS TO LOOK CLOSELY INTO THE POSSIBILITIES AT PHILADELPHIA AND OTHER POINTS BEFORE JUMPING TO A VERDICT. HOWEVER, AUSTIN STRESSED THAT A FINAL DECISION SHOULD BE TAKEN AT THE CURRENT ASSEMBLY SESSION WHICH WOULD MEAN WITHIN A WEEK.

PRIOR TO AUSTIN'S STATEMENT SAN FRANCISCO HAD DRAWN THE MOST SUPPORT FROM THOSE SPEAKING AND WAS GENERALLY CONCEDED TO HAVE AN EDGE ON THE BASIS OF DEBATE UP TO THAT POINT. STRONGEST SUPPORT FOR THE WEST COAST HAS COME FROM CHINA, AUSTRALIA, THE PHILIPPINES, INDIA,

THE ARAB STATES, AND SOME OF THE LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES.

A SIMPLE MAJORITY IS NEEDED WITHIN THE COMMITTEE BUT THE WINNING SITE MUST GET TWO-THIRDS OF THE VOTES ONCE THE QUESTION GOES TO ASSEMBLY ITSELF FOR FINAL APPROVAL.

AFTER REITERATING HIS DEMAND THAT THE U.N. SETTLE IN SAN FRANCISCO, ROMULO LEVELED A SERIES OF CRITICISMS AT PHILADELPHIA.

WAVING A COPY OF THE SATURDAY EVENING POST, WHICH HE NOTED WAS PUBLISHED IN PHILADELPHIA, ROMULO READ LONG EXCERPTS FROM AN ARTICLE ABOUT THE CITY.

HE QUOTED THE MAGAZINE AS SAYING THAT "MACHINE POLITICS MAKE IT (PHILADELPHIA) ONE OF THE NATION'S MOST BACKWARD CITIES," AND THAT FORWARD AND PROGRESSIVE STEPS "WERE TAKEN ONLY WHEN THEY BECAME HISTORY IN OTHER AMERICAN CITIES."

HE ALSO NOTED THE MAGAZINE'S CRITICISM OF SANITATION FACILITIES AND POLICE PROTECTION IN THE CITY.

ROMULO SAID MORE THAN 1,000 PERSONS WOULD BE DISPLACED IN PHILADELPHIA SHOULD THE U.N. SET UP HEADQUARTERS THERE.

AFTER ROMULO'S TALK, THE CZECHOSLOVAK AND NORWEGIAN DELEGATIONS STATED THEIR CHOICE AS NEW YORK. NORWAY'S FINN MOE SAID HIS COUNTRY LIKED THE FLUSHING MEADOW (N.Y.) OTHER NATIONS BACKING PHILADELPHIA LAST NIGHT INCLUDED POLAND, SOUTH AFRICA, NEW ZEALAND AND CUBA. FAVORING SAN FRANCISCO WERE THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC, EGYPT AND IRAQ. UP TO LAST NIGHT, NO DELEGATION HAD SUPPORTED BOSTON.

EARLIER, PHILADELPHIA HAD BEEN BACKED BY BRITAIN, NEW YORK BY YUGOSLAVIA AND THE EAST COAST GENERALLY BY THE SOVIET UKRAINE AND THE NETHERLANDS, AND SAN FRANCISCO HAD THE APPROVAL OF CHINA, THE PHILIPPINES, INDIA, SAUDI ARABIA AND AUSTRALIA.

THE DEBATE WAS ON LOCATIONS INSPECTED BY A SUB-COMMITTEE--INCLUDING THE BELMONT-ROXBOROUGH SECTION OF NORTH PHILADELPHIA AND NEW YORK'S FLUSHING WORLD'S FAIRGROUNDS AND SUBURBAN WESTCHESTER COUNTY, WHERE FIVE PIECES OF LAND WERE RECOMMENDED BY A HEADQUARTERS COMMISSION.

"MOLOTOV IS SAYING IN EFFECT THAT YOU WANT A WHISKEY AND SODA. ALL RIGHT, HERE IS THE SODA--WE'LL GIVE THE WHISKEY TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL."

THE PROVISION FOR EXPEDITING A DRAFT CONVENTION FOR PROHIBITION OF ADD LAKE SUCCESS (DAY - HOME - UN) FXY COUNCIL (HOVEY)

ATOMIC WEAPONS AND ALL OTHER WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION WAS UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED. THE CONVENTION WOULD ALSO CALL FOR SETTING UP AN ADEQUATE SYSTEM OF INTERNATIONAL CONTROL AND INSPECTION.

THE DECISION WAS TAKEN AFTER MOLOTOV DECLARED THAT THE SOVIET UNION NEVER ASKED FOR CONTROL UNDER THE VETO.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE STILL HAD TWO MORE PARAGRAPHS TO CONSIDER AT ADJOURNMENT.

THE UNITED STATES MADE A DIRECT APPEAL TO RUSSIA LAST NIGHT FOR SUPPORT OF THE AMERICAN PLAN TO CONTROL THE ATOMIC BOMB AND URGED THAT THE UNITED NATIONS ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION APPROVE THE PLAN BEFORE THE END OF THE YEAR.

BERNARD M.BARUCH, TAKING SPEEDY ADVANTAGE OF A CHANGE IN THE SOVIET ATTITUDE AS SET FORTH EARLIER THIS WEEK BY RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV, LOOKED STRAIGHT AT SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A. GROMYKO IN LAST NIGHT'S COMMISSION SESSION AND DECLARED:

"WE SEEK ESPECIALLY THE PARTICIPATION OF THE SOVIET UNION. WE WELCOME THE RECENT AUTHORITATIVE STATEMENTS OF ITS HIGHEST REPRESENTATIVES. FROM THESE, WE ARE JUSTIFIED IN CONCLUDING THAT IT NO LONGER REGARDS THE ORIGINAL AMERICAN PROPOSALS UNACCEPTABLE, AS A WHOLE OR IN THEIR SEPARATE PARTS, AS ITS MEMBER OF THIS BODY STATED AT AN EARLIER MEETING."

GROMYKO'S ONLY IMMEDIATE COMMENT WAS THAT THE COMMISSION NEEDED TIME TO STUDY THE PROPOSAL.

BARUCH MADE IT CLEAR THE UNITED STATES WOULD ACCEPT NOTHING LESS THAN AGREEMENT ON ITS OWN PLAN.

"WE WELCOME COOPERATION BUT WE STAND UPON OUR BASIC PRINCIPLES EVEN IF WE STAND ALONE," HE SAID. "WE AIM AT AN EFFECTIVE PLAN OF CONTROL AND WILL NOT ACCEPT ANYTHING LESS."

BARUCH, UNITED STATES DELEGATE TO THE COMMISSION SINCE ITS INCEPTION, ALSO AGREED WITH NUMEROUS DELEGATES WHO HAVE STRESSED IN ARMS REDUCTION DEBATES BEFORE THE U.N. POLITICAL COMMITTEE THAT IF NATIONS CAN CONTROL THE ATOMIC BOMB THEY CAN GO ON FROM THERE TO CONTROL OTHER INSTRUMENTS OF MASS DESTRUCTION.

HE FORMALLY OFFERED A RESOLUTION EMBODYING THE SAME IDEAS AS

30.24-6805

ORIGINALLY SET FORTH IN HIS PLAN LAST JUNE AND CALLED UPON THE COMMISSION TO ADOPT AND SEND IT TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL BY JAN.1.

BARUCH SAID THESE THREE ELEMENTS WERE INHERENT IN ANY TREATY THAT WOULD BE WRITTEN:

1-THE ERECTION OF AN INTERNATIONAL AUTHORITY WHICH SHALL EFFECTIVELY PREVENT THE MANUFACTURE AND USE OF ATOMIC BOMBS FOR WAR PURPOSES, AND WHICH SHALL DEVELOP THE USE OF ATOMIC ENERGY FOR SOCIAL GAIN.

2-THE RIGHT OF FREE AND FULL INTERNATIONAL INSPECTION IN SUPPORT OF THESE PURPOSES (NOW ACCEPTED BY RUSSIA).

ALEXANDRE PARODI OF FRANCE, COMMISSION CHAIRMAN, SAID THE U.S. RESOLUTION WOULD BE TURNED OVER TO ONE OF THE COMMISSION'S WORKING GROUPS AND WOULD BE TAKEN UP NEXT WEEK ALONG WITH A REPORT FROM ITS CONTROL COMMITTEE. THAT GROUP, ALONG WITH SCIENTIFIC ADVISERS, HAS BEEN STUDYING THE EXACT SAFEGUARDS NECESSARY FOR ANY ATOMIC PLAN.

RUSSIA'S PLAN ALSO OFFERED TO THE COMMISSION LAST JUNE, CALLED FOR AN INTERNATIONAL PACT OUTLAWING ATOMIC WEAPONS, THE DESTRUCTION OF EXISTING BOMBS WITHIN 90 DAYS AFTER A PACT, AND ENACTMENT OF NATIONAL LAWS AGAINST VIOLATORS. GROMYKO MAINTAINED THEN THAT THE VETO SHOULD NOT BE ALTERED BUT THE SOVIET NOW HAS AGREED THAT THE VETO WOULD NOT HOLD IN THE ACTUAL CONTROL AND INSPECTIONS ONCE A SYSTEM HAD BEEN SET UP.

WITHIN THE U.N. POLITICAL COMMITTEE, FOCAL POINT OF THE AGENCY'S MOST CONTROVERSIAL ISSUES, THREE-SUB COMMITTEES WERE SCHEDULED TO GO BACK TO WORK TODAY ON ARMS REDUCTION, SPAIN AND THE VETO.

ON THE ARMS QUESTION, WHERE THE U.N. RECENTLY HAS MADE RAPID PROGRESS, IT WAS FEARED A SNAG MIGHT DEVELOP OVER UNITED STATES INSISTENCE THAT THE SECURITY COUNCIL NOT ONLY CONSIDER MEASURES TO PROHIBIT THE USE OF ATOMIC WEAPONS, BUT ALSO TO ESTABLISH CONTROLS OVER THE USE OF ATOMIC ENERGY FOR PEACEFUL PURPOSES.

THIS IN EFFECT RAISED THE OLD ISSUE BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA, THE SOVIET INSISTING ON IMMEDIATE OUTLAWING OF ATOMIC WEAPONS AND THE AMERICAN VIEW BEING THAT ANY SUCH STEP SHOULD BE PART OF A GENERAL ATOMIC CONTROL PLAN.

HUSSEIN ALA, IRANIAN AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES AND REPRESENTATIVE TO THE UNITED NATIONS, FILED THE REPORT TODAY SAYING "IT WILL BE APPARENT THAT THE DECISION OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL TO CONTINUE 'SEIZED' OF THIS QUESTION SHOULD REMAIN UNCHANGED."

"IT WILL BE RECALLED," SAID THE REPORT, "THAT A RESULT OF THESE INTERFERENCES IS THAT THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN DENIED THE EXERCISE OF EFFECTIVE CONTROL IN THE PROVINCE OF AZERBAIJAN.

"UNFORTUNATELY, IN SPITE OF EVERY EFFORT TO REMOVE BY CONCILIATORY MEANS THE CONSEQUENCES OF THESE INTERFERENCES, THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT HAS NOT YET BEEN ABLE TO RE-ESTABLISH ITS AUTHORITY IN THAT PROVINCE.

ELECTIONS OF THE MAJLIS (PARLIAMENT) MEMBERS HAVE BEEN CALLED THROUGHOUT IRAN STARTING TOMORROW. THE REPORT SAID TROOPS WERE ORDERED INTO ALL PROVINCES OF IRAN "IN ORDER TO ASSURE THAT THE ELECTION PROCEDURES ARE DULY FOLLOWED" AND CITED THAT "THOSE IN CONTROL" OF AZERBAIJAN HAD OBJECTED.

"IT IS TO BE HOPED," SAID ALA'S REPORT, "THAT THIS (TROOP STATIONING) WILL NOT BE USED AS A PRETEXT FOR HOSTILE DEMONSTRATIONS BUT MY GOVERNMENT WILL NOT FAIL TO TAKE THE ACTION NECESSARY TO MAINTAIN LAW AND ORDER THROUGHOUT IRAN, EVEN THOUGH DISTURBANCES MAY BE THREATENED." ADD LAKE SUCCESS (NI-UN-IRAN) XXX AZERBAIJAN

OTHER TREATY POINTS CLEARED UP INCLUDED:

1. IT WAS AGREED THAT THE RAILROADS IN TRIESTE SHOULD BE JOINTLY CONTROLLED BY REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FREE TERRITORY, ITALY AND YUGOSLAVIA. PROVISION WAS ALSO MADE FOR THE OPERATION OF CIVILIAN AIRLINES INTO THE AREA. ADD NY (NL-FOR. MIN.) XXX Terr. Terry (S

2. IT WAS DECIDED THAT A LETTER SHOULD BE SENT TO THE UNITED NATIONS RECOMMENDING AUTHORIZATION OF FUNDS FOR THE PAYMENT OF SALARIES AND EXPENSES OF THE GOVERNOR OF TRIESTE AND HIS STAFF. Singleton

3. PROVISION WAS MADE FOR FREE ZONES FOR ITALY AND YUGOSLAVIA IN THE FREE PORT OF TRIESTE. THIS MEANS MAINLY THAT THE TWO COUNTRIES CAN USE DOCKING SPACE THERE WITHOUT CHARGE.

4. A FINAL DRAFT WAS WORKED OUT OF A DECLARATION TO BE MADE 1946 BY THE BIG FOUR CALLING FOR A CONFERENCE ON NAVIGATION OF THE DANUBE RIVER WITHIN SIX MONTHS AFTER THE BALKAN PEACE TREATIES BECOME EFFECTIVE. ALL THE GREAT POWERS AS WELL AS STATES BORDERING ON THE RIVER WILL PARTICIPATE IN THIS CONFERENCE.

TOMORROW'S MEETING WAS SET FOR 10:30 A.M. (EST) IN ORDER TO ALLOW BRITISH FOREIGN MINISTER BEVIN TO LEAVE HERE BY TRAIN EARLY TOMORROW AFTERNOON FOR WASHINGTON. HE HAS ARRANGED TO CALL ON PRESIDENT TRUMAN AT 11 A.M. (EST) SUNDAY. HE WILL STAY AT THE BRITISH EMBASSY OVER SATURDAY AND SUNDAY NIGHTS AND RETURN TO NEW YORK MONDAY MORNING.

IN SURMOUNTING THE BIG HURDLES, THE COUNCIL LEFT STILL UNSETTLED A NUMBER OF MINOR POINTS, MOST OF THEM ECONOMIC TECHNICALITIES, TO BE IRONED OUT TODAY. THE TIME-CONSUMING TECHNICAL TASK OF PUTTING THE AGREEMENTS ON PAPER DIMINISHED THE LIKELIHOOD THE TREATIES COULD BE SIGNED FORMALLY BEFORE THE COUNCIL'S NEW YORK SESSION ADJOURNS. BEFORE THE SESSIONS WIND-UP, HOWEVER, THE COUNCIL WILL SEEK AGREEMENT ON AN AGENDA FOR A PEACE CONFERENCE ON GERMANY EARLY NEXT YEAR. BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY BEVIN PRIVATELY HAS BEEN URGING HIS COLLEAGUES TO PICK BRUSSELS AS THE SITE FOR THE NEXT MEETING.

THE BIG NATION ACCORD ON THE SATELLITE TREATIES WAS REACHED AT THEIR 115TH FORMAL MEETING, CLIMAXED BY A DISPUTE IN WHICH SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES FOUGHT AND YEILDED TO A RUSSIAN DEMAND FOR A BOOST IN THE REPARATIONS LEVY AGAINST ITALY.

IN THEIR NEARLY FINISHED FORM, THE TREATIES LAID DOWN THESE GENERAL TERMS:

1. THE DANUBE -- GENERAL AGREEMENT IN THE BALKAN PACTS ON THE PRINCIPLE THAT THIS ECONOMICALLY-STRATEGIC WATER HIGHWAY OF EUROPE SHOULD BE INTERNATIONALIZED FOR FREE USE BY ALL NATIONS. A DECISION TO ISSUE, OUTSIDE THE TREATIES, A SUMMONS FOR A CONFERENCE TO WRITE THE TERMS FOR THAT PLAN.

2. TRIESTE -- INTERNATIONALIZATION OF THIS ANCIENT ADRIATIC PORT WILL LEAVE TRIESTE UNDER THE DIRECT CONTROL OF A GOVERNOR TO BE APPOINTED AND GUIDED BY THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL. THE AGREEMENT PROVIDES FOR AN EARLY REDUCTION OF OCCUPATION TROOPS AND THEIR COMPLETE WITHDRAWAL WHEN THE GOVERNOR DEEMS THAT STEP SAFE.

B103 (Q)

3. REPARATIONS--AGAINST ITALY: $100,000,000 TO RUSSIA, $125,000,000 TO YUGOSLAVIA, $105,000,000 TO GREECE, $25,000,000 TO ETHIOPIA, $5,000,000 TO ALBANIA; AGAINST ROMANIA, $300,000,000 TO RUSSIA; AGAINST BULGARIA, $45,000,000 TO GREECE AND $25,000,000 TO YUGOSLAVIA; AGAINST HUNGARY, $200,000,000 TO RUSSIA AND $50,000,000 TO CZECHOSLOVAKIA AND YUGOSLAVIA; AGAINST FINLAND, $300,000,000 TO RUSSIA.

4. ARMS LIMITATIONS --ITALY, ARMY, 250,000, NAVY, 22,500 AND AIR FORCE, 25,000; ROMANIA, ARMY, 120,000, NAVY 5,000, AIR FORCE, 8,000; BULGARIA, ARMY, 55,000, NAVY, 3,500 AND AIR FORCE, 5,200; HUNGARY, ARMY AND NAVY, 65,000, AIR FORCE, 5,000; FINLAND, ARMY 34,400, NAVY, 4,500 AND AIR FORCE, 3,000.

THE DIPLOMATIC CHIEFS DECIDED TO DENY THE FORMER ENEMY COUNTRIES THE USE OF MOTOR TORPEDO BOATS ON THE THEORY THAT THESE WERE OFFENSIVE RATHER THAN DEFENSIVE WEAPONS WHICH COULD BE TURNED OUT IN MASS PRODUCTION SPEEDILY.

CLIMAXING ANOTHER LONG ARGUMENT, THEY FIXED ON A COMPROMISE FIGURE OF 66 2/3 CENTS TO THE DOLLAR AS THE RATE BY WHICH THE SATELLITES MUST PAY FOR ALLIED PROPERTY IN THEIR TERRITORY WHICH WAS DESTROYED DURING THE WAR. THIS REPRESENTED A REDUCTION FROM THE 100 PERCENT ORIGINALLY RECOMMENDED BY THE MINISTERS AND A SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE OVER THE 25 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR FIGURE ADVOCATED BY BYRNES TO SPEED ITALY'S ECONOMIC RECOVERY.

IN ADDITION TO INTERNATIONALIZATION OF TRIESTE, THE TREATIES SET UP SEVERAL ADDITIONAL CHORES FOR THE EUROPEAN MAPMAKERS. THESE INCLUDED RETURN OF PART OF TRANSYLVANIA TO ROMANIA FROM HUNGARY, ITALY'S LOSS OF HER AFRICAN COLONIES AND THE DODECANESE ISLANDS, AND RUSSIA'S ACQUISITION OF THE FORMER FINNISH PORT OF PETSAMO.

IN A MEETING SCHEDULED FOR 4 PM (EST), THE COUNCIL EXPECTED TO TACKLE 1946 THE QUESTION OF DISPOSING THE ITALIAN FLEET.

THROUGH LAST NIGHT THE FOREIGN MINISTERS HAD HELD 115 MEETINGS ON THE PEACE TREATIES IN NEW YORK AND EUROPE AND THEIR SESSIONS IN NEW YORK ALONE TOTALLED 26. DIPLOMATS SAID THE FACT THAT THEY HAVE BEEN BROKEN AND THE RELATIVELY EASY AIR OF COMPROMISE AND AGREEMENT WHICH HAVE EXISTED IN THE MEETINGS HERE HAD GREATLY IMPROVED THE PROSPECTS BOTH FOR RESTORING NORMAL CONDITIONS IN EUROPE AND FOR ORGANIZING A WORKABLE WORLD PEACE.

NIGHT LEAD FOOD (310)
BY ED CREAGH

LONDON, DEC.6-(AP)-THE BRITISH PEOPLE, STILL ON WARTIME RATIONS, WERE TOLD BY FOOD MINISTER JOHN STRACHEY TODAY THAT THE COAL STRIKE AND OTHER LABOR INTERRUPTIONS IN THE UNITED STATES WOULD "ALMOST CERTAINLY" CAUSE A CUT IN THE BREAD ALLOWANCE, NOW NINE OUNCES A DAY FOR MOST ADULTS.

THE ALREADY MINUTE THREE-OUNCES-PER-WEEK ALLOTMENT OF BACON, HE ADDED, MAY ALSO FACE A FURTHER REDUCTION AS A RESULT OF OVERSEAS STRIKES.

LONDON NEWSPAPERS BANNERED STRACHEY'S GLUM PRE-CHRISTMAS STATEMENT, MADE IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS. AT A SUBSEQUENT NEWS CONFERENCE HE SAID THAT A "SHARP IMMEDIATE CRISIS" HAD RESULTED FROM AMERICAN LABOR DISPUTES, BUT ADDED THAT THE OUTLOOK WOULD BE COMPARATIVELY BRIGHT ONCE "HEARTBREAKING INTERRUPTIONS" WERE OVERCOME.

"IN SIX MONTHS TIME," HE SAID, "THE GREAT EXPORTING COUNTRIES MAY FIND THEMSELVES AS ANXIOUS TO SELL AS WE ARE ANXIOUS TO BUY."

THE FOOD MINISTER TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS THAT THE COAL STRIKE THREATENED "THE GRAVEST CONSEQUENCES" NOT ONLY TO BRITAIN BUT TO ALL OTHER COUNTRIES DEPENDENT ON NORTH AMERICA FOR FOOD SUPPLIES.

HE SAID THAT BECAUSE OF THE RECENT MEAT PACKING STRIKE IN ARGENTINA "WE HAVE LOST NEARLY SEVEN WEEKS SHIPMENT OF MEAT, A LOSS WHICH IT IS ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE TO MAKE UP."

HE ADDED THAT NO CRITICISM WAS IMPLIED "OR INTENDED OF THE GREAT TRANSATLANTIC EXPORTING COUNTRIES. I KNOW THEY ARE FULLY CONSCIOUS OF THE DIFFICULTIES WHICH MAY BE EXPERIENCED ABROAD AS A RESULT OF THEIR OWN DOMESTIC TROUBLES."

SOME LONDON NEWSPAPERS, HOWEVER, DID NOT TAKE THE SAME VIEW. SAID THE LONDON STAR:

"THE U.S. HAD A BUMPER HARVEST. YET THE FOOD MINISTER REVEALED THAT BRITAIN'S WHEAT STOCKS ARE AT PRESENT ONLY HALF THOSE AT THIS TIME LAST YEAR. THE REPLENISHMENTS WE NEED ARE CHOKING THE RAILWAY TRACKS AND GRAIN ELEVATORS OF NORTH AMERICA.

"EVERYTHING DEPENDS UPON INDUSTRIAL PEACE IN THE U.S.A. THAT IS WASHINGTON'S BUSINESS, NOT OURS. BUT IT SEEMS A HARD AND IRONIC FATE THAT BESETS HITLER'S FIRST CHALLENGER AMONG THE VICTORS."

LONDON, DEC.6-(AP)-MAJ.GEORGE CORNWALLIS-WEST, UNCLE OF THE PRINCE OF PLESS AND STEPFATHER OF WINSTON CHURCHILL, SAID TODAY HE HAD RECEIVED WORD THAT THE PRINCE'S 12TH CENTURY FURSTENSTEIN CASTLE IN SILESIA HAD BEEN LOOTED OF ITS TREASURES BY POLISH AND RUSSIAN OCCUPATION FORCES.

"EVEN THE FAMILY MAUSOLEUM HAS BEEN BROKEN INTO AND THE COFFINS TORN OPEN," THE ELDERLY RETIRED OFFICER SAID. "ONE OF THE COFFINS DESECRATED WAS THAT OF MY SISTER, PRINCESS DAISY. APPARENTLY THOSE WHO DID IT HOPED TO FIND JEWELS HIDDEN IN THE MAUSOLEUM."

"THE INFORMATION COMES FROM AN ALTOGETHER RELIABLE AGENT WHO ESCAPED INTO THE BRITISH ZONE OF GERMANY AFTER THE LOOTING. UNFORTUNATELY THERE CAN BE NO DOUBT THAT IT IS CORRECT. MY SISTER'S MAGNIFICENT COLLECTION OF JEWELS WAS AMONG THE THINGS TAKEN. THE DAMAGE IS IN THE HUNDREDS OF THOUS

ND OF POUNDS."

THE PICTURESQUE, 400-ROOM CASTLE STANDS NEAR THE SILESIAN-CZECHO-SLOVAK BORDER. IT WAS A TOURIST ATTRACTION BEFORE THE WAR. ITS APARTMENTS WERE AMONG THE MOST MAGNIFICENT IN EUROPE.

MAJ.CORNWALLIS-WEST SAID MOST OF THE LOOTING WAS DONE BY POLES WHO RAIDED THE CASTLE LAST JANUARY. VALUABLE PICTURES AND MANUSCRIPTS WERE PILED UP IN FRONT OF THE CASTLE BEFORE BEING HAULED AWAY, HE SAID AND RARE FURNITURE AND CARPETS WERE REMOVED TO WARSAW WITH THE EXPLANATION THAT THEY WERE NEEDED TO EQUIP A MINISTRY.

THE 46-YEAR-OLD PRINCE OF PLESS, PRESENT OWNER OF THE CASTLE, IS A GODSON OF KING EDWARD VII OF ENGLAND. HE SERVED IN THE BRITISH ARMY DU LONDON, DEC.6-(AP)-THE MOSCOW RADIO SAID TODAY THAT BULGARIA HAD "EMPHATICALLY DENIED" STATEMENTS ATTRIBUTED TO TURKISH PREMIER RECEP PEKER THAT BULGARIAN-TRAINED GREEKS WERE TAKING PART IN THE FIGHTING WITHIN GREECE NEAR THE TURKISH FRONTIER.

"IT IS REGRETTABLE THAT IN THIS CASE THE TURKISH PRIME MINISTER IS THE SOURCE OF THESE UNJUSTIFIED REPORTS," THE BROADCAST QUOTED THE BULGARIAN TELEGRAPH AGENCY AS SAYING.

THE BROADCAST QUOTED THE AGENCY AS SAYING THAT PEKER TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE AFTER HIS RETURN FROM A RECENT VISIT TO THE AREA NEAR THE GREEK FRONTIER THAT "CERTAIN DATA" PROVED "ARMED GROUPS" FIGHTING ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE BORDER WERE GREEKS TRAINED IN BULGARIA AND THAT "THEIR AIM WAS TO SEPARATE WESTERN THRACE FROM TURKEY BY DRIVING A WEDGE TO THE AEGEAN."

"THE BULGARIAN CHARGE D'AFFAIRES IN ANKARA HAS DECLARED TO THE TURKISH MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS THAT THE TURKISH PRIME MINISTER'S STATEMENTS WERE WITHOUT ANY BASIS AND THAT THE BULGARIAN GOVERNMENT CONSIDERED IT THEIR DUTY TO DENY THESE STATEMENTS MOST EMPHATICALLY," THE BROADCAST SAID.

LONDON, DEC 6-(AP)-A NEW CROP OF RUMORS SPRANG UP IN EUROPE TODAY ABOUT THE HEALTH OF JOSEPH STALIN IN THE WAKE OF AN UNCONFIRMED REPORT IN A LONDON GOSSIP COLUMN THAT HE "IS ALL BUT AN INVALID" AND THAT THE RUSSIAN EMBASSY HERE IS RECEIVING SECRET BULLETINS ON THE CONDITION OF THE 68-YEAR-OLD PRIME MINISTER AND GENERALISSIMO OF THE SOVIET UNION.

F0/0 Moscow (STALIN illness)

RUSSIAN EMBASSY OFFICIALS DENIED THE STORY, SAYING:

"WE HAVE RECEIVED NO BULLETINS ON STALIN'S HEALTH HERE AND WE HAVE SEEN NONE. WE KNOW NOTHING ABOUT STALIN'S HEALTH."

THEY ADDED THAT A CHECK OF EMBASSY PERSONNEL DISCLOSED NO ONE WHO HAD EVEN TALKED TO THE REPORTER OF THE TABLOID LONDON STAR WHO PRINTED THE STORY.

THE COLUMNIST PUBLISHED THIS ITEM TWO DAYS AGO:

"RUSSIANS IN LONDON TODAY WERE AS ANXIOUS AS EVERYBODY ELSE TO HEAR MORE ABOUT REPORTS FROM TURKEY THAT STALIN'S ILLNESS HAS NOW TAKEN A DANGEROUS COURSE. EMBASSY OFFICIALS FOUND IT RATHER DIFFICULT TO STOCK TO THE OLD FORMULA ABOUT STALIN BEING IN THE BEST OF HEALTH. IT IS NOW GENERALLY ACCEPTED, EVEN THERE, THAT THE 68-YEAR-OLD LEADER, PREMATURELY OLD THROUGH THE STRAIN OF THE LAST FEW YEARS, IS ALL BUT AN INVALID. IT IS SIGNIFICANT THAT, FOR THE BENEFIT OF EMBASSY STAFFS, THE KREMLIN NOW ISSUES BULLETINS ABOUT STALIN'S HEALTH. ONLY A FEW PEOPLE IN LONDON HAVE BEEN TOLD THE FULL CONTENTS OF THEM."

TODAY THE FRENCH RIGHTEST NEWSPAPER L'EPOQUE IN PARIS QUOTED UNNAMED "SOURCES IN LONDON" AS CONFIRMING PREVIOUS REPORTS PRINTED IN TURKEY THAT STALIN WAS SERIOUSLY ILL. THE NEWSPAPER QUOTED THESE SOURCES AS SAYING STALIN "HAD A NEW STROKE NOV. 4 AND WAS CARRIED TO SOCHI ON THE SHORE OF THE BLACK SEA NEAR BATUM, WHERE LAST YEAR HE TRIED TO RECOVER HIS HEALTH."

1946

"SOME WEEKS AGO HE DECLINED TO SEE PRESIDENT TRUMAN ON ACCOUNT OF ILL HEALTH," IT WAS ADDED. "THE LAST TIME HE WAS SEEN IN PUBLIC WAS SEPT. 8 AT A MOTORIZED FORCES REVIEW."

COPENHAGEN NEWSPAPERS PRINTED THE STAR'S OFFICIALLY DENIED STORY AND ONE OF THEM PRINTED SPECULATION CONCERNING KEY MEN AROUND STALIN.

EARLIER THIS WEEK TWO TURKISH NEWSPAPERS, TANIN AND TASVIR REPORTED THAT STALIN'S HEALTH HAD "TAKEN A DANGEROUS COURSE" AND THAT HIS CLOSEST FRIENDS "ARE NOW NEAR HIM."

NO COGNIZANCE WAS TAKEN OF THESE REPORTS IN DISPATCHES FROM MOSCOW, BUT THE RUSSIAN PRESS WAS ENGAGED IN EXTOLLING FOREIGN MINISTER V.M. MOLOTOV, WHO IN THE DAYS BEFORE THE WAR HELD THE POST OF PREMIER.

NO REPORTS FROM RUSSIA TOLD OF STALIN APPEARING IN PUBLIC ANYWHERE YESTERDAY ON THE HOLIDAY CELEBRATING THE TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE STALIN-SPONSORED SOVIET CONSTITUTION. THE REPORTS SAID, HOWEVER, THAT STALIN'S PICTURE--A PICTURE TAKEN A YEAR AGO--WAS WIDELY DISPLAYED.

WEDNESDAY HE FAILED TO ATTEND A DINNER FOR CZECHOSLOVAK OFFICIALS VISITING MOSCOW.

PARIS, DEC.6-(AP)-L'ETOILE DU SOIR, A NEWSPAPER KNOWN TO BE CLOSE TO THE ENTOURAGE OF GEN.CHARLES DE GAULLE, SAID TODAY DE GAULLE WAS REPORTED TO HAVE MET WITH FORMER PREMIER EDOUARD HERROIT, RADICAL SOCIALIST LEADER, "FOR THE PURPOSE OF FINDING A QUICK SOLUTION TO THE POLITICAL CRISIS."

THE REPORT WAS PUBLISHED AS FRANCE REMAINED WITHOUT A PREMIER AFTER THE NEW NATIONAL ASSEMBLY TWICE FAILED TO ELECT ONE. OUTGOING PRESIDENT GEORGES BIDAULT OF THE M.R.P. (POPULAR REPUBLICAN MOVEMENT) FAILED TO BE REELECTED YESTERDAY, AND COMMUNIST LEADER MAURICE THOREZ FAILED TO GET A MAJORITY THE DAY BEFORE.

L'ETOILE'S REPORT GAVE RISE TO CONJECTURES OF A POSSIBLE ARRANGEMENT WHEREBY THE MIDDLE-OF-THE-ROAD RADICAL SOCIALISTS, WHO HOLD THE BALANCE IN FRANCE'S DELICATELY POISED MULTI-PARTY SETUP, MIGHT CONSENT TO SUPPORT OR EVEN OFFER FROM THEIR RANKS A COMPROMISE CANDIDATE FOR THE INTERIM PREMIERSHIP.

L'ETOILE, CONSIDERED A RIGHT-OF-CENTER ORGAN, ATTRIBUTED ITS REPORT OF THE DE GAULLE-HERRIOT CONFERENCE TO "A YOUNG CONSERVATIVE DEPUTY." THIS SOURCE WAS QUOTED AS SAYING HERRIOT AND DE GAULLE HAD MET TO PATCH UP "THE MISUNDERSTANDING WHICH HAD ARISEN BETWEEN THEM IN THE FIRST MONTHS OF FRANCE'S LIBERATION.

HONOLULU,DEC. 6-(AP)-THE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY TOMORROW OF THE JAPANESE ATTACK ON PEARL HARBOR FINDS THE STRIDENT NOTE OF THE WAR YEARS GONE BUT HONOLULU STILL BURSTING WITH GROWING PAINS.

BUSINESS BUILDINGS BURGEON EVERYWHERE. STREETS HUM WITH TRAFFIC AND THRONGS OF SHOPPERS. MORE THAN HALF THE TERRITORY'S POPULATION CROWDS THE CAPITAL CITY.

TWELVE MONTHS MORE OF PEACE HAVE SPREAD A MANTLE OF QUIET OVER MILITARY AND NAVAL ACTIVITIES.

THIS IS DEMONSTRATED BY A FEW COMPARISONS WITH A YEAR AGO: THEN 600 WARSHIPS OF ALL CLASSES FILLED PEARL HARBOR; NOW THERE ARE ONLY TEN, MOSTLY SUBMARINES.

THEN THE NAVAL GARRISON NUMBERED 68,000 PERMANENT PERSONNEL AND 13,500 TRANSIENTS. TODAY IT NUMBERS 14,500 AND 800 TRANSIENTS. THE ARMY DECLINED TO RELEASE COMPARABLE FIGURES.

A YEAR AGO THE GREAT HOMEWARD MOVEMENT OF TROOPS FROM THE PACIFIC WAS AT FLOODTIDE, WITH TENS OF THOUSANDS FUNNELING THROUGH HAWAII. SINCE THEN 1,147,000 NAVY MEN AND 1,600,000 ARMY TROOPS HAVE BEEN RETURNED TO THE MAINLAND AND THE NAVY HAS DISBANDED ITS "MAGIC CARPET" FLEET WHICH CARRIED THE BOYS HOME.

THERE STILL IS A GROUNDSWELL OF ACTIVITY AND A BOOMTOWN AIR IN HONOLULU, BUT IT IS THE BUSTLE OF PEACE.

Russ Give Green Light On Austria

Great Britain proposes that an inspection agency be set up by the Security Council to verify troop-census reports. [Page 4.]

DAY

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov agreed without debate today that the Foreign Ministers Council should begin work on an Austrian settlement at its next meeting in Europe. He stoutly opposed a British-American-French demand that a commission of deputies be named now to hold hearings on a German peace treaty prior to the European Conference.

As the Big Four began consideration of a German peace settlement, Secretary of State Byrnes tossed a completely new issue into the session by proposing a great-power agreement for the limitation of all occupation armies in Europe. There was no immediate reaction from the others to this proposition.

Limiting Of Forces

Byrnes called for limiting forces as of April 1, 1947, with a further reduction of one fourth to one third by April 1, 1948. He declared that this system would be subject to any earlier withdrawal from Austria, Hungary and Romania as might be required by an Austrian treaty.

Byrnes proposed that on next April 1 United States troops in Germany should be cut to 140,000, Russia's to 200,000, Britain's to 140,000 and France's to 70,000.

Diplomats privately expressed hope that experience gained in writing treaties for Italy, the Balkan states and Finland—all now virtually finished—would speed the conferences on Germany and Austria. British and American officials were especially hopeful that the attitude of compromise that has characterized Molotov's recent approach to disputes over the satellite treaties would continue into the work on Germany.

Questions Of Language

Work on the satellite treaties, meanwhile, tapered off to technical questions of language. Last night's session cleaned up several relatively minor points, for example:

1. It was decided that the final treaties, yet to be put into formal diplomatic language, cannot be made ready for signing in less than a month. The signing, therefore, is tentatively fixed for the next meeting of the Foreign Ministers in Europe.

Trieste Costs

2. It was agreed to ask the United Nations to pay salaries and expenses of the governor of international Trieste and his staff and to notify the Security Council formally that it will be responsible for naming the Governor and through him for operating the government.

3. There was some discussion of how to divide among the Allied powers that portion of the Italian fleet, including three battleships, which has been denied to Italy. But for reasons unexplained, the Foreign Ministers clamped a tight secrecy on this, declining even to allow a report as to whether a decision had been reached.

4. It was agreed that Yugoslavia and Italy as states primarily interested in Trieste should have free docking facilities in the free port area and also share with the local administration responsibility for running the railroads.

Connally and Vishinsky Firm in Opposite Views On Supervision

HAROLD

Lake Success, N. Y., Dec. 7—(AP)—The United Nations debate on arms reduction tonight bogged down over the issue of Security Council supervision of two proposed inspection and control commissions and the question was tossed into the laps of a di[illegible] committee.

NIGHT

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet delegate, insisted before a 70-nation political sub-committee that the two bodies, which would check on arms reduction and atom bombs, operate directly under the Security Council with its veto provisions.

Sen. Tom Connally (D-Texas), United States representative, was equally firm in his declaration that the commissions should be independent of the council.

This latest difference boiled down to the old issue of the veto, with the United States apparently feeling that council supervision would eventually make any decisions on inspections subject to the special voting right. Russia has agreed that the veto would not apply within the commissions themselves but has steadfastly maintained its position that any matter being considered or reviewed by the council was liable to veto.

After four hours of debate, the question was given to a drafting committee of eight nations for reporting next Monday. Those named were Russia, United States, Great Britain, France, China, Canada, Belgium and Czechoslovakia.

To Bar Spain

In another political subcommittee delegates failed to agree on a resolution against the Franco regime in Spain but did recommend that the Madrid Government be barred from all organizations established by the U. N. or having relations with it.

In the midst of the Spanish debate, Senator Connally restated the United States position against a diplomatic break with Franco and indicated that his government would not halt relations even if the assembly recommended such a move. Several other delegates immediately assailed the apparent no-compliance stand and Hayden Raynor, another member of the United States delegation, took the floor later to explain that Connally had not meant that the United States would necessarily spurn any assembly decision.

Stalling of progress on the two big issues came as the General Assembly was called into plenary session tonight to decide on a proposal for worldwide troop census.

Russia's four top diplomats were on hand in the Assembly Hall after Britain announced its intention to renew a demand for international inspections to double-check national troop census reports.

Key Diplomats Ready

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov led his delegation to the plenary session at Flushing Meadow Park. With him were his deputy, Andrei Vishinsky; Andrei A. Gromyko, Russia's permanent U. N. delegate, and Nikolai Novikov, Soviet ambassador to Washington.

British sources said they believed that if Molotov threw his support to Britain the troop inspection plan stood a good chance of being accepted by the 54-member Assembly.

While Russia's position was not known beforehand, an American spokesman said the United States would continue to oppose the British plan, which was defeated in committee session last week at Lake Success.

The British proposed to establish an international inspection board which could verify figures submitted by member nations of their armed forces at home and abroad in a world-wide troop inventory.

Both the United States and Russia opposed the original British proposal.

Also before the plenary session was the matter of electing two more members to the Economic and Social Council. Last month the voting was halted after a deadlock developed over Soviet attempts to win seats for Yugoslavia and White Russia. The other two candidates were Turkey and the Netherlands.

The recommendation on Spain was put through the sub-committee now seeking agreement on a final resolution against the Falangist regime. Proposals range all the way from a United States plan to have Franco surrender to a provisional government to White Russia's demand for economic sanctions.

Britain Urges Agency To Check Troop Census

HAROLD

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—Great Britain proposed today that the United Nations Security Council set up an inspection agency to verify reports submitted in connection with a proposed world-wide troop census.

The British proposal was embodied in an amendment that will be offered at tonight's plenary session of the General Assembly. It called for creation of a "supervisory committee" before January 15, 1947, to make an "on-the-spot" check on all troop data submitted.

Earlier Plan

The 54-nation Political Committee of the Assembly defeated a similar British proposal recently when it approved a plan providing that all members of the United Nations submit figures on all their troops both at home and abroad by January 1.

Both the United States and Russia opposed the original British proposal.

The British move was disclosed as an eighteen-nation subcommittee on Spain agreed unanimously to recommend that the Franco regime be barred from all organizations established by the United Nations or having any relationship with it. The United States and the Netherlands abstained from voting.

Organizations Included

Organizations included within the definition laid down were the International Labor Organization, the Food and Agricultural Organization, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and the Provisional International Civil Aviation Organization.

The Madrid Government at present is a member of PICAO and, under an agreement of the organization to abide by Assembly recommendations, would be expelled as soon as the Assembly formally approves the subcommittee's recommendations.

The subcommittee was still debating other action against the Franco Government.

Meanwhile, the Security Council application.

Issue Of Iran

The Iranian question, which the Security Council has been watching for months, was revived yesterday with Iran's informative statement that Russia, through her Tehran Ambassador, had given "friendly admonition" that movement of Iranian troops into Azerbaijan to police elections starting today might "result in disturbances."

The British argue that unless the troop figures are verified by a United Nations commission they will mean very little. There was a feeling in the British delegation that Russia would not now object to the verification system.

There was general optimism that the subcommittee on arms reduction would approve the United States proposals for disarmament. Delegates believed that the toughest section of the proposals was hurdled yesterday when a provision for expediting a draft convention for prohibition of atomic weapons and all other weapons of mass destruction was adopted unanimously.

Control System

The convention also calls for establishing an adequate system of international control and inspection free from use of the veto invested in the Security Council. Russia agreed on these issues yesterday.

Members of the British delegation said that Russia's agreement that authority for prohibition of all destructive weapons and controls lie within the convention rather than the Security Council was a major step toward real disarmament.

Authoritative sources said that Sir Harley Shawcross, British delegate, might suggest that, once the draft convention has been drawn up, it come into operation when ratified by the Big Five plus a majority of the other United Nations members.

Lake Success, N. Y., Dec. 7—(AP)—For the first time in international meetings the delegates have had to consider here at the United Nations Assembly the well-being of the world's millions who have no governments of their own.

Those millions for the most part are brown and yellow peoples. Their spokesmen here are Carlos Romulo of the Philippines, Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit of India and V. K. Wellington Koo of China.

The steps taken here are more than a reversal of the old League of Nations attitude, dominated by European colonial powers, which permitted Ethiopia and Manchuria to be swamped by invasions without intervention. Indications point to final independent action for such areas as Burma, Malaya, Indonesia and Indo-China, among others, which together mean 114 million people.

The discussions have led to all manner of speculation among the delegates about the future world. The Far East is rich in tea, tin, spices, tung oil (needed in paint), bristles, (for brushes), jute (for rope).

Will the new world in the Far East—still admittedly far off—mean higher or lower prices for American buyers of tin, spice, rubber? No one here knows.

If new independence in the Far East means more wealth there, will they be seeking—as they say now—more American autos, adding machines, machine tools, and plain consumers goods, such as radios and typewriters?

Here are some of the steps taken which point to final emergence of the brown and yellow peoples as independent agents.

1. The Union of South Africa asked for permission to annex Southwest Africa with a population of about 40,000 native Africans. The Union was supported by the colonial powers of Europe but violently opposed by nations which have known foreign rule: India, the Philippines, some of the Arab states, and by Russia, which would benefit by any loss of prestige on the part of Western European powers.

Rejection Anticipated

The subcommittee which first discussed the request of the Union of South Africa turned it down. It still had to take two more jumps but the guess is that the government of the Union, dominated by minority White men, will be disappointed in its move to take in the 40,000 more Africans.

2. The second move also involved the Union of South Africa: India's request for a United Nations reprimand for the Union's alleged discriminations against its Indian citizens. The committee debating this question decided that India and the Union should confer and report back to the U. N. General Assembly within a year. The move prevents undue delay.

The first proposal had been to refer the question to the International Court of Justice; the Far Eastern delegates interpreted this as a move to put the question "on ice," as Carlos Romulo of the Philippines said. The Far Eastern people judge the year's lee-way for debate as a victory.

3. Romulo introduced a proposal that the colonial powers call a conference of the "non-self-governing people." That would mean Burmese, Malayans, Indo-Chinese and Indonesians would attend an international meeting where they could voice their "aspirations and grievances," as Romulo puts it. Up to now those peoples have been represented at international conferences by their governing powers: The British, the French and the Dutch.

That proposal was fought by Belgium, France, the Netherlands and the United Kingdom. They opposed even discussion of the idea by the Assembly. They lost. The debate grew so bitter that Sir Hartley Shawcross of the United Kingdom charged Romulo with "corridor intrigue," but later apologized, saying that he knew Romulo was "animated by the most noble intentions."

Romulo's idea won in committee, slightly watered down. He agreed to make the first conference just a regional one, presumably for the Far East. The Slavs and the Arabs wanted a world conference.

These views shall be heard and considered by the deputies prior to any tentative decisions by the Foreign Ministers. Such hearings shall be preliminary to such subsequent consultation with these States as may be determined by the Council of Foreign Ministers.

III. The Allied Control Authority shall be asked to submit a report to the Council of Foreign Ministers at its next meeting on the following questions: (a) the form and scope of a provisional German government and (b) the establishment of central agencies and other problems connected with the economic and political future of Germany under quadripartite government.

(8) Other agreed items.

II. PEACE TREATY WITH AUSTRIA

I—Special Deputies of the Council of Foreign Ministers shall be appointed for Austria.

II—These Special Deputies shall draft a treaty for presentation to the Foreign Ministers recognizing the independence of Austria. When properly applicable this treaty shall follow the provisions agreed upon in the Balkan draft peace treaties. In drafting the Austrian treaty consideration shall be given to the proposals already submitted by the American and British Governments as well as any further proposals which may be submitted by other members of the Council of Foreign Ministers.

III—The report of these Deputies for Austria shall be considered at the next meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers. Particular attention shall be given to the problem of German assets in Austria in so far as the Special Deputies are unable to resolve it.

IV—Pending conclusion of the treaty recognizing the independence of Austria, the occupation forces of each of the four occupying powers shall be limited to a maximum of 10,000 each.

III. LIMITATION OF EUROPEAN OCCUPATIONAL FORCES

The approaching conclusion of treaties with the ex-satellite states calls for a consideration of the number and location of Allied occupation forces in Europe.

To further our common objective of restoring conditions of peace, it is proposed that agreed ceilings be placed upon the number of Allied occupation troops which may be retained in European countries after the conclusion of the treaties with the ex-satellite states.

For study and consideration by the Council the following ceilings are suggested for forces as of April 1, 1947, with the understanding that such ceilings will in the absence of unforeseen difficulties be reduced by 25 to 33 1-3 per cent by April 1, 1948. This is subject to such earlier withdrawal from Austria, Hungary and Rumania as may be required by the Austrian treaty.

Germany (Allied occupation): United States, 140,000; United Kingdom, 140,000; France, 70,000 (approximate existing forces not subject to reduction in 1948); Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, 200,000.

Poland (protection of communication lines): Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, 20,000.

Austria (aid for re-establishment of independence): United States, United Kingdom, France and Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, 10,000 each.

Hungary (protection of communication lines pending Austrian treaty): Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, 5,000.

Rumania (protection of communication lines pending Austrian treaty): Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, 5,000.

(5) Liquidation of Prussia (A question from the Control Council).

(6) Report by the Committee of Coal Experts (The decision of the Council of Ministers of July 12 this year).

(c) To request the Control Council to submit to the Council of Foreign Ministers two weeks before the opening of the session a report of its activities provided for in the agenda.

London, Dec. 7 (AP)—London newspapers today carried front-page speculative stories from Washington, Copenhagen and other capitals on Prime Minister Stalin's health and whereabouts.

A Moscow dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Eddy Gilmore said yesterday he was informed that "there is no basis for reports published in Turkey that Generalissimo Stalin is 'seriously ill.'"

["Stalin is taking a vacation just as he took a vacation at this time last year," Gilmore wrote.]

Radio Omits Name

Sochi, a favorite Black Sea coast resort of Soviet leaders, has been mentioned as the site of Stalin's reported holiday.

Meanwhile, a new point raised here was a report that a deputy signed a new trade agreement with Finland this week on behalf of Minister of Foreign Trade A. I. Mikoyan. It was said this might mean that that long-time associate of Stalin might be away from Moscow with his chief.

The Moscow radio reported the observance of still another Soviet anniversary without mentioning Stalin.

Noting that yesterday was the fifth anniversary of the Soviet counteroffensive that threw the Germans back from the gates of Moscow, the radio omitted any mention of Stalin and said only that Col. Gen. Filip I. Golikov, a commander before Moscow, gave a radio review of the battle.

Europe Hails Ending Of Miners' Strike As She Awaits Exports

London, Dec. 7 (AP)—The end of the U. S. coal strike heartened Europe tonight. The walkout had all but sealed off exports of food, fuel and machinery vital to the economic recovery of a continent ravaged by war.

In Britain the strike had brought official warning of an impending cut in food rations, still as skimpy as in the days of fighting. In Germany, where thousands subsist on what many experts say is a "slow starvation" diet, it had stirred fears of even shorter rations.

Rumors Of Stalin Illness Stir World Capitals

Roosevelts Greeted By Soviets at Tiflis

London, Dec. 7 (A. P.).—Elliott Roosevelt and his wife have visited Tiflis, capital of the Georgian Republic, the Moscow radio said. A broadcast reported they were greeted on their arrival there Thursday by high Soviet officials.

FRENCH ELECTORS TO PICK MEMBERS OF UPPER HOUSE

Paris, Dec. 7—(AP)—France will begin the final stages of setting up the legislative branches of the Fourth Republic tomorrow when 85,000 electors gather in small electoral colleges throughout France to vote for members of the Parliament's upper house.

Overshadowing the elections, however, is the current cabinet crisis which finds the country without an interim government to carry on until mid-January, when a president will be elected and a premier chosen.

Socialist Vincent Auriol continued to negotiate with party leaders. He and Eduoard Herriot, Radical-Socialist leader, appeared to be the most likely candidates for the job to which both Communist Maurice Thorez and MRP Leader Georges Bidault failed to get elected in the past week.

9 French Collaborators Are Sentenced to Death

Court at Lille Condemns 15 Others to Prison Terms

LILLE, France, Dec. 7 (AP).—Nine persons were condemned to death and fifteen others were sentenced to prison terms today at the end of a trial of "The Brigade of the Angels," a collaborationist group charged with informing to the Gestapo about activities of patriotic Frenchmen during the German occupation. Among those convicted was Madeleine de Miellulle, Comtesse de Rouge, who was sentenced to twenty years at hard labor.

War Captives Strike in France

PARIS, Dec. 7 (AP)—More than 1,000 prisoners of war working in the Valenciennes area coal mines went on strike today. They asserted they were receiving insufficient food. The newspaper Libération said some were put back in prison camps and leaders of the strike were jailed.

French Singer Convicted

ORLEANS, France, Dec. 7 (AP)—Germaine Lubin, 56 years old, blonde opera singer, was sentenced today to national indignity for life. The French High Court of Justice convicted her of having collaborated with the enemy during the Nazi occupation. Her property was also ordered confiscated, and she was forbidden to live in the vicinity of Paris or in the department in which she was convicted for twenty years.

Dr. Huxley Heads U.N. Culture Unit

Paris, Dec. 7 (AP)—Dr. Julian Huxley, British scientist, was inaugurated today as director-general of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, taking over the gavel from Leon Blum, of France, temporary chairman.

Huxley said that the inauguration marked the end of the UNESCO Preparatory Commission, which he had directed for the last nine months, and the beginning of a permanent education program.

American delegation sources said they would probably go along with the proposal for the United States to pay 37 per cent of the cost of UNESCO, in line with the United Nations decision in New York. They added, however, that Russia's share of seven per cent, as provided by the United Nations, would have to be divided among other nations, since Russia is not a member of UNESCO.

NUREMBERG CHIEF REMOVED BY ARMY

Colonel Andrus Is Replaced —New Commandant Takes Extra Safety Measures

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Dec. 7 (AP)—The United States Army announced today that it had streamlined its security measures in the Nuremberg jail and had removed as commandant Col. B. C. Andrus, whose elaborate precautions went wrong when Hermann Goering cheated the gallows by having swallowed a vial of long-hidden poison.

The streamlining was undertaken to guard seven of Nazis awaiting trial in the series of war crimes cases to be aired before United States tribunals, the Army said.

Colonel Andrus has been succeeded by Maj. Frederick C. Teich of Macon, Ga., previously Colonel Andrus' assistant. Colonel Andrus has returned to the United States, joining his wife who is ill in a Denver, Col., hospital, and it is "not known" whether he will return to Germany, a Nuremberg spokesman said.

Trials Start Tomorrow

The first of the new series of war crimes trials to be conducted by the Americans will open Monday with the appearance of twenty-three Nazi doctors, among them Karl Brandt, former personal physician to Adolf Hitler. They have pleaded innocent to charges of murdering hundreds of thousands of concentration camp inmates in cruel medical experiments.

Meanwhile United States legal officials in Nuremberg announced that Alfried Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, 39-year-old head of the former Krupp munitions empire, would be tried before a military tribunal on war crimes charges. He is being held in the British zone. Authorities there have agreed to transfer him to United States custody, the officials said.

The officials added that there was no plan at present to try Alfried's ailing father, Gustav, who was named in the four-power indictment of Goering and the other top Nazis, but whose trial was canceled when he became critically ill.

Alfried Krupp May Face Trial

Previously it had been reported that the British and Americans had agreed to try Alfried, who took over the Krupp empire in 1943, but the final decision to give him to a United States tribunal was not announced until today.

The officials indicated that he might be the first of prominent German industrialists accused of having aided Hitler's rise to power and having supported the Nazi regime to be tried on war crimes charges.

Most of the defendants now being held in Nuremberg, including industrialists and militarists, are being kept in solitary confinement in cells 13½ feet long, 7 feet wide and 8 feet high.

Major Teich expects to keep the furniture in the cells limited to a table, bunk, sheets and pillow, and will permit prisoners to keep only the clothes they wear plus an outer garment. Shoestrings will be limited to 6 inches in length and belts and ties will be banned.

Families of the prisoners will not be permitted to visit them, the Army said.

Army's Nuernberg Jail Chief Ousted

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 7 (AP)—The United States Army announced today that Col. Burton C. Andrus had been removed as commandant of the Nuernberg prison and that it had revised security measures at the famous jail preparatory to the opening of new war-crime trials.

Andrus was commandant of the prison during the trial of the 21 top Nazi leaders and at the time Hermann Goering cheated the gallows by his eleventh-hour suicide.

The Army said Andrus's post had been taken over early this week by Major Frederic C. Teich, previously Andrus's assistant.

Scores of high Nazis now are in the jail awaiting the new trials, the first of which is to begin Monday.

Wife Reported Ill

The Army said Andrus had returned to the United States. Spokesmen at Nuernberg said he had followed his sick wife to a hospital in Denver, Col., and that it was "not known" whether he would return to Germany.

His successor, Teich, is a resident of Macon, Ga.

Soldier-Prisoner Kills 1, Wounds 2

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 7 (AP)—Third Army headquarters announced today that a United States colored soldier prisoner, bent on killing his superiors, grabbed a carbine from a guard and fatally shot his top sergeant, wounded two other sergeants and fired a volley of bullets into the office of his commanding officer.

The dead sergeant was identified as James Clinch, of Lincoln, Neb.

The defendant, who was recaptured after being wounded twice while attempting to escape in a commandeered truck, was identified by the provost marshal as Private L. Z. Henderson, of San Antonio, Texas.

Six Months' Sentence

The provost marshal said Henderson had just been sentenced by a Mannheim military court to six months' imprisonment for unauthorized use of an army vehicle. The defendant grabbed the gun and began a wild outburst of shooting while he hunted for his top sergeant and commanding officer.

The army announcement gave this version of the affray:

Henderson, shouting threats, rushed off in search of his first sergeant, a Negro, and his company commander. Finding the first sergeant outside the orderly room of the trucking unit, the defendant killed him with three shots.

Opened Fire On Sergeants

Henderson then opened fire on two Negro sergeants who tried to block his way into the company commander's office. They were identified as Howard L. Dugger, of Princeton, N.J., and Russell Pickard, of Reidsville, N.C. Both were wounded, although not critically.

Captain Not Hit

The company commander bolted his office door, so Henderson ran outside and began firing wildly into the window. The captain was not hit.

His ammunition nearly expended, Henderson commandeered a nearby truck and crashed through a barrier at the camp exit, firing his remaining shots at guards at the gate.

The guards escaped without injury, and returned eleven shots, wounding Henderson in both shoulders. He was arrested when he stopped for medical attention.

Trial Of Krupp's Son To Be In U.S. Zone

Nuernberg, Dec. 7 (AP)—United States legal officials said today that Alfred Krupp von Bolen und Halbach, son of the head of the Krupp industrial and armament empire, would be tried on war-crime charges before an American military tribunal.

The officials said British authorities had agreed to transfer Krupp, under arrest in the British Zone, to the American Zone.

There are no plans at present to try his father, Gustav, because he is seriously ill. The elder Krupp was scheduled to be tried with other top-ranking Nazis in the original international war-crime trials here, but his case was withdrawn because of his illness.

Candidate Under Scrutiny

MUNICH, Dec. 7 (AP)—The American Military Government served notice today on the victorious Christian Social Union party in Bavaria that Joseph Mueller, the party choice for Minister President, faces possible prosecution under the zone's de-Nazification law.

The props were knocked from under Mueller as a candidate in a suddenly summoned conference of the C. S. U.'s leaders with Brigadier General Walter J. Muller, American Military Government director. The C. S. U. candidate has been under scrutiny for some time because of opposition party charges that he had been associated with or had helped high Nazis in the past.

General Muller informed the party leaders that since Mueller was being considered for Minister President of Bavaria to succeed Social Democrat Wilhelm Hoegner by virtue of the C. S. U. victory in last Sunday's elections, it was necessary to point out that there was uncertainty concerning his status under the de-Nazification law and that action may become necessary.

Mueller himself attended the conference, along with the leaders of the C. S. U.'s Left and Right wings.

Lodge Ends Tour of Germany

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Dec. 7 (AP)—Senator-elect Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts completed today a tour of Germany, in which he sought first-hand information on problems that might come before the next session of Congress. He declined to discuss his findings, based on discussions with high Army and Military Government officials.

Copenhagen Rejoices At End Of Coal Strike

Copenhagen, Dec. 7 (AP)—Gloom gave way to rejoicing in Denmark tonight as first reports were received of the ending of the United States coal strike.

Danish newspapers gave top headlines to the American news and Danes, already greatly restricted as to the use of coal and fearful of one of the bleakest winters in history, stopped strangers on the streets of Copenhagen to discuss the welcome tidings.

Montgomery Is in Austria

VIENNA, Dec. 7 (Reuters)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein, chief of the British Imperial General Staff, arrived at British Army headquarters in Austria from Trieste last night and was met at the zonal frontier by Lieut. Gen. Sir James Steele, British commander in chief.

Ridiculous, Says Greece

Athens, Dec. 7 (AP)—A Moscow radio report that Greek troops were in the Anglo-Iranian oil fields was termed by a Greek official as "too comic to need denial."

Stephen Stephanopoulos, acting Minister of Foreign Affairs, added, "Greece, striving to increase military forces for border security, cannot spare a single soldier to send to other countries."

Food Riot In Budapest

Budapest, Dec. 7 (AP)—A mob of about 5,000, most of them slogan-shouting women, stormed the parliament building yesterday, broke down the main doors and trampled one another in an hour-long demonstration against the shortage of eggs, potatoes and flour. Seven were injured, two of them seriously.

Fifteen-year-old Margit Kiss, who fainted during the demonstration, told doctors and correspondents she had been warned by a workers' committee that she would either participate in the demonstration or lose a month's salary. She works for the municipal gardening office.

Greeks Report Guerrillas Driven Back to Bulgaria

32 Missing in 24-Hour Battle; Band Loots 10 Villages

ATHENS, Dec. 7 (AP)—Guerrillas, striking at Corymvos, Greece, eighteen miles from the Turkish border, were said in press reports today to have been "driven back across the Bulgarian border" to the north. Thirty Greek soldiers and two officers were reported missing in a twenty-four-hour see-saw battle.

Elsewhere in Thrace, Macedonia and Thessaly small army units continued to claim successes in mopping up Leftist bands. In the Kozane-Phlorina area, however, a hit-run band was said to have looted ten villages in forty-eight hours. No casualties were reported.

A Salonika press report said thirty-three civilian occupants of three military trucks were "kidnaped" by a band of Koftero, near Xanthe in Thrace.

PREPARATIONS FOR IRAN VOTE BRING CLASHES

Martial Law Is Ordered in Mazandaran for Two-Week Period

Tehran, Dec. 7—(AP) The Iran Government clamped martial law and a curfew on most of the principal cities and towns of the Caspian Province of Mazandaran today as the country entered a peril-fraught two-week election period in which delicately balanced relations with Russia and the western powers again seemed in crisis.

Army Chief of Staff Rezmara announced the action in a communique which said clashes between armed groups and citizens had taken place, and Tehran newspapers reported that members of the pro-Soviet Tudeh Party had been found with arms after the disturbance.

Already minor clashes between Government troops and Azerbaijan militia have taken place along the borders of the nearby province of Azerbaijan, whose present "Democrat" government is a direct descendant of the revolt of a year ago when Russian troops were occupying the area.

Moscow Reports Clashes

(The Moscow radio said Iranian troops attached the village of Razhein with tanks, artillery and mortars and said new clashes had taken place at Ardebil, 35 miles from the Caspian Sea in the northwest Azerbaijan area. The broadcast did not locate Razhein.

(Moscow broadcasts, quoting Iran newspapers, alleged a long list of attack and persecutions of trade unionists and "Peoples Party" members by gendarms and pro-government Democratic Party "ruffians" in Mazandaran.)

Like Azerbaijan, Mazandaran supposedly is rich in oil and other resources, was once occupied by the Russians and has been the scene of much Tudeh Party activity.

In the clashes along the Azerbaijan border the Government captured the village of Rejin three days ago, and the newspaper Etelaat reported today that the village of Aghkand also had been taken from the Azerbaijans.

Object To Supervision

This conflict arose directly from Premier Ahmed Qavam's announced intention of sending troops to all parts of Iran in order to hold elections under national supervision on five days in the two-week period beginning today. The precise days of the election have not been announced.

The Azerbaijans, contending their own militia was capable of supervising the elections in their own territory, have refused to admit the Government troops and have announced they will fight.

Qavam is out to capture a parliamentary majority for his newly organized Democrat Party of Iran, while the Azerbaijan leftists apparently feel the entry of Government troops into their province would be an opening wedge to drive them from power and perhaps into exile.

Although the province recognized the authority of the central government last June after several months of self-declared autonomy, the government has been able to exercise very little control in the area.

The government's informative report to the United Nations' Security Council in New York yesterday alleged that Russia again had intervened in her internal affairs by sending her ambassador to Qavam to advise against sending troops to Azerbaijan.

There appered no direct indication that Russia would give direct or open support to the Azerbaijan shoul dcivil war break out, but it was obvious where Russian sympathies lay.

Complicating the picture is Qavam's promise to Russia of a large oil concession in northern Iran, including Azerbaijan. The new Parliament to be chosen in the current election period has to approve or disapprove that concession.

Qavam is represented as believing that Russia should have a concession in the north to balance Britain's interests in the large southern oil fields.

Although Qavam took office with a reputation as a Leftist, he appears to be moving away from that position, and six weeks ago ousted three Tudeh party members from his Cabinet.

Recently the Leftist press has been attacking what it terms American imperialism in Iran in what some observers believe is an effort to embarrass the United States should the Iran case again be reopened actively before the United Nations Security Council.

Iran Strife Extends To Caspian Sea

Tehran, Dec. 7 (AP)—Iranian Army Headquarters announced today that martial law and a curfew had been extended to include most of the principal cities and towns in Mazandaran province.

Mazandaran is in northern Iran, bordering on the Caspian Sea, and is within about 150 miles of semi-autonomous Azerbaijan province.

The action, taken on the first day of national voting which will continue for the next two weeks, was announced in a communique following reports of clashes between armed groups and residents of Mazandaran.

Links Pro-Russian Party

Tehran newspapers said that arms were found in the possession of some members of the pro-Russian Tudeh party, after the disturbances.

The Tehran newspaper Estelaat, indicating that fighting had broken out in Azerbaijan, said Government forces had captured the villages of Rejin and Aghkand from Azerbaijan "Democrats." The villages are on the southern Azerbaijan border.

[The Russian news agency Tass reported that Iran government troops had entered Azerbaijan and attacked Azerbaijan soldiers.]

Iran military circles denied a report broadcast by Moscow that Greek troops were in Iran at the invitation of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company and were "busy with espionage." The Iranian officials said such talk was "pure invention."

Authoritative circles in Tehran said earlier that Russia was stiffening her opposition to the movement of government forces into Azerbaijan and had warned Prime Minister Ahmed Qavam that the Russian government could not ignore such action.

Qavam had announced earlier troops would be sent to all Iranian provinces to supervise the elections, scheduled for the two weeks beginning tomorrow.

Azerbaijan, which last June recognized the central goverment's authority in return for a measure of home rule, has declared that it is able to supervise its own polling and will fight against intervention.

India Group To Meet With Moslems Absent

New Delhi, Dec. 7 (AP)—India's Constituent Assembly will meet Monday with the 70-odd Moslem seats vacant despite Britain's flat warning that a constitution written without them will not be recognized—and the day of Indian independence thereby postponed.

There were unconfirmed reports, however, that the Moslem League Council would be called into session next month to revoke its Bombay resolution of several months ago which withdrew acceptance of the British plan for independence.

Revocation would remove the league's boycott of the assembly and permit it to participate in the actual constitution writing after the preliminaries of the convention. It was this boycott which precipitated the crisis and resulted in the summoning of India's top political leaders to an apparently fruitless London conference with Prime Minister Attlee.

Siam Yielding Two Provinces

Bangkok, Siam, Dec. 7 (AP)—French officials will take over formally from Siam tomorrow the administration of two disputed provinces, Phratabong and Phibunsongkram, on the Indo-China border. The return of two other provinces, Lanchang and Champasak, has been delayed ten days for lack of communications.

China Reds Close In On Shansi City

Peiping, Dec. 7 (AP)—Chinese Communists, ferociously attacking Chungyang in Shansi province for the eighth straight day, closed in on its weakening defenses today. Government military authorities conceded its fall was imminent.

Taiyuan, the provincial capital, reported that 20,000 Communists were engaged in the attack and had destroped most of the pillboxes and blockhouses outside the city's walls.

The capture of Chungyang would open the corridor to Fengyang, the Communists' next objective, 18 miles west. Their main objective is Taiyuan, 27 miles further west.

Tatung Awaits Attack

Farther north, a large Communist force surrounded Tatung. Neutral observers just returned from Tatung said the city's defenders, outnumbered five to one, expected an attack momentarily.

Government authorities here expressed concern over increasing Communist activities against the Peiping-Tientsin Railroad, which has been attacked several times recently. Several trains were destroyed.

Government officials forecast that Communist Gen. Lin Piao would begin a winter offensive in Manchuria in a few days. They said he had massed 100,000 to 150,000 troops on the north bank of the Sungari River, poised to strike at Changchun, the Manchurian capital 65 miles south.

CHINESE REDS PUSH CONTINUES IN SHANSI

NANKING, Dec. 7 (AP)—Government military authorities said today that Chinese Communist forces were sweeping over Shansi province in North China and were preparing to open a new offensive in Manchuria within a few days.

The Government Central Daily News said 20,000 Communists were besieging Chungyang, 110 miles northeast of Yenan, the Communist capital. Government sources predicted the Communists would capture the city in a day or two.

The Central Daily News charged the Communists were using poison gas on the garrison but the Yenan radio immediately broadcast a denial, calling the report "pure fabrication."

The fall of Chungyang would give the attackers an open field to Fengyang, their next apparent objective, eighteen miles distant. Their evident ultimate goal is Taiyuan, Shansi provincial capital, eighty miles northeast of Chungyang.

Blasts Rock Shanghai; Expected To Continue

Shanghai, Dec. 7 (AP)—Explosions from a large Chinese Army ammunition dump, touched off early this afternoon by a carelessly dropped hand grenade, still rocked the outskirts of Shanghai tonight. Authorities expected the detonations to continue for a day or two.

The Shanghai police commissioner and garrison commander in charge said a Chinese soldier had dropped the hand grenade accidentally.

The fire brigade found operations near the scene too dangerous. Authorities said several huge air bombs, not yet exploded, were expected to go off at any time. The fire spread to several terraces of houses.

Casualties Not Yet Known

All personnel of the United States Air Transport Command at near-by Kiangwan airfield were evacuated from headquarters and other buildings. Planes on the field earlier were reported undamaged.

There was no indication how many Chinese were killed or injured, but it was feared some must have perished. Some Chinese, blood streaming from their injuries, raced from the walled compound enclosing the dump shortly after the explosions began.

Portions of the walls collapsed.

Thousands of Chinese living near the dump fled in fear from their homes.

Fears Of Civil War

The explosions could be heard throughout Shanghai, causing instant fears that a civil war battle might be developing. Today's explosion sounded sinister to residents who were here when the Japanese fought to the city's edge in 1932 and again in 1937.

Thousands of windows near the dump were shattered and others miles from the scene were rattled.

Empress Aids Japan Red Cross

TOKYO, Dec. 7 (AP).—Empress Nagako will become honorary president of the Japan Red Cross Society on Tuesday, marking the first time a Japanese empress has accepted such an office.

Laborites Win Final New Zealand Count

Auckland, N. Z., Dec. 7 (A. P.).—Final returns from New Zealand's general elections showed today that Prime Minister Peter Fraser's labor Government had retained a narrow majority in Parliament, winning forty-two of the eighty seats. The National Opposition party captured all of the remaining thirty-eight seats.

The election was held on November 27, but the final count was delayed pending tabulation of absentee votes.

RED STAR ASSAILED FOR ATTACK ON U. S.

TOKYO, Sunday, Dec. 8 (AP)—A high supreme headquarters official accused the Soviet Army newspaper Red Star today of "ill-considered propaganda" that "does not further Allied objectives" in Japan.

The "high headquarters official," not otherwise identified, issued a statement declaring that an article in Red Star was "a fabrication of misstatement and misrepresentation" and added that the article's criticism of "aggressive American quarters" was "not worthy of comment."

In reply to the article's allegation that Gen. Douglas MacArthur was supporting "the reactionary policy of the present Japanese Government," the official said:

"It is patent to any observer who seeks the facts that the Soviet press allegations that SCAP (Supreme Command, Allied Powers) is supporting a particular Government is without basis.

As for Red Star's assertion that the Americans would like to turn the Allied Council for Japan into a "cumbersome, clumsy organ," the official declared:

"The council was not intended to be an investigative or inquisitory body. Nor was it intended to be misused as a springboard for propaganda such as that in Red Star, which appears ignorant of the essentials of democracy to which the Japanese people, having repudiated totalitarianism of any kind, are hopefully turning their faces."

6,127 Return To Japan

Sasebo, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Eitoku Maru today brought 6,127 Japanese repatriates from Dairen, Manchuria.

Pearl Harbor: Five Years After

By Douglas Lovelace

Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7 (AP)—The "day that will live in infamy" lives again today.

Five years ago the flag flew from Hickam Field when the Japanese came over. It still flew—torn and seared by shot—when the last bomber wing-tipped with the Rising Sun vanished beyond the horizon.

Today, at 7.55 A.M., the hour when the first bomb fell, the same scarred banner, bronzed by the smoke and flame of the day of infamy, was raised to the top of the staff at that same army airbase.

Speech By Governor

Soldiers and civilians who came through the storm of bombs and machine-gun fire that struck Hickam Field stood in review as massed troops passed by.

There were speeches by Gov. Ingram M. Stainback, Lieut. Gen. John E. Hull, commanding general of the mid-Pacific, and Brig. Gen. John G. Williams, who commands the Hawaii Air Material Area.

At the end of the ceremony there was a moment of silence, then taps—and that was all. Then there was a requiem high mass at the Cathedral of Our Lady of Peace.

The flag will be packed and flown back to Washington, whence it came to perform its proud task at the order of Gen. Carl Spaatz, commander of the Army Air Forces.

Close by the field lies Pearl Harbor, where two victims of the day of infamy still sprawl. They are the last unhappy reminders.

The waves wash the hulls of the battleship Arizona and the target ship Utah. The Arizona, buttressed now with concrete where she sank, may be built into a pier.

Oklahoma At Anchor

The old battleship Oklahoma, another sea giant stricken on the day of infamy, rides at anchor in the near-by estuary, stripped of all armament, its hull now sold for scrap.

The Japanese caught the bulk of America's Pacific power in Pearl Harbor on the day of infamy, but no foe of the future will ever be so fortunate again.

The Navy announced recently that henceforth it will never concentrate its might in Pearl Harbor or anywhere else.

And so the great base, which was crowded with battlewagons on that fateful morning, is almost empty now.

Only A Few Submarines

Today there are no battleships, no cruisers, not even destroyers in the harbor. There are a few submarines, that is all.

The Navy learned its lesson on that day, but it now wants to forget. It let the day pass without ceremony, recalling that its dead are honored on Memorial Day.

As one officer put it: The Navy wants to forget—not remember Pearl Harbor.

Snyder in Mexican Talks

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 7 (AP).—The Mexican Treasury Department said last night that John W. Snyder, American Secretary of the Treasury, had "exchanged impressions with President Miguel Aleman and Mexican Treasury representatives on the possibilities of a more ample economic co-operation between the two countries." Snyder, who attended Aleman's inauguration here last Sunday, departed yesterday for Washington.

Canada Acquits Dr. Shugar

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 (AP).—Dr. David Shugar, thirty-one, a former anti-submarine expert, was acquitted today of a charge of conspiracy to communicate secret and confidential information to the Soviet Union. He was the thirteenth defendant tried as a result of Canada's espionage investigation.

BEVIN IS IN WASHINGTON

Will Confer With President and Talk to British Staff

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Bevin arrived in Washington tonight for a brief visit which will include a meeting tomorrow morning with President Truman.

Accompanied by Mrs. Bevin, Mr. Bevin came by train from New York and was met by Lord Inverchapel, Britain's Ambassador to the United States, and J. Balfour, Lord Inverchapel's first assistant.

Mr. Bevin will stay at the British Embassy tonight and Sunday night, returning to New York and the Council of Foreign Ministers Monday morning. He is to see President Truman at 11 A. M. tomorrow. At noon he is to address the British Embassy staff.

O. Max Gardner, newly appointed United States Ambassador to Great Britain, has been invited to attend a dinner in Mr. Bevin's honor at the Embassy tomorrow night.

Russia Is Asked to Settle Up

U. S. Sends Second Note to Moscow About Lend-lease Obligations.

Washington, Dec. 7 (A. P.)—The United States has sent Russia a second note requesting settlement of the Soviet $11,000,000,000 lend-lease account, governmental officials disclosed here today.

They said that a message several weeks ago reminded Moscow of a note advising Russia of the American desire to begin windup negotiations as soon as possible. The first note was sent in October.

Byrnes Weighing Action.

Secretary of State Byrnes is reported to be considering bringing up the subject with Russian Foreign Minister Molotov in New York in an effort to hasten the start of the talks. Russia will be asked to pay a percentage of the cost of lend-lease goods which had a peacetime use.

The United States generally has adopted a policy of not asking repayment for strictly war materials such as guns, planes and munitions. It has reserved the right, however, to reclaim these if it desires.

American lend-lease shipments to Russia from June, 1942, until August, 1945, when the agreement ended, totaled $11,141,470,000. Reverse lend-lease from Russia amounted to $2,213,000.

Lend-lease obligations have been settled with Britain, France, Belgium, Turkey, India, South Africa, New Zealand and Australia. Similar settlements are being discussed with China, Norway, Poland, Yugoslavia and some Latin American nations.

Eisenhower Sees Nation Forced Into 'Blitz' Race

Washington, Dec. 7—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army Chief of Staff, predicted today that this nation will be drawn continually deeper into necessary preparation for "super blitz" conflict "unless we can get rid of this damnable thing of war."

The War Department, he told reporters, is setting up a special staff with members divorced from other military duties to work with scientists on plans for atomic age warfare.

Eisenhower's comment came on the fifth anniversary of the Japanese sneak attack at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, but there was no special observance.

'Ike' Denies U.S. Sent Atom Bomb To Britain

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Secretary of War Patterson and General Eisenhower joined today in asserting that the United States has supplied neither atom bombs nor fissionable material to Great Britain or any other country.

Eisenhower was asked at a news conference whether atomic material had been sent to Great Britain. After a brief consultation with Patterson, in an adjacent office, Eisenhower returned to the news conference to assert:

"The Secretary of War says you may quote him: There have been no bombs and no fissionable material sent to any country."

Contrary Reports Untrue

Eisenhower added smilingly: "If the British have the bomb, they have made it themselves. Any reports to the contrary are not true."

The subject was brought up at an informal conference with the chief of staff before his departure later today for a month's leave and rest at Pratt General Hospital, Miami, Fla.

Eisenhower was asked specifically whether he would comment on a statement by Drew Pearson, newspaper and radio commentator, that fissionable material had been sent to Britain, if not, the complete bomb itself.

Eisenhower's talk with Patterson and his reply to the question followed:

New "Basis" Division

The chief of staff said the Army had approved a "basic" division of about 14,000 officers and men in its current postwar restudy of military organization.

30. 24- 6817

He said this unit, about 1,000 men under the standard World War II infantry division strength, would be stripped of anti-aircraft and other supporting units. Such support would, however, be otherwise supplied.

At Miami, Eisenhower will take treatment for bursitis, an inflammatory condition which he said had pained him more or less continuously in the left shoulder since July and now is giving him some pain in the right shoulder as well..

ARMY BUILDING PLAN TO COST $60,069,752

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—A $60,069,752 military construction program, including building or conversion of 7,713 temporary dwellings, has been authorized for immediate action by Army engineers.

Material obtained in dismantling war camps will be used for housing for officers and enlisted men and their families.

The dwellings are the first to be constructed since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor five years ago. The War Department estimated today that they would meet about 15 per cent of the Army's current n[illegible] and will cost about $41,329,50[illegible]

The rem[illegible]ng $18,740,252 in the program fo[illegible] the current fiscal year will be used in construction necessary in connection with research projects.

Report On Black Marketing

1946

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—A suggestion that the bank accounts and tax returns of American Army officers and men who served in Germany a year ago be checked for black-market profits has been made to the House Military Committee by one of its ace investigators, it was learned today.

The suggestion was contained in a report on a study of occupation problems in Europe during the last few months. The repor noted:

1. Lack of co-operation between American military officials and UNRRA.

2. "Promiscuousness" between American soldiers and German women.

3. Retention of inefficient or undesirable officers, and

4. Close social connections between American officers and families of former high-ranking Nazis.

Submitted To Members

The 40-page report has not been approved by the committee but has been printed and submitted to the members for study.

It identifies the investigator as a member of the committee's staff formerly connected with the FBI and the Office of Strategic Services but does not disclose his name.

The report is separate from that made to the Senate War Investigating Committee by George Meader, committee counsel. It makes no reference to what Meader calls unsatisfactory performances by Negro soldiers.

The House report quotes the Army as having commended UNRRA for performing "an extremely difficult job in a most commendable manner," but the investigator said he "found evidence to substantiate" charges that the American military authorities failed to "give effective co-operation to UNRRA personnel."

Covered In Report

On major subjects covered in the report, the investigator said:

Displaced Persons — "There is still a strong feeling against the displaced persons and their care on the part of the Germans, and this feeling occasionally shows itself in the other elements, including the military. . . . Repatriation of Baltic people presents a difficult problem. . . . And several sources state that they are mainly desirous of seeing a war between Russia and the Western powers. . . . There is a feeling in some quarters that the heavy influx of Jewish infiltrees pouring into the United States zone is by design, to force a decision on the Palestine question or to admit Jews in even larger numbers to the United States."

Health—"venereal disease . . . is the most serious health problem in the European theater. . . . Venereal disease rates have constantly risen in the theater as a whole."

"Promiscuous With Women"

Morals and morale—"it is quite evident that both enlisted men and officers are rather promiscuous in their association with German women. On the question of morale it can be stated to be exceptionally good from the point of view that enlisted men, officers and civilians have good food inexpensively, sufficient leisure time, plenty of transportation, and a reasonable variety of things to do. On the other hand the morale is not so good considering their dissatisfaction with the work they are doing." The report quotes Army chaplains as being in agreement that "lip service is frequently given to the place of religion in the Army program by high-ranking generals and may of their staff members" and that "the Army must change its attitude toward condoning immorality as being natural to the male human."

Black-market operations—"It is generally believed that the Americans gave the Russians the plates from which they have been printing marks by the ton on which they place no value; but apparently we pay $1 for ten marks. Many stories are current regarding individuals who allegedly beat the currency control and engage in black-market activities from casual observation it would appear that the vast majority are involved one way or the other . . . it should be possible to check the bank accounts or income tax returns of various officers or enlisted men who were in Germany a yar ago to ascertain the present state of their fortune."

International political policies—"Army people are disturbed over the embarrassment and frustration we have suffered since August, 1946, in attempting quadripartite management of Germany according to a set of principles agreed on by only three of the partners in the concern.

Disturbed Over Situation

"They are disturbed also over the solution agreed upon at Potsdam fo rthe problem of the German monirity in Eastern Europe. They are more and more convinced that this solution is fundamentally wrong, that it has created mass injustice, and that it has unnecessarily ruined the lives of hundreds of thousands of people . . . they are convinced that on the Sovite side there has been violation of . . . the principles agreed upon in Potsdam. . . . relating to democratic parties and freedom of the press.

"They believe. . . . that Soviet objectives in this area look to the establishment of a totalitarian dictatorship in the Eastern zone of Germany if not in the total area."

De-Nazification — "It has also been reported that American officers in military government are known to be socially intimate with the families of former high-ranking Nazi officials."

Dependents' Ratio Given

Officers—"A problem is the retention of officers who are known to be inefficient or undesirable for one reason or another. . . . For the good of the service they should be relieved and sent home."

Dependents—"It is said that there are about 6,000 officers' dependents, as compared with 600 dependents of enlisted men. . . . Another angle on the dependent issue is that some of those who have brought furniture over at Government expense allegedly stipulated a certain number of pounds more than they brought, with the idea of acquiring German articles of furniture to take back with them and yet not exceed what the documents say they brought."

War Vet, 95, Is To Receive Purple Heart

Chicago, Dec. 7 (AP)—Tomorrow is Charles Windolph's ninety-fifth birthday and Uncle Sam is going to give the South Dakota war veteran a belated award—a Purple Heart medal—for wounds suffered in the Battle of the Little Big Horn more than 70 years ago.

The award will be made in behalf of the Army by Col. Paul W. Mapes, commandant of the Rapid City (S.D.) camp at Windolph's home in Lead, S.D., 5th Army headquarters here announced.

Windolph won the Congressional Medal of Honor in the battle but like many of the Indian fighters of his day he was not nominated for the Purple Heart because the medal was considered a Revolutionary War award.

It was restored to the Army's general award list during World War I and recently an author who interviewed Windolph told the Army the cavalry veteran was entitled to the decoration.

Windolph and three other soldiers were on detached duty guarding the Army's water supply during Custer's famous stand in which all his men were killed. Windolph was wounded in another phase of the Battle of the Little Big Horn. He was presented a congressional award on August 29, 1878.

Windolph and three other soldiers were assigned to guard the Army's water supply. He was presented a congressional award on August 29, 1878.

U. S. PROPOSES CUT IN FORCES OF OCCUPATION

1946

Byrnes Plan for Eastern Europe Would Hit Russia Hardest

New York, Dec. 7—(AP)—In a surprise move which strikes hardest at Russian armies deployed over eastern Europe, Secretary of State Byrnes proposed to the Big-Four Foreign Ministers Council today two slashing reductions in American, British, Russian and French forces occupying Germany, Austria, Poland and the Balkans.

The first of these cuts would reduce the total of all Big-Four occupation forces in Europe by next April 1 to 620,000 men, including only 240,000 Russians. By April 1, 1947, under the Byrnes proposal, another blanket reduction of one-fourth to one-third would be put through.

British Foreign Secretary Bevin was expected to support the proposal vigorously, but Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's reaction was not made known.

The move was the latest in Byrnes' long fight to reduce the occupation army burden on Europe in line with his expressed view that only thus can real conditions of peace be restored to the continent. He acted as the Ministers Council, having wound up all important issues in the European satellite peace treaties, turned at last to tackle the central problem of peace in Europe—a German settlement.

Molotov agreed that peace settlements for both Germany and Austria should be undertaken by the Council at its next meeting in Europe, and he invited his colleagues to hold that in Moscow in late February. But he split the Council 1-to-3 on the question of learning prior to the next meeting the views of other nations interested in a German treaty.

Byrnes had introduced in the Council meeting three documents. While two of these called for the agreement on limitation of forces in Europe and for an Austrian treaty, the other provided that the Council should decide here and now to name a commission of deputies to hold hearings and lay the groundwork for its European discussions on Germany.

Molotov then put in a plan of his own. He provided substantially the same line o fattack on the Germany treaty as had Byrnes but differed as to timing. He said the Big-Four here should agree only when and where they would next meet and not until that next meeting should they name deputies or make any move to hold hearings for such countries as Belgium, the Netherlands and others which fought Germany and are demanding a voice.

Byrnes said he saw no need for such delay, that deputies would need no special instructions to hold hearings. Molotov indicated, however, that they could not take testimony without instructions, which some diplomats interpreted as meaning he might want to restrict expression of views.

Byrnes declared that if no work was done by deputies between the New York and European meetings the European session either would (1) be limited to procedural questions or (2) be called upon to make decision on Germany before the other countries were heard from. He made clear that he was opposed to both possibilities. Some persons close to him say he is determined not to go to another conference in Europe until there is real prospect for writing a German treaty.

The dispute never reached the point of a real deadlock because it never came to a decision. Diplomats were hopeful that the differences would be resolved in meeting Monday or Tuesday. The debate was cut short when Bevin had to leave for Washington, where he will see Mr. Truman tomorrow.

This also left no time for debate on the Austrian question or troop disposal. Molotov's willingness to talk about Austria at the European meeting was evidenced by the fact that he included that as a topic on agenda proposal.

Okinawa Being Unionized

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Okinawa, site of the last major battle of World War II, is being unionized. The National Federation of Federal Employés, an independent union, reported today that a charter has been granted for a local on Okinawa to include civilian employés of the army engineers.

Admiral Halsey Closing His Career

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Fleet Admiral William F. (Bull) Halsey, Jr., the hard-hitting, tough-talking, wartime commander of the famed Third Fleet, is stepping aside to let "the young fellows take over."

Halsey's action was announced last night by the Navy Department. A spokesman said the Admiral had asked to be relieved from active participation in naval affairs, and that the request had been granted.

He added that Halsey, who is 64, had been ordered to proceed to his home. Officially, the action does not constitute retirement. Fleet admirals, the spokesman pointed out, do not retire; they are merely relieved from an active assignment.

Calls Self "Old Man"

As long ago as September, 1945, Hasley, describing himself as "an old man," announced that he wanted to step aside in favor of younger men.

He was a vice admiral commanding aircraft carriers in the Pacific when Pearl Harbor was attacked. First he was assigned to defensive patrol, then he started to attack.

Early in 1942, he led a task force against the Marshalls and Gilberts. Next he led his force against Wake and Marcus. Then he took a hand in the Doolittle raid on Japan April 18, 1942.

Won Battle Of Santa Cruz

The following October he took command in the South Pacific and won the Battle of Santa Cruz. By mid-June, 1944, he had worked himself out of a job in that area.

Finally he was assigned command of the Third Fleet, the job that he held when the war ended in August, 1945.

Halsey, who has held various assignments since the end of the war, was last attached to the office of Secretary Forestal. He is now in a New York hospital recovering from a minor operation.

German Frauleins To Wear Snuggies Designed For Wac

Newark, N. J., Dec. 7—(AP)—German frauleins—450 of them—will not be cold out in the cold this Winter.

Those much-discussed used Wac snuggies, for which there was no demand by commercial dealers, were sold today to Mrs. Blanche Stoesser of Madison for use by the New Jersey Committee for Relief to German Needy, Robert W. Allan, New Jersey district director of the War Assets Administration reported.

Volunteer sewing groups of Mrs. Stoesser's group will repair the panties and pass them on to the American Friends Service Committee in Philadelphia, Pa., for distribution to Germany.

Butler To Sponsor Finance Bill

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Senator Butler (R., Neb.) will introduce a bill to overhaul the Government's entire appropriation and revenue system when Congress convenes in January.

The measure, called a "full-accounting bill" when he and Senator Byrd (D., Va.) drafted it last year, will be ready soon, Butler said today.

These major changes would be made by the bill:

1. All Government appropriations would be lumped into one bill a year, instead of several individual bills for various departments. This, Butler feels, would give Congress a better grasp of actual Government spending.

Balances Back To Treasury

2. Appropriations would be available only for the fiscal year appropriated, and could be spent only for obligations actually incurred. This would eliminate the practice of appropriating for obligations to be incurred at some indefinite time in the future.

3. Unexpended balances would not be reappropriated as at present. They would be returned to the Treasury, and each new year's appropriations would be made in that year's omnibus appropriation bill.

4. Supervision powers of the General Accounting Office over all Government departments would be strengthened.

Butler said he would sponsor this proposal, although he has decided not to accept the chairmanship of the Senate Finance Committee, but, instead, that of the new Public Lands Committee.

Son's Yugoslav Sentence As Spy Stuns N.J. Parents

'Ridiculous,' Father Says of Ex-G. I.'s 4-Year Term

KEARNY, N. J., Dec. 7 (AP).—The family of Roy H. Stoeckel, twenty-four-year-old former G. I., who has been sentenced to four years at hard labor by a Yugoslav military court on espionage charges, today expressed bewilderment that "a powerful government like ours would let this happen."

Stockel, a civilian motor aid with American occupation forces in Austria, was accused of crossing the border from Austria to Yugoslavia illegally "for purposes of espionage activities," and of taking pictures of military posittions. His sentence, reported yesterday by the Yugoslav Foreign Ministry to the American Embassy at Belgrade, is being appealed to a higher military court.

"The charges are ridiculous," Oscar Stoeckel, his father declared. "The boy certainly is no spy."

His mother, weeping, said that he was an amateur photographer, "as are many boys." She added: "It was perfectly natural for him to take pictures. He's too fine a boy to do anything wrong."

PROBERS SUMMON 30 WITNESSES IN NEW BILBO QUIZ

Washington, Dec. 7—(AP)—More than 30 witnesses have been summoned to testify before the Senate War Investigating Subcommittee looking into the relations between Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) and a group of war contractors, Chairman Mead (D-N. Y.) announced tonight.

The public hearings begin Thursday.

Mead noted in a statement that Bilbo has made known his intention of appearing personally.

"The subcommittee has assured Senator Bilbo that it will summon as witnesses any persons known by him to have first-hand information with respect to the matters under investigation," Mead added. "In accordance with the committee's traditional policy, the subcommittee approaches this investigation with an open mind and is interested only in ascertaining the truth."

Another Senate committee completed open hearings at Jackson, Miss., Thursday into allegations that Bilbo tried to keep Negroes from voting in last Summer's primary. That group—the special committee investigating campaign expenditures—has not made its report.

U.S. Rushing Food to Germany, 300,000 Tons to Go This Month

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP). — Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson announced tonight emergency measures to speed more than 300,000 tons of food to the United States zone of Germany this month to meet a critical shortage caused largely by the maritime strike.

Secretary Patterson told Lieutenant General Lucius D. Clay that:

1. The War Department is undertaking to send 303,500 long tons of food this month, compared with 52,500 tons in November.

2. Seventeen grain-laden vessels are to sail from Albany, N. Y., in December, with the Coast Guard ready to provide ice breakers in the Hudson River if needed.

3. Stand-by vessels will be held in other ports to prevent unforeseen delays and take on additional last-minute cargoes.

Mr. Patterson's statement said the War Department is making headway against difficulties in breaking bottlenecks in food transportation which "have threatened to wreck the occupation program."

NIGHT LEAD FOREIGN MINISTERS (600)

BY JOHN M.HIGHTOWER

NEW YORK, DEC 7-(AP)-IN A SURPRISE MOVE WHICH STRIKES HARDEST AT RUSSIAN ARMIES DEPLOYED OVER EASTERN EUROPE, SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES PROPOSED TO THE BIG-FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL TODAY TWO SLASHING REDUCTIONS IN AMERICAN, BRITISH, RUSSIAN AND FRENCH FORCES OCCUPYING GERMANY, AUSTRIA, POLAND AND THE BALKANS.

THE FIRST OF THESE CUTS WOULD REDUCE THE TOTAL OF ALL BIG-FOUR OCCUPATION FORCES IN EUROPE BY NEXT APRIL 1 TO 620,000 MEN, INCLUDING ONLY 240,000 RUSSIANS. BY APRIL 1, 1948, UNDER THE BYRNES PROPOSAL, ANOTHER BLANKET REDUCTION OF ONE-FOURTH TO ONE-THIRD WOULD BE PUT THROUGH.

BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY BEVIN WAS EXPECTED TO SUPPORT THE PROPOSAL VIGOROUSLY, BUT SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV'S REACTION WAS NOT MADE KNOWN.

THE MOVE WAS THE LATEST IN BYRNES' LONG FIGHT TO REDUCE THE OCCUPATION ARMY BURDEN ON EUROPE IN LINE WITH HIS EXPRESSED VIEW THAT ONLY

30.24-6819

THUS CAN REAL CONDITIONS OF PEACE BE RESTORED TO THE CONTINENT. HE ACTED AS THE MINISTERS COUNCIL, HAVING WOUND UP ALL IMPORTANT ISSUES IN THE EUROPEAN SATELLITE PEACE TREATIES, TURNED AT LAST TO TACKLE THE CENTRAL PROBLEM OF PEACE IN EUROPE -- A GERMAN SETTLEMENT.

MOLOTOV AGREED THAT PEACE SETTLEMENTS FOR BOTH GERMANY AND AUSTRIA SHOULD BE UNDERTAKEN BY THE COUNCIL AT ITS NEXT MEETING IN EUROPE, AND HE INVITED HIS COLLEAGUES TO HOLD THAT IN MOSCOW IN LATE FEBRUARY. BUT HE SPLIT THE COUNCIL 1-TO-3 ON THE QUESTION OF LEARNING PRIOR TO THE NEXT MEETING THE VIEWS OF OTHER NATIONS INTERESTED IN A GERMAN TREATY.

BYRNES HAD INTRODUCED IN THE COUNCIL MEETING THREE DOCUMENTS. WHILE TWO OF THESE CALLED FOR THE AGREEMENT ON LIMITATION OF FORCES IN EUROPE AND FOR AN AUSTRIAN TREATY, THE OTHER PROVIDED THAT THE COUNCIL SHOULD DECIDE HERE AND NOW TO NAME A COMMISSION OF DEPUTIES TO HOLD HEARINGS AND LAY THE GROUNDWORK FOR ITS EUROPEAN DISCUSSIONS ON GERMANY.

MOLOTOV THEN PUT IN A PLAN OF HIS OWN. HE PROVIDED SUBSTANTIALLY THE SAME LINE OF ATTACK ON THE GERMANY TREATY AS HAD BYRNES BUT DIFFERED AS TO TIMING. HE SAID THE BIG-FOUR HERE SHOULD AGREE ONLY WHEN AND WHERE THEY WOULD NEXT MEET AND NOT UNTIL THAT NEXT MEETING SHOULD THEY NAME DEPUTIES OR MAKE ANY MOVE TO HOLD HEARINGS FOR SUCH COUNTRIES AS BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS AND OTHERS WHICH FOUGHT GERMANY AND ARE DEMANDING A VOICE.

BYRNES SAID HE SAW NO NEED FOR SUCH DELAY, THAT DEPUTIES WOULD NEED NO SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO HOLD HEARINGS. MOLOTOV INDICATED, HOWEVER, THAT THEY COULD NOT TAKE TESTIMONY WITHOUT INSTRUCTIONS, WHICH SOME DIPLOMATS INTERPRETED AS MEANING HE MIGHT WANT TO RESTRICT EXPRESSION OF VIEWS.

BYRNES DECLARED THAT IF NO WORK WAS DONE BY DEPUTIES BETWEEN THE NEW YORK AND EUROPEAN MEETINGS THE EUROPEAN SESSION EITHER WOULD (1) BE LIMITED TO PROCEDURAL QUESTIONS OR (2) BE CALLED UPON TO MAKE DECISION ON GERMANY BEFORE THE OTHER COUNTRIES WERE HEARD FROM. HE MADE CLEAR THAT HE WAS OPPOSED TO BOTH POSSIBILITIES. SOME PERSONS CLOSE TO HIM SAY HE IS DETERMINED NOT TO GO TO ANOTHER CONFERENCE IN EUROPE UNTIL THERE IS REAL PROSPECT FOR WRITING A GERMAN TREATY.

THE DISPUTE NEVER REACHED THE POINT OF A REAL DEADLOCK BECAUSE IT NEVER CAME TO A DECISION. DIPLOMATS WERE HOPEFUL THAT THE DIFFERENCES WOULD BE RESOLVED IN MEETING MONDAY OR TUESDAY. THE DEBATE WAS CUT SHORT WHEN BEVIN HAD TO LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON, WHERE HE WILL SEE MR. TRUMAN TOMORROW.

THIS ALSO LEFT NO TIME FOR DEBATE ON THE AUSTRIAN QUESTION OR TROOP PROPOSAL. MOLOTOV'S WILLINGNESS TO TALK ABOUT AUSTRIA AT THE EUROPEAN MEETING WAS EVIDENCED BY THE FACT THAT HE INCLUDED THAT AS A TOPIC ON AGENDA PROPOSAL.

BYRNES' TROOP PROPOSAL WAS CAREFULLY DETAILED. HE SAID IT WAS RENDERED TIMELY BY THE APPROACHING CONCLUSION OF THE TREATIES WITH ITALY THE BALKAN STATES AND FINLAND. THESE PROVIDE FOR PROMPT REMOVAL OF OCCUPATION TROOPS FROM ITALY AND BULGARIA BUT SAY THE RUSSIANS CAN LEAVE FORCES IN HUNGARY AND ROMANIA TO PROTECT THE LINES TO THEIR FORCES IN AUSTRIA.

IT IS THIS FACT WHICH MAKES THE AUSTRIAN PEACE TREATY THE KEY TO REMOVAL OF ALL SOVIET TROOPS FROM SOUTHEASTERN EUROPE AND THE MAIN REASON WHY BYRNES AND BEVIN HAVE HAMMERED SO LOUDLY IN THE PAST FOR AN AUSTRIAN SETTLEMENT.

"TO FURTHER OUR COMMON OBJECTIVES OF RESTORING CONDITIONS OF PEACE," BYRNES SAID, "IT IS PROPOSED THAT AGREED CEILINGS BE PLACED UPON THE NUMBER OF ALLIED OCCUPATION TROOPS WHICH MAY BE RETAINED IN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES AFTER THE CONCLUSION OF THE TREATIES WITH THE EX-SATELLITE STATES."

HE CALLED FOR "AGREED CEILINGS" AS FOLLOWS:

GERMANY--140,000 AMERICAN TROOPS, 140,000 BRITISH , 70,000 FRENCH AND 200,000 RUSSIAN.

AUSTRIA--10,000 EACH FOR THE FOUR POWERS.

ADDITIONALLY, RUSSIA WOULD BE ALLOWED TO KEEP 20,000 SUPPLY LINE TROOPS IN POLAND, 5,000 IN HUNGARY AND 5,000 IN ROMANIA.

THE FORCES OF ALL FOUR ALLIES IN AUSTRIA WOULD BE SLASHED TO 10,000 MEN EACH AND RUSSIA WOULD BE ALLOWED TO MAINTAIN 5,000 EACH IN HUNGARY AND ROMANIA FOR PROTECTION OF COMMUNICATION LINES. DAY

BOTH BYRNES AND MOLOTOV AGREED THAT ON GERMANY THEY WOULD HAVE LITTLE DIFFICULTY IN REACHING A DECISION AS TO THE AGENDA FOR THEIR NEXT EUROPEAN SESSION, WHICH MOLOTOV SAID HE WOULD LIKE TO HAVE IN MOSCOW IN LATE FEBRUARY THOUGH HE WOULD NOT INSIST ON THAT.

THE ONLY REAL ISSUE AROSE IN CONNECTION WITH APPOINTMENT OF THE DEPUTIES COMMISSION. BYRNES, BRITISH FOREIGN MINISTER BEVIN AND DEPUTY FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTER COUVE DE MURVILLE, ALL FAVORED BYRNES' PLAN TO NAME THE DEPUTY COMMISSION IN NEW YORK SO THAT IT MIGHT HOLD MEETINGS IN EUROPE IN THE NEXT TWO MONTHS OR SO IN ORDER TO HEAR VIEWS ON THE GERMAN PEACE SETTLEMENT FROM SUCH NATIONS AS BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS, POLAND AND CZECHOSLOVAKIA.

MOLOTOV, WHILE NOT OBJECTING TO HEARINGS FOR OTHER NATIONS, ASSERTED THAT THE DEPUTIES SHOULD BE APPOINTED AFTER THE MEETING BEGINS IN EUROPE. HE ARGUED THAT SINCE THERE IS TO BE NO SUBSTANTIAL DISCUSSION ON GERMANY HERE THE DEPUTIES WOULD NOT KNOW WHAT TO DO BEFORE THE EUROPEAN MEETING.

NEW YORK, DEC. 7-(AP)-A RENEWED BRITISH ATTEMPT TO WIN UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY APPROVAL OF INTERNATIONAL INSPECTIONS TO DOUBLE-CHECK NATIONAL TROOP CENSUS REPORTS WAS DEFERRED TONIGHT BY PROLONGED AND INCONCLUSIVE DEBATE ON INDIA'S COMPLAINT OF MALTREATMENT OF INDIAN CITIZENS BY SOUTH AFRICA.

SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M. MOLOTOV, AFTER A HARD DAY AT THE BIG FOUR CONFERENCE AT THE WALDORF ASTORIA ON PRELIMINARY GERMAN PEACE PLANS, ARRIVED LATE IN THE EVENING WITH THE THREE PRINCIPAL DEPUTIES AT THE FLUSHING MEADOW PARK ASSEMBLY HALL AFTER THE NEW BRITISH MOVE WAS ANNOUNCED.

HOWEVER, THE UNEXPECTEDLY LONG DEBATE ON INDIA'S COMPLAINT PUT THE BRITISH PROPOSAL OVER UNTIL SUNDAY'S PLENARY SESSIONS SCHEDULED FOR 4 P.M. (EST) AND 7 P.M. (EST).

MOLOTOV LEFT AN ANTE-CHAMBER WHEN IT BECAME APPARENT THAT THE DEBATE ON A COMMITTEE-APPROVED RESOLUTION ON THE INDIAN COMPLAINT COULD NOT BE COMPLETED TONIGHT.

DURING THE DEBATE, SOUTH AFRICA SUBMITTED AN AMENDMENT REQUESTING THAT THE ISSUE BE SENT TO THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE FOR AN ADVISORY OPINION.

MOLOTOV HAD ARRIVED APPARENTLY IN THE BELIEF THAT THE INDIAN-SOUTH AFRICAN ISSUE WOULD BE DISPOSED OF AND THAT THE COMMITTEE-APPROVED ROOP CENSUS PLAN WOULD BE SUBMITTED TONIGHT TO THE 54 NATIONS FOR APPROVAL.

HIS SUPPORT TO BRITAIN THE TROOP INSPECTION PLAN STOOD A GOOD CHANCE OF BEING ACCEPTED BY THE 54-MEMBER ASSEMBLY.

A106UA

WHILE RUSSIA'S POSITION WAS NOT KNOWN BEFOREHAND, AN AMERICAN SPOKESMAN SAID THE UNITED STATES WOULD CONTINUE TO OPPOSE THE BRITISH PLAN, WHICH WAS DEFEATED IN COMMITTEE SESSION LAST WEEK AT LAKE SUCCESS.

THE BRITISH PROPOSED TO ESTABLISH AN INTERNATIONAL INSPECTION BOARD WHICH COULD VERIFY FIGURES SUBMITTED BY MEMBER NATIONS OF THEIR ARMED FORCES AT HOME AND ABROAD IN A WORLD-WIDE TROOP INVENTORY.

CARRYING HIS FIGHT FOR VINDICATION INTO THE PLENARY SESSION, SOUTH AFRICAN PREMIER JAN CHRISTIAAN SMUTS ASKED THE ASSEMBLY TO REJECT A COMMITTEE-APPROVED RESOLUTION CALLING UPON SOUTH AFRICA AND INDIA TO SETTLE THEIR DIFFERENCES OVER INDIAN CHARGES THAT SOUTH AFRICA IS DISCRIMINATING AGAINST INDIANS IN THE UNION.

DEFEATED IN COMMITTEE, SMUTS INTRODUCED AN AMENDMENT WHEREBY THE ASSEMBLY WOULD REQUEST THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE FOR AN ADVISORY OPINION ON THE QUESTION. HE PREVIOUSLY HAD ARGUED THAT THE UNITED NATIONS HAD NO RIGHT TO TAKE ACTION ON WHAT HE CALLED AN INTERNAL AFFAIR.

"TO CONDEMN A MEMBER STATE OF THIS ORGANIZATION ON VERY GRAVE CHARGES," HE DECLARED, "WOULD BE MONSTROUS, AND A CURSE WHICH THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY SHOULD UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES COUNTENANCE."

THE UNITED STATES IMMEDIATELY THREW ITS SUPPORT TO SOUTH AFRICA ON THE GROUNDS THAT AN OPINION MUST BE OBTAINED FROM THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE TO DETERMINE WHETHER IT IS A PURELY DOMESTIC ISSUE OR WHETHER THE UNITED NATIONS HAS THE RIGHT UNDER THE CHARTER TO DIG INTO AN ISSUE CONCERNING ONLY TWO MEMBER STATES.

CHARLES FAHY, LEGAL ADVISOR OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT AND A MEMBER OF THE AMERICAN DELEGATION, DECLARED THAT THERE WAS A LEGAL QUESTION INVOLVED--THE QUESTION OF DOMESTIC JURISDICTION.

"WE FEEL CERTAIN," FAHY SAID, "THAT THE METHOD BEST CALCULATED TO BRING GOOD RESULTS IS TO SUBMIT THE IMPORTANT LEGAL QUESTION TO THE INSTITUTION CREATED FOR THE PURPOSE OF CONSIDERING JUST SUCH MATTERS, MEANWHILE RETAINING JURISDICTION PENDING THE ADVICE OF THE COURT ON THAT QUESTION."

FAHY DECLARED THE U.S. FEELS THAT IN A SITUATION WHERE ONE PARTY IN GOOD FAITH AND ON "SUBSTANTIAL GROUNDS APPEALS FOR COURT ADVICE, SHE IS ENTITLED TO THAT CONSIDERATION BEFORE THE ASSEMBLY TAKES ACTION ON THE ASSUMPTION THAT AN OBLIGATION EXISTS UNDER AGREEMENTS BETWEEN TWO GOVERNMENTS."

THEN MRS. VIJAYALAKSHMI PANDIT, CHIEF OF THE INDIAN DELEGATION, ROSE TO DEMAND "A VERDICT OF THIS ASSEMBLY ON A PROVEN VIOLATION" OF THE U.N. CHARTER.

SHE DECLARED THAT "THIS IS AN ISSUE WHICH HAS LED TO ACUTE DISPUTE BETWEEN TWO MEMBER STATES, AN ISSUE WHICH IS NOT CONFINED TO INDIA OR SOUTH AFRICA."

THIS, MRS. PANDIT ADDED, IS AN ISSUE "THE DECISION ON WHICH MUST MAKE OR MAR THE LOYALTY AND CONFIDENCE WHICH THE COMMON PEOPLE OF THE WORLD HAVE PLACED ON US."

SHE SPOKE IN EVEN TONES, DRAWING THE ATTENTION OF ALL DELEGATES AS SHE STOOD ON THE ROSTRUM CLOTHED IN A BLACK AND GOLD SAREE.

MRS. PANDIT ASKED THE ASSEMBLY TO APPROVE THE COMMITTEE RESOLUTION CENSURING SOUTH AFRICA, AND DECLARED:

"MINE IS AN APPEAL TO A CONSCIENCE--TO THE CONSCIENCE OF THE WORLD WHICH THIS ASSEMBLY IS."

THERE WAS A BURST OF APPLAUSE AS SHE CONCLUDED--APPLAUSE THAT FILLED THE HALL AND FOLLOWED HER AS SHE WALKED DOWN THE AISLE TO HER SEAT. IT WAS THE BIGGEST OVATION A DELEGATE HAD RECEIVED SINCE PRESIDENT TRUMAN OPENED THIS ASSEMBLY OCT. 23.

V.K. WELLINGTON KOO, CHIEF OF THE CHINESE DELEGATION, UPHELD THE COMMITTEE-APPROVED RESOLUTION ON THE GROUNDS THAT "THIS IS ESSENTIALLY A POLITICAL ISSUE AND NOT A LEGAL ONE." HE SAID THE SOUTH AFRICAN AMENDMENT THEREFORE SHOULD BE REJECTED.

"THE RESOLUTION IS A VERY MILD ONE," HE SAID, "SIMPLY POINTING A WAY TO THE TWO PARTIES TO EASE THE SITUATION, TO REACH A SETTLEMENT. THIS IS THE LEAST THAT THE UNITED NATIONS CAN DO."

NEW YORK, DEC. 7-(AP)-BRITISH OFFICIALS SAID THEY WOULD ASK THE 1946
UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY, MEETING IN PLENARY SESSION TONIGHT, TO ESTABLISH AN INTERNATIONAL INSPECTION BOARD WHICH COULD CERTIFY FIGURES SUBMITTED BY MEMBER NATIONS OF THEIR ARMED FORCES AT HOME AND ABROAD IN A WORLD-WIDE TROOP CENSUS.

THEY EXPRESSED CONFIDENCE THAT RUSSIA, WHICH NOW HAS APPROVED OF WORLD ARMS REDUCTION FREE OF THE VETO, WOULD COME AROUND TO AGREE ON A DOUBLE-CHECK OF THE TROOP INVENTORY.

THE TROOP CENSUS PLAN, ADOPTED BY A U.N. COMMITTEE LAST WEEK, WAS A MAJOR ISSUE BEFORE THE 54-MEMBER ASSEMBLY IN THE FIRST OF THREE PLENARY SESSIONS SCHEDULED TONIGHT AND SUNDAY AT FLUSHING MEADOW PARK IN A FINAL PUSH EFFORT TO FINISH ITS BUSINESS BY DEC. 13.

UNDER THE TROOP CENSUS PLAN ALL MEMBERS WOULD SUBMIT FIGURES ON THEIR FORCES BOTH AT HOME AND ABROAD BY JAN. 1. THE BRITISH

30.24-6821

ARGUED THAT THE TROOP CENSUS WOULD BE WORTHLESS WITHOUT VERIFICATION BY A U.N. BOARD OF INSPECTION.

HOWEVER, THEIR PLAN WAS DEFEATED IN COMMITTEE SESSION LAST WEEK AT LAKE SUCCESS BEFORE RUSSIA'S AGREEMENT TO INSPECTION OF ALL WEAPONS UNDER AN ARMS REDUCTION PROGRAM UNDER DISCUSSION.

THE LONG STRUGGLE TO FILL THE REMAINING TWO SEATS TO BE VACATED JAN. 1 IN THE U.N. ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL RESULTED TONIGHT IN THE ELECTION OF WHITE RUSSIA TO ONE OF THE SEATS BUT AGAIN RESOLVED IN A DEADLOCK OVER THE OTHER.

WHITE RUSSIA POLLED 39 VOTES TO WIN A PLACE THAT HAD BEEN ASSURED BY A COMPROMISE AMONG DELEGATES WHICH ELIMINATED ONE RUSSIAN SATELLITE, YUGOSLAVIA, AND LEFT THE NETHERLANDS AND TURKEY BATTLING OVER THE REMAINING SEAT. IN TWO ADDITIONAL BALLOTS NEITHER WAS ABLE TO POLL THE REQUIRED TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY AND FURTHER BALLOTING WAS POSTPONED UNTIL THE NEXT PLENARY SESSION TOMORROW AFTERNOON (4 P.M. E.S.T.)

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC. 7-(AP)-UNITED NATIONS EFFORTS TO FIND AN ACCEPTABLE SOLUTION TO THE SPANISH QUESTION WOUND UP TONIGHT IN A BITTER WRANGLE IN WHICH THE UNITED STATES WAS ACCUSED BY VENEZUELA OF TRYING TO USE THE VETO TO DEFEAT A PROPOSED WORLD-WIDE DIPLOMATIC BREAK WITH THE FRANCO REGIME.

THE FIGHT WAS TOUCHED OFF BY A DECLARATION BY SEN. TOM CONNALLY (D-TEX) THAT IF QINWTVONKM

1946

THE FIGHT WAS TOUCHED OFF BY A DECLARATION BY SEN. TOM CONNALLY (D-TEX) THAT IF THE 18-NATION DRAFTING SUBCOMMITTEE WANTED TO ARRIVE AT A UNANIMOUS AGREEMENT IT WOULD HAVE TO "ABANDON THE PROPOSED BREAK OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS."

CONNALLY ASSERTED THAT "THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION DOES NOT EV OMHVOTE FOR

CONNALLY ASSERTED THAT "THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION DOES NOT EXPECT TO VOTE FOR THAT UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES WHATEVER" AND ADDED THAT ANY RECOMMENDATIONS BY THE U.N. ASSEMBLY WOULD HAVE "NO BINDING EFFECT." GOING FURTHER, HE SAID NOT ALL STATES WOULD ABIDE BY THE RECOMMENDATIONS.

THIS WAS GENERALLY INTERPRETED AS A FORMAL NOTICE THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD NOT BREAK RELATIONS WITH THE FRANCO REGIME EVEN IF THE ASSEMBLY RECOMMENDED SUCH ACTION. NORWEGIAN DELEGATE TERJE WOLD WAS THE FIRST TO EXPRESS REGRET OVER WHAT HE CALLED THE REFUSAL TO "COMPLY."

THEN PEDRO ZULOAGA, DELEGATE FROM VENEZUELA, SAID HE HAD HEARD CONNALLY ON PREVIOUS OCCASIONS SPEAK AGAINST ABUSES OF THE BIG POWER VETO AND ADDED THAT "HIS WORDS COULD BE INTERPRETED AS ONE OF THOSE ABUSES OF THE VETO."

"I HOPE HIS WORDS DID NOT RUN AWAY WITH HIS MEANING," ZULOAGA SAID.

HE WAS FOLLOWED BY DR.JORGE GARCIA GRANADOS OF GUATEMALA WHO ALSO CRITICIZED CONNALLY'S DECLARATION.

"WE SHOULD AT LEAST STAND BY THE ATLANTIC CHARTER," HE SAID. "OR ARE ROOSEVELT'S PROMISES ALSO MERE WORDS?"

FINALLY, HAYDEN RAYNOR, WHO HAD TAKEN OVER AS U.S. REPRESENTATIVE AFTER CONNALLY LEFT TO ATTEND ANOTHER MEETING, TOOK THE FLOOR TO CLARIFY THE AMERICAN POSITION. HE SAID:

"I WANT TO SAY NOW THAT I UNDERSTAND SOME DELEGATES ARE UNDER THE IMPRESSION THAT SENATOR CONNALLY THIS AFTERNOON IN EFFECT SERVED FLAT NOTICE HERE TODAY THAT THE UNITED STATES COULD NOT CONSIDER ITSELF BOUND TO CARRY OUT A UNITED NATIONS DECISION FOR A BREAK IN DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS.

"I JUST WANT TO MAKE IT CLEAR THAT WHEN HE SAID THAT OTHER STATES HAVE NOT BROKEN AND OTHERS WOULD NOT BREAK, WHAT HE MEANT WAS THAT WE CANNOT VOTE IN THE SUBCOMMITTEE, COMMITTEE ONE, AND THE PLENARY MEETING OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY FOR ALL THESE PLANS."

THE UNITED STATES HAS PROPOSED THAT THE ASSEMBLY CALL ON GENERALISSIMO FRANCO TO SURRENDER HIS LEADERSHIP TO A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT AND URGE THE SPANISH PEOPLE TO SEE THAT FRANCO STEPS DOWN. THE PROPOSAL FOR A DIPLOMATIC BREAK WAS SPONSORED BY POLAND.

THE COMMITTEE WILL CONTINUE THE DEBATE AT 10:30 A.M. (EST) TOMORROW.

BY JOHN WALLACE

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC.7-(AP)-THE SOVIET UKRAINE TODAY ACCUSED THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN AND CANADA OF EXPRESSING MORE CONCERN OVER THE ECONOMIC PLIGHT OF GERMANY AND JAPAN THAN THE ECONOMIC PLIGHT OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

A.D.VOINA, THE UKRAINIAN REPRESENTATIVE ON THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S BUDGETARY COMMITTEE, MADE THE ASSERTION IN SUPPORTING A BITTERLY FOUGHT EFFORT BY WHITE RUSSIA TO CHARGE THE TWO AGGRESSOR NATIONS WITH THE COST OF MAINTAINING AS WELL AS REPATRIATING THE UNTOLD THOUSANDS OF PERSONS DISPLACED BY THE WAR.

THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN AND CANADA LED OPPOSITION TO WHITE RUSSIA'S PROPOSAL, WHICH WAS REJECTED BY THE 54-NATION COMMITTEE.

THE COMMITTEE ADOPTED INSTEAD, BY A VOTE OF 28 TO 6, A PROPOSAL

30 24-6823

THAT REPATRIATION EXPENSES SHOULD BE BORNE BY GERMANY AND JAPAN ONLY "TO THE EXTENT PRACTICABLE." TWENTY NATIONS ABSTAINED FROM VOTING.

THE REPATRIATION COST TO BE PAID BY THE TWO DEFEATED POWERS HAS BEEN ESTIMATED BY THE BUDGETARY COMMITTEE AT ABOUT $16,500,000. ADOPTION OF WHITE RUSSIA'S PROPOSAL WOULD HAVE TACKED AN ADDITIONAL $103,000,000 TO THE BILL AGAINST GERMANY AND JAPAN, ACCORDING TO THE COMMITTEE'S ESTIMATES.

1946

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE U.S., GREAT BRITAIN AND CANADA REPEATEDLY DECLARED DURING THE DEBATE THAT THEY HELD "NO TENDER FEELINGS FOR EITHER GERMANY OR JAPAN," BUT THAT THERE WAS NO WAY OF DETERMINING NOW WHETHER THE GERMAN AND JAPANESE ECONOMIES COULD SUPPORT SUCH ASSESSMENTS AGAINST THEM BY THE UNITED NATIONS.

THEY ALSO ARGUED THAT TO CHARGE GERMANY AND JAPAN WITH "MAINTAINING" THE REPATRIATED PERSONS WOULD BE TO PROJECT THE WORK OF THE COMMITTEE INTO THE FIELD OF REPARATIONS.

BASEL, SWITZERLAND, DEC.7-(AP)-AMID NEW DEVELOPMENTS BOUND AFFECT THEIR DELIBERATIONS JEWISH LEADERS FROM 43 COUNTRIES ASSEMBLED HERE TODAY FOR THE OPENING MONDAY OF THE 22ND CONGRESS OF THE WORLD ZIONIST ORGANIZATION. THEY WILL CHART NEW POLICIES AIMED AT ACHIEVING THE AVOWED GOAL OF ZIONISM-- CREATION OF A NATIONAL JEWISH HOMELAND IN PALESTINE.

THE LATEST DEVELOPMENT LINKED WITH EFFORTS TO ACHIEVE PEACE IN THE VIOLENCE-RIDDEN HOLY LAND WAS THE DISCLOSURE IN NEW YORK BY U.S.SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD HAVE AN OBSERVER AT THE LONDON CONFERENCES ON PALESTINE TO BE RESUMED IN JANUARY.

BYRNES ASSERTED THAT "JEWISH LEADERS" FAVORED A PLAN FOR PARTITION OF PALESTINE, AND IT REMAINED TO BE SEEN HOW THIS ISSUE WOULD BE TREATED AT THE CONGRESS HERE--THE FIRST WORLD ASSEMBLY OF ZIONISTS SINCE 1939.

He made his statement after conferences with American zionist leaders who will attend the meetings here, including rabbi stephen wise.

The British have announced that the Palestine conferences will NOT be resumed in London until sometime in January because of

30.24-6825

The british have announced that the Palestine conferences on Palestine, originally scheduled to be resumed on Dec. 16, will NOT be held until sometime in January, presumably because of the conflict in dates with the Zionist congress

The conference in November was NOT attended by either the Zionists or Palestine Arabs. Since then Arab sources in Jerusalem have said that they will have a representative present at least as an observer.

1946

Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the world zionist organization, and head of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, will address the opening meeting of THE CONGRESS.

He will review the political situation since the last congress and perhaps indicate his views on the latest developments regarding the Holy Land.

Among the 380 delegates to the congress, elected by populatvote among zionist members, are 246 from the United states, 79 from Palestine, 16 from camps of displaced persons in Germany and Austria, 17 from France and French possessions and protectorates, 14 from Poland, 17 from Romania,

10 from Hungary, 10 from te British isles, 7 from the Union of South Africa, 9 from Canada, 4 from Italy and about 20 from various south American countries and small groups from Belgium, Holland, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and other countries.

there will be NO representation from the soviet union, where Zionism remains under ban.

Politically the 380 delegates are divided thusly: General Zionist party, 125; Social Democratic party (poale Zion) 105; Traditional Orthodox (misrachi) 60; Revisionist 40; Socialists (Hashomer Hazair) 45, including a left wing element and 5 delegates from among central eurppean immigrants.

The general zionists, strong in the United States, present a middle-of-the road constituency. To the left are the two social democrats, especially strong in Palestine in the form of the labor party (Mapai), and the left-wing ew socialists. To the right, culturally, is the orthodox party, including a progressive labor wing, which ew urges application of Jewish laws in the public life of Palestine.

The Zionist revisionists are most radical, demanding the establishment of a Jewish state in Palestine and repudiation of the 1937 recommendation of the Lord Peel royal commission that Palestine be partitioned into Jewish and Arab states.

However all of the parties with the exception of the socialists call for establishment of a Jewish state, but they differ widely on means of achieving this end.

1946

The congress will also elect members of the executive committee of the Jewish Agency, which was recognized in the League of nations' mandate to Britain to govern Palestine as the agency for the Jews which would give counsel to the Palestine government.

Among general zionists on the committee are Dr. Selig Brodetsky, mathematics professor at Leeds university, who is in charge of the zionists political department in London; Dr. Nahum Goldmann, educated in Berlin and Frankfurt, now of New York; Rabbi A. H. Silver of Cleveland, Ohio.

VPEARL HARBOR (250)
BY RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, DEC.7-(AP)-THIS BOMB-RUINED AND DEFEATED COUNTRY WOULD LIKE TO FORGET WHAT HAPPENED FIVE YEARS AGO.

THROUGH THE CHILLY NIGHT OF DEC. 7. 1941, JAPAN'S MILLIONS SLEPT--IN TENSION BUT IN IGNORANCE--WHILE A FEW KEY MEN COMPLETED THE FINAL DETAILS OF ONE OF THE BEST-KEPT SECRETS OF WARFARE, THE ATTACK ON PEARL HARBOR.

IT WAS 3:25 A.M. DEC. 8, TOKYO TIME, WHEN THE BOMBS EXPLODED. IT WAS 7 A.M. WHEN THE ORDINARY JAPANESE GOT HIS FIRST INKLING OF THE EVENT THROUGH CAREFUL RADIO BROADCASTS. IT WAS 11:40 A.M. WHEN THE RADIO ANNOUNCED THE IMPERIAL RESCRIPT DECLARING WAR.

AMERICANS WHO WERE HERE AT THE TIME SAID MOST JAPANESE SEEMED STUNNED, UNPREPARED FOR THAT FINAL REALITY, EVEN THOUGH THEY LONG HAD BEEN GROOMED BY PRESS AND RADIO FOR A DAY OF RECKONING WITH AMERICA.

NOW, AS JAPANESE SEE ON EVERY HAND HOW THEIR MOMENT OF TRIUMPH HAS ENDED IN IMPOVERISHMENT AND DEFEAT, THEY DON'T LIKE TO TALK ABOUT PEARL HARBOR.

IT HAS A HABIT OF CREEPING INTO CONVERSATIONS BETWEEN AMERICANS AND JAPANESE, AND USUALLY THE TALK COMES TO AN ABRUPT, EMBARRASSING HALT. THEN THE JAPANESE STARTS TALKING ABOUT SOMETHING ELSE. MOST JAPANESE CANNOT UNDERSTAND WHY AMERICANS WON'T FORGET THINGS THE WAY THEY HAVE TRIED TO DO.

AT THE OUTSET OF THE OCCUPATION, EDUCATED JAPANESE USED TO ASK, "WHEN DID JAPAN LOSE THE WAR?" 1946

THEY WERE SHOCKED AT THE USUAL AMERICAN ANSWER: "WHEN YOU ATTACKED PEARL HARBOR."

IT IS DOUBTFUL IF MANY JAPANESE EVEN YET CONSIDER THE ATTACK MORALLY WRONG. IN THEIR MINDS THEY HAD ACCEPTED STEALTH AS A LEGITIMATE PART OF WWAR, EVEN THOUGH THAT WAR HAD NOT BEEN DECLARED.

STILL, THE GREAT MAJORITY APPEARS EMBARRASSED, KNOWING THAT PEARL HARBOR BROUGHT UPON JAPAN SUFFERING, HARDSHIP AND DESPAIR. THE JAPANESE WOULD LIKE TO FORGET THE WHOLE THING--BUT THEY CAN'T.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S REPORT, CONTAINED IN A SERIES OF CONFIDENTIAL DOCUMENTS ON U.S. FOREIGN POLICY IN 1931, ALSO RELATED THAT GERMANY EVEN THEN WAS MAKING SECRET MILITARY PREPARATIONS AND BALKED AT JUNKING HER POCKET-BATTLESHIP BUILDING PROGRAM IN THE MIDST OF NATIONAL BANKRUPTCY.

STIMSON'S IRE AGAINST J.P.MORGAN AND CO. WAS CITED IN A MEMORANDUM HE WROTE ON JULY 17,1931, AT THE HEIGHT OF CRITICAL DIPLOMATIC JOUSTING AMONG THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND FRANCE IN THE BACKGROUND OF EFFORTS TO SAVE GERMANY FROM ECONOMIC COLLAPSE.

STIMSON NOTED THAT A MAN NAMED "JAY OF MORGAN AND COMPANY"--IDENTIFIED BY THE FIRM YESTERDAY AS DEAN JAY, ITS MEMBER IN CHARGE OF EUROPEAN BUSINESS AT THE TIME--GOT HIS EAR DURING TALKS IN PARIS WITH THE FRENCH MINISTER OF FINANCE, M.FLANDIN, ON THE QUESTION OF FUNDS FOR GERMANY.

"JAY PULLED OUT A CABLE FROM TOM LAMONT AND RUSSELL LEFFINGWELL (BOTH MEMBERS OF J.P.MORGAN CO.)," STIMSON WROTE, ADDING THAT THE CABLE INDICATED THE NEW YORK BANKING FIRM HAD MEDDLED IN THE SPHERE OF HIGH DIPLOMACY TO SUCH AN EXTENT THAT IT MIGHT "END THE ONLY CHANCE OF CONCILIATION."

AT THIS POINT, STIMSON SAID: "THEN I BLEW UP."

U.N. Committee Votes For Break With Franco

Resolution Sponsored By Latin-American Group Wins, 11 To 6, Despite U.S. Opposition

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—Great Britain formally asked the United Nations Assembly late tonight to establish an international board of inspection to verify a census of troops at home and abroad.

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 8 (AP)—A United Nations subcommittee today approved a resolution recommending that United Nations members refuse to maintain diplomatic relations with the present Spanish regime.

The vote, despite vigorous opposition led by the United States and Great Britain, was 11 to 6, on a joint resolution sponsored by Mexico, Chile, Venezuela, Panama and Guatemala, and supported by Russia and France.

Two-Thirds Vote Unlikely

It was considered unlikely tonight that the resolution as it now stands would muster the necessary two-thirds majority to gain Assembly approval.

Meanwhile the political committee refused to take any steps to eliminate the big power veto from the United Nations Charter and at the same time rejected an Australian proposal to censure Russia for her frequent use of the veto in the Security Council.

These actions came as the General Assembly, driving toward final adjournment, went into a full schedule of Sunday meetings in an effort to dispose of its highly controversial issues in time to wind up its session by Friday night.

Other Plans Withdrawn

The Spanish measure recommended that "members of the United Nations take individually the same attitude they have taken collectively and refuse to maintain diplomatic relations with the present Spanish regime."

All other resolutions were withdrawn, to be brought up again in the political committee at option of their sponsors.

The preamble to the United States resolution, condemning Generalissimo Franco's regime as Fascist-created and patterned on Fascist models, was previously adopted. However, Hayden Raynor, the United States delegate, may still present his resolution as a whole.

Its final paragraphs, inviting Franco to step down and asking the people of Spain to elect a broadened government, gave way to the joint Latin-American resolution, which was offered as an amendment to it.

Raynor, speaking for the United States, reiterated American opposition to a diplomatic break with the Franco Government and insisted that the best plan was the United States proposal.

Venezuelan Charge Denied

He denied a charge made yesterday by Pedro Zuloaga, of Venezuela, that the United States, by its vigorous stand against a diplomatic rupture, was trying to exercise the veto.

"It is incomprehensible," Raynor said, "that the United States would attempt to use the veto in the General Assembly . . . when it has never used it in the Security Council."

A. G. Bottomley, United Kingdom representative, supported the United States resolution, and declared that a diplomatic break would do little or no good, but that it might result in internal strife in Spain.

"We are not prepared to lend ourselves to anything that might lead the Spanish people some years later to believe that we led them . . . into a civil war," Bottomley declared.

Food Proposal Approved

The Polish and White Russian proposals, the first for a world-wide break, the second for economic isolation as well, were withdrawn earlier.

The Spanish subcommittee also approved a French resolution, by a vote of 11 to 5, recommending that all members of the United Nations end all imports of food from Spain until they are sure that there is no longer any immediate need for food among the Spanish people.

In withdrawing the other proposals before the subcommittee, their sponsors served notice that they might bring them up again when the question comes up—probably tomorrow—before the political committee.

There was good reason to believe, therefore, that the Spanish question would get a thorough going over by the committee. Sir Hartley Shawcross, British delegate, charged last week that the subcommittee was "packed" with anti-Franco delegates and some delegates expressed the belief privately that the 54-nation political group might reverse its action.

Veto Resolution Amended

The political committee swept the veto question from its agenda by rejecting proposals by Cuba, China and Argentina and approving an amended Australian resolution which had been stripped of its most forceful section—that censuring big powers, but obviously aimed at Russia.

As finally approved, the Australian resolution called on the five permanent members of the Security Council—the United States, Great Britain, France, Russia and China—to make efforts in the future to limit the use of the veto voluntarily.

The section of the Australian proposal which was deleted said that the General Assembly "considers that, in some instances, the use and the threatened use of such power of veto have not been in keeping either with the general purposes and principles of the Charter or with the understanding of the United Nations Conference on International Organization held at San Francisco.

The section was dropped by a vote of 19 to 10.

Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas) threw the weight of the United States behind the Australian plan conditioned upon elimination of the censure clause.

The other major resolution rejected was a Cuban proposal providing for an international conference to consider revision of the United Nations Charter to eliminate or modify the veto privileges of the big powers. This measure was voted on in two sections, the first being defeated, 27 to 7, and the second 20 to 13.

There still was a possibility that the whole veto question might be reopened in a plenary session of the General Assembly, but it appeared unlikely that any of the rejected proposals would be able to get the necessary two-thirds majority.

Annexation Opposed

Meanwhile, the 54-nation trusteeship committee, considering South Africa's request to annex the former League of Nations mandate of Southwest Africa, approved an Indian resolution demanding that the annexation request be turned down and that the territory be offered immediately for United Nations trusteeship. The vote was 17 to 15.

A subcommittee previously had rejected the Indian proposal and adopted instead a milder joint proposal by the United States and Denmark which said merely that information available at present does not justify Assembly approval of annexation.

Dissenters Serve Notice

A proposal for regional conferences of nonself-governing territories won approval by a slim margin in the trusteeship committee, but nine nations—those principally responsible for administration of such territories—served notice, in effect, that they would not attend such meetings.

The proposal was adopted by a vote of 18 to 15, but 21 nations were not represented in the balloting.

At the conclusion of the vote, the following nations asked that it be made a matter of record that they did not consider adoption of the resolution binding on their governments: the United States, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Australia, Canada, Denmark, the Netherlands and New Zealand.

Curb on UN Veto Blocked By 19 to 10 Committee Vote

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 8—(AP) A small nation drive to curb the Big Five's special powers in the Security council and an Australian attempt to rebuke Russia for resorting to the veto were rebuffed today in the United Nations assembly's powerful Political committee.

The action, climaxing a lengthy wrangle in international councils, came as the committee tentatively disposed of a batch of resolutions, adopting only a mildly-worded plea to the big powers to seek harmony among themselves in carrying on council business.

Aimed at Soviet

Stripped from the resolution finally adopted was Australia's stinging assertion, obviously aimed at the Soviet, that the assembly considers that "the use and threatened use" of the veto was consistent neither with the purposes nor the principles of the United Nations Charter.

That clause was rejected—with the United States among those in the opposition—by a roll call vote of 10 to 19 with 13 members abstaining. The milder request phrases of the resolution were accepted, generally by a margin of 20 votes, with the opposition coming from Russia and her Balkan neighbors.

But even before accepting this token approach to the problem, the Political committee turned thumbs down on a still milder proposal by China on a roll call vote of 18 to 24 which Russia had expressed willingness to accept.

That resolution—frankly termed a "face saving" gesture by China's V. K. Wellington Koo—would have merely placed the assembly on record as requesting the big powers to make sure they used their "special voting right" to speed the council's decisions. It did not mention the veto directly.

Connally Backs Plan

Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex) threw the weight of this nation behind the Australian plan conditioned upon elimination of the censure clause.

He took this stand with the argument that the clause "looks backward and attempts to establish blame," adding that the difficulties thus far have been "growing pains of a young organization." "And," he added, "it's not very good form to approach a party with harsh words."

Russian Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky entered the Soviet's opposition to the Australian resolution on the grounds that "it contains so many irritations and condemnations that it cannot serve a good cause."

From Britain's Sir Hartley Shawcross came an indictment of both the Australian and Chinese plans as vague.

Assembly Censure

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—The United Nations Assembly tonight censured the South African Government for discrimination against Indian citizens of South Africa.

By a vote of 32 to 15, the 54-nation general assembly in plenary session adopted a compromise French-Mexican resolution calling on India and South Africa to settle their differences and report to next year's session.

A two-third majority—32 votes—was necessary for adoption of the resolution on the highly controversial issue.

Court Move Rejected

The resolution was adopted after the Assembly rejected a South African amendment demanding that the Indian-South African issue be sent to the International Court of Justice for an advisory opinion.

The resolution recognized India's contention regarding treatment of Indians in South Africa and said that "because of that treatment friendly relations between the two member states have been impaired, and unless a satisfactory settlement is reached, these relations are likely to be further impaired."

Adoption of the resolution, which weathered a prolonged fight through committee and then plenary sessions, was greeted with heavy applause.

Vishinsky Cites Laws

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, strongly opposed the South African amendment and declared that "the accused has no way out." He cited a list of South African laws which he said discriminated against the Indians.

He said this was not merely a domestic issue, as argued by South Africa, but "is most obviously an international question."

The Indian-South African battle was the highlight of the first two of three plenary sessions at Flushing Meadow Park. Yesterday and today in prolonged debate as the major powers waited to grapple with a renewed British proposal calling for an inspection board to verify a world-wide troop inventory.

"Strikes At Very Core"

Brig.-Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, of the Philippines, told the Assembly tonight that the issue before it was a "question that strikes at the very core of the United Nations."

30.24-6831

"The real issue," he declared, "is a clear-cut question of human morality. The resolution we are asked to adopt resembles but little of the original Indian resolution, and was accepted by India in a spirit of conciliation."

Shouting at times, Romulo declared at one point:

"Whatever the General Assembly shall decide to do, we shall rue the day that we vote on this issue on the basis of narrow racial and national considerations."

Dr. Ricardo J. Alfaro, of Panama, charged that "reference of this issue to the court is an attempt at evasion. We cannot destroy faith in the Charter."

SOUTH AFRICAN PLAN FACES NEW UN FIGHT

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 8—(AP) A United Nations trusteeship committee turned thumbs down today on South Africa's proposal to absorb the territory of Southwest Africa—but the issue will be fought out again in the general assembly.

The 54-nation trusteeship group flatly rejected any plan of incorporation. It called upon South Africa to submit a trusteeship agreement for the territory under the proposed United Nations system of trusteeship over former mandated territories.

Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, South African premier, previously told the committee that if his request for annexation was rejected he would continue to administer Southwest Africa under terms of the league mandate and would not submit the territory to UN trusteeship.

SITE HUNTERS VOTE ON UN HOME TODAY

San Francisco Group Hopes for Choice Over Philadelphia Location.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—(AP) The battle for the United Nations permanent capital site intensified tonight with a variety of behind-the-scenes moves on the eve of a showdown meeting of the 54-member Headquarters committee at Lake Success.

These developments brought a new upsurge in the hopes of Mayor Roger Lapham's San Francisco site committee and a partly disclosed plan by Mayor O'Dwyer of New York to give the UN wide selection of sites hereabouts with a suggestion that the peace capital might even be a skyscraper.

Rockefeller Offer Hinted

The unexpected appearance of Nelson A. Rockefeller at Flushing Meadow park late today heightened speculation that the old Rockefeller estate at Tarrytown might be offered to the United Nations as a permanent home.

O'Dwyer declined to amplify his plans beyong suggesting that the UN could find any of location in the environs of New York and that UN could arrange the erection of a sky-scraper on available land. He went on to suggest that the government might offer Govenor's Island, a small dot in the upper bay off Brooklyn and the location of Fort Jay, to match the offer of the San Francisco Presidio.

New York thus far has formally offered 350 acres of the Flushing Meadow park, where the General assembly is meeting.

While Philadelphia, with support led by Britain and Russia, remained nominally in the lead, a San Francisco committee source said an unofficial poll showed that 23 delegations indicated they favored San Francisco and possibly nine more would go along to make up more than necessary for the simple majority decision among the 54 committee members.

The Headquarters committee meeting at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the interim headquarters at Lake Success was expected to vote first on whether the peace capital should be set up on the Atlantic or Pacific coast and then to pin-point a location.

New York Skyscraper Urged For U.N. Home

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany, today told a luncheon group which included several United Nations delegates that a New York skyscraper home for United Nations would be "in the spirit of the age."

"Above all, don't go to Philadelphia," Gerard said. "When you're not dreaming your time away in that somnambulant city, you'll spend half your time going to New York."

Thomas J. Watson, head of the International Business Machines Corporation, and Mrs. Watson were hosts at the luncheon.

SOVIET OPPOSES COUNT OF TROOPS IN HOME STATIONS

REVERSES STAND

Surprise Move Comes as Britain Proposes Board to Check on Reports.

NEW YORK, Monday, Dec. 9—(AP) Russia tossed a bombshell into the United Nations assembly early today by opposing the inclusion of armed forces at home in a worldwide troop census.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov demanded the deletion of a home troop census from a resolution which had been approved by the powerful UN Political committee, with Molotov concurring at that time on both domestic forces and those on foreign soil.

Molotov made his surprise move a moment after Britain had formally asked the assembly in plenary session to establish an international board of inspection to verify the census of troops both at home and abroad.

Delegates Surprised

Molotov's action, however, caught the delegates unaware and for the moment revived the whole question of troop disposition.

Molotov reopened the controversial issue in the face of decisive committee action which had approved a resolution calling for a home-and-abroad troop inventory by a vote of 34 to 7 with four abstentions.

In the face of this, it appeared doubtful that Russia could muster enough votes to delete the home census since it would require a two-thirds majority.

Molotov, in demanding that the census be confined only to troops abroad, said the inventory of home troops would only "complicate the question of troops on foreign soil."

He asked for the deletion of the entire fourth paragraph of the resolution. This paragraph reads:

"What is the total number of their uniformed personnel on the active list, wherever stationed, at home as well as abroad, including military type organizations."

Explains Stand

Molotov declared that the proposal to submit information on troops at home simultaneously with information on troops abroad "only distracts from the question which has been put before the General assembly."

"We proposed that this section should speak not only of military personnel but of armaments as well," he said.

Then Molotov explained he could not accept the British proposal for a double-check on the troop census.

"The Soviet attitude toward the British amendment," he said, "is evident in what I have said regarding the fourth paragraph of the resolution."

The plenary session adjourned at 1 a. m. until 4 p. m. Tuesday when the debate will be resumed.

Molotov's surprise was sprung after the assembly had censured the South African government for racial discrimination of Indians in the union.

In an appeal to the assembly to accept the British proposal, Sir Hartley Shawcross declared that "the principle of verification is fully accepted by everybody and we are all in complete agreement."

U. S. to Oppose Plan

A spokesman for the American delegation said earlier, however, that the United States would oppose the British plan.

Anticipating a debate on this vital issue, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov came to the assembly hall at Flushing Meadow park midway in the South African-Indian debate. This was the second straight night that he had made his appearance late, apparently ready to state the Soviet position on the troop question.

Molotov was flanked by his top three deputies—Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Andrei A. Gromyko, and Ambassador Nikolai Novikov.

Sir Hartley in concluding his appeal told the assembly that adoption of the British verification plan "will show the world that we do mean business in disarmament."

By a vote of 32 to 15, the 54-national general assembly in plenary session adopted a compromise French-Mexican resolution calling on India and South Africa to settle their differences and report to next year's session.

A two-thirds majority—32 votes—was necessary for adoption of the highly controversial issue.

The resolution was adopted after the assembly rejected a South African amendment demanding that the Indian-South African issue be sent to the International Court of Justice for an advisory opinion.

The resolution recognized India's contention regarding treatment of Indians in South Africa and said that "because of that treatment friendly relations between the two member states have been impaired, and unless a satisfactory settlement is reached, these relations are likely to be further impaired."

Adoption of the resolution, which weathered a prolonged fight through committee and then plenary sessions, was greeted with heavy applause.

Stalin's Health May Be Reason For Softening Russian Policy

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—(AP) Four reasons are most frequently advanced by western diplomats here for softening of Soviet Russia's policies toward the United States and Britain. Chief among these is their belief that Soviet leaders are hedging against the withdrawal of Josef Stalin from active direction of Soviet affairs.

Whether Stalin is in failing health, as Turkish reports say and Moscow and London sources deny, is a question which top officials here appear unable to answer. What they do know is that for months he has stayed in the background, while Foreign Minister Molotov and other officials took the limelight.

Stalin In Background

This has led to the widely accepted conclusion among top western diplomatic officials here that if Stalin is not in ill health, he certainly is becoming the prophet and philosopher of Soviet Communism rather than its daily director. In either case it is assumed that political power in Moscow is shifting to new hands and that even though change be most orderly, Soviet leaders are anxious that it should come off in an atmosphere of world calm.

In other words, all Russia's internal problems will be made easier in a difficult period if Russia's external problems are minimized and this fact, in Anglo-American diplomatic opinion probably is one of the main springs of Soviet diplomacy here in the United Nations sessions and in the peacemaking conferences of the Council of Foreign Ministers.

The three other reasons most often cited by responsible informants for the new international behavior and the willingness to make concessions displayed here by Molotov and his fellow Soviet delegates are these:

Power of Atom Bomb

1. Russian officials actually are deeply concerned about American possession of the atomic bomb and their most important diplomatic objective at this time is to neutralize it, outlaw it, put it under international control — do everything possible within the limits of other Soviet interests to restrict or prevent its use as a diplomatic and potential military force. (Molotov, for example, would not yield a point on modification of the veto in the UN Security Council but finally said, as Bernard Baruch had insisted all along, that there should be no veto in any arms control commission setup. Baruch had made clear there would be no atomic or other arms control unless the veto was waived to that extent.)

2. International reconstruction is the practical problem which immediately involves the greatest number of people in Russia and therefore must be a source of constant concern for the Kremlin. To help with this Russia wants great reparations from Germany beyond what she is already getting. Many officials also believe that she wants American financial and technical aid. The reparations and financial problems can only be solved in a friendlier state of international relations than existed when the New York meetings started.

3. Communist political failures in Europe and elsewhere are believed by Anglo-American authorities to have dealt the Kremlin several severe disappointments. Despite Soviet army and police support the Communists did not sweep all eastern Europe before them; they have had severe setbacks in eastern Germany; they have not captured effective French support. Moreover, under constant criticism from Washington and London because of their Iranian, Turkish and eastern European policies the Russians and their local Communist supporters in many countries have appeared to lose much of the moral leadership that had in the past won them support from non-Communist groups.

U. S. Getting "Tougher"

Beyond these three reasons lie others which in the secret reasoning of the Kremlin may be at least as potent as any already cited. These include the stiffened foreign policy of the United States.

The big question for which diplomatic sources have no answer is this: Do the Russian concessions mean a real change of Soviet policy in the sense of a permanent effort to get along with the western powers, or do they mean a tactical move to ease the U.S.S.R. over the rough spots of the moment?

Molotov, in his opening speech to the UN Assembly, promised Soviet cooperation on disarmament, atomic control and other great problems, yet handed the usual lambasting to "capitalist aggressors" and other Soviet propaganda whipping boys. Since that time American and British diplomats have balanced Molotov's affability in the foreign ministers meetings with continued anti-capitalist blasts in the Soviet press.

One odd fact does stand out in all this. During the war and immediately after, Stalin was the man to whom American officials always appealed if they wanted a compromise on a tough issue. Sometimes they got it. Molotov was the man for the diplomatic dirty work, the one whom the western diplomats feared and in some instances hated because they considered him stubborn, narrow, fanatical.

As Stalin has moved into the background Molotov has taken on the mantle of reasonable compromiser. His once bitter sessions with Byrnes and Bevin are now often broken by laughter over familiar jokes about the same old problems.

This fact, coupled with a recent great press build up for Molotov in Russia, has set off some speculation here about Molotov as a successor to Stalin some day.

But if there is one question on which western diplomats have fewer facts than they have on Stalin's health, it is the question of Stalin's successor.

TRUSTEESHIP ISSUE IS AGAIN DELAYED

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 8—(AP) The United States and Russia today were given 24 hours more for efforts to find a definition for the term "states directly concerned" as applied to territories under the proposed United Nations trusteeship system.

The time limit on further "over a cup of coffee" talks by the two powers was set by Roberto Maceachen, of Uruguay, chairman of the General Assembly's trusteeship committee.

Maceachen last week invited John Foster Dulles and Nikolai V. Novikov, as representatives of the two nations, to "get together over a cup of coffee" and reach a compromise.

The conversations have remained deadlocked although Dulles said he was "hopeful" of some solution. Novikov added, in his report to the committee, that he was "not too hopeful."

STALIN'S HEALTH TERMED 'OF BEST'

Embassy Blames 'Rumors' To Contrary On Ankara

London, Dec. 8 (AP)—A Soviet Embassy spokesman, denying rumors published here that Prime Minister Stalin was either dead or dying, said today that the Russian leader "is in the best of health."

The spokesman told a reporter the rumors were "dirty speculation." He added that the current rumors "are believed to originate from Ankara."

"There have been many rumors started in the Turkish capital," he said, "and I know this one appeared in Turkish newspapers some days ago."

Banner Lines On Stalin's Health

The reports about Stalin's health reached banner headline proportions in some London newspapers over the week end. Lord Kemsley's Sunday Dispatch said the Russian Prime Minister had gone to Abkhazia, in the northwestern part of his native Georgia, to recuperate from a blood-vessel ailment.

"One of Stalin's eastern European visitors who saw him during the last week of September reported he looked much aged," the article said. "He made the impression of an ill man."

The Sunday newspaper The People reported that Stalin was taking a holiday at the Black Sea resort of Sochi and that "he has decided to retire from the supreme control but will maintain contact in the Kremlin as an elder statesman."

"The first official announcement is planned for the Russian new year, about a month from now," The People added.

Press Speculation On Stalin

The Independent London Observer said that "the rumors that Marshal Stalin is seriously ill are based on his repeated absence from all public celebrations since September 5."

"The probability is that Stalin, at the age of 67, has retained effective control only of major foreign and home policy, and that his health prevents him from carrying out either public functions or detailed administrative work," the Observer added.

The newspaper said that V. M. Molotov, Foreign Minister, "is considered to be second to Stalin in formal power and . . . it is probable that Stalin himself would wish Molotov to be his successor."

philosopher, said he didn't give a hoot about being lampooned—"People say what they like about me, and goodness, the things they say"—but objected to politicians' being spared by the censor.

"All hur[illegible]gs have a tendency to get above themselves and to grow too big for their boots, particularly if they have power," he wrote in The Sunday Dispatch. "The best way of keeping on our guard is having somebody there to laugh to us."

The Earl of Clarendon, Britain's stage censor, deleted a reference to Mr. Strachey from a song in a revue, but approved a dig about Dr. Joad's recent defeat in a Parliamentary by-election.

Visit Stalin's Birthplace

London, Monday, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass reported today that Elliott Roosevelt and his wife have visited Prime Minister Stalin's birthplace at Gori, Georgia.

'Ambassadress' Back In Other Birmingham

London, Dec. 8 (AP)—Miss Eileen McKenna returned today from a fifteen-day Cinderella adventure as "ambassadress" of Birmingham, England, to the seventy-fifth anniversary of the namesake city in Alabama.

The 27-year-old girl, who tomorrow will resume her job as personal secretary of the Lord Mayor of England's Birmingham, stepped out of the plane into a downpour.

"I am sorry I have come back to this," she said, raising a telescopic umbrella she had been given in America. "The temperature in Alabama never fell below 70 degrees."

Eileen displayed gifts and praised Alabama hospitality.

"I had a five-room suite in a hotel and it was marvelous," she said. "There were fresh flowers every day and the presents—well, I was overwhelmed."

Dr. Joad Blasts Censor For Sparing Strachey

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 8—Dr. C. E. M. Joad loosed a column of indignation today at the censorship that took Food Minister John Strachey out of a satirical song in a musical comedy and put him, Dr. Joad, in Mr. Strachey's place.

TRUANT SUB HUNTED

PLYMOUTH, England, Dec. 8—(AP) The British navy searched for a crewless submarine off the Channel islands tonight as a gale, described as "one of the worst in many years," battered the southern English coast.

The submersible truant broke loose from a towing vessel last Thursday.

Meanwhile, four crewmen were reported missing from a tugboat which capsized while towing a British ship to safety from heavy seas near Plymouth. Several small craft were sunk at various points along the coastline.

BIDAULT'S PARTY TOPS COMMUNISTS IN FRENCH COUNCIL

MRP Gains 62 Seats in Electoral College Balloting for Upper Chamber.

REDS WIN 61

Socialists Third, Other Minor Parties Have Small Representation.

PARIS, Dec. 8—(AP) The Popular Republican Movement (MRP) of Georges Bidault won a narrow victory over the French Communist party in today's electoral college balloting for seats in the Council of the Republic, upper chamber of the French Parliament.

Complete returns showed that the MRP won 62 of the 214 seats at stake, while the Communists captured 61. The figures included North African balloting.

37 Socialists Chosen

Leon Blum's Socialists gained 37 seats, the Radical Socialists (leftist rally) 25, the Republican Party of Liberty and its affiliated rightist parties 20, the Algerian Manifesto Union four, the Algerian Franco-Musulman Union [illegible] and minor parties two.

Of the 214 seats decided today, the balloting by members of the electoral college decided which parties would receive 127 of them in continental France and 14 in North Africa. A special election commission assigned the remaining 73 seats to the various parties on the basis of the total vote cast in the election for electoral college members two weeks ago.

The Council of the Republic has 315 members and of this number French colonies exclusive of North Africa will select 51 members. The remaining 50 seats in the body will be selected by Parliament's lower house, the National Assembly, on the basis of the strength of the various parties there. The National Assembly will fill 42 seats for continental France and eight for colonial groups.

First Meeting Dec. 24

Soon after the Council first meets, Dec. 24, it will join with the National Assembly to elect a president of the republic. The president will nominate a premier, and when he forms a cabinet, postwar France will finally have permanent legislature and executive branches in operation.

One of the defeated candidates for the Council was Joseph Paul-Boncour, longtime French delegate to the League of Nations.

The number of electoral college ballots obtained by the parties today was:

MRP 27,280, Communists 25,788, Socialists 15,710, Radical Socialists 10,230, Republican Party of Liberty and affiliated rightist parties 7,963, minor parties 1,170.

Oil Spot Where French Submarine Vanished

Toulon, France, Dec. 8 (AP)—The fate of sixteen men aboard the French submarine 23-26 appeared definitely sealed today as search planes and vessels discovered an oil spot 300 yards across over a depth of 800 to 1,000 yards.

Naval authorities said samples of the oil left little doubt it came from the former German U-boat, unheard from since the French took it on a test run Thursday with sixteen men aboard.

GI Held In Shooting Of Girl

Berlin, Dec. 8 (AP)—Army investigators said today they were holding an American soldier as a suspect in the shooting of a German girl found wounded critically in the head last night in the living room of a Berlin home. The investigators said the soldier was in the room and that a pistol was lying at the girl's side.

Halting Of Food Feared

Berlin, Dec. 8 (AP)—The ending of the American coal strike was given front page prominence today in German newspapers, which previously had indicated concern that it might halt relief food shipments to this country.

German editors have shared the general European opinion that the paralyzing labor deadlock in the United States would retard European recovery.

NUERNBERG JAIL HEAD OUSTED ON EVE OF NEW TRIAL

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 8.—(AP) The U. S. Army announced yesterday it had streamlined its security measures at the Nuernberg jail and had removed as commandant Col. B. C. Andrus whose elaborate precautions were flaunted when Hermann Goering cheated the gallows by swallowing a vial of long-hidden poison.

The streamlining was undertaken to guard scores of Nazis awaiting trial in the series of war crimes cases to be aired before American tribunals, the Army said.

Andrus has been succeeded by Maj. Frederick C. Teich of Macon, Ga., previously Andrus' assistant. Andrus has returned to the United States, joining his wife who is ill in a Denver, Colo., hospital, and it is "not known" whether he will return to Germany, a Nuernberg spokesman said.

The first of the new series of war crimes trials to be conducted by the Americans will open tomorrow with the appearance of 23 Nazi doctors, among them Karl Brandt, former personal physician to Adolf Hitler. They have pleaded innocent to charges of murdering hundreds of thousands of concentration camp inmates in cruel medical experiments.

Meanwhile U. S. legal officials at Nuernberg announced that Alfried Krupp Von Bohlen und Halbach, 39, head of the former Krupp munitions empire, will be tried before a military tribunal on war crimes charges.

He is being held in the British zone. Authorities there have agreed to transfer him to American custody, the officials said.

Dependents Sent To Europe By Air

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 8 (AP). The first plane load of wives and children of American military personnel to arrive by air in Germany reached Frankfurt today.

Forty-two American dependents, including 23 children under 6 years of age, landed in a Douglas Skymaster airliner at Frankfurt's Rhine-Main airfield. They left New York Saturday.

The crowd of mothers and children rushed out of the plane into arms of waiting soldier-husbands. Excited youngsters ran around the airfield, taking their first look at Germany.

Mrs. Robert C. Blenis, of Des Moines, Iowa, here with her 4-year-old daughter, Sharon, said while waiting for a train to join her lieutenant husband in Munich: "It was a fine trip. The children ran up and down the aisles and had a wonderful time. A few children became airsick at one point, but so did the adults. Sharon enjoyed herself looking at the Atlantic most of the way."

Mrs. Mabel Scott, of Dadeville, Ala., and her son, William 4, were headed for Liege, Belgium, to join Lieut. William L. Scott. "It was an exciting trip with the kids running up and down, chattering twenty to the dozen," she said.

The plane was the first of a series of regularly scheduled flights for the dependents of American personnel. Thousands of other wives and youngsters have come to Germany by sea.

Ex-Major Claims Trials Are Unfair

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 8 (AP)—Thomas L. Foley, of Hayward, Cal., left Germany by plane for Washington today to urge Congress to investigate military justice in the European theater.

Foley, former major in the Army Air Forces, resigned as defense counsel for four accused Americans last Friday, declaring that "it is impossible to secure a fair and impartial (court-martial) trial in this army command."

A United States Army spokesman said Foley's accusations were "utterly baseless" and that the Californian had been given "every opportunity" to prepare defenses for his four clients.

In a statement released after Foley's departure by his legal associate, Earl Carroll of San Bruno, Cal., the attorney said:

"I intend to request the appointment of a committee with full power to compel military authorities to submit to factual investigation of their activities in this regard."

The statement charged there was an "abusive use" of courts-martial "to compel obedience" and "to eliminate officers and enlisted men from military service."

Jewish Agency Member Says Settlement Is Avoided

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 8 (AP)—Moshe Sneh, a member of the executive committee of the Jewish Agency, declared tonight that Britain "does not want to settle the Palestine problem."

Speaking before a caucus of the general Zionist party here, Sneh challenged a statement by another member of the executive committee, Dr. Nahum Goldmann, of New York, who had said that the committee should be accorded extraordinary powers, even to the point of seeking a compromise by a partition of Palestine.

"England is against us, and we are against England, and we might as well recognize the political implications," said Sneh, here for the opening of the world Zionist Congress tomorrow.

Bombs Lead To Chaos

Goldmann, a member of the American delegation to the Congress, pleaded for conciliatory measures because "bombs necessarily will lead to chaos."

Goldmann said he did not recommend partitioning of Palestine "because everyone knows we want a Jewish State in the whole of Palestine, but it would be a means of convincing the British Government of our willingness to compromise."

He added: "It would answer a possible question by the United Nations, 'What do you want?'"

"Meanwhile if immigration is not permitted and if people in Palestine are obliged to see their relatives forsaken in displaced persons camps there must be an explosion," he continued.

Swiss Voters Reject Job-Guarantee Plan

Bern, Switzerland, Dec. 8 (AP)—Voters rejected today a proposal under which the Swiss Federal Government would have been obliged to guarantee jobs for all.

The vote was 124,000 for the proposal and 524,336 against. Fifty-four per cent of the nation's qualified voters went to the polls.

Proponents of the measure said it would prevent unemployment. Opponents argued that only authoritarian states could implement such a law.

Italy Facing Darkest Hour, Says Premier

Rome, Dec. 8 (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi said tonight in a speech in Milan that Italy was facing one of the darkest hours in her history and that all Italians must unite to save the nation from "the disaster of inflation."

De Gasperi said that speculators who had attempted to convert Italian currency into foreign exchange had plunged the lire to its lowest level—820 to the dollar, compared with the official rate of 225. Speaking in support of the Government's "reconstruction loan," the Premier promised that measures would be taken against the speculators.

He said that despite the dismal financial picture, Italy's agriculture, industry and foreign trade were making rapid strides and that Italy would try to obtain $800,000,000 to $900,000,000 of foreign capital next year.

Rome And Berlin Hail Strike's End

Rome, Dec. 8 (AP)—Rome's press today frontpaged the news of the end of the United States coal strike, which had sharply cut Italian coal supplies.

To help meet the fuel deficiency, the Ministry of Transportation, effective today cut 163 trains from the country's railroad system.

SPANIARDS TO PROTEST UN STAND ON FRANCO

MADRID, Dec. 8—(AP)—Newspapers and pamphlets today summoned Spaniards to demonstrate Monday against "foreign interference" and for solidarity for the Franco government.

Neither the United States nor British embassy hired extra guards or took special precautions. Sponsors of the demonstration directed their attention mainly at the United Nations, which has resounded recently with denunciations of Franco.

The pamphlets carried such sample message as these: "Spain will never be a colony. x x x The Falange will defend its victory. x x x Beyond the Pyrenees they are plotting treason and aggression against Spain. If France opposes Franco, we will go against France! x x x The fatherland is unjustly attacked."

Italy to Get Yugoslavia Coal

BELGRADE, Dec. 8 (AP).—An agreement was reported signed here yesterday by which Yugoslavia will sell to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration 15,000 tons of hard-coal dust for shipment to Italy, which obtained such coal rfom Germany before the war and is said to need it badly now for reconstruction.

ATHENS INTENSIFIES BLOWS AT REBELS

Army's Attacks in Macedonia Rise—Heavy Vardar Fighting Seen—Thrace Reinforced

Goodwin

ATHENS, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Greek Army heightened today the intensity of already large-scale mopping up operations against Leftist bands in Macedonia, and moved new units into Western Thrace to protect Greco-Turkish highway and rail traffic, army and press reports said.

[The Vardar Valley road in Yugoslav Macedonia was closed to traffic beginning Friday night from Skoplje south to the Greek border, reportedly because of heavy fighting just across the frontier south of Djevdjelia, said press service dispatches via Belgrade. The area in Greece just west of the Vardar River has been the scene of some of the sharpest encounters of Greek Army and Leftist forces for the past month.]

Acting Premier Gen. Stylianos Gonatas reported that the director of the Yugoslav Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Belgrade had protested anew that Greek planes were flying over Yugoslav territory. General Gonatas said the complaint was being investigated.

In Macedonia Greek Army units were reported to have dispersed 500 "Communist" guerrillas in an attack on a stronghold at Karperon, near Kozane, killed eighty to 100 of the rebels and seized arms and ammunition.

The Second Army Corps at Larrisa reported that Leftists suffered "disaster" in a surprise attack by elements of three of its divisions on a mountain stronghold on Mount Khassia in northern Thessaly.

The Third Army Corps at Salonika reported the defeat of a "strong band" of rebels in the Ptolemais area.

Border posts along the Bulgarian-Greek frontier have been "reinforced," the army said, and Seventh Division units have moved into the area to enlarge the guard along Greco-Turkish railroads and highways.

Border Villagers Avoided

Edirne (Adrianople), Turkey, Dec. 8 (AP).—Frightened Greek villagers across the Maritsa River from this Turkish border city—the second capital of the old Ottoman Empire—said today that only the proximity of Turkey has saved them from guerrilla raids staged systematically across Macedonia.

On both sides of the border there are expressions of belief that the Bulgars and Yugoslavs are supporting Communist guerrilla bands which are terrorizing Macedonia and advocating the creation of a state free from Greece.

"All we need is good American guns," one Greek gendarme on the train from Pythion to Edirne said. "Give us good machine guns and we will handle this."

Russian Paper Praises Agreement On Treaties

Moscow, Dec. 8 (AP)—Pravda, Communist party organ, noted evidence today of "objective possibilities of fruitful great-power collaboration" in last week's work of the Foreign Ministers' Council and United Nations General Assembly in New York.

E. Zhukov, writing in the newspaper, said the Foreign Ministers' agreement on peace treaties with German satellites "confirms once more that the adoption of serious international political decisions is possible solely on the basis of real mutual understanding and collaboration among the great powers."

He said their success constituted a "complete denial of the principle of mechanical voting" put forward "as a model of 'pure' democracy at the Paris peace conference" and was an object lesson to "critics of the unanimity principle in the Security Council."

U. S.-CHINA PACT SCORED

Soviet Writer Sees Chinese Put Under U. S. Economic Power

Filmer

MOSCOW, Dec. 8 (AP)—The United States-Chinese trade pact was assailed in the Government newspaper Izvestia today as a "document consolidating the economic domination of the United States in China for long years" and placing that country "in the power of American monopoly capital."

The Izvestia commentator charged that the pact had been signed on the eve of the Chinese National Assembly session "to demonstrate American support of the Kuomintang Government and to strengthen the position of its foreign policy."

[The United States-Chinese treaty of "friendship, commerce and navigation" was signed on Nov. 4. The National Assembly convened on Nov. 25.]

The writer deplored the fact that the National Assembly had convened without Communist participation and declared that ruling circles in the United States desired legislation by a one-party regime "to justify the presence of American troops in China by references to the fact that American troops are there by invitation of a legitimate government which received a mandate from the people in the form of the National Assembly."

INDIA ASSEMBLY CONVENES TODAY

W. Mason

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 8—(AP) Congress Party sources predicted tonight that the constituent assembly, which opens here tomorrow to write a constitution, would ask the federal court to interpret disputed sections of the British cabinet mission plan for India's independence.

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leading Congress Party member of the interim government, declined to comment, but reported to the Congress Party's working committee on the recent Indian conference in London.

It was believed probable that Nehru discussed Britain's warning, issued at the conclusion of the conference, that she would not recognize any constitution written without the Moslem League.

The league, which represents some 90,000,000 Moslems, has boycotted the assembly.

The predominantly Hindu Congress Party, which speaks for the Hindu community of 260,000,000 and for some Moslems, will have 206 seats in the 389-member assembly. Congress sources pointed out that their delegates thus could assure passage of a resolution referring the cabinet mission plan to the federal court. The tribunal is composed of British and Indian officials.

The cabinet plan provided for a central Indian government, which would have charge of communications, foreign affairs and defense. Provinces and princely states would be granted certain degrees of autonomy, in which Moslem rights would be safeguarded.

Nehru said, on his arrival at Karachi, en route here from London, that a British statement issued Friday about the London conference contained "apparently some changes and additions to the draft read out to us the evening before we left London." He declared that the statement was a major one, and would require careful consideration by the Congress Party.

The principal points which the Federal Court would be asked to decide are whether:

1. The Cabinet mission meant that India's individual provinces should have the right to decide if they would remain in groupings designated by the mission.

2. The provinces would be governed under individual constitutions, instead of group constitutions.

3. The provinces could elect not to participate until after the constitution was written and first elections held.

Hindu-Moslem Clashes Recur

BOMBAY, India, Dec. 8 (UP).—Four persons were killed and twelve wounded here today in renewed riots between Hindus and Moslems who fought with knives and threw acid. Three of the rioters were killed and nine wounded in knife fights. One rioter was killed and three were wounded when police fired seventeen rounds of bullets into the surging mobs. Rioting also was reported in the suburbs.

Dispatches from Dacca, in eastern Bengal, said two persons were missing and three wounded after isolated disturbances there.

[The Exchange Telegraph news agency reported in a dispatch to London that Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Hindu leader, arrived Sunday at New Delhi from London, where conferences on India's problems were held last week. It added that the working committee of the All-India Congress met twice Sunday to discuss the latest British declaration on India and the Constituent Assembly.]

Iran Tells Officers In Province To Stop Resisting

Tehran, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Iranian Chief of Staff today called upon officers in the northern province of Azerbaijan to refrain from resisting the Central Government, while in Tehran two Leftist newspapers were suppressed for publishing articles "against the Government policy and the country's interests."

These developments came at the start of a two-week period of parliamentary elections. Tehran warned the régime in Azerbaijan, which adjoins Soviet Russia, that elections there would not be recognized unless they were supervised by the Central Government.

Complained To U.N.

[Iran has complained to the United Nations over alleged Russian interference in Azerbaijan. The Russian news agency Tass reported in Moscow that Iranian troops attacked the Azerbaijan village of Rashein December 4 with tanks, artillery and mortars but had failed to penetrate deeply into the province.

[The newspaper Komsomol Pravda in Moscow said the Iranian Government of Prime Minister Ahmed Qavam "which once declared a program of democratic reforms now is inclining more and more to the path of former reactionary governments. . . . Concessions made to reactionaries have done serious harm to democracy in Iran."]

The suppressed newspapers were Rahbar, publication of the Leftist Tudeh party, and Zafar, a workers' trade union paper.

An order of the Military Governor of Tehran suppressing Rahbar referred to the December 5 issue but mentioned no specific article.

The issue contained an article asserting that "Qavam's Government, as a result of submitting blindly to the anti-Soviet imperialism of America and Britain, is darkening relations between Persia and Russia."

Appeared Under Other Name

Rahbar appeared later under the name of Bashar and published an article saying that the Tehran correspondent of the Moscow newspaper Pravda had written a dispatch asserting that Ambassador George Allen of the United States was interfering in internal Persian affairs.

Informants close to the Government said Iranian troops were deployed along the Azerbaijan border, still awaiting orders to move northward.

The Tehran radio broadcast a message from General Razamara, the Chief of Staff, to army officers in Azerbaijan saying the Iranian Army had been obliged to take up arms to "protect Iran's unity."

Advice Given To Officers

Referring to army officers who joined the Azerbaijan movement, he said:

"Some of you intended to serve Iran in a purely Iranian movement. It is now proved that the movement is not Iranian."

He offered these officers a chance to present themselves at army headquarters immediately, adding that "in case of opposition and being captured in hostilities, you will be dealt with as those who raised arms against Iran's security."

Another Tehran broadcast to Dr. Javid, governor general of Azerbaijan, said that an elections supervision committee formed in that province was invalid.

The message quoted Qavam as saying elections would be held in Azerbaijan only after security forces reached Tabriz, the provincial capital, and that parliamentary deputies chosen in elections not supervised by the Central Government would not be accepted.

EGYPT'S PREMIER TO QUIT; RIOTING FLARES IN CAIRO

CAIRO, Dec. 8.—(AP) A spokesman for ailing Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha, whose treaty negotiations with Britain have evoked widespread anti-government disorders, said today the 78-year-old Egyptian leader had asked that his resignation be submitted to King Farouk.

The spokesman said Sidky Pasha's decision was prompted by his illness, but other official sources indicated it was brought about by "disputes" with the British government on the Sudan question.

Officials here said the person mentioned most frequently as his successor was Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrachi Pasha, leader of the Saadist party, who resigned from the premiership last year after a number of demonstrations against his government.

As news of today's political developments circulated through this troubled city, several hundred persons, shouting "down with Sidky; down with Nokrachi," stoned the Saadist Party headquarters and set fire to a grocery store in the party's building.

The Saadist Party has approved proposals for revision of the 1936 British-Egyptian treaty brought back to Egypt by Sidky Pasha, a political independent, following his recent conferences in London with British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

An official report said that Nokrachi Pasha and Hussein Heikal Pasha, leader of the Liberal Constitutional Party, would consult with the king tomorrow. The two parties combined have a majority in the chamber of deputies.

The announcement that Sidky Pasha would step down came only 12 days after the premier, supported by the Saadists and Liberal Constitutionalists, received a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies for his efforts to renegotiate the 1936 treaty.

JEWISH IMMIGRANT VESSEL STRANDED

1946

JERUSALEM, Dec. 8 — (AP) A ship en route to Palestine with 800 would-be immigrants became stranded today on the lonely island of Syrina in the Dodecanese 60 miles west of Rhodes. The Palestine government said four Halifax planes loaded with food and medicine will be flown to its aid tomorrow.

Bad weather prevented a flight today to the island, approximately 520 miles from the Palestine coast. The Jewish agency said most of the passengers were believed rescued and waiting for help on the island. Eight were said to be missing. The ship's origin was not given.

RED MANCHURIAN DRIVE DOUBTED

1946

PEIPING, Dec. 8—(AP) American military observers who returned today from Changchun and Harbin disagreed strongly with Chinese government predictions of a great Communist offensive in Manchuria.

Chinese government quarters have forecast an imminent campaign by Communist Gen. Lin Piao against Changchun, the Manchurian capital, saying he already had 150,000 well-equipped troops in position.

The American observers said the Communists did not have such strength for a concerted attack and were not equipped to cope with the bitter winter weather already blanketing that area.

The Communists did make a test thrust into government territory last week and were soundly beaten at Nungan, north of Changchun, and elsewhere in the vicinity, the Americans said.

Chinese papers continued to report that a Communist drive on Changchun was expected in a day or two and that the government defenses were ready.

Contradictory reports also continued about Dairen, the Soviet-occupied port at the tip of the Kwangtung peninsula of Manchuria.

The Chinese press, which has been playing up unconfirmed reports that the Russians had evacuated the port, switched over completely today.

The new accounts said the Russians still were there: that Gen. Tu Li-Ming's Chinese government armies would not move in until diplomatic negotiations had arranged a transfer, and that these negotiations still were in progress.

The reliable paper Hsin Min Pao said Ty's troops were camped 13 miles north of Dairen. The official Chieh Jih Pao said they were within three miles of the city.

REPORT 200 DEAD IN SHANGHAI ARMS DUMP EXPLOSIONS

1946

SHANGHAI, Dec. 8—(AP) Intermittent blasts continued late tonight at a Chinese army munitions dump which began exploding Saturday afternoon.

An official Chinese statement attributed the disaster on the northern outskirts of Shanghai to a hand grenade accidentally dropped by a soldier, but this did not diminish public suspicion of sabotage.

The official Chinese central news agency said at least one company (about 200 men) of troops and an undetermined number of coolies perished and that damage was sure to total several millions of dollars (U.S.).

No one who ventured near saw any bodies, however, and the assumption was that anyone killed must have been disintegrated.

Fire brigades still were unable to get close enough to fight effectively.

The Central news said the dump included 20,000 bombs surrendered by the Japanese.

Manila Court Calls Foe's Money Good

Loans in Japan's Currency in War Must Be Repaid

MANILA, Dec. 8 (AP).—In a test case affecting thousands of American former prisoners of the Japanese, the Manila Lower Court has ruled that war-time transactions in Japanese invasion currency are valid.

The court ordered repayment of loans in such money at the rate of about 20 per cent of the face value, according to a table worked out by D. L. Ballantyne, banking adviser to the Philippines government.

Many persons interned by the Japanese were forced to borrow large sums to keep alive, and the validity of these loans has been contested. The case is almost certain to be carried to the Philippine Supreme Court.

[On Feb. 7, 1946, before the Philippines had atained the status of an independent republic, President Truman vetoed an act passed by the Commonwealth Congress which would have validated payments made in Japanese invasion currency during the period of Japanese occupation. He said in a letter to the then Philippine President, Sergio Osmena, that such a law would retard rather than aid economic rehabilitation of the islands. Apparently the new case indicates a revival of the old act by the Philippine Republic.]

Philippine Police Said To Have Looted Villages

Manila, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Philippine Liberty News quoted an unidentified leader of the Hukbalahap guerrillas today as accusing the national police of looting villages and killing many civilians by "merciless shelling" of country towns.

The leader said that the Hukbalahaps were determined not to fight the police or so-called civil guards unless cornered, as their supreme chief, Luis Taruc, had given orders to avoid conflict "in the slim hope that somehow the peasant problem may be solved."

Meanwhile, skirmishes were reported in scattered parts of Luzon. The Manila Chronicle said the "Huks" had kidnapped children and other villagers near Tarlac and that thousands armed with rifles and machine guns had occupied villages near Cabanatuan.

82 Chinese Arrested In Manila Smuggling

Manila, Monday, Dec. 9 (AP)—Military police reported today blocking of the second mass smuggling attempt in recent weeks, with the arrest of 82 Chinese on charges of illegal entry into the Philippines. Suspects were held in the provincial jail at Laoag, 250 miles northeast of Manila, on the Ilocos Norte province coast.

Immigration officials said the Chinese would be brought to Manila for investigation prior to their deportation to China. The prisoners told officers they had left their homeland aboard a large steamer and were transferred to a small launch when near the Luzon coast.

Filipino Gang Demands U.S. Recall Negro Troops

Manila, Monday Dec. 9 (AP)—Extra details of American military police in armored cars cruised the streets of the honky tonk district of Pasay, near the Manila boundary line, last night after a score of provocative posters had appeared, demanding that American Negro soldiers be sent home.

Two Negro enlisted men were reported beaten and robbed by an armed Filipino gang in the sector, but no further incidents occurred.

The crudely drawn posters, signed "ex-guerrillas," said: "We want to abolish Negroes in this town." Military police tore them down.

Navy Tug Speeding To Aid Of Steamship

Hamilton, Bermuda, Dec. 8 (AP)—The United States Navy rescue tug Paiute plowed through heavy seas in the Atlantic tonight en route to a rendezvous with the S.S. George Vickers, which sent out a distress message last Friday.

The Vickers radioed she had broken her rudder 1,120 miles northeast of Bermuda and, using an improvised rudder, was proceeding in a westerly direction at a speed of five knots. The Paiute, which left Bermuda Friday, expected to average six knots and reach the Vickers Tuesday or Wednesday.

The Vickers is operated by the United States Navigation Company of New York and is listed in Lloyd's Register as being of 7,176 tons.

ESSENTIAL USERS GET PREFERENCE UNDER SFA ORDER

Fuel to Be Doled Until Supply Again Is Adequate.

1946

UTILITIES HOLD PRIORITY

Normal Movement of Coal Expected Week After Mines Reopen.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—(AP) The Solid Fuels administration today ordered rigid control over soft coal shipments continued in order to dole out strike-reduced stocks to essential users.

It eased the rationing rules set up when the 17-day walkout began, however, and set forth a list of preferred consumers whose right to the available coal will be determined by the size of their own coal piles.

The order, FSA stipulated, is effective "until such time as adequate supplies of bituminous coal are produced." Until then, it explained, "it is necessary that coal be first supplied" for activities necessary to health and safety.

Utilities Come First

Shippers are directed to give first preference to:

Public utilities, railroads, ships, laundries, hospitals, food processing plants, refrigeration plants, hotels, and retail dealers who supply those on the preference list and domestic home consumers.

Utilities may obtain coal only when their supply is down to a 20-day stock in the case of those whose shipments come by rail, and 30 days if they receive shipments by water.

Others on the preferred list may obtain coal only when their supplies are reduced to 15 days in the case of rail shipments and 25 days for water shipments.

In the case of a retail dealer or commercial dock operator, the tonnage shipped is to be sufficient to enable him to deliver to each of his customers in the preference group who has less than a 15-day supply on hand a quantity equal to a 15-day supply or one minimum load.

Home users are entitled to coal deliveries only after their coal pile drops below a 15-day supply.

Crisis to Ease in Week

An SFA official declined to estimate the number of days the interim order will be required but said "the normal movement of coal should be restored in about a week."

He observed that a number of factors entered into the picture such as the speed with which mining operations are resumed and availability of shipping, together with the size of stocks held by consumers.

The SFA said the emergency controls previously announced froze about 3,000,000 tons of coal to be held for essential uses.

30.24 – 6835

Coke for domestic use is subject to the same limitations as soft coal.

The order makes provision for supplying other coal users, under similar limitations, after the first preference group is served.

TRUMAN AND BEVIN CONFER FOR HOUR

Palestine Problem One Likely Topic Of White House Visit

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—President Truman and Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Minister whose governments have been at odds on the Palestine problem, talked over "a wide range of foreign affairs" today.

Bevin, who came here from New York, called at the White House following a series of conversations on the Palestine situation with James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, at the Foreign Ministers' sessions.

Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, said the hour-long consultation was a "social call," but that the talk covered "a wide range of foreign affairs."

Byrnes-Bevin Correspondence

Correspondence between Bevin and Byrnes on the Palestine issue was made public in New York on the eve of Bevin's visit, and an informed person said it could be assumed the White House discussion touched on the problem.

Byrnes wrote Bevin that the United States would be willing to sit in as an observer if a conference is attended by leaders of the Jews and Arabs. He also described "Jewish leaders" as willing to support proposed partition of Palestine.

Bevin told associates that he and the President had "a very friendly and cordial visit." He was accompanied by the British Ambassador, Lord Inverchapel, and aides.

Acheson At Meeting

The President met the visitors on the front portico at 11 A.M. and escorted them upstairs to his study. He saw them to the front door as they left. Dean Acheson, Under Secretary of State, attended the meeting.

Bevin's schedule called for a tour of Washington sights, a small cocktail party given by the Ambassador, and a private dinner at the Embassy. He will return to New York tomorrow. O. Max Gardner, newly appointed Ambassador to London, was on the dinner guest list.

Korean Leader Seeks Backing On Unification

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—Dr. Syngman Rhee, president of the Democratic Council of Southern Korea, said today he will ask the United Nations to consider Korean unification and abolition of the dividing line between the American and Russian military occupation forces.

Upon his arrival here, the Korean patriot also said he hopes to obtain further American assistance in Korean reconstruction.

ARMY TO SPEED FOOD TO GERMANY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — (AP) Secretary of War Patterson last night announced emergency measures to speed more than 300,000 tons of food to the U. S. zone of Germany this month to meet a critical shortage caused largely by the maritime strike.

Patterson told Lt. General Lucius D. Clay that:

1. The War Department is undertaking to send 308,500 long tons of food this month, compared with 52,500 tons in November.

2. Seventeen grain laden vessels are to sail from Albany, N. Y., in December, with the Coast Guard ready to provide icebreakers in the Hudson River if needed.

3. Stand-by vessels will be held in other ports to prevent unforeseen delays an dtake on additional last-minute cargoes.

Patterson's statement said the War Department is making headway against difficulties in breaking bottlenecks in food transportation which "have threatened to wreck the occupation program."

Railroad transportation, he advised, is the critical factor in supplying an estimated 300,000 tons of grain needed monthly to maintain the daily ration of 1,550 calories in the American zone. He added that "if we do not get that transportation, we face famine, chaos, and the risk of failure."

The secretary's statement was in response to one by Clay, deputy U. S. military governor, who said during negotiations for economic unification of the British and American zones that lowering the ration would imperil the entire occupation program.

Patterson laid the food shortage to the maritime strike which he said set back shipments by 60 days, the continuing shortage of box cars, and the added tonnage which, by the Anglo-American agreement, must now be sent to the British zone. American grain stocks are ample, he said, to provide for the needs.

CONGRESS TO GET RELIEF FUND PLEA

1946

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—(AP) Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson disclosed today the Administration will ask Congress for a "generous appropriation" for 1947 relief activities abroad—but only for countries which can definitely prove their need.

Achcson made it plain in a blunt-spoken radio address that the United States wants to decide where this morey shall be spent.

"The United States does not believe that post-UNRRA relief should be conducted by an UNRRA type organization," he declared.

Acheson said the United States would be willing to use the United Nations as "a clearing house" for information on the requirements of countries but added:

"Nations receiving free relief must prove their need for it and they can be held to a much closer and fairer accountability of the use of food and other free supplies."

Because of the economic revival of many liberated countries, Acheson said there probably would be "only three or four countries in Europe requiring free relief in order to avoid suffering and hardship."

State department officials disclosed last month that the United States is considering post-UNRRA help for Italy, Austria and Greece. Acheson's statement, however, was the first definite indication that the Administration has decided to ask Congress for the funds.

The acting secretary vigorously denied the American government is using food as a political weapon when it refuses to support proposals for an international relief agency designed to take up on a smaller scale where UNRRA leaves off Dec. 31.

"The people of the United States and the Congress have made up their minds that the relief problems of the near future are not of a character which would warrant grants of enormous sums from the United States treasury under conditions which would leave little or no effective control by the grantor of these funds," Acheson said.

Under the American plan, Acheson continued, governments "will be compelled to distribute food on the basis of need. They will not be allowed to feed their political supporters and starve their political opponents."

BILBO IS FACING HEARING IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—(AP) Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), engineering Republican anti-Bilbo action, said today there is no assurance of a unanimous committee vote to clear the Mississippi senator of charges of intimidating Negro voters.

Hickenlooper, member of the Senate Campaign Expenditures committee which conducted hearings in Mississippi, said he had not made up his mind, although Chairman Ellender (D-La.) had predicted a unanimous decision in Senator Bilbo's favor. The committee will meet Dec. 16 to consider its report.

Hickenlooper declared that "Republicans are not engaged in any plot" to keep Bilbo from taking his seat in the next Congress. Hickenlooper and Senator Bridges (R-N.H.), the other Republican member of the investigating committee, have been designated by the party Steering committee to direct action opposing the seating of Bilbo.

"Nobody has been plotting with me, either to reject or retain Senator Bilbo's seat," Hickenlooper told a reporter. "The question is not a partisan political issue but rests entirely upon the propriety of the individual, regardless of what party he belongs to."

Meanwhile attorneys for the Senate War Investigating committee assembled witnesses, documents and photographic copies of bank accounts and war contracts preliminary to a second investigation involving Bilbo opening here Thursday.

This hearing will involve complaints that Bilbo received more than $30,000 cash, an auto, an artificial lake on his farm and a new home on an island in the lake from war contractors.

Bilbo said in Jackson, Miss., that he would appear in Washington for the public hearings and expected "fine sailing."

Committee attorneys said they had supplied the senator with complete copies of all complaints against him and that witnesses, some under subpoena, would testify in support of each complaint. More than 30 witnesses are to testify.

NLRB Has Most Cases Since 1938

1946

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board pointed out tonight, as significant in the country's labor picture, that more charges of unfair labor practices against employers were filed in October than in any month since March, 1938.

It also noted in a report that at the end of October it had 5,552 cases awaiting action, a backlog which was 54 per cent above the total pending cases a year ago.

The total number of cases filed in October charging unfair labor practices by employers was 566, the board said in a statement, adding that the most frequent charge was "the allegation of discrimination for union activity or membership." This charge was made in 305 of the 566 cases. Failure to bargain was alleged in 144 cases.

'Significant' Factors

Other factors which the board said were "significant" included:

1. Charges of employer refusal to bargain increased 100 per cent over the number of similar charges for the preceding month, 222 being filed.

2. The number of collective bargaining elections conducted during the month, 726, was the highest in the board's 11-year history.

3. The total number of cases filed during October, 1,628, was surpassed only by 1,651 filed in August.

Of the total cases filed 1,062 were petitions for elections, 566 alleged unfair labor practices by employers.

AVC PLANS CAMPAIGN FOR HOUSING ACTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 — (AP) Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., national housing chairman for the American Veterans committee, announced plans today for a four-day AVC campaign for housing legislation and rent controls.

Roosevelt said delegates from each of the 850 AVC chapters will visit congressmen and political leaders this week to enlist support for the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill and seek municipal, state and national guarantees against rent boosts.

"We intend to let every congressman and political leader know how we feel," the son of the former president said in a statement.

"The delegates will tell political leaders that real estate profits are at their peak, and that with 100 per cent occupancy and curtailed services there's no basis for a boost in rent. They will point out that the W-E-T bill is the key to the moderate-cost rental housing that veterans desperately need.

"We feel that the veteran is faced with the alternative of speaking up now or suffering later."

PUSH CONGRESS MODERNIZATION

1946

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—(AP) Formation of a professional and business group to press for further modernization of Congress beyond its present plans for reorganization was announced tonight.

Robert Heller, Cleveland industrial engineer who will head the committee, said in a statement its objectives are to see that provisions of the 1946 Reorganization act are put into effect and to seek these additional changes:

1. Elimination of the filibuster in the Senate.

2. Establishment of majority and minority policy committee in House and Senate.

3. Abolition of the seniority rule.

4. More help for individual members of Congress.

"Congress has gone a long way and deserves much credit," he told a reporter, "but much needs to be done. Congress needs support in its reorganization efforts and the people need information. That is what the committee proposes to provide."

Heller said 38 national leaders now comprise the "committee for strengthening the Congress" but that eventually it will be enlarged to about 400.

"Parts of the act are law, here to stay," he said. "Among those parts for example are the long overdue provision which raised the salary of congressmen.

"But all Americans must realize that the act could be scuttled. Congress could backslide. Seventy five percent of the real accomplishments of the act are merely embodied in a series of proposed rules and each congress makes its own rules. x x x If the new congress does not act, we can lose these tremendous gains."

On the filibuster proposal he said "we cannot afford to let a selfish few obstruct."

Heller in 1944 wrote a report on strengthening Congress for the National Planning Association.

The committee includes prominent businessmen, church leaders, labor representatives, newspapermen, and agriculture organization leaders.

Army Construction To Cost 60 Million

$41,329,500 Earmarked for Housing Units

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP).—A $60,069,752 military construction program, including building or conversion of 7,713 temporary dwellings, has been authorized for immediate action by the Army engineers, the War Department announced Saturday.

Material obtained in dismantling war camps will be used for the housing, which will be for both officers and enlisted men and their families.

The dwellings are the first to be constructed since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor five years ago. The department estimated they will meet about 15 per cent of the Army's current needs and will cost about $41,329,500. The remaining $18,740,252 in the program for the current fiscal year, which ends next June 30, the department said, will be used in construction in connection with research projects.

Additional projects rated as essential or soon to become essential, the department said, represent an estimated $1,000,000,000.

The housing program includes approximately 5,580 apartment house units obtained by conversion of existing buildings, and 2,133 new temporary units. A cost ceiling of $7,500 a unit was put on new buildings. Also to be constructed are two blocks of bachelor quarters, one each at Fort Belvoir, Va., and Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Welles Warns Americas Of Infiltration of Reds

Urges Continental Solidarity to Resist Communism

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP).—Sumner Welles, former Under Secretary of State, declared tonight that a "restoration of continental solidarity" is necessary to combat the growth of Communism in the Western Hemisphere.

Mr. Welles, in his regular weekly broadcast, said the United States "would be . . . unrealistic" if it failed "to recognize the significance of the fact that Communism is growing in the Americas—and growing rapidly."

"There is no political party in any one of the American republics," Welles said, "which is so well organized and so well disciplined, and which occupies so strategic a political position as the Communist party in Chile."

Every Communist party in the hemisphere, he added, "is carrying on a successful campaign among the masses" in the American republics.

The Communists, he said, are "arousing hostility against the United States by using . . . mistakes in our own official policy to make the underprivileged believe the United States is bent upon a policy of imperialism."

"The one way in which such disruptive efforts can be combated successfully," Mr. Welles said, "is through the operation of that equal partnership of the twenty-one American republics, known as the inter-American system."

Mr. Welles, a frequent critic of State Department policy toward Argentina, said a "continuation of that breach between Washington and Buenos Aires is damaging to the interests of both countries and will bring about further deterioration in inter-American relations."

'Exiled' For Criticism Of Russia, Says Earle

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Journal-American today published an interview with George H. Earle quoting the former Governor of Pennsylvania and Ambassador to Austria and Bulgaria as saying his criticism of Russia during the war brought him "exile" to Samoa.

The former navy officer told the Journal-American that he was recalled when his reports from Turkey—where he was the late President Roosevelt's personal representative—criticized the "Bolshevik brand of totalitarianism," and said the United States should be prepared "to face the menace to peace when the war ended."

"The war by-passed Samoa, as you know," he was quoted. "It's well isolated and a long way from Moscow or American newspapers.

"It was exile, and I knew it."

In Philadelphia, Earle declined further comment.

Postwar Losses In Idle Recovered

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—All postwar losses in employment and pay rolls have been recovered in the 25 manufacturing industries surveyed monthly by the National Industrial Conference Board, it was reported today.

September was the eleventh month in which hourly earnings of production workers topped the previous month's average, and the eighth in which a new all-time peak was reached.

September hourly earnings of $1.231 was 14.1 per cent above the level of October, 1945, (low point of the decline caused by the end of the war.) Actual weekly earnings rose slightly from August to September.

The survey disclosed an employment increase of 1.5 per cent between August and September, and an increase of 18.4 per cent over the year. Real weekly earnings were three per cent greater in September than in August.

...N-REGIONAL CONFERENCES

BY JOHN WALLACE

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC. 8-(AP)-A PROPOSAL CALLING FOR REGIONAL CONFERENCES OF NON-SELF-GOVERNING TERRITORIES WON APPROVAL BY A SLIM MARGIN TODAY IN A UNITED NATIONS TRUSTEESHIP COMMITTEE, BUT NINE NATIONS--THOSE PRINCIPALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR ADMINISTRATION OF SUCH TERRITORIES--SERVED NOTICE, IN EFFECT, THAT THEY WOULD NOT ATTEND SUCH MEETINGS.

THE CONFERENCES, PROPOSED BY THE PHILIPPINE REPUBLIC, WOULD BE CALLED AT INTERVALS FOR THE PURPOSE OF GIVING THE INHABITANTS THE "OPPORTUNITY OF EXPRESSING THEIR WISHES AND ASPIRATIONS."

THE PROPOSAL WAS ADOPTED BY A VOTE OF 18 TO 15 IN THE 54-NATION COMMITTEE ON TRUSTEESHIP, BUT 21 NATIONS WERE NOT REPRESENTED IN THE BALLOTING EITHER BECAUSE OF ABSTENTIONS OR ABSENCES FROM THE SESSION.

AT THE CONCLUSION OF THE VOTE, THE FOLLOWING NATIONS ASKED THAT IT BE MADE A MATTER OF RECORD THAT THEY DID NOT CONSIDER ADOPTION OF THE RESOLUTION BINDING ON THEIR GOVERNMENTS: THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE, BELGIUM, AUSTRALIA, CANADA, DENMARK, THE NETHERLANDS AND NEW ZEALAND.

JOHN FOSTER DULLES, UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE ON THE COMMITTEE, EXPRESSING A POINT OF VIEW SHARED BY OTHER DISSENTING NATIONS, SAID SUCH CONFERENCES WOULD CONSTITUTE "EXCESSIVE INTERVENTION IN THE AFFAIRS OF SOVIEREIGN STATES."

EARLIER, A RUSSIAN-SPONSORED AMENDMENT TO THE RESOLUTION WAS ADOPTED BY AN EVEN NARROWER MARGIN, 17 TO 15, OVER STRONG OBJECTIONS FROM THE UNITED STATES AND FRANCE.

THE SOVIET AMENDMENT PROVIDED THAT THE CONFERENCES WOULD BE ORGANIZED AND CONVOKED JOINTLY BY THE ADMINISTERING AUTHORITIES OF SUCH TERRITORIES AND THE UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL.

DELETED FROM THE RESOLUTION, AT THE INSISTENCE OF RUSSIA, WAS ANY REFERENCE TO THE WORK OF THE CARIBBEAN COMMISSION, FORMERLY THE ANGLO-AMERICAN CARIBBEAN COMMISSION, WHICH FUNCTIONS AS AN ADVISORY GROUP TO THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE AND THE NETHERLANDS ON SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC MATTERS IN THAT AREA.

RUSSIA HAD PROTESTED IT HAD NO KNOWLEDGE OF THE WORK OF THE CARIBBEAN COMMISSION "EXCEPT THROUGH THE NEWSPAPERS--AND NEWSPAPER INFORMATION CANNOT REPLACE OFFICIAL INFORMATION."

FIRST LEAD WITH COAL

LONDON, Dec. 8 (Sunday)-(AP)-British officials hailed as "magnificent" and "splendid" early today news of the end of the soft-coal strike in the United States, which they had feared would force a cut in Britain's nine-ounce-daily bread ration.

30.24-6837

Minister of Food John Strachey, who told the House of Commons Friday the ration reduction was likely, because of threatened interference with wheat shipments, said: "Magnificent news! It's the best news I heard this week."

Minister of Health Aneurin Bevan commented, "It's xp splendid news for us."

1946

Dr. Edith Summerskill, parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Food, said, "We welcome the calling off of the strike. We certainly hope it eases the food position over here."

The London newspaper, News of the World, said in a last-edition editorial, "If all goes well, there should now be no need to make the threatened cut in the bread ration."

London, Dec. 8--(ap)--Attractive Fay Jacquelin Robinson, 35, was married by transatlantic telephone tonight to a former American soldier Ruel Parsons, 32, of 5521 Avenue P, Central Park, Birmingham, Ala.

The Rev. W. R. Bulman, rector of St. Gabriel's church in suburban [redacted] Cricklewood, stood at the bride's side and placed the ring on her finger.

"I was outwardly calm," Mrs. Parsons said, "but inside I was shaking all over."

She said she hoped to join her husband, whom she met at a party while he was stationed in England, next February or March. A reception for about 30 persons followed tonight's ceremony.

UN Group Overrides U. S., Urges Partial, Immediate Break with Franco Spain

VOTE FOR WITHDRAWAL OF ENVOYS TAKEN OVER AMERICAN'S OPPOSITION

F. CARPENTER

Subcommittee's Proposal For Complete Rupture Defeated—Resolution Looking To Disarmament Adopted By Another Section

1946

NIGHT

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 9 (AP)—The United Nations Political Committee overrode United States objections tonight and called for a partial, immediate diplomatic break by member states with Franco Spain.

The 54-member committee approved by a 27-to-7 vote, with sixteen abstentions, a Belgian proposal providing that:

1. All members of the United Nations immediately recall from Madrid their ambassadors and ministers plenipotentiary.

2. The United Nations Security Council take up the Spanish case and consider adequate measures to be taken if within a reasonable time there has not been established a Spanish Government drawing "its authority from the consent of the citizens."

Whole Resolution Adopted

The Belgin proposal first was passed as an amendment to a general resolution. China abstained and the United States voted "no."

Then the whole committee's resolution on Spain, embodying the Belgian resolution and reviewing pre-

...ers of the United Nations was rejected by a tie vote of 20 to 20.

The committee also rejected a United States proposal that the United Nations ... the Spanish people to establish their eligibility for United Nations membership by bringing about the ouster of Franco. The vote also was a tie, 22 to 22, with six abstentions.

In its final action of the day, the committee defeated, 32 to 10, with four abstentions, a French proposal by which the general assembly would call on United Nations members to end all imports of foodstuffs and their products from Spain until the United Nations is assured that these products are no longer an immediate necessity for the food requirements of the Spanish people.

Meets British Objection

The French delegation pointed out this was intended to give food to the Spanish people by leaving it in Spain but the British objected that such a measure would deprive their rigorously rationed citizens of fresh fruits now coming from Spain.

While a majority vote is required in the committee, a two-thirds vote, or 36 of the 54 members if all are present and voting, would be required for approval of this committee's action in the general assembly.

Earlier today a United Nations subcommittee broke up a protracted wrangle on troops and disarmament and virtually completed work on a resolution envisioning a world-wide reduction and regulation of arms.

The subcommittee thus chalked up a victory for France, Egypt and India. Those three delegations had Under Belgium's amendment members having relations with Franco Spain still could maintain chargé d'affaires in Madrid even after their ambassadors or ministers had been withdrawn.

Subcommittee Reversed

A subcommittee recommendation asking an individual rupture of relations with Franco by the mempressed for a provision in the general disarmament resolution under consideration which would provide for withdrawal of troops from alien territories and would connect directly the problem of the United Nations security police force with disarmament steps to be taken by the nations.

Told To Stop Wasting Time

The jam was broken by two factors. First, Paul-Henri Spaak, Assembly president, who obviously became more annoyed as the wrangling continued, told the delegates to stop "wasting time" on "irrelevant matters."

Second, Sir Hartley Shawcross, British delegate, asked the delegates to consider what the newspapers would say "tomorrow morning" about their meeting and urged them not to become a "laughing stock."

Relief Measure Voted

Elsewhere in the United Nations:

1. The Economic Committee by unanimous vote killed all prospect of keeping world relief under the international control. It passed a resolution giving the United States and other countries with food to spare direct control over where and how it will be used.

2. Australia lashed at Russia for its flat refusal last week to go to San Francisco if the United Nations chose that city as its permanent home.

3. The Political Committee defeated a proposal by Colombia that the "good offices of the Latin-American republics" be employed to alter the political and social conditions in Spain to conform to the United Nations Charter and defer action against Generalissimo Francisco Franco until the next general assembly.

Two Proposals Merged

The three-hour-and-40-minute meeting of the political committee's subcommittee considering disarmament produced tortuous arguments over a French and Egytpian proposal, which finally were merged into a clarifying resolution by the Indian delegate, Mr. Justice Chagla.

On Brazil's demand, the resolution, which will be written into the Assembly resolution as a separate paragraph, was voted on in three parts.

The committee voted, 11 to 7, to approve Part 1, which stated that "the General Assembly, regarding the problem of security as closely connected with that of disarmament, recommends that the Security Council accelerate as much as possible the placing at its disposal of the armed forces mentioned in Article 43 of the Charter (which provides for the international police force of the United Nations).

First Killed; Then Passed

Part 2 recommended that the governments undertake the progressive and balanced withdrawal of the forces stationed in non-national territories. The committee first voted, 8 to 8, and the chairman, Spaak, declared the portion was killed.

However, Spaak reminded the delegates that some of them actually were voting against what they had previously favored; Shawcross urged the delegates to consider the effects of tomorrow's newspapers. On a reconsideration, the part was adopted, 15 to 3.

The committee then adopted the third part, originally put forward by Egypt, by 14 to 3. This section recommended the "early withdrawal of forces stationed in the territories of member states without their full consent and the demobilization of national forces."

U.S. Amendment O.K.'d

The United States insisted on an amendment, which Egypt accepted, specifying this did not apply in cases in which troops were in alien countries "in accordance with treaties and agreement and otherwise in conformity with the Charter."

The committee then adopted the whole resolution, 16 to 2, with Australia and Brazil against it.

Egypt put its proposal before the full political committee during debate on troop inspections, but finally withdrew it at the request of several delegations. Egypt is currently negotiating with Britain for the withdrawal of British soldiers from its territory.

Paul Hasluck, Australian delegate, explained to the committee that he opposed the whole resolution because he did not believe it related to the general subject of disarmament and to the terms of the resolution.

Would Delay Site Choice

Warren R. Austin, chief of the United States delegation, moved tonight to postpone the entire question of permanent United Nations headquarters to the next session of the General Assembly.

His motion included the Presidio at San Francisco along with sites in the Boston, New York and Philadelphia areas for study during the intervening period.

Austin's motion as presented to the United Nations Permanent Headquarters Commission also included a provision that the studies of the prospective sites should be made by the United Nations secretariat rather than the Permanent Headquarters Commission.

This provision met immediate objection from the Soviet representative, G. F. Saksin, and even stronger objections from Kenneth Younger, of Great Britain, and P. N. Saptu, of India.

Saptu said there was no valid reason for postponement and urged immediate vote on the site subcommittee report describing the presidio and the Roxborough-Belmont site in Philadelphia as of equal merit.

that in May and June, 1946, the Security Council conducted an investigation of the possible further action to be taken by the United Nations. The subcommittee of the Security Council charged with the investigation found unanimously:

"(A) In origin, nature, structure and general conduct, the Franco regime is a Fascist regime patterned on, and established largely as a result of aid received from Hitler's Nazi Germany and Mussolini's Fascist Italy.

"(B) During the long struggle of the United Nations against Hitler and Mussolini, Franco, despite continued Allied protests, gave very substantial aid to the enemy powers. First, for example, from 1941 to 1945 the Blue Infantry Division, the Spanish Legion volunteers and the Salvador Air Squadron fought against Soviet Russia on the eastern front. Second, in the summer of 1940 Spain seized Tangier in breach of international statute, ... as a result of Spain maintaining a large army in Spanish Morocco large numbers of Allied troops were immobilized in North Africa.

"(C) Incontrovertible documentary evidence establishes that Franco was a guilty party, with Hitler and Mussolini, in the conspiracy to wage war against those countries which eventually in the course of the World War became banded together as the LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 9 —The text of a resolution on Franco Spain approved today by the General Assembly's Political and Security Committee follows:

The peoples of the United Nations, at San Francisco, Potsdam and London condemned the Franco regime in Spain and decided that, as long as that regime remains, Spain may not be admitted to the United Nations.

The General Assembly, in its resolution of 9 February 1946 recommended that the members of the United Nations should act in accordance with the letter and the spirit of the declarations of San Francisco and Potsdam.

The peoples of the United Nations assure the Spanish people of their enduring sympathy and of the cordial welcome awaiting them when circumstances enable them to be admitted to the United Nations.

United Nations. It was part of the conspiracy that Franco's full belligerency should be postponed until a time to be mutually agreed upon."

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

Convinced that the Franco Fascist Government of Spain, which was imposed by force upon the Spanish people with the aid of the Axis powers and which gave material assistance to the Axis powers in the war, does not represent the Spanish people, and by its continued control of Spain is making impossible the participation of the Spanish people with the peoples of the United Nations in international affairs;

Recommends that the Franco Government of Spain be debarred from membership in international agencies established by or brought into relationship with the United Nations, and from participation in conference or other activities which may be arranged by the United Nations or by these agencies, until a new and acceptable government is formed in Spain.

The General Assembly further,

Desiring to secure the participation of all peace-loving peoples, including the people of Spain, in the community of nations,

Recommends that if, within a reasonable time, the political conditions enumerated above are not realized, the Security Council consider the adequate measures to be taken in order to remedy the situation and,

Recommends that all members of the United Nations immediately recall from Madrid their Ambassadors and Ministers Plenipotentiary, accredited there.

Byrnes and Bevin seek small-nation views on Reich treaty.
[Page 3.]

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 9 (AP)—A United Nations political subcommittee today wrote into its proposed arms-reduction program a recommendation that member governments commence a balanced withdrawal of forces outside home borders and institute a general demobilization of all troops.

DAY

The amendment, submitted by India, also provided for early removal of troops stationed on alien soil without agreement or treaties with the governments concerned.

The vote was 16 to 2, with Australia and Brazil dissenting.

Connally Urges Change

Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas) voted for the amendment after getting delegates to agree to the stipulation that the clause covering reaties or agreements should be written in.

Earlier, he had objected to the proposal on the groind that it was so vague that it could be interpreted to mean that the United Sates might have to pull its troops out of Panama Canal fortifications.

The Indian amendment, a clarified version of an Egyptian proposal, thus was placed in the hands of a drafting subcommittee which still has before it the problem of rectifying conflicting Russian and United States views as to whether proposed control commissions over arms cuts and the atom bomb should operate under the Security Council or independent of it and thus outside the veto.

Only Two Unsolved Points

The committee was to meet tonight.

These two considerations now were the only points remaining to be decided in the whole arms reduction resolution.

Continuation of the armament debate got under way in the wake of Russia's unexpected refusal earlier today to accept a proposal for a United Nations inventory of armed troops at home.

Paul-Henri Spaak, General Assembly president, who is presiding over the subcommittee deliberations, intervened after more than an hour of fruitless argument to scold delegates for "marking time" after a good start.

Topics "Irrevelant"

"We are now trying to introduce new elements," he said. "We have brought up too many irrevelant topics. We should leave these issues to the Security Council, where they belong."

Spaak's sharp rebuke to the 20-nation group came after Andrei Y. Vishinsky, of the Soviet Union, had held that the Egyptian resolution generally had nothing to do with arms reduction.

Vishinsky specifically objected to mention in the Egyptian resolution of Article 43, which has to do with the setting up of an international force by the military staff committee.

Police Force Needed

Sir Hartley Shawcross, of Britain, agreed with Spaak's call for action, but declared:

"There will never be in our lifetime a general disarmament. There must be some sort of international police force at least.

"We hope the Soviet Union, a great nation maintaining great forces outside of the nation, will make some sacrifice and contribution to a plan of collective security which is involved in Article 43."

Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas) said the United States did not consider the question of troops in other countries relevant to the arms debate and if the proposal was adopted he would insist on a clause stipulating specifically that troops could be stationed in foreign countries in accordance with treaties.

In a surprise move, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov demanded deletion of a home-troop census from a resolution already approved by the powerful 54-member United Nations Political Committee.

Had Agreed To Plant

His action, taken at an Assembly plenary session at Flushing Meadow Park, threatened to reopen the whole question of troop dispositions.

Previously, at the committee stage, Molotov had agreed to taking a census of both domestic forces and those on foreign soil.

Molotov tossed today's verbal bombshell into the Assembly a few seconds after Shawcross had asked the world peace-keeping body to establish an international inspection board to verify figures submitted by member nations in the troop inventory.

South Africa Censured

The Soviet action highlighted a five-hour plenary session which began at 8.15 last night. Just before midnight the Assembly had, in effect, censured South Africa for racial discrimination against Indians in the union after rejecting a South African demand that the issue be turned over to the International Court of Justice for an advisory opinion.

The Assembly called upon the two countries to try to settle their differences and report back to next year's session.

Molotov renewed his original argument that the home-troop census should be linked with the proposed program of disarmament and should not be made until that program [illegible] operation.

U.S. ASKS DELAY ON UN HOME SITE

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 9—(AP) Warren R. Austin, chief of the United States delegation, moved tonight to postpone the entire question of permanent United Nations headquarters to the next session of the General Assembly.

His motion, contrary to his earlier announcement of its probable content, included the Presidio at San Francisco along with sites in the Boston, New York and Philadelphia areas for study during the intervening period.

Another change in Austin's motion as presented to the UN permanent headquarters commission was a provision that the studies of the prospective sites should be made by the UN secretariat rather than the permanent headquarters commission.

Quick Action

NIGHT

This provision of the U. S. proposal for postponement met immediate objection from Soviet representative G. F. Saksin and even stronger objections from Kenneth Younger of Great Britain and P. N. Saptu of India.

Saptu said there was no valid reason for postponement and urged immediate vote on the site subcommittee report describing the Presidio and the Roxborough-Belmont site in Philadelphia as of equal merit.

He said the proposal to shift the site studies to the secretariat would be unfair to that body.

Younger agreed with Saptu, saying the failure to vote on the subcommittee report would amount to the committee's shirking its duty.

Indications were that a vote would come today on East vs. West, but there were some doubts that delegates would reach a ballot on the specific site.

BIG FOUR PARLEY ON GERMANY TO BE HELD IN MOSCOW

Molotov Assures Byrnes Press Will Be Allowed Full News Coverage.

TO BEGIN MARCH 10

Loose Ends of Italian, Balkan, Finnish Pacts to Be Cleaned Up Here.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 — (AP) The four-power Foreign Ministers Council decided tonight that its next meeting—on a German peace settlement—should begin in Moscow March 10, after Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov assured Secretary of State Byrnes that the conference could be fully reported to the world.

In accepting Molotov's invitation to meet in the Russian capital, Byrnes made clear, according to persons in tonight's council session, that he still had no intention of going to Europe for another round of peacemaking unless he is convinced that real progress can be made on a German settlement.

Reds to Weigh Proposal

Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin urged Molotov to agree here in New York to the appointment of deputy foreign ministers who could hold hearings for smaller European and other nations and get their ideas on the fate of Germany prior to the Moscow meeting.

Indicating the possibility of a break in his resistance to this procedure, Molotov said he would consider fully the desirability of appointing deputies to work on both German and Austrian settlements before the New York meeting ends late this week.

NIGHT

Molotov and Byrnes met for an hour prior to tonight's full council gathering. It was learned that they chiefly talked over matters pending before the United Nations, presumably including the troop report and disarmament issues.

It was in that private discussion also that the question of holding the next meeting in Moscow came up, and Byrnes raised the issue of news coverage for it.

Byrnes is reported to have told Molotov that when the foreign ministers met in Moscow last December he felt that the world was not well informed about the work there because of restrictions thrown around the meeting.

When the matter came up in the council a short time later, Molotov said the Soviet government would be glad to see friends of the United States and Britain in Moscow.

Promises New Freedom

In spite of the difficult housing conditions in Moscow, he said, everything will be done to provide for newsmen, as well as to create conditions favorable to their news activities.

Correspondents, he added, will be able to report from Moscow just as from Paris and New York the proceedings of the conference.

American officials interpreted this as meaning that the work of reporters in Moscow would be conducted without censorship or other restrictions.

The problems remaining for the foreign ministers to settle here now consist of these main points:

1. Clean up loose ends of the virtually completed Italian, Balkans and Finnish peace treaties. It was agreed by the four that this should be undertaken at 11:30 (EST) tomorrow.

2. Decide the issue of appointing here deputies to work on the German and Austrian settlements.

3. Work out an agenda for the Moscow meeting.

One other thing has to be decided before the meeting here breaks up, and that is when and how the five satellite peace treaties are to be signed. They probably will be ready for signature in late January. No suggestion was made tonight that the signing should be delayed until the Moscow conference.

of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, both of the western power ministers were authoritatively described as ready to insist on the fullest possible hearing for small nations before the Foreign Ministers Council makes any decision on the German settlement.

The issue was scheduled for discussion and possible decision in today's Council session as the Foreign Ministers began their fast scheduled week of meeting here.

Cut Occupation 620,000

Also slated for discussion soon was Byrnes's proposal to cut European occupation forces by 620,000 men before April 1.

Meanwhile, Big Four subordinates are working out minor disputed points of the peace treaties for Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland, but not for a month will these be ready for signing.

At their last session this week—Bevin and Molotov are scheduled to sail Saturday—the Big Four are supposed to decide when they will hold their next meeting.

Small-Nation Issue Up

If for some reason they cannot agree on plans for a session in Europe on Germany, the treaties presumably will be circulated among the 21 nations by aerial courier and signed without any kind of central ceremony.

The key to a decision on a meeting on Germany lies in conflicting proposals made by Byrnes and Molotov about hearings for the views of small nations—Belgium, the Netherlands, Canada, Australia and the like—as to the fate of Germany.

Byrnes proposed Saturday a plan for the appointment of the deputies this week. These would do some preliminary work on reports on Germany and hold hearings for small nation spokesmen. By that means, Byrnes said, the large powers would know the views of the small nations before making any decision on Germany.

Molotov proposed that the European meeting be held in Moscow in late February, but said he would not insist on that place.

Byrnes expects troops to remain in Germany many years but would like to get all troops out of Austria and thereby also obtain removal of Soviet supply forces from Hungary and Romania.

Byrnes's stated objective is to cut Russian occupation troops in Germany to 200,000, French to 70,000 and American and British to 140,000 men each.

Pending a final Austrian treaty, he would also slash Allied forces there to 10,000 men for each of the four powers; and allow Russia 20,000 supply line troops in Poland and 5,000 each in Hungary and Romania. Byrnes said it seemed to him an important step toward reducing occupation forces in connection with United Nations work on disarmament.

LAKE SUCCESS, L. I., Dec. 9 (AP).—The New York City Department of Health began today giving chest X-rays to the 2,500 members of the United Nations secretariat. The program will require five days. The X-ray tests were offered by the Health Department merely as a survey such as many business firms and other organizations make of their employees. Health Commissioner Israel Weinstein said: "It shows that New York City can offer services of this sort and that the Health Department and all its services are always available to the United Nations, its delegates and secretariat."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP)—British Ambassador Lord Inverchapel said today that he would go to New York tomorrow to act as British spokesman in the Security Council on the Greek question.

FRANCO DEFIES ACTION BY U.N.

Speaks At Spanish Demonstration Against 'Interference'

A. WEST

Madrid, Dec. 9 (AP)—Generalissimo Franco told thousands of demonstrating Spaniards today that the United Nations had no right to interfere in the internal affairs of his country and that if Spanish liberty and sovereignty become endangered "we would be converted into a real apple of discord."

He spoke from the balcony of the national palace, climaxing a three-hour demonstration in the heart of Madrid against "foreign interference."

Blames Communist Wave

"What is happening in the United Nations cannot surprise us Spaniards," he said, adding that a "wave of Communist terror is desolating Europe and violations, crimes and persecutions, of the same order as those which many of you witnessed or suffered, govern the life of twelve nations which were formerly independent."

[He did not specify them by name, but presumably referred to states he regarded as within the Soviet sphere of influence.]

"As long as the concert of nations of the world continues to rest on respect for the sovereignty of each people, without an international fascism to dictate to them and unify them, no one has the right to mix into the private affairs of each nation," Franco said.

Asserts Pacific Spirit

"The pacific spirit of Spain is sufficiently proven. Its interests are unopposed to the honorable interests of other countries. Our peace serves them as much as it serves us. If our liberty and sovereignty were endangered, we would be converted into a real apple of discord."

He said that as the other nations "defend and administer their peace, we shall administer and defend our victory."

The crowds began to mass in the square before the palace after parading through the streets carrying hundreds of banners, one reading "we won't endure foreign intervention."

"Franco, we are at your orders against the world if you command it," another stated.

"Down With United Nations"

Painted signs with the words "Down with the United Nations" appeared on many buildings and walls.

Franco declared the demonstration gave "the most expressive and (illegible) answer to those who speculate stupidly abroad on your loyalty and our internal peace."

Embassies Heavily Guarded

The demonstration passed without incident. Those opposed to Franco were under instructions to remain passive, and they limited their activities to distribution of miniature pamphlets, which called on workers to refrain from participating in the demonstration, termed by the controlled press "a national plebiscite against foreign interference."

All foreign embassies were heavily guarded, with the most precautions taken before the French chancellery. Mounted police broke up one attempt by a group to stage a demonstration there.

The usual guard around the United States Embassy was augmented with three plain-clothes men and four mounted police.

Estimates of how many persons participated varied from 70,000 to 300,000 and no official figure was available. The total population of Madrid is approximately 1,500,000.

Reprisal Hint Reported

There were many reports that workers were given to understand that they would be subject to reprisals if they did not attend the demonstration. The leaflet distributed by the opposition said fear of reprisals was not sufficient to justify attendance and added:

"If the United Nations do not have enough proof of the criminal fanaticism of the Spanish regime, the demonstration today is eloquent evidence of its tragic figure."

Leaflets distributed by pro-Franco groups countered with assertions that Spain did not want another civil war. One reprinted a letter sent by President Roosevelt to Franco at the time of the invasion of North Africa.

Text of Address

MADRID, Dec. 9 (AP).—The complete text of Generalissimo Franco's address:

"Veterans, ex-prisoners and Spaniards all:

"We could use the whole surface of Spain for this immense demonstration of enthusiasm, unity and firmness which gives the most expressive and roundest answer to those who speculate stupidly abroad on your loyalty and our internal peace.

"By their injustice they bring ignominy on themselves—those who seek to insult us with impunity and try to take from Spaniards the glory of their victory and the merit of their sacrifices in order to drop them again right into a pile of their hated enemies.

"What is happening in the United Nations cannot surprise us Spaniards.

"When a wave of Communist terror is desolating Europe and violations, crimes and persecutions of the same order as those which many of you witnessed or suffered govern the life of twelve nations which formerly were independent, with the great impunity, it should not surprise us that the sons of Giral and Pasionari find tolerance in the atmosphere and support among official representatives of those unfortunate peoples, but the license with which some delegates express themselves is one thing, and another very different thing is the calm will of their nations. [Jose Giral is Premier of the Spanish Republican exile regime. Dolores Ibarruri, known during the Spanish civil war as La Pasionaria, is secretary general of the Spanish Communist party.]

"As long as the concert of nations of the world continues resting on respect for the sovereignty of each people, without an international Fascism to dictate to them and unify them, no one has the right to mix into the private affairs of each nation.

"The pacific spirit of Spain is sufficiently proven. Its interests are not opposed to the honorable interests of other countries. Our peace serves them as much as it serves us. If our liberty and sovereignty were endangered we would be converted into a real apple of discord.

"As they defend and administer their peace, we shall administer and defend our victory.

"The world situation and its shame again give meaning to our glorious crusade. We must think of what would have happened without it in this calamitous period for Europe. To the great force of our rightness, let us add strength of our unity. With them and the protection of God, nothing and no one can make our victory fail.

"Once again in history we are polarizing the attention of the world. Millions of letters from Spaniards scattered throughout the world frequently witness this. Because of you and your sacrifices, they once again feel themselves children of something (important). The fact that the world is concerned with Spain is proof of our rebirth, an unequivocal sign that in Spain it is beginning to dawn."

BRITISH ACCUSED BY MOSCOW RADIO

1946

Reported Planning 'Armed Interference' In Greece

London, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Moscow radio declared tonight that Great Britain was planning "armed interference" in the current disorders in Greece and also was the instigator of a plan for a new Arab state.

One broadcast, quoting excerpts from the Leftist Athens newspaper Eleftheria Ellada, said that regardless of British denials, British troops are preparing to step into the quarrel between Greek Government troops and Leftist bands.

"The British command, writes the paper, is moving its troops, following Greek units operating against the democratic armed forces in the mountains," the broadcaster said. "There is also information that British soldiers are being trained in methods of warfare against guerrillas."

Called "Inspiration"

An earlier broadcast branded as "an inspiration of British imperialists" a plan supported by King Abdullah of Transjordan for a new Arab state embracing Transjordan, Syria and part of Palestine.

"This new state, headed by a member of the pro-British Transjordan dynasty, is intended (by the British) to counteract growing American influence in Arabia and lessen the importance of rebellious Egypt as a factor in the Arab east," the Moscow commentator said.

RUSSIANS DENY STALIN IS DYING

London, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—Describing as "dirty speculation" rumors published here and elsewhere that Prime Minister Stalin was dead or dying, a spokesman for the Russian embassy declared that the Soviet leader "is in the best of health."

Reports about Stalin's health reached the banner headline stage in some London papers over the week end. One Sunday paper, the People, said that Stalin had decided "to retire from the supreme control but will maintain contact in the Kremlin as an elder statesman."

"The first official announcement is planned for the Russian New Year, about a month from now," the People said.

American Says Bevin Cited Russian Threat

London, Dec. 9 (AP)—Prof. Johan J. Smertenko of Woodbury, Conn., vice president of the American League for a Free Palestine, declared today that Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, told a Jewish delegation last year that British troops remained in Palestine as "a defense measure against Russia."

Smertenko told a news conference that Bevin said in effect that British interests "demand the presence of large numbers of troops in the Middle East" and then added:

"As you realize, there is a threat from Soviet Russia and we must be prepared to meet that threat."

The British Foreign Office, notified of Smertenko's statement, said tonight it had no knowledge of such a declaration by Bevin. ADD

Arab Threat to U. S. Reported

LONDON, Dec. 9 (AP).—The Moscow radio, quoting the Baghdad newspaper "Al Shaad," said today that Iraq and other Arab countries have threatened to terminate air agreements with the United States "if the latter conducts a policy of hostility toward the Arabs in the Palestinian question." The warning, the broadcast said, was delivered to President Truman's personal representative in the Middle East by the Iraqi Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Morrison Affirms Exchange

LONDON, Dec. 9 (AP)—Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison said today "informal exchanges of views" were going on between Britain and the United States to decide whether the wartime standardization of weapons between the two countries should be continued.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons by Philip Piratin, Communist, Mr. Morrison said, however, that no decision had been reached. He added:

"In view of the reciprocal exchange of weapons between the United Kingdom and the U. S. A. during the war over a very wide field, and the existing cooperation between the respective forces in the occupation of Germany, there have naturally been informal exchanges of views on continuing such standardization in the interest of economy and efficiency." BBC Reporter Barred From Moscow

London, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—The Soviet Union, which recently withdrew voice-broadcasting privileges from American correspondents, has refused to allow the British Broadcasting Corporation to station a correspondent in Moscow.

A. P. Ryan, news editor for BBC, told the Institute of Journalists today: "The fact that the BBC has no correspondent in Moscow is not for want of trying."

Roosevelt Honor In Abbey Planned

London, Dec. 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today that a plaque in memory of President Franklin D. Roosevelt may be erected in Westminster Abbey, where Britain's great lie entombed.

Asked if a memorial to Roosevelt could be included in the rebuilding of the war-damaged House of Commons chamber, Attlee said there was a rule that no memorial could be placed there within ten years of an individual's death, except after resolution by both houses of Parliament.

"If such a resolution were passed, having regard to the time necessary to complete the new building scheme," Attlee said, "it would not be possible to show the tablet for some years. The House will be glad to know, however, that I am in communication with the Dean of Westminster with a view to setting up a tablet in memory of the late President Roosevelt in a suitable position in the Abbey."

WAR HERO AND FAMILY ON WAY TO NEW MILFORD

SHANNON, Eire, Dec. 9 — (AP) Capt. Ernest F. Floege, American hero of the French underground, his French wife and six children were delayed here tonight on their trip to their new home at New Milford, Conn.

The plane they boarded in London was grounded in Shannon for maintenance and will continue the flight tomorrow.

Floege, who parachuted twice into occupied France to organize the wartime underground, took up residence in France after World War I, but returned to the United States at the beginnig of World War II to join the American Army.

FRENCH POLITICS DEADLOCK HOLDS

1946

PARIS, Dec. 9—(AP) French political leaders struggled gloomily tonight to find some formula whereby the nation could form a new government.

The elections yesterday for 214 members of the upper house of parliament, in which the Centrist Popular Republican Movement (MRP) won one more member than the Communists, showed that the Communists and MRP were almost equal in strength and neither could claim a clear majority.

Vincent Auriol, socialist president of the lower house, tried to break the deadlock between the Communists and the MRP through negotiations with the Socialists and Edouard Herriot, Radical Socialists.

The Communists and Socialists failed last week to obtain enough votes in the lower house to elect Communist Maurice Thorez to the interim premiership of France. The MRP, likewise, failed to muster a center-right majority to elect former premier Georges Bidault.

The National Assembly, as the lower house is called, may try again tomorrow to elect a temporary premier.

The urgency of the situation was demonstrated by the fact that France has no budget for government expenditures for 1947, and no government to authorize such expenditures.

Republicans Gain Edge In French Vote

Paris, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Centrist popular Republican movement (MRP), vying with the Communist party for control of France, had a slight edge over its rival today in Parliament's still incomplete upper house after another Sunday election.

Electoral colleges and a special election commission which yesterday decided 214 of the 315 seats in the council of the Republic gave 62 seats to the MRP and 61 to the Communists—in each case less than a third.

Should the remaining council seats be filled in the same ratio, the council's situation would be similar to that of the more po[wer]-

Underground Hero to Return to U. S.

Capt. Floege, Who Twice Parachuted Into France, to Receive British Honor and Live in Connecticut.

London, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—Capt. E. F. Floege, an American who parachuted twice into occupied France to organize the wartime underground, planned to leave today to establish a home in New Milford, Conn., and receive in Washington the British Distinguished Service Order.

His French wife and six of their seven children were to take an American Overseas Airline plane for New York.

Floege took up residence in France after world war I. When the last war began he went to the United States, enlisted as a private and later entered the Office of Strategic Services. In June, 1943, he parachuted into the Loire district, helped organize the underground and was captured, but escaped from the Gestapo. Later, he served with the Maquisards in the Belford Gap area.

The Floeges's eldest son, who is 24 years old, remained in France.

ful lower house, the National assembly, where the Communists in the November 10 election took 180 seats and the second-place MRP's got 162; no single party would have a majority.

Socialists Win 37

In yesterday's election, Socialists got 37 council deputies; the Radical Socialists, 25; the Republican Party of Liberty (PRL) and affiliated Rightist groups, twenty; the Algerian Manifesto Union, four; the Algerian Franco-Musulman Union, three, and other parties, two.

Numerous electoral colleges filled 141 of the seats—127 of them in continental France and fourteen in North Africa. The other 73 seats were assigned the parties by the special election commission in line with popular votes they polled in balloting for the electors two weeks before.

Still to be chosen are 101 council deputies. Colonies outside North Africa will select 51 of these. The National Assembly will pick the other 50 on the basis of party representation in the Assembly—42 for continental France and eight for colonial groups.

Electorate Vote Reported

The Interior Ministry reported yesterday's electoral vote as follows: MRP, 27,280; Communists, 25,788; Socialists, 15,710; Radical Socialists, 10,230; PRL and other Rightist groups, 7,963, and minor parties, 1,170.

Since the coalition Cabinet of President Georges Bidault, MRP leader, resigned November 28, neither the MRP nor Communist party has mustered enough assembly strength to elect an interim Premier to serve until a permanent government is set up next month. Last week both Bidault and Maurice Thorez, Communist secretary-general, failed to win the post.

LESS FOOD SENT TO REICH BY U. S.

Berlin, Dec. 9 (AP).—Food imports from the United States during the last quarter fell almost 50 per cent short of requirements for the United States Occupation Zone, the American Military Government weekly report said today. To keep the German ration level at 1,500 calories daily food has been arriving at the rate of approximately 50,000 metric tons a month, compared with the estimated average import requirement of 92,000 metric tons monthly.

High priority continued to be given to the transportation of potatoes, firewood and bread grains, the report said, because of the showness in collecting deliveries from German farmers for the market.

Meanwhile, black market activities and food thefts continued high. Several localities in Wuerttemberg-Baden were robbed of ration cards and large quantities of tobacco.

Nevertheless, authorities granted a Christmas food bonus of 100 grams (about 3½ ounces) of meat extra per person per week during the holiday ration period and an extra 250 grams of sugar per person for Germans aged one to twenty.

Regional offices of the American Military Government, however, have been requested to crack down on German violations of rationing directives. Some manufacturers, the report said, are supplementing their workers' ration by subsidizing plant kitchens with food obtained with or without the assistance of food authorities.

German Woman Shot; U.S. Corporal Held

Berlin, Dec. 9 (AP)—Agents of the United States Army's Criminal Investigation Division said today they would prepare formal charges against Corporal Donald L. Johnson, 26, of De Kalb, Ill., arrested in the shooting of a German woman in a Berlin dwelling Saturday night after what military police reported was a lover's quarrel.

Police said Johnson was found in the room with the critically wounded woman—Irmgard Stoit, 26—with a pistol lying beside her, and that Johnson told them they had quarrelled.

The CID took paraffin tests of Johnson's hands and announced that they showed positive evidence of powder burns.

The severity of charges against Johnson depend upon whether Miss Stoit survives. She was still in a coma late today at a United States Army hospital.

ACCUSE GERMAN REDS

Wiesbaden, Germany, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—Major C. F. Russe said tonight that the United States Army was nvestigating reports by Negro troops at Giessen, the site of several all-Negro quartermaster depots, that German Communist girls had attempted to convert them to communism.

American Military Government officers said the girls "attempted to tell the troops that America would one day have a communist Government and that they should embrace communism immediately." Officers said the men had dismissed the propaganda without heed.

Walter Bloch, deputy secretary of the Greater Hesse Communist party, said that the party had made no effort to influence any American soldiers, but added: "It is possible that, under the influence of drink, some party member may have tried to propagandize the Negroes."

German Children Make Toys For U.S.

Darmstadt, Germany, Dec. 9 (AP). Nearly 5,000 toys made by Darmstadt's 8,400 schoolchildren were handed over to the American Military Government with a request that they be used to fill the Christmas stockings of American children.

The children made the toys as an expression of gratitude for the American Friends Service Committee's relief work in providing the Darmstadt children with one extra warm meal a day. They requested Lieut. Col. Arthur Scarry, of St. Louis, commander of the AMG here, to forward the toys of this committee.

Support For Jewish [illegible] Requested

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 9 (AP)—Dr. Chaim Weizmann called upon the World Zionist Congress today to reject "without hesitation or reserve" federalization of Palestine and to support establishment there of a Jewish nation "side by side with the Arab nations."

He declared, however, that "one alternative" would be a return to the "British mandate" as it was conceived by those who drew it up—a return to a period of free immigration, limited only by the capacity of the country."

In his speech as president opening the twenty-second congress the aging Jewish leader assailed "terrorism" in the Holy Land as "morally abhorrent and also barren of advantage" in achieving Zionist goals.

Looks To Jewish Future

"Irresponsible groups, who arrogate to themselves the right to involve a whole people in the responsibility for their undisciplined acts are gambling with the Jewish future," he declared.

In referring to the so-called Morrison plan for Palestine which had been proposed by the British-American experts, Dr. Weizmann said:

"We reject it both in principle and detail. In principle because it is neither a final solution, nor one which establishes the Jewish people in political independence."

The plan would split Palestine into four areas—a Jewish zone, an Arab zone, a Jerusalem zone administered by the British, and the Nageb, or south country, also British-administered. Some Jews have settled in the Nageb under the 1940 land transfer regulations.

Gratitude For U.S. Support

Dr. Weizmann [illegible] plan as "no more than a slightly modified White Paper," referring to the document which limits present immigration into Palestine. He demanded repeal of the White Paper, and an end, to "repressive emergency regulations, arbitrary arrests and detentions" in Palestine.

He said the report of the British-American inquiry committee, which approved partition of Palestine, "contains certain specific proposals which would once again breathe life and spirit into the mandate." The committee also recommended immediate admission of 100,000 Jews into Palestine.

He expressed gratitude to the American Government and people for support given to the avowed goal of Zionism—establishment of a Jewish national homeland in Palestine.

Election At Congress

Before the Congress opened Moshe Shertok, of the Jewish Agency Executive, said the statement of James F. Byrnes, United States Secretary of State, that the United States would have a representative at the London Palestine conferences next month "is welcomed as a practical expression of American interest in the solution of the Palestine problem."

The Jewish Agency Executive, recognized in the mandate given Britain over Palestine as the representative Jewish body in the Holy Land, will be elected at the congress.

Shertok added, however, that his statement "does not prejudice any decision the congress may take on the question of whether or not the Jewish agency shall go to the conference."

Both Pales[tine] Jews and Arabs boycotted th[e] London conference, which [was] adjourned without reachin[g] any decisions in November.

Plea For Jewish State Made

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 9 (AP)—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Congress, called today for establishment of a Jewish state as the only means of settling the Palestine problem.

"We cannot contemplate a solution falling short of that claim," the Jewis leader said in his presidential address prepared for the twenty-second congress meeting here.

Weizmann said the so-called Morrison plan for the federalization of Palestine into Jewish and Arab states must be rejected "without hesitation or reserve."

Likened To White Paper

Dr. Weizmann described the plan bearing the name of Herbert Morrison, British Lord President of the Council, as "no more than a slightly modified white paper," comparing it with the official statement of British policy which limits Jewish immigration in Palestine and limits Jewish land rights there.

He called upon his people to reject terrorism as a means of attaining Zionist goals in the Holy Land.

Accusing the British Government of denying asylum to Europe's persecuted Jews at a time when they were falling under the Nazi yoke, Weizmann said:

"One alternative is a return to the (League of Nations) mandate as it was conceived by those who drew it up—a return to a period of free immigration, limited only by the capacity of the country.

"The report of the Anglo-American Inquiry Committee, with not all of which we agree, contains certain specific proposals which would once again breathe life and spirit into the mandate."

Appreciates U.S. Stand

Weizman expressed "our deep appreciation felt by the Jewish people for the sympathy and support lent by the President and Government of the United States to our cause in these difficult years."

Moshe Shertok, of the Jewish Agency Executive, welcomed the suggestion of Secretary of State Byrnes for an Arab-Jewish conference "as a practical expression of American interest in the solution of the Palestine problem."

"The fact that I welcome American interest, with the possibility of American observers at the London conference, does not prejudice any decision the congress may take on the question of whether the Jewish Agency shall go to the conference," he said.

Shertok was one of a score of Jewish leaders detained by the British until a month ago. He said he would not return now to Palestine.

"According to our information, the terrorist organization has proclaimed a truce—a lull—in their unfortunate activity" in Palestine, Shertok said.

Two Nazi Generals Sentenced to Die

Athens, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—A war crimes court sentenced two German generals to death tonight for group massacres and deporting of Greeks for slave labor. They were Bruno Breuer, who was military governor of Crete, and Friedrich Mueller, former commandant at Herakleion, Crete. The court recommended that Breuer's sentence be commuted to life imprinsonment, a plea which King George II will decide.

Greece Bolsters Sentry Forces At Borders

Athens, Dec. 9 (AP)—Greece, which has accused three northern neighbors before the United Nations of violating her borders, today was reported to have reinforced Bulgarian-frontier sentry posts and to be intensifying a mop-up of northern guerrillas.

The army said yesterday it had strengthened the Bulgarian-border posts and had sent 7th Division units into the area to guard Greek-Turkish roads and railways. Army and press reports told of heightened strife with leftist bands.

Complained To U.N.

[Greece complained to the United Nations Security Council at Lake Success, N.Y., Wednesday that Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania had violated her borders, and asked an investigation.]

Meanwhile, Gen. Stylianos Gonatas, Acting Premier, said the Greek Government was investigating a new complaint that Greek planes were flying over Yugoslavia. He reported the protest came from the director of the Yugoslav Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Belgrade.

[In Washington, the Bulgarian Embassy's press attaché last night denied Greek newspaper stories, quoted by the Associated Press on Friday, which said Greek partisans engaged by the army at Corymvos Thrace, had been forced to retire into Bulgaria.

["Bulgarian frontier guards, who have recently been forbidden to allow even individual temporary crossings of the Greek-Bulgarian border in either direction," the attaché said, "have no record of any such group entering Bulgaria."]

Wise Assails White Paper

BASLE, Dec. 9 (AP)—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York said today that Britain must either "cancel the White Paper—this blighting White Paper—and resume her mandatory obligations or we have a right to assume she has abandoned her mandate over Palestine." He described the White Paper as the "crime of crimes."

Slavs Hear Tito Thank Russia, Plead for Unity

American Delegate to Congress Declares U. S. Needs 'New Roosevelt'

BELGRADE, Dec. 9 (AP).—Premier Marshal Tito opened the All-Slav Congress yesterday with a plea for stronger unity so that Slav peoples "never again will serve foreign interests and the terrible tragedy of a world war will never occur again."

Delegates from Russia, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Bulgaria and the American Slav Congress attended and heard Tito say: "The Slavs have a great mission in the world today, but it is not to form a Pan-Slav bloc. Enemies for centuries have made the Slavs fight against each other, but now the Slavs will be united in their own interests and in the interest of all progressive humanity."

Marshal Feodor Tolbukhin, Crimean hero, headed the Russian delegation. His dress uniform bore many medals. Two other generals were in his delegation.

Tito was applauded loudly when he thanked Russia and its Soviet Army "who liberated the Slavs and others."

"We are not forming a bloc against other nations but are making possible a just, better and firmer peace," Tito said. "We are not threatening the independence of others, because we know what it is to be free and what it is to be oppressed. We are against anyone who is now pushing toward a new war."

An American delegate, Zlatko Balokovic, scored more applause than most speakers when he cried that "no atomic bomb can destroy the unity of the Slav people." He eulogized President Roosevelt, whose name received as much applause as that of Stalin or Tito. Balokovic said America needs most today a new Roosevelt to carry on the late President's ideas.

The eight American delegates include Dr. George Bubanj, a Missouri State Senator and vice-chairman of the American Slav Congress.

Czechs Charge Hungary With Breach of Faith

Say She Violated Accord for Exchange of Nationals

PRAGUE, Dec. 9 (AP).—The Czechoslovak Foreign Ministry said today it had formally accused Hungary of a breach of faith in failing to carry out its part of a bilateral agreement for the exchange of nationals of both countries.

A communication sent to Foreign Minister Janos Gyongyossy of Hungary last Friday, the Czechoslovak Ministry said, also demanded that Hungarians put a stop to alleged shooting over the Czech border and subversive activities inside Slovakia.

According to an agreement between the two countries signed Feb. 27, Hungarian nationals living in Czechoslovakia and Czech nationals living in Hungary were to be repatriated.

'Pravda' Says British Groom New Fuehrer

E. GILMORE

Paper Asserts London Hailed Schumacher as 'Victor'; He Ridicules Charges

MOSCOW, Dec. 9 (AP).—The Communist party newspaper "Pravda" accused "reactionary forces" in Great Britain today of attempting to groom a new Fuehrer as a successor to Adolf Hitler, on the eve of the international discussion of the German problem.

The newspaper said Kurt Schumacher, Social Democratic party leader in Germany's western zones, has been singled out as the new Fuehrer and is now being received in London as a "victor and a conqueror." It added that the British Labor government itself greeted him as a "dear guest."

[Schumacher, who is in England as a guest of the Labor party, said the allegation that he has ambitions to become a Fuehrer "is so far beside the point that it is difficult to regard it seriously. I have a feeling that in certain quarters in Moscow I would be forgiven for being a Fuehrer but never for being a democrat," he told a reporter.

[Schumacher denied that he is a tool of the democracies, and said, "any one who might have heard what was said at some of the conferences here would have come very quickly to a conclusion that I haven't been acting like a tool." He said he was elected chairman of the Social Democrats by a democratic process and could be ousted by the same means. He said he planned to return to Germany Tuesday.]

The "Pravda" accusations were contained in an article by David Zaslavsky, a Soviet political commentator, who said reactionaries are rallying to Schumacher 'in order to undermine at the foundation the birth of a new German democracy."

"We see a new Fuehrer for Germany being made," he wrote. "He is being created on the eve of international discussion of the German problem. This Fuehrer is being modeled immediately after the conclusion of an agreement on economic unity of the British and American occupation zones."

Zaslavsky accused Schumacher of heading the persecution of Communists in the western zones, and said he used the "most disgraceful methods of Goebbels."

The article also charged that Britain and the United States had conducted "over-the-left-shoulder" de-Nazification in Germany, that Germany had not got rid of Fascism and that the Potsdam decisions were not being carried out.

Another "Pravda" article, headlined "Our Ocean," referred to recent statements in Tokyo by United States Representatives Ed V. Izac, Democrat of California and C. W. Bishop, Republican of Illinois, that strategic Pacific islands might as well be called "United States islands." The newspaper said that other peoples in the past had claimed parts of the seas for their property, but now the United States apparently claimed the "entire seas."

SOVIET-NORWEGIAN TRADE PACT SIGNED

MOSCOW, Dec. 9—(AP) The text of a Soviet-Norwegian trade pact, defining trade relations between the two countries for a one-year period, was signed today in Moscow after three weeks of negotiations, a Norwegian source said.

The informant added that the negotiations led to a complete understanding on the problems of post-war trade relation between the two countries.

It was expected that final negotiations on the list of goods to be exchanged under the agreement will end tonight or tomorrow.

EGYPT GIVEN NEW CABINET

1946

M. BOYD

New Premier Names Saadists, Liberal Constitutionalists

Cairo, Tuesday, Dec. 9 (AP)—Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashi Pasha, who became Premier of Egypt yesterday for the second time in less than ten months, formed a new cabinet early today, retaining the portfolios of the foreign affairs and interior ministries for himself.

The new cabinet is composed of six members of Nokrashi Pasha's Saadist party and six members of the Liberal Constitution party.

Designs Back Farouk

The two parties form a majority in the Egyptian Chamber of Deputies which recently gave Ismail Sidky Pasha, who resigned the premiership Sunday under the double weight of ill health and differences with the British, a vote of confidence on his negotiations with Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, to revise the 1936 British-Egyptian treaty.

King Faroux I, Egypt's young sovereign, designated the 58-year-old Nokrashi Pasha to succeed Sidky Pasha.

Nokrashi Pasha said in his letter of acceptance to King Farouk that his Government would give priority to the achievement of Egypt's national demands—the evacuation of British troops and the unification of Egypt and the Sudan under the Egyptian crown.

A cabinet of Saadist and Liberal Constitutionalists leaves Sidky Pasha's principal opposition—the nationalistic Wafdist party—still out of the government.

Break With British Reported

Reliable sources said that Sidky Pasha, a political independent, had broken with the British over demands that their troops be allowed to march through Egypt to the Sudan at any time. Sidky Pasha, in a statement before his resignation, had denied a report that he and Bevin had "agreed to give the Sudan the right to separate from Egypt."

Egyptian leaders apparently are agreed that any new British-Egyptian treaty superseding the 1936 pact must contain a clause guaranteeing the unity of Egypt and the Sudan, under the Egyptian Crown.

[The British Foreign Office reaffirmed yesterday that Britain intended to allow the Sudanese people the right to determine for themselves whether they wished to be united permanently with Egypt.]

Portugal Expels American

LISBON, Dec. 9 (AP).—Police have ordered Joseph Arthur Porto, former assistant financial attache of the American Legation, to leave Lisbon by midnight tomorrow. The police would tell neither the embassy nor Porto the reason for the expulsion. His request for an extension of several weeks to settle business affairs was refused. His wife was packing swiftly for departure to an unannounced place.

New Cabinet Line-Up

CAIRO, Egypt, Tuesday, Dec. 10 (AP)—Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha, who became Premier of Egypt yesterday, formed a new Cabinet early today. The portfolios are:

Premier, Foreign Affairs and Interior—Nokrashy Pasha (Saadist).

Food Parachuted to 800 Jews Shipwrecked on Barren Isle

NIGHT

JERUSALEM, Dec. 9. — (AP) Flying through extremely bad weather four British bombers dropped five tons of food and supplies today to 800 Jews shipwrecked on the barren Greek island of Syrina while trying to reach Palestine.

The British destroyer Chevron and a minesweeper were on their way to the island, 50 miles northwest of Rhodes and near the Dodecanese. (An Athens dispatch said the Greek destroyer Themistocles, now in Rhodes, was ordered to proceed to Syrina to aid the Jews.)

Flight Lieutenant Allen Ross, commander of the air expedition, said none of the crewmen could describe the condition of the shipwreck victims, eight of whom were believed to have drowned.

"They apparently spent the night in two houses and three or four barns in the valley, which is protected from wind and rain by three hills about 600 feet high," Ross said. He described the weather on the flight as "the worst I ever saw in the Mediterranean."

The Jewish agency supplied the materials dropped by the planes. They included chocolate, biscuits, clothing and brandy.

Meanwhile 756 Jews detained on Cyprus sailed today for Palestine, bringing to 1,054 the total to be admitted under quota from the hundreds taken to internment on Cyprus after trying to enter Palestine without immigration permits.

INDIA ASSEMBLY URGED TO STUDY U. S. SETUP

NIGHT

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 9.—(AP) Delegates to the Constituent Assembly, which opened here today to write a proposed charter for an independent India, were urged to study the American constitution as a possible pattern.

Dr. Sachchidanand Sinha of Patna, editor and oldest member of the assembly, described the U. S. constitution as the "soundest, most practical and workable republican constitution in existence."

The 75-seats allotted to the Moslem League, which has boycotted the assembly, were vacant as delegates took their places in the remodeled central assembly library building.

The assembly is expected to elect a permanent chairman tomorrow and establish committees, which must present recommendations by next April on specific matters to be included in the constitution.

Moslems Boycott India Assembly

New Delhi, Dec. 9 (AP)—India's Constituent Assembly opened its first session today in the dignified atmosphere of Constitution Hall. There were 75 seats vacant—those allotted to the Moslem League, which has boycotted the body undertaking to implement the second phase of a plan to make India independent.

Congress President J. A. Kripalani walked past other Congress ministers who are members of the Assembly, including Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, and spoke briefly before introducing the temporary chairman, Sachchidanand Sinha, of Patna, 78-year-old editor.

After reading messages of good wishes from Australia, China and the United States, Dr. Sinha delivered a short address strongly urging the Assembly to study the American Constitution, the "soundest, most practical and workable republican constitution in existence."

Interpretation Sought

Dr. Sinha said he felt the American document should be studied "not necessarily for wholesale adoption, but for judicious adaptation of its provisions to the necessities and requirement of your own country."

Congress party sources predicted last night that one of the Assembly's first acts would be to ask the Federal Court to interpret disputed sections of the British Cabinet mission plan for India's independence.

A recurrence of communal strife which has cost hundreds of lives in Hindu-Moslem rioting in the last several weeks took place last night in Bombay, where five men were killed and sixteen others injured.

No Portraits of Viceroys In Indian Assembly Room

By The Associated Press.

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 9—The portraits of the former Viceroys of India had been removed from the walls of the Central Assembly library when India's Constituent Assembly met there today. The 221 delegates looked at empty panels surrounded by heavy gilded frames.

The high-domed library, in the circular building in the Secretariat block, had been remodeled for the Assembly's meeting.

IRAN REPORTS ARMED CLASH

Government Troops Entering All Of Azerbaijan

Tehran, Iran, Dec. 9 (AP)—An Iranian Central Government communiqué declared today that Government forces had been attacked along the border of Azerbaijan province by militia units of the Azerbaijan Democrats and that the retaliatory action had been taken.

Premier Ahmed Qavam, in announcing the clash at Ghaflankooh, reiterated his position that Government troops must enter all portions of Azerbaijan to supervise the forthcomingb parliamentary elections.

"Protection By Arms"

Jafar Pishevari, nead of Azerbaijan's Democratic party and "Premier" of that province when it was occupied by the Russians, was quoted by the Azerbaijan radio as saying that Qavam intends to attack "our freedom by fratricide to win the Azerbaijan elections" for his condidates. Pishevari added: "We will from now on protect our freedom by arms."

[A Moscow dispatch said that apprehension was mounting in the Soviet capital over developments in Iran. The Communist newspaper Pravda charged Qavam's Government was "violating its obligations to settle the Azerbaijan question peacefully and is going back on its agreement with representatives of Azerbaijan."

[Pravda asserted that the Government troops began to penetrate Azerbaijan province on December 4, attacking Azerbaijan units with planes and artillery.]

["The Iranian Government decided to bring troops into Iranian Azerbaijan not to maintain order but in order to liquidate national democratic liberties, dissolve the Azerbaijan Democratic party and prevent election of its representatives to the Parliament," Pravda said.]

GHAVAM REPORTS IRANIAN SKIRMISH

Premier Says Teheran Troops Were Attacked—Azerbaijan Leader Holds Revolt Near

TEHERAN, Dec. 9 (AP)—Premier Ahmad Ghavam of Iran last night reported a militia attack on Government troops sent toward semi-autonomous Azerbaijan Province to supervise elections.

In a statement broadcast from here the Premier said Government security forces had "been attacked by the Fedais (Democrat militia) in Ghaflankooh," on the Azerbaijanian border, and that the Fedais had suffered the results of "breaking the law."

The radio in Tabriz, provincial capital, quoted Jafaar Pishevari, former Azerbaijanian "Premier" and leader of Azerbaijan's Democrat party, as having said that Azerbaijan could not be separated from Iran but that "a great Iranian revolution to save the nation from slavery is drawing nearer."

Mr. Pishevari said, the broadcast reported, that the Azerbaijani had tried peacefully to protect their freedom but that now Mr. Ghavam intended to attack "our freedom by fratricide to win the Azerbaijanian elections for his Democrat party candidates" and that the Azerbaijani would "protect our freedom by arms." [Mr. Ghavam's Democrats and the Azerbaijanian Democrats are different parties.]

Premier Ghavam reiterated his insistence that Government troops must go to all parts of Azerbaijan to "supervise the elections," to take place during the next two weeks throughout the country.

"The Government doesn't intend to bring bloodshed, but on the other hand cannot remain quiet in a case where public security and independence are endangered," he said.

Chungyang Being Shelled

Peiping, Dec. 9 (AP)—Nationalist army headquarters reported here today that Communist troops, battering at the walls of Chungyang, in Shansi province for ten days, had started shelling the city with cannon.

Reports from Taiyuan, capital of Shansi, said the Nationalist garrison had been repelling charges on the city walls day and night and quoted the commander there as having said, "We will live or perish with the city."

The Nationalist Air Force was reported ready to drop food and ammunition to the garrison, which is the last Government block on the Red path toward Fengyang and Taiyuan.

Appeals for aid were received also from the Nationalist garrison at Liucheng, 67 miles west of Tsinan, capital of Shantung province. Communist besiegers have attacked Liucheng many times.

Renewed Communist activity around Paoting, capital of Hopeh province, brought 30,000 troops to the city's outskirts with fighting only 7 miles distant, it was reported. There was also fighting at Tsaho and Hsishui, north of Paoting, and at the south provincial capital of Yuchiachuang.

Communists Unrelenting

YENAN, Dec. 8 (delayed) (AP).—Communist leader Lu Ting-yi declared here today there can be no basis for renewed negotiations between the Communists and national government unless Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is willing to dissolve the National Assembly and return Nationalist troops to positions of last Jan. 13.

Lu, a member of the Communist Central Committee, made his indirect answer to reports that the government would send a negotiator to Yenan in an address before 2,000 Communist youths commemorating the shooting of student anti-civil war demonstrators last year at Kunming.

Lu added the prediction that on its present court the government soon will be in a difficult military position. He asserted that Nationalist lines are overextended and predicted that peasant uprisings will grow in scope and intensity to form a "second front" to harry the government's rear positions.

He charged also that the United States had violated agreements to refrain from encouraging civil strife.

CHINA FACTIONS SEEN CLOSER TO NEW PEACE TALKS

NANKING, Dec. 9—(AP) Resumption of peace negotiations between the government and the Chinese Communists appeared a possibility today with the official announcement that the government was considering sending an envoy to Yenan, Communist capital, for this purpose.

George Yeh, government spokesman, said an emissary had not yet been selected. The choice might fall on Wang Shih-Chieh, foreign minister.

Shortly afterward Chiang Kai-Shek told a Kuomintang (government party) memorial service that the government would welcome reopening of peace talks despite "impossible" conditions laid down by Chou En-Lai, chief Communist negotiator.

Chou withdrew from negotiations Nov. 14, saying his peace mission had failed, and returned to Yenan a few days later. He reiterated last week that the Communists would renew discussions only on the basis of a return to the military status quo of last Jan. 13 and dissolution of the National Assembly. The assembly, in session here framing a new democratic constitution, has been boycotted by the Reds.

Sources close to Chiang said the Generalissimo could not consider seriously any such proposal.

Government military report gave this picture of Communist army activity in three provinces:

Shansi—Communists were battering the walls of Changwang, 90 miles southwest of the provincial capital of Taiyuan, itself under attack. The city was being shelled but the nationalist garrison had repelled waves of day and night charges from three sides.

Shantung—Defenders of besieged Liucheng appealed to the government for relief for the city 67 miles west of Tsinan, provincial capital.

Hopeh—30,000 Communist troops were on the outskirts of Paoting, provincial capital, and fighting was reported seven miles away.

Ta Kang Pao reported that an army of 150,000 Communists was on the move on the North China province of Shansi.

It said the movements were reported along the Yellow River and that they appeared to be aiming at an assault upon Shanhsein, about 130 miles east of Siking (Sian).

Reds Quitting Yencheng

Government reports claimed successes in several major clashes in the Kiangsu area north of Nanking and Shanghai. One dispatch said the pressure of national troops had forced Communists to begin evacuating supplies from Yencheng, some 120 miles northeast of Nanking.

The dispatch added, however, that 30,000 Communists were seeking to relieve the pressure by a counteroffensive staged from Fowning, about 35 miles northwest of Yencheng.

General Marshall's headquarters meanwhile, denied that the American mediator would return to the United States before Christmas. Headquarters had no comment when asked whether he might return to Washington to report to President Truman if peace talks are not soon resumed.

Mrs. Marshall left yesterday for Honolulu to spend the winter.

Chiang May Send Emissary To Yenan

Nanking, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Chinese Government officially announced today that it was considering sending an emissary to Yenan to reopen political negotiations with the Chinese Communists.

The Government spokesman, George Yeh, said that no decision had been made on who might be sent.

It was considered likely, however, that Foreign Minister Wang Shih-chieh would make the trip.

"Peace Mission" Denied

Official quarters here denied that it would be a "peace" mission. Communist demands for dissolution of the National Assembly and restoration of military positions as of last January practically close the door to overall peace talks at this time, it was pointed out.

Netherlands Issue Ruled Out Of Trial

Tokyo, Dec. 9 (AP)—Attempts by attorneys for former Premier Hideki Tojo, and 26 other Japanese leaders to air the Netherlands-Indonesian conflict at their war-crime trial were sternly cut off today by Sir William Webb, president of the international tribunal.

"We are here only to ascertain Japanese violations of international law," Sir William held in upholding objections by the Netherlands prosecution staff.

The defense line of questioning developed during the crossexamination of Major Klaas A. Deweerd, of the Netherlands Indies Army, who testified that the Indonesian republic was proclaimed with the aid of the Japanese Army and Navy after Emperor Hirohito had capitulated in Tokyo. The cross-examination will continue tomorrow.

When Deweerd leaves the stand the Philippine phase of Japanese activities will be taken up.

Army to Fly Santa Claus to Tokyo

St. Nicholas to Land at Imperial Palace Plaza and Lead Christmas Parade in Jeep.

Tokyo, Dec. 9 (A. P.)—Santa Claus, for the benefit of the children of American personnel in the Tokyo-Yokohama area, will land at the Imperial Palace Plaza here four days before Christmas.

After his arrival via a Pacific Air Command plane, he will board a jeep disguised, it is hoped, as a sleigh and lead the Tokyo Christmas parade. Float entries from the Tokyo-Yokohama area will make up the parade, which will be judged by a committee of children, as well as a committee of adults.

After the parade, Santa will hold a reception for the American children at the Red Cross headquarters in the Tokyo Bankers Club.

TOKYO, Dec. 9 (AP).—In an effort to boost coal production, the Japanese government will pay bonuses to both mine owners and miners, Allied headquarters announced today.

Chemicals Sweeter Than Sugar Found, Japs Claim

Tokyo, Dec. 9 (AP)—Kyodo News Agency reported today that a research worker in Niigata had produced two chemicals which he said were 1,400 and 3,000 times sweeter than sugar.

The worker, Fumiya Kanatsuka, named the compounds as ethoxynitroaniline and phloxynitroaniline, and has asked doctors to determine if they could be used safely by humans.

Australian Opposes Mass Immigration

Canberra, Dec. 9 (A. P.)—A. A. Calwell, Australian minister of immigration, declared today that the Government would not "tolerate wholesale dumping in Australia of European migrants of any religion, race or region."

He made the assertion in a news statement referring to the reported formation in Melbourne of a company to be known as Shelter and Aid, Ltd., to assist the immigration of European refugees and others.

The girl was arrested in the mountainous area of Central Luzon where Taruc supposedly is hiding, the dispatch said.

DENIES U. S. HAS MILITARY PACT WITH ENGLAND

State Department Official Also Asserts There Is No Political Alliance.

ANSWERS RECURRING RUMORS

But Admits Standardization of Arms With Britain and Canada Continues.

Washington, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—A State Department official indicated today that wartime standardization of weapons, carried on to some extent with Great Britain and Canada, is continuing into peacetime—but minus any military or political alliances.

"Despite all assertions to the contrary," he said, "there is no political, military alliance with Great Britain aimed at anybody."

British Communists have complained of the standardization program and cited it as evidence of an actual alliance. Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minster, told the House of Commons today, in response to those complaints, ,that "informal exchanges" on the idea of continuing standardization as an economy and efficiency measure were going on, with no decision reached.

Asked about the British reports, the State Department spokesman said war time standardization had shown a saving in time and man power. This official, who would not be quoted by name, went on:

"Because of the effectiveness of these measures, there have from time to time been informal exchanges of views on standardization of arms, notably with the United Kingdom and Canada."

Quotes Secretary of State.

"Our close association with these two countries in the late war and the degree of standardization accomplished as a result thereof have made this logical. It would be a mistake, however, to conclude that this very natural development implies political arrangements or commitments.

"As the Secretary of State said on March 16 of this year, 'we do not propose to seek security in an alliance with the Soviet Union against Great Britain or in an alliance with Great Britain against the Soviet Union.'

"There has been no change in policy. The commitments of the United States are to the United Nations."

The official turned aside all questions as to how far standardization has gone and the extent of definite decisions in this field:

Anglo-American Arms Parleys

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—The United States and Britain officially confirmed today that they are discussing arms standardization informally. The State Department denied that this means an military alliance "against anybody."

Here and in London, officials of the two governments said "informal exchanges of reviews" on peacetime standardization have been going on. But Lincoln White, State Department press officer, emphasized:

"Despite all assertions to the contrary, there is no political, military alliance with Great Britain aimed at anybody."

British Communists have cited the standardization program as evidence of an Anglo-American alliance.

Canada Also In On Talks

White said Canada also has been a party to the talks. How far these have gone is not clear.

Herbert Morrison, deputy prime minister, told the British House of Commons no decision had been reached continuing wartime efforts looking toward an interchange of weapons. White said he didn't know whether any decisions had been made and that this rested largely with military authorities.

But a fortnight ago, British and Americans were described authoritatively as making progress on standardization of types and sizes of their principal weapons. The British were reported to have decided already to redesign their Enfield rifle so it can use .30 caliber American ammunition.

Timed Closely Together

Both White and Morrison spoke of the standardization question in response to questions. Each said the informal exchanges of view grew naturally from attempts during the war to get together on types of weapons and ammunition.

The two statements were so closely together in timing and wording as to suggest advance consultations. A State Department official said it was reasonable to assume the two governments had an understanding in advance on what they would say.

White cited savings in money, time and manpower that resulted from wartime standardization.

"Because of the effectiveness of these measures," he said, "there have from time to time been informal exchanges of views of standardization of arms, notably with the United Kingdom and Canada.

No Political Commitments

"Our close association with these two countries in the late war and the degree of standardization accomplished as a result thereof have made this logical. It would be a mistake, however, to conclude that this very natural development implies political arrangements or commitments."

American commitments, White said, are to the United Nations. There has been no change in policy, he said, since Secretary of State Byrnes declared last March 16:

"We do not propose to seek security in an alliance with the Soviet Union against Great Britain or in an alliance with Great Britain against the Soviet Union."

White's statement was given to a news conference. Morrison answered a question by Philip Piratin, Communist member of Commons.

Senator Thomas Praises Accord on Foreign Policy

Legislative and Executive Tie Seen Bolstering U. S.

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Dec. 9 (AP).—Senator Elbert D. Thomas, Democrat, of Utah, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, declared tonight that a new partnership had been formed between the legislative and executive branches of the government in connection with foreign relations and that as a result the United States stood stronger today among the nations than ever before in history.

Senator Thomas, in a speech prepared for delivery before the University of Southern California's Institute of World Affairs, said that as early as 1935 he had advocated a closer relationship between the Senate and the State Department and the Executive, suggesting the use of Senators as negotiators of treaties and conventions.

He said this practice finally had prevailed, and that "the practice has contributed greatly to what of late has become an accepted idea of both major political parties—that foreign relations should be carried on as bi-partisan activities."

17 U.S. NEWSPAPERS BARRED IN POLAND

Washington, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—The State Department said today that Poland has barred admission of seventeen of the most important Polish language newspapers in the United States.

A department official told reporters the order forbidding their entry was issued by the Director of the Press, Publications and Theaters Bureau. A notice appeared in the official Government organ, Monitor Polski, in the November 15 issue, a copy of which has just been received by the United States embassy in Warsaw.

The seventeen dailies and weeklies were among fifty-six publications from various countries which were blacklisted. Papers from Great Britain, Italy, Austria, France, Palestine and other parts of the Near East also were on the list.

The department official said the reason for the ban is not known, but it seemed logical to assume it is because the papers are opposed to the present Polish regime.

The Polish papers from this country which come under the ban are:

Czas, Brooklyn; Nowy Swiat, Tygodnik Poski New York; Kurier Codzienny, Boston; Ameryka-Echo, Toledo; Howiny Polskie and Kurier Polski, Milwaukee; Dziennik Polski, Detroit; Glos Polak, Dziennik Związkowy and Narod Polski, Chicago; Gwiazda and Jednosc, Philadelphia; Glos Narodu, Jersey City; Pittsburghczanin, Pittsburgh; Gazeta ty Godniowa, Schenectady; and Passaic-Nowiny, Newark, N. J.

CHINESE REDS BAR AMERICAN CONSUL

Washington, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—The State Department said today that local authorities in Harbin, Manchuria, have refused to permit the establishment of an American consulate there.

Harbin is in the Communist-controlled zone in China. A department official said that the reason given for objecting to an American consul apparently is that the United States has been helping the forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The department said that Edmund O. Clubb of Minneapolis, who has been designated consul in Harbin, has been trying to get into the city for six months. Until the local authorities admit him, the department said, he will carry on consular duties at Changchun.

ROW OVER AUSTRIA

Washington, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—The United States is taking the official position that only the Russians are to blame if denazification in Austria is not going ahead as fast as they want.

A State Department official when asked today about a published report from Vienna that danazification is being held up by Russian efforts to continue concentration camps, said he did not know about this but noted that the Austrian Government passed a denazification law on August 24, and that it was supported by all parties, including the Communists. But the law has not been put into effect because of Soviet refusal to approve it. he said. It has not been approved by the Allied Control Council because that council has to act unanimously.

ACHESON ASKS FOR 'POLICING' OF FOREIGN AID

State Department Working On Plan For Agency To Succeed UNRRA

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—The State Department is considering asking Congress for $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 for foreign relief next year, officials said tonight, with a proviso that its representatives abroad "police" the distribution.

The department's insistence upon retaining full control by the United States alone over its relief outlays was emphasized as the time approached for the final liquidation of UNRRA, officially scheduled for December 31. Delegates of the 48-member nations meet here tomorrow to wind up the agency's two-year existence.

Director General Fiorello H. LaGuardia, fiery exponent of a new international agency to succeed UNRRA, is expected to resign and renew his blasts against what he has termed this country's plan to use food as a political weapon.

Dean Acheson, Under Secretary of State, in a broadcast last night declared that "nations receiving free relief must prove their need" and foreign governments "will not be allowed to feed their political supporters and starve their opponents."

Italy and Austria are expected to get continued help, informed officials said, but Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia may not qualify. Poland might qualify, they added, although much will depend on the amount of food and other supplies taken from Poland by Russia.

Skeleton Staffs

An UNRRA official said latest figures showed UNRRA's program of shipping supplies abroad had been 71 per cent completed on October 31, leaving nearly a billion dollars worth still to be sent. Shipments to Greece have been 90 per cent completed, China 45 per cent and Italy 62 per cent.

Only skeleton staffs will be maintained in the receiving countries to check the distribution of supplies still to be sent. New procurement will be terminated by the year's end.

WARTIME SHIP PROFITS LISTED

1946

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—(AP) A Maritime Commission report listing estimated wartime profits of $356,006,612 by 19 shipbuilding companies on $22,979,275 invested capital was made public today by the House merchant marine committee.

The report was given the committee in response to its request that earlier data be brought up to date for the committee's guidance in its current investigation of shipbuilding profits.

While the "estimated profits" do not reflect net profits after allowances for taxes and recoveries through renegotiation, the commission said "the profits are substantially actual," and "the amounts of disallowances are relatively small compared to earned profits."

Operators of the companies named assailed the original figures as misleading and unfair during committee hearings last summer; they contended that the data did not reflect actual investments and claimed the earnings were reasonable.

The "estimated profits" reported by the commission range from $58,840,885 on a $460,000 capital investment by the Kaiser-operated permanent metals corporation to $2,080,000 on a $600 investment by the St. Johns River Building Corp. of Florida.

FORMER CAPTAIN REMEMBERS GI'S

Makes Coast-To-Coast Tour To Visit Families

1945

South Orange, N.J., Dec. 9 (AP)—A coast-to-coast tour by a former United States infantry captain has ended, but families of 50 of his command who were killed in action know that he remembered.

John J. McCloskey, Jr., 27, veteran of eight campaigns in Africa and Europe with the 3d Infantry Division, has returned fro mthe 10,000-mile trip to seventeen states, in which he related to bereaved parents the stories of how their sons died.

On the brighter side of his trip were visits to buddies who survived.

McCloskey, who began his trip after completing studies for a degree at the University of Virginia, said he spent $700 he had saved overseas on the tour to "fill in the missing parts of the stories" for the families of men who died in action.

Told Them Anecdotes

"I told them little anecdotes about the boys, human interest angles, and personal things" not included in the "matter of fact" reports from Army authorities, he said.

In most cases, McClosky said, the families didn't even know how the boys had died.

"It was rather difficult for me," the young officer admitted, "but I felt it was worthwhile—all the families were so grateful."

McClosky suggested that other veterans "make an effort" to see the families of their buddies, living and dead.

"It makes wonderful friendships and is a way of getting to know people in all walks of life. It might generate a little tolerance and understanding in the country," he added.

At 'Best Buddy's' Home

In Dutch Flat, Cal., McCloskey visited the family of Lieut. Dave Waybur, "my best buddy," first Congressional Medal of Honor winner in the Mediterranean theater, who was killed in Austria.

"Dave's family practically adopted me," he said. They showed me "Dave's war room" with his medals, souvenirs, and pictures of the outfit. "I went fishing with Dave's father."

The ex-captain told of "hashing over the war again" with Sergt. Steve Gancas, of Loup City, Neb., who was shot in the lungs; Capt. Jim Hackett, of London, Ohio, "who got through all right," and several other buddies, both wounded and well.

Comradeship Missed

Sometimes we wished we were back in the war again for its "good comradeship and good fellowship," he recalled.

New Winslow, N.M., McCloskey visited the ranch of one of his men, Johnny Edwards, who was killed at Cassino. There he found that ever since official announcement of the soldier's death, his horse had been saddled and tied to the hitching post of the house each day. It was the spot the boy had used to mount for his daily rides.

From these and hundreds of other experiences McCloskey came hame with the philosophy that "the job of fighting the war was a job for men, but the whole country has to chip in now to win the war of the peace."

THE COMMITTEE ADOPTED THE FIRST PARAGRAPH OF ITS SUBCOMMITTEE'S RESOLUTION, BARRING SPAIN FROM MEMBERSHIP IN ANY ORGANIZATION ESTABLISHED BY THE U.N. OR BROUGHT INTO RELATIONSHIP WITH THE U.N.

THE UNITED STATES PROPOSAL TO APPEAL TO THE SPANISH PEOPLE TO OUST FRANCO WENT DOWN BEFORE A TIE VOTE, 22 TO 22 WITH SIX ABSTENTIONS.

THE AMERICAN AMENDMENT HAD STATED THAT IN ORDER TO DEMONSTRATE THAT SPAIN'S GOVERNMENT DERIVED ITS POWER FROM THE CONSENT OF THE GOVERNED, FRANCO SHOULD SURRENDER HIS POWERS TO A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT BROADLY REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SPANISH PEOPLE, FREE FROM FORCE AND INTIMIDATION.

REPLYING TO BRITISH AND AMERICAN CONTENTIONS THAT THE RUPTURE OF RELATIONS WOULD MEAN INTERVENTION, POLISH DELEGATE DR. OSCAR LANGE SAID "UNLESS THERE IS POSITIVE ACTION BY THE UNITED NATIONS WHICH PUTS FRANCO IN SUCH A POSITION THAT HE HAS NO OTHER WAY OUT BUT TO RESIGN, ANY APPEAL TO THE SPANISH PEOPLE MUST BE AN APPEAL TO A CIVIL WAR."

BY LARRY HAUCK

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC.9-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS PERMANENT SITE COMMITTEE, CONFRONTED WITH A UNITED STATES' PROPOSAL TO POSTPONE SELECTION OF A PERMANENT U.N.HOME TO NEXT YEAR, FAILED AGAIN TONIGHT TO REACH A VOTE ON THE ISSUE WHICH ALREADY HAS BEEN PENDING MORE THAN A YEAR.

AT ADJOURNMENT, HOWEVER, A MAJORITY OF THE 54-NATION COMMITTEE APPEARED DETERMINED THAT A VOTE SHOULD BE TAKEN AT ITS NEXT MEETING, SCHEDULED TENTATIVELY FOR WEDNESDAY.

ONLY CANADA SUPPORTED THE U.S.MOTION TO DEFER ACTION ON SELECTION OF A PERMANENT HEADQUARTERS LOCATION UNTIL THE 1947 GENERAL ASSEMBLY SESSION.

INDIA, GREAT BRITAIN, NEW ZEALAND, IRAQ, AND COLUMBIA ALL VOICED STRONG OBJECTION TO THE POSTPONEMENT MOVE, BUT L.D.WILGRESS OF CANADA SAID HE THOUGHT THE U.S.GOVERNMENT MUST HAVE GOOD REASON FOR SUGGESTING THE POSTPONEMENT AND ARGUED THAT ITS WISHES SHOULD BE RESPECTED.

SAUDI ARABIA AND THE PHILIPPINES IMMEDIATELY OBJECTED TO THE PROPOSAL AT THIS AFTERNOON'S MEETING ON THE GROUNDS THAT IT WAS UNFAIR TO RULE OUT THE WEST COAST, WHICH HAS STRONG SUPPORT WITHIN THE COMMITTEE. BOTH COUNTRIES INDICATED WILLINGNESS TO GO ALONG WITH A POSTPONEMENT IF THE SCOPE WAS WIDENED TO FOUR CITIES BY ADDING SAN FRANCISCO.

ADOPTION OF SUCH A UNITED STATES PROPOSAL WOULD PUT THE UNITED NATIONS JUST ABOUT WHERE THEY WERE A YEAR AGO IN LONDON. SINCE THAT TIME THEY HAVE APPROACHED A FINAL DECISION SEVERAL TIMES ONLY TO REVERSE PREVIOUS RULINGS AND REOPEN VARIOUS PHASES OF THE QUESTION.

IN OFFERING HIS SUGGESTION, AUSTIN NOTED THAT NEW OFFERS HAD COME TO HIS ATTENTION FROM BOSTON AND NEW YORK AND THE COMMITTEE WOULD NOT HAVE TIME TO DISCUSS THEM AT THIS SESSION OF THE ASSEMBLY. HOWEVER, GEORGE E.BENNETT, COMMITTEE SECRETARY, SAID THAT HE HAD RECEIVED NO NEW PROPOSALS OFFICIALLY.

AUSTIN SPOKE AFTER NORMAN J.O. MAKIN, CHIEF AUSTRALIAN DELEGATE, LASHED OUT AT RUSSIA'S THREAT TO BOYCOTT U.N. SESSIONS IF HEADQUARTERS WERE SET UP ON THE WEST COAST AND APPEALED TO SAN FRANCISCO SUPPORTERS TO HOLD FIRM.

MAKIN POUNDED THE TABLE AS HE CRIED THAT THE ADDRESS OF GEORGI SAKSIN, SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE, WAS "INDEFENSABLE, UNDEMOCRATIC AND TOTALLY REACTIONARY." HE ADDED THAT THE "UNFORTUNATE DECLARATION" THAT RUSSIA WOULD NOT SEND DELEGATES TO MEETING ON THE WEST COAST WAS MADE TO ARREST THE SWING OF SENTIMENT TO SAN FRANCISCO'S PRESIDIO AND "WE WILL NOT SUBMIT TO THAT KIND OF VETO."

STATES CAME OUT AGAINST SAN FRANCISCO.
MAKIN SAID IT WAS "MOST BEWILDERING" THAT THE UNITED STATES DID NOT FULLY TAKE UP THE RUSSIAN CHALLENGE AND QUOTED NEWSPAPER ARTICLES AS DECLARING THAT THE RUSSIAN THREAT REALLY DICTATED THE AMERICAN ACTION IN FAVORING THE EAST.
AUSTIN REPLIED THAT HE "WOULD NOT BE FORCED INTO THE POSITION OF BEING A DEFENDANT."
MAKIN ALSO ACCUSED SECRETARY-GENERAL TRYGVE LIE OF CONDUCTING BEHIND-THE-SCENES NEGOTIATIONS ON A SITE WITHOUT CONSULTING THE COMMITTEE BUT LIE BRUSHED THIS ASIDE WITH THE REMARK THAT HE GAVE AUDIENCE TO ALL GROUPS OFFERING PLANS TO HELP THE U.N.
STRESSING THAT HE WAS NOT TAKING SIDES IN THE DEBATE, LIE PRESENTED FIGURES WHICH HE SAID SHOWED THAT IT WOULD COST THE U.N. $500,000 A YEAR MORE TO OPERATE ON THE WEST COAST. HE SAID HE WAS OFFERING THE FIGURES AT AUSTIN'S SUGGESTION.
THE HISTORY OF THE U.N. YEAR-LONG HUNT FOR A HOME WAS BRIEFLY THIS:
IN LONDON, IT WAS VOTED TO SETTLE IN THE UNITED STATES RATHER THAN EUROPE. THEN AN EAST-VERSUS-WEST VOTE SELECTED THE EASTERN SEABOARD. AFTER THAT THE AREA WAS NARROWED DOWN TO WESTCHESTER (NY) AND FAIRFIELD (CONN) COUNTIES. A SPECIAL COMMISSION INVESTIGATED THESE TWO COUNTIES AND NAMED FIVE POSSIBLE SITES. HOWEVER, LAST MONTH THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY THREW ALL THIS OUT AND BALLOTED TO REOPEN THE HUNT TO SAN FRANCISCO, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON AND NEW YORK.
THE INTERIM SITE WOULD REMAIN HERE REGARDLESS OF THE OUTCOME AND PERSONS HIGH IN THE SECRETARIAT ESTIMATED IT WOULD BE FIVE TO SEVEN YEARS BEFORE THE U.N. COULD BUILD A PERMANENT HOME.

THE 54-NATION HEADQUARTERS SITE COMMITTEE, AFTER MANY A SURPRISE AND UPSET TO ENLIVEN ITS DELIBERATIONS, MEETS AGAIN AT 3 P.M. (E.S.T.) WITH A NEW CROP OF NEW YORK OFFERS BEFORE IT.
SAN FRANCISCO ENTERED THE HOME STRETCH IN THE CAPITAL SITE RACE WITH A TENTATIVE POLL OF THE 54 DELEGATIONS SHOWING 23 FAIRLY CERTAIN VOTES AND NINE MORE POSSIBLE FOR THE PRESIDIO MILITARY RESERVATION WHICH HAS BEEN OFFERED FREE BY THE GOVERNMENT, SUBJECT TO APPROVAL OF CONGRESS. ADD LAKE SUCCESS-AUSTIN-XYX BOSTON
ONE USUALLY RELIABLE SOURCE SAID, HOWEVER, THAT THIS ESTIMATE OF STRENGTH FOR SAN FRANCISCO WAS OVER-OPTIMISTIC AND THAT IT EXCEEDED THE HOPES THAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN BASED ON THE DELEGATION POSITIONS EVEN BEFORE THE UNITED STATES, UNDER RUSSIAN AND BRITISH PRESSURE, CAME OUT FOR A SITE SOMEWHERE ON THE ATLANTIC COAST.
THE UNITED STATES LONG-AWAITED ANNOUNCEMENT FOR THE EAST COAST--WITHOUT A CHOICE THUS FAR AMONG THE INDIVIDUAL CONTENDERS IN THAT SECTOR--DAMPENED BUT DID NOT KILL OFF SAN FRANCISCO'S HOPES THAT THE U.N. WOULD RETURN TO ITS CHARTER CITY.
THE AMERICAN STATEMENT LAST FRIDAY, ON THE OTHER HAND, HEARTENED THE PHILADELPHIA HOPEFULS AND AT THE SAME TIME ENGENDERED A NEW BOOM IN OFFICIAL NEW YORK CITY TO KEEP THE U.N. IN THE VICINITY OF ITS INTERIM HEADQUARTERS, NOW LOCATED HERE ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF THE METROPOLIS, AND THE ASSEMBLY MEETING HALL IN FLUSHING MEADOW PARK, WHERE THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETS ON THE 1939-40 WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS.

MAYOR WILLIAM F. O'DWYER, IN CONFERENCE WITH CHIEF AMERICAN DELEGATE WARREN R. AUSTIN OVER THE WEEKEND, GAVE A CONFIDENTIAL ACCOUNT OF MANY SITES THAT MIGHT FIT THE NEEDS OF A PERMANENT PEACE CAPITAL. AMONG THESE WAS THE SKYSCRAPER IDEA WHICH COULD RISE IN REALITY ON MANHATTAN ISLAND.
ONE OF THE MYSTERIES OF THE NEW YORK PLANS APPEARED TO LIE IN THE RECALL OF NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER FROM VACATION IN MEXICO. HE VISITED THE ASSEMBLY IN FLUSHING YESTERDAY AND WAS REPORTED TO HAVE CONFERRED WITH SECRETARY-GENERAL TRYGVE LIE.
THESE MOVES REVIVED SPECULATION THAT THE OLD ROCKEFELLER ESTATE IN TARRYTOWN, UP THE HUDSON A FEW MILES FROM NEW YORK, MIGHT BE OFFERED AS A SITE WITHIN EASY COMMUTING DISTANCE OF THE CITY. THE ESTATE WAS CONSIDERED BUT REJECTED AT THE LONDON ASSEMBLY MEETINGS LAST WINTER WHICH SETTLED UPON THE NEARBY WESTCHESTER AND FAIRFIELD COUNTIES AREA OF NEW YORK AND CONNECTICUT, NOW ALL BUT ABANDONED AS A PROSPECTIVE SITE.
THE HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE HAS A SUBCOMMITTEE RECOMMENDATION GIVING "EQUAL MERIT" TO THE PROPOSED SAN FRANCISCO AND PHILADELPHIA SITES. THE SUBCOMMITTEE REJECTED BUT DID NOT RULE OUT THE NEW YORK AREA AND BOSTON, WHICH WERE ALSO AMONG THE SITES ORIGINALLY NOMINATED BY THE 54-NATION COMMITTEE WHEN IT SENT THE SUBCOMMITTEE OFF ON A NATIONWIDE TOUR--TO PHILADELPHIA, SAN FRANCISCO AND BOSTON, AND THEN BACK TO NEW YORK ON INSPECTION.
THE COMMITTEE WAS EXPECTED TO VOTE FIRST ON A CHOICE BETWEEN THE EAST AND WEST COASTS. THEN IF SAN FRANCISCO IS ELIMINATED, IT WOULD HAVE TO SETTLE THE NEWLY REOPENED FIGHT AMONG THE ATLANTIC SEABOARD CONTENDERS--NEW YORK, PHILADELPHIA AND BOSTON.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC.9-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES TODAY ASKED THE UNITED NATIONS TO POSTPONE SELECTION OF A PERMANENT HEADQUARTERS UNTIL NEXT YEAR. UNDER THE PLAN THE EVENTUAL SELECTION WOULD BE MADE FROM NEW YORK, BOSTON OR PHILADELPHIA AREAS, WITH SAN FRANCISCO ELIMINATED.
WARREN R. AUSTIN, CHIEF AMERICAN DELEGATE, MADE THE SURPRISE STATEMENT BEFORE A 54-NATION HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE WHICH WAS NEARING A VOTE ON THE LONG-DISCUSSED ISSUE.
UNDER AUSTIN'S PLAN, WHICH HE SAID HE WOULD SUBMIT LATER AS A FORMAL MOTION, THE SELECTION WOULD BE DELAYED UNTIL THE NEXT MEETING OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN SEPTEMBER. MEANWHILE, THE HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE WOULD EXAMINE ALL AVAILABLE SITES IN THE THREE AREAS AND SELECT ONE FROM EACH FOR FINAL SUBMISSION TO THE ASSEMBLY.
IN CALLING FOR POSTPONEMENT OF THE DECISION, AUSTIN NOTED THAT NEW OFFERS HAD COME FROM THE BOSTON AND NEW YORK AREAS AND THAT THE COMMITTEE WOULD NOT HAVE TIME TO STUDY THEM NOW. HE SAID MOST OF THESE NEW PROPOSALS HAD BEEN MADE DIRECTLY TO HIM AS REPRESENTATIVE OF THE UNITED STATES AND THAT THERE WAS NO BEHIND-THE-SCENES

MANEUVERING.

AUSTIN SPOKE AFTER NORMAN J.O.MAKIN, CHIEF AUSTRALIAN DELEGATE, LASHED OUT BITTERLY AT RUSSIA'S THREAT TO BOYCOTT ANY U.N. SESSIONS AT SAN FRANCISCO AND CALLED FOR ALL SUPPORTERS OF THE WEST COAST TO STAND FIRM.

IN REPLY TO IMPLICATIONS FROM MAKIN'S SPEECH, AUSTIN SAID HE WOULD DECLINE TO ARGUE THAT THE UNITED STATES ATTITUDE WAS "COERCED" AND THAT HE WOULD NOT BE "FORCED INTO THE POSITION OF BEING A DEFENDANT."

POUNDING THE TABLE FOR EMPHASIS, MAKIN TOLD THE 54-NATION HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE THAT THE SOVIET UNION'S "UNFORTUNATE DECLARATION" WAS MADE TO ARREST THE SWING OF SENTIMENT TO SAN FRANCISCO'S PRESIDIO AND "WE WILL NOT SUBMIT TO THAT KIND OF VETO."

IN A REFERENCE TO A SPEECH GIVEN LAST WEEK BY GEORGI SAKSIN, RUSSIAN REPRESENTATIVE, MAKIN TERMED THE WHOLE ADDRESS "INDEFENSABLE, UNDEMOCRATIC AND TOTALLY REACTIONARY." SAKSIN HAD FLATLY REJECTED SAN FRANCISCO AND DECLARED THAT RUSSIA COULD NOT SEND DELEGATES TO ANY MEETINGS HELD THERE.

MOLOTOV RENEWED HIS ORIGINAL ARGUMENT THAT THE HOME TROOP CENSUS SHOULD BE LINKED WITH THE PROPOSED PROGRAM OF DISARMAMENT AND SHOULD NOT BE MADE UNTIL THAT PROGRAM IS IN OPERATION. HE THEN DEMANDED THAT THE ASSEMBLY DELETE THE ENTIRE FOURTH PARAGRAPH OF THE COMMITTEE-APPROVED RESOLUTION CALLING FOR A TROOP INVENTORY AT HOME AND ABROAD.

THIS PARAGRAPH READS:

"WHAT IS THE TOTAL NUMBER OF THEIR UNIFORMED PERSONNEL ON THE ACTIVE LIST, WHEREVER STATIONED, AT HOME AS WELL AS ABROAD, INCLUDING MILITARY TYPE ORGANIZATIONS."

BOTH THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN HAD INSISTED IF THERE WAS TO BE A TROOP CENSUS IT MUST INCLUDE ARMED FORCES AT HOME AS WELL AS ABROAD. ADD LAKE SUCCESS - RECALL TROOPS - XXX OPERATION

"WE PROPOSED THAT THIS SECTION SHOULD SPEAK NOT ONLY OF MILITARY PERSONNEL BUT OF ARMAMENTS AS WELL," HE SAID.

MOLOTOV DECLARED THAT THIS SOVIET PROPOSAL WAS NEVER ALLOWED TO BE PUT TO A VOTE BEFORE THE COMMITTEE.

"THE DEMAND OF THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN NOT TO PUT THIS PROPOSAL TO A VOTE RECEIVED 24 VOTES," HE EXPLAINED. "THERE WERE 18 VOTES CAST AGAINST THEIR DEMAND AND THERE WERE TEN ABSTENTIONS. THUS THE DEMAND WAS ADOPTED BY A VOTE WHICH DID NOT AMOUNT TO EVEN ONE HALF OF THE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

"NEVERTHELESS, BECAUSE OF THE REJECTION OF THE SOVIET PROPOSAL, PARAGRAPH FOUR REMAINS IN ITS ONE-SIDED WORDING. ON THE BASIS OF THIS PARAGRAPH WE WILL NOT GET AN OBJECTIVE PICTURE OF ARMED FORCES. THIS IS WHY THE SOVIET DELEGATION IS OPPOSED TO THIS PARAGRAPH IN THE PRESENT RESOLUTION."

BRIG.GEN.TELFORD TAYLOR OPENED THE TRIAL OF THE 22 MEN AND ONE WOMAN WITH A DAY-LONG PRESENTATION OF CHARGES--WANTON KILLING OF VICTIMS IN DUBIOUS EXPERIMENTS, "MERCY SLAYINGS" AND TORTURES IN CONCENTRATION CAMPS.

OTHER ATTORNEYS PREPARED TO OFFER EVIDENCE TOMORROW OF DEGRADED EXPERIMENTATION AT RAVENSBRUECK, BUCHENWALD AND DACHAU, WHERE TAYLOR SAID THOSE WHO DIED WERE LUCKY.

WARSAW, POLAND, DEC.9-(AP)-A SPOKESMAN OF THE FOREIGN MINISTRY EXPRESSED "DEEPEST REGRETS" TODAY FOR THE ARREST FIVE DAYS AGO OF ROBERT CONWAY, CORRESPONDENT FOR THE NEW YORK DAILY NEWS.
THE SPOKESMAN ASSERTED THAT ALLIED REPORTERS WOULD HAVE COMPLETE FREEDOM OF ACTION IN POLAND.
POLICE IN SIEDLCE DETAINED CONWAY 30 HOURS AFTER HE PHOTOGRAPHED RELATIVES OF POLITICAL PRISONERS CARRYING FOOD TO A PRISON. HE TOLD BRIG.GEN.WIKTOR GROSZ, DIRECTOR OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PRESS INFORMATION, THAT THE POLICE REFUSED TO RECOGNIZE HIS FOREIGN OFFICE CREDENTIALS.
GROSZ SAID THE FOREIGN OFFICE INTENDED TO ENFORCE THE GUARANTEE OF FREEDOM TO REPORTERS, BUT THAT THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT LIKE PRISONS PHOTOGRAPHED BECAUSE POLAND HAS INTERNAL DIFFICULTIES AND THERE HAVE BEEN ARMED ATTACKS ON PRISONS. HE SAID REPORTERS' FREEDOM COULD NOT BE EXTENDED TO PHOTOGRAPHING MILITARY OBJECTS.
THE FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID SECURITY AUTHORITIES WERE HOLDING THE FORMER SECRETARIES OF DEREK SELBY OF THE LONDON SUNDAY TIMES, SEFTON DELMER OF THE LONDON DAILY EXPRESS AND JOHN SCOTT OF TIME MAGAZINE. HE SAID HE DID NOT KNOW THE CHARGES, BUT ASSERTED THEIR ARRESTS WERE NOT BECAUSE THEY WORKED FOR THE REPORTERS.

MOSCOW, DEC.9-(AP)-MOUNTING APPREHENSION OVER DEVELOPMENTS IN IRAN WERE MANIFESTED HERE TODAY AS PRAVDA CHARGED PREMIER AHMED QAVAM'S GOVERNMENT WITH "VIOLATING ITS OBLIGATIONS TO SETTLE THE AZERBAIJAN QUESTION PEACEFULLY AND GOING BACK ON ITS AGREEMENT WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF AZERBAIJAN."
THIS APPREHENSION WAS EVOKED BY QAVAM'S DECISION TO SEND GOVERNMENT TROOPS NORTH INTO AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE, OSTENSIBLY TO MAINTAIN ORDER THERE IN COMING ELECTIONS TO THE IRANIAN PARLIAMENT. THE AUTHOR OF PRAVDA'S ARTICLE, S.VLADIMIROV, SAID GOVERNMENT TROOPS WITH PLANES AND ARTILLERY BEGAN TO PENETRATE THE PROVINCE DEC.4, ATTACKING ADVANCE AZERBAIJAN UNITS. 1946
"THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT," VLADIMIROV DECLARED, "DECIDED TO BRING TROOPS INTO IRANIAN AZERBAIJAN NOT TO MAINTAIN ORDER BUT TO LIQUIDATE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC LIBERTIES OF THE AZERBAIJANIANS, DISSOLVE THE AZERBAIJAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND PREVENT ELECTION OF ITS REPRESENTATIVES TO THE MAJLIS (PARLIAMENT)."
HE SAID TEHRAN WAS TAKING A COURSE TOWARD "RESETTLEMENT OF THE AZERBAIJAN QUESTION BY RESTORATION IN IRANIAN AZERBAIJAN OF THE FORMER REACTIONARY INSTITUTIONS."
SAYING THAT PREMIER QAVAM HAD PROMISED TO SETTLE THE AZERBAIJAN QUESTION PEACEFULLY, VLADIMIROV ASSERTED, "THE DECISION OF QAVAM'S GOVERNMENT TO SEND TROOPS INTO IRANIAN AZERBAIJAN SHOWS THAT TO GRATIFY REACTIONARY CIRCLES THE PREMIER IS DEPARTING FARTHER AND FARTHER FROM HIS PLEDGES, ASSURANCES AND PROMISES IN THE SPHERE OF PROGRESSIVE MEASURES."
VLADIMIROV SAID THE AZERBAIJANIANS HAD NO OBJECTION TO OBSERVATION OF THE ELECTIONS BY TEHRAN REPRESENTATIVES BUT DID OBJECT TO THE ENTRY OF GOVERNMENT TROOPS AND GENDARME UNITS "NOT INTERESTED IN THE PRESERVATION OF NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC GAINS OF THE AZERBAIJANIANS."

CAIRO, DEC. 9-(AP)-KING FAROUK WAS SLATED TO CONFER TODAY WITH EGYPTIAN POLITICAL LEADERS IN THE WAKE OF AN ANNOUNCEMENT THAT PREMIER ISMAIL SIDKY PASHA HAD ASKED THAT HIS RESIGNATION BE SUBMITTED TO THE MONARCH.
A SPOKESMAN FOR SIDKY PASHA, IN MAKING THE ANNOUNCEMENT YESTERDAY, SAID THE 78-YEAR-OLD PREMIER'S DECISION TO QUIT WAS PROMPTED BY ILLNESS, BUT OTHER OFFICIAL SOURCES HINTED THAT IT HAD BEEN CAUSED BY "DISPUTES" WITH THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT CONCERNING THE FUTURE OF SUDAN.
THE PREMIER HAS BEEN SUFFERING FROM AN ABCESSED PROSTATE. HIS NEGOTIATIONS FOR REVISION OF THE 1936 BRITISH-EGYPTIAN TREATY HAVE EVOKED WIDESPREAD ANTI-GOVERNMENT DISORDERS BUT LESS THAN TWO WEEKS AGO HE WON A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES FOR HIS RE-NEGOTIATION EFFORTS.
THE KING, OFFICIAL SOURCES SAID, WAS TO CONFER TODAY WITH FORMER PREMIER MAHMOUD FAHMY NOKRACHI PASHA, LEADER OF THE SAADIST PARTY, AND HUSSEIN HEIKAL PASHA, LEADER OF THE LIBERAL CONSTITUTION PARTY. THE TWO PARTIES COMBINED HAVE A MAJORITY IN THE CHAMBER.
NOKRACHI PASHA WAS THE MAN MOST WIDELY MENTIONED IN OFFICIAL CIRCLES AS SIDKY PASHA'S SUCCESSOR. NOKRACHI PASHA RESIGNED THE PREMIERSHIP LAST YEAR AFTER A NUMBER OF DEMONSTRATIONS AGAINST HIS GOVERNMENT.
AS NEWS OF THE POLITICAL DEVELOPMENTS CIRCULATED IN CAIRO, SEVERAL HUNDRED PERSONS -- SHOUTING "DOWN WITH SIDKY, DOWN WITH NOKRACHI"--STORMED SAADIST PARTY HEADQUARTERS AND SET FIRE TO A GROCERY STORE IN THE PARTY'S BUILDING.
EGYPTIAN NATIONALISTS HAVE DEMANDED PERMANENT UNION OF THE SUDAN WITH EGYPT, UNDER THE EGYPTIAN CROWN, AND HAVE DEMANDED THE IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL OF BRITISH TROOPS FROM EGYPT. THE BRITISH HAVE AGREED TO ULTIMATE, BUT NOT IMMEDIATE, EVACUATION OF TROOPS AND TO THE RIGHT OF SELF-DETERMINATION FOR THE SUDAN.

TOKYO, TUESDAY, DEC.10-(AP)-THE TOKYO PRESS REPORTED TODAY THAT THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT MAY OFFICIALLY REQUEST REDUCTION OF REPARATIONS PAYMENTS RECOMMENDED IN THE REPORT OF COMMISSIONER EDWIN PAULEY, ON GROUNDS THAT THE PAULEY PLAN WOULD LEAVE JAPAN INDUSTRIALLY BANKRUPT.

UNDER THE PAULEY PROGRAM, THE NEWSPAPER ASAHI SAID, JAPAN WOULD RETROGRESS TO ITS 1912 STATUS IN SHIPPING AND TO 1927 IN CERTAIN TYPES OF STEEL PRODUCTION. THE YEAR 1930 IS THE ANNOUNCED LEVEL UPON WHICH THE PAULEY RECOMMENDATIONS WERE BASED.

ASAHI SAID ITS CONCLUSIONS WERE BASED UPON FIGURES RELEASED BY THE JAPAN INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL, AND ADDED THAT MANUFACTURING MUST BE MAINTAINED AT THE LEVEL OF 1937, AT LEAST. IT REITERATED A THEME OFTEN HEARD HERE RECENTLY: THAT INDUSTRY REMAINING AFTER THE REMOVALS RECOMMENDED BY PAULEY WOULD NOT SUPPORT JAPAN'S 80,000,000 PEOPLE.

OBSERVERS HERE POINTED OUT THAT GENERAL MACARTHUR'S CENSORS PERMITTED PUBLICATION OF THESE CONCLUSIONS. IT WAS ONE OF THE FEW INSTANCES IN WHICH JAPANESE NEWSPAPERS HAVE BEEN PERMITTED TO PUBLISH ANYTHING THAT MIGHT BE CONSTRUED AS CRITICAL OF ALLIED POLICIES AFFECTING JAPAN.

IT IS KNOWN THAT MANY ALLIED HEADQUARTERS EXPERTS WERE SURPRISED BY THE EXTENT OF PAULEY'S RECOMMENDATIONS. SUCH ADVISERS FREQUENTLY HAVE POINTED OUT THAT THEY WERE SEEKING TO REESTABLISH JAPAN AS A RELATIVELY SELF-SUFFICIENT NATION--TO WHICH EXPORTS WOULD BE VITAL.

THE PRESS FAILED TO STATE PRECISELY HOW THE GOVERNMENT IS EXPECTED TO APPEAL AGAINST THE PAULEY REPORT. AN EXTRAORDINARY CABINET MEETING WAS HELD YESTERDAY ON THE QUESTION--THE THIRD GOVERNMENT SESSION ON THIS PROBLEM--AND A FULL REPORT IS EXPECTED TO BE PRESENTED TO THE DIET SOON.

PREMIER SHIGERU YOSHIDA CALLED UPON MACARTHUR SHORTLY AFTER TERMS OF THE PAULEY REPORT WERE ANNOUNCED, AND SOME JAPANESE REPORTED THEN THAT HE WAS TRYING TO ENLIST THE SUPREME COMMANDER'S AID IN SEEKING RECONSIDERATION.

Russia, Britain Agree Tentatively on A-Bomb Report, Troops Census

LEADERS, HOWEVER AGAIN DEADLOCKED ON VETO QUESTION

Plan, If Approved, Might Force U. S. to Divulge Atomic Secrets at Once.

DEBATE IS HEATED

Molotov in Surprise Concession to Britain's Demand for Inspections.

L. Hauck

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 — (AP) Great Britain joined with Russia "in principle" tonight on a merged world arms reduction and troop census program with international inspections which, if approved by the United Nations Assembly, might force the United States to divulge the atomic secrets almost immediately.

The main point at issue remained the veto, with Britain insisting that an international commission to receive the census report must be kept free of the Security Council veto and the Soviet Union insisting as usual that the special voting right must apply.

The apparent agreement came in the midst of a three-hour debate in the United Nations Assembly marked by a series of maneuvers between Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Sir Hartley Shawcross, chief British delegate.

Shawcross twice called it "an historic occasion" and once shook hands with Molotov to seal their agreement.

Census, Arms Merged

The question before the 54 national delegations—a world-wide census of troops—was snowed under in the intensity of the discussions and the final effect was to merge this issue with the whole broad problem of arms reduction.

The United States, whose atomic bomb secrets would be offered to the world almost immediately under one section of tentative accord, did not directly comment on the British proposal that paved the way for agreement in principle.

The assembly president, Paul-Henri Spaak, of Belgium, cautioned that the whole system of arms and disarmament would be established by Jan. 15" if the proposals were adopted. This would include full reports on all phases of the atom bomb.

He then warned delegates against taking such a serious step immediately and suggested that the troop resolution with all its amendments be sent to a political sub-committee at Lake Success tomorrow to be blended with the broad arms cutting proposals.

The unexpected and fast-moving action started with the Russians agreeing to accept a system of international military inspection which would allow agents to make spot checks within Russia and elsewhere, but on condition that the United Nations demand a full report on all troops and armaments, including the atomic bomb.

The assembly adjourned shortly before midnight until 4 p. m. (EST) tomorrow.

Text of Proposal

The text of the new British proposal:

"The General Assembly recommends immediate establishment of an International supervisory commission, operating within the framework of the Security Council but in its operation not subject to veto of any power on the Security Council, which shall be entitled by the agents of any nations acting in its behalf to verify and confirm on the spot any or all information submitted in accordance with any requirements of the general assembly or the security council as to troops and armaments.

"When this supervisory commission is established the member states shall be required to submit full particulars on armaments of different categories as well as armed forces."

The veto power, which has been the core of most of the U. N. debates, is held by Russia, the United States, Great Britain, France and China. Under its provisions any one of these major powers can block a major decision of the Security Council or of its organs through the necessity for council review.

Molotov made his statement in accepting a British "verification" amendment to a world-wide troop census proposal now under debate before the General Assembly.

Sir Hartley Shawcross of Great Britain, commenting that "this is going to be a historic occasion," then put forth a modified version of the British plan which would place the international inspection body outside the range of the Security Council veto and delay armaments' reports pending a setting up of the check system.

Molotov immediately leaped to his feet to accuse Shawcross of seeking to delay a decision and said the Briton was asking delegates "to undertake a revision of the (UN) charter." Molotov made it clear that inspections could not operate within the framework of the Security Council without the right of veto prevailing.

The verbal exchange came as the assembly neared a vote on the troop plan and after Shawcross had appealed directly to Russia to abolish a "policy of isolation" and in concert with other great powers "lift up the curtain" on total military strength.

Speaking before the United Nations Assembly at Flushing Meadow park, Sir Hartley Shawcross asked the Soviet Union to support an all-inclusive world-wide troop census and then leaned over the rostrum to direct these words to Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov:

"Let us bring this thing into the open, lift up the curtain, and see what is going on in all the countries of the world and get rid of all suspicions.

Raps "Isolation"

"I appeal to the Soviet Union not to create suspicion by following a policy of isolation."

Molotov did not reply at once but Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky reaffirmed the Soviet position that reports on troops must be accompanied by data on armaments, including the atom bomb. This statement touched off a personal exchange between Shawcross and Molotov.

The British delegate said his country would disclose its armaments when there was an international system of controls and inspection and when Russia allowed inspectors to go into the Soviet Union.

He added: "I invite Mr. Molotov to agree."

"You are too late—we submitted such a proposal long ago," Molotov shouted back from the floor.

Shawcross retorted: "If the atomic commission had known this, we would have settled all this and would be in perfect agreement."

Shawcross, sporting a flaming red handkerchief, joined with Sen. Tom Connally (D.-Tex.), United States delegate, in chiding Molotov for "voting against his own resolution." He referred to the 34 to 7 approval of the troop census plan in the powerful 54-nation political committee. In that vote Russia dissented, contending that figures on domestic troops should be disclosed only in connection with the wider arms reduction program now being debated in committee at Lake Success.

The British delegate remarked that Molotov was obviously embarrassed by the fact that "this thing which they introduced has come back as a sort of boomerang."

No U. S. Skeletons

Earlier Connally had told the assembly in a booming voice:

"We have no skeletons in our closet, we will tell the world about all our forces. We demand that other countries do the same."

Recalling the heavy vote given the resolution in commitee, Connally declared "there is no question of veto being used on this subject."

Connally, however, reiterated American opposition to a British proposal for on-the-spot verification of all troop figures submitted.

Alexandre Parodi of France, who abstained in the committee vote, swung into the Russian column in the assembly, declaring he was opposed to inclusion of data on forces stationed at home.

Earlier in the day at Lake Success, a political drafting committee moved near completion on the proposal for arms reduction and control of atomic energy. The sole point remaining at issue in commitee was how often troop strength should be reported to the security council.

The council itself, meeting at Lake Success to take up Greece's charges of border violations against Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania, was snagged on Russian demands that debate be postponed until all three accused nations could present their arguments to the council. (AP)

Troop-Census Defeat Seen For Russ

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—An unofficial survey of delegates indicated today that the United Nations Assembly would override Russian opposition to an international inventory of armed troops at home.

At the same time, Great Britain appeared certain to lose its fight to set up a United Nations inspection board to verify figures submitted by member nations in the troop inventory.

The Assembly was scheduled to meet in plenary session late today at Flushing Meadow Park to resume debate on the troop-census proposal. Russia announced early yesterday that she would oppose the inclusion of home forces in the inventory.

Special Vote

Meanwhile, the 54-member Political and Security Committee sent to the Assembly a Belgian resolution recommending that all members of the United Nations immediately recall their Ambassadors and plenipotentiaries from Franco Spain. The vote was 27 to 7, with sixteen abstentions, including the United States.

As the Assembly prepared to debate one of the most controversial issues of the current session, delegates found themselves faced with a heavy schedule of work that threatened to run past the adjournment deadline of December 13.

Security Council

Added to general committee and plenary session work today was a session of the Security Council. The eleven-nation body was faced with a Greek complaint of interference in its internal affairs by Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria. Greece has charged that these three countries are supporting guerrilla warfare inside the Greek borders.

Russia, which had opposed unsuccessfully in committee the inventory of troops at home, carried her fight into the Assembly to confine the census to armed forces abroad. Since the Soviet Union needs a two-thirds majority to win her point, most delegates agreed Russia would lose this fight.

Troop-Census Issue

On the troops-at-home inventory point, the Russians argue that the plan should be linked with the proposed program of disarmament and should not be made until that program is in operation. Both Great Britain and the United States fought for the inclusion of home forces.

Most delegates believed that argument on the Soviet point would be fairly brief inasmuch as Russia stands practically no chance of winning.

This would make it possible for the Assembly to tackle the British proposal for a United Nation inspection board to verify the troop figures submitted by member nations.

British Optimistic

Despite the fact that this amendment will require a two-thirds majority vote, members of the British delegation felt that their verification plan would be accepted. But a survey of delegates, however, indicated the British were over-optimistic.

The British argue that the troop data will be worthless if not verified by a United Nations board which would be able to go into each country and see just how many troops there are and where they were located.

POWERS GET VOICE IN TRIESTE RULE

Big 4 Agrees on Commission to Check on Operation of Port.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10—(AP) The United States and other great powers were assured a permanent direct voice in the management of Trieste's economic affairs today when the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council agreed on the creation of a 12-nation commission to keep check on [illegible] of the free port of [illegible].

The council concentrated on clearing up odds and ends of the Italian and other satellite peace treaties in today's session and avoided entirely any discussion of preliminary arrangements for the German peace settlement scheduled to be undertaken in another meeting at Moscow March 10.

This lapse in the German talks allowed time for Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to gain new instructions from Moscow on the one critical point — preliminary hearings for small nations on the German question.

The point is critical because Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, with the at least implied support of British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin, has served notice that he does not intend to journey to another foreign ministers' meeting in Europe until he is assured that its sessions will be productive of major accomplishments on German and Austrian settlements.

Byrnes contends that there can be no such assurance and that no decision can be properly made until the views of the small nations have been heard.

Molotov has held that the Big Four should first make some agreements on Germany and then name deputies to hold hearings. The next council session was called for 11:30 a.m. (EST) tomorrow, and diplomatic authorities hoped that some word on the outstanding issues in preparation for the Moscow conference might be forthcoming then.

Molotov Yielding On Reich Issue Hoped For

New York, Dec. 10 (AP)—With the next Big Four Foreign Ministers' conference slated for Moscow March 10, Western diplomats expressed hope today that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov would quickly reverse himself and agree to get the views of small nations on Germany before the great powers start work on a German peace treaty.

In fact, if Molotov does not yield his opposition on this point by the end of the week, it seems highly unlikely that the Moscow session will be held, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes told the Foreign Ministers Council meeting last night that he was flatly opposed to making any German decisions until the small nations have had opportunity to express their views.

To Think It Over

Molotov said he would think the matter over. Meanwhile, the Council agreed to meet today to clean up odds and ends of the five European satellite peace treaties that are being completed here and possibly begin consideration of an agenda for the Moscow meeting.

Generally, diplomats considered it likely that Molotov would find some way to agree to the appointment here of deputy Big Four Foreign Ministers who would hold hearings in Europe in January and February and report to the Moscow conference shortly after it opens.

Freedom For Reporters

In agreeing to hold the meeting in the Russian capital, Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Deputy Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville were assured by Molotov that news reporters from their countries would be able to report freely what happens there.

Byrnes, who had discussed this problem in private with Molotov before last night's session, was quoted as having told the Soviet diplomat he felt the conference in Moscow last December was not well covered because of restrictions thrown around it.

On the question of hearings for small nations, Byrnes told the Council the United States would not be prepared to take any position on the fixing of Germany's boundaries or on other important questions involved in a peace settlement until the views of the smaller nations had been heard. Molotov, who had previously objected to naming deputies to hold such hearings until the big powers could make preliminary decisions on Germany, said he would have to give the matter further thought.

Windup This Week

His decision will have to be made in a few days because the Council is planning to wind up its session here this week.

The only other important problem to be settled is that of the agenda for the Moscow meeting.

Bevin declared it should include a report on the Allied Control Council in Berlin, covering the whole status of reparations and also the problem of the return of German war prisoners from Russia and other countries, this being an important element of Germany's industrial manpower potential.

Other items on the agenda, according to preliminary drafts already proposed by the big powers, will include consideration of the permanent political organization of Germany and measures for insuring European security, notably Byrnes's proposal for 40-year German disarmament treaty.

RUSSIA LOSES IN GREEK CASE

Demand For Delaying Hearing Fails In Security Council

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 10 (AP). Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, was decisively defeated tonight in the United Nations Security Council on his insistent demand that Bulgaria, Albania and Yugoslavia be invited immediately to participate in discussion of a Greek complaint against them.

Gromyko's proposal, brought to a vote after more than four hours of procedural wrangling, received only three affirmative ballots—from Mexico, Poland and the Soviet Union. Seven affirmative votes would [illegible] required to carry it.

Vote For Invitations

The Council then adopted a three-point Netherlands resolution (1) Inviting Greece and Yugoslavia to participate in the discussion; (2) Inviting Bulgaria and Albania to make a declaration, and (3) stipulating that if the Security Council should decide that this was a "dispute," rather than a "situation," Albania and Bulgaria would be invited to participate without vote.

The resolution was approved unanimously except for point 3, on which Russia and Mexico abstained. The Security Council then adjourned until 3 P.M., Thursday, when the discussion will begin.

Gromyko precipitated a long procedural debate a few moments after Herschel V. Johnson, the Council President and United States delegate asked the delegates to express their views whether the requests of Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria to be heard should be granted.

Aid To Guerrillas Charged

Greece has charged all three of her neighbors with fomenting the trouble in northern Greece by aiding the guerrilla bands which have been engaged in bloody clashes with Greek Government troops. Greece, presenting this as a situation rather than a dispute, charged that such action on the part of the three neighbors might threaten world peace.

Johnson reminded the delegates that this was the third time in less than eleven months that the Security Council had been called upon to decide a problem involving Greece. As he opened the discussion, he suggested that in accordance with previous procedure the Greek representatives be permitted to take a place at the table when the time was appropriate.

He pointed out, however, that since Bulgaria and Albania were not United Nations members, some special ruling was needed, and he suggested that the Security Council permit these two nations to present any facts they had on the matter to the Council.

Supported By Briton

The Russian delegate was supported by Britain's Lord Inverchapel, who declared that whatever the interpretation of the Charter in this respect, his sense of fairness dictated that Albania and Bulgaria should "be given the opportunity to participate in the conversations when the time comes."

The Security Council disposed more quickly of the first matter on its agenda—Siam's application for United Nations membership.

It decided that the application would be placed on the provisional agenda for action later, after Gromyko had asked for time to study it.

As Gromyko spoke for postponement of the Greek complaint, Premier Constantin Tsaldaries waited to present it in detail.

DEMAND MADE ON ALBANIA

Britain Calls For Reparations For Deaths On Warships

London, Dec. 10 (AP)—The British Government has demanded an apology and reparations from Albania for losses of life suffered by two British destroyers when they struck mines October 22 in Corfu channel, and has threatened to place the problem before the Security Council of the United Nations.

The text of a note presenting the demands was announced tonight by the Foreign Office following its delivery to the Albanian legation in Belgrade yesterday.

Called Criminal Disregard

"If no satisfactory reply is received within fourteen days of the delivery of this note, his Majesty's Government will have no alternative but to bring the matter before the Security Council of the United Nations as a serious threat to and a breach of international peace and security, showing criminal disregard of the safety of innocent seamen of any nationality lawfully using an international highway," the British note said.

30-24-6861

The British Government demanded reparations and compensation for the relatives of the 44 officers and men killed.

For the first time in the long dispute between Britain and Albania over use of the channel the British bluntly charged the little Balkan country with "connivance, or at least knowledge" that mines had been laid "only a very short time" before the British ships were damaged.

Charges Hague Violation

"His Majesty's Government must accordingly conclude the Albanian Government either laid the minefield in question or knew that it had been laid," the note said. "The Albanian Government has thus committed a flagrant breach of international law."

The note complained Albania violated the Eighth Hague Convention of 1907 by failing to give notice to other countries of minefields.

The sternly worded note was delivered through the Albanian legation in Yugoslavia since Britain several months ago severed diplomatic relations with Albania. It brought to a new climax the strained relations of the two countries which reached a previous danger point when two British cruisers were fired on by Albanian shore batteries May 15.

Russian Output Rises 19%

LONDON, Dec. 10 (AP).—The Moscow radio said today that industrial production in the Soviet Union rose 19 per cent during the first nine months of 1946 "in bold contrast to the situation in the United States and the latest data on unemployment there." "Postwar reconversion of industry has taken place in our country without a crisis or any of the other ups and downs inherent in capitalism," the broadcast added.

Russian Sees U. S. Debt Saddled on Its Workers

Cites Profit of Imperialists in 'Arming World Reaction'

LONDON, Dec. 10 (AP).—Peter Orlov, Moscow radio commentator, declared today that the American working class is being saddled by debt to the profit of imperialists who are arming world reactionaries "on credit terms of next to nothing."

Asserting that "imperialist circles of the United States" are most alarmed by Soviet disarmament proposals, Orlov added: "The second World War meant to them vast profits, and today they are reaping solid sums from the postwar armaments race. So, naturally enough, the handful of American imperialists oppose any sort of disarmament.

"The millions of working people of the United States, however, have a different opinion. The war may have been a treasure store for the American imperialist, but it put a huge national debt on the shoulders of the American taxpayer."

RUSSIANS DENY STALIN IS DYING

London, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—Describing as "dirty speculation" rumors published here and elsewhere that Prime Minister Stalin was dead or dying, a spokesman for the Russian embassy declared that the Soviet leader "is in the best of health."

Reports about Stalin's health reached the banner headline stage in some London papers over the week end. One Sunday paper, the People, said that Stalin had decided "to retire from the supreme control but will maintain contact in the Kremlin as an elder statesman."

"The first official announcement is planned for the Russian New Year, about a month from now," the People said.

200 Tommies Quit Ship At Liverpool

Liverpool, England, Dec. 10 (AP). Two hundred British soldiers, chanting "we want justice and better accommodations," tonight scrambled off the transport Empress of Scotland for the third time in 24 hours. [illegible] preparing to carry them to duty in the Orient.

Swarming down cargo nets the men surrounded protesting military police and marched off in an orderly procession to a reception camp 7 miles away.

High-ranking officers aided by military police twice before had persuaded the troops to return, assuring them their legitimate grievances would be heard. The liner was preparing to sail without the demonstrators. Several hundred other troops remained aboard.

British Troops Sailing For Far East Quit Ship

Liverpool, England, Dec. 10 (AP). Headquarters of the Western Command announced today that 300 British Army personnel en route to the Far East walked off the transport Empress of Scotland last night in protest against food and accommodations on board but ended their demonstration eight hours later.

The return to the ship was agreed upon at a conference between the troops and senior army officers after several of the demonstrators, suffering from exposure, were carried back on board.

One of the troops assisting in embarkation said the demonstration "was mainly an army grouse, because they did not want to go back overseas at the end of their leave with Christmas so near at hand."

FRENCH FACTIONS SEEK TO SPEED AGREEMENT

PARIS, Dec. 10—(AP) Rival political leaders agreed in principle today to formation of a "national union" government, composed of all parties from the Communists to the far right [illegible] in the interim until [illegible].

Still lacking, however, was agreement on a provisional premier to head the new government and a program—obstacles which might yet wreck the negotiations.

Vincent Auriol, Socialist president of the national assembly, began a new series of conferences with party leaders in an effort to reach agreement on these points in time for election of a new premier on Thursday.

UNESCO Fund Fight On

Paris, Dec. 10 (AP)—A fight to restore the 1947 budget of the United Nations Social, Economic and Cultural Organization to the original $7,500,000 figure, which was slashed more than $500,000 in a budget committee, was opened by Britain's delegation today.

Dr. David Hardman pointed out that the [illegible] committee vote for the lower budget was 10 to 9, with eleven nations absent, and he called for restoration of the original figure to allow UNESCO to begin its program.

Dr. Julian Huxley, director general, said that if the lower budget was adopted, expenditures would have to be slashed up to 40 per cent and possibly more if overhead expenses could not be reduced.

Earlier, William Benton, assistant Secretary of State and head of the United States delegation, cautioned the delegates that too many persons believed UNESCO, with its several hundred jobs in prospect, was "a pork barrel riding in a cloud."

The UNESCO sessions were scheduled to end this afternoon.

Kommandature Solves Berlin Rule Muddle

Berlin, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Allied Kommandature today solved Berlin's two-weeks-old muddle, in which two city governments claimed to hold office, by ordering the old Mayor and his officials to yield to the newly elected Mayor.

The compromise, reached after a four-hour debate [illegible] commanders, fa[illegible]ds the principle raised by the Russians that members of the city government may not take office until approved beforehand by the Kommandature.

The letter drafted to the old Mayor, Dr. Otto Werner, who was appointed by the Russians when they were in sole occupation of the city, merely directed him to turn over his functions to the new government "which has our approval."

The new government was chosen in recent city-wide elections in which the Soviet-sponsored Social Unity party was defeated by the Social Democrats.

FURTWAENGLER ON TRIAL

Conductor Faces Court Today to Attempt His Vindication

BERLIN, Dec. 10 (AP)—Wilhelm Furtwaengler, German orchestra director, will appear before a denazification court of nine Germans tomorrow in an effort to get a clean bill so as to resume his musical career in Berlin.

The case against the 60-year-old former director of the Berlin Philharmonic has been most strongly argued by the American Military Government's information control division officials who have pointed out that he served as a Prussian State Councilor appointed by Hermann Goering to advise him on musical affairs, that he drew a salary for that work and that he conducted in foreign countries on tours that the Nazis staged for propaganda purposes.

Russian occupation authorities have given tacit support to "bring Furtwaengler back" campaigns by German cultural groups.

LESS FOOD SENT TO REICH BY U. S.

Berlin, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—Food imports from the United States during the last quarter fell almost 50 per cent short of requirements for the United States Occupation Zone, the American Military Government weekly report said today. To keep the German ration level at 1,500 calories daily food has been arriving at the rate of approximately 50,000 metric tons a month, compared with the estimated average import requirement of 92,000 metric tons monthly.

High priority continued to be given to the transportation of potatoes, firewood and bread grains, the report said, because of the shortage in collecting deliveries from German farmers for the market.

Meanwhile, black market activities and food thefts continued high. Several localities in Wuerttemberg-Baden were robbed of ration cards and large quantities of tobacco.

Nevertheless, authorities granted a Christmas food bonus of 100 grams (about 3½ ounces) of meat extra per person per week during the holiday ration period and an extra 250 grams of sugar per person for Germans aged one to twenty.

Regional offices of the American Military Government, however, have been requested to crack down on German violations of rationing directives. Some manufacturers, the report said, are supplementing their workers' ration by subsidizing plant kitchens with food obtained with or without the assistance of food authorities.

Fraulein Shot In Tussle For Gun, Says Corporal

Berlin, Dec. 10 (AP)—The United States Army's Criminal Investigation Division said tonight that Corporal Donald L. Johnson, 26, of De Kalb, Ill., had signed a statement that a Berlin woman, who was shot and critically wounded while he tussled with her for possession of a pistol, had threatened to commit suicide after a lover's quarrel.

The woman—Irmagard Stoit, 26—was not expected to survive.

The CID said Johnson stated he was in love with Fraulein Stoit and hoped to marry her eventually. Saturday night, he was quoted, they quarreled over infidelity, and she pointed a pistol at her head. Johnson said the pistol was discharged accidentally as he tried to wrest it from her.

[illegible]nberg jail, a high-ranking [illegible]zi officer eluded guards and [illegible]ved from a 35-foot catwalk today in what apparently was a suicide attempt.

The officer, Lt. Col. Frederick Karl Lechler, 34, an important witness in forthcoming war crimes trials, suffered a broken neck and fractures of the skull and both arms. He was rushed to the U. S. Army hospital at Fuerth, where doctors said he had less than an even chance to live.

Maj. Frederick C. Teich of Macon, Ga., who recently succeeded Col. B. C. Andrus as prison commandant, said he thought Lechler had changed his mind in mid-air, and tried to break his fall with his arms.

The incident occured just after the prisoners had returned from the kitchen, where they had marched to get their lunch. After entering his cell, Lechler suddenly dashed out again and vaulted over a three-foot guard rail.

Lechler, a handsome elite guardsman was chief of the supply force for Nazi concentration camps.

He was to be a principal witness against his immediate superior, Oswald Pohl, slated to be tried within a few weeks by an American court as the commander of all concentration camps.

The incident occurred in a different block from the one in which Hermann Goering, evading elaborate precautions taken by Col. Andrus, committed suicide by swallowing a vial of poison last October.

Two other suicides have occurred in the jail since the U. S. Army took over its administration at the end of the war. The victims were Dr. Leonardo Conti, head of the Nazi medical experimenters who decreed the deaths of hundreds of thousands of persons in a quest for "race purity," and Robert Ley, Nazi labor boss. Each hanged himself in his cell in Oct. 1945.

German Mayor Demands End To De-Nazification

Hamburg, Dec. 10 (AP)—Hamburg's first mayor, Dr. Max Brauer, last night demanded a quick end to de-Nazification in an address before a meeting of city administrative officials.

"Ninety per cent of the German people co-operated in some way with the Nazi system," Dr. Brauer said. "With the remaining five per sent we cannot build a new state. We must bring de-Nazification to an end as rapidly as possible."

Dr. Brauer, who recently renounced his American citizenship so he could take over the post of mayor, said that "revenge policy should not be practiced through de-Nazification."

ZIONISTS IN BLUNT BRITISH WARNING

E. Fischer

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 10 (AP)—Rabbi A. H. Silver of Cleveland, Ohio, a newly elected vice president of the World Zionist Congress told 2,000 persons attending the organization's [illegible] today that "we will continue to help the forces of resistance" in Palestine.

In a blunt warning to the British, Rabbi Silver said "we believe in resistance to the illegal acts of the mandatory power. The way to end resistance is to open the doors of Palestine."

He rejected the "thesis of the zealots of partition" and demanded "a Jewish state in all Palestine."

His remarks, added impromptu to a prepared address, evoked prolonged applause and stamping of feet from the delegates.

Rabbi Silver was among 15 vice presidents elected earlier today by the congress, which also named Dr. Chaim Weizmann of London as its chairman. Other vice presidents included Mrs. Judith Epstein of New York, president of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist organization of America; Dr. Joseph Schechtmann and Chaim Greenberg, all of New York.

Dr. Weizmann, who also is president of the World Zionist Organization, was the only candidate for the chairmanship. Forty-eight votes were cast against him, however, mostly by revisionists, a group which only recently returned to the congress after a walkout fifteen years ago.

Jewish Facism Charged

The election of two revisionists to the presidium threw the congress into a brief uproar, during which shouts of "Jewish fascism" were heard. Order was restored, however, and J. K. Goldbloom, of London, appealed for a united Zionist front.

Rabbi Silver, opening the debate on Zionist political problems—a debate which is expected to continue for five more days—asserted that James F. Byrnes, United States Secretary of State, "understands the full gravity" of the problem in the Holy Land, but added:

U.S. Attitude Reviewed

"It is too early to say how firm and persistent he will be in pressing for Jewish rights in Palestine. . . ."

The attitude of the United States Government through the years, Rabbi Silver said, might be described as "mere benevolent neutrality," but by 1942 this attitude changed and "the subject of Zionism had become taboo in Washington."

Rabbi Silver said that the action of President Truman in urging the opening of Palestine to 100,000 Jewish refugees was a welcome turning point.

U. S. Zionist Hails Resistance

Tells World Congress Byrnes Apparently Has Active Charge of Palestine Problem.

Basle, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Rabbi Abba H. Silver of Cleveland, president of the American Zionist Organization, told the World Zionist Congress that "we believe in resistance to illegal acts of the mandatory power" in Palestine, and that "we will continue to help the forces of resistance."

There was prolonged applause and stamping of feet among the audience of some 2,000 persons as Silver, adding impromptu remarks to a prepared address, declared: "The way to end resistance is to open the doors of Palestine.

"We demand that Great Britain discharge the obligation she assumed under the mandate. We do not accept the thesis of partition. The extremists are the ones who advocate the partition. A Jewish State in all Palestine is the only authentic policy."

Says Byrnes Is Active.

In the course of his prepared speech Silver declared that Secretary of State Byrnes "understands the full gravity and urgency of the Palestine problem," and that within recent weeks there have been clear indications that he has "taken active charge" of the matter. "He has been personally conferring with Mr. (Foreign Secretary) Bevin on the subject," Silver continued. "It is too early to say how firm and persistent he will be in pressing for Jewish rights in Palestine and for a just and early solution."

There were rumors that some opponents of the commonwealth plan had been won over to the idea of a partitionment, adding: "We should make sure that they are indeed repentant and converted before we intrust them with any responsible role in any negotiation which may involve the fate and destiny of the Jewish national home."

Taboo In Washington.

Reviewing the attitude of the United States Government through the years, the Cleveland Rabbi said: "It might be characterized, in all fairness, as one of mere benevolent neutrality. Our Government was at all times kindly disposed, but it persisted in doing nothing about it. It was fashionable for public officials to give warm endorsement, and it was generally assumed, even among some of our Zionist leaders, that that was all we could really expect from our Government. This attitude persisted even after the White Paper was issued in 1939."

The attitude of benevolent neutrality was abandoned after the United States entered the war, Silver continued, and by 1942 "the subject of Zionism had become taboo in Washington." He added that the American President and the British Prime Minister once came to the point of issuing an official request that all discussion of the Palestine question cease. "Fortunately," he continued, "this was averted through energetic intervention."

He said that President Roosevelt's statement of 1944 that the American Government has never approved the 1939 White Paper broke "a long and, to the Jews of Europe, dreadfully costly silence." He added that a welcome turning point was reached when President Truman urged the opening of Palestine to 100,000 Jews.

At an earlier session today Dr. Chaim Weizmann of London was elected president of the congress, receiving 191 votes. Forty-eight votes were cast against him and sixty delegates did not vote. Weizmann was the only nominee.

Among the fifteen vice-presidents elected were Mrs. Judith Epstein of New York, president of Hadassah, and Dr. Jo Schechtman and Chaim Greenberg, both also of New York.

Guerrillas Fleeing Over Border Wiped Out, Athens Says

Athens, Dec. 10 (AP)—Greek press dispatches said today that Turks had completely "wiped out" the remnants of a large guerrilla force which fled into Turkey after being routed by regulars in a fierce battle near the Greek village of Corymbos.

The dispatches, sent from Alexandroupolis in northeastern Greece, did not state how many persons were killed by the Turks, but said that more than 100 guerrillas were killed and 150 captured at Corymbos, before the flight across the frontier. Corymbos is 18 miles from Turkey, near the junction of Greek, Bulgarian and Turkish borders.

New Violence Breaks Out

Other reports told of new outbreaks of violence up and down Greece all the way from the southern Peloponnesus to the Bulgarian frontier.

Greek and British military chiefs held an emergency meeting in Athens, presumably because of the developments.

A 3d Army officer at Salonika said earlier that 600 to 1,000 guerrillas, "openly supplied with food and arms from Bulgaria," were involved in the fighting at Corymbos, and that they were opposed by a battalion of Greek troops.

He added that wounded guerrillas were taken "back into Bulgaria," after they had signaled to Bulgarian border guards.

Bulgarian Cards

An official Greek dispatch from Corymbos said Bulgarian Army identification cards were found in the pockets of some of the slain.

New fighting was reported in central Greece, where two villages were captured by Leftists and the town of Carpenission, capital of the region, was threatened with capture, according to a telegram read to Parliament.

Police said one person was killed and five wounded by a hand grenade thrown into a café in suburban Athens.

Athens newspapers said the office of a Leftist EAM (National Liberation Movement) newspaper in Pyrgos, on the northwestern coast of Peloponnesus, was attacked and one printer killed.

Vermion Mountain Battle

A delayed dispatch from Salonika quoted army officials as saying a battle was under way between 250 guerrillas and gendarme units in the Vermion mountains of northern Greece.

Five gendarmes and two railroad employés were killed Sunday night when guerrillas ambushed a westbound Alexandroupolis-Salonika train near the Bulgarian frontier. Survivors said the gendarmes were "executed," and that a woman guerrilla "cold-bloodedly murdered the conductor with an ax." They said the band was composed of 150 persons, including twenty "Amazons."

Greeks Fighting Partisan Band On New Front

J. Goodwin

Salonika, Dec. 9 [AP—Delayed]. A Greek 3d Army spokesman said tonight that 600 to 1,000 bandsmen "openly supplied with food and army from Bulgaria" had opened a 3-mile front around the village of Corymvos in western Thrace near the Greek-Turkish border town of Didymoteikon.

The spokesman said the "new Communist thrust" began the night of December 6 and is now opposed by a battalion of Greek troops. Greek forces, he said, are desisting from use of artillery to defend the village, which is only a few kilometers from the border.

The spokesman, an intelligence major, said that bandsmen were observed "openly carrying wounded back into Bulgaria" and supply carts were seen moving across the border at night after the "bandits signal Bulgarian border posts with lights."

Bandit Leaders Sought

He also said the Army was seeking to apprehend a "central committee of six men" allegedly "directing bandit activities in Macedonia." He said the committee was composed of three Greek Communists and three members of the NOF (Slav Macedonia Liberation Front), which, he said, is part of a Macedonian authority campaign.

The committee, the spokesman said, recently had its headquarters in Kastoria and claims leadership over 90,000 Slav-Macedonians in Greece.

Meanwhile, in Athens, Minister of Public Order Constantine Kalkanis said more than 200 Partisans had surrendered during the last two weeks as a result of the modified amnesty granted the mountain fighters.

Police said one person was killed and five wounded when a grenade was thrown into a suburban Athens cafe last night.

Newspaper Office Fired

The office of the EAM (National Liberation Front) newspaper in Pyrgos was fired on and one printer killed, according to a press dispatch.

A cable was read to the Greek Parliament today saying two villages in the area of Karpenision in central Greece had been taken by guerrillas and that Karpenision, capital of the region, was threatened with capture.

A press dispatch in the Athens papers from Alexandroupolis said "more than 100 corpses of bandits were found on the battlefield" after an eight-hour fight near Corymvos and that more than 150 were captured.

Another press report said a portion of the band which fled into Turkish territory was completely "wiped out" by Turks. Scene of the battle is approximately twenty miles from the Turkish frontier.

Meanwhile an official dispatch received in Salonika from Corymvos reported that 40 bandsmen were killed and ten captured in the night's fighting. The dispatch said "Bulgarian Army identity cards were found in the captives' pockets."

The Army reported at Salonika that a battle was "now raging" between 250 bandsmen and gendarme units in the mountains near Veroia.

Survivor Describes Execution

Five gendarmes were reported "executed" and two railway employés killed near Mouries, immediately south of the Bulgarian border near Lake Dorian, when a westbound Alexandroupolis-Salonika train was said to have been ambushed by a mortar-firing band which railway employes said included at least twenty women.

Survivors of the attack, who reached Salonika by special train tonight said one woman in the band, which was estimated at 150, "cold-bloodedly murdered the conductor with an ax."

George Vellias, lone survivor of the six-man gendarmerie detachment aboard, said the officers were marched two miles from the scene and "executed by a firing squad." He said he was struck in the leg, rolled under a dead major's body and later made his way back to the railway station after "angry peasants" had frightened the band away.

Hungary Welching On Pact: Czechs

Prague, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Czech Foreign Ministry has disclosed transmission of a note to Hungary accusing that country of failing to live up to bilateral agreement for the exchange of nationals of both countries.

The Ministry said last night that a communication sent to Foreign Minister Janos Gyongyosi of Hungary last Friday charged Hungary had not fulfilled its part of a February 27 agreement providing that Hungarian nationals living in Czechoslovakia and Czech nationals living in Hungary were to be repatriated.

Aid Is Asked

[In Vatican City, the Italian news agency ANSA said the Vatican radio appealed last night to Allied authorities on behalf of the Archbishop of Budapest to intervene against Czech treatment of Hungarian minorities in Czechoslovakia.

[ANSA said the message, from Josef Cardinal Mindszenty of Budapest to Bernard Cardinal Griffin, archbishop of Westminster, "denounced the treatment meted out to the Hungarian minority in Czechoslovakia, deported and deprived of their property" and ended with an appeal for Allied intervention on behalf of the Hungarians.]

The Czech Foreign Ministry said its communication also demanded that the Hungarians put a stop to alleged gun firing across the border and subversive activities in Slovakia.

The Hague, Dec. 10 (AP)—Dr. J. A. Jonkman, Dutch Minister of Overseas Territories, told Parliament today that the Government intended to authorize the commission general to sign the draft agreement with the Indonesians.

The draft, initialed a month ago by Dutch and Indonesian representatives in Batavia, provided for a politically [illegible] United States of Indonesia and their union with the Netherlands under the crown.

"By this signature," Jonkman said, "the Government binds itself only and exclusively as to what has been agreed upon according to the explanation given by the commission."

Viewed As Framework

He added that, in the light of this explanation, the agreement should be seen "to further the preliminaries for establishing a new rule of law in the Netherlands East Indies."

"The agreement does not determine this new rule of law," he said, "but is meant to give the basis on which it will be framed."

Noise Bomb Marks Barcelona March

Barcelona, Spain, Dec. 10 (AP)—A noise bomb exploded today as marchers, said by semi-official sources to number 150,000 to 200,000, massed [illegible]'s viceregal palace in a demonstration against "foreign interference" in Spanish affairs.

Similar demonstrations were held in Spain's 50 provincial capitals and in other small cities.

British And Italians Hurt In Padua Riot

Padua, Italy, Dec. 10 (AP)—Two British officers and several Italians were injured today in a two-hour riot set off when a British Army truck ran into a group of Italian pedestrians.

Padua is the site of several headquarters of Britain's Central Mediterranean Force.

The Italians, estimated in an official announcement to total more than 150, attacked British personnel and tore down a British flag in the mistaken belief that the truck had killed two of their countrymen.

REDS STEAL BED LINEN

VIENNA, Dec. 10—(AP) British army authorities said today that Russian soldiers Sunday night entered a sleeping car in which Adrian Holman, British political representative in Bucharest, and his wife were traveling to Vienna, stole bed linen and otherwise put the passengrs "to great inconvenience."

The release said "Russian headquarters in Vienna have promised to fully investigate into the matter."

Romanian Trade Policy

Soviet Friendship Is Preferred to U. S. Steel, Says Communist

BUCHAREST, Dec. 9 (AP) (Delayed).—Emil Bodnaras, Under Secretary of State and one of the key men in the Communist party leadership, told news men today that Romania will not discriminate between great manufacturing powers or those producing raw materials, provided trade policy does not harm relations with her neighbors, especially Russia.

Romania could do without United States Steel, but could not last five minutes without Russian friendship, Bodnaras said. He aded that Romania wants only essential goods, not American refrigerators or gramophone records.

Nokrachi Outlines Regime's Aims

Cairo, Dec. 10 (AP)—Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrachi Pasha, named Premier for the second time within ten months, set up a new Egyptian Cabinet today in the midst of renegotiations of a treaty touching on British, Egyptian and Sudanese interests.

The twelve-man Cabinet gave equal representation to Nokrachi Pasha's Saadist party and the Liberal Constitution party, which together command a majority in the Chamber of Deputies. Nokrachi himself took the Foreign Affairs and Interior portfolios.

In Favor With Britain

The new Premier, a 58-year-old one-time schoolteacher, was appointed by King Farouk I yesterday to succeed ailing politically independent Ismail Sidky Pasha, who resigned Sunday amid differences with the British over a new treaty to replace the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian Alliance.

In accepting the premiership, Nokrachi Pasha wrote the King that his Government's first goals would be evacuation of British troops and the unity of Egypt and the Sudan to the south under the Egyptian crown.

Foes Walk Out

Sidky Pasha had sought these objectives in the treaty negotiations. The Chamber of Deputies November 26 gave him a 159-to-0 vote of confidence, after 54 opposition deputies had walked out. In both Egypt and the Sudan, demonstrations against the Government policy have occurred among extreme nationalists.

Only last February 17, Nokrachi Pasha resigned the premiership in favor of Sidky Pasha. His new Cabinet shuts out the strongly nationalist Wafdist party, which Nokrachi quit in 1937 when the Saadist party was formed among dissident Wafdists.

Refugee Ship's Survivors Being Taken Off Isle

Eight Moved to Rhodes by Greek Destroyer; 240 Suffer From Exposure

VALLETTA, Malta, Dec. 10 (AP)—The British naval command in the Mediterranean announced tonight that the British minesweeper Providence and a Greek destroyer were embarking 700 Jews who were shipwrecked Sunday on the Island of Syrina.

The Jews were being taken on board the two rescue vessels "under difficult weather conditions," a statement issued by the command said.

[The Jews, who lacked immigration certificates, were stranded on the barren island in the Aegean when the ship taking them to Palestine was wrecked.]

Casualties of the shipwreck, the statement said, "were believed to have been five or six drowned" and eight injured. The injured have been taken to Rhodes for treatment on board a second Greek destroyer, the Themistocles, it added.

"The survivors are being accommodated in warships at present until the arrival of H. M. S. LST 3016, which was dispatched from Malta Monday with a medical party, food and other supplies," the statement said.

Shipwrecked Jews Are Succored

Jerusalem, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—The Palestine Government announced tonight that contact had been established with a group of 730 Jews shipwrecked on the desolate island of Syrina and that about 240 were suffering badly from exposure.

Eight in the worst condition have already been moved to Rhodes aboard a Greek destroyer, it was announced, and British naval vessels are standing by to move hospital cases direct to Palestine.

Desert Tribal Chief Sentenced To Death

Damascus, Syria, Dec. 10 (AP)—Salman Murshed, Alaouite tribal chieftain, and two deputies, Sulayman Sayid and Hassan Tiraf Muhammad, today were sentenced to death for crimes, including high treason, against the Syrian Government.

[illegible] charged that Murshed and his followers received French encouragement and help, including arms, to stage an uprising.

Twenty other defendants were given prison terms ranging from one to fifteen years. The desert chieftain was accused of trying to enslave his followers by forcing on them a religion in which he was to be known as a god. Another accusation was that he killed one of his twelve wives.

Tehran Troops Begin Invasion Of Azerbaijan, Face Resistance

By The Associated Press

TEHRAN, Dec. 10.—Four columns of Iranian government troops began an invasion of Azerbaijan today, and unconfirmed reports said Mianeh, eighty miles from Tabriz, the Azerbaijan capital, had been captured in a swift advance.

Reports received in official circles, but lacking confirmation at military headquarters, said the troops quickly repaired an 80-yard-long bridge blown up by the Azerbaijan militia at the River of the Golden Swimmer and entered rugged Ghaflankooh Pass, main gateway to the rebellious province on Iran's northwestern frontier.

Mianeh is five miles beyond the pass, and is the first city of any importance on the main highway and railway route to Tabriz, Azerbaijan capital.

Meager Details

The report telling of the city's capture did not say whether it had been accomplished by the main force or by irregular tribesmen who struck in two surprise flanking movements.

Gen. [illegible], chief of the general staff who announced the start of the military movement, said first casualties were light and that some Azerbaijans surrendered. Some machineguns and small arms were captured, he added.

Premier Ahmed Qavam appealed to Dr. Sallamollah Javid, the Communist governor-general of Azerbaijan, not to resist the troops being sent as a security force during Iran's general parliamentary elections. He warned that the troops would enter the province no matter what resistance was encountered.

But in reply, Jafar Pishevari, leader of the pro-Soviet Azerbaijan Democrat party, in a broadcast from Tabriz called upon the people and armed forces to fight, and urged all possible aid to the militia and the untrained defense forces.

Qavam's order to attack "proves he is the bloodiest fool in the world," declared Pishevari, who added that Azerbaijan was being attacked by guns, tanks and airplanes.

He accused the government of bombing villages, and charged Qavam with wanting to "put his friends in parliament" and as a large landowner of being afraid of "our land distribution" program.

"Qavam wants to make us slaves of the British and Americans like the slaves in India," he declared.

UN Notified of Warning

The attack followed by a few days Iran's notification to the United Nations Security Council that the Soviet Ambassador in Tehran had given a "friendly admonition" against sending troops into the province on the grounds it might create "disturbances" on Russia's frontier.

The note recalled previous Russian "interference" in Iran's internal affairs and said the Central Iran government had not yet been able to re-establish its authority in Azerbaijan although the province agreed last June to recognize the sovereignty of the Central Government after several months of self-declared autonomy during the Soviet occupation.

There was some concern in government circles that Russia might give indirect aid to the Azerbaijans. For some time government sources have been reporting privately that military technicians, arms and other forms of aid were filtering across the Soviet border into Azerbaijan.

Soviet Azerbaijans across the border speak the same language and are hardly distinguishable from Iranian Azerbaijans.

'Showdown' Seen

(Diplomatic sources in London said it was not unlikely that Soviet Azerbaijans would infiltrate into Iranian territory. They said the "showdown" would not only test the extent of Russian influence in Azerbaijan but also show how far Russia planned to push "the thin edge of her wedge into the Middle East." A British foreign office spokesman said Britain regards the situation as a "purely internal affair" between the Azerbaijans and the central government.)

The government thrust began at 9 a.m. and first contact with the Azerbaijans was made a short distance north of Sarcham. The main advance was toward the torturous pass, reported fortified, where the main resistance was expected to be encountered.

At the same time columns of irregular cavalry made up of 1,500 Amiri Afshar, Zulfghari, Yamini and Aselehadarbashi tribesmen, began surprise flanking attacks on both the east and west.

The eastern flanking drive originated from the border village of Aghkand, captured a few days ago by the irregulars, while the western flank circled west and north from Rejin, five miles northwest of Sarcham. Rejin, a border village, also was captured a few days ago in a preliminary skirmish.

A fourth column drove northeastward from Takab, a large military base 75 miles west and slightly south of Zenjan, the main base of operations.

Columns Close on Mianeh

The first objective of all columns was Mianeh, first city of any size in Azerbaijan. Mianeh is five miles beyond the pass and the terminus of the railway from Tehran. Tabriz, the Azerbaijan capital, is 80 miles northwest of Mianeh.

There was no immediate indication of the reaction of the Kurds who inhabit the area to the west around Lake Urmia, near the Turkish and Iraq borders. A few months ago the Kurds were closely aligned with the rebellious Azerbaijans, but more recently some of the chieftains have shown a tendency to break away from pro-Soviet leanings.

The military developments left the election question confused. Although Qavam in his message to Javid declared the elections would not be postponed, some observers believed they necessarily would be delayed.

Qavam originally had announced that the elections would be held on five days in the two-week period beginning last Saturday.

One of the first tasks of the new parliament to be elected would be to pass upon the question of oil concessions in the north for Russia which Qavam promised Moscow.

4 Qavam Forces Fight Way Into Azerbaijan

Tehran, Dec. 10 (AP)—Four columns of Iranian Government forces thrust into truculent Azerbaijan province today in what some diplomatic sources said they considered an armed test of Soviet influence in Iran's northernmost semi-autonomous province.

As Government troops opened a battle against the Fedaies, the militia of the Azerbaijan Democrat party, Premier Ahmed Qavam sent a message to Dr. Salamollah Javid, governor general of Azerbaijan declaring that security forces had been ordered into the province to supervise parliamentary elections and would enter no matter what resistance was encountered.

Some [illegible] Killed

General Razmara, Iran's chief of staff, said casualties in the early fighting were reported to be light, with some Democrats killed and wounded. He added that some captives had been taken and that a few Democrats had surrendered.

Razmara said the attacking forces were made up of regulars and irregulars and that the main thrust began at 9 A.M. (local time) today. He reported that contact was made with the Democrat force a short distance north of Sarcham at the entrance to Grafiankooh Pass.

This pass, reported to have been fortified by Democrat forces, straddles the main route into the province. The first objective of the Government troops' drive northward was said to be Mianeh, the first sizable city on the route to the provincial capital, Tabriz.

More Violence Reported

Tehran newspapers yesterday carried fresh reports of violence in the dispute between the central Government and the semi-autonomous province.

Etelaat, semi-official newspaper, said a Government airplane dropping propaganda leaflets had been fired upon Saturday over three Azerbaijan localities but was not damaged.

The same newspaper said two members of the Fedaies had surrendered along the boundary as a result of earlier leaflet appeals and reported low Democrat morale.

A correspondent on the border for Kahan, independent newspaper, reported Fedaies attacked Tikab, along the border between Azerbaijan and the Kurds, but had been driven off after suffering "many casualties."

The newspapers also said Government troops from Isfahan were being transferred to the Azerbaijan border forces by way of Tehran.

Iranian Azerbaijan, bordering Russian Azerbaijan, revolted last year while Soviet troops were in occupation and subsequently was granted more home rule.

Elections of deputies to the Majlis (aqliament) were scheduled throughout Iran for the two weeks which started last Saturday. Premier Ahmed Qavam has insisted he will not recognize returns from Azerbaijan unless Government troops oversee the balloting. Azerbaijan leaders have charged him with seeking to control the election in favor of his own party and have opposed the troop movement.

Surprise Advances Begun

General Razmara said columns west and east of the main force started successful surprise advances at 9 P.M. (local time) last night to secure the flanks of the Ghaflankooh Mountains.

He said the main body of Tehran troops expected to encounter the heaviest resistance in the tortuous pass through the mountains.

The General said a fourth column farther to the west was driving northeastward.

The attack started only a few days after Iran notified the Security Council of the United Nations of interference in Iran's internal affairs.

Wonder What Russia Will Do

Diplomats speculated on what action Russia would take.

There apparently was some concern in Government circles that Russia might give indirect assistance to the Azerbaijan Democrats.

Recently the Left-wing Tudeh party and Leftist Tehran newspapers have attacked Qavam, asserting he was guided by "American imperialist aims against Russia."

The attack on Azerbaijan confused the election question. The election period was supposed to have started December 7, and Qavam announced that inspectors were ordered to proceed to some districts to being establishing election machinery on that date. However, the actual polling period of five days which was to have been set some time before December 21 may now be delayed until the Azerbaijain issue is settled.

"Internal Affair," Britain Says

London, Dec. 10 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today that Britain regarded the dispute between Azerbaijan Democrats and the Iranian Government as "a purely internal affair."

Replying to a news-conference question, the spokesman added that Britain's attitude would remain unaltered, even if the dispute developed into a full-scale conflict.

London, Wednesday, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Moscow radio reported today that the Tehran newspaper Rahbar said the Americans [illegible] 40 four-engined bombers to the Iranian Army since November 22. The broadcast quoted a Tass dispatch from the Iranian capital.

Manchuria Chief Summons Leaders To Mukden Parley

Peiping, Dec. 10 (AP) — Gen. Hsiung Shih-hui, Government overall military commander in Manchuria, today called an extraordinary conference of provincial governors and army leaders at Mukden as Communist leaders here acknowledged their armies had taken the initiative in China's civil war.

Government military sources have predicted Communists soon would open a winter offensive in Manchuria aimed at Changchun, the capital. Fighting in a 50-mile radius of the city has been reported for weeks.

American military observers who returned two days ago from Changchun and Harbin disagreed strongly, however, with the Government prediction. They said the Reds were not strong enough and not equipped for a winter campaign.

Lin Strikes Across River

Latest reports from that area said Communist Gen. Lin Piao had made test thrusts across the Sungari River north of Changchun into Nationalist (Government) positions. The Nationalists hold the west bank.

Chinese press reports said 20,000 Communist troops were moving along the railroad toward Szepingkai, 60 miles southwest of Changchun.

Nationalist leaders also looked for a concerted Communist attack on Paoting, 100 miles south of Peiping. They said seventeen Red regiments had penetrated the outer defense ring of that Hopeh provincial capital and were within 10 miles of the city.

The Paoting garrison withstood a siege of more than a month last fall and Government military authorities said it was ready to meet the new assault.

Offensive Under Way

The Communist offensive in Shansi was well under way with the Reds sweeping up one city after another in the south and central parts of this province west of Hopeh. A large force was reported massed a few miles outside Tatung awaiting the signal to strike at that coal mining and railroad center 160 miles west of Peiping.

In Honan province, south of Hopeh, 80,000 Communists were reported advancing against Government-held Anyang and Hwahsien, north of Kaifeng, provincial capital.

Communist forces in Shantung province, east of Hopeh, continued attacks on the Tsingtao-Tsinian railway in an effort to open and maintain a corridor north to Chefoo, Communist-held port which the Nationalists have surrounded but have been unable to capture.

Attack Report Denied

A report by Communist headquarters in Nanking that a Nationalist army under Gen. Hut Sung-nan had launched an offensive against border cities forming the outer defenses of Yenan, Communist capital, was denied by a Government defense spokesman. The Communist announcement, originating with the Yenan radio, said the attacks began December 6 near Yaohsien, only 25 miles southwest of Yenan.

The Government spokesman, however, said there were no field reports indicating aggressive action by Nationalist armies, which have been observing Chiang Kai-shek's November 11 cease-fire order.

Chinese Munitions Blast Kills 8

Shanghai, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—Explosions continued at intervals today in a Chinese Army munitions dump here which was touched off by a dropped hand grenade Saturday, but officials announced that only eight persons had died.

Lord Killearn Under Knife

Singapore, Dec. 10 (AP)—Lord Killearn, Great Britain's special commissioner in southeast Asia, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis last night at the Johore Bahru Hospital. A spokesman for Killearn's office said the operation was successful and his condition was satisfactory.

Taking Initiative, Chinese Reds Declare

Peiping, Dec. 10 (AP)—Chinese Communists battled to within 10 miles of Paoting, the Hopeh provincial capital, today as party leaders declared they were taking the initiative in China's civil war.

Fighting raged in four provinces —Honan, Shansi, Shantung and Hopeh—and the Communists made test thrusts in northern Manchuria, where Government officials say the Communists are prepared to throw 100,000 to 150,000 men into a new campaign.

DAY

Gen. Hsiung Shih-hui, director of Chiang Kai-shek's Manchuria headquarters, called an extraordinary conference of army commanders and provincial governors.

Red Spokesman's Views

[In Nanking, Communist spokesman Wang Ping-nan, insisting that there is no hope of a truce, told newsmen that the Government and Communists would continue fighting "until a change in the international situation and weakening of the Kuomintang (Government party, military position necessitates a fresh approach."

[He said a change of the military situation would be possible only when the United States quits aiding the Kuomintang and when China faces an economic crisis as the result of the military expenditure of men and materials."]

Government sources said they expected the Communists to launch a concerted assault on Paoting momentarily. Seventeen regiments penetrated the city's outer defenses.

Withstood Long Siege

The Government garrison there withstood a month-long siege early in the fall.

The official newspaper Chih Shih Jih Pao called the situation critical.

In Manchuria, Gen. Lin Piao's Communist forces made test thrusts across the Sungari River, south of Harbin. The independent newspaper Hsin Min Poa said 20,000 Communists from Taonang were pushing along the railway toward Szepingkai, 130 miles to the southeast.

In Honan, 80,000 Communists were reported advancing against Anyang, 80 miles north of Kaifeng, and Hwahsien, 56 miles north of Kaifeng.

Set To Strike At Tatung

They captured city after city in south and central Shansi province and in the north were poised a few miles outside Tatung for a signal to strike that coal-mining and railroad center.

Other troops, however, had been held up eleven days at Chungyang in their drive toward Taiyuan, the provincial capital.

In Shantung, the Communists continued attacks on the Tsingtao-Tsinan railroad in an effort to open a mountain corridor north to Chefoo, reported to be the only major port they still hold.

Sikh Ruler's Czech Wife Found Dead By Tower

New Delhi, India, Dec. 10 (AP)—The body of the Czech wife of the 74-year-old Maharajah of Kapurthala, ruler of a small Sikh state in India's Punjab, was found yesterday at the base of the 238-foot Qutab Minar, ancient Indian tower near Delhi.

NIGHT

Police said the Maharajah's wife had been staying at a Delhi hotel for the last month. Other sources said she had been separated from her husband for about a year. Her identity was established from a handbag which she left with a taxi driver at the monument while she climbed to the top.

She came to India with her mother as a guest of the Maharajah a few months before World War II began and married him five years ago in a Sikh ceremony. Authoritative sources said, however, she never was recognized officially as the maharanee.

Indian Assembly Picks Prasad

New Delhi, Dec. 10 (AP)—Dr. Rajendra Prasad, Food Minister of the interim Indian Government, was nominated witnout opposition today for the chairmanship of India's Constituent Assembly. Formal election will take place tomorrow.

Prasad is a member of the predominantly Hindu All-India Congress party. The Moslem League is boycotting the Assembly.

Dr. Prasad's nomination was followed by a boisterous second-day session in sharp contrast to yesterday's solemn opening of the Assembly.

DAY

Speaker Forcibly Hushed

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leading minister of the interim government, and another delegate forcibly escorted to his seat one member who insisted on continuing a speech demanding that all proceedings be in Hindustani instead of English, despite the fact he had been ruled out of order.

In the preliminary sessions, the Constituent Assembly was expected to pass resolutions declaring India a sovereign republic and asking a Federal court interpretation of certain sections of the British Cabinet mission's plan of last May for Indian independence, under which the Assembly was called.

Parties To Dispute

These sections are in dispute between the Hindu-dominated All-India Congress of Nehru, and the Moslem League, headed by Mahomed Ali Jinnah.

No court decision was deemed likely before next April, when the Assembly is scheduled to begin a second meeting. Before then, many Delhi observers felt new negotiations and an agreement between the parties were possible.

Government officials here today confirmed reports of a new outbreak of violence on the rugged northwest border and said that this "undoubtedly" was a repercussion of Hindu-Moslem tension in British India.

Russ Communize Sakhalin, Say Japanese

Tokyo, Dec. 10 (AP)—Japanese repatriates just arrived at Hakodate from Southern Sakhalin were quoted today in the newspaper Asahi that the Russians are colonizing and communizing that former Nipponese territory.

Asahi said the repatriates reported:

DAY

Russian communization began with farm lands allotted to Russian immigrants. The Japanese were told to transfer ownership of their lands to the Russians.

Co-operative farming is maintained on a large scale.

All Farms Supervised

The Russians declared complete nationalization of farm lands immediately after the occupation. Harvests were delivered to a farm board which paid the farmers. All farms are under supervision of a three-pronged control.

The civil administration controls every aspect of civilian life. All sectional chiefs are Russian. Subchiefs are Japanese. All major industries are under state control.

Plants Have Farms

Each factory has its own farm. During leisure hours employés tend farms and divide the crops among themselves.

One major radio station operates in Toyohara, the former capital. It broadcasts mainly in Russian. The news chiefly is translations from Russian newspapers.

The former Karafuto Nippo, a Japanese newspaper, has been revived, with Russians as publisher and editor. It is exclusively a Communist party paper. No other publication is permitted.

Theater Taken Over

The only books available are by the leftist Japanese author, Takiji Kobayashi, and the Japanese Communist Sen Katayama.

The best movie theater was taken over by the Russian Army.

Mining is under control of a Soviet board. Eight mines have been reopened.

Output of the Oji paper mills is only one fourh the former production but the Maoka mill has doubled its output.

Generally, economic rehabilitation is unbalanced, especially in mills requiring sulphur.

The Russians reopened fisheries by requisitioning Japanese fishermen. All hauls are delivered to a fishing board and fishermen are paid wages. The hauls usually are limited because the Russians won't permit the Japanese to operate far from shore.

Formosans Who Fired On Japs Are Jailed

Tokyo, Dec. 10 (AP)—Thirty-six Formosans today were convicted of endangering the Allied occupation of Japan by firing on Japanese police. One was sentenced to three years and 35 to two years each at hard labor.

The Chinese member of the military court dissented and was rebuked by the chairman, Col. Sexton Berg, Carmel, Cal., who said he "violated the oath taken by members of the commission." Berg presumably referred to an oath not to divulge decisions reached on secret ballot.

DAY

Deportation Recommended

Henry Chiu, the Chinese, declared in his dissent "it is clear the evidence fails to establish the guilt of each of the accused beyond reasonable doubt."

The case arose out of a gun battle last summer in which Formosans clashed with Japanese police after being lectured on maintaing order. Several Formosans were killed or injured.

The verdict added that the Formosans should be deported.

The trial, which probably will set a precedent for cases concerning occupation objectives, goes to Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, 8th Army commander, for review.

Lieut. Col. G. I. Epperson, San Francisco, was the third member of the commission.

Million Idle in Tokyo.

Tokyo, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Nearly 1,000,000 men in Tokyo are unemployed or without regular jobs, the metropolitan government's Labor Department reported today. The figures showed that there were 716,000 jobless and 231,000 living by black marketing or occasional odd jobs.

45 Koreans Put On Council

Seoul, Dec. 10 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, United States occupation commander, today named 41 men and four women to serve with 45 elected representatives in South Korea's first occupation legislature, scheduled to open Thursday.

The appointees include Kimm Kiu Sic, rightist chairman of the South Korean Coalition Committee and chairman of the People's party; Lyuh Woon Hyung, leftist leader of the coalition committee; Won Seh Hoon, who is organizing a new political party, the Mass Labor League, and Ahn Chai Hong, publisher of the Hansung Daily News.

Hodge said "the selections are considered to be a fair cross-section of Korean political thought."

The Legislature will meet without representatives from Seoul or Kang Won province, where Hodge voided the elections for "inadequate preparation." New elections are being held and returns are expected late this month.

Army to Fly Santa Claus to Tokyo

St. Nicholas to Land at Imperial Palace Plaza and Lead Christmas Parade in Jeep.

Tokyo, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—Santa Claus, for the benefit of the children of American personnel in the Tokyo-Yokohama area, will land at the Imperial Palace Plaza here four days before Christmas.

After his arrival via a Pacific Air Command plane, he will board a jeep disguised, it is hoped, as a sleigh and lead the Tokyo Christmas parade. Float entries from the Tokyo-Yokohama area will make up the parade, which will be judged by a committee of children, as well as a committee of adults.

After the parade, Santa will hold a reception for the American children at the Red Cross headquarters in the Tokyo Bankers Club.

British Soldiers, Marines Switch Jobs

Kure, Dec. 10 (AP)—British soldiers and Marines switched jobs for a week to find out how the others live—and work.

An officer and twenty men from the 2d Battalion, Dorset Regiment, boarded H.M.S. Bermuda yesterday and 25 Marines from the Bermuda went to Kocki, on Shikoku Island.

The exchange was suggested by Rear Admiral C. L. Woodhouse, of the British Pacific fleet task force operating in Japanese waters.

46 Yanks In Huk Unit, Is Claim

Manila, Dec. 10 (AP)—A Filipino military police agent was quoted by Manila newspapers today as saying he had been captured by Hukbalahaps who showed him the strength of their particular unit, including 46 Americans he presumed to be deserters from the United States Army.

The agent said he was seized in Pampanga province.

The Huks, armed peasants who fought the Japanese during the war, are accused by the Government of raiding villages and rice fields in central Luzon.

In Manila, one of the Huk founders told the Associated Press: "If American troops ever leave here, we expect to get justice; the kind we have not been able to get in the courts or the Legislature.

"The way our Congress failed to seat six Hukbalahap members last summer further convinced us we need to use force to obtain our rights. Our movement is growing in the fertile soil of agrarian discontent."

DENIES U. S. HAS MILITARY PACT WITH ENGLAND

State Department Official Also Asserts There Is No Political Alliance.

ANSWERS RECURRING RUMORS

But Admits Standardization of Arms With Britain and Canada Continues.

Washington, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—A State Department official indicated today that wartime standardization of weapons, carried on to some extent with Great Britain and Canada, is continuing into peacetime—but minus any military or political alliances.

"Despite [illegible] to the contrary," he said, "there is no political, military alliance with Great Britain aimed at anybody."

British Communists have complained of the standardization program and cited it as evidence of an actual alliance. Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minster, told the House of Commons today, in response to those complaints, that "informal exchanges" on the idea of continuing standardization as an economy and efficiency measure were going on, with no decision reached.

Asked about the British reports, the State Department spokesman said war time s tandardization had shown a saving in time and man power. This official, who would not be quoted by name, went on:

"Because of the effectiveness of these measures, there have from time to time been formal exchanges of views on standardization of arms, notably with the United Kingdom and Canada."

Quotes Secretary of State.

"Our close association with these two countries in the late war and the degree of standardization accomplished as a result thereof have made this logical. It would be a mistake, however, to conclude that this very natural development implies political arrangements or commitments.

"As the Secretary of State said on March 16 of this year, 'we do not propose to seek security in an alliance with the Soviet Union against Great Britain or in an alliance with Great Britain against the Soviet Union.'

"There has been no change in policy. The commitments of the United States are to the United Nations."

The official turned aside all questions as to how far standardization has gone and the extent of definite decisions in this field.

LA GUARDIA RAPS CRITICS OF UNRRA; DENIES 'POLITICS'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—(AP) Director General Fiorello H. LaGuardia vigorously defended the expiring UNRRA's allocations of food tonight and said anyone who contended his organization played politics with food was "not telling the facts accurately."

Speaking before the 48-nation UNRRA council in final session at the Shoreham Hotel, LaGuardia said:

"I do not know of a single instance, of the use of politics being played in the allocation of food."

UNRRA officially is due to die Dec. 31 though its distribution of supplies on hand will continue for some time thereafter, especially in China.

Denies Playing Politics

LaGuardia recalled that all UNRRA food shipments were decided by the nine nation central committee on which the United States has a place.

"I heard no government take any exception that politics were being played," he added.

La Guardia's statement was interpreted by delegates as a reply to acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson's speech Sunday when he asserted UNRRA had "serious faults" and that some countries receiving relief had been given too much and some others not enough.

LaGuardia maintained that both he and former director general Herbert Lehman had carried out "the spirit and letter" of UNRRA pledge to distribute foods equitably to alnations needing assistance.

The UNRRA chief, who is scheduled to resign before the three-day session ends, made no effort to reopen the bitter controversy on whether a new international agency should be established to take up where UNRRA leaves off.

The United States successfully led opposition to LaGuardia's proposal in meetings before the United Nations during the past several weeks. It insisted that future relief be made on a direct country-to-country basis.

U. S. Stand 'Discouraging'

LaGuardia said, however, the attitude of the United States toward the arrangement finally agreed upon was "a shock and rather discouraging."

A ten-nation committee would be set up under a formula approved in New York to assess food needs and to inform contributing countries.

LaGuardia said the American delegates had "prophesied," even before the committee met to survey the situation, that there would be a minority report on food conditions in needy countries.

"How can anyone say there will be a minority report before he knows the facts?" LaGuardia asked.

During the day, Acting Secretary Acheson had told a news conference that the United States probably would ask congress for funds to provide outright grants to needy countries, perhaps including Italy, Austria, Greece and others.

In a parting-shot at critics of his defeated proposals on how to continue food relief, LaGuardia said that "an overwhelming majority" favored his idea which would have "avoided degradation" of needy countries.

But, LaGuardia acknowledged, without support of the United States 'there would be no program at all." The former New York mayor appealed to the international bank to "get going" and extend financial aid to countries needing foreign exchange.

Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson made [illegible] plain in a radio address, in which he said Congress will be asked for a generous appropriation.

This country contributed $2,700,000,000 to the $3,000,000,000 United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, which expires December 31.

"The people of the United States are determined," Acheson warned," that they will not send free shipments of great quantities of food, trucks, tractors and other supplies to countries which are diverting their man power and facilities away from the production of the necessities of life which they are asking others to supply."

The Under-Secretary mentioned no nations by name, but other officials have said they expect Italy, Austria and Greece to be the main recipients of post-UNRRA aid, because their economic recovery has been slow.

Acheson spoke of serious faults in UNRRA, declaring that some nations got help when they didn't need it; some got too much when their needs were small; while others got less than they should have.

LAGUARDIA SEES ECONOMIC AID NEEDED ABROAD

Reports Only Tiny Beginning Made So Far to Replace Capital Losses.

Washington, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Asserting that "only the smallest beginnings" have been made in the replacement of capital losses in war-devastated nations, Fiorello H. LaGuardia, director of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, called today for continued assistance to them to avert "grave" economic setbacks.

His plea was contained in a prologue to the agency's quarterly report, which said that shipments in all commodity categories during the July-September period "constituted the largest quarterly shipments in the history of UNRRA." The shipments totaled 4,676,075 gross long tons.

Expanding his prologue to include fourth quarter figures for the period ended November 18, LaGuardia said that as of that date UNRRA had fulfilled 72 per cent of its program of operations. His figures showed that the agency, which goes out of existence officially on December 31, has shipped a total of 17,843,953 tons of commodities valued at $2,117,653,000. The percentage of quotas fulfilled for individual countries was listed as:

Finland, 91; Greece, 90; Dodecanese Islands, 88; Poland, 83; Yugoslavia, 81; Czecho-Slovakia and Byelorussia, 79; the Ukraine, 77; Austria, 74; Hungary, 68; Albania, 67; Italy, 64; China, 44; the Philippines, 24, and Ethiopia, 16.

Reports Starvation Averted.

Summing up UNRRA accomplishments, LaGuardia said in part:

"Starvation has been averted. A substantial recovery has been achieved in agricultural production. Transportation has been greatly improved and industry has begun to recover in most countries. No serious epidemics have occurred."

But on the debit side of the ledger, he cautioned that "it must be borne in mind that only the smallest beginnings have been made in the replacement of capital losses such as railroad rolling stock, livestock, industrial equipment and housing."

"In all UNRRA-assisted countries," he continued, "production is still below pre-war levels and consumption is precariously maintained. Thus the task of re-

U. S. to Run Foreign Aid Alone

Plans Relief Job After End of UNRRA, but Only for Countries Proving Their Need.

Washington, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—The United States plans to carry on alone its relief work abroad, when UNRRA folds up at the month's end—but only in those countries that can prove their need.

lief and rehabilitation, although well advanced, is not finished."

Dean Acheson, Under-Secretary of State, welcomed the delegates of forty-eight nations to the sixth and final session of UNRRA today with a statement that "new means both national and international" are available for dealing with world relief problems in 1947.

He noted that there are "still serious problems ahead" for war-shattered nations and added: "The machinery of individual governments and of private commerce also stand ready to carry us further along the road to recovery."

MONETARY FUND TO FIX RATES

World Exchange Values Expected Within Week.

Washington, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—The International Monetary Fund will fix initial exchange rates for various national currencies within a week as a major step in its mission to stabilize moneys as an aid to world peace, prosperity and employment. Officials said today, however, that the fund is unlikely to begin making transactions in these countries immediately in support of the rates it establishes.

First, they said, it will call upon its thirty-nine member countries to pay in their quotas toward its $7,397,500,000 capital, of which the United States' share—more than twice the size of any other m[illegible]s $2,750,000,000.

There are indications that fixing of rates for some of the countries worst hit by war and its aftermath may be postponed until their economic and monetary situation becomes more stable, but rates will be fixed for most currencies, including the more important ones.

Dollar Value Maintained.

Both the United States and Britain, whose currencies serve as the exchange medium in some 70 per cent of all world trading, have declared for maintenance of current rates for the dollar and pound.

In the case of the former, that is $35 to the ounce of gold, the valued fixed in 1934 by President Roosevelt in lowering the gold content of the dollar — a step that netted the Government a profit which will be used largely in meeting its quota in the fund.

Some $1,800,000,000 of that "increment" resulting from the 1934 revaluation will be shifted out of the United States Stabilizbation Fund to the fund, along with $950,000,000 more to make up the full United States subscription.

The entire $2,750,000,000 will be charged against the United States budget for the current fiscal year, although only the $950,000,000 will be tacked onto the public debt now standing at $262,385,000,000. The other $1,800,000,000 is already included in the debt figure.

The fund, which came into existence when the Bretton Woods agreements were signed last December 27, was formally launched late last March at Savannah, Ga., but its early months have been confined largely to staff organization and preliminary work. For almost three months, however, it has been engaged in conversations with its various members over the exchange value of their currencies.

One of the hopes of the founders of the institution is that it can help avert the international monetary fluctuations and currency wars credited with being a factor in world economic hostiliy.

France to Buy 75 Surplus U.S. Liberty Ships

21 of Record Purchase Delivered; Payment in 20 Years Agreed Upon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP).—France held a contract today for purchase of fifty-three surplus Liberty ships, of which twenty-one already have been delivered, and the Maritime Commission said another twenty-two would be added to that number soon.

The contract, covering the largest single sale of Liberties to a foreign government under the merchant ship sales act of 1946, designed to dispose of this country's big war-built fleet, was signed by French Ambassador Henri Bonnet and Vice-Admiral W. W. Smith, Maritime Commission chairman.

The thirty-two still-undelivered ships it covers are undergoing repairs. The twenty-two ships to be added, bringing the total of ships bought by France to seventy-five, are yet to be selected and put into shape.

Terms called for France to pay 10 per cent upon signing of the contract, and another 15 per cent on delivery. The rest is covered by mortgage aid to the French government, with repayment over twenty years at an interest rate of 3½ per cent.

Actually, France will not have to pay any funds for some time because it has received a $17,500,000 credit for the ruined Normandie and other shipping claims.

The Liberties, 10,800-tonners which the Maritime Commission says are in great demand by foreign governments, will cost the French in the vicinity of $550,000 each, a commission spokesman said, adding that the price was set by the merchant ship sales act.

Their cost to the United States was about three times that much, he said.

ROW OVER AUSTRIA

Washington, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—The United States is taking the official position that only the Russians are to blame if denazification in Austria is not going ahead as fast as they want.

A State Department official when asked today about a published report from Vienna that danazification is being held up by Russian efforts to continue concentration camps, said he did not know about this but noted that the Austrian Government passed a denazification law on August 24, and that it was supported by all parties, including the Communists. But the law has not been put into effect because of Soviet refusal to approve it, he said. It has not been approved by the Allied Control Council because that council has to act unanimously.

U.S. Turning Over Airfield To Egypt

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—Payne Field at Cairo, Egypt, will be turned over to the Egyptian Government December 15, the Army Air Forces reported today.

Maj. Gen. Robert M. Webster, ATC commander, said that by that date all American uniformed personnel will have cleared the field, a pivotal point for thousands of planes carrying men and supplies to the Middle East and the Pacific during the war.

Some 30 American civilians will remain about three months to complete the training of Egyptian nationals in operation of technical equipment. This equipment, along with buildings and supplies remaining there on the transfer date, will become the property of the Egyptian Government under terms of a diplomatic agreement signed June 15.

Early WAA-NHA Peace Sought

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—Representatives of the War Assets Administration and the National Housing Administration sought today to arrange an early conference to iron out one of the inter agency disputes that led to Wilson W. Wyatt's resignation as housing expediter.

An official said the WAA would ask the NHA to withdraw Wyatt's directives ordering the $171,000,000 Dodge-Chrysler war plant at Chicago made available to the Lustron Corporation for the construction of prefabricated housing.

Legality Questioned

The WAA took the position that it had already leased the plant to the Tucker Corporation of Chicago, for the manufacture of a new-type automobile. The agency has referred the matter to the Attorney General for an opinion on the legality of the directives.

Meanwhile, Wyatt lost his battle to persuade the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make a $32,000,000 loan to Lustron. Later, the company said it would try to carry on a smaller operation than originally planned, even without the Dodge-Chrysler plant.

One Government official said that even though Lustron did not have the financing necessary to take over the disputed plant, it would be necessary to clear up formally the question of the NHA's directives before the property could be used for any other purpose.

Policy Decisions Delayed

Housing officials said it is doubtful that any major policy decisions will be made pending the appointment of Wyatt's successor.

Also inlvolved in the housing program is the formation of a new agency to liquidate the affairs of the OPA and the Civilian Production Agency.

Among the controls administered by the CPA are priority and other restrictions on the building industry, at least some of which are to be discarded under the decontrol program.

RFC to Finance 8500 Homes

Contract Is Signed for Construction of New Plywood Houses for Veterans.

Washington, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—The office of the Federal Housing Expediter announced today that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has signed a guaranteed market contract with the General Panel Corporation of Los Angeles for production of 8,500 factory built plywood houses by the end of 1947.

The agency said that the RFC had approved a $1,500,000 loan application from the company more than a month ago on the recommendation of the housing expediter.

This was the fifth guaranteed market contract executed under the housing program. It brought to 51,400 the number of factory-made houses to be built under the guaranteed market provision of the veterans emergency housing act.

The housing agency said that the General Panel Company contract calls for production of 1,000 houses in the first quarter of 1947 and 2,500 during each of the remaining three-quarters, based on a one shift operation. The agency added that larger production might be achieved by operating two shifts.

The company, the announcement said, will fabricate the houses in a war surplus plant at Burbank, Cal., which was used during the war by the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation. The houses will be marketed principally in southern California, Arizona and Nevada, by the Celetox Corporation.

The housing agency said the house will be a one-story, two-bedroom bungalow type of 714 square feet of floor area, to sell complete, including an allowance of $900 for a lot, for approximately $5,875.

U.S. AGENCIES DIFFERING ON SUGAR RATION

OPA Predicts Increase, But Agriculture Department Holds it Unlikely

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—OPA told consumers today they might expect some increase in sugar rations next year, but the Department of Agriculture reported it was "unlikely" that any increase could take place before April 1.

Both statements were based on a civilian sugar allocation of 1,260,000 short tons, fixed by the Department of Agriculture for the first quarter of next year. This compares with 1,185,000 tons for the previous quarter.

Greater Number Of Consumers

The department said the increase in allocation was based on a greater number of individual consumer and greater industrial use. It added that an increased ration for individual consumers is not likely until the size of the new crop had been more accurately fixed and imports from Cuba have reached the market.

OPA announced that a new individual consumer stamp, one of the unused "spares" in the consumer's ration book, will be valid from January 1 to April 30, 1947. The present individual stamp, also for five pounds, became valid on September 1, 1946, and will expire on December 31, 1946. Home-canning sugar stamps 9 and 10, each good for five pounds additional, have been extended twice and will remain valid until December 31.

Industrial Allotments

OPA said that "it is anticipated" that the second consumer stamp for 1947 will be made good before the January 1 stamp expires, "thus increasing the present consumer ration of five pounds of sugar for each four months."

Industrial sugar allotments for the first quarter of 1947 were fixed by OPA at the same level as for the last quarter of 1946. January-February allotments for institutional users were also maintained at the present level.

Wide Price Scale Found In Wake Of The OPA

[By the Associated Press]

If you would like to buy your butter and bacon at the lowest price of any city in the country, you'd do well to start in Omaha. But don't jump too fast.

A survey of rising costs and continuing scarcities in 35 cities disclosed that the same Nebraska city had suffered a greater percentage of increase in the over-all cost of living than any other of the reporting areas—35.9 per cent in the last year.

This was only one facet in a patchwork of varying costs spread across an OPA-less country.

Other Butter Prices

Butter would cost you $1 a pound in Charlotte, N.C., and 98 cents in both Pittsburgh, Pa., and San Diego, Cal., for the better grades, about the cheapest you could do would be 85 cents in Jacksonville, Fla., or Rochester, N.Y. In Washington, you could get the cheapest brand for 81 cents and in Omaha for 74 cents.

The lows established under the OPA were 44 cents a pound at Kansas City [illegible] 47 cents in New Haven, Conn.

The best buy on bacon would be in Omaha at 59 cents a pound. From there the prices climb to a national peak of 95 cents in Albany, N.Y. Albuquerque, N.M.; Denver, Col.; Helena, Mont.; Portland, Ore., and San Diego all reported 85 cents or above.

41 Cents In OPA Days

In the waning days of the OPA the lowest price was 41 cents in Chicago and Providence, R.I.

Sirloin can be bought in Oklahoma City at 53 cents a pound, an increase of only 3 cents since the OPA, or again in Omaha or Milwaukee at 55 cents. Denver, with a low of 36 cents under the OPA, reported present choice cuts at 59 cents. However, in New Orleans they cost 91 cents and in San Francisco, 90 cents.

The best shopping for hamburger could be done in Milwaukee at 33 cents a pound, in Chicago and a number of other cities at 35 cents, or at a single store in Jacksonville, Fla., at 29 cents, although other retailers there are charging 49. Top prices would be found in Providence, R.I., and New Haven, Conn., at 59 cents.

Overall Costs

The survey showed that most of the cities do not know how much their overall cost of living has increased.

In many of the cities reporting, the statistics were current only up to October 15, the last reporting date of the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics. This was before President Truman lifted most of the remaining OPA controls on November 9.

For the country as a whole, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a 15.1 per cent increase as of October 15 over a year ago.

The high Omaha figure was given as a BLS report. The same agency gave an eighteen per cent increase for San Francisco.

Up 19 P.C. At Dallas

The University of Texas figured out a nineteen per cent increase for Dallas this year, and the AFL Carpenters Council in San Diego said costs in that city had gone up nineteen per cent since January. Business organizations there have declined to accept this figure.

In New York city, the Commerce and Industry Association said the living index had risen from 131.4 in January to 152.6 in October. The BLS placed the rise in Chicago at from 128.1 to 149.2 up to October, and added that it had probably gone up another two points since then.

Soap and toilet tissue continued to lead the scarcity field. Twenty-one cities listed soaps as among the top two scarcities, while thirteen gave toilet tissue, ten, shortening, and five, sugar.

TAFT LISTS BUDGET AS TOP PROBLEM

Washington, Dec. 9 (A. P.).—Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) said today that the two high priority problems for Congress are preparation of a governmental budget before February 15, and a decision on the termination of wartime controls.

Tax Legislation Should await an examination of the budget problem, he told reporters.

Taft said no reduction of corporate taxes is under consideration. The size of any income tax reduction hinges on the total of the 1948 operating budget which Taft estimates at around $30,000,000.

Taft returned from a vacation in Central America in time for a meeting of the Republican Committee on committees this afternoon, but expressed doubt that the group could do much more than outline the major problems in assigning committee memberships and chairmanships.

Taft took occasion to deny that he has decided to take the chairmanship of the labor committee rather than finance. He simply has not made any decision on the matter, he said.

Veterans Administration Gets Halloran On Order of Truman for Temporary Use

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Veterans Administration announced today President Truman has approved transfer of the Army's Halloran General Hospital on Staten Island, N. Y., to the administration for temporary use as a 1,500-bed hospital for veterans.

President Truman also approved transfer of 48 acres of land at the Fort George Wright General Hospital Reservation, Spokane, Wash., to the agency for use as the site for a 200-bed hospital.

Halloran, formerly the Willowbrook State School, is owned by New York State. It was leased to the War Department during the war and used as an Army hospital.

The Veterans Administration will operate it, starting early in January, pending completion of a permanent hospital planned for construction in the New York area. The agency will take charge at Halloran of 300 Army patients who will be discharged from the service.

U.S. ROCKET PLANE GETS FLIGHT TEST

First Such American Craft Is Designed For 1,700 M.P.H.

Los Angeles, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Army Air Forces disclosed today a successful test flight of America's first rocket-propelled plane, the Bell XS-1, designed for supersonic speed of 1,700 miles an hour, but which in its test hop at Murdoc Army Airbase yesterday was held down to 550 miles an hour.

The little plane, which measures only 31 feet in length and has a wingspan of 28 feet, was piloted by Chalmers (Slick) Goodlin, 23-year-old test pilot for Bell and a former Navy aviator who now lives in New Alexandria, Pa.

Cut Loose At 25,000 Feet

The rocket plane was cut loose at 25,000 feet from an Army B-29 bomber. Seconds after its release, Goodlin turned on a fraction of his power and said he shot forward with a momentum comparable to a carrier plane leaving a flight deck under propulsion of a catapult.

Goodlin said he first turned the power on only one cylinder, then two, and finally on all four.

The flight on four cylinders lasted only a few seconds, however, as the Army and the plane manufacturers are not yet ready to see what the little craft will do under full power.

"The plane, the engine—in fact everything about the flight—was beautiful," Goodlin said at a press conference today. "It was all very quiet, with absolutely no noise at all in the cockpit, no sensation of the roar of an engine."

Goodlin said that after he dropped from the B-29 and turned on the power on one cylinder, "it was like getting a gentle boost. It was not until I turned on the fourth cylinder that I got a noticeable shove forward."

He added he had no doubt that the plane will reach the 1,700 miles and hour speed which the engineers' drawing board indicated it should attain.

After cutting loose from the B-29 at 25,000 feet, Goodlin took the plane up to 35,000 feet and held it in sustained flight for almost seven minutes, when his fuel became exhausted.

He landed without power and said the plane, handling admirably, came down as light as a feather.

It was "as easy as scraping gravy off your vest," he commented.

Carries Own Oxygen

The plane was designed and built under joint supervision of the Bell Aircraft Corporation, of Buffalo, and the Army Air Forces Air Materiel Command, in co-ordination with the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

A condition of its acceptance by the Army is that it travel at .8 of the speed of sound, which ranges from 660 miles an hour to 763 miles an hour, depending upon temperature and altitude.

Air Forces officers said yesterday that a speed of .75 of the speed of sound was made.

Chief engineer and designer of the plane was R. M. Stanley, of Morrow, Ga. Designer of the engine was John Petchnik, of Morristown, New Jersey.

The rocket plane is distinguished from a jet propulsion craft, Stanley explained, by the fact that it carries both its own fuel and oxygen.

Jet Relies On Atmosphere

A jet plane depends upon the atmosphere for its oxygen, and hence is unable to fly at the extreme height which can be obtained by a rocket plane.

The engines in the XS-1 burn ethyl alcohol. This particular plane carries 600 gallons, sufficient for only a few minutes' flight under full power. The plane is designed to fly at altitudes up to 80,000 feet.

Air Forces officers said it probably will be next summer before an attempt is made to vault the barrier of sonic speed. Translated into horsepower, Bell officials said, the thrust of the plane's four cylinders could be compared to 30,000 horsepower.

PERSONS PRESENT AT THE CLOSED COMMITTEE MEETING ON DISARMAMENT SAID TWO PRINCIPAL AGREEMENTS WERE ACHIEVED. THEY WERE SAID TO BE:

1. TO REDUCE ARMIES BY WITHDRAWING THEM FROM FOREIGN STATIONS AND IN EFFECT, DISBANDING THEM WHEN THEY REACHED HOME. THIS WOULD NOT AFFECT FORCES ALREADY STATIONED ON HOME SOIL. RUSSIA WAS SAID TO HAVE INSISTED ON THIS POINT WHILE THE BRITISH OPPOSED IT.

2. TO GIVE THE SECURITY COUNCIL A VIRTUAL FREE HAND TO SET UP SUCH BODIES AS ARE NECESSARY TO CONTROL AND INSPECT ARMS REGULATIONS.

THE BRITISH ON THIS SECOND POINT GAVE UP THEIR DEMAND THAT THE ORGANIZATIONS ACT INDEPENDENTLY AND ACCEPTED THE PROVISION THAT THEY BE WITHIN THE "FRAMEWORK" OF THE COUNCIL. RUSSIA ON THIS POINT LOST ITS FIGHT TO HAVE TWO DISTINCT AND SPECIFIC COMMISSIONS ESTABLISHED, ONE TO DEAL WITH REGULATIONS ON ATOMIC WEAPONS AND THE OTHER TO DEAL WITH GENERAL REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS.

THE UNITED STATES WAS SAID TO FEEL THAT THE SECURITY COUNCIL SHOULD HAVE SUFFICIENT LEEWAY TO SET UP WHATEVER CONTROL ORGANIZATIONS IT DEEMS NECESSARY FOR THE PROBLEM AT HAND. THEY POINTED OUT IT MIGHT DESIRE TO ESTABLISH ONE ORGANIZATION FOR ATOMIC WEAPONS, ANOTHER FOR ROCKET WEAPONS, AND A THIRD FOR OTHER ARMAMENTS.

ONE DELEGATE SAID AFTER THE MEETING THAT "PROGRESS" HAD BEEN MADE AND THAT HE EXPECTED THE DRAFTING GROUP TO FINISH ITS TASK QUICKLY TOMORROW.

THE U.N. PRESS DEPARTMENT REPORTED THAT THE COMMITTEE FINALLY AGREED ON THIS PROCEDURE ON TROOP REDUCTIONS:

1. THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY WOULD RECOMMEND TO THE MEMBER GOVERNMENTS TO WITHDRAW FORCES FROM EX-ENEMY TERRITORIES ACCORDING TO THE OCCUPATION NEEDS.

2. THE ASSEMBLY WOULD RECOMMEND THE WITHDRAWAL WITHOUT DELAY OF FORCES STATIONED "IN THE TERRITORIES OF MEMBER STATES WITHOUT THEIR FREE CONSENT EXPRESSED IN TREATIES AND AGREEMENTS OR ANY ARRANGEMENTS CONSISTENT WITH THE CHARTER AND NOT IN CONTRADICTION WITH INTERNATIONAL ARRANGEMENTS AND AGREEMENTS. THIS PROVISION WAS BACKED IN EARLIER DEBATE BY EGYPT AND INDIA.

3. THE ASSEMBLY WOULD RECOMMEND A REDUCTION OF NATIONAL ARMED FORCES CORRESPONDING TO THE WITHDRAWAL FROM ABROAD, AND A GENERAL PROGRESSIVE AND BALANCED REDUCTION OF NATIONAL ARMED FORCES.

SOURCES WHO LISTENED TO THE DEBATE IN THE COMMITTEE SAID THIS THIRD POINT WAS INTERPRETED TO MEAN THAT TROOPS BROUGHT HOME FROM FOREIGN DUTY WOULD BE DISBANDED WHEN THEY REACHED HOME SOIL.

THIS SECTION, WHICH MADE UP PARAGRAPH 4 OF THE RESOLUTION, ALSO TIED UP THE QUESTION OF A U.N. POLICE FORCE WITH DISARMAMENT.

IT STATED THAT THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, "REGARDING THE PROBLEMS OF SECURITY AND DISARMAMENT AS CLOSELY CONNECTED, RECOMMENDS TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL TO ACCELERATE THE PLACING AT ITS DISPOSAL THE ARMED FORCES MENTIONED IN ARTICLE 43 (PROVIDING FOR THE POLICE FORCE) OF THE CHARTER."

IN COMMITTEE DEBATE, THE BRITISH AND OTHER DELEGATIONS HAVE ARGUED THAT IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE FOR ANY NATION TO DETERMINE THE EXTENT OF DISARMAMENT UNTIL IT HAD BEEN TOLD WHAT FORCES IT WOULD HAVE TO FURNISH THE SECURITY COUNCIL FOR THE POLICE BODY SET UP UNDER THE CHARTER TO MAINTAIN INTERNATIONAL PEACE.

THE U.N. PRESS DEPARTMENT REPORTED THAT THE RESOLUTION AS APPROVED UNANIMOUSLY AT THIS STAGE CONTAINED THE FOLLOWING PRINCIPAL PARAGRAPHS:

1. THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY RECOMMENDS TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL PROMPT CONSIDERATION OF PRACTICAL MEASURES FOR GENERAL REGULATION AND REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS AND ARMED FORCES.

2. RECOGNIZING THAT AN ESSENTIAL STEP IS THE ELIMINATION OF ATOMIC WEAPONS AND ALL OTHER WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION, THE ASSEMBLY URGES EXPEDITIOUS FULFILMENT BY THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION OF ITS TASK. FURTHER, IT RECOMMENDS THAT SECURITY COUNCIL EXPEDITE CONSIDERATION OF A CONVENTION OR CONVENTIONS FOR CREATING AN INTERNATIONAL SYSTEM OF CONTROL AND INSPECTION FOR THE PROHIBITION OF ATOMIC AND OTHER WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION.

A33UN

3. THE ASSEMBLY, RECOGNIZING THAT EFFECTIVE SAFEGUARDS ARE ESSENTIA, RECOMMENDS ESTABLISHMENT "WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL AN INTERNATIONAL SYSTEM OF CONTROL AND INSPECTION AS MENTIONED IN PARAGRAPH 2, OPERATING THROUGH SPECIAL ORGANS WHICH SHALL DERIVE THEIR POWER AND STATUS FROM THE CONVENTION OR CONVENTIONS UNDER WHICH THEY ARE ESTABLISHED."

4. THIS DEALT WITH THE WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS FROM ABROAD AND THE REDUCTION OF ARMED FORCES.

5. THIS PARAGRAPH REMAINS TO BE COMPLETED. ORIGINALLY ADVANCED BY RUSSIA, IT WOULD HAVE THE ASSEMBLY CALL UPON ALL STATES TO SUBMIT INFORMATION REGARDING ARMED FORCES AND ARMAMENTS IN THEIR OWN TERRITORY TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL WHEN THE COUNCIL TAKES UP THE GENERAL REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS.

6. THE FINAL PARAGRAPH, ADOPTED UNANIMOUSLY, CALLS ON THE GOVERNMENTS OF ALL STATES TO RENDER EVERY POSSIBLE ASSISTANCE TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL AND THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION IN ORDER TO PROMOTE THE ESTABLISHMENT OF INTERNATIONAL PEACE AND SECURITY.

MEANWHILE, THE WHOLE U.N. ESTABLISHMENT HERE WAS DRIVING HARD TO COMPLETE ASSEMBLY BUSINESS BY FRIDAY. TWO PLENARY SESSIONS ARE SCHEDULED TOMORROW AS WELL AS A NUMBER OF COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

BY MAX HARRELSON — ARMS LIMITATION

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC. 10-(AP)-AGREEMENT ON ALL SECTIONS OF A UNITED NATIONS ARMS LIMITATION PLAN EXCEPT A FINAL PROVISION RELATING TO FREQUENCY OF REPORTS OF THE NUMBER OF TROOPS UNDER ARMS WAS REPORTED AUTHORITATIVELY TODAY AT THE END OF A 4 1/2-HOUR MEETING OF THE DRAFTING SUB-COMMITTEE.

AN INFORMED SOURCE SAID MUCH OF THE COMMITTEE DISCUSSION WAS WHETHER TO PROVIDE FOR "DEMOBILIZATION" OF TROOPS OR A "GENERAL REDUCTION OF ARMS." IT FINALLY WAS AGREED, THIS SOURCE ADDED, TO LEAVE THE LATTER PHRASE IN THE RESOLUTION.

GREAT BRITAIN WAS REPORTED TO BE PROPOSING VIGOROUSLY THAT PERIODIC REPORTS BE MADE ON TROOPS STRENGTHS WHILE RUSSIA WAS SAID TO BE STANDING FOR ONE REPORT ON THE NUMBERS OF TROOPS.

THE DRAFTING COMMITTEE WILL MEET AGAIN TOMORROW AT 9:30 A.M. (EST) AND THE SUB-COMMITTEE WHICH HAS BEEN DEBATING DISARMAMENT WAS CALLED TO MEET AT 10:30 A.M. (EST).

AGREEMENT WAS MADE VIRTUALLY CERTAIN AS THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA WERE REPORTED TO HAVE CONCURRED SUBSTANTIALLY ON ALL POINTS OF THE CONTROLVERSIAL INSPECTION AND CONTROL QUESTION. more

30 24-6869

THIS INFORMATION CAME FROM AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES AS AN 8-NATION DRAFTING COMMITTEE WORKED BEHIND CLOSED DOORS IN AN EFFORT TO WORK OUT A RESOLUTION ACCEPTABLE TO BOTH RUSSIA AND THE UNITED STATES.

AN INFORMANT SAID THE DRAFTING GROUP HAD HURDLED THE LAST MAJOR OBSTACLE WHEN RUSSIA AGREED TO DROP HER INSISTENCE THAT THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR CONTROLS AND INSPECTION BE VESTED IN TWO COMMISSIONS ONE TO WATCH OVER ATOMIC WEAPONS AND THE OTHER TO DEAL WITH OTHER WEAPONS.

THE DELEGATES WERE SAID TO HAVE AGREED TO DROP THE REFERENCE TO THE TWO COMMISSIONS AND PROVIDE SIMPLY FOR AN INTERNATIONAL SYSTEM OF CONTROL. THIS WOULD MEET UNITED STATES DEMANDS THAT THE DETAILS OF THE INSPECTION AND CONTROL MACHINERY SHOULD BE WORKED OUT LATER.

THE DRAFTING COMMITTEE WAS EXPECTED TO SUBMIT ITS REPORT TO A 20-NATION SUB-COMMITTEE AT 2:30 P.M (EST) FOR APPROVAL BY THE LARGER GROUP. IT WILL THEN GO TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S POLITICAL COMMITTEE AND FINALLY TO THE ASSEMBLY ITSELF FOR FINAL ACTION.

AS THE DRAFTING COMMITTEE WENT INTO SESSION THE CONTROL AND INSPECTION MACHINERY HAD CONSTITUTED THE ONLY MAJOR POINT OF DISAGREEMENT.

AN INFORMANT WHO WOULD NOT BE IDENTIFIED SAID THAT THE UNITED STATES DESIRED THAT THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN ITS DISARMAMENT RESOLUTION LEAVE A FREE HAND TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL IN SETTING UP THE INSPECTION AND CONTROL ORGANIZATIONS. THE UNITED STATES, IT WAS SAID, DOES NOT DESIRE THAT THE RESOLUTION LAY DOWN SPECIFIC DECISIONS ON THE NUMBER OF ORGANIZATIONS OR THEIR NAMES.

THIS SOURCE SAID THAT RUSSIA HAS INSISTED THAT THE RESOLUTION SPECIFICALLY PROVIDE FOR A COMMISSION FOR CONTROLLING THE EXECUTION OF DECISIONS TAKEN ON THE REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS AND A SECOND COMMISSION FOR CONTROLLING THE DECISION ON PROHIBITING ATOMIC ENERGY FOR MILITARY PURPOSES.

THE UNITED STATES WAS SAID TO FEEL THAT THE SECURITY COUNCIL SHOULD HAVE A FREE HAND IN ORDER TO SET UP MORE THAN TWO COMMISSIONS IF IT WAS FOUND TO BE NECESSARY.

BOTH THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA ARE AGREED THAT THERE SHALL BE NO VETO WITHIN THE COMMISSIONS, THAT THEY SHALL WORK BY MAJORITY DECISIONS ON THEIR DAY-TO-DAY TASKS. THE VETO WILL REMAIN IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL, HOWEVER, AS THAT BODY HAS THE FINAL SAY ON ANY SANCTIONS THAT MIGHT BE VOTED AS A RESULT OF ANY VIOLATIONS DISCOVERED BY THE CONTROL COMMISSIONS.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE WAS DRIVING HARD FOR AN ACCEPTABLE RESOLUTION ON DISARMAMENT. A NUMBER OF THE DELEGATES FELT THAT THE DISARMAMENT PROPOSAL IS THE PRINCIPAL CONCRETE MATTER THAT THIS ASSEMBLY HAS YET CONSIDERED.

THE NOON MEETING OF THE SUB-COMMITTEE WAS DELAYED AS THE DRAFTING COMMITTEE CONTINUED TO WORK BEHIND CLOSED DOORS IN AN EFFORT TO RESOLVE THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE U.S. AND RUSSIAN DELEGATIONS.

REPORTS COMING FROM THE CONFERENCE ROOM, HOWEVER, INDICATED THAT SOME PROGRESS WAS BEING MADE.

U.N.-CONNALLY

NEW YORK, DEC.10-(AP)-SEN.TOM CONNALLY (D-TEX) GAVE THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY A LAUGH TONIGHT IN DEBATE ON WHETHER DOMESTIC ARMED FORCES SHOULD BE COUNTED ALONG WITH THOSE ON FOREIGN SOIL IN A PROPOSED WORLD-WIDE TROOP CENSUS.

THE SOVIET UNION BALKED AT REPORTING TROOPS AT HOME.

"WHY," SAID CONNALLY, ARMS SWINGING, "THAT'S LIKE SAYING 'COME ON INTO THE HOUSE. TAKE A LOOK AROUND THE LIVING ROOM, TAKE A LOOK AROUND THE DINING ROOM, TAKE A LOOK IN THE KITCHEN. BUT YOU CAN'T GO UPSTAIRS. THAT'S WHERE THE LADIES ARE. THAT'S THE LIVING QUARTERS.'"

EVEN THOSE SECTIONS OF THE FLOOR WHICH ARE OFFICIALLY NON-ENGLISH-SPEAKING JOINED IN THE LAUGHTER. ONE OF THE MOST CONVULSED WAS VLADIMIR N.PAVLOV WHO TRANSLATES INTO SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV'S EAR.

NEW YORK, DEC.10-(AP)-RESUMPTION OF THE UNITED NATIONS DEBATE ON TROOP REPORTS WAS HELD UP FOR SEVERAL MINUTES TODAY WHILE THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN PLENARY SESSION WAITED FOR SEN.TOM CONNALLY (D-TEX), AMERICAN DELEGATE AND THE FIRST SPEAKER.

CONNALLY APOLOGIZED FOR BEING LATE AND SAID BECAUSE OF PRESS OF MEETINGS HE HAD NO LUNCH AND HAD HOPED TO HAVE "TIME FOR A GLASS OF MILK" BEFORE SPEAKING.

HE FOUND HE HADN'T TIME EVEN FOR THE MILK.

DAY U.N.-PLENARY

BY LARRY ALLOCK

NEW YORK, DEC. 10-(AP)-SEN. TOM CONNALLY (D-TEX) URGED THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY LATE TODAY TO APPROVE A WORLD-WIDE TROOP CENSUS COVERING FORCES ON HOME AND ALIEN SOIL AND CHIDED SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M. MOLOTOV FOR "VOTING AGAINST HIS OWN RESOLUTION." MOLOTOV AND HIS TOP FLIGHT STAFF LISTENED IMPASSIVELY.

CONNALLY, THE UNITED STATES DELEGATE TO THE POWERFUL POLITICAL COMMITTEE, NOTED THAT THE TROOP RESOLUTION HAS BEEN PASSED IN THAT BODY 34 TO 7 OVER RUSSIAN OPPOSITION. HE SPOKE BEFORE A PLENARY SESSION IN FLUSHING MEADOW PARK.

"CURIOUSLY ENOUGH THE SOVIET UNION INTRODUCED THE ORIGINAL RESOLUTION," CONNALLY SAID. "WE LOST THE SUPPORT OF MR. MOLOTOV WHEN THE UNITED STATES BROADENED IT TO INCLUDE HOME FORCES. HE (MOLOTOV) VOTED AGAINST HIS OWN RESOLUTION."

A16UA

"YOU WILL REDUCE THE EFFECTIVENESS OF THIS INFORMATION IF HOME TROOPS ARE NOT INCLUDED," HE SHOUTED.

"WE HAVE NO SKELETONS IN OUR CLOSET. WE WILL TELL THE WORLD ABOUT ALL OUR FORCES. WE DEMAND THAT OTHER COUNTRIES DO THE SAME."

PAUL HENRI-SPAAK, ASSEMBLY PRESIDENT, SUGGESTED THAT A DECISION ON THE ENTIRE QUESTION BE DEFERRED AND THAT THE NEW BRITISH PROPOSAL BE SENT TO THE 54-MEMBER U.N. SUB-COMMITTEE ON ARMS REDUCTION. THE BIG POWERS AGREED TO THIS AND THE MATTER WAS SENT TO THE SUB-COMMITTEE K WHERE SPAAK SAID HE HOPED IT COULD BE SETTLED WITHIN THE NEXT 24 HOURS AND BROUGHT BEFORE THE ASSEMBLY AGAIN.

MOST DELEGATES BELIEVED THE VETO WOULD OPERATE ONLY BEFORE THE VERIFICATION AND INSPECTION COMMISSION IS ESTABLISHED. ONCE THE COMMISSION IS ESTABLISHED, THEY SAID, THE VETO COULD NOT OPERATE SINCE THE MAJOR POWERS HAVE ALREADY AGREED THAT THE ARMS REDUCTION PROGRAM ONCE SET INTO OPERATION WOULD BE FREE OF THE VETO.

CONNALLY ALSO ASSAILED MOLOTOV'S PREVIOUS ARGUMENTS THAT REPORTS ON TROOPS AT HOME WOULD DELAY SUBMISSION OF DATA ON FORCES ABROAD.

HE SAID ARMS REDUCTION WAS BEING DISCUSSED IN THE POLITICAL COMMITTEE NOW IN REPLY TO RUSSIAN CONTENTIONS THAT INFORMATION ON HOME FORCES SHOULD BE MADE ONLY WHEN THE ARMS PROGRAM WENT INTO OPERATION.

THE TEXAN DECLARED "THERE IS NO QUESTION OF VETO BEING USEDSAPMCYM

THE TEXAN DECLARED "THERE IS NO QUESTION OF VETO BEING USED ON THIS SUBJECT."

CONNALLY ALSO REITERATED FLAT OPPOSITION OF THE UNITED STATES TO A BRITISH AMENDMENT PROVIDING FOR INSPECTIONS AND VERIFICATION OF TROOP REPORTS.

HE CONCLUDED, AMID APPLAUSE, BY SHOUTING TO THE DELEGATES:

"GIVE US A COMPLETE REPORT ON YOUR ARMIES WHEREVER THEY ARE. THIS IS WHAT WE WANT. I ASK YOU TO APPROVE THIS RESOLUTION."

THE SOVIET PROPOSAL MUSTERED ONLY THE SUPPORTING VOTES OF MEXICO AND POLAND, HOWEVER, AND THE COUNCIL DECIDED TO BEGIN DISCUSSIONS OF THE GREEK CHARGES ON THURSDAY. GREECE AND YUGOSLAVIA WERE INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE DEBATE AND BULGARIA AND ALBANIA TO MAKE DECLARATIONS.

LEV MEDVED OF THE SOVIET UKRAINE CHARGED THAT CONNALLY WAS ATTEMPTING TO DIVERT ATTENTION FROM TROOPS ON FOREIGN SOIL. THEN RENEWING SOVIET CONTENTIONS THAT INFORMATION OF ARMAMENTS ALSO SHOULD BE GIVEN, HE DECLARED:

"THE NUMBER OF TROOPS IS LESS IMPORTANT THAN THE NUMBER OF VESSELS, THE NUMBER OF ATOMIC BOMBS. HIROSHIMA WAS DESTROYED WITHOUT THE EHLP OF A SINGLE INFANTRYMAN."

MEDVED SAID RUSSIA, GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE AND CHINA ALREADY HAD LISTED IN DEBATE THE COUNTIRES WHERE THEY HAD TROOPS BUT THAT THE UNITED STATES "WAS HOLDING BACK INFORMATION."

SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A.GROMYKO RAISED HIS OBJECTION TO IMMEDIATE CONSIDERATION OF THE CASE A FEW MINUTES AFTER THE COUNCIL PRESIDENT, HERSCHEL V.JOHNSON OF THE UNITED STATES, HAD SUGGESTED THAT A REPRZ-SENTATIVE OF GREECE BE PERMITTED TO TAKE PART IN THE DISCUSSIONS.

JOHNSON SAID HE HAD RECEIVED REQUESTS FROM YUGOSLAVIA, BULGARIA AND ALBANIA FOR PERMISSION TO HAVE THEIR REPRESENTATIVES APPEAR BEFORE THE COUNCIL, AND ASKED THE DELEGATES WHETHER PERMISSION SHOULD BE GRANTED.

GROMYKO THEN SAID THESE COUNTRIES SHOULD NOT ONLY BE INVITED TO SEND REPRESENTATIVES, BUT THEY SHOULD BE HEARD BEFORE THE COUNCIL BEGAN ANY DISCUSSION OF THE SUBSTANCE OF THE COMPLAINT.

GREECE HAS CHARGED THAT ALL THREE OF THE COUNTRIES ALONG HER NORTHERN FRONTIER WERE CAUSING INTERNATIONAL FRICTION BY AIDING GUERRILLA FIGHTERS IN NORTHERN GREECE AND THAT THEIR ACTION WAS LIKELY TO LEAD TO A THREAT TO WORLD PEACE.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC 10-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS PERMANENT HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE, STILL DIVIDED IN SUPPORT OF THE EAST AND WEST COASTS AS LOCATION OF THE U.N.'S PERMANENT HOME, FOUND ITS EFFORTS TO REACH A DECISION STALLED TODAY BY A UNITED STATES MOVE TO POSTPONE ANY VERDICT UNTIL NEXT YEAR.

THE PROPOSAL TO DEFER DECISION UNTIL THE NEXT SESSION OF THE U.N. GENERAL ASSEMBLY PRESENTED LAST NIGHT BY CHIEF U.S. ELEGATE WARREN R. AUSTIN GOT A DECIDEDLY COOL RECEPTION FROM HIS FELLOW MEMBERS OF THE 54-NATION COMMITTEE, BUT NO VOTE WILL BE TAKEN ON IT UNTIL THE COMMITTEE'S NEXT MEETING, TENTATIVELY SET FOR TOMORROW.

THE COMMITTEE BEGAN ITS SESSION YESTERDAY WITH THE EXPECTATION OF MAKING AT LEAST A DECISION ON WHETHER THE PERMANENT PEACE CAPITAL SHOULD BE LOCATED AT THE PRESIDIO IN SAN FRANCISCO ON THE EAST COAST, BUT AUSTIN'S MOVE FOR POSTPONEMENT OF THE ENTIRE QUESTION PROVOKED

FRESH DEBATE WHICH PREVENTED ANY VOTING.

ONLY L.D.WILGRESS OF CANADA SUPPORTED THE AMERICAN MOVE TO LET THE SITE ISSUE RIDE ANOTHER YEAR. HE SAID THAT THE U.S. GOVERNMENT MUST HAVE SUFFICIENTLY GOOD REASONS FOR ASKING POSTPONEMENT AND THAT THE COMMITTEE SHOULD RESPECT THE WISHES OF A GOVERNMENT THAT IS TO BE HOST TO THE UNITED NATIONS.

AUSTIN HAD ANNOUNCED HIS INTENTION OF MOVING POSTPONEMENT AT THE AFTERNOON SESSION, SAYING HE WOULD ASK FURTHER EXAMINATION OF EAST COAST SITES, ELIMINATING SAN FRANCISCO FROM CONSIDERATION. BUT WHEN HE PRODUCED HIS MOTION AT THE NIGHT SESSION, HE HAD BOWED TO THE DEMANDS OF SAUDI ARABIA AND OTHERS THAT SAN FRANCISCO BE RETAINED IN THE LIST OF POSSIBLE SITES.

AUSTIN'S PROPOSAL WOULD KEEP BEFORE THE U.N. THE PRESIDIO AT SAN FRANCISCO AND THE BELMONT-ROXBOROUGH AREA IN PHILADELPHIA, THE TWO SITES RECOMMENDED AS "OF EQUAL MERIT" BY A HEADQUARTERS SUB-COMMITTEE, BUT WOULD ADD POSSIBLE SITES IN THE NEW YORK AND BOSTON AREA.

HE PROPOSED THAT BETWEEN NOW AND JULY 1, 1947, THE U.N. SECRETARIAT MAKE STUDIES OF POSSIBLE SITES IN THE NEW YORK AND BOSTON AREAS AND PREPARE A RECOMMENDATION OF A SPECIFIC SITE IN EACH OF THE TWO WHICH MIGHT BE VOTED ON ALONG WITH THE PRESIDIO AND ROXBOROUGH BELMONT.

B11 (S E C G)

P.N.SAPTU OF INDIA LED THE ATTACK ON POSTPONEMENT, DEMANDING, "WHY CAN'T WE REACH A DECISION NOW? PRACTICALLY ALL THE SPEAKERS DURING OUR LONG DISCUSSIONS HAVE SAID IT WAS OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE TO REACH A DECISION IN THIS SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY. WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO MAKE US CHANGE OUR MINDS? WE ARE ENTITLED TO KNOW IF ANYTHING HAS HAPPENED TO REQUIRE A POSTPONEMENT."

KENNETH YOUNGER OF GREAT BRITAIN VOICED AGREEMENT WITH SAPTU, SAYING THE CALM HE TRIED TO MAINTAIN IN THE DEBATE WAS "MINGLED WITH EXASPERATION" AND ASKING, "ARE WE NEVER TO KNOW WHERE WE STAND? ARE WE NEVER, HAVING JUST GOT UP TO THE FENCE, NEVER TO GET OVER IT?"

YOUNGER DECLARED FAILURE TO MAKE A DECISION DURING THE CURRENT ASSEMBLY SESSION WOULD BRING A BAD PUBLIC REACTION.

"NOBODY ADMIRES A BODY, PARTICULARLY A PARLIAMENTARY BODY, THAT SUFFERS FROM CHRONIC INDECISION," HE SAID.

THAT VIEW WAS SUPPORTED BY THE DELEGATES OF NEW ZEALAND, IRAQ AND COLOMBIA, WHO SAID PUBLIC OPINION WOULD TURN AGAINST THE U.N. IF ITS MEMBERS COULD NOT, IN MORE THAN A YEAR, DECIDE WHERE ITS HOME WOULD BE.

CHAIRMAN EDUARDO ZULETA ANGEL OF COLOMBIA, ASKED MEMBERS TO COME TO THE NEXT COMMITTEE MEETING PREPARED TO VOTE AND WON AGREEMENT THAT SPEECHES AT THAT MEETING SHOULD BE LIMITED TO THREE MINUTES.

NEW YORK, DEC.10-(AP)-MAYOR ROGER D.LAPHAM OF SAN FRANCISCO TONIGHT ASKED THE UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE TO VOTE DOWN A UNITED STATES PROPOSAL THAT WOULD DEFER FOR A YEAR THE SELECTION OF A PERMANENT PEACE CAPITAL SITE.

IN A LETTER SUBMITTED TO ALL THE 54 DELEGATIONS, LAPHAM CRITICIZED WARREN R.AUSTIN, CHIEF AMERICAN DELEGATE, FOR REVERSING AN ORIGINAL DEMAND FOR A DECISION AT THIS SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

THE MAYOR ALSO ASKED THAT THE FOUR CITIES UNDER CONSIDERATION--SAN FRANCISCO, NEW YORK, PHILADELPHIA AND BOSTON--BE VOTED ON SEPARATELY AND THAT THERE BE NO PRELIMINARY EAST-WEST BALLOT AS FIRST ADVOCATED BY THE UNITED STATES.

THE COMMITTEE WILL MEET TOMORROW TO TAKE UP AUSTIN'S RESOLUTION WHICH ASKS THAT THE COMMITTEE PUT OFF A DECISION UNTIL NEXT SEPTEMBER'S ASSEMBLY MEETING, MEANWHILE ASSIGNING EXPERTS TO RECOMMEND ONE SITE FROM EACH OF THE FOUR CITIES FOR FINAL CONSIDERATION.

"THIS LETTER IS WRITTEN TO EXPRESS THE HOPE THAT THE RESOLUTION SUBMITTED BY SENATOR AUSTIN AND NOW BEFORE YOU WILL BE VOTED DOWN," LAPHAM WROTE.

"I AGREE WITH THE OPINION EXPRESSED BY CERTAIN DELEGATES THAT TO DELAY FINAL DETERMINATION OF THE SITE WOULD SERIOUSLY AFFECT THE GENERAL WELFARE OF THE UNITED NATIONS AND WOULD BE MOST DISTURBING TO THE PERMANENT SECRETARIAT WHO HAVE TO MAKE THEIR OWN PLANS FOR THEIR FUTURE.

"IT IS MY CONSIDERED OPINION THAT IRRESPECTIVE OF WHETHER THE PRESIDIO, PHILADELPHIA OR THE WHITE PLAINS-HARRISON SITE (NEW YORK) IS FINALLY CHOSEN, THE CHOICE SHOULD BE MADE BEFORE THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY ADJOURNS THIS MONTH."

LAPHAM REITERATED THAT HE CONSIDERED SAN FRANCISCO'S PRESIDIO "THE BEST LOCATION FOR THE LONG RANGE GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT OF THE UNITED NATIONS."

SAN FRANCISCO, DEC.10-(AP)-THE SAN FRANCISCO COUNTY COUNCIL OF THE VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS EXPRESSED ITS OPPOSITION TODAY TO PROPOSED USE OF THE SAN FRANCISCO PRESIDIO AS A PERMANENT HOME FOR THE UNITED NATIONS.

SAN FRANCISCO'S CHANCES OF BECOMING THE HOME OF UN BECAME VERY SLIM LAST WEEK WHEN RUSSIA AND BRITAIN DEMANDED A SITE ON THE EASTERN SEABOARD. THE UNITED STATES ALSO HAS INDICATED IT FAVORS AN EASTERN SITE.

THE VFW COUNCIL, SAYING IT REPRESENTED 32 LOCAL POSTS AND MORE THAN 10,000 MEMBERS, WENT ON RECORD AS "OPPOSED TO THE DISMANTLING OR REMOVAL OF MILITARY INSTALLATIONS THAT ARE OF SUCH VITAL IMPORTANCE TO THE PROPER DEFENSE OF THIS COUNTRY, FOR USE BY THE UNITED NATIONS."

THE RESOLUTION ASKED THAT THE PRESIDENT, WHO ASSURED UN OF THE AVAILABILITY OF THE PRESIDION, RECONSIDER HIS ACTION "TO THE END THAT THE PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO BE LEFT UNTOUCHED."

IT ASKED ALSO "THAT THE ARMY BE ALLOWED TO REMAIN IN CONTROL, THAT THEY CONTINUE AN EFFICIENT EFENSE OF THIS COUNTRY; AND THAT THE SLEEP OF THOSE COMRADES IN THE NATIONAL CEMETERY (AT THE PRESIDIO) BE UNDISTURBED FOR ALL TIME."

U.N. -- SIDEBAR

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC 10-(AP)-THE POWER OF WORLD PUBLIC OPINION IS BEING SHOWN MORE AND MORE IN THE WORK OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

DIPLOMATS OFTEN SPEAKIOF THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE AND HOW THE UNITED NATIONS MUST BE GUIDED BY IT WITHOUT GIVE EVIDENCE, SOMETIMES, THAT THEY HAVE KEPT THEIR EAR TO THE GROUND.

BUT IT REMAINED FOR THE ACTING CHIEF BRITISH DELEGATE, SIR HARTLEY SHAWCROSS, TO BRING THE DELEGATES UP WITH A START DURING AN INVOLVED DISCUSSION OF SECURITY FORCES AND DISARMAMENT IN THE U.N. SUB-COMMITTEE CONSIDERING DISARMAMENT YESTERDAY.

SHAWCROSS SPOKE AT A MOMENT WHEN A RECOMMENDATION THAT THE U.N. STATES UNDERTAKE THE PROGRESSIVE AND BALANCED WITHDRAWAL OF FORCES STATIONED IN NON-NATIONAL TERRITORIES HAD BEEN LOST BECAUSE OF A TIE VOTE, 8 TO 8, IN THE SUB-COMMITTEE OF 20 DELEGATES.

"GENTLEMEN," HE SAID, "WE ARE MAKING OURSELVES A COMPLETE LAUGHING STOCK."

SHAWCROSS SAID THE DELEGATES SHOULD CONSIDER WHAT THE NEWSPAPERS WOULD SAY "TOMORROW MORNING" ABOUT THAT MEETING.

ONCE IN AN EARLIER DISCUSSION IN THE POLITICAL COMMITTEE SHAWCROSS HAD URGED THE DELEGATES NOT TO MAKE THEMSELVES A "LAUGHING STOCK."

BEFORE SHAWCROSS TOOK UP THE CUDGELS, PAUL-HENRI SPAAK, ASSEMBLY PRESIDENT, BECAME VISIBLY ANNOYED AT THE TURN OF EVENTS AND QUITE SEVERELY CHIDED THE DELEGATES.

SPAAK, WHO HAS BEEN OFTEN COMMENDED BY VARIOUS DELEGATES FOR HIS EXPERT HANDLING OF COMMITTEES AND THE ASSEMBLY ITSELF, EXPLODED AFTER ABOUT TWO HOURS OF WRANGLING.

"I HAVE SEVEN SPEAKERS ON MY LIST NOW," HE SAID. "AFTER MAKING A GOOD START AT THE FIRST TWO DAYS OF OUR MEETINGS, WE ARE NOW MARKING TIME.. I WONDER WHETHER WE EVER WILL MAKE PROGRESS IF WE GO ON LIKE THIS."

AFTER TELLING THE DELEGATES THAT THEY ARE BRINGING UP TOO MANY IRREVELANT TOPICS, SPAAK WARNED THAT "WE WILL CONCLUDE BY LEAVING THE IMPRESSION WE CANNOT REACH OUR GOAL."

SPAAK SAID THE COMMITTEEMEN WERE "WASTING" TOO MUCH TIME.

ARGENTINA, BRITAIN, SYRIA AND THE UNITED STATES QUICKLY COMPLIMENTED SPAAK FOR HIS LECTURE.

IN VARIOUS OTHER WAYS THE DELEGATES HAVE SHOWN THAT THEY ARE CONSCIOUS OF WHAT THE PEOPLE AT HOME ARE THINKING. THERE ARE NUMEROUS REFERENCES TO WORLD OPINION--AND QUITE A FEW APPEALS TO IT, TOO.

3. THE BIG FOUR STALLED ON A QUESTION WHICH MOLOTOV SAID SHOULD BE APPLIED TO ALL FIVE SATELLITE TREATIES, THAT IS, WHETHER CIVIL AIRCRAFT IN DISTRESS SHOULD HAVE THE RIGHT OF LANDING FOR GAS AND REPAIRS GUARANTEED BY TREATY. BYRNES AND BEVIN SAID IT SHOULD BE IN THE TREATIES, AND MOLOTOV SAID NO, THAT THE MAIN THING WAS THAT HE DID NOT WANT A LOT OF PRIVATE PLANES MAKING DISTRESS LANDINGS.

INDICATIONS WERE THAT THE MEMBERS WERE PLANNING ON WINDING UP THEIR WORK HERE ON FRIDAY. BEVIN SAID HE WAS PLANNING TO SAIL SATURDAY.

LONDON, DEC.10-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE DECLINED TODAY TO SAY HOW FAR ARMS STANDARDIZATION TALKS BETWEEN UNITED STATES AND BRITISH MILITARY EXPERTS HAD PROGRESSED OR WHETHER THE JOINT USE OF NAVAL AND AIR BASES BY THE U.S. AND THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH AND EMPIRE WAS CONTEMPLATED.

QUESTIONED ALONG THESE LINES IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS BY LEFTWING LABORITE KONNI ZILLIACUS, WHO SAID THERE WAS "APPREHENSION AND RISING DISQUIET ON BOTH SIDES OF THE ATLANTIC AS TO THE PRESENT SITUATION," THE PRIME MINISTER SAID:

"I DO NOT THINK THERE IS ANY APPREHENSION EXCEPT I GATHER THAT THE QUESTION ASKED BY MR.ZILLIACUS IS APT TO CAUSE APPREHENSION IN SOME QUARTERS."

ATTLEE REFERRED HIS INTERROGATOR TO DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER HERBERT MORRISON'S STATEMENT YESTERDAY THAT "INFORMAL EXCHANGES" OF VIEWS WERE TAKING PLACE BETWEEN THE U.S. AND BRITAIN ON THE QUESTION OF CONTINUING WARTIME STANDARDIZATION OF WEAPONS.

MORRISON SAID THE DISCUSSIONS WERE GOING ON IN THE INTERESTS OF ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY. HE EMPHASIZED THAT NO DECISIONS HAD BEEN REACHED.

ZILLIACUS SAID MORRISON--AND ATTLEE HIMSELF IN A NOV.18 STATEMENT --HAD FAILED TO STATE "WHETHER ANY MEASURES ARE IN CONTEMPLATION FOR THE STANDARDIZATION OF TRAINING MANUALS, EXCHANGE OF OFFICERS AND JOINT USE OF NAVAL AND AIR BASES BY THE U.S.A. AND THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH AND EMPIRE."

THE PRIME MINISTER SAID MORRISON'S STATEMENT SET OUT THE PRINCIPLES "WHICH GOVERN THE POLICY OF THE GOVERNMENT." HE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT PUBLISHED STATEMENTS TO THE EFFECT THAT CANADIAN PRIME MINISTER W.L. MACKENZIE KING RECOMMENDED ARMS STANDARDIZATION WERE "WITHOUT FOUNDATION."

(AUTHORITATIVE BRITISH SOURCES TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS LAST OCT.30 THAT MACKENZIE KING "BROACHED" THE SUBJECT AT THE EMPIRE CONFERENCE IN LONDON IN APRIL).

LABORITE RONALD CHAMBERLAIN ASKED THE PRIME MINISTER WHETHER, IN VIEW OF THE 20-YEAR ANGLO-RUSSIAN FRIENDSHIP TREATY, PARALLEL TALKS ON ARMS STANDARDIZATION WERE GOING ON BETWEEN BRITAIN AND THE SOVIET UNION.

"WE WOULD WELCOME ANY EXCHANGE OF VIEWS WITH RUSSIA, BUT WE HAVE NOT BEEN VERY SUCCESSFUL IN GETTING ANY FROM THAT SIDE," ATTLEE REPLIED.

TODAY'S QUESTION AND ANSWER EXCHANGE FOLLOWED A SHARP ATTACK ON MORRISON IN THE COMMUNIST DAILY WORKER, WHICH SAID: "AN ARMS UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN TWO GREAT POWERS MUST HAVE A POLITICAL AND MILITARY SIGNIFICANCE. TO DESCRIBE IT AS AN ECONOMY MEASURE IS NOTHING BUT A TRIVIAL ATTEMPT TO MISLEAD PARLIAMENT."

A PRAVDA WRITER, DAVID ZASLAVSKY, DECLARED YESTERDAY SCHUMACHER WAS UNDERMINING GERMAN DEMOCRACY. SCHUMACHER IMMEDIATELY COUNTERED BY SAYING: "I HAVE A FEELING THAT IN CERTAIN CIRCLES IN MOSCOW I WOULD BE FORGIVEN FOR BEING A FUEHRER BUT NEVER FOR BEING A DEMOCRAT."

THE FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN ADDED: "BRITAIN, WITH FRANCE AND THE DOMINIONS, SHARED THE HONOR OF TAKING PART IN THE STRUGGLE AGAINST NATIONALIST GERMANY AT A TIME WHEN FIGHTERS FOR FREEDOM WERE FEW. THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT NOW HAVE NO INTENTION OF REVIVING THE SINGLE PARTY OR DICTATORSHIP SYSTEM IN GERMANY. NOTHING IS FURTHER FROM OUR MINDS THAN THE CREATION OF A NEW FUEHRER."

Arms, Troop Census Plans Bog Down in UN as Reds Reject Compromise Offer

CONCRETE ACTION HELD UNLIKELY AT PRESENT SESSION

Assembly Turns to Other Matters; Many Issues Still Undecided.

VETO DEBATE TODAY

Spaak Limits Talk on Controversial Issue to Six Speakers Tonight

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. — (AP) Soviet Russia was reported authoritatively tonight to have rejected completely an attempt to untangle by compromise the snarled world troop census and arms reduction questions.

This apparently ended hopes of Untied Nations delegations that some concrete action on disarming would be taken at this session of the assembly, now nearing final adjournment.

An informant who would not permit identification said that Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Russian deputy foreign minister, told a secret meeting of a drafting committee on disarming that his delegation could not accept the compromise offered earlier today by Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium, president of the assembly.

Bogged Down

Disarmament and troop census thus were completely bogged down. The assembly in plenary session at Flushing Meadow Park turned to the less controversial question of cereals, with a long slate remaining to be cleared on a variety of questions.

In a sudden burst of speed, the assembly raced through unanimous approval of 15 items and approached consideration of the oldest and perhaps most controversial issue of all—the veto.

Resolutions passed dealt with a variety of non-controversial subjects including food, civil rights and international law.

At this point Vishinsky asked for delay on the veto debate until tomorrow and Spaak agreed on condition that the speaker list be limited to three for and three against. The assembly then recessed at 7 p. m. to take an hour for dinner.

At its night session, the assembly agreed to a food relief plan for 1947 under which an international committee will assess needs and then pass on the information to nations which will allocate food surpluses as they wish. The question of post-UNRRA relief was a subject of four weeks of debate in committee but tonight there was no opposition.

At Lake Succes ealier in the day John D. Rockefeller, Jr., offered to give the United Nations $8,500,000 to acquire a skyscraper capital site in mid-town Manhattan. A sub-committee was delegated to investigate and report tomorrow.

Spaak apparently gave up his sustained efforts to reach a successful conclusion on the arms limitation question. He frankly told the disarmament sub-committee that his proposal had not been accepted.

He did not name the nation which rejected it but it was learned later that Vishinsky said briefly that Russia could not agree.

The situation tonight was substantially this:

1. The sub-committee on disarmament meets tomorrow at 10:00 a. m., E.S.T., at Flushing Meadow to continue indefinitely discussions on a resolution submitted today by its drafting committee. Several Canadian amendments await action and others appear certain to arise.

2. A British-Russian "gentlemen's agreement" for a world-wide count of troops and armaments will be taken up by the sub-committee after it disposes of the arms limitation resolution—if it does at this session.

3. Influential delegates were openly pessimistic of achieving any action toward disarmament at this session. There also was the possibility that the troop and armaments census would die in committee.

U. S. to Give Arms Stand

It was announced that Secretary of State James F. Byrnes would state the United States position on the arms question and troop census at an "appropriate" time and thus would appear before the assembly for the first time.

Mr. Justice Chagla of India, protesting against amendments being submitted to the drafting group's resolution, appealed to the delegates to approve the draft now. Dr. Jose Arce of Argentina also urged the sub-committee to vote on the resolution without amendment but Sir Hartley Shawcross of Great Britain objected.

Shawcross told the sub-committee that all would have been better if there had been more of a spirit of compromise in the assembly Tuesday night.

But, he added, "Mr. Vishinsky wants to throw the whole thing over to the security council and we want to maintain the rights of the general assembly."

Vishinsky replied that Shawcross had made a "very bold assertion" but that he did not pursue the matter.

Members of the U. S. delegation to the U. N. atomic energy commission were following the whole arms talks closely but with no comment.

Some sources have indicated that the Anglo-Russian "gentlemen's agreement, providing for an accounting of armaments, would smoke out United States atomic secrets almost immediately.

However, it was noted that the McMahon Act in the United States makes it illegal to divulge atomic secrets and that such a step undoubtedly would meet considerable opposition in congress unless adequate and effective safeguards were established.

The main battle in the drafting committee on disarmament at Lake Success this morning was over the British proposal made last night to the assembly for immediate establishment of an international supervisory commission, operating within the framework of the security council but outside the council veto, to verify and confirm on the spot all information submitted in accordance with the proposed census of troops and armaments.

Early Compromise

The arms compromise was reported authoritatively to have occurred this morning at a warm session of the 8-nation drafting committee appointed by the sub-committee to draw up an acceptable resolution on disarmament.

The drafting committee was said to have agreed unanimously on such a resolution after Russian and British concessions opened the way.

The committee met with only one paragraph to be settled. This involved a Russian demand that troop information to be submitted to the Security Council when it begins consideration of disarmament should be given in one chunk and a British proposition that these reports should be made periodically.

Vishinsky offered to withdraw his proposition on the basis of the "gentlemen's agreement," saying he wished it considered instead in connection with Shawcross' proposal.

Shawcross then withdrew the British demand for periodic reports and the resolution was adopted unanimously.

At this point Spaak went into action.

He proposed that the whole resolution on troop and armament census before the assembly on accounting of troops and armaments be dropped.

The assembly president said that the political committee in its long discussion on counting troops at home and abroad had gone more and more into the question of disarmament.

He said that the matter of whether one brigade was here or was over there was not important, but that it was important that everyone had agreed on a reduction of arms and on inspections to check on whether these regulations were being carried out.

Then the assembly president, who has become known in U. N. circles as a prime mover of compromise settlements, suggested that a paragraph be added to the disarmament resolution. This paragraph was said authoritatively to be along this line:

Spaak's Proposal

"It (the General Assembly) further recommends that each government concerned and the Security Council are invited to report to the next session of the General Assembly (now planned for September, 1947) on the measures taken to carry out these recommendations."

It was reported that these recommendations would apply this way:

1. To conventions among the nations prohibiting atomic weapons, other weapons of mass destruction, other arms, and such other weapons as it may be necessary to cover in a disarmament program.

2. To establish an international system of control and inspections to regulate these conventions.

3. To the withdrawal of troops stationed in former enemy territories.

4. To the withdrawal of forces stationed in the territories of member states without their free consent expressed in treaties and agreements or any arrangements consistent with the charter and not in contradiction with international conventions and agreements.

5. To the general reduction of national armed forces.

This in effect calls for implementing paragraph four of the General Arms resolution which was drawn up for the sub-committee.

Shawcross and Vishinsky said they agreed in principle with the Spaak proposal. Vishinsky said that in view of the "gentlemen's agreement" between Molotov and Shawcross last night he would have to ask his chief whether this solution could be accepted.

Shawcross also accepted in principle, but added that he would have to consult the chief of his delegation, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

U. S. Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex), United States representative, made no comment, but Spaak told the committee that Connally would have to consult his delegation. The United States is known however, to be opposed to any verification of a troop census as asked originally by Britain.

It was reported authoritatively that the United States estimated it would require about $1,000,000 to compile the information called for under the report. In addition, the United States has insisted throughout that it would not give up its atomic secrets except by progressive stages as sufficient, iron-clad controls are established.

Small Nations Will Give Views on German Treaty

Board Will Meet in London January 14 to Hear Opinions

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(AP) The Big-Power Foreign Ministers Council, following up a major concession by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, agreed tonight that a commission of deputies should meet in London Jan. 14 to start hearing small nation views on a German peace settlement.

In their busiest session to date the Big Four also decided these other important points in connection with the German and Austrian treaties:

Agenda for Moscow Meeting

1. Laid down a six-point agenda for the Moscow foreign ministers' meeting next March on the German settlement—including a provision with the agreement of Molotov for consideration of U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes' proposal for a 40-year allied pact to keep Germany disarmed.

2. Decided that a commission of Big Four deputies should be named on the Austrian as well as the German settlement and that if any small nations wanted to be heard on Austria prior to the Moscow meeting this commission could hear them. It will also meet in London. Yugoslavia has already asked to file its views on Austria.

3. Planned to wind up their peace-making sessions here with a final meeting beginning at 4 p.m. (EST) tomorrow. Molotov and others are planning to sail Saturday for Europe on the Liner Queen Elizabeth.

4. Agreed without putting it on the formal Moscow agenda that Byrnes' proposal to limit the size of occupation forces in Europe would be discussed at the Russian capital. Molotov said he preferred to handle the matter that way rather than have it on the agenda.

On another point, Byrnes said China had requested to be associated with the work on the German treaty and he thought that a Chinese representative should be invited to join the Moscow conference. Molotov said he considered this contrary to the Potsdam decisions that only the countries which signed the German surrender should participate in drafting the treaties.

Sign Treaties in Paris

At an earlier session today, the four foreign ministers decided that the five satellite peace treaties which they have completed here will be signed by their representatives and by delegates from Italy, the Balkan states and Finland in Paris on Feb. 10.

Persons reporting on today's Big Four meeting said the talk on China indicated an assumption on the part of the foreign ministers—as Byrnes had suggested early this year—that eventually there would be a peace conference on Germany to act on the drafts of the German treaty which will be at least partially outlined at Moscow.

Such a conference would give small nations an opportunity to air their views on the whole German question.

Molotov had tentatively argued that no deputies should be appointed and no hearings held until after the Moscow session was started. Byrnes had made it plain that in such circumstances he would not even go to Moscow.

Diplomatic representatives of the western powers, therefore, considered it a major gain for speedy peacemaking when Molotov agreed tonight to the London hearings. Nations which have asked to be heard already include Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Brazil, Yugoslavia, Denmark and the British dominions.

Adoption of the six-point agenda went through without major dispute.

A discussion on the question of reparations was brought up when British Foreign Secretary Bevin said there should be provision for finding out from the Russians just what removable goods they have taken from Germany as reparations. Molotov said that no special listing was needed for this item, that when the Moscow conference reached that point Russia would produce all the necessary information in the status of reparations.

Moscow Meeting Agenda

Here, according to persons who participated in the council session, is the six-point agenda for the Moscow meeting, subject to redrafting to smooth out possible language irregularities.

1. Consideration of a report of the Allied control authority which is requested to submit data on the following subjects:

A. Report on the work of the control council since its creation on the following points: demilitarization, denazification, democratization, economic principles, reparations.

B. Report on the establishment of control administration and other problems connected with the economic, financial and political situation of Germany.

C. Liquidation of Prussia.

2. Form and scope of the provisional political organization of Germany.

3. Preparation of a peace treaty with Germany.

A. Consideration of the report of the deputies for Germany on: (1), procedure; (2), views of interested states.

B. Basic directives pertaining to peace treaties: (1), frontiers; (2), proposals on the Ruhr and Rhineland and other questions.

4. The United States draft disarmament and demilitarization treaty and other measures for the political, economic and military control of Germany.

5. Consideration of the report already submitted by the coal experts.

6. Austrian treaty.

The decision to sign the peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland in Paris Feb. 10 probably means that these treaties will be submitted to the United States Senate shortly afterward. There was no word here, however, as to whether Byrnes woul dseek Senate approval of these treaties before he leaves for the German peace talks at Moscow in March.

Russ Reply On 2 Pacts Awaited

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—The four-power Foreign Ministers Council decided today that the five European satellite peace treaties completed here should be signed in Paris February 10.

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Other members of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council awaited word from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today whether they should plan an immediate or delayed start on German and Austrian peace settlements. And diplomats speculated that Molotov was awaiting word from the Kremlin.

The Council was to meet for another session on secondary questions still outstanding in the Italian, Romanian, Hungarian, Bulgarian and Finnish peace treaties.

Discord On Civil Aviation Draft

Bypassing the German question yesterday, the Council cleared up several of these, including provisions for a director over the projected international port of Trieste and for an international port commission. All the Big Four were thus assured a permanent direct voice in Trieste economic affairs.

Disagreement arose over a guarantee of the civil-aircraft right of distress landings in former enemy satellites. Molotov objected, indicating he feared private aircraft would begin flying without permission over eastern European countries.

There was hope of agreement on this today, and on minor economic provisions on which the Big Four were to receive recommendations from their deputies.

Moscow In March

But the crux of their work between now and the expected Friday adjournment is the work on Germany in preparation for the next Big Four conference, at Moscow, on March 10.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Deputy Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville want a panel of deputies named now to hold hearings for small nations on German peace questions. They have also urged naming deputies to work on an Austrian treaty.

Molotov first objected, saying the deputies should not be given any tasks until the Foreign Ministers meet in Moscow and outline policy. Byrnes has virtually said he would not go to Moscow under such circumstances.

Molotov said two days ago he would have to think over both German and Austrian deputy proposals. The assumption is this meant he would check with Moscow.

Spaak Leaving Assembly Saturday, He Asserts

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Paul-Henri Spaak, president of the United Nations Assembly, said today he would leave for Belgium Saturday regardless of whether the United Nations has completed its work.

Most delegates agreed that it would be impossible for them to complete their work by this week end.

As first vice president of the Assembly, Wellington Koo, of China, will take over Spaak's duties.

Spaak and many other United Nations delegates, anticipating Assembly adjournment by December 13, had made reservations on the Queen Elizabeth, which sails Saturday.

Troop-Arms Plan Of British 'Out' In U.N. Move

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 11 (AP)—A powerful United Nations committee was reported authoritatively today to have dropped a controversial British proposal for a world-wide troop and armaments count in a sudden compromise move to break a jam holding up a general disarmament resolution.

This settlement of the major difficulty confronting the United Nations Assembly after last night's plenary session was understood to be conditional upon its acceptance by the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia.

Spaak Given Credit

However, the representatives of those nations attending the meeting of an eight-nation drafting committee on disarmament accepted the proposal, said to have been urged by the Assembly president, Paul-Henri Spaak, of Belgium. They agreed to report to their chiefs and then inform the twenty-nation disarmament subcommittee later today on the result of their consultations.

The committee, which needed agreement on only one paragraph to complete a resolution calling for a general arms reduction and a prohibition of atomic weapons, became snarled shortly after it met over the proposal made last night by Sir Hartley Shawcross, British delegate, to the Assembly for a count of all weapons and instruments of war.

Then, it was reported, Spaak appealed to the committee for action, suggesting the troop-count idea be dropped and the resolution already agreed upon submitted unanimously, which, it was said, was then done.

"Dangerous" Possibility

The resolution adopted calls upon the member states and the Security Council to report to the next Assembly just what has been done under provisions in the resolution for reducing troops and withdrawing troops from alien lands.

Before the meeting, the United States faced the "dangerous" possibility of being forced to disclose her vital atomic secrets to the rest of the world immediately.

If the three great powers agree on the compromise plan, it was said, the whole resolution can be completed in ten minutes this afternoon and the Assembly can act.

Members of Britain's United Nations delegation said the United States could forestall immediate disclosure by using the veto in the United Nations Security Council. But American representatives did not share this view.

Agreement "In Principle"

This vital issue was raised as Russia and Great Britain agreed "in principle" last night in a United Nations Assembly plenary session at Flushing Meadow Park on a vast program for arms reduction and a world-wide troop census with on-the-spot checks of all forces and armaments.

In a resolution calling for all members of the United Nations to report on their armed forces by January 1, Britain submitted an amendment to establish an inspection commission to verify these reports.

Russia insisted this include armaments also, and Britain agreed.

Would "Revise The Charter"

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov argued that this would in effect "revise the Charter" by abolishing use of the veto.

British Delegate Shawcross explained that this meant the veto could not be used after the commission had been established and said Russia had previously agreed that control and inspection would be free of the veto.

The British argued that their proposal would mean the disclosure of all weapons. They said the United States could forestall an immediate disclosure of her atomic secrets by using the veto in the Security Council before the supervisory commission is established.

The British said that when a date for all arms data to be made public was at issue, the United States could call any given date unacceptable.

Meanwhile, delegates bent to a stiff schedule of committee meetings at Lake Success and scheduled two Assembly plenary sessions at Flushing Meadow Park today in an effort to adjourn by the week end. Most delegates believed, however, that the session would continue well into next week.

Vote On Spanish Resolution

Headed for Assembly action this afternoon was a committee-approved resolution calling for all members of the United Nations to withdraw their ambassadors from Franco Spain as a gesture of displeasure.

The Security Council meanwhile, prepared to begin debate tomorrow on a Greek border complaint against Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

NEW YORK SITE OFFERED U.N.

Rockefeller Proposes Gift Of Tract Beside East River

C. Lowry

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 11 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today made a surprise gift-offer of a $8,500,000 permanent home for the United Nations in midtown New York, tossing the city back among the top contenders and causing a speedy change in committee plans.

Senator Warren R. Austin, United States delegate, presented the Rockefeller offer: A gift of an area bounded by First avenue and Franklin D. Roosevelt drive (the East River) between Forty-second and Forty-eighth streets. Rockefeller laid down several stipulations for New York which included the acquisition of a portion of one block of property, use of the streets from Forty-third to Forty-eighth as the United Nations wishes, and United Nations rights to all water front in the area.

Owners Offer To Sell

Rockefeller, in his memorandum to the committee, said he had obtained a "firm offer" from the present property owners to sell within the next 30 days, and added that "representatives of the city of New York have assured me of the desire and willingness of the city to acquire . . . and give" to the United Nations the property specified.

The offer from the millionaire philanthropist came as the 54-nation committee assembled to vote on a resolution offered by Austin which, if passed, would have postponed for another year decision on the United Nations permanent site. The 30-day option which Rockefeller held caused the committee to adjourn immediately and appoint a subcommittee to investigate and report back tomorrow.

Austin, in an informal discussion after the committee meeting, said flatly that, "in my own opinion, of all the sites I have heard of, this is the best site." He added: "I have a feeling the United States" will support the New York city location.

Others Gaining Favor

During recent days, the Belmont-Roxborough site in Philadelphia seemed to be gaining in the battle for the site, with the Presidio in San Francisco still in the running.

Outlining the advantages of the New York city location, Austin commented on its "dignity, atmosphere and the capacity of the United Nations to do business from there with any part of the world."

"In addition to presenting no transportation problem," Austin declared, "it disposes of the most difficult question of all—that of the displacement of citizens."

Much Already Cleared

The entire area, he said, was without apartments or homes, and much of it had already been cleared. He said New York city probably could acquire the additional land for $2,000,000.

"And there is absolutely no problem of expansion," the Senator added, "because the sky's the limit."

There has been much discussion of a "skyscraper site" for the United Nations.

Austin said that if approved, the development of the site would be slow, and "frugality must be exercised."

The Senator indicated he probably would move tomorrow to table his resolution for a year's delay in the site selection, so that the resolution could be used as a "backlog" in case developments were unfavorable to the Rockefeller proposal.

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 11 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today offered the United Nations a gift of $8,500,000 with which to purchase a large tract of land in mid-town Manhattan for a permanent site.

In a letter and memorandum read to the United Nations permanent headquarters committee by Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, Rockefeller stated he had obtained a "firm offer" for property located between First avenue and Franklin D. Roosevelt drive and between Forty-second and Forty-seventh streets. He said the cost of the property would be $8,500,000.

Provisos Listed

Rockefeller said he had already received assurances the city of New York was prepared to give to the United Nations the balance of a city block on which his gift purchase included two small plots.

He added that he predicated his gift on assurances New York city would permit the United Nations to use the entire area without restriction and would also turn over to United Nations use all bulkheads and piers on the East River frontage between Forty-second and Forty-eighth streets.

The gift, he added, must be declared to be free of all Federal and state taxes.

Action must be taken within 30 days from December 10.

The committee referred the offer to a subcommittee, which was directed to report back tomorrow.

Termed Best "Spot"

In his letter, Rockefeller stated that he had "ventured to locate territory on the East River in the midtown area," both because he believed the people of New York city wanted the United Nations among them and because New York city afforded the best spot for the United Nations to locate permanently.

Austin next read a letter from Mayor William O'Dwyer, of New York city, stating that the conditions of the Rockefeller offer seemed "fair."

Later, Senator Austin stated that the proposed Rockefeller site is "the best of all the sites I have heard of," and said with a smile he "had a feeling" the United States delegation would support its selection.

Before the Rockefeller offer, there were indications the United Nations would know by tonight whether its permanent headquarters would be selected this year or next.

Delay Asked By U.S.

Under constant prodding by the United States to delay the selection another year, the 54-nation headquarters committee was called into session again to take a definite vote.

The American proposal would send more experts to San Francisco, Philadelphia, New York and Boston seeking the best site in each locality and then have them report these top four spots to the Assembly next September.

Mayor Roger D. Lapham of San Francisco sent a letter to all delegations last night urging them to reject the United States proposal and take an immediate decision.

Two Cities In Lead

Should the American proposal be turned down and the issue go to a vote today, it was generally conceded that the final choice would lie between San Francisco and Philadelphia.

Russia's flat rejection of the West Coast site was assailed by many delegations and was believed in some quarters to have actually strengthened support for the Presidio.

Great Britain has spearheaded and Russia has joined the drive for Philadelphia, which appeared to have the majority of the backing of the East Coast bloc.

U. S. PALESTINE PACT REPORTED

American Approach to Issue to Be Linked to British.

London, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—An authoritative informant said today that informal talks between Foreign Secretary Bevin and Secretary of State Byrnes had resulted in an agreement to integrate the American approach to the Palestine question with that of Britain. In practice this would mean that America would no longer make any unilateral statements or moves concerning the Holy Land without first consulting Britain, the spokesman said.

It does not mean that the United States Government has changed its basic policy on Palestine, the informant continued, but would involve only consultation with the British when new developments arose.

Bevin assured President Truman and Byrnes that any Jewish proposals placed before the Palestine conference would receive the fullest consideration by Britain, and this won American backing for the London talks, he added.

Byrnes's announcement last week that American observers would be present if the Jews attended the sessions when they are resumed in January was one of the first results of the Bevin-Byrnes talks, the informant said. Despite past insistence by the United States on immediate and substantial increases in Jewish immigration into Palestine, no immediate change in Britain's immigration policy would be effected until, at least, the conference reached some agreement on the Holy Land's future, the source said.

BRITAIN DEMANDS ALBANIAN APOLOGY

London, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Great Britain, demanding an apology and reparations, has warned Albania that unless a "satisfactory reply is received within fourteen days" for losses of life suffered by two British destroyers which struck mines October 22 in Corfu Channel, the problem would be placed before the United Nations Security Council.

As a result of the mine explosions, forty-two sailors died and forty-three were injured. The blasts blew the bows off the destroyers while they were one and a half miles off the Albanian coast.

After the incident, the British launched an investigation to determine who sowed mines in the channel between the Greek island of Corfu and the Albanian mainland and when.

The British swept twenty-two mines on November 13. The Mediterranean Mine Clearance Board, composed of Allied representatives, reported that all were placed in the water within the last six months. The board said that two mines recovered were of a German type. A strong protest against the British minesweeping was registered in a note to the United Nations from Col.-Gen. Enver Hoxha, Albanian premier.

ATTLEE CONCEDES INDIA TALKS FAILED

London, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Attlee and the Secretary of State for India, Lord Pethick-Lawrence, admitted in Parliament today their failure to settle the Moslem-Hindu dispute which endangered, they said, the success of the plan for Indian independence. Reporting on last week's London conferences with the rival Indian political leaders, Pethick-Lawrence told the House of Lords: "These conversations, unfortunately, ended without agreement being achieved."

Attlee made a similar statement in the House of Commons and sought, without success, to delay a full-dress parliamentary debate on the entire Indian situation. The debate, urged by the conservative leader, Winston Churchill, will be held tomorrow or on Friday.

MUSEUM EXHIBITS CHURCHILL WAR MAPS

LONDON (AP) Three-dimensional maps which Winston Churchill had made during the war and used constantly, and the brightly polished tin hat which he was supposed to use—but didn't—during air raids, are on show at the Imperial War Museum which has reopened for the first post-war exhibition of its property.

The four maps, of South East England, the Channel coast, Greece and Burma, show every hill.

175 British Soldiers Arrested For Leaving Troopship

Liverpool, Dec. 11 (AP)—One hundred and seventy-five British soldiers who scrambled off a troopship bound for the Far East just before she sailed last night were held in open arrest today. They comprised the third group to jump the vessel within 24 hours.

The soldiers clambered down landing nets crying: "We want justice and better accommodations" just before the troopship, Empress of Scotland, sailed last night, hours late, with the remainder of her 2,300 service personnel aboard.

Spend Night On Dock

The demonstrations began Monday night, when some 300 soldiers backtracked down the gangplank and spent the night shivering on the dock, complaining they were "packed like sardines," that the mess was crowded, the food inadequate and that there was a shortage of latrines aboard.

Officers and military police finally persuaded that group to get back on board, promising inspection. Later, 150 more soldiers bolted, complaining that the fogbound vessel was "till packed." They also were persuaded to get back on the ship.

Latrines "Badly Sited"

A statement issued after inspection acknowledged that the meal given the men on their arrival might have "seemed inadequate" and that latrines aboard were "badly sited" although sufficient in number.

The 175 privates and NCO's who made the last break down the landing nets overpowered MP's at the dock gates and marched in good order to a reception camp seven miles away.

Delbos Rejected By French Party

Paris, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Radical Socialist party decided after bitter debate tonight not to present Yvon Delbos as a candidate for Premier-President of the interim French Government.

This left France's two-week-old Cabinet crisis just about where it started, in a deadlock.

An authoritative source said earlier today French political leaders had decided upon Delbos to head the regime until a new Government was chosen in mid-January. Paul Ramadier, Socialist, also was considered for the post.

GI's May Marry German Girls, McNarney Rules, Ending Ban

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 11.—(AP) The U. S. Army announced today the lifting—with one reservation—of the ban against the marriages of American soldiers and German girls, and an army spokesman said a "German war brides" transport might sail soon for the United States.

Col. George S. Eyster, who announced the removal by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, European theater commander, said it probably would become effective within 15 days when details are worked out.

The single reservation, Eyster said, is that the marriages cannot take place until just before an American is to return home.

Eyster said he had "no idea" how many Americans now in Germany might apply to marry frauleins but that he believed a brides' transport would be provided. The army announced only last week that 2,500 American war veterans had applied for permission to have German girls enter the United States to marry them.

Complete Surprise

The removal of the ban was a complete surprise, since McNarney had said recently that G.I.-fraulein marriages were "still out."

The army's action came on the heels of an announcement that soldiers had been instructed to forget their war-time "hate the German" indoctrination, and to help the Germans rebuild their country.

The lifting of the ban will apply to War department civilians as well as soldiers, and presumably to WACs, Eyster said.

He added that he felt sure McNarney never would allow marriages of Americans and Germans during a soldier's tour of duty, since "this would entail billeting, food and other costs."

Eyster said that the details of the removal still had to be worked out, but that as he interpreted it:

1. The cost of transporting German brides to the United States would be borne by the War Department.

2. An American, while prohibited from marrying a German until just before he left for home, could announce his engagement at any time after the ban is lifted.

3. Every prospective G.I. bride would be investigated thoroughly for Nazi sympathies before marriage was authorized.

Eyster said that McNarney ordered the change "personally and without suggestion from Washington," and that the theater commander "feels that the soldier who has done his job well and done it honestly and complied with the regulations should have a break."

He explained that McNarney revised his policy, mainly because "there are certain statutes in the U. S. with which the ban is in conflict" and "to give the honest soldier a financial break."

Until now, Eyster said, a few American soldiers have been able to take German girls to the United States as "fiancees," under a congressional act which provides that the girls must marry within three months or return to Germany. All of these frauleins have had to fly to America.

Eyster pointed out that this placed a heavy financial burden on the soldier, who had to put at least $1,000 on the line for airplane fare and immigration bond.

The new regulation, he said, will "eliminate these costs for the soldier."

The marriage ban has been in effect ever since the United States entered the war in 1941. A ban against fraternization of G.I.'s and German girls was lifted July 14, 1945.

U. S. Women Protest

Most German girls and many American soldiers who were interviewed cheered the U. S. Army's removal of its GI-fraulein marriage ban tonight though some sharply dissented.

The loudest protests came from American women here. The surprise announcement was the major topic of conversation where soldiers gathered in this headquarters city.

M/Sgt. Marion Grinage of St. Louis, Mo., said "if some American wants to marry a German that should be his privilege, although for my part I can't see it and personally I wouldn't marry a fraulein."

Lt. Houston Luel, a constabulary officer from Burkburnett, Tex., commented, "I think the ban should be lifted. Marriage is too sacred a thing to be interfered with by Army regulations. I'm married myself—I'm expecting my wife from the states tomorrow—but I'm in favor of the change."

In Washington, the War department said General McNarney acted within his authority in setting aside the ban which was promulgated by his predecessor, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, now chief of staff.

Maj. Gen. Willard S. Paul said Army legal experts agreed that a marriage between a G.I. and a German girl performed in accordance with German law, which provides for licensing and a marriage ceremony, would be legal at common law anywhere in the world.

Paul noted that the "war brides" act public law 271, provides for exit visas and for transportation to the U. S. for legal spouses of American military personnel and former personnel without respect to nationality.

Army to End Reich Bride Ban

Gen. McNarney Plans to Allow Some G. I.'s to Return Home With German Wives.

Frankfurt, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—A spokesman for Gen. Joseph T. McNarney said today that the prohibition against American soldiers marrying German girls would be lifted within fifteen days, with certain reservations.

The surprise decision will allow hundreds, possibly thousands, of Americans to take German girls back home as brides.

Col. George S. Eyster, spokesman for the American commander in Europe, said that such unions would be permitted only when the individual soldiers were about to leave Germany.

General Changes His Mind.

McNarney told a news conference a week ago that there would be no change in the ban, but Eyster said the General had "changed his mind" to give a break to "the soldier who had done his job well and done it honestly and complied with regulations." Eyster said every German girl who might be permitted to marry an American and enter the United States as a German war bride would be investigated thoroughly for Nazi sympathies.

Full details of the changed regulation still were being worked out but will be issued within fifteen days. Until the new regulations are drafted, Eyster said, the existing ban on marriages will continue.

Expenses to Be Paid.

Eyster said that the War Department would bear the expense of transporting German war brides to the United States. The prohibition had been in effect since the United States entered the war in 1941.

Eyster said that McNarney ordered the change "personally and without suggestion from Washington."

Durant Wins Delay In Hesse Gem Case

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 11 (AP). Complaining that he had been denied a fair opportunity to prepare his defense, Col. Jack Durant today won a five-day postponement of his court-martial on charges of participating in the theft of the $1,500,000 Hesse family jewels.

Durant's lawyer, Capt. Glenn V. Brumbaugh, of Los Angeles, indicated that he might demand the disqualification of some members of the ten-officer court when the trial gets under way next Monday.

GERMANS ON TRIAL ASK U. S. DOCTORS TO BE WITNESSES

NUERNBERG, Dec. 11 — (AP) German attorneys defending 23 doctors accused of experimenting on humans in Nazi concentration camps asked permission today to call United States army physicians for expert testimony about the experiments.

The request was made by Dr. Fritz Sauter, counsel for Drs. Karl Blome and Siegried Ruff, two of the defendants before an American court in the second series of Nuernberg trials. Other attorneys took similar action.

Prosecutor James McHaney introduced records today showing that Nazi doctors singled out certain camp victims at Dachau to undergo experiments until they died.

The Germans called these victims "control groups," McHaney described them as units "assigned for ex-terminal experiments."

One subject named Wagner lived through a test simulating an altitude of 10 miles without oxygen in an experiment to determine how much a German air force pilot could stand if he were forced to bail out, the records showed.

Although Heinrich Himmler, late chief of the Gestapo, had suggested that subjects who lived through such experiments be "pardoned" to life imprisonment, provided they were not Poles or Russians, Wagner was put through more tests and eventually died.

Letters Implicate 3 Nazi Doctors

Nuernberg, Germany, Dec. 11 (AP). Prosecutor James McHaney introduced today records showing that Nazi doctors singled out certain concentration camp inmates to undergo experiments until they died.

Letters from Dr. Sigmund Rascher, who committed suicide, implicated at least three of the physicians among the 23 now standing trial before a United States war crimes court for the inhuman experiments.

Each document referred to "control groups," McHaney told the court. He described these as those units "assigned for ex-terminal experiments." That meant that the victims would be under constant testing, and if they were strong enough to survive one test they would be subjected to another.

Given "Altitude" Tests

The victims were put under high-altitude conditions in pressure tanks at Dachau. The aim was to see how much a German air force pilot could stand if he had to bail out.

One record stated that the heart of a "37-year-old Jew" continued beating for some time after the brain was removed. This led Heinrich Himmler to suggest in a letter that those who could be revived should be "pardoned" to life imprisonment provided they were not Poles or Russians.

One subject named Wagner lived through tests simulating a height of more than 10 miles without oxygen. Rascher wrote that Wagner was put through some more tests, however, and eventually died.

PLOT REPORT DENIED

Wiedemann Calls Story of Plan to Kill British Rulers Fantastic

NUREMBERG, Germany, Dec. 11 (AP)—Fritz Wiedemann, one-time German Consul General in the United States, said today that stories that he planned to assassinate the King and Queen of England were "fantastic."

He was interviewed in his prison cell, where he is being held as a possible witness against higher-ranking Nazis.

The FBI in Washington said last month that Wiedemann and Herman Schwinn, former leader of the German-American Bund in Los Angeles, discussed a plot to kill the King and Queen when the sovereigns visited the United States in 1939, but no attempt was made to carry it out.

Ex-Maestro Asks Return

Berlin, Dec. 11 (AP)—Dr. Wilhelm Furtwaengler, famed former maestro of the Berlin Philharmonic, told a de-Nazification board today that he had planned to escape the jurisdiction of the Nazis by emigrating to Egypt in 1934, but had been prevented by the Gestapo.

In an emotional plea to allow him to take his place again as Germany's foremost conductor, the 60-year-old musician denied accusations that he was an "ambassador of Nazi culture" and that he worked through the Nazi Propaganda Ministry to discredit a musical rival.

Hearing Is Suspended

The hearing finally was suspended indefinitely following a verbose wrangle over the charge that he had complained to Joseph Goebbels, propaganda chief, because the rival, Herbert Karajan, had been praised by a Berlin newspaper as "a mixture of Toscanini and Furtwaengler."

He admitted that he had protested to Goebbels in 1938, but said it involved the issuance of governmental directives to the press, and did not concern individuals.

The de-Nazification board—composed of painters, actors and musicians—announced the suspension to allow Furtwaengler to locate witnesses to support his account of the visit to Gbebbels. The board indicated that unless such witnesses were produced, Furtwaengler's appeal for reinstatement might be tossed out.

Passport Held Invalid

The conductor said that when he first tried to emigrate to Egypt, the Gestapo told him his passport was invalid. He was warned later by the propaganda chief, he said, that if he emigrated he would never again be allowed to return to his homeland.

He conceded that his subsequent foreign concert tours had been misused by Nazi propagandists, but added:

"If I had been a potato peddler, I would have been of no propaganda value. But I was an artist. In reality, I did nothing but peel my art potatoes."

The de-Nazification board prefaced its hearing with the statement that the conductor had never been a member of the Nazi party or its auxiliary.

Conductor Faces New Count Of Nazism

Berlin, Dec. 11 (AP)—The de-Nazification hearing of Dr. Wilhelm Furtwaengler, Germany's leading symphony conductor, was suspended late today after introduction of a charge that he had intervened with the Nazi Propaganda Ministry to discredit a musical rival.

A German board, to which Furtwaengler had appealed to clear him of Nazism charges, broke off consideration of the case to allow him time to locate possible rebuttal witnesses.

The board indicated that unless Furtwaengler was able to produce testimony justifying his role in action taken by the Nazis against another Berlin conductor, Herbert Karajan, his request might be thrown out.

"Victim Of Lies"

The conductor asserted that he was a "victim of lies in the world press" and declared that his concert tours of Europe in wartime were made only "to bring honor to German music."

Dr. Furtwaengler, 60, said he protested in 1933 against Nazi dismissal of Jewish artists, and in 1934 he resigned as Prussian state councilor and vice president of the Reich Music Chamber.

Against Richard Strauss, composer-president of the Music Chamber, Furtwaengler leveled the charge of "terrorism" and said he had many controversies with him.

Art "Beyond Politics"

Sharply questioned as to why he remained director of the Berlin Philharmonic under the Nazis, Dr. Furtwaengler said: "I had to prove to the world that art exists which is beyond politics."

He asserted that he had bitter arguments with Nazi Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels over the exclusion of music by Mendelssohn and other Jewish composers.

The conductor's cause has been espoused by Soviet-controlled newspapers in Berlin.

RED CROSS AIDS GERMAN CHILDREN

BERLIN—(AP) With authorization from the Allied Kommandantur, the International Red Cross announced that it is undertaking a winter relief program to aid Berlin's children, aged and sick.

It will distribute $360,000 worth of food, medicines and shoes to an estimated 395,000 Berliners.

The gifts were contributed from Switzerland, Ireland, Argentina, Venezuela and Peru and from German prisoners of war who were confined in the United States and since have been repatriated.

Russian Withdrawal Gains

Large Convoys Seen Moving Eastward in Germany

HELMSTEDT, Germany, Dec. 11 (AP).—A widespread withdrawal of Soviet Army equipment toward the east in the direction of Russia appeared to be taking place today from the Magdeburg area facing the British occupation zone. Large convoys of Russian Army trucks were seen on the superhighway by-passing Berlin and headed toward eastern Europe by way of Dresden. Helmstedt is 100 miles west of Berlin.

The movement appeared to be part of a demobilization of Soviet occupation forces which has been under way for some time. Few troops were seen, since they presumably were returning by train, but long lines of army trucks carrying or towing smaller army vehicles clearly indicated a considerable Russian movement eastward.

SEEK LOST RELATIVES

HERFORD—(AP) It is officially estimated "that 10,000,000 Germans throughout all four zones are searching for missing relatives.

In the British zone alone 4,000,000 names are indexed by the German Missing Persons Search Bureau.

Most tragic are the children too young to know their own names. These are photographed so that bereft parents may search the files. A series of daily broadcasts united 370 children with their parents in one month. In the same period 81,000 Germans were reunited with relatives.

Gunman Found Near Spanish Embassy

Rome, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—The police arrested a man they said was carrying a bomb, a pistol with a silencer, four ammunition clips and a knife across the street from the Spanish embassy last night, but they declined to say—as some newspapers did—that the arrest had foiled an attack on the embassy.

The police also declined comment on newspaper stories identifying the man, said to have been a foreigner, as a member of the Troika, a secret organization which Police Chief Luigi Ferrari recently said in a directive to Italian police prefects was Russian-directed.

SPLIT PALESTINE ADVOCATES HIT

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 12 —(AP) Emanuel Newmann, secretary of the General Zionist Party of America, told the World Zionist Congress today that Britain was "waging war against the best interests of the Jewish people."

Calling for "new members and new men" in the World Zionist organization, the New Yorker attacked advocates of a Palestine partition and demanded election of a new executive committee of the Jewish agency.

"No executive will ever be elected to participate in liquidation of the Zionist movement," he declared, paraphrasing Britain's wartime Prime Minister Winston Churchill who said he had not been chosen to preside at the liquidation of the British empire.

The "political nerve center of the Zionist movement" should be removed to some country not under the British flag, Newmann added.

He said he regarded the forthcoming conference in London as a "maneuver on the part of the British government to promote anti-Zionist policy."

He added, however, that the growth of the United States and Russia as world powers had strengthened the position of the Jews because "Great Britain must depend on the economic and political support of America to a much greater extent."

"The Jewish community of America is not without influence on political affairs," he continued, although he said he regarded "the efforts of Secretary of State Byrnes as directed as much against us as against the British."

Zionists Map New Political Row Strategy

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Jewish Agency Executive Committee and various political parties of the World Zionist Congress held a closed session today to decide upon strategy in debate to be resumed tonight on Zionist political problems.

David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive told the Congress last night that a compromise with Britain over the Palestine problem "does not exist at the moment."

Sources close to Ben-Gurion said today that "if the Government at the London conference would put forward a reasonably adequate area for a Jewish state, the Agency would be prepared to consider it."

Ben-Gurion laid down demands for the opening of Palestine to Jewish immigration, the control of Jewish Agency and the establishment of Palestine as a Jewish state.

Several days of debate will center around the question whether the world congress here should ratify these demands.

Leftists Routed At Corymbos

Greeks Say

P. GOODWIN

Drama, Greece, Dec. 10 [AP—Delayed]—The five-day battle of Corymbos ended today.

Gen. Nicholas Pappanicholou, commander of the 27th Brigade, said almost 1,000 guerrillas had "retreated into Bulgaria."

The General said that while the battle was in progress, "1,500 Bulgarian aliens being deported from Turkey" were permitted to cross Greek territory into Bulgaria.

The Turko-Bulgarian railroad lines over which they traveled crosses Greek territory within a few miles of Corymbos.

The General said casualty figures were not available but that units of his brigade, sent to reinforce troops two days ago, reported that two officers and four enlisted men killed.

123 Reported Slain

Athens, Dec. 11 (AP)—Press dispatches said today that 123 guerillas had been killed, 32 wounded and 50 captured in the last three days around Corymbos in western Thrace, just south of the Bulgarian border.

The Royalist paper Embros also carried a dispatch from its correspondent at Alexandroupolis that a portion of the insurgent group had been "wiped out" by Turkish frontier guards when they tried to cross into Turkey.

The Ministry of War announced that 31 guerrillas had been killed in action at Gardiki, near Carpenission in central Greece. Eighteen casualties were said to have been suffered by Greek military forces.

Meanwhile, military officials in Salonika said large scale mopping-up operations were being carried out against 600 insurgents on Mount Vermion, which borders on Kozane, Veroia, Naoussa and Edessa.

Two U.S. Newsmen Believed Held By Greek Guerrillas

Athens, Dec. 11 (AP)—Two American correspondents, Robert Vermillion, of the United Press, and John Phillips, of Time and Life, were officially reported tonight to have been missing for the last thirteen days in the mountains of central Greece.

The press section of the Foreign Ministry issued a statement saying the jeep in which the correspondents were traveling had been found abandoned at Longosto, in the Kalambaka area.

The two left Athens after telling intimates they planned to visit "Communist-controlled villages" and regions reported held by guerrillas.

According to the Foreign Ministry's statement, the correspondents had made contact with a guerrilla group.

Two Greek Army units of approximately 50 men each were dispatched to make a search for the missing Americans. During the search the military units met fire from four machine guns on approaching the village of Louzesti. The guerrillas retreated southward and escaped after the soldiers opened up with mortar fire.

The military report on this clash did not mention whether or not Vermillion and Philips had been found. Philips is from New York.

34,000 Serb Jews 'Killed By Gestapo'

Belgrade, Dec. 10 [AP—Delayed]. Military Prosecutor Major Vlado Lakic charged in court yesterday that the German Gestapo during the war liquidated 34,000 of 39,000 Serbian Jews.

Twenty-two accused German war criminals, including SS Gen. August Meissner, were on trial on charges of having planned the systematic annihilation of the Serb people during the occupation of Yugoslavia.

Lakis said the Gestapo issued an order under which, for every German killed, 100 persons were to be shot in reprisal.

The agreement was signed by Boris Kidric, Yugoslav Minister of Industry, and Nako Spiru, Albanian chairman of the Economic Council and Minister of Economy.

Deficit Disclosed In Hungarian Budget

Budapest, Dec. 10 (Delayed) (A. P.).—The first Hungarian budget since 1943 was announced today in Parliament, despite previous objections by Communist Leader Maytas Rakosi that publication of a deficit of nearly $32,000,000 would endanger the country's stabilization program.

The budget for the fiscal year 1946-47 calls for the expenditure of 4,420,700,000 forint (about $376,000,000) against an estimated income of 4,045,000,000 forint.

SEES ROMANIAN FRAUD

Bucharest, Dec. 10 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Juliu Maniu, leader of the opposition National Peasant party, charged at a foreign news conference today that the Government won the November 19 elections by fraud and demanded new elections under another government.

He said that charges of anti-Sovietism against his party were libelous.

Russ Eye Situation

Moscow, Dec. 11 (AP)—Reports on the Iranian situation—including a dispatch asserting that the United States had handed the Persian army 40 four-engine bombers—were featured today in Soviet foreign news.

The Russians were following with mounting interest the developments in the neighboring nation on the southern frontier, contending themselves with watchful waiting so far as can be seen. Little editorial comment has been made in the last 48 hours.

A Tehran newspaper was credited with the report that the United States began delivering the 40 bombers to the Iranians on November 22.

Troops Concentrating

The dispatches from Iran included these items:

Edward Curtis, Associated Press correspondent, reported in a dispatch filed from Zenjan that General Zarabi said the Iranian Army advance guards were still 5 miles from Mianeh.

An observation plane, Curtis said, reported that the Azerbaijanian defense line south of the city was equipped with field pieces and machineguns.

Pass Found Deserted

Tribal cavalry flanking the main column was credited by an intelligence officer with clearing the Ghaflankooh Mountain. The pass through that natural barrier was found deserted. Preparations were made to repair bridges blasted by the Azerbaijanis.

Clashes in Zirab, a coal-mining town in Mazendaran, between miners and soldiers (in the Caspian Sea area).

Martial law in all northern districts of Iran.

Police army indulging in mass arrests, with 500 seized; clubs and workers' apartments raided.

Martial Law Reported

A Tass dispatch, broadcast by the Moscow radio, quoted the newspaper Dad as saying troops enforcing martial law in northern Iran had entered factories and mills and that arrested workers were being court-martialed.

"Troops surrounded the workers who had fled to the hills, opened fire on them, and took many of them prisoners," the Tass dispatch on disturbances in Mazendaran said.

"Part of the workers hid in the forest. Four miners and one soldier were killed. All public places and inhabited localities around the mines have been captured by troops," Tass added.

Ehrenburg Asserts U. S. Is Ruled by Propaganda

Says Average American Is, Unknowingly, Slave of It

MOSCOW, Dec. 11 (AP).—Ilya Ehrenburg, Soviet writer who visited the United States earlier this year, told an audience today that the average American is the slave of propaganda, but is not aware of the fact.

"The propaganda is so subtle and well masked that he would be shocked if you told him it exists," Ehrenburg said in a lecture on "America and Tomorrow," last of a series on his American trip. In spite of bitterly cold weather the house was packed.

His main theme was the way in which organs of public opinion mold the outlook of the average American, who, he said, "natively has much common sense and above all does not want war."

Some of Ehrenburg's other observations:

The pen is mightier than the sword, and progressive ideas will triumph in the end in America.

The mind of the average American is not yet awakened. The path he will take tomorrow depends on which group awakens his mind—Wall Street, which leads to the grave, or the American intellectuals, who have the national interest at heart.

Soviet papers carry less information than American papers, but Soviet papers come out in only four pages, whereas the size of the American paper is thirty-two pages and it is full of misinformation.

Soviet-Norwegian Pact Signed

Moscow, Dec. 11 (AP)—A two-year Soviet-Norwegian trade agreement was signed today, concluding three weeks' negotiations here.

6 Pole Underground Aides Doomed To Die

Warsaw, Dec. 10 [AP—Delayed]. A military tribunal sentenced six members of the NSZ (National Armed Forces) underground organization to death today on charges of attempting to overthrow by force the provisional Polish Government and of being financed, directed and armed by intelligence officers of the army of Lieut. Gen. Wladyslaw Anders, operating from the United States zone at Regensburg, Germany.

Those condemned to die include Michael Pobocha, chief of the NSZ staff in the Warsaw district, and Tomasz Wolfram, adjutant to Polish General Broniewska, whom the prosecutor charged was commanding the NSZ in Poland.

Wife Imprisoned

Broniewska's wife, Stefania, was sentenced to eight years' imprisonment and five men were sentenced to seven to ten years' imprisonment.

The prosecution charged that the twelve defendants carried out orders of Anders's agents in an attempt to overthrow the Warsaw regime through the assassination of Government officials, sabotage and other terroristic acts.

As sentences were passed reports of new attacks by NSZ forces reached Warsaw. One band was said to have raided a village near Krasnystaw, burned nearly all the homes, looted properties and severely beaten families and Polish military personnel, seriously wounding 36.

Towns Attacked

NSZ forces also attacked villages in the Bialystok, Rzeszow and Krakow districts. Newspapers said all underground bands were mobilizing for a terroristic campaign before the general elections January 19.

At Nowy Targ, near the Polish-Czech frontier, security forces killed seven persons identified as NSZ members and captured twelve. Both Nowy Targ and Zakopane districts are under curfew.

Bormann Hiding In S. America, Report Says

Stockholm, Dec. 11 (AP)—The newspaper Arbetet asserted in a copyright story today that Martin Bormann, Hitler's deputy, who was condemned to death in absentia at the Nuernberg trial, was hiding in South America.

[Numerous reports of the same type have arisen since the fall of Berlin, where Bormann was believed by many to have died about the same time as Hitler.]

The Arbetet said Bormann passed through the Swedish port of Malmo on the night of last October 13 with a Dutch passport bearing the name "Van Cloothen."

Underground Accused

The newspaper said it based its information on an investigation inside an alleged "underground Swedish Nazi group in Malmo, which has also illegally transported over the Swedish border several former SS officers now living in Malmo."

The newspaper charged that a Nazi group hoped to prepare a comeback in collaboration with Bormann and others in South America. The newspaper quoted the Dutch passport bearer as saying at Malmo that "in five years we shall return and in a way the world will never forget."

Egyptian Moslems Battle Police

Cairo, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Ministry of Interior said today that members of the Moslem Religious Institute and police clashed today at the upper Egyptian town of Assiut when students organized a demonstration demanding immediate British evacuation and union of Egypt and the Sudan under the Egyptian crown.

One student was reported killed and four policemen injured. The students were reported armed with knives, pistols and clubs.

Mohammed Hussein Heikal Pasha, leader of the Liberal Constitutional party, said in a statement that "unless the British Government accepts conditions made by my party concerning treaty proposals, Egypt will have no alternative to submitting her case to the United Nations."

The conditions were that Egypt and Great Britain agree to revise the new treaty at the request of either party in accord with the principles of the United Nations Charter when the Security Council assumes its full powers and that measures to be taken "in event of war in the Middle East shall be in accord with principles of the United Nations Security Council.

7 Arab States Refuse To Confer With Jews

Cairo, Dec. 11 (AP)—El Said Jamal el Husseini, acting head of the Arab Executive Committee of Palestine, said today that representatives of the seven Arab states in the Arab League had reaffirmed their refusal to sit with Jewish representatives in any conference concerning the Holy Land.

Commenting on Secretary of State Byrnes's recent statement that the United States would send an observer to a conference of Arabs and Jews, Jamal declared: "We do not recognize any right of America to interfere in Palestine affairs."

Jew, 16, Gets 18 Years In Jaffa Bank Attack

Jerusalem, Dec. 11 (AP)—A military court today sentenced a 16-year-old Jew, Benjamin Joseph Kimchi, to eighteen years in prison and eighteen lashes for having discharged firearms in an attack on the Ottoman Bank at Jaffa, September 13.

Shipwrecked Jews Taken Off Island

Jerusalem, Dec. 11 (AP)—The British Navy announced today that 742 shipwrecked Jewish refugees had been evacuated from the lonely Greek island of Syrina by two British warships and now are en route to Suda Bay at Crete, where the immigrants are to be transferred to a hospital ship and thence to Cyprus.

The announcement said the rescue was carried out "in extremely rough seas and in extreme difficulty."

Vessel Broke Up

The destroyer Chevron took aboard 488 and the minesweeper Provident 254 of the refugees, who were marooned on the barren, waterless isle Sunday when their vessel smashed to pieces on the rocks in a Mediterranean storm. Eight others, seriously ill, previously were taken to Rhodes by the Greek destroyer Themistocles.

An official announcement said the rescued Jews would be transferred to an LST at Crete and taken to Cyprus. The presumption was that they would be detained as illegal immigrants, but the announcement did not so state.

More Going To Palestine

Jewish Agency sources here said Cyprus detainees now were being sent to Palestine in a gradual immigration process and said the shipwrecked refugees probably would have to "take their turn in the immigration mill."

In Palestine, meanwhile, the military announced that two Jews had been hospitalized with bullet wounds when a British soldier accidentally discharged a Bren gun at a bus during a road check north of Tel Aviv.

The announcement said the bus driver and a passenger were wounded and that six others had to be hospitalized for shock.

742 Shipwrecked Jews Now On Way To Crete

Palestine, Dec. 11 (AP)—Rescued from the barren Greek island of Syrina, 742 shipwrecked Jewish refugees were en route to Crete today aboard two British warships, on the first leg of a journey to Cyprus, the British Navy announced.

A Palestine Government communiqué, however, said there was a possibility that women and children would be allowed to enter Palestine, where they would be interned "until their turn for release against the current immigration quota." The men, presumably, would be held at detention camps on Cyprus.

The navy announcement said the immigrants, who were marooned on Syrina Sunday when their vessel was wrecked in a storm, were placed aboard the destroyer Chevron and the mine sweeper Provident after a rescue carried out "in extremely rough seas and in extreme difficulty."

To Be Transferred To LST

They will be transferred at Suda Bay, Crete, to a LST fitted as a hospital ship for the voyage to Cyprus, the announcement said.

Eight others, seriously ill, were rushed to Rhodes previously by the Greek destroyer Themistocles.

Military authorities in Palestine, meanwhile, disclosed that a bus driver and a passenger, both Jews, were wounded when a British soldier accidentally fired a Bren gun during a road check of a bus north of the all-Jewish city of Tel-Aviv. The two wounded men and six persons suffering from shock were hospitalized, army officials said.

IRANIAN REVOLT ENDS AS PRO-RED PROVINCE YIELDS NIGHT

TEHRAN, Dec. 11—(AP) The pro-Soviet Azerbaijan regime at Tabriz suddenly abandoned its defiance of Premier Ahmed Qavam in the second day of Iran's "civil war" today and announced it would allow central government troops to enter the province as a security force during the forthcoming national elections.

With four columns of government troops advancing into Azerbaijan, the Tabriz radio said Dr. Sallamollah Javid, the Communist governor-general of the province, had messaged the premier that the provincial council had agreed to receive the troops.

This was the same council which previously had informed Qavam that any attempt to send government troops into Azerbaijan for the elections would bring on a desperate fight.

Whether this message would be followed by actual orders to the Azerbaijan militia to lay down arms and cease resistance remains to be seen.

An earlier communique from the headquarters of Gen Razmara, chief of staff, however, said that the main government column advancing from Zenjan already had passed the Azerbaijan fortifications in Ghaflankooh Pass, their most formidable defenses, and were fighting in the area of Mianeh, 75 miles northwest of Zenjan and 80 miles southwest of Tabriz.

The communique added that the progress of a flanking column from Tikab, 75 miles west of Zenjan, gave great satisfaction to military headquarters.

An Associated Press dispatch from W. E. Curtis at Zenjan said the government forces were within five miles of Mianeh, terminus of the railroad from Tehran, and that the Azerbaijan forces were manning a defense line supported by artillery and machine guns.

They had blown up all bridges and railway stations in their retreat to the new defense line, the dispatch said, and fortifications in the pass were found deserted.

The Iranian war supreme council held a meeting for three hours with the war minister and the chief of staff before the communique was issued.

Qavam's orders to his troops to advance into Azerbaijan yesterday was reported by the rightist newspaper Atash to have brought a new protest from the Russian ambassador who was said to have declared the military operation was "contrary to the agreement between Russia and Iran."

Atash said the ambassador warned that the presence of government troops in Azerbaijan would be a "threat to Russian borders" and a "great support of reactionaries for which Russia cannot wait and watch."

(A State Department official in Washington said "we categorically deny" a Soviet press report that the United States had turned over 40 four-engined bombers to Iran.

(Soviet dispatches from Iran said the government column advancing on Mianeh was composed of nine infantry battalions, a cavalry regiment, a motorized gendarmerie battalion, an engineering battalion, two tank companies, three mortar companies and other detachments.)

IRAN DEMAND IS ACCEPTED

Azerbaijan Will Welcome Security Forces, Qavam Told

Tehran, Iran, Dec. 11 (AP)—Iranian Army headquarters said tonight the provincial council of semi-autonomous Azerbaijan, whose frontier has been crossed by Government troop columns, had announced acceptance of the Government's demand that security forces supervise coming elections.

"To eliminate misunderstandings and to safeguard Iran's independence and unity, we have decided to welcome the security forces," said a message sent to both Premier Ahmed Qavam and the Shah.

"You are requested to instruct the forces not to interfere in any matter except the elections," the wire to Qavam added.

Effect On Troops

[It was not brought out what effect these messages would have upon the movement of Government troops, who have engaged various skirmishing Azerbaijanis since they crossed the provincial border yesterday.]

The Tabriz radio said Dr. Sallamollah Javid, the Communist governor general of Azerbaijan, sent the message to Qavam, agreeing to entry of the forces.

Four columns of Government troops were dispatched only yesterday across the frontier of the semi-autonomous state which had rejected Qavam's orders for Government supervision of coming elections throughout the nation.

The Supreme War Council of Iran met here for three hours this morning.

Troops Advancing

Iranian Army Headquarters announced this afternoon that a Zenjan-based column had driven past Azerbaijanian fortifications in the Ghaflankooh Mountain pass and were now battling the provincial forces "at the Mianeh district," centered about a rail and highway town 5 miles north of the pass.

Bridges and railway stations were blown up by the Azerbaijanis in their retreat, the communiqué said. The Tikab column also was reported to be advancing successfully.

General Razmara, chief of the Iranian general staff, urged in a statement that the Azerbaijanis welcome "their fellow-countrymen and soldiers who try to save them."

Had Urged Resistance

The Tabriz radio yesterday called upon civilians as well as the Fedaie (militia) of Azerbaijan to resist the troops, which crossed the border after thirteen months of bickering between Tehran and Tabriz.

The Rightist newspaper Atash said the Russian Ambassador told Qavam yesterday that the Iranian army movement into Azerbaijan was "contrary to the agreement between Russia and Iran."

The Ambassador was reported to have called the development a "threat to Russian borders" and an action of "great support to reactionaries."

U.S. Denies Sending Any Planes To Iran

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—A State Department official said today "we categorically deny" that the United States has furnished planes of any kind to the Iranians.

The denial, he said, applies not only to four-engine bombers but also all other types of planes.

The statement was occasioned by a story in the Russian press asserting that this country has turned over 40 four-engine bombers to the Iranian Army.

Prasad Picked To Head India Charter Assembly

New Delhi, Dec. 11 (AP)—Amid delegates' shouts of "Inquilab Zindabad" (Long Live Revolution) and "Jai Hind" (Victory to India), Dr. Rajendra Prasad, Food Minister in the interim Indian Government, became permanent chairman today of India's Constituent Assembly.

The 62-year-old member of the Hindu-led All-Indian Congress party was unopposed for formal election on the third day of the Assembly's sessions, which thus far have been boycotted by the Moslem League on the orders of its President, Mahomed Ali Jinnah.

HARBIN PUSH IS REPORTED

Nanking Also Hears Of Other Activity In Manchuria

Nanking, China, Dec. 11 (AP)—A great stir of military activity in winter-locked Manchuria was reported by various sources today, with some unconfirmed reports that Government troops had opened an attack in the direction of Communist-held Harbin.

The newspaper Shin Min Pao reported, without confirmation from any source, that eight Nationalist divisions were on the move toward Harbin from three directions.

Severe fighting has been under way since Monday, the paper added, with Government forces occupying Chungling and Halahai, respectively, 65 miles northwest and 50 miles north of Changchun, Manchurian capital.

Communists Cross River

This would place Chiang Kai-shek's troops nearly half way to Harbin from Changchun.

Thousands of Communist soldiers were reported crossing the frozen Sungari River northeast of Changchun, indicating an important battle might take place in that area.

Communist offensives in North China were reported in full swing in Hopeh province and in northern Honan. The Reds were said to have pushed within 5 miles of Paoting railway hub and capital of Hopeh.

The civil strife thwarted Government plans to whittle down the Nationalist Army from 150 divisions to 90 by year's end, Lieut. Gen. Hwang Chieh, acting commandant of the central training corps, told a press conference. He said the Government's financial situation would worsen unless the demobilization program could be carried out speedily.

Reds Refuse Consul

Wang Ping-nan, Communist representative, said today he is delivering to the United States Embassy the formal refusal of Communist headquarters at Yenan to permit Edmund O. Clubb, United States consul general, of Minneapolis, to occupy his assigned post at Harbin.

Wang said Yenan officials advised they were unable to furnish clearance for Clubb because of "war conditions" in Manchuria.

Clubb and his staff are in Changchun, Manchurian capital, after having spent two months in Mukden vainly awaiting clearance to Harbin.

Fight For Harbin Appears To Be Shaping Up

Nanking, Dec. 11 (AP)—Manchuria's long-awaited battle for Harbin appeared to be shaping up today.

Unconfirmed reports to the newspaper Hsin Min Pao said that eight Government divisions opened a three-pronged offensive in the direction of the city.

The paper added that 10,000 Communist troops crossed the Sungari river from Hsiushuitientze, 80 miles southwest of Harbin, to attack Government positions on the south bank. The Sungari generally is the dividing line between Government and Communist territory in Manchuria.

Red Counterdrive Ordered

Hsin Min Pao also reported that Yenan headquarters ordered Communist troops in the Shensi-Kansu-Ningsia border region to start a counterdrive against Gen. Hu Tsung-nan's troops. Yenan broadcast yesterday that Hu's troops were preparing to attack Yenan.

The paper's Peiping correspondent revived reports that Chinese and Russian officials have concluded an agreement for the Chinese Government to take over administration of Soviet-controlled Port Dairen. There was no official comment.

[From Peiping, Associated Press Correspondent Tom Masterson radioed that Communist troops advanced to within five miles of Paoting, capital of Hopeh province, in their renewed assault on that Peiping-Hankow railway hub. That was an advance of five miles since yesterday.]

Chinese Defeat Link to U. N. Charter

Nanking, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—A committee of the National Assembly today voted to delete a clause in the Constitution binding China to observe the United Nations Charter. More than twenty committee members argued that the charter might not last forever, whereas the Constitution is permanent.

The action is subject to approval Friday by the Assembly.

Chinese Reds Make Demands.

Nanking, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Chinese Communists demanded today in a memorandum to Fiorello H. LaGuardia, the UNRRA director, that the organization revamp its China relief setup and deliver supplies for Communist territory directly to the Communist-controlled China Liberated Areas Relief Association.

Marine Tractor Hits Mine.

Tientsin, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—The newspaper To Kung Pao reported today a United States Marine caterpiller tractor hit a Japanese war-land mine at Tsingto airfield Tuesday and the unidentified Marine driver and the machine were blown up. The airfield was damaged, preventing landing of a Chinese National Airways plane.

BATAAN MARCH UPHELD

Japanese Counsel Calls Abuse of Captives N[illegible]

TOKYO, Thursday, Dec. 12 (AP)—Counsel for Hideki Tojo and twenty-six co-defendants strove to show today that the brutalities of the Bataan Death March had been necessary to prevent the escape of prisoners and that the marchers had starved because the Japanese Army had run low on supplies.

The point was brought up in the cross-examination of a survivor, Sgt. Donald F. Ingle of Laura, Ill., who had the war crimes tribunal judges listening intently as he detailed earlier the horrors that had followed Bataan's fall early in the Pacific war.

Sergeant Ingle told defense attorneys that the cruelties had been as deliberate as the starvation and thirst inflicted upon the prisoners. He said the Japanese guards on the march had plenty of food.

Tales Of Bataan Hold Interest Of Judges

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—The judges who will decide the fate of former Premier Tojo and 28 other once high-ranking Japanese officials leaned forward and listened intently today as survivors related horrors of the Bataan march of death.

"How many killings did you actually witness?" Associate Prosecutor Pedro Lopez, of the Philippines, asked one witness, Donald F. Ingle, 27, of Laura, Ill.

"I don't know," Ingle replied. "It became so commonplace after the first few hundred I did not try to keep track. The dead were rolled to the side of the road or left lying where they were killed."

Shot By Strafer

The prosecution charged 1,200 American soldiers and 16,000 Filipino troops were brutally killed or died of the tortures of the nine-day, 120-kilometer march.

Ingle, then a sergeant in the 31st Infantry, was shot in the shoulder by a Japanese strafer while he was ill of malaria in a hospital a few days before Bataan surrendered. He said he was prodded by a bayonet from his cot and at bayonet point plodded five days without food.

On How To Kill

Lopez introduced captured Japanese Army orders. One, dated Manila, February 24, 1945, instructed Japanese soldiers:

"When killing Filipinos, assemble them together in one place as far as possible, thereby saving ammunition and labor. Disposal of dead bodies will be troublesome, so either assemble them in a house scheduled to be burned or blown up or push them into a river."

Three Jap Guards Sentenced.

Yokohama Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Three Japanese who were civilian guards at a P. O. W. camp today were sentenced to a total of thirteen and a half years at hard labor by an Eighth Army tribunal for their brutality in the beating of Pvt. Alexander Paraskiwich of Foxwarren, Manitoba, Canada. Prosecutors were Lieut.-Col. Oscar Orr, Vancouver, B. C., and Charles J. Smith, Irvington, N. J.

Japanese General Kills Self

TOKYO, Dec. 11 (AP).—Lieutenant General Kyoji Koizumi, six-y-one, former commander at Sendai of the 2d Division, committed suicide by slashing an artery with a cooking knife today. He was reported despondent over Japan's defeat.

LIQUOR KILLS 2 G. I.'S

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—The United States Eighth Army reported today that two American soldiers had died and seven others were hospitalized in the last four days after drinking poison liquor.

He identified the dead as Pfc. Willie J. Wheeler, 20 years old, Maysfield, Tex., and Pvt. Floyd Joseph, 22, Oakland, Cal. Those hospitalized included Cpl. Jessie Mitchell, 18, Brooklyn, N. Y.

TOKYO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Japan's Communist party today joined the political parade demanding the importation of foreign capital to alleviate the industrial crisis, but its spokesman warned the Diet against opening Japan to "colonization."

French to Honor MacArthur

TOKYO, Dec. 11 (AP).—The Grand Cross of the French Legion of Honor will be added Saturday to General Douglas MacArthur's numerous medals. The presentation will be made by Lieutenant General Zinovi Pechkoff, head of the French mission, before a limited gathering of high foreign officials and the working press. It will be one of the few occasions on which MacArthur wears his many decorations.

81 Smuggled Pay $40,500

Manila, Dec. 11 (AP)—Smuggling Chinese into the Philippines is becoming big business.

Eighty-one were arrested today in a hideout in the rugged foothills near Laoag and held for deportation. They constituted the fifth such group picked up recently.

One detainee told Filipino officials a recruiter in Amoy charged $500 each to smuggle Chinese into the Philippines, which they regard as the promised land. Today's 81 would have netted the smuggling ring $40,500.

CIVILIAN ATOMIC COMMISSION TO TAKE OVER JAN. 1

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — (AP) The military's atomic bomb and energy business—a $1,400,000,000 concern with 43,000 workers—will pass into the hands of the civilian-controlled Atomic Energy Commission at the start of the new year.

The commission, still little more than a body of five members and some help borrowed from other federal agencies, disclosed today it would take over the army's Manhattan District "essentially intact," including its organization, properties and personnel about Jan. 1. An order from President Truman expected shortly will provide for transfer of title.

Until the commission is in full operation (probably months away) the Manhattan District will manage for the commission nuclear fission development and manufacture of atomic bomb material. In charge of the district as operating executive probably will be Col. K. D. Nichols, present deputy of the district.

Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves, army engineer who has directed the Manhattan District since its formation in September, 1942, is stepping out of that role. The commission, in its announcement made after a conference with President Truman, said it had asked Secretary of War Patterson and Groves that the latter "continue to be available as a consultant." The general is described by some associates as desiring to retire from active duty.

Chairman of the commission is David E. Lilienthal, former Tennessee Valley administration head. The commission has been making basic studies during recent weeks of the tremendous problems confronting it.

Currently, the major question is selection of general manager, a $15,000-a-year position to be filled by the president. Persons familiar with this question point out that a managing director for an equivalent position in a private corporation could expect many times the $15,000 offered for the commission job.

Electric Companies Join In Atomic Energy Study

Will Build an Experimental Plant at Oak Ridge

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP).—A spokesman for an electrical-equipment company said tonight that several manufacturers were cooperating in the construction of an experimental atomic-energy plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., "with a view of learning how to build practical power-plant equipment."

A. C. Monteith, manager of headquarters engineering for the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, said in a speech prepared for a group of engineers and other employees of the Commonwealth Edison Company that experience gained in the construction and operation of the Oak Ridge plant "will be of great value in determining the application as far as its (atomic energy's) use for an industrial source is concerned."

He said atomic power may come within the realm of competition with coal after the many technical problems to reduce its cost have been overcome.

Supersonic Plane Loafed Along

Designed for 1700 Miles Hour, It Does Mere 550 in Successfully Passing First Tests.

Los Angeles, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—A tiny plane with which the Army Air Forces and Bell Aircraft Corporation, its maker, expect to delve into the uncharted realm of supersonic speed has successfully completed its first tests.

The XS-1, with Chalmers (Slick) Goodlin, 23 years old, of New Alexandria, Pa., at the controls, was cut loose from the belly of a B-29 bomber over Muroc Army Air Base on Monday. Seconds after America's first rocket-propelled plane dropped away from the big bomber, Goodlin turned on the power, and the craft darted away with a momentum which the former Navy pilot compared to the thrust from a catapult aboard a carrier.

The plane is designed to fly at 1,700 miles an hour, but Lin made no attempt to s up that high. He loafed at a mere 550, using first one cylinder, then two, and finally—for only a few seconds—all four.

The plane was cut loose at 25,000 feet. Goodlin climbed under his own power to 35,000, meantime diving, banking and climbing. He flew for nineteen minutes, not quite seven under power, and made a perfect landing with his fuelless engine idle.

Cut Loose at 25,000 Feet.

The plane's power is measured in terms of thrust, rather than horse power. But R. M. Stanley, Eric, Okla., Bell's chief engineer and designer of the plane, said that by the only available means of comparison the engine could be said to develop 30,000 horse power. It burns ethyl alcohol, oxidized by liquid oxygen.

The engine is unbelievably small to generate such a tremendous thrust. Without fuel it weighs only 210 pounds, and its over-all length is 56 inches. The plane itself is smaller than the average fighter, measuring 31 span of only 28 feet.

Army authorities emphasized at a press conference that the plane, of almost conventional design, was not designed as a fighter, a bomber or any other especial type of craft. Its mission is purely and specifically to permit investigation of the supersonic speed ranges.

V-2 Lands 100 Miles From Launching Site

Las Cruces, N.M., Dec. 11 (AP)—The impact point of a German V-2 rocket fired at White Sands Proving Ground last Thursday has been sighted from the air "about 100 miles north" of the launching site, Lieut. Col. Harold R. Turner, commanding officer, announced today.

Ground parties have not been able to reach the site of impact, Turner said.

It was the greatest lateral distance attained by any of the rocket tests, which have concentrated on height rather than distance. Last week's rocket reached an altitude of 95 miles. The record is 104 miles.

AGAINST MERGER PLAN

Washington, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Representative Harry Sheppard (D.-Cal.) says that he favors consolidation of Army and Navy supply procurement, but will oppose merger of the two armed services.

The chairman of the House Navy Appropriations Sub-committee said that standardizing many of the weapons of the two branches would prove more efficient and less expensive.

Opposing merger of the Army and the Navy, Sheppard said that he considered it impractical, and objected to "giving too much authority to one man." Sheppard said that he would work to keep a strong Navy and would oppose any effort to make a too drastic cut in Navy appropriations.

'Depression Fears' Scored By House Economic Board

Also Urges Enactment of 'Constructive' Not Punitive Labor Laws.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — (AP) Enactment of "constructive — not punitive" labor legislation and abolition of OPA's general powers next Jan. 31 were recommended today by the House committee on postwar economic policy and planning.

It took its stand in a report warning against "unjustified" fears of a business depression.

In its final report, the committee headed by Rep. Colmer (D-Miss) also recommended:

Asks Budget Cut

(1) Reduction of the federal budget for the next fiscal year to $30,000,000,000 to allow for "some reduction" in taxes and for payments on the national debt. Present spending is at the rate of $41,500,000,000 a year.

(2) Stronger emphasis on remodeling and reconversion of existing housing structures and increased construction of low-cost rental units.

(3) Substitution of "economic cooperation for economic warfare" in the field of foreign economic policy.

(4) Abolition of the second emergency war powers act next March 31, subject to 'the necessity for new legislation granting narrowly specified powers to be determined by congress."

(5) Continuation of some agency such as the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion to act as an over-all staff to coordinate and formulate policy.

(6) Revision of the surplus property disposal act to speed the disposition of war surplus.

(7) Expansion of unemployment compensation coverage and old-age insurance protection.

(8) Limitation of public construction to new projects of immediate necessity.

Raps Depression Talk

"Considering everything," the bi-partisan committee said in its unanimous report, "there is no necessity for either a depression or recession. Loose talk of depression and business recession is unjustified and serves no good purposes."

But it warned that the causes of low production in many industries must be erased and "another wage-spiral avoided if prosperous conditions are to continue."

"A start has been made toward the goal of sustained high employment," the committee said.

"The task ahead is to develop economic conditions which will encourage stability of productive employment at a high level.

"The government cannot and should not take full responsibility for maintaining economic stability or full employment."

It emphasized that productivity is "the real solution for many of the nation's economic problems" and called for "active cooperation between management and labor to eliminate immediately the current difficulty so we can avoid a recession."

Of fiscal matters it said:

"It forebodes danger for the future if under the present very favorable conditions of high income and high tax rate, the fiscal affairs of the government cannot be handled in such a way that the budget can be balanced.

"It is necessary to develop a tax system which will raise the necessary revenue and still distribute the tax burden in a manner that will provide adequate incentives for venture capital, creative effort in business growth and also permit expansion in consumer demand. The personal income tax should be regarded as the main reliance for federal tax revenues and xxx should be continued on a broad basis."

TRUMAN WORKING ON HOUSING NEEDS

Will Keep Control Over Materials, Continue Rent Curbs, Is Report.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(AP)—President Truman, "with his Missouri dander up," was pictured today as apparently determined to keep a measure of control over housing materials and to continue rent curbs, although perhaps with revisions.

After a White House visit, Commander-in-Chief Louis E. Starr of the Veterans of Foreign Wars told reporters he found Mr. Truman "very much aware of the need of housing for veterans, determined to correct the shortage" and to name a successor shortly to Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt, resigned.

Starr reported that although Mr. Truman said he had not made up his mind on a man to run the vast program, he was "looking for a builder thoroughly familiar with the problems."

Rent Revisions Seen

Starr said he gained the impression that rent controls might be revised upward in some cases.

On Capitol Hill, congressmen heard insistent demands from Nashville, Tenn., business men for abandonment of all controls on construction.

Lawrence W. Davis, general manager of the National Electrical Contractors Association, also told a Senate committee that removal of ceilings on the sale and rental of new houses built under priorities would invite "a new source of capital that will produce homes of all types."

Davis appeared at a hearing by the complaints subcommittee of the Senate small business committee studying arguments on the value of controls in meeting the need of veterans for dwellings. Disputes among government agencies over the methods of getting the job done recently created an impasse which led to Wyatt's resignation.

Starr, who spent 15 minutes with the President along with two other VFW officials, Omar S. Ketchum, legislative director, and Bonner Fellers, press chief, said he gained the impression Wyatt's post may be filled within a couple of days.

Has Housing Program

The President, he said, apparently has "a very definite down-to-earth housing program to be disclosed later."

Starr also got the impression from Mr. Truman that materials will be channeled into housing rather than into commercial construction.

The VFW spokesmen said they found the chief executive in good spirits "with his Missouri dander up" and expressing deep interest in veterans welfare.

Meanwhile, David L. Krooth, acting national housing administrator in Wyatt's post, told the house committee investigating surplus property, that the housing program may turn back a quarter of a billion dollars to the federal treasury in unused subsidy payments.

Probably no more than one-third of the $400,000,000 provided will be used, Krooth, said, explaining the original subsidy program of incentive payments to industry to speed up production of materials was based on continuation of "tight price controls."

END OF CONTROLS ON HOUSES URGED

Contractors Assail Ceilings at Hearing—Truman Due to Fill Wyatt Posts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Lawrence W. Davis, general manager of the National Electrical Contractors Association, demanded today immediate removal of Federal ceilings on the sale and rental of new houses. He appeared at a hearing before a subcommittee of the small business committee of the Senate.

A delegation representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars which called on President Truman while the hearing was in progress told reporters they gathered the impression that Mr. Truman would maintain controls to channel materials into housing rather than commercial construction.

They described the President as emphatic about getting the housing job done and said they expected early appointment of a successor to Wilson W. Wyatt, possibly by Friday. Mr. Wyatt was head of the National Housing Agency and Housing Expedites.

30 24-6887

Ralph Harrison, president of the Contractors Association of Nashville, Tenn., was the first of a group of business men who urged at the Senate hearing today that all controls over construction be removed.

David L. Krooth, Acting National Housing Administrator, told a House committee investigating surplus property that the housing program might turn back a quarter of a billion dollars to the Federal Treasury in unused subsidy payments.

Government officials told reporters that there might be separate appointments to the two offices Mr. Wyatt held.

Speculation concerning a new housing expediter centered about the name of Frank R. Creedon, deputy CPA administrator. Mr. Creedon visited the White House during the day. He is a former construction engineer and at one time was chief construction engineer for the Army Engineer Corps.

He is regarded by his associates as favoring removal of many housing controls to give the building industry wide latitude in pushing the housing program.

Truman to Announce Liquidation Agency

Washington, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—President Truman will announce the creation of a liquidation agency to take over the remaining functions of the OPA, CPA and other war emergency agencies at a news conference called for 10:30 A. M. tomorrow. Charles G. Ross, presidential secretary, who announced this today, was asked whether the head of the new agency will be named at the same time.

"He may be," Ross replied.

He would not comment on whether housing will be affected in the new setup.

U.S. AID VIEWS ARE ATTACKED

LaGuardia Says Nation Plays Politics With Relief

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—A bitter attack on the United States attitude toward future foreign relief came from UNRRA Chief Fiorello H. LaGuardia today as delegates from 48 nations debated whether to continue their hold on the organization into 1947.

Aroused by a statement from the American delegate, the ex-New York Mayor in effect accused the United States of seeking to play politics with relief food and shouted:

"All my fears have been justified by the statement made by Under Secretary of State Acheson over the air Sunday and by what you heard this morning."

Opposed International Group

The United States delegate, C. Tyler Wood, insisted during a speech that members have the right to disregard tentative UNRRA allocations to various countries and instead ship supplies and food originally destined for them to other countries that needed them more.

In his address Sunday, Acheson had proclaimed the United States refusal to support any international relief agency to succeed UNRRA and had instead insisted on direct aid from one country to another. He also said UNRRA had "serious faults" and that some countries had received too much relief and others not enough.

LaGuardia contended that the American desire to permit reshuffling of UNRRA's remaining shipments constituted "bread politics, and we all want to avoid that."

3 Nations Backed LaGuardia

Russia, Poland and Yugoslavia joined in supporting LaGuardia's position that all UNRRA programs be completed unchanged. These countries all stand to receive part of the nearly $700,000,000 in supplies that UNRRA has yet to ship.

After LaGuardia's blast, Wood retorted that "Mr. LaGuardia is under a misapprehension if he thinks we (the United States) plan to take unilateral action founded on base political motives."

Asserting there was "nothing diabolical" about the American viewpoint, Wood said that when "real reasons based on need and not on politics" arose for revising current allocations, the United States would abide by the majority decision of UNRRA's key nine-nation central committee.

Danger Is Cited

In an obvious reference to the United States policy on future relief abroad, LaGuardia told delegates there was "great danger that after January 1 certain countries will be aided and others not."

"It would be right, just and proper," LaGuardia added, "to hold the programs as they are. If there is any shifting from one country to another there is bound to be a charge that there is discrimination and this will linger for a long time."

Stressing his own impartiality, LaGuardia urged the United States delegation to reconsider and expressed hope "this is only a momentary view taken by the State Department."

Soviet Delegate Criticized

Earlier, LaGuardia had concentrated most of his criticism at the Russian delegate, Nikolai Feonov, who had unexpectedly proposed another UNRRA Council meeting in April of 1947 instead of dissolving at this session as originally planned.

Feonov also had leveled a charge of "discrimination" against UNRRA for not helping Korea and had assailed LaGuardia for permitting what he called "propaganda" in displaced persons centers in an attempt to keep refugees from returning home.

LaGuardia replied by calling Feonov "my candidate for manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball team when Durocher quits. That guy can find an argument on anything." He added:

"I was pretty much impressed when you talked about propaganda. Well, Feonov, you boys are pretty good at that yourselves. So go ahead."

Failure Due To Fund Lack

The main reason for UNRRA's failure to institute a relief program for Korea, LaGuardia said, was because of a lack of funds and also because of the refusal of the Russian commander in that country to permit the free flow of relief between the American and Soviet zones.

Both the United States and Britain opposed the Russian suggestion for an April meeting of the council. Until Feonov made such a suggestion, it had been assumed that the council would turn over its powers to the nine-nation central committee which would supervise the windup of UNRRA. The question of an April meeting was referred to a subcommittee.

The relief organization is scheduled to go out of existence in Europe December 31 and in the Far East by April of next year. Delivery of relief supplies already ordered may be extended through March for European countries and through August for Far Eastern nations.

WORLD SYMPATHY ASKED OF RED CROSS

Harriman Urges International Outlook—Control by Local Chapters Is Advanced

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman described general living conditions abroad today as what "would in normal times be considered a terrific disaster." He urged the American Red Cross to take leadership in "international human sympathy."

Addressing the annual meeting of the Red Cross central committee and board of incorporators, Mr. Harriman said:

"This country has determined to take political responsibility in international affairs. That die is cast. But if there is anything in which we have been international, it is human sympathy."

Announcement was made that the board of incorporators had named to the central committee Edward Dana of Boston, president of the Boston Street Railway Corporation, and Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, president of Tuskegee Institute, the first Negro elected.

The chapter delegates, representing all parts of the country, also elected two new members, Arnold W. Growth, lawyer, of Portland, Ore., and Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina.

Reports on Aid to France

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11 (AP).—Supplies valued at $100,000 are on their way to France from the American Friends Service Committee, but additional funds are needed to buy milk and fats this winter, W. Howard Wriggins said today on his return from Paris. Mr. Wriggins, who headed a mission for Quaker services in France during the past year, declared the incidence of tuberculosis, particularly among children in south France, continues to rise.

TREASON SUSPECTS DUE IN U. S. TODAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — (AP) Douglas Chandler and Robert Best, Americans accused of having broadcast Nazi propaganda over Radio Berlin, are due here early tomorrow by army planes from Germany.

A Justice department official told reporters today that they probably will be promptly arraigned on treason charges before Federal Judge Bolitha J. Laws. They were indicted in 1943.

The official said a special federal grand jury probably will be asked to return a new indictment against the pair on the basis of new evidence uncovered in Europe by Justice department agents.

Best, a native of Sumter, S. C., was arrested by British military police last spring in Vilach, Austria.

Chandler was born in Chicago and reared in Baltimore. He was arrested by American agents at his Bavarian home on Feb. 28.

BILBO CALLED IN WAR PROBE

Hearings Open Today On Contract Profits Charges

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.) will be on hand tomorrow, his office said today, for the opening of a Senate war investigating subcommittee's inquiry into his relations with a group of war contractors.

He will be accompanied by his attorney, Forrest Jackson, of Jackson, Miss.

Seven officers and former officers of the Army Corps of Engineers have been summoned.

Had Charge Of Contracts

These witnesses had charge of the award and execution of contracts on a group of Southern airfields.

Allegations in the case are that Bilbo aided the contractors in getting the Government work and received from them more than $30,000 in cash, a completely furnished house and an expensive automobile.

Bilbo has denied any wrongdoing.

The War Department witnesses in the war contracts inquiry include:

MAJ. GEN. THOMAS M. ROBBINS (retired), former assistant chief of engineers.

DOUGLAS T. McKAY, special assistant to the chief of engineers.

BRIG. GEN. SAMUEL D. STURGIS, assistant chief of air staff, and formerly chief of district engineers at Vicksburg, Miss.

BRIG. GEN. LUDSON D. WORSHAM, former chief of division engineers, Mobile, Ala.

COL. P. E. YORK, former resident engineer at the Air Mechanics Training School, Biloxi, Miss.

MAJ. GEN. WILLIAM F. TOMPKINS (retired), former executive assistant to the chief of engineers.

COL. JOHN R. HARDIN, former chief, construction section, Corps of Engineers.

Campaign Probe Report Due

Meanwhile, the special campaign investigating committee, which held hearing in Mississippi last week on charges that Bilbo tried to keep Negroes from voting in last summer's primary, called a special meeting for Monday, presumably to discuss its report.

Senator Hickenlooper, of Iowa, one of two Republicans on the group, indicated he would prepare a minority report unless the committee's conclusions jibe with his own.

Krepper Sentence Upheld

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11 (AP)—A ten-year sentence imposed by the Federal District Court at Newark, N. J., on Carl Emil Ludwig Krepper, following his conviction on a charge of trading with the enemy, was upheld today by the Third United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

First Wallace Editorial Lists Peace, Job Ideal

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, making his debut as editor of the New Republic, states his platform for "jobs, peace and freedom" in the lead editorial of the December 16 issue of the magazine published today.

"I stand for one idea," writes the former Secretary of Commerce, who turned magazine editor after resigning from the Cabinet on request of President Truman because of his public criticism of the Administration's foreign policy.

That idea, he states, is "that jobs, peace an d freedom can be attained together and can make possible one world, prosperous and free, within our lifetime."

Up To Progressives

"In days when reactionaries call the tunes and the daily press dances to it, a weekly mazagine is the best medium" for such a program, Wallace says. "That is why I have become editor of the New Republic."

Declaring that progressives must carry on his program, the former Vice President makes an open bid for support from both major political parties.

Although Wallace lost his Cabinet post over statements interpreted as apologies for Russia, he criticizes the Soviet "iron curtain" in his editorial.

Free Access To Truth

"We shall never have really warm friendship between the United States and Russia and a firm basis for peace until the peoples of both nations are given free access to the unbiased truth and complete freedom to express their reactions to that truth," he says.

Nor does Wallace agree with Russia's hope for atomic control without mutual inspection. He advocates "supporting collective security through effective international inspection and control of activities that could be a part of war preparations."

PORTER HEADS GREEK MISSION

American Economic Group Going To Athens Next Month

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Paul Porter, former price administrator, today was named chief of an American economic mission to Greece.

Dean Acheson, Under Secretary of State, in announcing the apointment, said the mission will study economic conditions in Greece "as they bear upon the reconstruction and development of the economy of that country."

It will consider to what extent the Greek Government can use its own resources for rebuilding the economy and the degree to which foreign help may be needed.

Sent At Premier's Request

The mission is expected to leave Washington for Athens by air around January 20. Acheson said it has been asked to complete its job by the end of next April.

It is being sent in answer to a request from the Greek Prime Minister, Constantine Tsaldaris, to Secretary of State Byrnes.

Economic, financial and engineering experts will accompany Porter.

Acheson Praises Greeks

In announcing the mission, Acheson noted the "valiant stand of the Greeks against the Nazi invasion, their continued resistance and sacrifices throughout the long occupation, and the hardships consequent upon the war which they have endured since liberation."

Among those who will assist

Porter in attempting to help Greece revive its economic system are Leslie L. Rood, executive secretary of the Cabinet Committee on Palestine; Francis Lincoln, from the office of the Under Secretary of State for Economic Affairs; William Roundtree, special assistant in the State Department's office of Near Eastern and African Affairs, and an agricultural expert, financial expert, and engineer still to be named.

Washington, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—The State Department announced today the award of nine of its Medals of Freedom to employees who risked their lives beyond the call of duty during the war.

Dean Acheson, Acting Secretary of State, presented medals to Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., chief of the Eastern European Division and Madame Paulette Petra, a French clerk in the Foreign Office.

The other awards will go to: Nathaniel P. Davis of Princeton, N. J., now assigned to Manila as Minister-Counselor of Embassy; Ha Kun-cheong, a Chinese citizen of Kwangtung, now a clerk for the State Department at Canton; Frank A. Henry of South Bethlehem, Pa., who now is retired and living in Sussex, England; John Leino, building superintendent in the embassy in Moscow; John F. Morgan of Warwick, R. I., who is vice-consul at Budapest; Walter W. Orebaugh of Grants Pass, Ore., consul at Florence, Italy, and Harold N. addell of Brookhaven, Ga., vice-consul and administrative assistant in Brussels.

Stayed in Moscow.

Thompson's citation said that he remained voluntarily in charge of a group of embassy employees in Moscow after the Government and diplomatic corps had been evacuated. It further said that Thompson performed services "of great importance regardless of frequent risks to his life" while Moscow was under intense air bombardment and in danger of capture and while "serious disorders and rioting took place."

Mme. Petra received her medal for "great loyalty, courage and initiative" in aiding interned members of the consulate staff in Saigon. The citation said that she risked life and liberty to obtain food, transmit messages and intercede with Japanese authorities.

Davis was cited for remaining in Manila, after he could have escaped the Japanese, to take charge of a group of interned American citizens and deal with "delicate problems" arising with the Japanese.

Ha Kun-cheong was cited for his loyalty and devotion to duty under "most dangerous and difficult circumstances," which involved going through Japanese lines.

2516 Air Raids.

Henry got his medal for staying on duty in Malta for two years, during which he experienced 2,516 air raids, although he was thrice authorized to close up his office and go to a safer spot. The citation for Orebaugh related how he was captured by the Germans in Italy but succeeded in joining a guerrilla band and becoming its leader.

Leino was cited for conspicuous service in protecting American lives and property by remaining on duty at the Moscow embassy during bombings, rioting and disorders when the city was in danger of capture. Morgan and Waddell were rewarded also for staying on the job in the Moscow embassy during the same period.

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP) — The Mayflower, official yacht of five Presidents and a veteran of two world wars, has been sold to a Canadian ship operator for $20,159.99.

The Maritime Commission said the 50-year-old vessel went to Frank M. Shaw, of Montreal, who submitted the only bid when the vessel was declared surplus recently.

The 275-foot craft, built at Glasgow, Scotland, was last used as a Presidential yacht by President Hoover.

IT SPECIFICALLY PROVIDED THAT MEMBER STATES MUST SUBMIT FULL PARTICULARS ON ARMAMENTS AS WELL AS ARMED FORCES.
VYACHESLAV M. MOLOTOV, SOVIET-RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER, ACCEPTED THE PROPOSAL IN PRINCIPLE IN WHAT ANDREI Y. VISHINSKY, HIS DEPUTY, CALLED A "GENTLEMEN'S AGREEMENT." MOLOTOV HAS INSISTED THAT IF ANY TROOP CENSUS IS HELD ON HOME FORCES THERE MUST ALSO BE AN ACCOUNTING OF ARMAMENTS. XXX ARMAMENTS

THE BIG FOUR COUNCIL SCHEDULED A SECOND SESSION TODAY (4 P.M. EST) TO TRY TO COME TO TERMS ON AN AGENDA FOR THE MOSCOW SESSION AND ON THE CRITICAL DISPUTE BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE THREE WESTERN POWERS OVER WHETHER SMALL NATIONS' VIEWS ON A GERMAN SETTLEMENT SHOULD BE HEARD BEFORE THE MOSCOW MEETING BEGINS.

THE FOREIGN MINISTERS WERE WORKING AT TOP SPEED IN AN EFFORT TO CLEAN UP THEIR SATELLITE PEACE TREATY TEXTS AND ON PLANS FOR THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE IN TIME FOR BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN, SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV AND FRENCH DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER MAURICE COUVE DE MURVILLE TO LEAVE NEW YORK SATURDAY ON THE QUEEN ELIZABETH. ASD(NY)-(HIGHTOWER(W)-XYY MARCH

THE ROUGH AND TUMBLE ARGUMENT OVER DISARMAMENT IN THE UNITED NATIONS, HOWEVER, ADDED A NEW ITEM TO BYRNES' DUTIES. OFFICIALS DISCLOSED THAT AT THE APPROPRIATE TIME WHEN DISARMAMENT COMES UP IN THE U.N. ASSEMBLY, BYRNES WOULD ABANDON HIS POLICY OF REFRAINING FROM ANY PARTICIPATION IN ASSEMBLY WORK AND GO BEFORE IT TO MAKE A STATEMENT OF THE AMERICAN POSITION ON THE WHOLE DISARMAMENT ISSUE.

TODAY'S DECISION ON THE PARIS TREATY SIGNING LEFT IT UNCLEAR AS TO WHETHER THE OTHER 17 NATIONS WHICH ATTENDED THE PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE IN ADDITION TO THE BIG FOUR WOULD BE INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN THAT CEREMONY OR WHETHER THEY WOULD BE GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO SIGN LATER. THEIR SIGNATURES ARE NOT NECESSARY TO GIVE THE TREATIES FULL LEGAL STATUS. IT IS THUS UNCERTAIN WHEN YUGOSLAVIA WILL COME TO A SHOWDOWN ON WHETHER SHE DOES OR DOES NOT ACCEPT THE TRIESTE SETTLEMENT BY SIGNING THE ITALIAN TREATY.

NOR WAS IT DECIDED WHEN THE FOREIGN MINISTERS THEMSELVES WOULD SIGN THE PACTS. THIS COULD BE DONE EITHER AT THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE OR EARLIER IF THE TEXTS WERE DISTRIBUTED TO THEM BY AIRPLANE COURIER.

CLEANING UP VARIOUS POINTS OF THE SATELLITE TREATIES AT THEIR FIRST SESSION TODAY THE BIG FOUR:

1. AGREED TO SEND A FOUR-POWER COMMISSION TO TRIESTE TO MAKE AN ON-THE-SPOT INVESTIGATION OF THE FINANCIAL REQUIREMENTS FOR OPERATING THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROJECTED FREE TERRITORY OF TRIESTE DURING THE INITIAL MONTHS OF ITS EXISTENCE.
2. ADOPTED AS STANDARD FOR ALL FIVE TREATIES A PROCEDURE FOR SETTLING FUTURE DISPUTES OVER THE MEANING OF TREATY TERMS WITH THE HELP OF AN UMPIRE APPOINTED BY THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE U.N.
3. AGREED ON A DETAILED DELINEATION OF THE FRONTIERS OF TRIESTE FREE TERRITORY. THIS SIMPLY NAILED DOWN BOUNDARY DECISIONS PREVIOUSLY MADE IN THE LARGE.
4. MADE PLANS FOR SENDING AN INSPECTION COMMISSION TO THE ITALIAN COLONIES AS SOON AS THE PEACE TREATIES BECOME EFFECTIVE. THE COLONIES REMAIN UNDER ITALIAN ADMINISTRATION FOR A YEAR WHILE THE BIG POWERS DECIDE WHAT TO DO WITH THEM.
5. FAILED FOR THE MOMENT TO AGREE ON EMERGENCY LANDING RIGHTS FOR COMMERCIAL AIRCRAFT IN THE FORMER ENEMY SATELLITE COUNTRIES AND ALSO FAILED TO AGREE ON A SYSTEM FOR DETERMINING THE LONG RANGE FINANCIAL NEEDS OF TRIESTE.

PERSONS PRESENT AT THE COUNCIL SESSION SAID THAT THE FOREIGN MINISTERS THEMSELVES WOULD NOT APPEAR IN PARIS FOR THE SIGNING CEREMONY BUT WOULD BE REPRESENTED THERE, POSSIBLY BY THEIR AMBASSADORS OR OTHER SUBORDINATES.

WUS NY (DAY) HIGHTOWER WYFEB 10.

WHEN THESE TREATIES ARE SIGNED, IT WILL LEAVE ONLY GERMANY AND AUSTRIA, THE LATTER REGARDED AS A LIBERATED COUNTRY, TO HAVE THEIR POST-WAR INTERNATIONAL STATUS DETERMINED, AND PLANS ARE WELL UNDER WAY HERE FOR A PEACE-MAKING SESSION IN MOSCOW ON MARCH 10.

BREAKING THEIR USUAL RULE OF ONE COUNCIL MEETING A DAY, THE BIG FOUR MINISTERS DECIDED AT THE CONCLUSION OF THEIR MID-DAY SESSION THAT THEY WOULD MEET AGAIN AT 4 P.M., EST., TO TACKLE THE QUESTION OF AN EXACT AGENDA FOR THEIR MOSCOW CONFERENCE.

WHETHER THE SATELLITE PEACE TREATIES WILL BE SIGNED BY THE MINISTERS THEMSELVES WHEN THEY MEET IN MOSCOW OR WHETHER THEY WILL BE SIGNED UNDER OTHER CIRCUMSTANCES WAS NOT CERTAIN.

ALSO LEFT VAGUE BY TODAY'S DECISION FOR THE PARIS CEREMONY WAS THE QUESTION OF WHEN THE OTHER 17 NATIONS OF THE PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE, IN ADDITION TO THE BIG FOUR, WOULD SIGN. WITH FOREIGN MINISTERS (300)

NEW YORK, DEC.11-(AP)-AFTER MORE THAN A MONTH OF MEETINGS OF THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL, SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV TONIGHT REGISTERED HIS FIRST COMPLAINT ABOUT THE WAY IN WHICH THE AMERICAN PRESS HAS HANDLED ONE ASPECT OF THE STORY.

THE REPORTERS HAVE RECEIVED THEIR INFORMATION ON THE SECRET SESSIONS OF THE COUNCIL THROUGH AMERICAN, BRITISH AND FRENCH PRESS OFFICERS WHO ATTEND THOSE SESSIONS.

THE RUSSIANS HAVE NOT MADE COMPARABLE INFORMATION AVAILABLE.

IN TONIGHT'S COUNCIL MEETING ON ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE ON A PEACE TREATY WITH GERMANY, MOLOTOV IS REPORTED TO HAVE MADE THIS COMMENT WHEN THE SUBJECT AROSE OF HIS PREVIOUS OPPOSITION TO HOLDING HEARINGS FOR THE SMALL NATIONS ON A GERMAN PEACE SETTLEMENT:

BY THE WAY, MOLOTOV IS REPORTED TO HAVE SAID, I MUST POINT OUT THAT THE SOVIET DELEGATION IS SURPRISED AT THE FACT THAT THE AMERICAN PRESS RECEIVES A VERY ONE-SIDED PRESENTATION OF PROPOSALS WHICH THE SOVIET DELEGATION SUBMITS IN THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS.

I HOPE, MOLOTOV IS SAID TO HAVE CONTINUED, THAT THE FURTHER COURSE OF THE WORK OF THE COUNCIL WILL HELP TO AVOID THIS ONE-SIDEDNESS. FOR INSTANCE, THE SOVIET DELEGATION HARDLY HAD TIME TO OPEN ITS MOUTH WHEN THE AMERICAN PRESS PRESENTED ITS ATTITUDE TOWARD THE PROPOSAL FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL DEPUTIES IN A SENSE WHICH WAS UNFAVORABLE TOWARD THE ATTITUDE OF THE SOVIET POSITION.

OF COURSE, MOLOTOV REPORTEDLY CONTINUED, IT IS ALL RIGHT TO SAY THE PRESS IS FREE, BUT IT WOULD BE WELL THAT THERE SHOULD BE AS FEW AS POSSIBLE CASES OF EXTREME ONE-SIDEDNESS.

DIPLOMATS WORKING WITH THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL SAID THEY WERE UNCERTAIN WHETHER MOLOTOV WAS PROTESTING AGAINST FACTUAL ACCOUNTS OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL OR WHETHER HE OBJECTED TO EDITORIAL OPPOSITION TO THE IMPLICATION THAT HE WAS AGAINST HEARING THE VIEWS OF SMALL NATIONS ON A GERMAN SETTLEMENT BEFORE THE BIG POWERS HAD MADE THEIR OWN DECISIONS ON GERMANY.

MISS YIM SAID THAT ONLY A DRASTIC CHANGE IN ECONOMIC CONDITIONS OF KOREA COULD PREVENT A CIVIL WAR FROM BREAKING OUT BEFORE THE END OF WINTER, BUT THAT SHE WAS FINDING IT DIFFICULT TO GET THE UNITED NATIONS DELEGATES TO LISTEN TO THE PROBLEMS OF HER COUNTRY. SHE SAID KOREA "NEEDS HELP FROM A GREATER POWER ON OTHER MATTERS."

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC. 11-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS ADVANCED A STEP CLOSER TO ESTABLISHMENT OF A TRUSTEESHIP SYSTEM FOR THE 15 MILLION INHABITANTS OF AREAS FORMERLY MANDATED BY THE OLD LEAGUE OF NATIONS WITH APPROVAL TONIGHT BY A GENERAL ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE OF DRAFT TRUSTEESHIP AGREEMENTS FOR EIGHT TERRITORIES.

THE 54-NATION TRUSTEESHIP COMMITTEE, BY A VOTE OF 35 TO 8, APPROVED DRAFT TRUSTEESHIP AGREEMENTS FOR WESTERN SAMOA, RUANDA-URUNDI, TANGANYIKA, THE BRITISH CAMEROONS, BRITISH TOGOLAND, THE FRENCH CAMEROONS, FRENCH TOGOLAND AND NEW GUINEA.

THE AGREEMENTS NOW GO TO THE FLOOR OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY FOR FINAL APPROVAL.

PROF.BORIS STEIN, SPEAKING FOR RUSSIA, WHO HAD BITTERLY OPPOSED THE AGREEMENTS ON THE GROUNDS THEY WERE DRAFTED IN A FORM THAT CONSTITUTED A VIOLATION OF THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER, ANNOUNCED IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE VOTING THAT SOVIET RUSSIA "WILL DEFEND ITS POINT OF VIEW IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY."

JOHN FOSTER DULLES, UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE, WHO TOOK A LEADING ROLE IN PUSHING THE AGREEMENTS THROUGH TO APPROVAL DURING MORE THAN A MONTH OF HEATED COMMITTEE DEBATE, SAID HE DID NOT THINK "THESE AGREEMENTS ARE PERFECT," BUT ADDED:

"WE ARE CONVINCED THAT THE TRUST AGREEMENTS IN THEIR PRESENT FORM REFLECT THE WORDS AND SPIRIT OF THE CHARTER AND UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF THE TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL WILL, IN FACT, PROMOTE THE OBJECTIVES OF THE CHARTER, PARTICULARLY THOSE IN RELATION TO SELF-GOVERNMENT OR INDEPENDENCE."

SEPARATE BALLOTS WERE TAKEN ON THE AGREEMENTS BUT THE VOTE IN EACH CASE WAS THE SAME. THE EIGHT NATIONS CASTING NEGATIVE VOTES WERE SOVIET RUSSIA, WHITE RUSSIA, YUGOSLAVIA, SOVIET UKRAINE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, CHILE, INDIA AND POLAND.

THE FIVE MANDATORY POWERS SUBMITTING THE DRAFT AGREEMENTS WERE NEW ZEALAND, AUSTRALIA, BELGIUM, FRANCE AND GREAT BRITAIN.

RUSSIA'S OBJECTIONS TO THE AGREEMENTS INCLUDED OPPOSITION TO PROVISIONS PERMITTING MANDATORY POWERS TO RETAIN SUPERVISION OF MILITARY BASES AND ARMED PERSONNEL IN THE TERRITORIES.

A RUSSIAN AMENDMENT WHICH WOULD HAVE PLACED THIS POWER IN THE HANDS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL--AND THUS SUBJECT TO BIG POWER VETO PRIVILEGES--WAS REJECTED.

THE CONTRIBUTION FOR 1947, WHICH IS 10 PERCENT UNDER THE ORIGINAL AMOUNT ASKED OF THE UNITED STATES, WAS ACCEPTED UNANIMOUSLY BY A BUDGETARY SUBCOMMITTEE.

SEN.ARTHUR H.VANDENBERG (R-MICH) TOLD THE SUBCOMMITTEE THAT HIS GOVERNMENT "UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES" WOULD AGREED PERMANENTLY TO PAY MORE THAN ONE-THIRD AND THAT THE HIGHER FIGURE WAS BEING ACCEPTED FOR ONE YEAR ONLY.

"THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN 33 1/3 PERCENT AND 39.89 PERCENT IS VOLUNTARILY ASSUMED BY US FOR 1947 BECAUSE WE RECOGNIZE THAT NORMAL POST-WAR RELATIONSHIPS HAVE NOT YET BEEN RESTORED AND WE ARE WILLING TO ACCEPT THIS ADDED, TEMPORARY ASSESSMENT TO ASSIST THE UNITED NATIONS IN MEETING THE EMERGENCY," VANDENBERG DECLARED.

HE ADDED THAT THE UNITED STATES WAS UNWILLING TO HAVE ANY ASSESSMENTS SET FOR 1948 AT THIS TIME BECAUSE OF RAPIDLY CHANGING ECONOMIC CONDITIONS IN THE WORLD.

MOSCOW, DEC.11-(AP)-SOVIET CHARGES THAT UNITED STATES PROPOSALS FOR INTER-AMERICAN MILITARY COOPERATION PURSUE THE AGGRESSIVE GOAL OF CONVERTING THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE INTO AN U.S.-DOMINATED MILITARY BLOC WERE REITERATED TODAY BY A COMMENTATOR IN THE SOVIET ARMY ORGAN RED STAR.

OIL

WASHINGTON, DEC 11-(AP)-THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT DISCLOSED TODAY IT IS ALIGNED WITH THE STATE DEPARTMENT IN THE VIEW THAT THE UNITED STATES MAY EXPECT TO HAVE TO RELY MORE AND MORE UPON THE IMPORT OF FOREIGN OILS

RALPH K.DAVIES, ACTING DIRECTOR OF THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT'S OIL AND GAS DIVISION, SAID IN A STATEMENT THAT THE FINAL REPORT OF THE PETROLEUM ADMINISTRATION FOR WAR OUTLINES A SIX-PART PROPOSED NATIONAL OIL POLICY.

DAVIES, FORMER HEAD OF THE PAW, TOLD THE COMMITTEE THAT, IN VIEW OF INCREASED OIL REQUIREMENTS AND A WARTIME DECREASE IN RESERVE CAPACITY, THE NATION MUST:

1. DEVELOP DOMESTIC SUPPLIES.
2. MAINTAIN A VIGOROUS DOMESTIC INDUSTRY.
3. CONSERVE DOMESTIC RESOURCES.
4. EXPLORE ADDITIONAL DOMESTIC AREAS.
5. DEVELOP SYNTHETIC LIQUID FLUEID FUELS.
6. NEGOTIATE ACCESS TO FOREIGN OIL SUPPLIES.

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE OIL AND GAS DIVISION SAID THIS RECOMMENDATION ALSO REPRESENTS THE ATTITUDE OF THE DIVISION AND THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT. THE STATE DEPARTMENT PREVIOUSLY HAS CALLED ATTENTION TO A PROSPECTIVE NEED FOR FOREIGN OILS.

DAVIES SAID THAT WITHOUT CONTINUED DISCOVERY AND DEVELOPMENT, NATIONAL OIL PRODUCTIVE CAPACITY DECLINES 300,000 BARRELS A DAY EACH YEAR.

"IN THE LIGHT OF RECENT EXPERIENCE THERE IS NO ASSURANCE THAT THE DISCOVERY RATE CAN BE SUFFICIENTLY INCREASED TO MEET ANTICIPATED NEEDS," DAVIES SAID.

"THE INCENTIVES TO DEVELOP OIL MUST BE SUCH THAT THE LARGE AND ESTABLISHED COMPANIES WILL PUT FORTH THEIR BEST EFFORTS AND THE SMALLER COMPANIES MAY BE ENCOURAGED TO TAKE THE RISKS OF EXPLORATION. INCREASES IN OPERATING EXPENSES UNDOUBTEDLY MAKE IT COST MORE TO FIND A BARREL OF OIL TODAY THAN IN THE YEARS BEFORE THE WAR." more

DAVIES ALSO URGED VIGILANCE AGAINST WASTE OF LIQUID FUELS, ADDING: "EIGHT OIL PRODUCING STATES HAVE CONSERVATION LAWS THAT RANGE IN VALUE FROM REASONABLY ADEQUATE TO EXCELLENT. ELEVEN OTHER STATES HAVE NO ADEQUATE CONSERVATION STATUTES, CALIFORNIA AND ILLINOIS BEING THE LARGEST PRODUCERS AMONG THEM."

AMONG NEW EXPLORATION AREAS DAVIES MENTIONED THE NEW NATIONAL DOMAIN, THE CONTINENTAL SHELF SURROUNDING THE WATER BORDERS OF THE UNITED STATES--900,000 SQUARE MILES, OR APPROXIMATELY 30 PERCENT OF THE AREA OF THE CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES. HE PARTICULARLY RECOMMENDED THE AREAS ALONG THE GULF OF MEXICO AND PACIFIC COASTS AS POTENTIAL PETROLEUM SOURCES.

DAVIES SAID SYNTHETIC FUEL PRODUCTION IS A NATIONAL "SECOND LINE OF DEFENSE." HE SAID THE BUREAU OF MINES HAS BEEN EXPERIMENTING WITH OIL SHALES AND COAL AND HAS UTILIZED A GREAT DEAL OF INFORMATION CONCERNING GERMAN SYNTHETIC FUEL.

DAVIES SAID IT IS TO THE NATION'S ADVANTAGE TO IMPORT OIL RATHER THAN DRAW EXCESSIVELY UPON DOMESTIC FIELDS.

"UNTIL A DOMESTIC RESERVE ADEQUATE FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE IS BUILT UP, IT IS VITAL THAT THE UNITED STATES HAVE SAFE ACCESS TO LARGE VOLUMES OF FOREIGN PRODUCTION," HE SAID.

SAN FRANCISCO,DEC.11-(AP)-A BAPTIST MISSIONARY COUPLE WHO WENT TO CHINA LAST JULY, RETURNED TODAY, REPORTING IT WAS VIRTUALLY IMPOSSIBLE TO CONDUCT MISSIONARY WORK IN THAT COUNTRY UNDER PRESENT WARRING CONDITIONS.

"CHINA IS AN ARMED CAMP," WHERE RAILROADS ARE TORN UP AND FIGHTING IS CONTINUOUS," SAID CHARLES BALLOU OF SCIENCE HILL,KY. HE AND HIS WIFE ARRIVED HERE ABOARD THE MATSONIA.

BALLOU HAD DONE EVANGELICAL WORK IN CHINA BEFORE THE WAR AND ESTABLISHED SEVERAL CHURCHES THERE, BUT WHEN HE AND HIS WIFE RETURNED UNDER SPONSORSHIP OF AN INDIANAPOLIS CHURCH, THEY FOUND CONDITIONS VASTLY CHANGED.

THEY LANDED AT SHANGHAI. BALLOU SAID FOREIGNERS GOT NO PROTECTION FROM BANDITS AND THIEVES.

"WE NEVER EVEN GOT TO TAWENKOW, IN NORTH CHINA (SHANTUNG PROVINCE) WHERE WE PLANNED TO CONDUCT OUR MISSIONARY WORK. THE CITY WAS SURROUNDED BY FIGHTING BETWEEN COMMUNISTS AND NATIONALISTS.

"IT IS POSSIBLE TO CARRY ON MISSIONARY WORK IN SECTIONS CONTROLLED BY THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT, BUT UNDER RESTRICTIONS FAR GREATER THAN BEFORE THE WAR.

"IT IS UTTERLY IMPOSSIBLE TO CARRY ON ANY SORT OF MISSIONARY WORK IN COMMUNIST TERRITORY. ONE CANNOT EVEN CORRESPOND WITH ONE'S OWN WORKERS."

THE BALLOUS SAID THEY WOULD VISIT FRIENDS IN CALIFORNIA BEFORE HEADING FOR HOME.

RESOLUTION PROVIDES BAN ON ATOM BOMB AND EARLY CUT IN FORCES

Compromise Reached On Troop Census Verification—Yugoslavia Asks Security Council To Investigate Greek Charges

Arms Reduction Measure Sent To Political Group

F. CARPENTER

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—The United Nations Assembly tonight passed, 34 to 6, a resolution recommending that all members immediately recall from Madrid their ambassadors and ministers to Franco Spain.

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—A United Nations subcommittee adopted unanimously today a long-range arms limitation program and then agreed on a compromise solving the troop-census impasse which split Russia and Great Britain.

The twenty-member subcommittee, which included the five great powers, charted a monumental arms limitation program at a four-hour meeting today. It envisions prohibition of the atomic bomb and all major weapons of war as well as an early reduction of national arms forces. The resolution now must be approved by the 54-member political committee of the United Nations Assembly.

In Four-Hour Wrangle

Meeting with scant rest, the subcommittee wrangled for another four hours tonight before throwing out the controversial British-Russian "gentlemen's agreement" proposition which raised a tremendous issue for the Assembly. In its place the subcommittee proposed by a vote of 15 to 2, with three abstentions, to leave the quest of information up to the Security Council when it takes up arms limitation.

Russia and the Ukraine voted against the compromise. Canada, Poland and Brazil abstained.

The compromise in effect asks the Security Council, which must formulate arms limitation details, to determine as rapidly as possible what information member nations should be invited to submit. It goes to the political committee tomorrow with the much broader arms limitation and troop reduction resolution.

Toss Out Verification

The sub - committee's action tossed out the British proposal for an "on-the-spot" verification of a troop count at home as well as abroad and a Russian demand that if there was to be any troop count at home—which Russia has so far not favored—it must include full report on armaments as well.

The resolution provides generally:

1. Early world-wide arms limitation and reduction of forces.
2. Outlawing of atomic weapons and other major means of war.

To Set Up Control Groups

3. International conventions setting up organizations regulating arms controls.
4. Inspection and control under these organizations free of the big-power veto.
5. A balanced reduction of armed forces by the nations.
6. The expeditious creation of the international police force for the United Nations Security Council.
7. A special session of the General Assembly to act on conventions or treaties on arms limitation which then would be submitted to the nations for ratification.

Opens Debate On Spain

Elsewhere in the United Nations:

1. The General Assembly in plenary session opened debate on Franco Spain.
2. The permanent headquarters committee considered an offer by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to give $8,500,000 for a skyscraper capital site fronting the East River in New York city.

The main attention of the United Nations, however, centered on twenty delegates, five of them from the great powers, who met for nearly four hours in midday before they finally approved the resolution.

Historic Import Noted

The vote came with Sir Hartley Shawcross, British delegate, reminding the others that they were making history.

The delegates fought over the resolution until the very last and its final form represents a masterpiece of compromise.

The principal flareup came when Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, heatedly reminded that committee that Russia had agreed to intentional inspection and control of arms regulations within the framework of the Security Council but outside the veto right of the five great powers.

"We keep our word," Vishinsky said after his long reaffirmation of Russia's stand.

Opposing Australian Move

He was speaking against an attempt by Australia's Paul Hasluck and Shawcross to write the following provision into the section of the resolution dealing with international organizations regulating armaments:

"The organs should be clothed with all the powers required to implement international safeguards and to detect and report on any breach or threatened breach of the treaty or convention and of subsequent supplementary agreements on the regulation and reduction of armaments."

U.N. Subcommittee Adopts Arms Limitation Program

Vishinsky insisted this provision added nothing to the resolution.

Hasluck said his Government felt it was necessary to be specific on the point of direct powers for the control organs.

Both Yield To Vishinsky

Shawcross supported Hasluck with an amendment which expanded the idea a bit more, but after Vishinsky's statement both yielded.

Hasluck said briefly that his Government reserved the right to bring the matter up again.

The United States fought hard and successfully to insert a paragraph in the resolution specifically providing that nothing in the arms-control resolution would change the resolution of January 24, 1946, creating the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas), United States delegate and chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was silent until he presented the United States reservation with the statement that he was prepared to push it with "every ounce of strength" at this country's command.

Russia And France Give In

Vishinsky and Alexandre Parodi, of France, opposed Connally on the grounds that the resolution did not detract from or change the January 24 act of the Assembly but they gave in when Connally, backed by Paul-Henri Spaak, of Belgium, Assembly president, insisted it must be in the resolution. After the meeting Connally said that "on the whole it is a good resolution."

The resolution, technically known as a "resolution on the principles governing the general regulation and reduction of armaments," contains six paragraphs. They provide roughly:

Urges Atom Control Haste

1. The General Assembly recognizes the necessity for an early general regulation and reduction of armaments and armed forces; recommends that the Security Council formulate speedily practical measures for those aims, and provides that the plans shall be submitted to the United Nations members for consideration at a special session of the General Assembly. The treaties or conventions approved by the Assembly shall be ratified in accord with the United Nations Charter.

2. The Assembly urges expeditious fulfillment by the Atomic Energy Commission of its assignment to find an atomic-control plan and recommends that the Security Council rush consideration of conventions for creating an international system of control and inspection. These conventions must include "the prohibition of atomic and all other major weapons adaptable now or in the future to mass destruction, and the control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to insure its use only for peaceful purposes."

3. The General Assembly recognizes the necessity of practical and effective safeguards such as inspection. There shall be established control organs within the framework of the Security Council with powers and status coming from the conventions setting them up.

This provision was perhaps the most controversial and it was understood by all of the subcommittee that the veto would not apply to the work of these organs.

Would Disband Forces

4. The General Assembly recommends early establishment of the international police force, the withdrawal of troops from former enemy lands as occupation needs warrant, and a reduction of national forces corresponding directly to the withdrawal of troops from alien lands to home bases. This would mean the virtual disbanding of any unit brought back home from alien stations.

5. Nothing shall alter or limit the resolution of the Assembly setting up the Atomic Energy Commission.

6. The General Assembly calls upon the members of the United Nations to render every possible assistance in these aims.

Subcommittee Okays Basic Arms Plan

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—A United Nations subcommittee today approved the basic principles of a world-wide arms-limitation program providing for inspection and control machinery free of the big-power veto.

With unexpected speed, the twenty-nation group went through a draft resolution paragraph by paragraph and approved the entire draft with only two amendments.

Atomic Commission

After the measure was approved in full, the United States sought to add another paragraph providing that nothing in the resolution would alter or limit the work of the Aatomic Energy Commission which is now trying to devise world atomic controls.

A debate on this issue was touched off when Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky objected to its inclusion, but most of the delegates felt that no major principle was involved and that their main task was completed.

As soon as the United States amendment was disposed of, the plan was to be submitted to the 54-nation Political Committee of the Assembly and then to the Assembly itself for final action.

The new provisions injected into the arms plan:

1. Added a requirement that any program adopted by the Security Council must be approved by a special session of the 54-nation General Assembly in addition to a stipulation already accepted that it must be ratified by individual United Nations member states.

2. Laid down a specific condition that any arms reduction program must provide for the control of atomic energy "to the extent necessary to insure its use only for peaceful purposes."

Offered By Canada

Both provisions were offered by Canada and accepted with little debate, the first by a 10-to-9 vote and the second unanimously.

In an effort to remove American opposition to the latest British proposals on the troop census, the British delegation issued a statement denying that Britain's plan would make it necessary for the United States to divulge the number of its atomic bombs or any other atomic secrets by January 15, the deadline for reports laid down in the census proposal.

Shawcross's Intention

The British statement said that what Sir Hartley Shawcross had in mind was that data on the atomic and other weapons would be submitted only after an international inspection system had been set up to verify any troop and arms information.

It was pointed out that this inspection system would have to have the approval of all permanent members of the Security Council before it could be established, which would give the United States the right to veto it. It was stated further that the British proposal would be revised to make this more clear.

The British plan was offered Tuesday night by Shawcross after Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had agreed to accept Britain's plan for a verification system on troop data and for data on home troops if Britain would agree to include "armaments" in the census.

On the arms-limitation question, the subcommittee struck a snag when Australia sought to put into more specific language the powers of international inspection and control agencies whose duty would be to see that all nations abided by the arms agreements.

Proposal Withdrawn

After a long wrangle in which Vishinsky reiterated Russia's declaration that the veto would not apply in the inspection machinery, Australian Delegate Paul Hasluck withdrew his proposal but reserved the right ot bring it up later.

"We dont go back on our word," Vishinsky said, after insisting that it was not necessary to write into the resolution any specific provision regarding the veto.

Meanwhile, the General Assembly in plenary session debated a resolution, already approved by the 54-nation Political Committee recommending that all member states immediately recall their ambassadors and ministers from Franco Spain.

Polish Delegate Oscar Lange sought to have the Spanish debate postponed because of light attendance at the session, but he was voted down, 21 to 18.

The disarmament resolution as drawn up finally by a drafting group calls for:

1. General reduction of armaments and armed forces.

2. Top priority for considering prohibition of atomic weapons.

3. Effective safeguards by way of inspection and controls operating under conventions among the nations.

4. The withdrawal of forces from former enemy territories as occupation needs allow.

5. Acceleration of the establishment of the international police force under the Security Council.

Rushing For Deadline

The delegates were attempting to meet their adjournment deadline of December 13 but it was generally agreed this would be impossible. Most delegates believed they might be able to adjourn by Wednesday of next week.

In a sudden burst of speed last night, the Assembly raced through unanimous approval of twenty items.

Three plenary sessions were scheduled for Flushing Meadow Park today and there were numerous committee meetings set for Lake Success.

Text of U. N. Group Resolution on Disarmament

The text of a resolution on principles governing the general regulation and reduction of armaments, which was approved unanimously yesterday by a subcommittee of the Political and Security Committee of the United Nations General Assembly, follows:

(1) In pursuance of Article 11 of the Charter and with a view to strengthening international peace and security in conformity with the purposes and principles of the United Nations, the General Assembly recognizes the necessity of an early general regulation and reduction of armaments and armed forces. Accordingly, the General Assembly recommends that the Security Council give prompt consideration to formulating the practical measures according to their priority which are essential to provide for the general regulation and reduction of armaments and armed forces and to assure that such regulation and reduction will be generally observed by all participants, and not unilaterally by only some of the participants. The plans formulated by the Security Council shall be submitted by the Secretary General to the members of the United Nations for consideration at a special session of the General Assembly. The treaties or conventions approved by the General Assembly shall be submitted to the signatory states members for ratification in accordance with Article 26 of the Charter.

(2) As an essential step toward the urgent objective of eliminating from national armaments atomic and all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction and the early establishment of international control of atomic energy and other modern scientific discoveries and technical developments to insure their use only for peaceful purposes, the General Assembly urges the expeditious fulfillment by the Atomic Energy Commission of its terms of reference as set forth in Section 5 of the General Assembly resolution of Jan. 24, 1946. In order to insure that the general prohibition, regulation and reduction of armaments are directed towards the major weapons of modern warfare and not merely toward the minor weapons, the General Assembly recommends that the Security Council expedite consideration of the reports which the Atomic Energy Commission will make to the Security Council and that it facilitate the work of that commission, and also that the Security Council expedite consideration of a draft convention or conventions to include the prohibition of atomic and all other major weapons adaptable now or in the future to mass destruction, and the control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to insure its use only for peaceful purposes.

(3) The General Assembly further recognizes that essential to the general regulation and reduction of armaments is the provision of practical and effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions. Accordingly, the General Assembly recommends to the Security Council that it give prompt consideration to the working out of proposals to provide such practical and effective safeguards in connection with the control of atomic energy and other limitation or regulation of armaments.

To insure the adoption of measures for the early general regulation and reduction of armaments and armed forces for the prohibition of the use of atomic energy for warlike purposes and the elimination from national armaments of atomic and all other major weapons adaptable now or in the future to mass destruction, and for the control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to insure its use only for peaceful purposes, there shall be established within the framework of the Security Council, which bears the primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security, an international system, as mentioned at the end of Paragraph 2, operating through special organs, which organs shall derive their powers and status from the convention or conventions under which they are established.

(4) The General Assembly, regarding the problem of security as closely connected with that of disarmament, recommends the Security Council to accelerate as much as possible the placing at its disposal of the armed forces mentioned in Article 43 of the Charter. It recommends the members to undertake the progressive and balanced withdrawal, taking account of the needs of occupation, of their forces stationed in ex-enemy territories, and the withdrawal without delay of forces stationed in the territories of members without their consent freely and publicly expressed in treaties or agreements consistent with the Charter and not contradicting international agreements. It further recommends a corresponding reduction of national armed forces, and a general progressive and balanced reduction of these national armed forces.

(5) The General Assembly calls upon all members of the United Nations to render every possible assistance to the Security Council and the Atomic Energy Commission in order to promote the establishment of international peace and collective security with the least diversion for armaments of the world's human and economic resources.

(6) Nothing herein contained shall alter or limit the resolution of the General Assembly passed on Jan. 24, 1946, creating the Atomic Energy Commission.

ASSEMBLY URGES SPEEDY RECALL OF AMBASSADORS

Resolution Asks 'Adequate Measures' if Franco Stays in Power.

ARMS ACTION TAKEN

Committee Adopts Program, Agrees on Troop Census Compromise.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP) The United Nations assembly tonight passed, 34 to 6, a resolution recommending that all members immediately recall from Madrid their ambassadors and ministers to Franco Spain.

By the terms of the resolution

UN.

Those Opposing Move

Those opposing the move were Argentina, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador and Peru.

Abstentions included Afghanistan, Canada, Colombia, Cuba, Honduras, Lebanon, the Netherlands, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Turkey and South Africa.

Tonight's vote followed nearly seven hours of debate in which most of the previous arguments were repeated. Andrei A. Gromyko of Russia indicated plainly that he still felt the resolution did not go far enough.

The Spanish case originally was raised in the Security Council last spring by Poland, which demanded a worldwide severance of diplomatic relations with the Franco regime. After weeks of debate, including consideration of a long report by an investigating sub-committee, the council was unable to agree.

Advocates of positive action, spearheaded by the Soviet, have long insisted that definite steps would have to be taken to unseat the former ally of Hitler and Mussolini.

Those opposing strong action, on the other hand argued that any such moves would be interfering in strictly internal affairs, would harm the Spanish people themselves and might force a bloody civil war.

An American resolution, which was turned down in committee, invited Franco to give up power and called upon the people to get their house in order to qualify for membership in the UN.

The issue had been debated at Potsdam, San Francisco and London but all that ever came out of the discussions was a general condemnation of Franco and a decision to bar Spain, as long as he was in power, from membership in the UN.

GROUP VOTES, 33-7 FOR MANHATTAN'S SKYSCRAPER SITE

Decision Goes to Assembly, Where Two-Thirds Approval Is Required.

MAY END WRANGLE

Australia Leads Opponents in Fight Against Settling in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP) The 54-nation permanent headquarters committee of the United Nations assembly voted 33 to 7 tonight to accept the offer of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., of an $8,500,000 skyscraper site in Manhattan as the permanent home of the world organization. The decision now goes to the General Assembly for approval.

In the vote which may end a year-long wrangle over selection of the world peace capital, the opponents of the eastside Manhattan site were Australia, Egypt, India, Iraq, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Syria.

Colombia, the Dominican Republic, France, Iran, Panama and Peru abstained.

Goes to Assembly

When the decision of the committee reaches the General Assembly, it will require two-thirds approval for ratification, 36 votes then being necessary if there is full attendance.

The committee's vote on the Rockefeller offer to purchase approximately 18 acres of land half way up Manhattan and overlooking the East River eliminated for the present the other favored prospective sites, the Roxborough-Belmont areas of Philadelphia and the Presidio at San Francisco. Boston also was under consideration.

The action came only after protests from San Francisco supporters, particularly Australia, against speedy acceptance of an offer which had been before the committee less than two days.

The United States spearheaded the belated drive for the Manhattan location.

George Saksin, Soviet representative who last week flatly rejected San Francisco and said his delegation would not attend meetings there told the 54-nation headquarters committee that the Rockefeller plan should be adopted unanimously.

However, Norman J. O. Makin of Australia, long a strong supporter of the West Coast, said the committee should not act on such short notice.

The question went before the full committee after a 13-nation subcommittee reported the skyscraper site "would be excellent for the construction of a vertical type headquarters."

John E. Wilson of New Zealand said the New York City offer should be considered with two questions: Is there room for expansion? Will building costs exceed those possible on the Philadelphia site?

Plenty of Room

Warren R. Austin, chief United State delegate, replied that the "records shows definitely" that the 17 to 18 acres of the Rockefeller offer were sufficient for all the buildings the U.N. required.

He quoted Wallace K. Harrison as reporting building costs could not be estimated until the type of buildings desired was known, but pointed out Philadelphia offered an undeveloped site requiring expenditure for construction both above and below the ground, while the Manhattan site required only above ground building. He added that public services already were installed in the Manhattan site.

P. N. Saptu of India and Awni Khalidy of Iraq protested against hasty acceptance of the Rockefeller offer.

Kenneth Younger of Great Britain announced his delegation, which previously favored Philadelphia, would vote to accept the Manhattan offer.

TRUMAN IMPARTIAL AS TO SITE OF U. N.

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—President Truman has informed Senator Myers (D.-Pa.) that he doesn't care where the United Nations makes its permanent home so long as it is in the United States.

"I have taken no hand in this site program and don't intend to take any," the President said in a letter made public by Myers today.

"I am perfectly willing for the United Nations to go to any good city in the United States and I have no preference. . . . The only thing I am interested in is to keep them in the United States."

The President's letter was in reply to a telegram from Myers in which the Senator expressed the hope that the United States delegation to U. N. would refrain from expressing a preference for any site within the United States. Philadelphia, Myers's home city, is a contender for the honor.

YUGOSLAVIA ASKS UN GREEK PROBE

Acts After Greece Accuses Neighbor Nations of Aggression

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 12—(AP) A Yugoslav delegate, vehemently denying that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania are encouraging guerrilla warfare in northern Greece, demanded tonight that the United Nations Security Council establish immediately a commission to investigate conditions "inside Greece."

The Yugoslav move came after Greek Premier Constantin Tsaldaris denounced the three neighboring nations for what he called a systematic plan of aggression.

Greece Charges Plot

In a formal complaint that these nations were encouraging guerrilla warfare, Tsaldaris charged that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania had worked out "in minutest detail" a plan to force Greek Macedonia into the Federal Yugoslav state of Macedonia. He appealed to the U. N. to avoid what he called the errors of the League of Nations and end "Greece's present martyrdom."

Sava N. Kosanovic, Yugoslav ambassador to the United States, protested there were "no grounds whatever" in these charges, and that the present fighting in Greece was not provoked by foreign influence "but by the course Greek home policy has taken and by the endeavor to stifle the majority."

"It is along the Greek border alone that there are incidents today," he said. "The causes cannot be sought outside Greece.

"It is within Greece that there exists a breeding-ground of disturbances that imperil the peaceful and friendly development of eastern Europe. What this whole situation requires is an investigation of conditions inside Greece at the earliest possible moment, and that is what we now propose."

"The situation is even more serious," Kosanovich said, "because England, which supports Mr. Tsaldaris, and still maintains troops in Greece, must share the responsibility. The presence of these foreign troops has prevented the Greek people from expressing their true will."

He branded the Greek complaint as "childish," adding that "little enthusiasm could be claimed in the democratic world for the plebiscite which restored the monarchy in Greece."

He denied Greek charges point by point and counter-charged that the Greek army had carried on a "reign of terror" in northern Greece.

As he spoke, Vladimir Stoytchett, Bulgarian political representative in the United States, and Hysni Kopo, Albanian minister to Yugoslavia, listened attentively.

During Kosanovich's speech, Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko left the council chamber, and his place was taken by A. N. Kraisenikov for Russia.

After the Yugoslav's address, the session was adjourned until 3 p.m. (E.S.T.) Monday, when the Albanian and Bulgarian representatives are expected to present their statements.

Representatives of Bulgaria and Albania—neither members of the UN—were at the council table for the purpose of making initial statements. When the council had heard statements from all four nations involved, it planned to proceed with only Greece and Yugoslavia present. If it is decided that this is a dispute rather than a situation, the Bulgarian and Albanian representatives will be invited to return to the council table, without vote but with permission to participate in the discussion.

The Greek case was taken up shortly after the council unanimously approved the application of Siam for membership in the United Nations. Machinery was put in motion immediately, a secretariat source said, to speed the application through its various remaining stages, so that Siam might become the 55th member of the world organization at the current session of the General Assembly.

Approval of the Siamese application by the Russians represented a reversal of former Soviet policy on new members. Russia had vetoed Eire, Trans-Jordan and Portugal, and had spoken against Siam, on grounds that these nations did not have diplomatic relations with Moscow. Russian Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko, however, did not pursue his objections at today's session.

Termed Undeclared War

Tsaldaris, speaking in French under bright klieg lights provided in the chamber for photographers, told the Security Council his nation was "experiencing a state of undeclared war."

"In the name of the people of Greece who so far have received nothing beyond platonic praise and actually unjust treatment in respect of their countless services to the common cause, I appeal to the conscience of the nations and I request the Security Council urgently to adopt the necessary measures to put an end to this tragic situation, in regard to which it is really no exaggeration to say that its continuance 'might endanger the maintenance of international peace and security.'" Tsaldaris said.

Sees Spot Inquiry

The Greeks seek an on-the-spot investigation by a United Nations commission.

Tsaldaris charged that the "purpose of this warlike activity" against Greece by her neighbors was well known.

"It aims on the one hand at sundering Greece from a region which is Greek in the highest degree, and on the other hand of setting up in Greece a regime opposed to the wishes of the vast majority of the people, as manifested in elections, the freedom of which was verified by foreign observers.

Lists Leftist Moves

He gave a long recital of the operations of Leftist bands in the north, and added:

"Furthermore, it appears from all the incidents that have occurred in the past two months that not only are the bands supplied, organized and armed in Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania, but that they are officered by Yugoslav, Bulgarian and Albanian personnel."

BIG FOUR FINISHES SESSIONS IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP) The four-power Foreign Ministers' Council finished its peace-making sessions in New York tonight with its members in agreement that the long experience they have had in writing the European satellite peace treaties would be of great help in making a German settlement.

U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes said that if they should get stuck on German issues at their meeting opening in Moscow March 10, he would invite them back to New York because this seemed to be the place where they could reach agreement.

Clear Up Routine Items

Tonight's closing session in which they cleared up a number of routine points which had been left to the last actually was their 33rd meeting here and their 22nd session since they started in September, 1945, to try to write peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

Those treaties now are finished, and once they are put into formal diplomatic language by deputies continuing their work here they will be signed in Paris Feb. 10. Meanwhile, as a result of another decision made here, other special deputies will go to work in London in mid-January to give small nations an opportunity to express their views on the German settlement.

Final instructions for the special deputies on the German and Austrian treaties gave them the widest latitude in hearing anything Germany's neighbors or other Allied countries want to propose for inclusion in the peace treaties or to recommend with respect to Austria.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, chairman of the final session, and British Foreign Secretary Bevin have been planning to start for home Saturday. Plans for Secretary Byrnes' return to Washington were not made known pending his appearance, possibly tomorrow, before the United Nations assembly on the question of disarmament.

Among the points cleared up tonight were these:

Final agreement on a six-point agenda covering work on the German and Austrian settlement for the Moscow meeting.

Formal publication of a decision to hold an international conference on Danube navigation within six months after the Balkan peace treaties become effective.

Agreement that Italian lira continue to serve as currency in the free territories of Trieste until the territory's own currency regime can be established.

Formal signing of a protocol stating that the governor of Trieste should be named by the United Nations Security Council so that he could take over his duties "simultaneously with the entry into force of the peace treaties," which means as soon as the duties themselves come into being.

Spaak, Shawcross Stay To Press Arms Action

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—Paul-Henri Spaak, of Belgium, president of the United Nations Assembly, and Sir Hartley Shawcross, delegate of Great Britain, were so determined to achieve action on arms limitation at this session of the Assembly that they changed their holiday plans in order to remain in New York as long as necessary.

Shawcross told the United Nations subcommittee considering arms limitation that he felt so strongly on the subject he would remain here until "the cows come home," if necessary.

CHURCHILL WARNS LABOR REGIME OF INDIA CIVIL WAR NIGHT

G. WILLIAMS

LONDON, Dec. 12—(AP) Winston Churchill told the House of Commons today that he expected civil war in India which may cause an "awful abridgement" of the population, and accused the labor government of direct responsibility for thousands of lives already lost in communal violence.

"All the facts and all the omens point to a revival in an acute and violent form of the internal hatreds and quarrels which have long laid dormant under the mild incompetence of liberal-minded British control" said Churchill in a debate on India.

Pointedly disassociating the Conservative party from the British government play for independence, he said "I should be very sorry indeed to feel that as matters unfold in India there is any question of our being held accountable at the present time for the course of events."

Cripps in Answer

Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade and legal mind of the mission which fashioned the independence plan, in reply said only full Indian agreement to the plan to weld opposing political and religious beliefs into a unified administration would prevent "the disaster of civil strife."

Admitting the government's failure in the London conferences last week to bring Moslems into agreement with Hindus and Sikhs on participation in the constituent assembly, Cripps said nevertheless "I do not wish the House to gain the impression that the position is hopeless."

Churchill said entrusting interim control last August to Jawaharlal Nehru and the Congress Party was a "cardinal error" which set off "A series of massacres over wide regions unparalleled in India since the Indian mutiny."

He referred to the Sepoy rebellion against the East India Company's administration which resulted in 1858 in transfer of Indian administration from private companies to the British crown.

Warns of Civil War

"Any attempt to establish a reign of Hindu numerical majority in India will never be achieved without civil war," he warned. "This war will, before it is decided, lead to an awful abridgement of the Indian population."

"Whatever happens," he continued, "we must not allow British troops or British officers in the Indian army to become the agencies or instruments for enforcing a caste Hindu domination upon the 90,000,000 Moslems and 60,000,000 untouchables."

Two courses were open to Britain, he said.

"The first is to proceed with ruthless logic to quit India regardless of what may happen there."

The second, "failing a measure of agreement not now in sight, an impartial administration appointed by parliament should be set up x x x."

CHURCHILL SEES STRIFE FOR INDIA 1946 DAY

London, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Winston Churchill painted for the House of Commons today a picture of strife and bloodshed in India as the outcome of the British plan for Indian freedom and said that there was a "prospect of more and worse to come."

Churchill joined Sir Stafford Cripps, a member of the British Cabinet mission that proposed the independence plan, in an appeal for an end to violent propaganda by rival party leaders in India.

"All the facts and all the omens point to a revival in an acute and violent form of the internal hatreds and quarrels which have long laid dormant under the mild incompetence of liberal-minded British control," the former Prime Minister said.

Although Sir Stafford said that there was reason to hope that Moslems and Hindus would settle their differences and make the freedom plan work, Churchill said: "To me, it would be no surprise if there is complete failure to agree."

Wallace Backs 'Progressives' In British Labor

Crossman Reveals Plea for Party Rebels' Solidarity With American Liberals

LONDON, Dec. 12 (AP)—A leader of the Labor party men who recently rebelled against Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's policies announced today a message from Henry A. Wallace supporting "progressives" in the party in power here.

Richard H. S. Crossman, editor of the weekly "New Statesman and Nation," quoted this message from Wallace who resigned from the United States Cabinet in a dispute over foreign policy and the American attitude toward the Soviet Union.

"American progressives today are fighting for a program of strengthening the United Nations, supporting democratic forces throughout the world, destroying the remnants of Fascism and aiding world recovery through all-out relief and reconstruction measures.

"We work against imperialism in all forms. We oppose all efforts of American conservatives to tie Socialist Britain to a reactionary American policy, just as we oppose efforts of British conservatives to place American power behind outworn colonial policies.

"We seek lasting friendship with Socialist Britain and Soviet Russia.

"I am certain that the progressives in the Labor party represent the same spirit in Britain that we represent here."

Wallace asked Crossman for a "message of solidarity" from the London editor "and the group you speak for." Crossman said it was up to Wallace to announce this reply, if he wished to.

British Deny Bevin Is Ill, As Claimed By Red Paper

London, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Communist Daily Worker, quoting members of a trade union delegation just returned from New York, today described Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin as "so ill that he is unable to move anywhere for long without a doctor in attendance."

In a special article entitled "Britain is leaderless at United Nations," the paper declared that because of Bevin's condition the country's delegation at the United Nations "really is in the hands of old-line foreign office officials."

In New York, a source close to Mr. Bevin scoffed at the report, declaring that the British Foreign Secretary had not missed a single meeting of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council since it convened at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel November 4.

Has Visited Truman

[In addition, he has attended sessions of the United Nations when the Council was not meeting, this source said, adding that Bevin had also gone to Washington recently to visit President Truman and had attended a football game.

["Of course, he has a doctor with him," the source continued. "You will remember that he was quite ill last summer, just as the Paris peace conference began. But he is strong now, he works long and hard and he certainly is not a sick man."]

STRACHEY'S MANNERS HIT

Minister Rebuked for Discourtesy to Committee Member

LONDON, Dec. 12 (AP)—Food Minister John Strachey got a lecture on deportment from an Eton and Oxford graduate in an uproarious House of Commons committee session today.

Mr. Strachey opposed a Conservative motion to prohibit the sale of intoxicants at the Government-operated low-cost restaurants for the working classes. He drew fire from a Glasgow Conservative.

The Minister started to speak but the member shouted: "Wait until I have finished." Mr. Strachey replied: "Pull yourself together."

Sir Gifford Fox, product of two of Britain's most polished schools, jumped up, exclaiming that this comment was "surely not a ministerial expression" and advising Mr. Strachey to "take your hands out of your pocket and behave like a Minister."

BLUM, 74, NAMED FRENCH Ppremier; STUDIES CABINET

R. H. BUTSON

PARIS, Dec. 12—(AP) Socialist Leon Blum, 74, and ailing, emerged today from the almost negligible role he had taken in politics since his liberation from a German prison camp, and became head of the French government for at least the next month.

The only pre-war premier to return to power in the post-war France, Blum plunged immediately into the task of forming a cabinet.

Blum, who had taken over once before in 1936 when France was shaken by labor unrest which saw red flags flying over worker-seized factories, declared he had consented to come out of semi-retirement in order to help save France "in a difficult and perhaps serious situation."

Ease NIGHT

He was chosen president-premier of the interim government by 575 votes of the National Assembly, thus resolving a grave governmental crisis which had gripped the nation for the past two weeks.

Robert Schuman of Georges Bidault's MRP (Popular Republican Movement) received eight votes, although he was not a candidate. Seven ballots were blank.

A half hour after the election Blum conferred with the Communists, who had agreed to support him for interim president-premier, but who are opposed to inclusion of rightist parties in any "National Union" cabinet.

Andre de Troquer, socialist parliamentary whip, said that Blum intends to retain Bidault, resigned president-premier, as foreign minister, a role he has held since the liberation of France.

Bidault failed to win re-election during the two weeks of crisis. The Communists were unable also to place their leader, Maurice Thorez, in the leader's seat.

Blum is not expected to have a cabinet ready for placing before the national assembly for approval before next week. His cabinet will remain in office only until mid-January when the president of the republic is elected. The president then nominates the premier.

While the main task of the interim government is to vote a budget for the first quarter of 1947, other pressing problems are facing France. These include the threat of large scale fighting in Indochina, a coal and electricity shortage, and the precarious position of the franc.

Earlier today Bidault and the cabinet that resigned two weeks ago, meeting in the absence of a new government, decided to slash passenger train service by 30 per cent, to reduce gas pressure and darken the "brownout" of public lighting due to the coal shortage.

Blum suffered several attacks of grippe before going to Washington last spring to negotiate a loan for his country from the United States, and Vincent Auriol, speaker of the assembly, in announcing Blum's candidacy, lauded him for taking the post "although his health is not good."

"I do not want to think any more of the sacrifice imposed upon me, but only of the honor that has been paid me," said Blum after his election.

MRP Paves Way

Blum had announced he would accept the interim post if no [illegible] position was offered, and M[illegible] paved the way for his election [illegible] it declared it would not present a candidate.

Blum was the first socialist and the first Jew ever to become chief of a French government.

When his "popular front" government assumed office in 1936 approximately 1,500,000 French workers were on strike. They occupied factories over which red flags flew and Blum acknowledged that it was a revolution, but said it must be met "by conciliation, not by force."

He rushed through social legislation, raised wages, instituted the 40-hour week, paid vacations and other reforms. But conservatives said it was these reforms that caused an industrial slowdown that found France woefully inadequate to halt Germany's powerfully-equipped armies when war came.

Until today Blum's star had been in post-war eclipse. His socialist party has weakened steadily before the nation's two political forces —the Communists and the MRP.

Blum Is Elected French Interim 1946 Premier DAY

Paris, Dec. 12 (AP) — Socialist Leon Blum, 74, was elected President-Premier today of the interim French Government which will serve until mid-January.

Vote tabulators said the National Assembly gave Blum about 575 ballots. He needed 310 for the absolute majority.

Blum now faces the task of getting the parties to agree on a program, and on whether the Rightist parties should be included in the Cabinet.

His Cabinet, which is not expected to remain in power much longer than 30 days, will be occupied chiefly with voting a budget for the first qaurter of 1947.

Bidault To Stay

Andre le Troquer, chief of the Socialist parliamentary group, said in an interview that Blum intended to retain Bidault as Foreign Minister.

Bidault has continued acting in that position after the recent resignation of the government which he headed.

Blum's most outstanding role since he was liberated from a German prison camp in May, 1945, was the negotiation of the United States loan to France last spring.

The new Cabinet he would be called upon to form is scheduled to last until mid-January, when a permanent government is to be established.

The Socialist party had announced earlier in the day that Blum would take the job on condition that he be unopposed.

The Socialist announcement said that the aging Blum, who was Premier in 1936-37 and again for a short period in 1938, had agreed to return from political retirement to head the Government and deal with France's urgent financial and economic situation.

Situation Called Grave

The gravity of the situation was emphasized by the fact that there are only 13 days left in which to solve a cabinet crisis and vote a budget for the first quarter of 1947.

After two weeks of negotiations and two tries at electing first the Communist's choice, Maurice Thorez, then the MRP's (Popular Republican Movement) Georges Bidault, the crisis was no nearer to a settlement.

The radical-socialists tightened the deadlock when they voted yesterday not to present any candidate, although one of their members, Yvon Delbos, wanted to run.

GIs Guarded Against Nazi Girls Seeking to Wed as Ticket to U.S.

NIGHT

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 12 —(AP) Officers familiar with proposed regulations permitting GI-fraulein weddings said today they are filled with safeguards against ill-considered marriages and any scheming Nazi girls looking for an easy ticket out of war-ravaged Germany.

Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, theater commander, was reported concerned that there be no hasty marriages so that there will be as little "repenting at leisure" as possible. The detailed regulations are being drawn up for his approval.

Soldiers won't be permitted to marry their German sweethearts until just before they complete their tour of duty in Germany and prepare to sail home. That will insure against marrying just to avoid loneliness here and in most cases will make sure that the soldier has known the girl for a long time, officers said.

In addition any German leaving the homeland must obtain an "exit permit" and passport visa for which the State Department has set rigid standards, including successful passing of repeated screenings aimed at detecting criminal or pro-Nazi records.

It takes several months to clear all these hurdles under the old GI fiancee law which permits war veterans to import alien sweethearts into the United States on condition they marry them within three months after they arrive.

It may take that long under the new plan, too.

Officials expect a flood of applications under the new plan. Some authorities predicted that at least 3,000 "war brides" may sail for the United States in the wake of the formal lifting of the ban in two weeks.

More than 2,500 American war veterans have applied under the old fiancee plan, which requires the ex-soldier to pay the girl's transportation. Under the new plan the U. S. government foots the bill.

Approximately 7,000 British wives of American soldiers are still awaiting transportation to the United States from England and the army announced today that commercial air lines were making plans to fly 100 a month to their husbands. Most of them will still go by boat, however.

Fraulein-Move Reaction Mixed

1946

D. DONE

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 12 (AP). American women now living in Germany differ decidedly in their views on the newly authorized GI-Fraulein marriages, while some German girls favor caution in exercising the privilege.

"I don't like it at all," a WAC sergeant said when informed at a Red Cross club of the decision yesterday by United States Army theater headquarters to permit soldiers about to return home to marry German girls.

She did not give her name, commenting that "the things I'd like to say about American soldiers marrying Germans shouldn't be quoted in print."

"I don't think it should be done," said WAC Corporal Blanche Barrington, of Carlsbad, N.M. "A lot of German women will take advantage of GI's and use marriage as an excuse to get into the States."

Mrs. John M. Konosky, of Orlando, Fla., also criticized the change in regulations, saying that "there are lots of good American women sitting at home waiting to get married and can't."

DAY

Husband Agrees

Her husband sided with her, but for another reason:

"I think the German people should first establish themselves and prove that they can get along with the rest of the world before we start German-American marriages."

Several soldiers—and some Fraulein—also emphasized that German girls now might use marriage to Americans as a means of escaping from war-torn Germany.

"Most of these Germans don't really like us at all," said Master Sergeant Edgar L. Thomas, of Victoria, Texas, a veteran of combat with the 5th Armored Division. "Most of the girls going with GI's are just trying to get to the United States. And most of these soldiers willing to marry them are not combat veterans, either."

"I'm married to an English girl myself, but I'm afraid the effect of permitting marriage with Germans will be bad," remarked Staff Sergeant Allan Croke, of Boston, veteran paratroopist and wearer of the Silver Star.

"I don't like it," said Corporal Calvin V. Furches, of Johnson City, Tenn. "I don't trust these Fraulein."

Might Improve Conduct

However, some Americans suggested that opening the way to marriage might improve the conduct of soldiers with German girls and also "improve relations between the two peoples."

"It will increase the Germans' respect for us and our soldiers' respect for the German girls," said WAC Sergeant Leona Condemi, of Philadelphia. "It will eliminate a lot of these associations which are not good."

"With the rigid tests the Fraulein must pass, I think it will be all right," said Miss Rose Wlinski, of Minneapolis.

Lieut. Lucille Riggs, an American nurse, of Medford, Ore., said she believed many German girls would prove excellent wives, adding: "I have met war brides of many nationalities, and these German girls impress me in comparison with the girls of other countries."

GERMAN GENERALS FACE U. S. TRIALS

T. A. REDDY

Nuernberg, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—American prosecutors, undismayed by the International Military Tribunal's decision acquitting the German General Staff, now are preparing individual prosecutions against high-ranking militarists under Adolf Hitler, it was learned today.

Brig.-Gen. Telford Taylor, chief counsel for United States war crimes trials, has a staff of analysts now searching War Department files in Washington for information about Nazi Germany's leaders. When these files are transported to Nuernberg, it was reported, attorneys will prepare individual prosecutions, principally on the charge of waging aggressive war. This charge was held by the tribunal, when Hermann Goering and other top Nazis were convicted, to be a major crime punishable by death.

German field marshals and generals who are liable to such prosecution are under arrest. Some tentative defendants are Field Marshal Karl Gerd von Runstedt, leader of the Ardennes Bulge battle two years ago; Field Marshal Walter von Brauchitsch, chief of staff when the Nazis boiled into Poland; Gen. Franz Halder, former chief of staff; Field Marshal Fritz von Manstein and Field Marshal Wilhelm von Leeb, who were on the Russian front.

GEN. CLAY BACK IN BERLIN

Returning From U. S., He Cites Progress of Big Four

BERLIN, Dec. 12 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy American Military Governor, returned to his headquarters here today after having spent a month in the United States.

General Clay told reporters he believed that "very encouraging progress" had been made at the Foreign Ministers' conference. He added:

"We are very encouraged by developments leading toward the economic unification of Germany, for which we believe the groundwork has now been laid."

Padua Anti-British Riots Flare Anew

1946

Rome, Dec. 12 (AP)—An Allied announcement said today anti-British rioting flared anew last night in Padua and dispatches to Rome newspapers said the situation remained tense in the city, the seat of British general headquarters for the central Mediterranean.

The city was reported placed off limits to troops not on duty.

The announcement said that the rioting started when troops left their barracks contrary to orders and their passage attracted "hooligan elements." Some scuffles took place and a few shop windows were broken.

Military transports returned the troops to their barracks, but meanwhile "bands of hooligans quickly formed and demonstrated in the main thoroughfare and side streets and, forcing an entry into a mess, molested individual British soldiers," the announcement added.

Anti-British demonstrations were first touched off in Padua on Tuesday when, according to an official British statement, a British staff car bumped into an Italian traffic policeman after swerving to avoid hitting a jaywalker. The official account said the policeman grabbed the steering wheel of the car, forcing it to the sidewalk and causing it to knock down several civilians.

Several British officers and men were injured in ensuing rioting. The British said Italians made "unwarranted" attacks on their personnel.

Rome's Mayor In, Out In 24 Hours

Rome, Dec. 12 (AP)—A political storm that threatened to spread to the national government burst upon Rome today as a Christian Democrat councilman, elected mayor in a tumultuous session last night, was forced to resign when leftist fellow councilmen refused to participate in the city junta.

The short-lived Mayor, 52-year-old Salvatore Rebecchini, was elected when the pivotal Christian Democrats threw their votes to the right, defeating the leftist bloc, which had won the municipal election in November.

After the result of the vote was announced, leftist spectators assailed the Christian Democrats with shouts of "fools," "sellouts" and "throw the priests out of the Campidoligo" (Rome's City Hall). Leftist councilmen then announced their refusal to take part in the administration. The council will try to elect another Mayor in twelve days.

Jewish Agency Defends Palestine Partition

E. FISCHER

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 12 (AP)—Members of the Jewish Agency Executive defended today as expedient and realistic their proposals that Palestine be partitioned into Jewish and Arab states.

They made their stand before the twenty-second World Zionist Congress, which will elect new members for the executive. The executive administers the agency, regarded in the British mandate over Palestine as representative of the Jews in the Holy Land.

Dr. Nahum Goldmann, replying to assertions before the congress that the executive had sought to appease the British by proposing partition, said that if he had not advanced partition, Jewish demands concerning the Holy Land might have been left to a meeting of the United Nations in October of next year.

NIGHT

Moshe Shertok Comment

Moshe Shertok, head of the agency's political department in Palestine, said: "The emergence of a whole system of independent Arab states around us compels the claim for statehood on our part."

Berl Locker, member of the executive, also defended the partition proposal on the grounds of "expediency" and "realism," asserting there was "no time to wait" for establishment of a Jewish state on the historic boundaries of Palestine.

Mrs. Judith Epstein, of New York, executive member and head of Hadassah, American Jewish women's organization, declared that the American Jewish community of 5,000,000 "humbly accepts its growing responsibilities," but added "our destiny is not in our own hand. It is foolhardy not to understand that we are part of the whole world complex."

Members of the executive are not unanimous in support of partition. Rabbi A. H. Silver, of Cleveland, Ohio, has challenged partition and has called for new faces on the Jewish Agency Executive.

PALESTINE DIVISION URGED AS REALISM

DAY

Basle, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Berl Locker, member of the Jewish Agency Executive, today supported the Palestine partition proposal on the grounds of expediency and realism.

Locker, Jewish labor party leader in London, told the World Zionist Congress that there is no time to wait for the establishment of a Jewish State in the historic boundaries of Palestine.

"England wants to stay in the Middle East and Russia wants to push in," said Locker in explanation of the Executive's desire for prompt action.

"It is natural that America should play a new role in Jewish life," Locker said. "But American Jewish leaders did little to bring immigration from America to Palestine, and now they want to assume the leadership in Zionism."

Another member of the Executive, Mrs. Judith Epstein of New York, president of the Hadassats, said an American Jewish community of five million "humbly accepts its growing responsibilities" but "our destiny is not in our own hands. It is foolhardy not to understand that we are part of the whole world complex."

Representatives of the New Emigration, a political and social organization in Palestine composed of 1930-40 immigrants from Central Europe, told the Congress that the British mandate over the Holy Land should be continued.

Mount Olympus And Thrace Mopping Up Moves Reported

1946

Athens, Dec. 12 (AP) — Greek Army reports received in Athens today told of continued mopping-up operations against anti-Government forces in the Mount Olympus area and in Thrace, where approximately 1,000 guerrillas were said to have fled into Bulgaria after a five-day battle.

The 2d and 3d Army Corps at Larisa said their units recaptured the small towns of Rapsani, Dereli and Pyrghetos, near Mount Olymlus, and that anti-Government forces were fleeing in disorder.

Press dispatches said Leftists blew up a large bridge and two smaller ones north of Larisa, suspending communications with Salonika. Other accounts said 29 guerrillas and ten Greek soldiers were killed in a clash on Mount Vermion, east of Salonika.

Retreat Into Bulgaria

A delayed dispatch from Alexandroupolis quoted the divisional commander of Government forces in western Thrace as saying four fifths of a band of approximately 1,200 guerrillas retreated into Bulgaria after a five-day battle at Corymbos.

"We actually observed bandit officers and men freely moving to and from a Bulgarian village," said Maj. Gen. Alexander Asymackopoulos, who sent artillery and strafing planes against the anti-Government forces. He voiced the belief that the action had checked, "at least temporarily," the biggest threat by the guerrillas in that area thus far.

[A dispatch from Istanbul said Turkish sources had no knowledge of a report in Athens newspapers several days ago that Greek "rebels" fleeing toward Turkey from the battle at Corymbos had been wiped out by border guards.

[Kimon Georgiev, Bulgarian Foreign Minister, told Parliament yesterday that it was "ridiculous" to declare that guerrilla bands were being trained in Bulgaria and sent into Greece.]

3 Towns Taken In Greek Drive Near Olympus

DAY

Athens, Dec. 12 (AP)—An official announcement from Larisa today said large-scale mopping-up operations had been undertaken in the Mount Olympus area and that three small towns, Rapsani, Dereli and Pyrghetos, had been recaptured in two days.

The announcement said insurgent bands were fleeing in disorder from the area.

A press dispatch said 29 guerrillas and 10 Greek soldiers were killed yesterday in a clash on Mount Vermion, east of Salonika.

Retreat Into Bulgaria

[A delayed dispatch from Alexandroupolis reported that a divisional commander directing mopping up operations against insurgents in western Thrace said four fifths of a band of about 1,200 men engaged in the five-day battle for Corymbos had retreated into Bulgaria.

[The commander, Maj. Gen. Alexander Asymackopoulos, said Greek army units were combing the border for stragglers.

[He said the guerrillas had been dispersed by artillery and strafing planes and added: "We actually observed bandit officers and men freely moving to and from a Bulgarian village."

"Most Decisive Action"

[The general termed the battle "the most decisive action in a solid month of mopping up Thrace."

[In Sofia, Foreign Minister Kimon Gorgiev told Parliament yesterday: "It is ridiculous to insist that bands are trained in Bulgaria and sent into Greece. Not even one band has crossed into Greece."]

Meanwhile, the Ministry of Public Order said today that two American correspondents—Robert Vermillion of the United Press and John Phillips of Life and Time—who had been reported missing in central Greece for two weeks, left Trikkala this morning for Larisa.

Interviewed Guerrillas

This confirmed an earlier report by the Trikkala correspondent of the Athens newspaper Embros, who said the two men had arrived safely there after interviewing guerrillas in the mountains.

The Foreign Ministry's press section said in a statement last night that the two were missing and that their jeep had been abandoned at Longosto, in the Kalambaka area.

Just before leaving Athens, the two told intimates that they intended to visit "Communist-controlled villages" and regions held by guerrillas—and the Foreign Ministry statement said they had made contact with a guerrilla group.

Two Greek Army units of some 50 men each were detailed to search for the missing men, but upon approaching the village of Louzesti they met machine-gun fire. The army units opened fire with mortars and the guerrillas retreated.

Polish Regime Hits Pulpit Aid To Mikolajczyk

Calls Priests '99.1%' for Opposition in Election, Bids Them Shun Politics

WARSAW, Dec. 11 (delayed) (AP).—A Foreign Ministry spokesman told newsmen today that priests are making use of Roman Catholic pulpits to support the opposition Polish Peasant party (P. S. L.) of Vice-Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk in elections to be held Jan. 19.

The spokesman, Victor Grosz, said, "The clergy of this country are 99.1 per cent supporting Mikolajczyk's P. S. L., but the pulpits are barred to all other parties."

He said the "highly organized, highly disciplined apparatus of the Catholic Church" is being employed by priests who first support the P. S. L., then attack the government.

"Priests should keep out of politics and dwell on religion and nothing else," Grosz said.

He said the Church is not following President Boleslaw Bierut's recent advice that it adjust itself to new conditions in Poland. The President's statement, Grosz explained, was made "to avoid any drastic action" against the Church.

He added that the provisional government considers the Church-State situation far too serious to be handled by the provisional regime, but that it may be taken up after the new Parliament is elected.

A Church dignitary, questioned about the situation, said the Church is keeping out of politics and has not advised people how they should vote. He said the government has adopted a "most unfriendly attitude" toward the Church.

Russian Press Acclaims Czechs for Co-operation

E. GILMORE

Lauds Growing Economic Ties on Anniversary of Pact

MOSCOW, Dec. 12 (AP).—The Soviet press acclaimed Czechoslovakia's internal reforms and rapidly growing economic and cultural ties with the Soviet Union today, on the third aniversary of the Soviet-Czech alliance formed Dec. 12, 1943, for a twenty-year period.

Noting that direct railway communication has been opened between the two countries, "Pravda" said their mutual trade is "increasing uninterruptedly." "Izvestia" said the Cechs already are delivering consumer goods to Russia, in return for raw material supplied by Russia to the Czech textile and other industries.

Commenting on Czechoslovakia's position in world affairs, "Pravda" objected to efforts to picture Czechoslovakia as a "connecting bridge" between two opposing worlds, the East and the West. "These idle, useless fantasies," it declared, "were employed to disguise the real import of many by no means friendly acts of certain western powers toward Czechoslovakia."

Stalin Expected In Moscow Soon

E. GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Stalin will return to Moscow shortly from his vacation, an informed source reported today. The informant said the Soviet leader was considerably rested and in good health. He will be 67 on December 21.

It was recalled that Stalin took his vacation in the late autumn last year and returned to the capital December 17.

The informant reiterated that there is no basis for reports that Stalin has been ill.

[Sochi, Black Sea coast resort favored by Russian leaders, has been mentioned in other reports as the locale of Stalin's holiday.]

Benton Defers Trip to Russia

MOSCOW, Dec. 12 (AP).—The Office of Information and Cultural Affairs said today that William Benton, Assistant Secretary of State, has postponed a proposed visit to the Soviet Union until March.

Arabs Set NIGHT Palestine Strike 1946

Jerusalem, Dec. 12 (AP)—A two-hour general strike by all Palestine Arabs was called for Sunday by the Arab Executive today in protest against "virtually unlimited Jewish immigration, both legal and illegal," and "Jewish provocation of our peoples in Arab towns and villages."

Hussein El Khalidi, executive secretary, said no scheduled demonstrations had been scheduled during the strike, to start at noon, but "our people are feeling strongly and may wish to demonstrate spontaneously."

Government Blamed

Arabs said "hotly worded" messages to Lieut. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner, placed responsibility on the Palestine Government for the return to Palestine of Jewish immigrants deported to Cyprus, and two recent Jewish raids on Arab territory.

Police said about 30 Jewish youths kidnapped two young Arabs from the village of Salameh yesterday and held them twelve hours while questioning them about any firearms in the village.

Earlier, a police report said, four armed Jews raided the Jaffa headquarters of Nejada. Palestine's most powerful Arab army, in an apparent search for documents showing the strength of the unofficial army.

Kidnapping Attempt Foiled

Later usually reliable Arab sources said that an "unsuccessful attempt had been made by six armed Jews to kidnap Mohamed Nimer Huwari, head of the Najada, in Jaffa tonight.

Police said they had no knowledge of the incident.

The informants gave no details except to say that "Huwari's guards drove off the attackers without firing shots." It was believed the kidnapping attempt occurred outside Huwari's office.

Arabs Studying 2 'Jewish' Raids

DAY

Jerusalem, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Arab Executive meets late today to hear a full official report on two recent raids on Arab territory by persons police described as armed Jews. One Executive member said a protest may be made to the high commissioner.

The latest raid was in the village of Salameh, where two Arab youths were kidnapped yesterday and held for nearly twelve hours.

Police said about 30 Jewish youths participated in the raid.

Two days earlier, the Jaffa headquarters of Nejada, Arab uniformed scout groups, was raided by four armed Jews, according to a police report. Documents were stolen, leading police to suspect the raid was an effort to learn the actual strength of Nejada forces.

Arab States To Demand Palestine Protection

Cairo, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Arab League states will send the British Government a strongly worded memorandum demanding that "Zionist terrorism be halted and protection to Arabs be granted in Palestine," an Arab League spokesman said today.

The memorandum to the British Government, the spokesman said, will call for "immediate action" or, he said, the Arab states "will take the necessary steps to put an end to those attacks."

Palestine Violence Expensive

1946

London, Dec. 12 (AP)—Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones said last night that violence in Palestine has cost the Palestine Railways an estimated $1,300,000 in damages and an estimated $12,000 in lost revenue since November 18.

India Assembly Gets 'Republic' Resolution

New Delhi, Dec. 12 (AP)—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Hindu leader and first Minister in India's interim Government, presented a resolution to the constituent assembly today recommending that India be proclaimed an "independent sovereign republic."

Discussion was set for tomorrow on the resolution, which would provide for the drawing up of a constitution.

The territories would retain their autonomy and exercise all powers except those granted the union.

Azerbaijan Move Held Iran Victory

NIGHT

Tehran, Dec. 12 (AP)—George Allen, United States Ambassador, said today Azerbaijan's surrender to demands for Government troops to supervise national elections there amounted to "extension of Iranian sovereignty to all parts of Iran" and was a victory for both the United Nations and Premier Qavam's Government.

He made the statement when asked for comment on the announcement from Tabriz, less than 48 hours after fighting broke out, that central Government troops would now be welcomed into the province by the pro-Soviet administration.

A delayed Associated Press dispatch from Mianeh, 80 miles southwest of Tabriz, said Government troops entered that town yesterday and were prepared to move on Tabriz, the capital, today.

In advancing to Mianeh, 75 miles from their base, in a little over a day, the Government troops apparently encountered but light resistance.

Iran Awaits Cease-Fire

DAY

Tehran, Dec. 12 (AP)—Iranian officials awaited word from Tabriz today as to whether the Azerbaijan regime's announcement that it would allow Central Government troops to enter the province as a security force during the national elections would be followed by actual orders to the Azerbaijan militia to cease armed resistance.

The Tabriz radio announced yesterday that Dr. Sallamollah Javid, Communist Governor-General of the semi-autonomous northern province, had sent a message to Premier Ahmed Qavam that the Provincial Council had agreed to receive the troops.

An earlier communiqué from the headquarters of General Razmara, Iranian chief of staff, said the main Central Government columns advancing from Zenjan had thrust through the Ghaflankooh Pass fortifications into the area of Mianeh, where they were engaged in fighting.

A dispatch from Edward Curtis, Associated Press correspondent, said the Azerbaijanis had blown up bridges and railway stations in their retreat from the pass.

China Expects Changchun Push

Peiping, Dec. 12 (AP)—Reiterating their prediction that a Communist offensive in Manchuria is imminent, Government sources said today 100,000 Red troops are deployed along the Sungari River ready to strike for Changchun, Manchurian capital, from the north.

The Communists are reported strung out along the north bank of the frozen stream for a distance of 200 miles.

NIGHT

Falling snow, the icebound Sungari and temperatures of around 14 degrees above zero (Fahrenheit) underscored, however, the opinion expressed several days ago by American military observers that the Communists are not equipped for a sustained winter offensive. The Americans just had returned from Changchun and Harbin, 150 miles north of the capital.

The Communists, under Gen. Lin Piao, occupy three areas ranging from 50 to 90 miles north of Changchun. The Nationalist (Government) armies are defending the south bank of the Sungari.

Peng Hsuheh-pei, Information Minister, told a press conference in Nanking that there was "no large-scale fighting anywhere in China" and that "all was quiet at the present" in the border regions where the Communists claim to have offensives under way.

[A belated dispatch from Yenan, Communist capital, indicated, however, that large-scale fighting might break out. It quoted Mao Tse-tung as saying the Communists intend to recover, by arms if necessary, all territory lost to the Nationalists this year. Mao, party chairman, said this includes Kalgan, their former military base; Chengteh, capital of the Manchurian province of Jehol, and also northern Kiangsu province, north of Nanking.]

China Reds Poised For Offensive

DAY

Peiping, Dec. 12 (AP)—Government sources today said that more than 100,000 Chinese Communists are lined up for 200 miles along the north bank of the Sungari River, poised to strike south into National territory.

Only a spark is needed to touch off a Communist offensive, they added. Sand has been spread over the frozen Sungari to facilitate crossings.

The Communists continued to pour reinforcements into three areas north of Changchun. National authorities said the Communist forces were fashioned into an arch 50 to 90 miles north of the Manchurian capital.

MAO ASSERTS REDS WILL FIGHT NANKING

J. RODERICK

Yenan, Dec. 9 [AP—Delayed]—Mao Tse-tung, chairman of the Chinese Communist party, said tonight that the Communists intend to recover, by arms if necessary, all of the territory they have lost to Government troops in the last year.

This, he said, includes their big military base at Kalgan and Chengteh in north Kiangsu province.

He spoke freely for three hours to news correspondents in a mud and brick cavelike building at Hwangchiaping military headquarters, but limited the subjects on which he could be quoted.

Mum On Chiang's Offer

[Mao presumably did not discuss, or permit mention of possible discussion of Chiang Kai-shek's offer to send a truce mission to Yenan.]

He apparently is virtually recovered from the overwork which kept him inactive last winter.

He laughed often and occasionally paced the floor while talking.

Haiphong Reported Shelled

HANO, Indo-China, Dec. 11 (Delayed) (AP)—French official quarters said today Viet Namese artillery was shelling Haiphong, Hanoi's port city, almost nightly. Viet Namese circles said French and Viet Namese viewpoints appeared "more and more divergent and unreconcilable" following a conference between leaders of each side.

The Vietnam press said yesterday a "great number" of French troops had landed at Tourane, important port in Annam.

Chinese Dollar Value Shrinks

Shanghai, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—The black market rate today stood at 5,700 Chinese dollars to $1, a rise of 500 points in twenty-four hours.

Insistent rumors that the Government may revise the official rate of exchange 3,350 to 1, and absence of prospects for immediate settlement of the civil war were reported responsible.

The Chinese communists have been predicting an economic collapse, charging that 80 per cent of the Government revenue goes to the army.

Rightist Party Boycotts First Korea Legislature

Protests Invalidation of Two Election Results

SEOUL, Dec. 12 (AP).—South Korea's first occupation Legislature opened today, but about twenty members of the Rightist Han Kook (Korea) Democratic party stayed away in protest against invalidation of elections in Seoul and Kangwon Province and virtual exclusion from appointments.

Lieutenant General John R. Hodge, United States occupation commander, ordered new elections in Seoul and Kangwon because he said preparations were inadequate. The South Korea coalition committee recommended only one Han Kook member to Hodge for inclusion among forty-five appointees to the ninety-member Assembly. The other forty-five are elective.

Han Kook nevertheless has the largest representation in the Legislature, with twenty-one electees and one appointee. The Rightist Independence Democratic party has seventeen seats.

Political observers said the Han Kooks, having saved face, could be expected to join the Assembly soon.

Also absent was Lyuh Hyung, head of the Leftist Labor party and co-founder wtih Kimm Kiu Sic of the coalition committee. American obsevers said Lyuh presumably had withdrawn from the committee and avoided the Assembly opening in fear of losing support of Leftists who oppose the Legislature.

The Assembly will meet Monday to begin its business, chief of which will be passage of election laws, including granting suffrage to women.

Japs Lost Interest In Uranium Deposits

Tientsin, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—The Japanese discovered rich deposits of uranium ore at Haicheng, Manchuria, but virtually abandoned them after their scientists were unable to develop an atomic bomb, the usually reliable newspaper Ta Kung Pao said today.

The paper's Changchun correspondent said that the Japanese shipped more than 1,000 tons to Tokyo.

Eleven Jap Princes Giving Up Rights

DAY

Tokyo, Dec. 12 (AP)—Eleven imperial princes today decided, at a formal and rare family council at which Emperor Hirohito presided, to renounce their imperial rights and to restrict Japan's royalty to the Emperor, his three brothers and their families.

Actually, the princes will be making only a gesture. They have little to renounce. At least three have sold their prize villas to meet family expenses.

All have been placed on a greatly reduced income that may be further curtailed by the Diet. Politically, they have been shorn of power and the Diet is considering a proposal to reduce them to private citizens.

Repercussions Expected

Nevertheless, the decision was drastic. Mass renunciation undoubtedly will produce strong repercussions among the Japanese people, who generally regard royalty, including the nonroyal princes, with awe. However, it will have far less effect than it would have months ago when the people were still suspicious of western motives.

Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni, one of the eleven, originally proposed their renunciations shortly after the occupation began, when he was Premier, but the Emperor and other princes, highly displeased, said no.

Japs Say Reds Hold 550,000 In Siberia

Tokyo, Dec. 12, (AP)—Japanese repatriates from Siberia were quoted in the newspaper Asahi today as saying that the Russians were holding 550,000 Japanese internees in camps on the Manchurian-Siberian border.

The repatriates, who were landed at Maizuru on the west central Honshu coast, told Asahi there are about 20,000 Japanese, including former department and section chiefs of the Manchurian Government, in the Khabarovsk area. The son of former Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita was reported among 8,000 held at Voroshilov.

Camps Under Red Control

The said he camps are under Soviet Army control.

United States observers who witnessed the arrival at Hakodate of more than 5,000 Japanese repatriates from Russian-occupied Karafuto said they appeared to be healthy but to have been limited to such personal possessions as they could carry.

Some repatriates voiced criticism of their treatment by the Russians, complaining chiefly about their food and that they were forced to work in coal mines where they were "cold and chilled to the bone all the time."

Learns at Last How Roommate Died

1946 DAY

Official at Jap Trial Hears How Jap Guards Killed West Pointer Fleeing Sinking Prison Ship.

Tokyo, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Capt. Donald S. Van Meter, marshal of the International War Crimes Tribunal, knew that his roommate of the class of 1929 at West Point, Major Charles I. Humber of Eatonton, Ga., had been killed in the war but learned the details only today.

Standing only three feet from the witness, Van Meter heard Lieut.-Col. Austin J. Montgomery describe how Japanese guards machine-gunned and killed three officers on a raft. The three were escaping from the bombed prison ship, Oryuku Maru, in Subic Bay in December, 1944. Montgomery named "Polly" Humber, an outstanding West Point football player, as one of the three.

Montgomery told the tribunal that American prisoner of war protests against Japanese mistreatment in the Philippines drew Japanese officers' replies that they were carrying out orders of the High Command.

After one protest, "we were told the Japanese Government would only live up to those rules of international warfare which are not in conflict with their own rules and regulations," testified Montgomery, who survived thirteen prison camps and seven prison ships, including the bombed Oryuku Maru.

2 Army Sentences Reduced

Kyoto, Dec 12 (AP)—Maj. Gen. R. B. Woodruff, commander of the 1st Army Corps, today reduced from fifteen years to ten years the prison sentences of Private James R. Graybill, Clinton, Ohio, and Private John Lane, Warren, Ky., convicted recently by a court-martial of robbing three Japanese.

Spain Aids Philippines

MANILA, Dec. 12 (AP)—Spain has given 10,000,000 pesetas [approximately $900,000] for the reconstruction of the University of Santo Tomas, which the Japanese turned into a concentration camp for thousands of Americans, it was officially announced today.

Manila A.W.O.L.'s Sought

Manila, [Friday], Dec. 13 (AP)—For the first time since the liberation, the United States Army launched a drive in Manila and its suburbs to round up a.w.o.l.'s. United States military police patrolled intersections, aided by civilian police, stopped soldiers to examine their passes. All United States troops were confined to their posts except in extraordinary circumstances.

TRUMAN IN WIDE BUREAU SHAKEUP

Merges OPA, CPA, 2 Others in Temporary Agency with Fleming as Head.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP) President Truman shook down the once vast bureaucracy which wielded war and reconversion powers into a temporary agency today and said only the strikes kept him from junking the emergency powers entirely.

The order kills off the dying OPA and makes only a memory of this controversial outfit which played an unprecedented part in the daily life of the entire population.

A small new agency was set up headed by Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, an army engineer often drafted for administrative jobs. It is officially called the Office of Temporary Controls, and inevitably will become known as the OTC.

Agencies Merged

Into it, for eventual liquidation, go the remaining powers and functions of:

The Office of Price Administration. The only price controls left are those on rents, sugar and rice, and they expire June 30 unless congress extends them. Mr. Truman is expected to request continuation of rent controls, at least. He told his news conference he knows of no program to grant rent increases but the OPA has been reported working on one. Paul Porter resigned as OPA administrator last week.

The Civilian Production Administration. Its priority powers, except those covering building materials, die March 31 unless congress continues them. It already has rescinded virtually all its war-time controls over industry except the ban on making two-pants suits. Its chief, John D. Small, also quit last week.

The order also terminates immediately the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion and the Office of Economic Stabilization, and marks the Wage Stabilization Board for liquidation Feb. 24.

The OWMR and the OES were separate agencies but both had been headed by Dr. John R. Steelman since Chester Bowles resigned as stabilization director last spring during the OPA fight.

Steelman now is appointed assistant to the president and the chief function of the OWMR is transferred to him in that capacity. This is the authority to issue directives to other federal agencies for the purpose of reconciling conflicts in programs and policies. Steelman will have "a small staff," the President announced, and will continue as trouble-shooter.

Other Transfers

Other functions of the OWMR were disposed of as follows:

War Contract Settlement—to the treasury.

Declassifying secret or confidential technical and industrial information and releasing it for general use—to the Commerce Department.

Arranging for press, radio and movie publicizing of government programs and for exchange of information among the government departments—to the moribund office of government reports, formerly headed by Lowell Mellett, which is now revived as a paper organization. The government information service, which now performs some of these functions, was transferred to the OGR from the Budget Bureau. It is headed by Miss Katherine C. Blackburn.

The Wage Stabilization Board, which had to approve wage increases before they could be used as a basis for seeking price ceiling increases, has little to do now that virtually all price controls are off. Its few remaining functions will be transferred to the Labor Department.

Fleming, who has been federal works administrator since 1941, will continue in that post while heading the OTC as well, but will draw only one salary of $12,000 a year.

Mr. Truman's statement explained that "the consolidation will result in economies in operation and in a more rapid liquidation of personnel, property, records, etc., which are no longer needed for current programs."

His executive order provides that personnel of the affected agencies who are no longer needed in the new setup or in other federal posts shall be released.

The President said, in reply to a question at a news conference that no estimate had been made as to the economies which would result.

He said, without elaboration, that if it hadn't been for strikes it would have been possible to end the war emergency before now.

Truman's Statement and Order Consolidating War Agencies

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—The texts of President Truman's statement today on the new Office of Temporary Controls and his Executive Order establishing it and consolidating or abolishing other agencies follow:

1946

President's Statement

I have today appointed John R. Steelman as Assistant to the President to continue to aid me in coordinating Federal agencies programs and policies.

Mr. Steelman, assisted by a small staff, will also continue to serve as liaison between the executive agencies and the President's Commission on Higher Education, as well as chairman of the President's Scientific Research Board, which was established recently by Executive Order to report to the President on current scientific research programs of the Federal Government and steps needed to coordinate and strengthen these programs.

I have signed an Executive Order, effective today, creating a new agency which will be known as the Office of Temporary Controls. The order consolidates the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, the Office of Price Administration, the Civilian Production Administration and the Office of Economic Stabilization into the new agency.

I have appointed General Philip B. Fleming to head the new agency. In addition, he will continue as Federal Works Administrator.

The Office of Temporary Controls will be responsible for carrying out the continuing responsibilities of the OPA and the CPA, and certain activities of the OWMR. The priorities powers under which the CPA operates will expire March 31 except for building materials unless extended by Congress.

The principal OPA programs which continue by law are sugar rationing, and rent control.

Says Economies Will Result

The functions of the Office of Economic Stabilization already have been largely terminated as the result of decontrol of prices and wages and elimination of most items from rationing.

The consolidation will result in economies in operation and in a more rapid liquidation of personnel, property, records, etc., which are no longer needed for current programs.

Although the reconversion program has not been completed the actions taken by this order in reducing the number of agencies involved in reconversion matters and the recent removal of price and wage controls materially lessen the need for continuing a separate OWMR.

The statute under which OWMR operates expires June 30, 1947. Until that date most residual functions will be carried on by the Office of Temporary Controls established by the order.

The OWMR advisory board will be continued for some time. Its members have expressed to me the desire to wind up their work and be relieved of their duties at the earliest practicable date.

The order also terminates the Wage Stabilization Board (as of Feb. 24, 1947) and the Economic Stabilization Board. It re-establishes the Office of Government Reports and transfers to it the functions of the Government Information Service of the Bureau of the Budget and the functions of the Advertising and Motion Picture Divisions of the OWMR.

The order transfers the functions of the Office of Contract Settlement to the Treasury Department and disposes of certain other wartime functions, including certain functions of the Wage Stabilization Board which are transferred to the Department of Labor.

Executive Order

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes, including Title I of the First War Powers Act, 1941, Title III of the Second War Powers Act, 1942, Section 201(b) of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Section 2 of the Stabilization Act of 1942, and as President of the United States, it is hereby ordered, for the purpose of further effectuating the transition from war to peace and in the interest of the internal management of the Government, as follows:

1. Except as otherwise provided in this order, the following agencies and their functions are consolidated to form one agency in the Office for Emergency Management of the Executive Office of the President, which shall be known as the Office of Temporary Controls, namely: the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, the Office of Economic Stabilization, the Office of Price Administration, and the Civilian Production Administration. Consistent with applicable law, the Office of Temporary Controls shall be organized and its functions shall be administered in such manner as the head thereof may deem desirable.

Powers Vested in Administrator

2. There shall be at the head of the Office of Temporary Controls a Temporary Controls Administrator, hereafter referred to as the Administrator, who shall be appointed by the President and who shall receive a salary at the rate of $12,000 per annum unless the Congress shall otherwise provide. Except as otherwise provided in this order, the functions of the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion, the Economic Stabilization Director, the Price Administrator, and the Civilian Production Administrator, including such functions of the President as are now administered by the said officers, are vested in the Administrator. The functions hereby vested in the Administrator shall be deemed to include the authority to maintain in his own name civil proceedings relating to matters heretofore under the jurisdiction of the Price Administrator (including any such proceedings now pending).

3. (A) The advisory board provided for in Section 102 of the War Mobilization and Reconversion Act of 1944 and its functions, which shall remain vested in such board, are transferred to the Office of Temporary Controls.

(B) The Economic Stabilization Board (transferred to the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion by Executive Order No. 9762 of July 25, 1946) and its functions are terminated.

4. The functions of the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion under Subsections (c) (1), (c) (2), (c) (3), and (c) (4) of Section 101 of the War Mobilization and Reconversion Act of 1944 are transferred to the President.

Research Functions Shifted

5. The functions of the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion under the provisions of Executive Order No. 9568 of June 3, 1945 and of Executive Order No. 9604 of Aug. 25, 1945 (with respect to the declassification, release, and publication of certain technical, scientific, and industrial information which has been classified as secret, confidential, or restricted), are transferred to the Secretary of Commerce.

6. The functions of the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion under the provisions of Executive Order No. 9791 of Oct. 17, 1946 (with respect to the study of scientific research and development activities), are transferred to the Executive Office of the President and shall be administered in such manner as the head thereof may deem desirable.

Functions Transferred

7. The functions of the Media Programming Division and the Motion Picture Division of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, and the functions which were transferred from the Bureau of Special Services of the Office of War Information to the Bureau of the Budget by the provisions of Paragraph 1(b) of Executive Order No. 9608 of Aug. 31, 1945, are transferred to the Office of Government Reports, which is re-established as an agency in the Executive Office of the President on the same basis and with the same functions as obtained immediately prior to the promulgation of Executive Order No. 9182 of June 13, 1942. The functions of the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion with respect to the functions of the said divisions and the functions of the Director of the Bureau of the Budget with respect to the said functions of the Bureau of the Budget are transferred to the Director of the Office of Government Reports.

1946

Wage Board Terminated

8. There are transferred to the Department of the Treasury the functions of the Office of Contract Settlement, (b) the Appeal Board established under Section 13(d) of the Contract Settlement Act of 1944, (c) the Contract Settlement Advisory Board created by Section 5 of the said act, and (d) the functions of such boards, which shall remain vested therein, respectively. The functions of the Director of Contract Settlement, and the functions of the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion under Section 101(b) of the War Mobilization and Reconversion Act of 1944 with respect to the Office of Contract Settlement, are transferred to the Secretary of the Treasury.

9. The functions of the financial reporting division of the Office of Price Administration, together with the functions of the Price Administrator with respect thereto, are transferred to the Federal Trade Commission.

10. (a) The National Wage Stabilization Board is terminated.

(b) The functions heretofore vested in the National Wage Stabilization Board pursuant to the provisions of Section 5(a) of the Stabilization Act of 1942, as amended, are transferred to the Department of the Treasury.

(c) The functions under Section 5 of the War Labor Disputes Act now vested in the National Wage Stabilization Board shall be administered by a special board or boards to be constituted as may be necessary by the Secretary of Labor from among the members of the panel to be appointed by the President for that purpose.

(d) The Tripartite Steel Commission (created by the National War Labor Board on March 30, 1945) shall continue to carry out its functions within the Department of Labor until such date as the Secretary of Labor may fix for its termination.

(e) All other functions of the National Wage Stabilization Board are transferred to the Secretary of Labor.

Order Effective Immediately

11. The authority, records, property, and personnel which relate primarily to the functions redistributed by this order are transferred to the respective agencies in which functions are vested pursuant to the provisions of this order and the funds which relate primarily to such functions are transferred or otherwise made available to such respective agencies: provided, that the Director of the Bureau of the Budget may in any case limit the records, property, personnel, and funds to be so transferred or made available to so much thereof as he deems to be required for the administration of the transferred functions. Such further measures and dispositions as may be determined by the Director of the Bureau of the Budget to be necessary to effectuate the purposes and provisions of this paragraph shall be carried out in such manner as the Director of the Bureau of the Budget may direct and by such agencies as he may designate. All personnel transferred under the provisions of this order which the transferee agencies shall respectively find to be in excess of the personnel necessary for the administration of the functions transferred to such agencies by this order shall, if not retransferred under existing law to other positions in the Government, be separated from the service.

12. All prior executive orders or parts thereof in conflict with this order are amended accordingly. All other prior orders, regulations, rulings, directives, and other actions relating to any function or agency transferred by this order or issued by any such agency shall remain in effect except as they are inconsistent herewith or are hereafter amended or revoked under proper authority.

13. The provisions of this order shall become effective immediately except that the provisions of Paragraph 10 hereof, and those of Paragraph 11 to the extent that they relate to the functions referred to in Paragraph 10, shall become effective on Feb. 24, 1947.

WSB Told To End Work By Feb. 24

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board today was given until February 24 to wind up its affairs and close shop.

Under an executive order signed by President Truman, the task of approving any changes in wages and working conditions in mines or plants seized by the Government in labor disputes is being transferred to the Labor Department. The department, in turn, will delegate the job to a panel to be created by Secretary Schwellenbach from appointees selected by Mr. Truman.

Under this plan, John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers, now working for the Government, could apply to this new panel for the change in working conditions they sought in the recent soft-coal strike.

Awaits Court Ruling

Mr. Truman declined to go into this question at today's news conference, however, saying that he would discuss Lewis's chances for getting wage concessions from the Government after the Supreme Court has acted in the miners' contempt case.

The Supreme Court will rule on the $3,510,000 in fines against Lewis and the union for contempt of the Federal District Court after hearings scheduled for January 14.

The Wage Stabilization Board, which has been on the way out since Mr. Truman ended virtually all price controls in mid-October, has been engaged principally in enforcing penalties for violations of wage orders in the building construction industry.

Treasury Given Task

These functions will be transferred to the Treasury Department—presumably the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The only penalty for such violations is to disallow the amount of overpayment by a contractor in making out his income tax.

Whatever residual functions the board has are to be transferred to Schwellenbach.

TRUMAN WORKING ON HOUSING NEEDS; CREEDON NAMED

1946

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP) While industry leaders beat the drums on Capitol Hill for the abolition of all housing controls, the White House worked tonight on a revamped housing drive.

President Truman "discussed the development of a housing program" for 30 minutes late in the day with his two newly appointed housing chiefs and other key officials, and asked them to meet again tomorrow, the White House announced.

The "whole housing program" is being reviewed, reporters were told later by John R. Steelman, assistant to the President and former reconversion director, to see "what changes, if any, should be worked out."

Subordinates in the National Housing Agency privately predicted that a relaxation of housing controls would result—perhaps suddenly, perhaps gradually.

Creedon Succeeds Wyatt

As for the details, they were waiting for enlightment from the two men named by Mr. Truman to take over the twin housing jobs of Wilson W. Wyatt, who quit last week.

The appointees, announced at Mr. Truman's news conference earlier in the day, are:

The appointees, announced at Mr. Truman's news conference earlier in the day are:

Frank R. Creedon, the new housing expediter—a boss construction engineer who, as deputy administrator of the Civilian Production Administration, clashed with Wyatt on some of the latter's building curbs; and Raymond M. Foley, successor to the other half of Wyatt's job, administrator of the National Housing Agency. He will run NHA as well as the Federal Housing Administration, of which he is now commissioner.

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters that Mr. Truman gave his views on housing to Creedon, Foley and others at a 3 p.m. (E.S.T.) session and asked for their proposals.

Then they discussed both the long-range housing problem and the veterans' shelter emergency. Ross said, adding: "Of course, veterans' housing is highly important in this picture."

However, the outlook for low-priced veterans' homes looked "dark," from the legislative standpoint, to Senator Myers (D-Pa). In a speech at a meeting of regional housing officials in Philadelphia he said "pretty evident signs" point to these developments:

"The removal of all construction controls yet remaining on the books; letting industrial and commercial builders grab the materials; and the end, or virtual end, of rent control through substantial increases, or perhaps the abdication of federal control in favor of state control."

Senator Myers decried what he foresaw as a "devil-take-the-hindmost" attitude toward housing among Congress members and asserted: "The fellow the devil is going to take used to be known as G.I. Joe."

Industry Gives Views

But industry had its inning before the Senate small business committee, where real estate, construction and building supply executives paraded to the witness chair and demanded, almost unanimously, the outright abolition of federal housing controls. Such action, they said, would get more houses faster.

Calvin K. Snyder, spokesman of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, declared the scrapping of all housing controls would bring a "decided increase" in home building within six months.

As for rentals, Snyder said an association survey indicated tenants would take a 15 percent rent boost if they received a one-year lease. Mr. Truman had told his news conference earlier that he did not plan to order a rent increase, but said OPA might be considering some boosts.

The President of the National Association of Home Builders, Joseph Meyeroff, told the Senators that only by building "a great surplus" of houses, particularly rental dwellings, "can we bring down the ultimate cost of a home."

"Freedom of action x x x should be assured industry," Sid L. Darling, secretary of the National-American Wholesale Lumber Association, told the committee. "That is the only way this ramified construction industry will be able to successfully do the job at hand." Darling termed many of the government regulations "cumbersome and unrealistic."

Joseph T. King, counsel for the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association, testified that "government controls have not only been harmful, but have diverted materials away from veterans housing."

UNRRA GROUP O.K.'S PLAN FOR 1947 MEETING

1946

Russia Virtually Wins Demand For Accounting Of Relief Funds

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Russia virtually won her fight today to force the calling of another meeting of the full 48-nation UNRRA Council next year.

A full policy committee of UNRRA conference delegates unanimously approved a resolution which in effect assured a seventh and presumably final meeting of the Council before June, 1947.

The current session had been scheduled to be the last meeting for the delegates, since relief operations in Europe are scheduled to end December 31 and in the Far East March 31, even though actual shipment may take a few months longer.

The full plenary session of delegates is expected to approve the resolution later without debate.

The resolution had been recommended by a subcommittee which attempted to reconcile conflicting Soviet and American viewpoints.

"Criminal Waste"

Nikolai Feonov, Russian representative, had insisted on the 1947 meeting to hear a final accounting of UNRRA's two-year supervision of international relief. C. Tyler Wood, for America, called it a "criminal waste" of funds.

Under the wording of the resolution, Russian and Yugoslav members of UNRRA's central committee must join in unanimous vote with representatives of seven other countries to determine the 1947 meeting is not necessary.

Meanwhile, a high diplomatic official said the United States, bucking Soviet opposition, is considering asking a reshuffle of UNRRA's last $626,000,000 to provide additional relief for Austria.

This informant said a desire to help Austria and possibly Italy was one of the main reasons behind the American strategy. This is a course of insistence that all remaining allocations to UNRRA-receiving countries are "tentative" and subject to revision, depending on need.

Fiorello LaGuardia, director general, has supported Russian, Polish and Yugoslav opposition to the United States' attitude at the 48-nation UNRRA conference here. He has lashed out at the American view as "bread politics."

Urgent Need Indicated

However, the diplomatic official said reports from Austria clearly indicate urgent need.

He said they show that additional UNRRA help must be forthcoming if food rations in that country are not to sink to 1,200 calories daily from their present figure of 1,550.

If UNRRA is to operate on a "when-and-where-needed" basis, said this official, it is more urgent to ship food to a hungry country than to utilize funds for rehabilitation and industrial equipment to more fortunate claimant countries.

Seeking to prevent any juggling of remaining allocations, the Russian representative has introduced a resolution which would "freeze" current programs without change.

Soviet Proposal Cited

Deliveries to European countries not completed by a December 31 deadline would continue to go forward under the Russian proposal.

An UNRRA subcommittee was called on to work out the problem behind closed doors, forestalling another heated public exchange of remarks by the Russian and American delegates and LaGuardia.

The UNRRA representatives, meanwhile, turned to an old hand at liquidating war agencies, Maj. Gen. Lowell W. Rooks, USA, as their choice to succeed LaGuardia, who quits December 31 after nine months in the job.

General Rooks, leader of the Allied group that dissolved the Nazi high command and the "Acting German Government" after V-E day, was nominated unanimously by UNRRA's central committee. He is expected to be approved, probably tomorrow, by a full plenary meeting of delegates.

A veteran of two wars, Rooks has served as UNRRA deputy general for the past year on loan from the Army.

Director-General of United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

UNRRA's nine-nation central committee unanimously nominated him and adopted an expression of regret at LaGuardia's decision to resign. The forty-eight-nation UNRRA conference is expected to approve the appointment tomorrow.

Rooks, currently deputy director, will direct the expiring relief agency's final three months of aid to the Far East and help wind up relief operations in Europe. LaGuardia, UNRRA chief for the last nine months, told a reporter that he plans to "relax, write and think" after he quits his position.

Rooks is on loan to UNRRA from the Army. He was deputy chief of staff under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the German campaign, commanded the Ninetieth Division in the final stages of the "Battle of the Bulge," and helped to crack the Siekfried Line. After V. E-Day, he headed the Allied group which took control over the self-styled "acting German Government" and the German High Command.

ATOMIC ADVISORY COMMITTEE NAMED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP) President Truman completed the tasks assigned him under the new atomic energy setup today by appointing nine prominent scientists and engineers as a general advisory committee for the control commission.

While this was the last step the President himself had to take to put the setup into operation, the commission headed by David E. Lilienthal still must appoint its general manager and a number of other groups.

The general advisory committee which the President named is required by the act "to advise the commission on scientific and technical matters relating to materials production, and research and development."

The members will select their own chairman. They get $50 a day and expenses and serve for six years, except that the original appointments are for staggered terms of two, four and six years.

The members are:

James B. Conant, president of Harvard and a leading figure in atomic energy.

Lee A. DuBridge, president of California Institute of Technology, a physicist not previously connected with atomic energy.

Enrico Fermi, Nobel prize winner in physics and a leading scientist in the work on nuclear chain reaction.

J. R. Oppenheimer, University of California physicist and wartime director of the Los Alamos, N. M., laboratories.

I. I. Rabi, Columbia University physicist, Nobel prize winner and leading consultant on atomic energy.

Hartley Rowe, vice president and chief engineer of the United Fruit Company and engineering advisory for the Manhattan Project.

Glenn T. Seaborg, University of California chemist who participated in the discovery of plutonium.

Cyril Stanley Smith, director of the University of Chicago Institute of Metals who was in charge of wartime metallurgical work at Los Alamos.

Hood Worthington, chemical engineer of E. I. Dupont de Nemours and Company, an authority on design and operation of nuclear reactors.

several fighting ships for experiments with guided missile batteries.

Bacteriological Welfare

Both the Army and Navy have made guarded disclosures that their studies of bacteriological warfare have produced satisfactory results in the laboratory. The implication is that American military science is certainly abreast if not ahead of other powers in the know-how of conducting war against men, animals and plants.

The Army's Chemical Warfare Corps, while directly concerned with the germ-warfare program, has given prime attention to new chemical toxics and to methods for combatting such attacks.

The Army and Navy, independently and through joint organizations, are currently pushing research in the guided missile and rocket field, in improvements of radar and counter-radar methods of detection and in the automatic firing large-caliber guns.

Also the United States has pioneered in the use of heavy bombardment aviation, advancing since war's end to the huge, long-range B-35 and B-36 bombers. And this country vying with Britain for leadership in jet-propelled aircraft directed at supersonic speeds.

U.S. Secrets Other Than Atom May Be Released

1946

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—A wide assortment of American military secrets, besides the atom bomb, might conceivably be bared if the United Nations calls for a census of armaments as well as troop strength.

While the whole issue bogged down again in New York last night, it was recalled that the British had suggested asking each nation for "full particulars on armaments of different categories as well as armed forces." This was presumably intended to embrace naval as well as land and air armaments.

Carrier Developments

The United States Navy, the world's largest, developed ships, matériel and methods during and since the war well in advance of some possessed by other powers. Particularly, it went to the fore in aircraft carrier development and now operates the largest, fastest and most heavily protected ships of that type, the 45,000-ton Midway class.

American designers are known to have been working for months on improvements to the submarine fleet, including studies of new propulsion equipment, torpedoes and underwater detection methods. In the ordnance field, the Navy has already ordered modification of

A letter was read into the record, addressed to Chairman Mead (D-N.Y.) and signed with Terry's name.

Dated December 2, it said that an anonymous person telephoned him at Meridian, Miss., the night of November 26 and told him "that should I participate or take any part in connection with the investigation of Senator Bilbo that my wife and daughter would pay with their lives."

It said that on October 31 a likewise anonymous caller told him "I would pay with my life" if he had anything to do with an investigation of Bilbo then going on in Mississippi.

In view of these facts "and especially the fact that the lives of my wife and daughter have been threatened," the letter asked that he not be called to testify.

The letter recalled that last April "I was, in the presence of witnesses, told that I would be killed if I gave out any information I might have detrimental to Senator Bilbo."

This instance, the letter said, was widely published.

Counsel Meader said Terry was questioned November 26 in executive session. Chairman Mead and Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) urged that the Federal Bureau of Investigation be recruited to help locate him for public testimony. Committee staffers reached him by telephone at Lakeland, Fla., Saturday.

Counsel reported that Terry's daughter believed he had come to Washington Monday, gone to New York, and was driving back to Meridian.

Bilbo and his attorney, Forrest Jackson, asked that the committee subpoena not only Terry, but J. Marvin Quinn, executive vice president of a Jackson, Miss., bank where Terry is said to have some accounts.

Jackson said Quinn had told him in a conversation 10 days ago that Terry had confided he was going to use the alleged threats as an excuse not to testify, "because the evidence he would give would tend to incriminate him."

Bilbo's lawyer said Terry's account of the threats was "the same sort of statement he made during the campaign" last summer when

Key Witness Against Bilbo Threatened, Probers Are Told

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP) A story of death threats against a key witness was laid before the Senate War Investigating committee today as it pressed an inquiry into allegations that Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) reaped benefits from his relations with war contractors.

George Meader, committee counsel, said the witness is Edward P. Terry, former secretary to Bilbo. Meader said the committee has been unable to learn his whereabouts since last Saturday and that efforts to subpoena him have been unsuccessful.

Terry until last January was Bilbo's secretary and constant office associate, although he carried the title of clerk of the Senate committee on District of Columbia affairs.

Bilbo won renomination over four opponents.

Other Changes

Before getting to the Terry matter, the committee had heard from Army officers and ex-officers:

1. That Bilbo on numerous occasions brought contractors to their offices to recommend them for construction jobs:

2. That Bilbo was extremely active in having construction of the Jackson (Miss.) air base placed under control of the Army engineer office at Vicksburg, Miss., rather than the office at Mobile, Ala.;

3. That his 1940 campaign manager, A. B. Friend, participated in a $1,731,029 contract at Key Field, Meridian, Miss., as one of four contractors in a pool or co-venture.

When the morning session ended, the little Democratic senator told reporters:

"If it's wrong to recommend friends and constituents for jobs, then it disqualifies three-fourths of the Senate and all of the House."

Wearing a diamond horseshoe stickpin in his red necktie, Bilbo maintained an air of jauntiness as two of his colleagues dug into allegations that he accepted more than $30,000 in cash, a furnished house and a big automobile from contractors for his work in getting them the government construction jobs.

World Rubber Shortage In 1947 Is Predicted

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—There will be a world shortage of natural rubber in 1947, with the shortage most acute in the first half of the year, George M. Tisdale, vice president of United States Rubber Company, said on his return from Europe today.

This, he said, is the opinion of the international rubber study group, whose meetings at The Hague Tisdale attended as adviser to the State Department.

"Final figures agreed upon give a possibility of 1,200,000 long tons of natural rubber reaching consuming areas as against estimated world consumption of rubber of about 1,700,000 tons in 1947," Tisdale said.

"Only about 500,000 tons of natural rubber from these shipments is expected to reach the United States next year, and the use of about the same amount of synthetic is necessary to meet United States production requirements," he added.

GERMAN YOUTH PERIL

Buck Hill Falls, Pa., Dec. 12 (A. P.).—The Allied reconstruction program is faced with "a moral and spiritual vacuum" among German youth, created by the collapse of their Nazi ideals, the Methodist Church was told by Dr. Ralph E. Diffendorfer, foreign executive secretary of the church.

"German youth today apparently is without hope and hope is a spiritual quality," Dr. Diffendorfer told the church's Board of Missions and Church Extension yesterday.

Germany's "future economy can be objectively controlled. Her finances can be regulated. Her army and navy can be obliterated, by force if necessary. But moral and spiritual outlook is a creation from within and involves educational and social procedures not so easily manipulated."

WASHINGTON, Dec. [illegible] (AP)—The Public Roads Administration described a $9,960,000 allocation for highway construction in the Philippines today as the start of a $100,000,000, four-year program of road reconstruction in the islands.

The Filipinos will be asked at least to match the $9,960,000 allocation for 1947.

Francis C. Turner of Washington is en route to Manila to establish a division engineering office. Mr. Turner was consultant during the war to Canadian Army forces maintaining the Alaska Highway.

The road-building program is part of a larger rehabilitation plan involving port and harbor reconstruction, restoring of schools, hospitals, air transport and the fishing industry, improvement of the public health and establishment of a broad personal training program for Filipinos.

"Appropriate Action" Asked

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—The State Department said today it has asked the United States Embassy in Belgrade to take "appropriate action" to safeguard rights of Americans affected by a new Yugoslav law nationalizing 42 industries.

U.N. (570)

NEW YORK, DEC.12-(AP)-FOLLOWING IS THE TEXT OF THE RESOLUTION ON FRANCO SPAIN PASSED TONIGHT BY THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY: (550)

RELATIONS BETWEEN SPAIN AND THE UNITED NATIONS

THE PEOPLES OF THE UNITED NATIONS, AT SAN FRANCISCO, POTSDAM AND LONDON CONDEMNED THE FRANCO REGIME IN SPAIN AND DECIDED THAT AS LONG AS THAT REGIME REMAINS, SPAIN MAY NOT BE ADMITTED TO THE UNITED NATIONS. add

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, IN ITS RESOLUTION OF 9 FEBRUARY 1946, RECOMMENDED THAT THE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS SHOULD ACT IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE LETTER AND THE SPIRIT OF THE DECLARATIONS OF SAN FRANCISCO AND POTSDAM.

THE PEOPLES OF THE UNITED NATIONS ASSURE THE SPANISH PEOPLE OF THEIR ENDURING SYMPATHY AND OF THE CORDIAL WELCOME AWAITING THEM WHEN CIRCUMSTANCES ENABLE THEM TO BE ADMITTED TO THE UNITED NATIONS.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY RECALLS THAT IN MAY AND JUNE 1946, THE SECURITY COUNCIL CONDUCTED AN INVESTIGATION OF THE POSSIBLE FURTHER ACTION TO BE TAKEN BY THE UNITED NATIONS. THE SUB-COMMITTEE OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL CHARGED WITH THE INVESTIGATION FOUND UNANIMOUSLY:

"(A) IN ORIGIN, NATURE, STRUCTURE AND GENERAL CONDUCT, THE FRANCO REGIME IS A FASCIST REGIME PATTERNED ON, AND ESTABLISHED LARGELY AS A RESULT OF AID RECEIVED FROM HITLER'S NAZI GERMANY AND MUSSOLINI'S FASCIST ITALY.

"(B) DURING THE LONG STRUGGLE OF THE UNITED NATIONS AGAINST HITLER AND MUSSOLINI, FRANCO, DESPITE CONTINUED ALLIED PROTESTS, GAVE VERY SUBSTANTIAL AID TO THE ENEMY POWERS. FIRST, FOR EXAMPLE, FROM 1941 TO 1945, THE BLUE INFANTRY DIVISION, THE SPANISH LEGION OF VOLUNTEERS AND THE SALVADOR AIR SQUADRON FOUGHT AGAINST SOVIET RUSSIA ON THE EASTERN FRONT. SECOND, IN THE SUMMER OF 1940, SPAIN SEIZED TANGIER IN BREACH OF INTERNATIONAL STATUTE, AND AS A RESULT OF SPAIN MAINTAINING A LARGE ARMY IN SPANISH MOROCCO LARGE NUMBERS OF ALLIED TROOPS WERE IMMOBILIZED IN NORTH AFRICA.

B91 (Q)

"(C) INCONTROVERTIBLE DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE ESTABLISHES THAT FRANCO WAS A GUILTY PARTY WITH HITLER AND MUSSOLINI IN THE CONSPIRACY TO WAGE WAR AGAINST THOSE COUNTRIES WHICH EVENTUALLY IN THE COURSE OF THE WORLD WAR BECAME BANDED TOGETHER AS THE UNITED NATIONS. IT WAS PART OF THE CONSPIRACY THAT FRANCO'S FULL BELLIGERENCY SHOULD BE POSTPONED UNTIL A TIME TO BE MUTUALLY AGREED UPON."

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

CONVINCED THAT THE FRANCO FASCIST GOVERNMENT OF SPAIN, WHICH WAS IMPOSED BY FORCE UPON THE SPANISH PEOPLE WITH THE AID OF THE AXIS AND WHICH GAVE MATERIAL AID TO THE AXIS POWERS IN THE WAR, DOES NOT REPRESENT THE SPANISH PEOPLE, AND BY ITS CONTINUED CONTROL OF SPAIN IS MAKING IMPOSSIBLE THE PARTICIPATION OF THE SPANISH PEOPLE WITH THE PEOPLES OF THE UNITED NATIONS IN INTER-

NATIONAL AFFAIRS;

RECOMMENDS THAT THE FRANCO GOVERNMENT OF SPAIN BE DEBARRED FROM MEMBERSHIP IN INTERNATIONAL AGENCIES ESTABLISHED BY OR BROUGHT INTO RELATIONSHIP WITH THE UNITED NATIONS, AND FROM PARTICIPATION IN CONFERENCE OR OTHER ACTIVITIES WHICH MAY BE ARRANGED BY THE UNITED NATIONS OR BY THESE AGENCIES, UNTIL A NEW AND ACCEPTABLE GOVERNMENT IS FORMED IN SPAIN.

FURTHER DESIRING TO SECURE THE PARTICIPATION OF ALL PEACE-LOVING PEOPLES, INCLUDING THE PEOPLE OF SPAIN, IN THE COMMUNITY OF NATIONS,

RECOMMENDS THAT, IF WITHIN A REASONABLE TIME, THERE IS NOT ESTABLISHED A GOVERNMENT WHICH DERIVES ITS AUTHORITY FROM THE CONSENT OF THE GOVERNED, COMMITTED TO RESPECT FREEDOM OF SPEECH, RELIGION AND ASSEMBLY AND TO THE PROMPT HOLDING OF AN ELECTION IN WHICH THE SPANISH PEOPLE, FREE FROM FORCE AND INTIMIDATION AND REGARDLESS OF PARTY, MAY EXPRESS THEIR WILL, THE SECURITY COUNCIL CONSIDER THE ADEQUATE MEASURES TO BE TAKEN IN ORDER TO REMEDY THE SITUATION;

RECOMMENDS THAT ALL MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS IMMEDIATELY RECALL FROM MADRID THEIR AMBASSADORS AND MINISTERS PLENIPOTENTIARY ACCREDITED THERE.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY FURTHER RECOMMENDS THAT THE STATES MEMBERS OF THE ORGANIZATION REPORT TO THE SECRETARY-GENERAL AND TO THE NEXT SESSION OF THE ASSEMBLY WHAT ACTION THEY HAVE TAKEN IN ACCORDANCE WITH THIS RECOMMENDATION. (END TEXT).

U.N.-VETO INTERPRETATIVE (400)
BY LARRY HAUCK

NEW YORK, DEC. 12-(AP)-THE VETO REARS ITS HEAD EVERY TIME THE UNITED NATIONS DEBATES AN IMPORTANT ISSUE.

THIS HAS BEEN TRUE IN THE LONG DISCUSSIONS ON ARMS REDUCTION, TROOP INVENTORIES AND ALL THE OTHER PROBLEMS CONSIDERED SO IMPORTANT TO THE FUTURE OF MANKIND.

THIS WORD VETO--A LATIN TERM WHICH IS THE SAME IN ENGLISH, SPANISH, RUSSIAN AND FRENCH, AS THE WORLD PRETTY WELL KNOWS BY NOW -- CONCERNS THE SPECIAL VOTING RIGHT GIVEN THE FIVE GREAT POWERS IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL THROUGH CHARTER AUTHORIZATION FOR ANY ONE OF THEM ~~TO BLOCK A MAJOR DECISION BY MERELY RAISING A HAND.~~

IN THE FINAL DAYS OF THE CURRENT ASSEMBLY SESSION --PERHAPS TODAY-- THE UNITED NATIONS WILL ACT ON A PROPOSAL AIMED TO CURB THE USE OF THE VETO.

HOWEVER, THE FINAL RESOLUTION WHICH EMERGED FROM COMMITTEE FOR FLOOR DEBATE WAS SO WATERED DOWN BY REVISIONS AND AMENDMENTS THAT IT DID LITTLE MORE THAN CALL ATTENTION TO OPPOSITION TO THE SPECIAL VOTING PRIVILEGE.

THUS THE ISSUE APPARENTLY REMAINS FOR THE FUTURE AND THERE ARE THOSE WHO BELIEVE THAT THIS QUESTION EVENTUALLY MAY MAKE OR BREAK THE PEACE AGENCY.

THROUGHOUT DISCUSSIONS IN AND OUT OF COMMITTEE ROOMS, RUSSIA HAS BORNE THE BRUNT OF THE ATTACKS, WHICH HAVE BEEN LEVELED PRINCIPALLY

BY SMALL NATIONS. THE BARRAGE AGAINST THE SOVIET UNION HAS STEMMED FROM UNOFFICIAL FIGURES SHOWING THAT RUSSIA HAS PULLED A VETO OUT OF ITS POCKET NINE TIMESMCNOMM V

IVMTOMMN 559..,;:55.55;9,CWTMOOMMN

FROM UNOFFICIAL FIGURES SHOWING THAT RUSSIA HAS PULLED A VETO OUT OF ITS POCKET NINE TIMES IN LESS THAN A YEAR TO BLOCK SECURITY COUNCIL RESOLUTIONS FAVORED BY AT LEAST SEVEN OF THE 11 MEMBERS.

FRANCE WAS ASSOCIATED WITH RUSSIA ON ONE VETO; THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN AND CHINA HAVE NEVER USED IT.

RUSSIA HAS STOOD ITS GROUND AGAINST ANY ELIMINATION OR EVEN MODIFICATION. THE OTHER FOUR POWERS HAVE INDICATED WILLINGNESS FROM TIME TO TIME FOR SOME LIMITATION ON ITS USE BUT NONE HAS EVEN BEEN VERY SPECIFIC.

APPARENTLY NO ONE OF THE FIVE FAVORED COUNTRIES WOULD DENY THAT EVERY ONE OF THESE NATIONS WANTS THE VETO KEPT IN THE CHARTER.

THUS, WHILE THE UNITED STATES, CHINA, FRANCE AND GREAT BRITAIN JOIN LIGHTLY IN THE ATTACKS ON RUSSIA, THEY ARE PREPARED TO RESIST JUST AS STRONGLY AS THE SOVIET UNION ANY ATTEMPT TO TAKE AWAY THE POWER.

IT WAS GENERALLY CONCEDED THAT PRESENCE OF THE VETO WAS THE DECISIVE FACTOR IN BRINGING APPROVAL IN THE AMERICAN CONGRESS OF THE U.N. CHARTER.

THE ARGUMENTS OF THE BIG POWERS BOIL DOWN TO THIS: THEY MUST HAVE SOME SORT OF CHECK AGAINST THE SMALL NATIONS OF THE WORLD, WHO COULD OUTVOTE THEM EASILY AND THUS FORCE A LEADING POWER INTO TAKING STEPS CONTRARY TO WHAT IT BELIEVED TO BE ITS BEST INTERESTS. NOT TO BE OVERLOOKED, EITHER, IS THE CHECK THE VETO GIVES AGAINST BEING BACKED INTO A CORNER BY OTHER MAJOR POWERS.

THE LITTLE NATIONS MEANWHILE KEEP UP THEIR BARRAGE AGAINST THIS VETO WITH THE CRY THAT IT IS UNDEMOCRATIC. AND MANY PERSONS WHO HAVE WATCHED THE UNITED NATIONS FROM ITS BIRTH MAINTAIN THAT THIS ISSUE WILL HAUNT THE U.N. UNTIL THE PEACE BODY SUCCEEDS OR DIES.

AMERICAN SOURCES INDICATED, HOWEVER, THAT IF BYRNES FELT THE SUB-COMMITTEE COULD REACH AGREEMENT WITHOUT HIS PARTICIPATION HE WOULD DELAY HIS STATEMENT UNTIL THE ISSUES COME BEFORE A PLENARY SESSION OF THE ASSEMBLY.

BOTH BRITISH AND AMERICAN SOURCES CLOSE TO THEIR RESPECTIVE DELEGATIONS BELIEVED THAT SOME SORT OF ARMS REDUCTION PROGRAM COULD BE AGREED UPON AT THIS SESSION OF THE ASSEMBLY. BUT THERE WAS A GROWING BELIEF THAT THE WHOLE QUESTION OF A TROOP INVENTORY MIGHT BE COMPLETELY WASHED OUT AND DELAYED UNTIL NEXT YEAR'S ASSEMBLY SESSION.

AMERICAN SOURCES SAID THEY FELT BRITAIN'S PROPOSAL TO LINK THE ARMS QUESTION WITH THE TROOP CENSUS WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR DELAYING AN AGREEMENT ON A WORLD ARMS REDUCTION PROGRAM.

AS THE SITUATION NOW STANDS THE SUB-COMMITTEE WILL ATTEMPT TO FORMULATE AN ARMS REDUCTION PROGRAM, AND ONCE THAT IS OUT OF THE WAY WILL TAKE UP THE BRITISH PROPOSAL CALLING FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF A SUPERVISORY COMMISSION TO CHECK REPORTS ON ARMS AND TROOPS.

THE BIG POWERS WERE MORE OR LESS AGREED ON THIS RESOLUTION WHEN IT CAME TO THE SUB-COMMITTEE ON ARMS REDUCTION, BUT CANADA SUBMITTED AN AMENDMENT WHICH THREATENED TO THROW THE WHOLE THING INTO DISAGREEMENT.

THIS AMENDMENT ASKS THAT THE ASSEMBLY POWERS BE MORE EXPLICIT AND THAT THE ASSEMBLY BE GIVEN MORE RECOGNITION IN THE PROGRAM THAN THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

RUSSIA, HOWEVER, REJECTED THE COMPROMISE.

MEANWHILE, TWO OTHER HOT ISSUES HEADED FOR DEBATE IN THE ASSEMBLY TODAY.

ONE WAS A RESOLUTION CALLING FOR ALL MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS TO RECALL THEIR AMBASSADORS FROM FRANCO SPAIN. THE UNITED STATES, WHICH ABSTAINED FROM VOTING IN COMMITTEE, WAS EXPECTED TO SUPPORT THE RESOLUTION ON THE ASSEMBLY FLOOR.

SECOND WAS THE LONG CONTROVERSIAL VETO ISSUE. BEFORE THE ASSEMBLY WAS A RESOLUTION URGING THE BIG FIVE TO "ENSURE THAT THE USE OF THE SPECIAL VOTING PRIVILEGE X X X DOES NOT IMPEDE THE SECURITY COUNCIL IN REACHING DECISIONS PROMPTLY."

NEW YORK, DEC 12-(AP)-PACED BY A NEW ROUND OF CONCESSIONS FROM SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV, THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL ARRANGED TO FINISH ITS HISTORIC PEACEMAKING SESSIONS IN NEW YORK TODAY AFTER HAVING COMPLETED PLANS FOR DRAFTING GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN PEACE SETTLEMENTS. 1946

A FINAL MEETING WAS SCHEDULED FOR 4 P.M. (E.S.T.) TO CLEAN UP MINOR DETAILS OF THE FIVE EUROPEAN SATELLITE PEACE TREATIES AND APPROVE THE DRAFT OF A SIX-POINT AGENDA FOR THE BIG FOUR CONFERENCE IN MOSCOW MARCH 10 TO BEGIN WORK ON TREATIES WITH GERMANY AND AUSTRIA.

IN A BUSY, SWIFT-MOVING SESSION LAST NIGHT THE BIG FOUR AGREED THAT PRIOR TO THE MOSCOW SESSIONS SMALL NATIONS WOULD BE GIVEN FULL OPPORTUNITY TO PRESENT THEIR PROPOSALS FOR GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN SETTLEMENTS TO BOARDS OF GREAT POWER DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS IN LONDON BEGINNING JANUARY 14.

DUE MAINLY TO LAST MINUTE AGREEMENT BY MOLOTOV IT WAS ALSO DECIDED THAT SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES' PROPOSALS FOR SHARPLY LIMITING OCCUPATION ARMIES IN EUROPE AND FOR A 40-YEAR GERMAN DISARMAMENT PACT WOULD BE FULLY CONSIDERED AT THE MOSCOW MEETING.

MOLOTOV TENTATIVELY BLOCKED A BYRNES MOVE TO INVITE THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE MOSCOW MEETING AND FINAL DECISION WAS DUE ON THAT AT TODAY'S CLOSING SESSION, BUT INDICATIONS WERE THAT MOLOTOV'S OBJECTIONS WOULD STAND.

LITTLE REMAINED TO BE DONE ON THE SIX-POINT AGENDA FOR THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE EXCEPT TO PUT IT INTO FINAL FORMAL LANGUAGE. IT WAS FULLY APPROVED IN SUBSTANCE LAST NIGHT AND PROVIDES FOR THESE ACTIONS AT OSCOW:

4. CONSIDERATION OF THE PROPOSED AMERICAN DRAFT OF A DISARMAMENT AND DEMILITARIZATION TREATY AND OTHER MEASURES FOR THE POLITICAL, ECONOMIC AND MILITARY CONTROL OF GERMANY.

THERE WAS NO DOUBT THAT THE MOST CONTROVERSIAL POINT SETTLED BY THE MINISTERS LAST NIGHT CONCERNED THE APPOINTMENT OF DEPUTIES TO HOLD THE LONDON HEARINGS FOR SMALL NATIONS ON GERMANY AND AUSTRIA.

BYRNES, BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN AND FRENCH DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER MAURICE COUVE DE MURVILLE HAD ALL ARGUED THAT THE SMALLER NATIONS SHOULD HAVE A PRELIMINARY OPPORTUNITY TO STATE THEIR VIEWS BEFORE THE GREAT POWERS MADE ANY DECISIONS ON GERMANY.

MOLOTOV HAD DEMURRED, CONTENDING THAT UNTIL THE FOUR BIG POWERS HAD GENERALLY OUTLINED THEIR IDEAS ON A GERMAN SETTLEMENT, THE DEPUTIES WOULD NOT KNOW HOW TO PROCEED. LAST NIGHT, HOWEVER, HE YIELDED ON THIS POINT.

IN DOING SO HE UTTERED HIS FIRST COMPLAINT RESPECTING AMERICAN PRESS HANDLING OF THE BIG FOUR MEETING HERE. ACCORDING TO WESTERN DIPLOMATS PRESENT HE HAD THIS TO SAY:

THE SOVIET DELEGATION WAS SURPRISED AT WHAT MOLOTOV CONSIDERED THE ONE-SIDED PRESENTATION OF PROPOSALS WHICH IT HAD SUBMITTED TO THE BIG FOUR COUNCIL. THE DELEGATION HAD HARDLY OPENED ITS MOUTH WHEN THE AMERICAN PRESS PRESENTED ITS ATTITUDE TOWARD THE PROPOSAL FOR APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL DEPUTIES ON GERMANY IN A SENSE WHICH WAS UNFAVORABLE TO THE ATTITUDE OF THE SOVIET DELEGATION.

OF COURSE, MOLOTOV WAS REPORTED AS SAYING, IT IS ALL RIGHT TO SAY THE PRESS IS FREE BUT IT WOULD BE WELL THAT THERE SHOULD BE AS FEW AS POSSIBLE CASES OF EXTREME ONESIDEDNESS.

THE SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER DID NOT DETAIL HIS COMPLAINT, NOR DID HE SAY WHETHER HE OBJECTED TO NEWS ACCOUNTS OF THE SOVIET ATTITUDE OR TO EDITORIAL REACTION CRITICAL OF IT.

MANY NATIONS ALREADY HAVE REQUESTED TO BE HEARD ON GERMANY. THEY INCLUDE BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS, LUXEMBOURG, POLAND, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, BRAZIL, YUGOSLAVIA, DENMARK AND THE BRITISH DOMINIONS.

YUGOSLAVIA ALSO HAS ASKED OPPORTUNITY TO PRESENT ITS VIEWS ON AN AUSTRIAN SETTLEMENT AND NOW THAT THE WAY HAS BEEN OPENED, OTHER COUNTRIES PROBABLY WILL DO THE SAME.

THE MOSCOW MEETING IN MARCH AND THE LONDON DEPUTIES MEETING IN JANUARY ARE BUT TWO OF THE INTERNATIONAL SESSIONS DECIDED UPON BY THE FOREIGN MINISTERS YESTERDAY. A THIRD, BRIEF SESSION WAS SCHEDULED FOR PARIS FEBRUARY 10 WHEN REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS AND OF ITALY, HUNGARY, ROMANIA, BULGARIA AND FINLAND WILL MEET TO SIGN THE FIVE SATELLITE TREATIES COMPLETED HERE.

BYRNES AND THE OTHER FOREIGN MINISTERS DO NOT PLAN TO ATTEND THE PARIS MEETING AND THEIR DECISION ON IT YESTERDAY LEFT UNCLEAR WHETHER THE SMALLER ALLIED NATIONS WHICH PARTICIPATED IN WRITING THOSE TREATIES AT THE PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE WOULD BE INVITED TO SIGN THEM IN PARIS OR LATER.

THE IMPORTANT POINT IS THAT THEY ATTAIN LEGAL STATUS WHEN THEY RE SIGNED BY THE BIG FOUR AND THE FORMER ENEMY STATES AND THE RATIFICATION PROCESS CAN THEN BE STARTED. THIS MEANS THAT THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION SHOULD BE able TO SEND THE TREATIES TO THE SENATE IN LATE FEBRUARY.

(EDITORS: STORY ON MAJOR PROVISIONS OF FIVE SATELLITES TREATIES MOVED IN NIGHT REPORT LAST NIGHT AS A48-49).

NEW YORK, DEC.12-(AP)-ACCEPTANCE OR REJECTION OF THE $8,500,000 GIFT SITE OFFERED BY JOHN D.ROCKEFELLER, JR., IS EXPECTED TONIGHT FROM THE UNITED NATIONS PERMANENT HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE.

A SUB-COMMITTEE OF THE 54-NATION SITE COMMITTEE INSPECTED THE 18-ACRE AREA BOUNDED BY THE EAST RIVER AND FIRS AVENUE IN MID-MANHATTAN AND THEN WAS CLOSETED DRAWING UP A REPORT FOR PRESENTATION TO THE FULL 54-NATION COMMITTEE MEETING TONIGHT.

PERSONS CLOSE TO THE COMMITTEE SAID THAT IF THE ROCKEFELLER OFFER WAS REJECTED, THE COMMITTEE WAS EXPECTED TO ACT FAVORABLY ON A TABLED U.S.RESOLUTION TO POSTPONE FOR A YEAR THE SELECTION OF A EITE. BUT OBSERVERS BELIEVED THERE WAS A STRONG POSSIBILITY OF BIG FIVE AGREEMENT ON THE ROCKEFELLER PROPOSAL.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE APPEARED FAVORABLY IMPRESSED BY THE TERRITORY. DURING ITS INSPECTION, THE SUB-COMMITTEE COMPARED THE POSSIBILITIES OF THE SITE WITH WHAT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED IN THE ROCKEFELLER CENTER DEVELOPMENT. THE SUB-COMMITTEE MEMBERS CONSIDERED THE CONSTRUCTION OF A SKYSCRAPER HEADQUARTERS, WITH BUILDINGS OF AT LEAST 30 STORIES.

WALTER ZECKENDORF, VICE PRESIDENT OF THE REAL ESTATE FIRM OF WEBB AND KNAPP, WHICH NOW OWNS THE LAND, SAID IT WAS ACQUIRED FOR CONSTRUCTION TO COST ABOUT $150,000,000. THE PLANS INCLUDED A HUGE APARTMENT HOUSE, STORES, AN OPERA HOUSE, A YACHT LANDING, SUBTERRANEAN PARKING LOTS AND A ROOF-TOP HELICOPTER LANDING FIELD. THESE PLANS, ZECKENDORF SAID, WOULD BE TURNED OVER TO THE U.N. AS A GIFT.

THE COST OF BUILDING A SKYSCRAPER U.N. HOME WAS NOT TAKEN UP BY THE SUB-COMMITTEE.

WARREN R. AUSTIN, U.S. DELEGATE WHO TRANSMITTED THE ROCKEFELLER PROPOSAL, INDICATED THE NEW YORK SITE WOULD BE THE ONE FAVORED BY THE U.S. DELEGATION AND SAID FLATLY HE CONSIDERED THE NEW PROPOSAL AS "THE BEST SITE I HAVE HEARD OF."

HE MAINTAINED THE AREA WAS LOCATED CENTRALLY BUT, "EVEN MORE, THERE WILL BE NO DISLOCATION OF CITIZENS" BECAUSE THERE ARE NO HOMES IN THE AREA AND MUCH OF IT ALREADY HAS BEEN RAZED.

THE PHILANTHROPIST DONOR, HEIR TO THE VAST OIL FORTUNE OF HIS FATHER, ATTACHED CERTAIN CONDITIONS TO THE ACCEPTANCE OF THE GIFT, NOTABLY THAT NEW YORK CITY ACQUIRE CERTAIN PROPERTIES ADJOINING THE LAND WHICH HE WOULD BUY AND WHICH WOULD BE PRESENTED TO THE U.N.; THAT THE CITY PERMIT THE U.N. ACTUALLY, THE RENUNCIATION IS MAINLY A GESTURE BECAUSE SOME ALREADY HAVE SOLD THEIR VILLAS TO MEET LIVING EXPENSES AND ALL HAVE HAD THEIR INCOME GREATLY REDUCED UNDER THE OCCUPATION. THE DIET IS EXPECTED TO CUT THEIR INCOME EVEN MORE.

THE OTHER HOUSES AND THEIR HEADS ARE:

THE ELEVEN FAMILIES HOLD POSITIONS JUST BELOW THAT OF THE EMPEROR'S FAMILY IN THE COMPLICATED HIERARCHY OF JAPAN'S PEERAGE.

THEY COULD NOT SUCCEED TO THE THRONE, BUT MANY TRACED THEIR LINEAGE TO PAST IMPERIAL FAMILIES AND THEREFORE, IN A SENSE, WERE CONSIDERED OF ROYAL BLOOD. THE EMPEROR'S FAMILY, ON THE OTHER HAND, TRACED ITS LINE DIRECTLY FROM RULERS OF THE PAST.

NIGHT TALKS ON ARMS CUT

British Forces at Home, Abroad Cut to Less Than Million, Bevin Reveals.

By LARRY HAUCK

NEW YORK, Saturday, Dec. 14—(AP) Secretary of State James F. Byrnes disclosed to the world early today the disposition of all American troops outside U. S. borders, setting the total at "less than 550,000," and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said his nation's forces at home and abroad had been cut below a million.

The two world leaders, making their first platform appearances before the United Nations assembly here, both spoke in the general arms limitation debate and flatly accepted the basic program laid down by the UN.

Byrnes named the countries where every American soldier was billeted and then set down the exact figures on all units outside former Axis territory.

Bevin Tells of Troop Cuts

Bevin in turn said that Britain was ready to supply any information desirable and noted that his country had slashed its forces from "over 6,000,000 to well below a million," and after occupation commitments would go down even further.

Calling attention to Britain's heavy financial burden in the last war, Bevin added that "it is obvious that we cannot afford to support great forces."

Before moving into the all-important arms debate, the assembly took these two decisions:

1. Passed, 36 to 6, with Russia dissenting, a watered-down resolution on the controversial veto. The final draft did little more than call on the major powers to seek private agreement on use of the special voting privilege in the Security Council and took note of small-nation opposition to the veto.

2. Approved eight trusteeship agreements to pave the way for setting up the UN's last major body—the trusteeship council. The affirmative vote was 41 on all eight with the opposition, always including Russia, varying from five to six.

In giving the troop count, the Secretary of State thus backed up with concrete action what delegates of his government repeatedly have told the world assembly—that "the United States has nothing to hide." Although some countries previously have mentioned presence of their troops in varied countries, Byrnes went one step further and gave the figures.

Gives Figures

He announced first that most of the American troops were in ex-enemy territory—Germany, Japan, Japanese islands, Korea, Austria and Trieste. He then gave these specific figures on others:

Philippines, 96,000 military personnel, including 30,000 combat troops; China, 19,000 troops with 15,000 of them combat men; and Panama 1,500.

He added that the United States had no combat units in any other country of the world.

Reporting on strictly military personnel, Byrnes said there were 600 men in Iceland and 300 in the Azores.

Byrnes spoke shortly before a scheduled address by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who originally demanded that all nations report on their troops on foreign soil. Molotov was expected to renew his request which he since has broadened to include data on armaments, including the atomic bomb.

Russia still was pressing to have the whole troop inventory wrapped up within the general framework of the disarmaments program, unanimously passed by the 54-nation political committee before submission to the floor.

Following up its unanimous vote on armaments, the political committee balloted 29 to 4, with Russia dissenting, to recommend that the troop-arms inventory issue should be tossed into the hands of the Security council.

This compromise plan put forth by Assembly President Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium, would have the council determine as soon as possible what information member states may be invoted to give."

Tangle On Veto

The assembly late today was still tangled up with the old issue of veto in attempts to get approval of a watered-down Australian resolution calling upon the big five to take note of opposition to the veto and attempt to formulate a set of principles to govern its use.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky made a last-ditch fight to block approval, but Australia's agreement not to insist on reinstatement of a clause censuring Russia for frequent use of the veto in the security council apparently cleared the way for a passing ballot.

In the veto debate, Warren R. Austin, chief American delegate and thus representing one of the nations holding the special voting privilege, departed from his prepared text to acknowledge that there is "room for improvement" in the operations of the Security council.

This was more or less in keeping with the general attitude of France, Great Britain and China which have indicated readiness to work on plans for clarification and perhaps modification of the uses of the veto. However, Russia has never budged from its stand holding that the veto was not open to challenge in any way.

ADD DAY

Arms Plan Is Approved; Troop Census Rejected

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The powerful United Nations Political and Security Committee today approved the general principles of a world-wide arms reduction program and at the same time rejected proposals for an immediate international troop census.

Shortly after the committee had agreed unanimously on a resolution for setting up arms-reduction machinery, it decided to toss the troop inventory question into the hands of the Security Council along with the arms-limitation program for detailed consideration.

Soviet Russia had initiated the troop-census debate by proposing that all nations report immediately on the number of troops they had in alien nonenemy countries. The question was later broadened to include forces in enemy countries and, finally, domestic troops as well.

Hopeless Deadlock

It became so complicated by amendments, including a British proposal for a verification and inspection agency, that the committee became hopelessly deadlocked.

The final action was on a compromise resolution offered by Assembly President Paul-Henri Spaak, of Belgium, who proposed that the Assembly "call on the Security Council to determine as soon as possible what information member states may be invited to give."

In contrast with the unanimity on the broader arms-limitation program, the committee found itself snarled in a long procedural wrangle which ended in adoption of the Spaak resolution.

The compromise resolution rejecting the troop question for the time being was approved by a vote of 29 to 4, with Russia among those against it. There were six abstentions.

Czech Proposal Rejected

Earlier, the committee had rejected by a vote of 25 to 6 a Czechoslovak proposal that it report back to the General Assembly its inability to agree.

The Political Committee thus completed its work for the present Assembly session, which had included such controversial questions as the Spanish and veto issues. Both the arms-reduction plan and the troop-census resolution now go to the Assembly and may come up for action tonight.

While the Political Committee was winding up its action at Lake Success, the Assembly in plenary session heard Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky make a last-ditch fight to block approval of a watered-down Australian resolution on the big-power veto.

Censure Clause Gone

Vishinsky demanded withdrawal of the Australian measure, which had been stripped of a clase censuring Russia for frequent use of the veto in the Security Council. He contended that the resolution constituted a "veiled attack upon the principle of unanimity."

The measure was virtually assured of approval, however, when Australian Delegate Norman J. O. Makin announced that Australia would not press for the reinstatement of the censure clause. Without this, it was said to be generally acceptable to the delegates.

The arms-reduction resolution was assured of final Assembly approval when it was adopted by the committee without a dissenting vote.

The resolution recommended that the Security Council formulate plans for armaments limitations and set up inspection and control machinery to detect and prevent violations.

Free Of Veto

The machinery will be free of the big-power veto. It must be approved finally by a special session of the General Assembly and then be ratified by individual states.

The program includes provisions for the outlawing of atomic bombs and other weapons of mass destruction and the control of atomic energy used for peaceful purposes.

As the Assembly drove toward adjournment, which had originally been set for tonight but would apparently have to be postponed, the United States and Great Britain planned to send in their top-rank diplomats who, until last night, had been tied up in the Council of Foreign Ministers.

British sources said Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin would make his second appearance before the present session when the trusteeship question comes up, either today or tomorrow. It had already been announced that Secretary of State James F. Byrnes would address the Assembly on the arms reduction question when it came up for final action.

Molotov At Meeting

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who has taken an active part in the Assembly and committee proceedings even while the Council of Foreign Ministers was in session, attended the Political Committee meeting at Lake Success this morning.

The session there was marked by a spirit of conciliation and harmony such as the delegates have rarely seen in their stormy debates.

Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas), representing the United States, expressed gratification over Molotov's presence and praised the Soviet Foreign Minister's action on the arms question.

"The unity of the great powers is the keystone of peace," Connally declared. "If the great powers act in unison to keep before them the objective of peace the world will be free from war. If they don't—if they indulge in rivalries—there will be a roadblock on the road to peace."

He's "Delighted"

Connally added:

"I am delighted to strike hands with Mr. Molotov and my British friend (Sir Hartley Shawcross)."

Molotov said it must be remembered that by adopting this resolution the General Assembly is taking the first step on the road to a general reduction of armaments.

Shawcross was also optimistic. He said he hoped that by the time the Assembly "meets next year the conventions (disarmament agreements) will have been agreed upon."

Following is the text of the address delivered to the United Nations General Assembly last night by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, clarifying the United States position on disarmament:

Mr. President:

The United States supports wholeheartedly the proposed resolution which has as its objective a general reduction of armaments with effective safeguards to insure complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions.

Ever since the close of hostilities, it has been the policy of the United States to hasten the return of conditions of peace. We wish to enable the fighting men of the United Nations to return to their homes and to their families. We wish to give the peoples of all lands the chance to rebuild what the war has destroyed.

The tasks of reconstruction require all the human, material and spiritual resources that can be made available.

There need be no concern about the willingness of the American people to do everything within their power to rid themselves and the world of the burden of excessive armaments.

In the recent past the concern of peace-loving nations has not been that America maintained excessive armaments. The concern has been that America failed to maintain adequate armaments to guard the peace.

When Hitler started the world war in September 1939, Germany had been preparing for war for more than five years. But at that time there were in active service of the United States in the Army, Navy and Air Force only 330,000 men. It was our military weakness, not our strength, that encouraged Axis aggression.

After World War I Japan was given a mandate over strategically important islands in the Southwest Pacific which bound her to keep those islands demilitarized. Although the evidence showed that Japan was violating the terms of the mandate, the United States delayed in building bases on islands under her sovereignty in the Pacific.

The result was that when the United States was treacherously attacked at Pearl Harbor she had no adequately fortified base in the Pacific between Pearl Harbor and the Philippines.

No Safeguards

Japan's covenant not to use the mandated territories as military bases contained no safeguards to insure compliance. Japan's covenant misled the United States, but it did not restrain Japan. That was our mistake. We do not intend again to make that mistake.

While before World War II the peace-loving nations were seeking peace through disarmament, aggressor nations were building up their armaments. And all the while the aggressor nations were buliding up armaments they were claiming that they were being smothered and encircled by other nations.

While we scrapped battleships, Japan scrapped blueprints. While we reduced our army to the size of a large police force, Germany trained its youth for war.

Too late, those who had taken a leading part in the struggle for general disarmament before World War II discovered that Axis agents were deliberately organizing and supporting disarmament movements in non-Axis countries in order to render those countries powerless to resist their aggression.

Too late, those who had taken a leading part in the struggle for general disarmament discovered that is was not safe to rely upon any disarmament which is not collectively enforced and made a part of a system of collective security.

It will take time, patience and good will to achieve really effective disarmament. The difficulties are great and the complexities many. The defense needs of states vary greatly. The elements which make up the military strength of state likewise vary greatly and cannot readily be compared or appraised.

Effective disarmament cannot be secured by any simple mathematical rule. Demobilized divisions can be speedily recalled to the colors. But a scrapped plane or a scrapped battleship can never be recommissioned.

Disarmament to be effective must look to the future. It is easy for us now to see what folly it would have been, when gunpowder was discovered, to start disarming by limiting the use of the bow and arrow.

We must see to it that disarmament starts with the major weapons of mass destruction.

We must see to it that disarmament is general and not unilateral.

We must see to it that disarmament rests not upon general promises which are kept by some states and ignored by other states.

We must see to it that disarmament is accompanied by effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means under international control which will protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions.

We must see to it that these safeguards are so clear and explicit that there will be no question of the right of complying states, veto or no veto, to take immediate action in defense of the rule of law.

Atomic Control First Task

No disarmament system which leaves law-abiding states weak and helpless in face of aggression can contribute to world peace and security.

In meeting the problems of disarmament first things should come first. The first task which must be undertaken is the control of atomic energy to insure that it will be used only for human welfare and not for deadly warfare.

There are other weapons of mass destruction, but unless we can meet the challenge of atomic warfare—the most dreadful weapon ever devised—we can never meet the challenge of these other weapons.

The United States, with Britain and Canda, have clearly demonstrated their awareness of the grave responsibility inherent in their discovery of the means of applying atomic energy.

In a world of uncontrolled armaments, atomic energy would be an advantage to the United States for many years to come.

But it is not the desire of the United States to be the leader in an armament race. We prefer to prevent, rather than to win, the next war.

That is why President Truman announced as soon as he knew that the atomic bomb would work, that it was our purpose to collaborate with other nations to insure that atomic energy should not become a threat to world peace.

Shortly thereafter the heads of the three governments responsible for the discovery of atomic energy met at Washington and urged that the United Nations set up a commission to recommend proposals for the effective, international control of atomic energy and all other weapons adaptable for mass destruction.

One of the primary reasons for my trip to Moscow in December, 1945, was to ask the Soviet Union to join with Britain and Canada in sponsoring a resolution to this effect before the General Assembly.

As soon as the agreement of the Soviet government was obtained, France and China were also asked and they agreed to join in sponsoring the proposed resolution. These efforts resulted in the unanimous passage of the resolution by the General Assembly in January, 1946, only six months after the discovery of the atomic bomb.

Long discussion in the United Nations and public debate on the details of the United States proposals have perhaps blurred the real significance and magnitude of the United States initiative.

The resolution was no idle gesture on our part. Having the knowledge of atomic energy and possession of the atomic bomb, we did not seek to hold it and threaten the world. We did not sit back and play for time. We came forward with concrete proposals designed fairly, effectively and practically to carry out the tasks assigned to the commission.

Our proposals, when fully operative, would leave with the states responsible for the discovery of atomic energy no rights which would not be shared with other members of the United Nations.

Our proposals outlaw the use of atomic weapons and contemplate the disposal of existing atomic weapons.

They set up an international authority with power to prevent the national manufacture and use of atomic weapons for war purposes and to develop the use of atomic energy for human welfare.

Our proposals also provide effective and practical safeguards against violations and evasions. They enable states that keep their pledges to take prompt and collective action against those who violate their pledges.

We do not suggest any diminution of the right of veto in the consideration of the treaty governing this subject. We do say that once the treaty has become effective then there can be no recourse to a veto to save an offender from punishment.

We are willing to share our knowledge of atomic weapons with the rest of the world on the condition, and only on the condition, that other nations submit, as we are willing to submit, to internationally controlled inspection and safeguards.

From the statements made in the committees and in the Assembly we have been encouraged to believe that others are willing to submit to international inspection.

If other nations have neither bombs nor the ability to manufacture them it should be easy for them to agree to inspection.

Troops Part of Problem

The world should understand that without collective safeguards there can be no collective disarmament.

The resolution we proposed here urges the expeditious fulfillment by the Atomic Energy Commission of its terms of reference. Those terms include the control not only of atomic energy but the control of other instruments of mass disarmament to this commission.

With its specific studies and its accumulated experience the commission is best equipped to formulate plans for dealing with major problems of disarmament.

Let us concentrate upon these major weapons and not dissipate our energies on the less important problems of controlling pistols and hand grenades.

If we are really interested in effective disarmament, and not merely in talking about it, we should instruct our representatives on the Atomic Energy Commission to press forward with its constructive proposals. They have been at work six months. They can file an interim report next week. I do not want the work of that commission to be side-tracked or sabotaged.

I am glad that the proposed resolution raises in connection with the problem of disarmament the question of disposal of the troops and the justification of their presence on foreign soil. For disarmament necessarily raises the question of the use which may be made of arms and armed forces which are not prohibited. Reducing armaments will not bring peace if the arms and the armed forces that remain are used to undermine collective security.

The United States has persistently pressed for the early conclusion of peace treaties with Italy and the ex-satellite states. We want to make possible the complete withdrawal of troops from those states.

The United States has persistently urged the conclusion of a treaty recognizing the independence of Austria and providing for the withdrawal of foreign troops.

Austria, in our view, is a liberated and not an ex-enemy country. The United States, United Kingdom and Soviet Union, as signers of the Moscow declaration of 1943, are obligated to relieve her of the burden of occupation at the earliest possible moment.

The United States believes that armed occupation should be strictly limited by the requirements of collective security.

For that reason we proposed to the Council of Foreign Ministers that we should fix agreed ceilings on the occupation forces in Europe. We could not secure agreement this week, but we shall continue our efforts to reduce the occupation forces in Europe. We are also prepared to fix agreed ceilings for the occupation forces in Japan and Korea.

On V-J Day we had over five million troops overseas. We had to send with them extensive supplies and equipment which could not be disposed of over night.

But, despite the tremendous problem of liquidating our extensive war activities, today we have less than 550,000 troops outside of American territory. Most of these troops are in Germany, Japan and the Japanese Islands, Korea, Austria and Venezia Guilia.

The great majority of the troops we have on the territory of other states outside these occupation areas are supply or administrative personnel. Let me state specifically just what combat troops we have in these other states.

We have a total of 96,000 military personnel in the Philippines but only about 30,000 are combat forces, air and ground, and of these 17,000 are Philippine Scouts. These troops are in the Philippines primarily to back up our forces in Japan. Substantial reductions are contemplated in the near future.

Of the 19,000 troops we have in China about 15,000 are combat troops and roughly one-half of these are under orders to return home.

We have about 1,500 troops in Panama, excluding the Canal Zone. One thousand of these, composed of a small air unit and some radar air warning detachments, can be classified as combat forces. We have, of course, our normal protective forces in the Panama Canal Zone proper.

We have no combat units in countries other than these I have just mentioned.

Our military personnel in Iceland number less than six hundred men. They include no combat troops. They are being withdrawn rapidly and all will be withdrawn by early April, 1947, in accordance with our agreement with the government of Iceland. The military personnel have been there only to maintain one of our air transport lines of communication with our occupation forces in Germany.

In the Azores, on the Southern air transport communication line to Germany, we have about three hundred men. Again there is not a single combat soldier among them. They are technicians and administrative officials. They are there under agreement with the government of Portugal.

China Force Cut

Our combat troops are in North China at the request of the Chinese national government. Their task is to assist in carrying out the terms of surrender with respect to the disarming and deportation of the Japanese. Their mission is nearly completed. Instructions have been issued for the return of half of our forces now in China although the Chinese government has urged that they be retained there until conditions become more stabilized.

We have made it clear that our troops will not become participants in civil strife in China. But we are eager to do our part, and we hope other states are eager to do their part, to prevent civil war in China and to promote a unified and democratic China.

A free and independent China is essential to world peace and we cannot ignore or tolerate efforts upon the part of any state to retard the development of the freedom and independence of China.

We repudiate the suggestion that our troops in China or elsewhere, with the consent of the states concerned, are a threat to the internal or external peace of any country.

Because the representative of the Soviet Union has referred to our troops in China, I must say that I am confident that the number of American troops in North China are far less than the number of Soviet troops in South Manchuria in the Port Arthur area.

Under the Finnish peace Treaty the Soviet Union acquires the right to lease the Porkkala naval base in Finland and to maintain troops there. The temporary presence of a few thousand United States troops in China at the request of that government certainly raises no essentially different question than the permanent presence of Soviet troops in another country under treaty arrangements.

It is our desire to live up to the letter and spirit of the Moscow declaration. We do not intend to use our troops on the territories of other states contrary to the purposes and principles of the United Nations.

The implementation of the Moscow declaration is not made easier by loose charges or countercharges. The declaration requires consultation and that is the method we should pursue if we wish to advance the cause of disarmament and collective security.

Last December at Moscow we consulted the Soviet Union and the United Kingdom regarding our troops in China. We have now asked for consultation in the Council of Foreign Ministers regarding the number of troops to be retained in Germany, Poland, Austria, Hungary and Romania upon the conclusion of the peace treaties with the ex-satellite states.

The task before us is to maintain collective security with scrupulous regard for the sovereign equality of all states. This involves more than the question of armaments and armed forces.

Aggressor nations do not go to war because they are armed, but because they want to get with their arms things which other nations will not freely accord them.

Aggressor nations attack not only because they are armed but because they believe others have not the armed strength to resist them.

Sovereignty can be destroyed not only by armies but by a war of nerves and by organized political penetration.

World peace depends upon what is in our hearts more than upon what is in our treaties.

Great states must strive for understandings which will not only protect their own legitimate security requirements but the political independence and integrity of the smaller states.

It is not in the interest of peace and security that the basic power relationship among great states should depend upon which political party comes to power in Iran, Greece or China.

Great states must not permit differences among themselves to tear asunder the political unity of smaller states. Smaller states must recognize that true collective security requires their co-operation just as much as that of the larger states. Without the co-operation of large states and small states, our disarmament plans are doomed to failure.

A race for armaments, a race for power is not in the interest of any country or any people. We want to stop the race for armaments and we want to stop the race for power.

We want to be partners with all nations, not to make war, but to keep the peace. We want to uphold the rule of law among nations. We want to promote the freedom and well-being of all peoples in a friendly civilized world.

Britain Will Recall Her Envoy From Franco Spain

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly today tossed one of its hottest issues into the laps of its 54 members by recommending withdrawal of ambassadors and ministers from Franco Spain. A British spokesman immediately announced that his country would "very shortly" recall its Ambassador from Madrid.

A Government source in London said Sir Victor Mallet, British Ambassador to Spain, would be recalled in accordance with the United Nations resolution declaring the Franco Government to be a "Fascist regime." The informant said D. F. Howard would be designated British chargé d'affaires in Madrid and that the Embassy would probably be reduced to the status of a legation.

[The Netherlands will withdraw Minister P. E. Teppema from Madrid as a result of the United Nations action against Spain, a Foreign Office spokesman said in The Hague today.]

No Comment In Madrid

In Madrid, a Spanish Foreign Ministry spokesman said it was "too early" for comment on the United Nations Assembly vote. No official Spanish comment on the United Nations vote was expected until after the regular Cabinet meeting, scheduled late today.

Diplomats in Madrid who would be affected by the United Nations resolution include ministers from the Dominican Republic and El Salvador, which voted against the United Nations resolution, plus the Netherlands and Turkey, which abstained from voting. All other United Nations diplomatic missions in Spain are headed by chargés d'affaires, some of whom have the personal rank of ministers but not of ministers plenipotentiary.

The United States has had no ambassador at Madrid since the return of Norman Armour.

Report On Action

To strengthen its recommendation for action, the Assembly included a clause asking all members to report what action they had taken. It was the Assembly's first concrete action against the Falangist regime.

The final resolution also made these specific recommendations:

1. That the Franco Government be barred from membership in any organization affiliated with the United Nations. The present Madrid Government has already been banned from the United Nations itself.

2. That if the Franco regime still remains in power after "a reasonable time" the Security Council consider "adequate measures" to remedy the situation.

The action was taken by a vote of 34 to 6, the negative votes coming from Argentina, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador and Peru. Nations abstaining were Egypt, Greece, Afghanistan, Canada, Colombia, Cuba, Honduras, Lebanon, the Netherlands, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Turkey and South Africa.

MADRID ASSAILS U.N.'S RESOLUTION

Cabinet Warns That Action Is 'Terrible Precedent'

Madrid, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Spanish Government Cabinet, headed by Generalissimo Francisco Franco, warned the United Nations General Assembly tonight that its resolution against Spain was "a terrible precedent for future relations among peoples, which a majority of nations soon will regret."

At its regular Friday night session, the Cabinet considered the General Assembly's action this week in adopting a resolution requesting all member nations to recall the chiefs of their diplomatic missions in Spain.

'Foreign Interference'

The Cabinet, following an eight-and-one-half-hour session at Franco's El Pardo Palace, declared that the "exquisite sensitivity" of the Spanish people had reacted against "this attempt at foreign interference" by popular demonstrations which "relieved the Government of further explanation on the matter."

The statement added that the Assembly's resolution "lacked efficacy and importance," but constituted an "evil symptom of a hardly pacific spirit" among the United Nations.

The "turbulent deliberations" of the United Nations regarding Spain, the statement added, resulted in "an unjust decision adopted in manifest violation of the precepts of its (the United Nations) own fundamental Charter."

Spanish Business Comment

Earlier Spanish business circles expressed relief that the resolution failed to impose economic sanctions or a wider breach of diplomatic relations.

Madrid's evening newspapers tagged their stories with such headlines as "United Nations in retreat. There is no break" and "it was agreed to advise the withdrawal of ambassadors and ministries, but without a break in relations."

The stock market did not appear to be affected by the request of the United Nations General Assembly that its members recall the chiefs of their diplomatic missions in Spain.

The Spanish foreign ministry said there would be no official comment. Newspapers have not published the text of the UN resolution.

Would Be Humorous

The newspaper Informaciones, strongly pro-German during the war, treated the matter in a would-be humorous vein, saying it would be cheaper to entertain foreign attachés, counsellors of embassies and secretaries than ambassadors and ministers. It declared more seriously, however, that Spain would always remember the nations which voted against the resolution.

Pueblo, a newspaper owned by several government-controlled capital-labor syndicates, said the resolution was not binding on any nation and declared that Spain would pay it no attention.

British And Dutch Plan To Recall Spain Envoys

London, Dec. 13 (AP)—British and Dutch sources here and at The Hague said today their governments would comply with the request of the United Nations General Assembly that United Nation members recall the chiefs of their diplomatic missions in Spain.

The British informant said that recall of Ambassador Sir Victor Mallet would be followed by appointment of D. F. Howard, present embassy counselor, as charge d'affaires, and that the British Embassy would be reduced to a legation.

While the British planned to withdraw their Ambassador they went ahead with normal business, including the signing today of a "small routine" contract for oranges from Seville, a Madrid dispatch said.

The Dutch Foreign Office said the Government planned to recall P. E. Teppema, Minister for the Netherlands in Madrid.

In addition to Sir Victor and Teppema, other diplomats who would be affected by the U. N. action include: Dominican Republic, Elias Brache; Salvador, Antonio Alvarez Vidaubre; Turkey, Mehmed Esad Atuner.

All other United Nations missions in Madrid are headed by charges d'affaires, some of whom have the personal rank of ministers but who are not ministers plenipotentiary.

Meanwhile, the Spanish Cortes (Parliament), with shouts of "Franco, Franco," approved the issuing of a new coin which will bear the inscription "Francisco Franco, by the grace of God Caudillo of Spain, 1936-1946." Some monarchists were reported annoyed by the action, because it borrowed a style current under the monarchy.

The lawmakers, all of whom are appointed directly or indirectly by Franco, approved a resolution denouncing "foreign interference" in Spanish affairs.

Dutch Announce Action

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Netherlands will withdraw Minister P. E. Teppema from Madrid as a result of the United Nations action against Spain, a Foreign Office spokesman said today.

No American Ambassador There; British and Dutch to Follow Plan of U. N.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP).—The United States merely has to sit tight to comply with a recommendation of the United States General Assembly that all member nations pull their ambassadors and ministers out of Spain.

This country hasn't had an ambassador in Madrid for a year. Norman Armour came home and retired from the government service in December, 1945.

Nothing has been done since about replacing Mr. Armour and the prospects now are that nothing will be done for some time. The American Embassy in Spain is in charge of Philip W. Bonsal, charge d'affaires.

The Spanish Embassy here is under a charge d'affaires, too. Spanish Ambassador Juan Francisco-de Cardenas went to Spain on leave a couple of months ago.

privilege that had been given to the Big Five under the world Charter.

But despite the action taken by the Assembly in upholding the Big Five's refusal to give up the veto there was every indication that the small powers would continue their fight in the sessions to come until the major powers agreed among themselves that their special rights were no longer necessary.

Throughout discussions in and out of committee, Russia has borne the brunt of the attacks, which have been leveled principally by the small nations. The attack on the Soviet Union has stemmed from unofficial figures showing that Russia has used the veto nine times in less than a year to block

Small Nations Lose Battle Against Veto

Lesser Powers Salvage Recorded Appeal To Big 5 To Use Privilege As Sparingly As Possible

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The small nations of the world lost a year-long fight tonight to strip the five major powers of their special veto privilege in the United Nations Security Council.

They yielded reluctantly to the big powers' right to say "no," thus ending for the moment the most controversial issue to come before the world peace-keeping agency.

All the small powers salvaged from their bitter fight to have the same equality in the Security Council that they have in the Assembly was a recorded appeal to the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France and China to use the veto as sparingly as possible.

Small Power Plan Lost

The Assembly, by a vote of 36 to 6, adopted a watered-down resolution urging the five powers to insure that the use of the veto does not impede the Security Council in reaching decisions promptly.

Lost in committee was the small-power plan, initiated by Cuba, to revise the world Charter and eliminate the veto.

Stilled for the moment, too, was the voice of Australia which since the San Francisco meeting had vehemently opposed the special Security Council decisions favored by at least seven of the eleven members.

France was associated with Russia on one veto. The United States, Great Britain and China never have used it.

Support Of Slavic Bloc

Russia has stood firm from the very beginning that there should be no elimination of the veto. She even rejected suggestions that it be modified. The other great powers, however, agreed there should be a modification.

But all were in accord that the veto must remain until the Big Five themselves agreed there was no further use for it.

Even though the resolution passed tonight is only in the form of a request that the big powers used the veto sparingly Russia held out to the last. She voted against the resolution, the only one of the Big Five to oppose the measure. And wth her she carried the support of the Slavic bloc.

France and China abstained from voting.

Text of Veto Resolution

The text of the resolution on voting procedure in the Security Council adopted yesterday by the United Nations General Assembly:

The General Assembly,

Mindful of the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations, and having taken notice of the divergencies which have arisen in regard to the application and interpretation of Article 27 of the Charter;

Earnestly requests the permanent members of the Security Council to make every effort, in consultation with one another and with fellow members of the Security Council, to insure that the use of the special voting privilege of its permanent members does not impede the Security Council in reaching decisions promptly;

Recommends to the Security Council the early adoption of practices and procedures, consistent with the Charter, to assist in reducing the difficulties in the application of Article 27 and to insure the prompt and effective exercise by the Security Council of its functions; and

Further recommends that, in developing such practices and procedures, the Security Council take into consideration the views expressed by members of the United Nations during the second part of the first session of the General Assembly.

TRUSTEESHIP PACTS OKAYED

U.N. Assembly Paves Way For Formation Of Council

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The United Nations Assembly tonight approved trusteeship agreements for League of Nations mandated territories submitted by Great Britain, France, Australia, Belgium and New Zealand.

Russia led the opposition, which varied from five to six votes on the seven different agreements before the General Assembly. Each of the administering powers received 41 votes.

This action made possible prompt establishment of the last of the major United Nations agencies to be created—the Trusteeship Council, which will guard the interests of the inhabitants of trust territories while they are under the administration of United Nations members.

Council To Be Formed

The council is to be organized tomorrow when two additional members will be elected to join Great Britain, the United States, Russia, France, China, New Zealand, Belgium and Australia.

Nikolai Novikov of Russia, who had battled through weeks of committee sessions, failed in a last-minute move to block acceptance of the agreements in the Assembly when his proposal to reject them on the ground they were contrary to the United Nations Charter was voted down, 34 to 6, with eleven nations abstaining.

Agreements Opposed

Novikov told the Assembly that the Soviet delegation opposed the agreements because:

1. The Charter provides that the agreements should be made effective only by consultation and consent of nations "most directly concerned," but that phrase has not yet been defined.

2. The agreements provide that the trust territories shall be administered as integral parts of the administering power, which "amounts to annexation of the territories in question."

3. The agreements provide that the administering powers may build military, naval and air bases and fortifications in the trust territories without consulting the Security Council, "a direct violation of the Charter" which makes the Security Council responsible for such installations.

Nations Abstaining

In the voting, India abstained, along with Colombia, Costa Rica, Czechoslovakia and Venezuela.

The negative votes came from White Russia, Liberia, Poland (which abstained on two of the agreements), the Ukraine, Russia and Yugoslavia.

The trusteeship territories and their administrators are:

New Guinea—Australia; Western Samoa—New Zealand; Togoland and the Cameroons—France; British Togoland and British Cameroons—Great Britain; Ruand-Urundi—Belgium, and Tanganyika—Great Britain.

UN ASKS REPORT ON PLANS, COSTS FOR NEW HOME

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 13 —(AP) The United Nations Headquarters committee today passed a resolution requesting Secretary General Trygve Lie to prepare a report on general plans and estimated costs for the organization's proposed home in New York City.

The formal report of the committee, recommending acceptance of John D. Rockefeller's $8,500,000 gift of an 18-acre site on the East river, is expected to be presented to the General Assembly tomorrow. No opposition is expected.

Under the United States resolution approved today, Lie's report would be submitted to the General Assembly next July. In addition, a planning commission would be set up to assist the security general in the building program, with its membership to consist of representatives of Australia, Belgium, Canada, China, Colombia, France, Greece, India, Norway, Poland, Syria, United Kingdom, United States, U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia.

Provides Assistance

The resolution provides other assistance by "consultants and experts, who at the request of the secretary general, shall be designated by the United States of America or by governments of other members states or local authorities."

The committee voted down a suggestion by Abdul-Monim Riad of Saudi Arabia that the resolution call for UN special zoning protection against "nuisances, traffic, smoke, noise and so forth." Britain's Kenneth Younger said he believed it would be "unfortunate if we attempted to claim anything above the special rights and immunities offered the citizens of the City of New York.

The session concluded with an address by France's architectural expert, Prof. Henri Lecourboisier of the Beaux Arts, who expressed hope the future home of UN would be of "perfect proportion, impeccable technique and magnificent function to serve as a guide because so many countries must be rebuilt."

Earlier in the day New York City's board of estimate voted approval to the terms of the gift imposed by Rockefeller, including the acquisition by the city of additional land costing approximately $2,000,000 to be presented to the UN to round out its site.

Reds See U.S. Policy Rift

Moscow, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Soviet press told Russian readers today that there was "grave dissatisfaction by American newspapers" over the "attitude" of the United States delegation at the United Nations General Assembly.

A Tass dispatch from New York said American papers "censure" the behavior of Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas) and assert that the American delegation has lost its initiative and that it often "follows the line dictated by the British delegation."

In connection with the alleged dissatisfaction, the Tass dispatch and the local Soviet papers ran an editorial from the New York tabloid PM, comparing "troops with cows."

Editors See U.N. 'Indifferent' to News Freedom

A.S.N.E. Orders Commitee to Study Federal Power Over Press and Radio

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP). — The American Society of Newspaper Editors asserted today that the United Nations has shown "apparent indifference" to world freedom of information.

The society's board of directors, meeting here, adopted a resolution saying its efforts to promote "this fundamental liberty" through the U. N. have brought "very little real progress."

"A large segment of the world's people," the resolution says, "still lives in ignorance of the facts of the day, and the freedom of news organizations in their countries is largely non-existent."

N. R. Howard, editor of "The Cleveland News" and a vice-president of the society, said the board spoke for the society.

The board instructed the society's resolutions committee to make a study of the relation of the government's licensing powers to freedom of speech and of the press.

Radio and Mail Powers

It was indicated that the board members were particularly concerned over questions of possible inherent dangers to these freedoms from the government's powers over radio, through direct licensing, and over the press through the second-class mailing privilege.

The committee is to report to the society at its spring meeting.

From a special committee the board received a report on a study of the State Department's distribution abroad of information, news and policy material concerning the United States.

This eight-member group, headed by Mr. Howard, reported "complete agreement with the State Department's distribution of official texts and operation of the libraries of American books and sources all over the world."

As to government news broadcasts, which have been a matter of controversy in Congress and elsewhere, the committee said:

"The present uncertainties in international relations justify an effort by the United States government to make its activities and its policies clear to the people of the world through the agency set up in the State Department.

"Dangers" Recognized

"Your committee recognizes, however, the dangers inherent in government dissemination of news, and suggests that the society appoint a special committee to review at intervals the work of the State Department agency and make its findings available to the membership."

Action on the report was deferred until tomorrow.

Following is the text of the resolution on world freedom of information:

"The board of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, because of its activity for two years past in the interest of world freedom of information, feels its responsibility for a regular report on progress on this vital issue.

"In the six months past, its president, Mr. Forrest (Wilbur Forrest, assistant editor of the New York Herald Tribune), has worked tirelessly to marshal opinion behind this freedom. He has transmitted to the Assembly of the United Nations expressions of support from spokesmen for three of the 'Big Five' Allies — Secretary Byrnes, Prime Minister Attlee and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek—and from Governors of forty-one of the forty-eight states.

Sees Little Progress Made

The society, through its member Mr. Canham (Erwin D. Canham, editor of "The Christian Science Monitor"), has participated in the indorsement by the United States National Commission for UNESCO (the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) of a program for world freedom of information.

"Despite these efforts, the board of the A. S. N. E. recognizes that very little real progress has resulted. A large segment of the world's peopls still lives in ignorance of the facts of the day, and the freedom of news organizations in their countries is largely non-existent.

"To date, the United Nations organizations have done virtually nothing to advance this fundamental liberty. Notwithstanding this apparent indifference by the United Nations, the American Society of Newspaper Editors reaffirms its deep interest in the devotion to the principle of freedom of world information, and pledges itself to continue its efforts in this field until free dissemination of news throughout the world is fully achieved."

INDIAN CIVIL WAR NOT 'INEVITABLE,' SAYS ALEXANDER

G. WILLIAMS

LONDON, Dec. 13—(AP) Defense Minister-Designate A. V. Alexander challenged directly today Winston Churchill's assertions that civil war was inevitable in India and that a blundering Labor government bore the responsibility for setting off communal rioting in India that killed 10,000 Moslems and Hindus.

He issued a new call to the dissident factions in India to lay aside their centuries-old differences and promised that if the Indian constituent assembly could write a constitution protecting minority rights Britain would fulfill its pledge and grant India full independence.

NIGHT

2-Day Debate Ends

Alexander made his appeal in a closing speech of a two-day debate in the House of Commons on the threatening Indian situation which "11th hour" conferences in London last week failed to solve. The constituent assembly has convened in New Delhi to write a constitution, but the Moslem League has refused to participate.

Alexander rejected Churchill's statements yesterday that he expects civil war with an "awful abridgement" of the population and that the British action in delivering leadership of the interim government to congress leader Jawaharlal Nehru precipitated the communal riots.

He disputed the statements of Conservative Earl Winterton that the break between the Hindu and Moslem factions had become "final and irrevocable" although Winterton insisted that "my information came from the highest quarter."

"I will ask responsible leaders of all parties in India to take note that the great majority of speakers in this debate desire nothing more than that India should achieve her freedom on a basis of good will and the operation of all concerned," Alexander said.

"Surely we can plead with the Indians now to come together in the constituent assembly and make a constitution which is free and which allows no damage and no harm to be done to the liberty of the minorities.

"If they could come to us with a constitution like that, then the government would carry out every word of its pledges and recommend the cession of sovereignty to the body which was set up."

Laborite W. G. Cove laid before the House of Commons what he regarded as one of the reasons why Britain has offered to get out of India.

"The fact of the matter is that we in Britain cannot hold India by power," he said. "We have not the reserve of power in the modern world. We have lost the command of the sea and America now has the biggest fleet the world has ever seen."

Cove's comparison of British and American naval strength provoked Alexander to warn "be careful or your words on this occasion and do not deprecate the spirit of the British people who were in the position of which you are now talking in May, 1940."

Sir John Anderson, former governor of Bengal and a Nationalist member of parliament, charged the Labor government with " a blunder of the first order" in going ahead with its plan for Indian independence without getting parliamentary approval.

Britain Held Too Weak To Govern By Force

1946

London, Dec. 13 (AP)—A veteran Labor M.P., defending his party's Indian independence policy against Conservative and Nationalist criticism, told the House of Commons today that Britain no longer was strong enough to rule the troubled subcontinent by power politics.

"The fact of the matter is that we in Britain cannot hold India by power," Laborite W. G. Cove declared in a debate on Indian affairs.

"We have not the reserve of power in the modern world. We have lost the command of the sea and America now has the biggest fleet the world has even seen," he said.

DAY

Sea Power Slipped

"The greatest factor in holding the British Empire together was sea power, but this has slipped from us and we have not the power to hold the empire together on the basis of power politics," he added.

Cove, former president of the National Union of Teachers and a member of Parliament since 1929, entered the discussion of the snarled Indian independence negotiations after Nationalist Sir John Anderson, former governor of Bengal, had warned against haste in British withdrawal from India.

Complaining that the Government had failed to obtain parliamentary approval for the British Cabinet Mission's Indian independence plan, Sir John declared: "Ample time must be allowed for reflection."

"Blunder Of First Order"

"A blunder of the first order," was Sir John's description of the handling of the India independence plan.

Winston Churchill, Conservative leader, said last night that he expected civil war to result from the situation.

Cove's comparison of British and American naval strength provoked A. V. Alexander, Defense Minister-designate and a member of the Cabinet Mission to India, to warn:

"Be careful in your choice of words on this occasion and do not deprecate the spirit of the British people, who were in the position of which you are now talking in May, 1940."

No U.S. Peril Implied

Cove retorted that "it was not the American fleet which dominated the world seas in 1940."

Asked by a Conservative whether he intended to imply that the American fleet's strength endangered Britain's position in India, Cove replied:

"I am not saying anything of the kind. I am just pointing out the stark, naked fact that this war has resulted in a depletion of power as far as Britain is concerned."

A statement from the Moslem League is due tomorrow.

Mahomed Ali Jinnah, league president, invited British, United States and other news agency and newspaper men to a conference tomorrow morning.

First London Statement

He has made no public statement since he came here for the talks with Viceroy Wavell, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, of the Congress party and Sardar Baldev Singh, of the Sikhs.

He is to address the British Moslem League tonight, but this speech is expected to be devoted largely to plans for revitalizing the organization.

India's first Constituent Assembly has been going on in New Delhi since Monday, with Hindu and small-minority delegates on hand, despite a boycott by the Moslem League, speaking for India's largest minority.

The British, failing last week to get the league to join the assembly, said they would not recognize the proceedings if a "large section" of the population was not represented.

Sir Stafford Cripps, a member of the mission that took the independence plan to India last May, said in last night's debate that since then 10,267 had been killed and countless persons wounded in Hindu-Moslem disturbances.

He said the Government understood that Jinnah was submitting the question of entering the Assembly to the Moslem League council and declared that he did not believe the situation hopeless.

Cripps deplored the opposition's insistence on debate "at this tense and difficult moment."

Lebanon Opposition To 'Blocs' Reported

London, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Russian news agency Tass said today that Turkish attempts to weld Middle Eastern countries into "various blocs" were meeting opposition in Lebanon.

Quoting the newspaper "Al Ittihad el Lobnani" in a Beirut dispatch, the agency declared:

"Turkey desires to win adherents in the hope that sometime they will prove useful. . . . Lebanon seeks only peace and does not desire to be involved in the British policy of defending routes to India. . . .

"If our conjectures are correct and Turkey does negotiate the creation of various blocs, we can tell her that she should leave us alone as we wish to maintain complete neutrality."

BLUM IS SILENT

PARIS, Dec. 13—(AP) Despite an entire day of conferences with political leaders, Premier Leon Blum gave no indication tonight that he had achieved success in forming a Caretaker cabinet or drawing up a program to carry France through the next 30 days. The Communists, who had supported Blum for the interim post yesterday, have opposed inclusion of Rightist parties in the interim cabinet.

Blum Filling Posts In Interim Cabinet

Paris, Dec. 13 (AP)—Ailing Leon Blum, 74-year-old compromise candidate chosen as France's interim President-Premier, a post which he is not expected to hold beyond January 15, planned a new series of coinsultations today in an effort to form a cabinet and lift France, temporarily at least, out of its year-long political ferment.

Blum is not expected to have a cabinet ready for approval by the National Assembly before next week. His Cabinet will remain in office only until mid January, when the President of the Republic is elected. The latter will then nominate a Premier.

First of the prewar premiers to return to power since France's liberation, Blum, who had played a minor role in politics since his liberation from a German prison camp, was elected by the Assembly yesterday with 575 votes out of 590.

JAN 1946

The Blum cabinet's foremost task was seen as the drafting of a budget for the first quarter of 1947.

German Ex-Governor of Paris Is Said to Face Crimes Trial

PARIS, Dec. 13 (AP)—Gen. Otto von Stuelpnagel, who was the first German military governor of Paris, was arrested yesterday in the French zone of occupation in Germany, military authorities said here today.

These sources declined to say where the general, uncle of the von Stuelpnagel who was executed by the Nazis after the attempt on Adolf Hitler's life in 1944, was arrested or to give any details until further information was received in Paris.

The French have been seeking von Stuelpnagel since the defeat of Germany to face war crimes charges. They hold him responsible for the numerous executions of patriots in Paris while he was governor.

Soldiers In France Said to Get 500 Cartons a Day

PARIS, Dec. 13 (AP) — Some United States soldiers in France have been receiving as many as 500 cartons of cigarettes a day from United States mail order houses in a "flagrant abuse" of privileges, the Army said tonight.

A circular distributed to 10,000 men of the West Base Command in France threatened drastic curtailment of the Army Post Office services unless the importation of potential black market items were curtailed.

The postal service is customs-free. Advertisements in Paris papers offer cigarettes, nylons, food and clothing to be sent by United States mail order firms, to persons with A.P.O. addresses.

The Army suggested five cartons of cigarettes a month were enough for any man.

Better Standards Of Living Ahead In Reich: Clay

Berlin, Dec. 13 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy American military governor, today forecast an improved standard of living for the economically merged American and British zones of Germany, "because we now have a minimum working capital of $88,000,000 from exports to operate with."

Clay said that hopes of achieving the economic unity of all four occupation zones of Germany were staked on the March conference of the Foreign Ministers in Moscow. He said he had not brought back from Washington any new offers to be made to the Russians or French for German unification, "because that's now in the hands of the Foreign Ministers."

Assets From Sweden

The working capital for the merged British-American zones will be contributed in equal shares, Clay said, adding:

"The British are making available to us $30,000,000 as our share of the proceeds of coal exports and we have another $14,000,000 proceeds from exports from the American zone up to Deecmber. The British have agreed to match this.

"In addition, when the Swedish Parliament ratifies an agreement to release blocked German assets, we expect another $34,000,000 to come to the two zones, giving us a working capital of at least $120,000,000."

If present bizonal plans work out, Clay added, the zones should be self-sustaining within three years.

"Bouquet For U.S. Press"

"I found the American people far better informed about Germany than a year ago and this is a bouquet for the American press," he said. "The American people are interested in successful de-Nazification of Germany, also that Germans get food and don't starve. They are tremendously interested in economic revival to make Germany self-sustaining and that the question of Germany's economic unity be resolved."

He added that he had encountered "very little fear" among Americans that economic revival to help Germany support herself would again result in making Germany a threat to peace.

Nyack Man Gets Post in Germany

Berlin, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Col. Howard P. Jones of Nyack, N. Y., former Deputy Controller of New York State, was appointed chief of the public finance branch of the American Military Government for Germany today

Jones, prior to entering military service thirty-eight months ago, also was executive director of the National Municipal League for ten years and an inspector at the University of Michigan.

Slow Poisoning Killed Hundreds, German Says

Nuernberg, Germany, Dec. 13 (AP). A German prosecution witness told an American court trying 23 high-ranking Nazi doctors today that experiments in slow poisoning killed hundreds in Nazi concentration camps.

The witness, August Heinrich Viehweg, who said he spent five years in the Dachau concentration camp after serving a prison term for forgery and treason, asserted that German employés of the camp were "terrified" for their own lives. Viehweg said that camp workers feared the camp doctors were going to poison them.

REICH POPULATION DROPS

BERLIN, Dec. 13—(AP) Germany has a population of 64,786,106 persons or approximately 5,000,000 less than when Adolf Hitler led her into World War II, preliminary figures released by the Civil Administration division of the American Military Government showed today. The 1939 census for the area comprising present day Germans showed a population of 69,622,213.

Yank Trying To Ransom Wife Vanishes As Police Wait

DAY

Venice, Italy, Dec. 13 (AP)—Police announced today that bandits dressed as Italian auxiliary policemen kidnapped the wife of an American army captain yesterday on a country road near Venice and that the captain disappeared when he returned to the scene later with ransom money.

Police said the officer, Capt. John Willis, told them the bandits stopped his jeep, robbed him and abducted Mrs. Willis, warning him to return to the same spot at 4 o'clock in the afternoon with ransom of half a million lire (about $2,200 at the legal exchange rate).

While Allied and Italian police combed the area for Miss Willis, the officer, accompanied by other police, returned to the place with the ransom money. Police said they stood back while Willis went on toward the exact spot in a jeep. The jeep, they said, moved out of sight and did not return.

[A Venice dispatch to the Rome newspaper Il Messagero identified Captain Willis's wife as the former Mario Motteran, of Rovigo, Italy.]

Tale of Yank's Wife Kidnaped In Italy Branded as Hoax

NIGHT

VENICE, Italy, Dec. 13—(AP) Venice police tonight branded as an Italian swindler a man who represented himself as an American army captain and reported that bandits had kidnaped his wife and stolen his jeep.

The man, police said, perpetrated the hoax in an effort to get away with 500,000 lire (about $2,250) and a jeep, and did succeed in making off with the jeep.

The police announced earlier in the day that a man who identified himself as Capt. John Willis reported that he and his wife were held up by bandits while driving in a jeep along a country road and that the robbers held the woman as a hostage while he returned for ransom money. U. S. headquarters in Rome said records failed to show a Capt. John Willis in the Italian theater.

The police investigators said the man actually was William Capuzzo, widely-known in Chioggia, near Venice, where he had long represented himself as a captain in the U. S. 88th division, which is stationed in Venezia Giulia.

had been the closest of friends and

It was learned that the man arrived afoot Thursday at Chioggia police headquarters, told his story and asked the police to furnish him with a jeep and the ransom money. The police, he said, could capture the bandits when he paid them off at the appointed spot.

The police gave him a jeep, but withheld the money. Then they accompanied him to the spot he said was designated for the payoff. There he told police to stay behind for a moment while he went ahead to make the contact.

Capuzzo, riding in the borrowed jeep, apparently picked his spot well and knew the vicinity, for when police followed him after a short delay, he was nowhere to be seen. Neither was the jeep.

ZIONISTS URGED TO BACK TALKS

DAY

Basle, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Dr. Selig Brodetsky, member of the Jewish Agency Executive, recommended today that the World Zionist Congress instruct the agency to participate in the London conference of Arabs and Jews in January.

Brodetsky, professor at Leeds University, told the assembly here, "We must take the initiative and present a plan.

"Our conclusion with England probably would be more favorable than any we could come to with the United Nations Organization or any other nations."

He told critics of the British Government that America and Russia also were to blame for international policies detrimental to Jewish interests.

Moshe Sneh, Palestinian member of the Jewish Agency Executive, opposed representation at London, advising:

"England has already decided against us. She decided when she issued the White Paper in 1939. The prestige and pressure of the American Government have not moved Foreign Minister Bevin one iota.

"Don't go to London. It's a failure already."

Sneh, Urging Boycott, Says It Is Bound to Fail—Brodetsky Takes an Opposite View

NIGHT

BASLE, Switzerland, Dec. 13 (AP)—Speakers at the World Zionist Congress differed today on whether the assembly should approve Jewish Agency representation at the London conferences on Palestine, but they teamed up in assailing the British, sponsors of the conference.

Moshe Sneh, Palestinian member of the Jewish Agency Executive, counseled the Zionists to stay away from the conference, to be resumed next month, saying, "Don't go to London. It's a failure already."

But Prof. Selig Brodetsky, London member of the Agency, urged participation in the conference and told the assembly that "we must take the initiative and present a plan. Our conclusion with England probably would be more favorable than any we could come to with the United Nations organization or any other nation."

Mr. Sneh, in attacking the British, said "England has already decided against us. She decided when she issued the White Paper in 1939. The prestige and pressure of the American Government have not moved Foreign Minister Bevin one iota."

Professor Brodetsky told critics of the British Government that the United States and Russia also were to blame for international policies detrimental to Jewish interests, and added:

"I believe the time will come when Englishmen and their children will be ashamed of what the British Government is doing now."

REPORTS TURK BORDER MOVE

Athens Says Istanbul Expects Invasion Attempt

NIGHT

Athens, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Greek Foreign Ministry said tonight reports had reached Drama, Macedonia, from Istanbul saying that construction of fortification work had been ordered along the Turkish-Greek border to prevent "a likely invasion" of Turkish territory by forces of the Macedonian autonomous movement.

A communication received from Drama by the press information section of the ministry said the order resulted from a visit tothe Greek frontier by the Turkish chief of staff.

The Turks also deemed such fortifications necessary, the ministry said, because they had ascertained that the NOF, or Macedonian autonomous movement, which advocates an independent Macedonia largely carved out of northern Greece, was "not a movement of Greek partisans," but "a Slav movement with broader purposes."

Yugoslavs Arrested

A Foreign Ministry statement said that all Yugoslavs and Albanians in Turkey had been arrested and were being deported because it had been learned these aliens were fostering Slav propaganda and had planned to create incidents on the Turkish border.

It was also reported from Alexandroupolis that in the Ortaicht district of Bulgaria, Bulgarian Government forces had clashed with farmers and that gunfire was hear across the Greek border. There were some reports that the incident was part of an uprising in southern Bulgaria.

Meanwhile, Greece lodged formal protests today with the Allied ambassadors in Athens against the decision of the Big Four Foreign Ministers turning down the Greek plea for territorial adjustments on the Greek-Bulgarian frontier, Stephanos Stephanopoulos, Acting Foreign Minister, said.

Guerrilla Activity Revived

The protest charged that instead of creating an atmosphere of peace in the Balkans, the decision resulted in a revival of guerrilla activity in western Thrace.

The Minister of War ordered all reserve officers and men in the 1937 military class in seven provinces of northern Greece and in the 1936 class in five provinces in central Greece and the Ionian islands to report for service between December 17 and 20.

Slav Is Reported Directing Bands

DAY

On Greek Soil

L. S. CHARLES

Athens, Dec. 13 (AP)—Intelligence reports received here said today that Gen. Costa Natz, former commander of what the Greeks call a "terrorist training camp" at Bulkjes in Yugoslavia, had been transferred to Skoplje and put in charge of "the entire administration of movements and activities of bands on Greek soil."

The reports, which reached non-Greek quarters, said that virtually all of some 5,000 Greeks said to have been trained in the Bulkjes camp had been sent into Greece.

Named By Premier

[Greek Premier Constantin Tsaldaris told the United Nations Security Council at Lake Success, N.Y., yesterday that the Bulkjes camp was "a military academy of terrorism." The Yugoslav Ambassador, Sava Kosanovic, said it was not a terrorist school, but a home for homeless Greek refugees.]

A high Allied source expressed a belief that the reported emptying of the Bulkjes camp of Greeks was connected with Greece's announced intention of carrying her cause to the United Nations Security Council.

This source said he believed the reported shifting of Bulkjes Greeks into Greece was a move to cover operations should a United Nations commission be named to investigate the Greek charges.

Many Cross Border

The intelligence reports said there had been a heavy flow of Bulkjes-trained men into Greece during October, when hundreds of groups of ten or twelve men slipped across the Yugoslav, Albanian and Bulgarian borders.

They said the Blukjes camp now contained mostly Macedonia and Aegean "refugee Slavs." Bulkjes is north of Belgrade.

Natz is said to have been a warrant officer in the old Yugoslav army who was raised to general's rank when Marshal Tito gained power.

His new base of operations at Skoplje, 80 miles north of the Greek border, according to the reports, is in a community which Greek authorities assert is headquarters of NOF, or Macedonian autonomist movement (which advocates formation of an independent Macedonia largely carved out of northern Greece).

Denied By Communist

However, Nicholas Zachariades, leader of the Communist party in Greece, has denied this.

The strength of insurgent guerrillas in Greece, reinforced by the influx from Bulkjes, was estimated by the reports to be about 8,000, of whom 60 per cent were believed to be members of EAM, the Greek leftest organization, and the remainder members of NOF.

Meanwhile, police reported three political slayings in Athens during the night as outbreaks increased throughout this tense capital.

1946 Slav Alliance Formed

Belgrade, Dec. 12 (AP—Delayed)—A new five-nation Slav alliance, urged to "fight against spreading lies against the Soviet Union," emerged today from the All-Slav Congress here.

The organization, set up yesterday as the four-day Congress closed, embraces Russia, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Yugoslavia and twelve component Slavic nationalities.

By recommendation of the Soviet delegate, Lieut. Gen. A. C. Gunderov, Belgrade was chosen as the permanent seat as an "expression of deep respect for the Yugoslav peoples, who were the first victims of Fascist occupation to unite in the general struggle against the enemy."

Full-Time Function

Here a committee of five representing the several counties will function continuously, promoting the "cultural and economic interests of all Slav peoples" through an information group, a press group and a group for mass organizational work.

Gunedrov, whose recommendations generally were followed in establishing the alliance, said:

"Slav organizations together with progressive international organizations should wage an untiring struggle against the remnants of fascism and warmongers.

Immigration Planned

"They should fight against spreading lies against the Soviet Union and Slav countries and they should spread true informaiton concerning them."

He termed "Slav progressive immigration"—to other countries throughout the world—a "link which can strengthen the friendship of the Slav peoples with the democratic peoples of the world."

Gunderov said that in all Slav countries the "roots of reaction have been extirpated" and basic people's wealth had been put into the hands of the state.

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Dec. 13 (AP). The United States Information Service will resume service and reopen its reading room here Sunday under authorization of Yugoslav authorities. The service, a United States State Department function, was shut down in September after Yugoslavia protested that it had distributed news inimical to Marshal Tito's regime.

FOOD STALEMATE IN AUSTRIA BROKEN

VIENNA, Dec. 13—(AP) The long stalemate over the critical Austrian food situation was broken today when the four-power Allied Control Council agreed on pooling of stocks and imports and access of the government to all indigenous food supplies.

The council also ruled that purging the University of Vienna of students who had been Nazis was a matter for the government and did not necessitate the closing of the university, as had been previously requested by the Russian representative.

Warsaw Official Tells Why Writer Must Leave

Warsaw, Dec. 13 (AP)—Col. Roman Romkowski, departmental chief in the Ministry of Public Security, explaining today why the Government had refused to extend the visa of Derek Selby of the British group of Kemsley newspapers, said the correspondent had contacted underground Polish forces and sought a press conference with them.

Romkowski said 4,000 persons had been captured in the last 90 days in operations against underground resistance bands.

A foreign office spokesman asserted that Selby's underground connections "were too close," and that he succeeded in entering the hiding place of "gangs, murderers and terrorists."

He said that Selby, as a British subject, was not obligated to disclose the place to authorities, but his secretary should have "and that is why the secretary is in jail."

Tass Says Lebanese See U. S. Eyes on Near East

Visit of Warships Held Move to Strengthen Influence

MOSCOW, Dec. 13 (AP).—A Tass (Soviet official news agency) dispatch today from Beyrouth, Lebanon, said the recent visit of an American naval squadron there was regarded in Lebanon as evidence of the "desire of the U. S. A. to strengthen its position in the Near East and the Mediterranean and replace French and British influence with its own."

The agency quoted the Lebanese newspaper "Al-Oairak" as saying: "The Americans are spreading their influence in the Near East by means of American universities and schools for which huge funds are being allotted.

"The Americans are attracted by good naval ports in Syria and Labanon and by the opportunity for building new airfields on their territories. Furthermore, the countries of the Near East represent a vast outlet for American goods."

Mufti's Return Demanded

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 13 (AP).—The Arab League has authorized its secretariat to demand that Britain permit Haj Amin el Husseini, exiled Mufti of Jerusalem, to return to Palestine immediately. Jamal el Husseini, acting head of the Arab Executive Committee of Palestine, announced the action today. The Mufti has enjoyed sanctuary in Egypt since his flight from France in June.

Students Cautioned By Turkish Premier

Istanbul, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Premier Recep Peker cautioned university students today to be calm and refrain from any action aiding "those who want to disrupt order in our country."

Students have been showing irritation over published reports of persecution of Turkish minorities in Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Macedonia and the publication here of periodicals which they consider to have leftist leanings. Hundreds massed at Istanbul University yesterday, but police moved in swiftly and broke up the meeting.

IRANIAN FORCES TAKE OVER TABRIZ AS PRO-REDS FLEE

NIGHT

TEHRAN, Dec. 13 (AP).—Troops of the Iran government entered Tadriz today and found the pro-Soviet Azerbaijan government there in a state of collapse and its leaders in flight.

The military headquarters announcement that the Central government had taken over effective authority in the capitol of the country's separatist northwestern province after a year's hiatus, set off a riotous attack by a crowd of 2,000 persons in the pro-Soviet Tudeh party headquarters here.

Three newspaper correspondents, including Edward Curtis of the Associated Press, who had preceded the army into Tabriz by nearly a day, in a joint radio dispatch, said most of the population of Tabriz was in the streets last night cheering and celebrating with much firing of firearms.

The Tabriz regime had planned a huge parade in celebration of its first anniversary, the correspondents said. Instead, the people picked up the arms discarded by the Fedaie (militia) and had a holiday to celebrate the collapse of the pro-Communist government.

Jafar Pishevari, leader of the Russian-inclined Democratic party and most of his officials had fled. Only Sallamollah Javid, the Communist governor-general, and Haji Mirza Ali Shabastari, president of the Azerbaijan Provincial Council, remained behind.

Military headquarters indicated that occupation of the chief remaining centers of Azerbaijan was proceeding. A column which set out from Takab, 75 miles west of the main column, after a battle with 5,000 Azerbaijans, was announced to have advanced 65 miles northwest and to have entered Miyanduab, 70 miles southwest of Tabriz in the Kurdin border territory below Lake Urmia.

The unorganized crowd which attacked Tudeh party headquarters here shouted "long live the shah," "hang the traitors," "long live Iran's Azerbaijan" and "down with Pishevari." Windows were broken and signs pulled down. Police interfered and dispersed the crowd but not until half a dozen people had been arrested, including four Tudeh party men.

Iran 'Democratic' Chief Missing From Tabriz

[The following is a joint dispatch of three correspondents who journeyed from Tehran to Tabriz, Edward Curtis, of the Associated Press; Clifton Daniel, of the New York Times, and Christopher Sykes, of the London Daily Mail. It was broadcast by the Tabriz radio and monitored and relayed by the AP owce in Tehran]

Tabriz, Azerbaijan Province, Iran, Dec. 12 (AP—Delayed)—Jafar Pishevari, leader of the movement which ruled semi-autonomous Azerbaijan for exactly a year, disappeared today from Tabriz, and most of whose population thronged the streets cheering and waiting for the arrival of the Iranian Army from Mianeh.

The "democratic movement" and its armed resistance collapsed last night. The only officials of the regime left in Tabriz tonight are Haji Mirza Ali Shabastari, president of the Azerbaijan Provincial Council, and Dr. Salamollah Javid, governor general of the province.

Reported At Tabriz

[General headquarters in Tehran announced that Government forces had reached Tabriz, Azerbaijan capital, this afternoon and were entering other places in the province.

[Tehran also reported that a mob totaling about 2,000 persons attacked headquarters of the Leftist Tudeh party there today, breaking doors and windows and pulling down signs. Police dispersed the demonstrators. Half a dozen arrests were made, including four Tudeh party members.]

Party Offices Deserted

Offices of the party and of Pishevari, party head and provincial "Premier," were deserted and dark.

Sporadic firing was still being heard in the city tonight, 24 hours after the Pishevari regime announced its capitulation to the Tehran Government, which had ordered its troops into the province to supervise parliamentary elections.

Most of the firing appeared to be in celebration, rather than in anger. The city was being patrolled by temporary policemen in civilian clothes, armed with rifles and wearing white armbands. This distinguished them from the Fedaies (militia of the Pishevari regime).

Thousands Await Army

Between Mianeh, which the government troops left this morning, and Tabriz, thousands of villagers and townspeople waited by the roadside to welcome the returning Tehran forces, which evacuated Aberbaijan a year ago.

A party of three correspondents—Edward Curtis, of the Associated Press; Clifton Daniel, of the New York Times, and Christopher Sykes, of the London Daily Mail—was in the first vehicle to travel north from Mianeh to the provincial capital, preceding the Iranian Army by several hours.

Sheep Sacrificed

The correspondents were enthusiastically greeted by cheering and handclapping. Several sheep were sacrificed at various roadside villages. The sacrificial ceremony, the highest honor which a Persian can pay, is performed by beheading the sheep on one side of the road as the traveler approaches and carrying the head across the road to the other side. The traveler then passes between the body and the head.

All along the way there were cheers for the Shah, the Iranian Army and the correspondents.

Near Tabriz there were shouts of "Long live the Security Council!"

When the correspondents left Mianeh this morning, the Iranian army units with heavy equipment were at the north side of the town preparing to march. In a state of great excitement, the population of Mianeh mingled with soldiers and joined in a search for hiding Democrats.

One group of prisoners was marched into the town from the south. Just outside Mianeh the population of a tiny Azerbaijan village had not yet heard the news of the surrender of the provincial regime. The villagers reported its forces had fled in great haste in trucks and automobiles during the night.

Encounter Militiamen

It was the same story until the correspondents reached Turkmanchai, scene of the Russian-Persian treaty of 1828. There they began to encounter trickling bands of Fedaies, making their way toward Tabriz on foot and on horseback. Most of them were armed, but they made no effort to interfere with our car.

There was no other motor traffic on the road until the correspondents reached Shibli Pass, 30 miles from Tabriz. The largest and only organized group of "democratic" forces consisted of about 25 horsemen. Most of them wore Russian-type uniforms.

A call having been made from Turkmanchai to the American Consul, Lester Sutton, at Tabriz, the villagers along the telephone line knew the correspondents were coming. Iranian flags were flying in every village.

Azerbaijan Draftees Seen

Near Tabriz the correspondents began to see bands of Azerbaijan army conscripts making their way out of the capital to their villages.

Tabriz, ironically, was scheduled to have a great parade today on the first anniversary of the founding of the Azerbaijan provisional Government.

Takab Capture Claimed

[Iranian Army headquarters announced last night that the western spearhead of its armed movement into Azerbaijan had captured Takab, a city on the Kurdistan-Azerbaijan border, after heavy fighting with 5,000 Fadaies, the Azerbaijan militiamen.

[It was not brought out whether this action occurred before or after the Azerbaijan Council announced Wednesday its capitulation to the demand of Premier Ahmed Qavam for assignment of security forces to all areas of Iran for election duty. It was to enforce the Premier's order that the Government troops crossed the Azerbaijan border Tuesday.]

Azzam Mohamed Zulfaghari, head of the Zulfaghari tribes whose warriors are among the Government forces, said he entered Mianeh yesterday ahead of the troops and received a warm welcome.

Mianeh residents said only about 600 Fedaies guarded Ghaflankooh Pass and other avenues to the city from the south. One doctor said he had treated about 100 Fedaies for wounds.

Nehru Presses His Resolution For Freedom

DAY

New Delhi, Dec. 13 (AP)—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leading minister of the interim government, today moved adoption in the Constituent Assembly of his resolution for creation of an independent, sovereign republic in India.

Shortly afterward, the Assembly, in its fifth day, adjourned till Monday with the Moslem League of Mahomed Ali Jinnah still maintaining its refusal to sit in on the proceedings with Nehru's Hindu-led All-India Congress and other groups preparing to draft a constitution.

"Standing On Sword's Edge"

Nehru, speaking for an hour—first in Hindustani and then in English—said the resolution "seeks very feebly to tell the world what we have sought and dreamt of for so long and what we hope to achieve in the near future."

He said India was "standing on the sword's edge of the present" between a "mighty past and the mightier future."

"We know there are many absentees here," he said. "We regret that fact because we should have liked to associate ourselves with as many people and representatives from as many parts of India and as many different groups as possible. I do hope at some future date this house will have the benefit of their co-operation."

"No Message Of Cheer"

"I came back with no message of cheer and with a large measure of disappointment," he said of his trip to London for a conference last week with British Government and Moslem League leaders.

"New difficulties" have arisen, he said, "because of the new, latest statements by the British Cabinet and by others in authority there. . . .

"It has been a blow to me and it has hurt me that just at the moment when we are going to stride ahead, obstructions are placed in our way and new limitations are mentioned that were not mentioned previously and new methods of procedure suggested."

'RED' GUERRILLAS HARASS CHINESE

NIGHT

PEIPING, Dec. 13—(AP) Nationalist military headquarters said today that Communist guerilla bands had increased their harassing activities against government positions in the Peiping and Tientsin areas.

Paott, 42 miles north of Tientsin, fell to one of these Red attacks after a 24-hour clash. Another Communist force attacked Hotung village, 32 miles southeast of Peiping.

Gen. Sun Luen-Chung, commander of the 11th war zone, said these Communist forces had entered Hopeh province from Chahar and Jehol, driven out by cold and hunger.

The Red offensive which government military sources predict is imminent in Manchuria so far has failed to develop. Twenty thousand Communists massed along a 20-mile stretch of the Szepingkai-Taoan railroad west of Changchun were reported, however, to be attacking government positions.

Unconfirmed reports in Tientsin said the Nationalists repulsed Communist counterattacks against Pulantien, on the railroad 40 miles north of Dairen. Gen. Tu Li-Ming's drive to clear the Communists from the Liaotung peninsula of southern Manchuria reached Pulantien early in November and later he pushed on toward the Russian occupied freeport of Dairen, halting in a safety zone 15 miles outside the city.

Peiping Reports Blows By Reds Near Dairen

DAY

Peiping, Dec. 13 (AP)—Chinese Communists attacked Government forces 15 miles from Dairen, said unconfirmed reports today, but were driven off after two days.

The reports, received in Tientsin, said the Nationals remained 15 miles from Dairen to avoid any possibility of creating incidents with the Soviets, who control that port city.

The Nationals drove near Dairen last month in an offensive designed to force the Communists from the Liaotung Peninsula. They halted outside Dairen pending negotiations with the Russians to enter the city and take over its administration.

Guerrillas Capture Paoti

Communist guerrilla bands, stepping up harrassing tactics against Government positions in eastern Hopeh province, captured Paoti, 42 miles north of Tientsin, and attacked Hotung village, 32 miles southeast of Peiping.

Gen. Sun Luen-chung, commander of the eleventh war zone, said two Communist brigades, driven out of Chahar and Jehol provinces by cold and a shortage of food, were causing considerable trouble in eastern Hopeh.

Latest reports from Chungyang said the Government garrison still was holding out in that Shansi province city against a fourteen-day old Communist seige.

In Manchuria, 20,000 Communists were reported attacking several points along a 200-mile stretch of the Szepingkai-Taoan railroad.

China To Protest UNRRA Budget Cut

Shanghai, Dec. 13 (AP)—Dr. J. Heng Liu, chief medical officer of the Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation Association, said today that he would leave by plane tomorrow for Washington to protest a contemplated $6,000,000 slash in UNRRA's $41,300,000 budget for China.

He charged that UNRRA's medical supply program has been very inefficiently handled by [illegible]RRA headquarters in Washington.

3000 U. S. War Dead Located in China

Shanghai, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—The United States Graves Registration Service today announced that it has recovered in China the remains of nearly 3,000 of America's war dead for shipment to the United States. Included are the ashes of 140 cremated American airmen and prisoners of war. The remains of about 870 Americans still are to be reclaimed.

U. S. Dollar Soars Again in Shanghai

Shanghai, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—The black market value of the United States dollar made another sensational jump today, spurting 1,000 points to a new all-time high of $1 for 6,700 Chinese dollars. The United States dollar rose 500 points yesterday. The official exchange rate is 3,350 Chinese dollars to $1.

Many shops quickly marked up prices to keep pace. The city's share market soared to a record peak as operators who had been selling short for two months rushed to cover their positions.

U. S. Protest Read At Jap War Trial

Tokyo, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—The prosecution today introduced a series of former Secretary of State Hull's protests to the Japanese Government to show that Hideki Tojo and his twenty-six fellow war crimes defendants knew of Japanese atrocities.

Associate Prosecutor Pedro Lopez of the Philippines told the tribunal that the Japanese Government at no time took any action against the perpetrators of tortures and murders in the Philippines. He said that Japanese atrocities there caused 131,000 American and Filipino deaths.

JAP DEER MISS 1946 HORN OF PLENTY

Nara, Japan, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Hunger has driven most of Nara's world famous deer into the mountains in search of food.

Before the war, 800 deer at Nara Park nibbled rice cakes from tourists' hands. But during and since the war, the deer virtually were forsaken as men sifted food for themselves. Now, only 260 deer come at night to the foodless park shelters.

Fearing that the number will decrease further, the Nara Tourist Association today asked the Government to give the animals a food ration.

Collaborator Awaits Long-Delayed Trial

Manila, Dec. 13 (AP)—Hilario Camino Moncado, self-promoted five-star general of the Crusaders' Army who unsuccessfully ran for the Philippines presidency last April, is living in a Manila suburb awaiting his much postponed trial on collaboration charges.

The Peoples Court indefinitely postponed his trial last September after admitting to evidence the papers issued to Moncado by the Japanese Army. He is free on $25,000 bail.

Moncado expressed surprise to an interviewer that he had been arrested by the United States Army.

"As conquerors," he said, "I thought they came to liberate me, but instead they took me to jail."

Army Rounds Up 173 in Manila

MANILA, Saturday, Dec. 14 (AP)—A twenty-four-hour clampdown by all United States and Filipino police authorities in the Manila area resulted today in the capture of forty-eight AWOL American soldiers and five others who had escaped from the Army's Los Banos stockade, the Army announced. The round up also caught 120 alien civilians, among them discharged American soldiers and merchant sailors.

Indonesian Writers Expelled From Bali

Denpasar, Bali, Dec. 13 (AP)—Dr. William Hoven, acting chairman of the Denpasar Conference, said today he had expelled three Indonesian Republican journalists from Bali. The trio, Hoven said, broke a pledge to refrain from propaganda and distributed pamphlets attacking the Dutch-Indonesian independence agreement.

The expelled journalists included representatives of the Republican news agency Antara and the newspaper Merdeka, Dr. Noven said. They had been flown to Bali at the invitation of the Dutch to cover the Denpasar Conference, at which the new state of Eastern Idonesia is scheduled to be formed next week from the outer eastern islands of the Netherlands East Indies.

Boys, 12, May Be Conscripted

Buenos Aires, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Chamber of Deputies tonight passed a measure which would subject boys from 12 years and up to pre-conscription military training. Minority groups opposed the proposal as "too militaristic." The Senate still must concur in minor changes made by the Chamber.

Vargas Defends Brazilian Regime

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Dec. 13 (AP)—Getulio Vargas was mobbed by girls who covered his face with kisses today as he emerged from the Senate chamber, where he made an impassioned defense of his 15-year rule and pictured himself as the first challenger of Hitler and defender of the Western Hemisphere.

NIGHT

Crowds jammed the doorways and a thunderous applause brought threats to clear the gallery as Vargas made his maiden speech in the Senate, to which he was elected a year ago after his overthrow as President.

Justifying [illegible]egime against charges of dictatorship, Vargas said he formed a strong government to defend Brazil and the American continent from hostile aggression, and to prevent civil war between rising Communist and other ideologies in northern and southern Brazil.

VARGAS SAYS NAZIS MET A FOE IN HIM DAY

Ex-President Denies He Acted as Dictator—Insists He Kept 'Isms' Out of Brazil

H. WARE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Former President Getulio Vargas, defending himself in the Brazilian Senate against charges of dictatorship, declared today that he had formed a strong Government to protect Brazil and the continent from aggression.

Senhor Vargas was elected to the Senate by two parties last December after his overthrow in October had ended a fifteen-year rule.

Speaking from a prepared text, he said that he closed Brazil's Parliament in 1937 to prevent civil war between rising Communist and Fascist ideologies in southern and northern Brazil, respectively.

"While the democratic powers practiced splendid isolationism, the totalitarian nations rampaged across the world," he said. "Humanity owes its preservation to the great spirit of President Roosevelt and the Good Neighbor Policy, to which I wholeheartedly subscribed."

He added that Winston Churchill was a voice calling in the wilderness of the pre-war period, when even Mr. Roosevelt "had to swallow the insult of the Panay incident because of Axis sympathizers in the United States."

Maiden Speech as Senator

Senhor Vargas declared that Brazil was the first nation to withstand Hitler's power when the Nazis obeyed his order closing political parties and nationalizing education. He added that he had withdrawn the Brazilian Ambassador from Germany and demanded the recall of Hitler's emissary.

Quoting telegrams of gratitude from President Roosevelt for his avowed defense of the continent and "all free peoples of the world," Vargas told the crowded Senate that "this was the objective of my regime."

RUSS DAMAGE IN MANCHURIA IS DESCRIBED

'Long Range Strategic Reasons' Blamed In Pauley's Report

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—Edwin W. Pauley reported today that "long-range strategic reasons" motivated Russia in wrecking Manchuria's industrial economy.

Pauley made the report to President Truman as the President's personal representative on reparations. His findings were based on a mission to Manchuria last summer and were submitted to a small group of congressmen.

Pauley estimated at $2,000,000,000 in American money the damage to Manchuria resulting from Soviet occupation. This estimate, he explained, "is considered to be conservative" and includes the wrecking of the major productive capacity of Manchurian industry.

Pillage And Civil War

"How much of the wrecked condition is a direct result of the Soviet removal and how much may be ascribed to pillage, civil war, and other indirect consequences of the Soviet occupation cannot be accurately determined," he reported. "In any case, the Soviet Government must bear the major responsibility."

"The difference in condition of the Manchuria industrial plant between Japanese surrender and the date of the Pauley mission is appalling," he commented.

Pauley wrote that in restoring Manchuria's industry it must be remembered that Manchuria is practically surrounded by territory either wholly or partially under direct Soviet control, with the result that Manchuria will be "vulnerable to further Soviet penetration."

Little Aid To Chinese Reds

He said he found "little direct evidence" of Soviet aid to Chinese Communists in Manchuria although "they did nothing to deter them."

"With or without Soviet co-operation," he added, "large stores of Japanese arms and the munitions captured by the Soviet apparently found their way into the hands of Chinese Communists."

While it is difficult to ascertain in Manchuria the real reason behind the Soviet action there, he declared, the excuse that the articles removed were "war booty" and were desperately needed to replace damage caused in Russia by the Germans "does not fully cover the situation."

Brief Military Operations

Russia's brief military operations in Manchuria, he noted, did not entitle the Soviet Government "to substantial reparations to Japanese-owned assets."

"Obviously, Japanese assets in Manchuria did not belong solely to the Soviet Government," he said. "Other nations, too, are logical claimants."

The Russians followed an entirely different policy in Korea, Pauley asserted, and made practically no capital removal for large-scale industrial construction. In contrast, he added:

"In Manchuria, the confiscation and removal of food and stock, the destruction attendant upon and following the removals of machinery, the almost complete halting of productive effort with no regard for the harmful effect upon the Chinese population, all indicate that there were long-range strategic reasons behind the Soviet action.

"The chaos caused by the Soviets has produced a condition of instability both politically and economically which will take a long time to correct. It left the populace hungry, cold and full of unrest."

What the long-range strategic reasons may have been, Pauley did not say, but he noted that Manchuria would have been the logical place to begin the rehabilitation of China because of its productive capacity.

Not only did the Russians wreck the area industrially, he said, but even "encouraged Chinese mobs to pillage, taking official movies of the process in some instances."

Took Power Equipment

He said the Soviets took from Manchuria by far the larger part of all functioning power generating and transforming equipment, electric motors, experimental plants, laboratories, hospitals and the newest and best machine tools.

"Not only were buildings and structures damaged by the removal of the equipment," he said, "but the taking of some key equipment such as generators and pumps from mines resulted in the loss of current production and in irreparable damage to the mines by flooding."

Removal of the power facilities, he added, halted all current industrial production. Water works and sewage facilities in large cities were made inoperative by lack of power.

Small Amount Of Benefit

"The small amount of benefit received by the Soviet Government in its removal from Manchuria could have been readily supplied by reparations removals from Japan at a much smaller cost to the world," he found.

Despite terms of the Sino-Soviet treaty of August, 1945, Pauley declared, the Soviets have practically sealed off for their own use the port of Dairen. The 1945 treaty designated Dairen as an open port, with the Russians entitled to use only part of the port facilities.

Estimates On Damage

In American dollars, Pauley estimated the Soviet damage to Manchuria as follows:

Electric power, $201,000,000; coal, $50,000,000; iron and steel, $131,260,000; railroads, $221,390,000; metal workings, $163,000,000; nonferrous mining exclusive of coal, $10,000,000,000; liquid fuel and lubricants, $11,380,000; chemicals, $14,000,000; cement, $23,000,000; textiles, $38,000,000; paper and pulp, $7,000,000; radio-telephone-telegraph, $25,000,000.

DEMOCRACY IS DEFENSE, SAYS OXNAM 1946

Basic Convictions Must Be Held Inviolate, Bishop Declares

Buck Hill Falls, Pa., Dec. 13 (AP). A third World War can be avoided, but it must be without compromise of basic convictions, Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, Methodist Church, declared tonight.

Placing responsibility for another conflict at the doors of the United States and Russia, the president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America said fundamentally the tensions are ideological and "communism cannot be conquered by force of arms."

"Communism will never win a democratic and just America," the New York prelate told the Methodist board of missions and extension in a statement. "It is democracy, more of it, not less of it, that will win the morrow."

Obligation Pointed Out

Bishop Oxnam said that men "who summon us to a holy war against communism are not only declaring war on Russia but are diverting our attention from the primary obligation to democratize our own economic, political, ecclesiastical, and social life."

"Personally," he said, "I believe that totalitarianism constitutes a threat not only to democracy but to religion. However, I am persuaded that energy expended in fighting communism, if devoted to preserving and extending democracy, would make totalitarianism undesirable and democracy impregnable."

Democracy Vs. Dictatorship

Expanding on the assertion that the most certain way to destroy dictatorship abroad is to establish democracy at home, Bishop Oxnam declared:

"Communism thrives in the jungle growth of racial discrimination. The killing of Negroes in a Detroit race riot, or the lynching of a Negro in the South, creates more Communists in a day than a committee of un-American activities can ferret out in many days."

Bishop Oxnam supported many of his statements by quoting from a reporting on Soviet-American relations by the Federal Council of Churches:

"There are those who see in Soviet expansion an expression of nationalism, and therefore contend that we confront a new imperialist force that must be restrained if our own national interests are to be protected. However, the problems of territory, bases, access to the Mediterranean, and the like, would not be difficult of solution if they were divorced from Communist ideology."

States to ask UNRRA's nine-nation central committee to transfer the supplies scheduled for other countries to Austria and perhaps Italy. American officials have indicated they believe both these countries need additional UNRRA assistance.

During the debate, American Delegate C. Tyler Wood assured UNRRA council members the United States will not need to revise allocations "for any frivolous reasons or base political motives."

Poland, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Byelorussia and the Ukraine were tentatively scheduled to receive nearly half of UNRRA's remaining shipments.

United States To Accept Verdict

Wood promised the United States would "accept the verdict of the central committee" which will decide on all proposed changes. The central committee is made up of the Big Five nations plus Canada, Australia, Brazil and Yugoslavia and operates by a majority vote.

UNRRA began to dismantle its many operations during the day when Director General F. H. LaGuardia turned over a check for $550,000 to a representative of the International Emergency Children's fund.

"Do something about the children," he urged. "Do not make this another statistical organization."

The funds LaGuardia turned over were American contributions collected by Emergency Food Collection, Inc., which was headed by Henry A. Wallace, former secretary of Commerce.

Russia Yields To Demands Of U.S. On UNRRA Supplies

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—Russia yielded today to an American demand that UNRRA be allowed to shift remaining relief shipments from country to country "where and when needed."

As UNRRA's sixth conference adjourned, the 48-nation council unanimously approved a resolution permitting changes "when circumstances clearly warrant."

To meet Soviet objections, however, the resolution pledged the United States to join other UNRRA countries in striving for swift distribution of UNRRA's $626,000,000 in tentative allocations where possible.

Truman Sees Prince Faisal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP).—President Truman discussed some phases of the Palestine controversy today with Prince Faisal, Saudi Arabia's Minister of Foreign Affairs. Talking with newspapermen after his twenty-five-minute meeting with the President, the Prince said through an interpreter that the discussion "touched on the question of Palestine as a general question among other general questions of common interest." He would not elaborate.

Merger Savings Aim Of GOP

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—Republicans applauded today President Truman's action in telescoping Government controls into a new, temporary agency.

But they made known their intention of making certain that accompanying money saving plans are carried out.

Senator Wiley (R., Wis.) said that while he approves the President's decision to put price, reconversion and stabilization authority under the new Office of Temporary Controls, he still must be convinced that the promised economies will be achieved or liquidation speeded.

Cites Previous Moves

"I have seen too many of these moves made before in the name of economy which never saved anything," Wiley said. "If the President doesn't get rid of these controls and make some actual savings, I'm sure the Republican Congress will."

Senator Millikin (R., Colo.), charged with telling the Senate Republican Conference at its December 30 meeting what ought to be done about price, priority, housing and rent controls, said it appears that the Republicans will have to decide what they want to do about sugar rationing, housing and rent, but might not find many others in existence.

Mr. Truman's announcement yesterday that he would send three messages to Congress in January—one on the state of the Union, another on the budget and a third on the report of his Economic Advisory Council—reminded legislators that they have a new job of economic planning ahead of them.

Economic Report By February 1

By law, the President's report on economic conditions, made by the Advisory Council set up under the so-called "full employment" act, will go to a special Senate-House committee for its report back to Congress by February 1.

Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), who is retiring as committee chairman with the change in political control of Congress, said the true test of Republican willingness to co-operate with the President may come in that committee.

Indications now are that Senator Taft (R., Ohio), who tops the present minority list of senators on the joint group, may add this chairmanship to those of the GOP Steering and either the Labor or Finance committees.

PRICE CHANGES FORESEEN IN HOUSING PLANS

Veterans Back Controls, Threaten To Take Over Boarded-Up Homes

1946

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—Out of a welter of debate that reached to the Cabinet, signs emerge tonight that the broad pattern of the emergency housing program would be saved, but with major price and priority changes.

Simultaneously, organized veterans rallied to defend Federal housing controls. A spokesman for the American Veterans of World War II told a Senate subcommittee that industry "pressure groups" must not be allowed to "sabotage" the program.

An American Veterans' committee representative said "squatters" may take over "boarded-up Fifth avenue brownstones" this winter unless the home-building bottlenecks are broken.

Senate Group Recesses

The Senate body recessed until next Wednesday, after hearing leaders of the construction, real-estate and building-materials industries assert almost unanimously that veterans would get new houses faster if the controls were thrown overboard.

President Truman met with top advisers for 30 minutes this afternoon in a conference after which the White House reported "excellent progress" toward the development of the housing program.

The group, including Raymond M. Foley, housing administrator, and Frank Creedon, veterans' housing expediter, will meet again at the White House at noon tomorrow.

Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, said a report would be issued within a day or so, possibly as early as tomorrow afternoon.

President Pleased

The President went over the tentative program and expressed pleasure over the "excellent" progress that has been made toward formulating the new procedure for expediting residential construction, Ross aid.

Foley and Creedon were named to their posts yesterday to take over jobs formerly held by Wilson W. Wyatt, who resigned following a controversy with George E. Allen, RFC director, over loans for prefabricated housing.

Allen, John R. Stelman, assistant to the President; Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, the new administrator of temporary controls, and other key figures in the new economic setup met for 30 minutes in a conference that preceded their personal meeting with the President.

One housing official reported privately that the discussions were centering on proposals like these, although none has yet been decided:

1. Abolish the fixing of a ceiling price in advance on each new home to be built.

May Raise Sales Limit

2. Raise the $10,000 sales and $80-a-month rental limit which now governs the granting of housing priorities—at least in large cities where building costs are high. A $12,000 top has been mentioned.

3. Make housing-priority help available to nonveterans if they will release old dwellings for veterans' tenancy.

4. Increase gradually the permitted volume of store, factory and other nonresidential building, which now is held to $35,000,000 a week.

Arrangements were made for another housing conference in Steelman's office tomorrow.

Jack W. Hardy, past commander of the Amvets, declared the lifting of a large part of present controls on nonhousing construction would be "disastrous."

London Squatters Recalled

Chat Paterson, legislative representative of the American Veterans' Committee, recalled the London squatters who recently took over vacant apartment buildings, and said:

"We may well have squatters in America this winter. In fact, our homeless veterans may take over summer estates and boarded-up Fifth avenue brownstones, unless we move now—all of us, veterans and nonveterans, producer and consumer—to break the bottlenecks."

The complaints subcommittee of the Senate Small Business Committee, headed by Senator Stewart (D., Tenn.), announced that Foley and Creedon would testify when hearings are resumed next week.

Omar B. Ketchum, legislative director of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, led off today's list of witnesses with the declaration that the V.F.W. "will continue to insist on rigid controls on nonhousing construction and the channeling of building materials into veterans' housing."

35 Billion Paid, Excess Profits Taxes Drying Up

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP) — The golden flow of Government revenue from excess-profits taxes, which have yielded over $35,000,000,000 in less than six years, will dry up as this year fades out.

Although repealed effective in 1946, the tax is still yielding returns because corporations pay on the previous year's income and are just finishing payments on their 1945 earnings.

The levy was 85 per cent on earnings in excess of "prewar normal." As that tax bite comes off, the 38 per cent regular corporate income tax will clamp on its place, thereby easing the extent of the drop in revenue.

Final Payments Coming In

Final payments under the old rate are coming in now as corporations make quarterly payments on 1945 income due December 15. Only "straggler" payments are expected after January 1.

Still in effect until the end of this year is one provision of the excess-profits tax, allowing corporations whose 1946 earnings are below their "prewar normal" a tax credit they can "carry back" against excess-profits taxes paid for the two previous years.

Thus some corporations whose earnings this year were "substandard" in comparison with prewar—whether as a result of strikes or other causes—can take an offset against whatever excess profits taxes they paid in the last two years.

Set Up For Defense In '40

The excess profits tax came into effect during the defense period in 1940.

It was replaced—effective upon 1946 income—after victory in Europe, largely on grounds it would give industry incentive to speed the return to peacetime production and thus help avert what many feared would be mass unemployment.

Top take from the excess profits tax was $11,003,000,000 in fiscal 1945. Collections fell off to $7,822,000,000 during fiscal 1946, which ended last June 30, and to $1,875,000,000 for the July-through-October period this year.

FRIEND OF BILBO PUNCHED, KICKED AT PROBE HEARING

Witness Knocked Out of Chair by Ex-Congressman During Senate Inquiry.

COPS HALT ATTACK

Hearing on Mississippi Political 'Maneuvers' Ends in Tumult.

1946

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP) The Senate inquiry into Senator Theodore G. Bilbo's dealings with war contractors recessed in tumult today when former Representative Ross Collins of Mississippi knocked a witness out of his chair and rained kicks and blows upon him.

The witness, Rober Gandy, Baptist church deacon, insurance man and political associate of Bilbo's, had been testifying about an arrangement under which, he said, part of a $25,000 campaign contribution by a war contractor was to have been paid to Collins.

Calling Gandy a "damn liar," Collins rushed. He upset the witness chair. Gandy sprawled on the floor and Collins began pounding and kicking him.

Hearing Is Recessed

Capitol police moved in, warded off Collins and assisted Gandy to his feet. On motion of Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), the Senate War Investigating subcommittee then recessed the hearing.

He suffered only a sprained wrist.

Earlier in the hearing Felix T. Newton, a Mississippi war contractor, testified that he paid $25,000 to Bilbo, Mississippi senator as a contribution to the unsuccessful

Senate campaign of Wall Doxey in 1942, Doxeq is now senate sergeant-at-arms.

"You tell us that you were giving $25,000 to have Wall Doxey elected as United States senator so he would be for you in the future?" demanded Ferguson.

Admits Cashing Checks

Gandy said that he cashed the checks for the $25,000 after endorsing his name below Bilbo's.

Gandy testified that he was treasurer of an "informal committee" trying to elect Doxey. He said Bilbo was a member of the committee.

Gandy related that Bilbo came to Doxey's hotel headquarters in Jackson and asked him to cash the checks.

"Did he ask you to get the money in small denominations, five and ten dollar bills?" Ferguson asked.

"I can't just remember," Gandy replied.

However President William M. Mounger of the Jackson bank where the checks were cashed testified that Gandy had asked for $10 and $20 bills. Mounger agreed that $25,000 in these bills made quite a bulky package.

"It would take a mighty big pocket to hold them," he said.

Gandy explained that he and others were "working day and night on the campaign" and that the $25,000 was badly needed in a run-off election.

Loses In Run-Off

In the original primary, Doxey led former Representative Collins and Rolland Wall but lost in the run-off primary to Senator Eastland.

Ferguson insisted that Gandy explain exactly what was done with the money.

Gandy said he delivered it to Bilbo in the hotel suite which served as headquarters for the informal Doxey campaing group.

Ferguson asked what Bilbo did with it.

"He disbursed it," Gandy said. "He started disbursing it right there."

Gandy explained that he and Forrest Jackson, Bilbo's attorney at the current hearing, had borrowed $7,500 from a Hattisburg, Miss., bank to finance some of the committee's activities, and that $7,500 of the $25,000 went to Jackson. He said another $1,000 went to Leland Speed, mayor of Jackson, Miss., to repay another loan.

Gandy said the second or runoff primary was coming up, there were some candidates eliminated in the first primary to be dealt with, and some "manipulating" had to be done.

"You mean you had to pay off the defeated candidates?" Ferguson asked.

Audience Laughs

The audience rocked with laughter as Gandy rejoined: "Senator, you haven't been down in Mississippi in an election, have you?"

Ferguson and Chairman Mead (D-NY) asked Gandy to interpret his personal account book on the Doxey campaign.

"Well we paid one gentleman $1,000," he began slowly.

"What was it? What was his name? Ferguson and Mead shouted.

"Why do you hestitate?" Ferguson asked.

Gandy, silent for a moment, attempted to explain that in Mississippi primary winners usually help losers meet "election deficits" in return for support in run-off elections.

"Probably the last loser in the runoff is the only loser," Senator Mead put in. "Nobody can pay him off."

Still Meeting Deficit

Gandy agreed, adding that Doxey supporters still were meeting the deficit of his unsuccessful 1942 campaign.

Ferguson pressed Gandy for the name of the primary loser who got $7,500.

"You make it pretty hard for us fellows who are not politicians to discuss this in public," Gandy said, and then testified that payments of $7,500 went to Roland Wall.

Ferguson then wanted to know if Gandy had agreed to pay Ross Collins any money.

Gandy said that he, Bilbo, and Jackson met Collins and three Collins supporters for a "conference" about an "operating deficit."

Gandy said "Cecil Travis, Charlie Snow and George Butler" accompanied Collins and that Collins and Bilbo "exchanged greetings."

Gandy said that in the last 40 years Collins and Bilbo "at times had been closest of friends and the bitterest of enemies."

"Did you talk money?" Ferguson asked.

Gandy said that Travis was designated by Collins to work out details of the "operating deficit."

Sits Near Witness

It was at this point that Collins came from the rear of the big committee room. He seated himself near Gandy.

Gandy noticed his presence and said: "Hello, Ross."

Collins muttered "I wouldn't speak to a damn liar like you."

A little later, he leaped from his seat, lunged at Gandy, knocked over his chair and began pummeling and kicking at him. The fracas took place immediately in front of one of the press tables.

A towering capitol policeman sprang forward and grabbed Collins. While Gandy still lay on the floor feet high in the air, Chairman Mead (D-NY) announced that the hearing was recessed until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The committee made no immediate legal move against Collins for the disturbance. As soon as the recess was announced Collins plumped down in a chair and—breathing heavily—began answering reporters questions.

Collins Charges 'Lies'

He told them he struck Gandy because "he lied about me."

Collins also disputed Gandy's testimony that Collins had agreed to issue a statement in support of Doxey in the run-off campaign.

"I didn't endorse Doxey or anybody else," he told the press. "I issued a statement of neutrality."

He volunteered that "I have been fighting Bilbo for 35 years."

The committee had difficulty trying to trace just how the $25,000 contribution to Doxey's campaign fund was paid, and who actually was out of money.

Newton testified the four checks which made up the sum were drawn by him but charged against a partnership he had at that time with Frank Glenn of Hattiesburg.

Glenn, who also was a witness, said that although an attempt originally was made to charge off at least some of the money as a business expense, the books later were changed and income taxes paid on the $25,000.

He said he protested to Newton about making the large contribution, when he heard about it 10 days or so after it was made.

Newton explained he made the contribution not for any good that Doxey might do his contracting business, but because of "the harm he would not do for us."

He testified that the opposition of the late Mississippi senator, Pat Harrison, had prevented him from getting one Navy construction job.

Another acknowledged contributor to the Doxey campaign fund was B. L. Knost, like Glenn and Newton a war contractor.

Knost testified he gave $5,000, and never expected to get it back, despite a note opposite the amount in Gandy's account book, which said it was "a loan."

Ferguson asked Gandy if a report on these contributions had been filed with state officials.

Gandy replied in the negative, explaining his group was an "informal committee."

"You treated this as an informal committee and so you did not comply with the formal laws," Ferguson said. "It was sort of an educational committee?"

Gandy agreed.

"That's a good name for it."

Photographic copies of four checks—one for $10,000 and three for $5,000—were tossed onto the table by Ferguson, Newton, a towering man of fleshy face and figure, readily identified them.

For the record, he read the check aloud, including the endorsements on the back of each—"Theodore G. Bilbo and Robert Gandy."

Deacon in Church

Bilbo told reporters Gandy was "a deacon in the First Baptist church" at Jackson, Miss., and an insurance man.

Newton, a resident of Hattiesburg, Miss., was one of several contractors who pooled their resources on construction of Keesler field at Biloxi, Miss., a job for which the government paid $13,967,005.

Under questioning by Ferguson, Newton estimated he had received "close to a million dollars" in fees from the government on a dozen or 15 contracts he had performed since 1940. He said that was a good deal more than he had made previously.

Newton conceded freely that he had tried to get Bilbo to help him get government contracts, but said he did not know whether Bilbo actually had helped.

Edwin Jones, secretary-treasurer of the J. A. Jones Construction Co., testified that his firm, which handled more than $100,000,000 in war contracts, had gone in with Newton, Glenn and Knost on the Biloxi job because of a War department policy which called for giving preference to local contractors.

Both Jones and Newton told of a trip they made to Washington to talk with Bilbo and War department officials about obtaining the Biloxi contract.

Jones said he told Bilbo he was willing to work with the Mississippi contractors and later, at Bilbo's request, repeated that statement to Maj. Gen. Thomas M. Robins, assistant chief of army engineers. Jones recalled that Bilbo told Robins at that time he was interested in seeing that Mississippi contractors got as big a share as possible in defense work in his state.

Jones said that under the joint-venture agreement with the Mississippi firms, his company got only 35 per cent of the $263,461 fee. He called that "a bad bargain" since his firm did most of the work.

Wisecracking, Ferguson remarked that apparently "know-who" counted more than "know-how" in obtaining war contracts.

Jones told the committee of donating $500 for construction of a Baptist church in Bilbo's home town, Poplarville, Miss. He said that as nearly as he could recall, the donation was solicited by Mike Morrissey, a Vicksburg contractor, who told him that Bilbo was "interested" in seeing the church built.

Jones testified that although his company frequently made donations to community funds, Boy Scouts, the Red Cross and so on, he "didn't like the idea" of being asked to donate to something in which the company had no interest. He added, however, that he believed it was "a good thing to do" under the circumstances and told Ferguson he believed the Senator would have done the same if he had been doing business in Mississippi.

At the outset of today's session, Chairman Mead (D-NY) announced the committee will subpoena J. M. Quinn, a Jackson, Miss., banker, for an appearance Monday. He said Quinn will be instructed to bring records of any bank accounts of Edward P. Terry, Bilbo's former secretary.

Terry is sought by the FBI. The senate group has been trying to locate him since last Saturday, when he was in Lakeland, Fla. Terry wrote Mead—in a letter made public yesterday—that he feared for his life and for his wife and child if he testified. He reported a series of death threats if he said anything against Bilbo.

Quinn's appearance had been suggested by Forrest Jackson, Bilbo's attorney. Jackson said Quinn told him that Terry recently informed the banker he planned to use the asserted death threats as an excuse for not presenting testimony which might incriminate himself.

'MISSING' WITNESS IN BILBO PROBE FOUND

QUITMAN, Miss., Dec. 13—(AP) Ed Terry, former secretary of Sen. Theo G. Bilbo, a "missing" witness who had pleaded with the Senate War Investigating committee that it not require him to testify in the Bilbo hearings for fear harm would come to his wife and child, is a patient in Watkins Memorial hospital here.

C. E. Hood, Jr., president of the Hood Lumber company, said Terry arrived here tonight in a "highly nervous state" and was immediately placed in the hospital under the care of Dr. H. C. Watkins, Jr.

He said Terry had authorized a statement that he was ready to "go back to Washington and cooperate with the Senate War Investigating committee just as soon as my health will permit."

GOVERNOR IS SILENT ON STAND ON BILBO

HARTFORD, Dec. 13—(AP) Governor Baldwin had no comment to make today when asked how he would vote in the United States Senate on the expected challenge to the right of Senator Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi to take his seat for a new term.

The governor, whose name will head the alphabetical list of new and reelected U. S. senators to be sworn into office on next Jan. 3, will be the only new or reelected senator who will be qualified to vote on the Bilbo question.

According to reports from Washington the new and reelected senators will be sworn in alphabetical order with Mr. Baldwin's name first and Bilbo's second.

BOSTON, Dec. 13 (AP).—A former Army Air Forces lieutenant colonel said today that a German airplane flew over American cities along the Atlantic seaboard "shortly before D-Day" in 1944.

Richard S. Leghorn, of Winchester, Mass., former commander of the 30th Photographic Reconnaissance Squadron in England and France, made the assertion at ceremonies marking the formal opening of the Boston University Army Air Forces optical-research laboratory.

Mr. Leghorn said the Nazi craft was a modified Focke-Wulf 200 flown from an airfield in France. The plane made an aerial reconnoitering trip over the American cities, "including Boston," he said.

Documents discovered after the German surrender supplied the information, Mr. Leghorn said, declining further comment.

5,000 DISABLED VETS RECEIVE FREE AUTOS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP) A Veterans Administration spokesman estimated today that $8,000,000 worth of shiny new automobiles has been delivered free to 5,000 disabled veterans under the cars-for-amputees program.

An estimated 15,000 additional veterans may qualify for the vehicles in the $30,000,000 car purchasing law which became effective in September.

Forty-eight automobiles were delivered in September, 1,005 in October, and 2,400 during November. Estimated December deliveries would bring the total to around 5,000 cars.

Most recipients, granted a priority by dealers, waited less than six weeks for the machines.

The government pays up to $1,600 for each automobile. A VA official said that few if any are costing less than that. Veterans are having radios, heaters and other extras installed on lower price models to bring the total price to $1,600.

Reach Accord on Lakes

U. S. and Canada Allow Reciprocal Use for Navy Training

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP).—The United States and Canada announced today that it will be all right for either government to operate naval vessels on the Great Lakes for training purposes. They decided, however, that one government should notify the other in advance of the number, location, functions and armament of the ships.

The agreement was reached through an interpretation of a pact dating back to 1817. The Rush-Bagot agreement of that year regulated the presence of naval vessels on the Lakes to settle problems arising from the War of 1812.

Canada proposed the interpretation permitting Navy ships to use the lakes for training in a note dated Nov. 15. Under-Secretary of State Dean Acheson accepted in a note of Dec. 5.

Veteran Gets Annulment of His Marriage Under Thaert of Death to Savage Girl in Philippines.

Hays, Kan., Dec. 13 (A. P.).—The strange marriage of an American soldier to a girl member of a savage Igorot tribe in the Philippine Islands was annulled yesterday after the veteran testified that he wed under threat of death.

Virgil C. Lehnus testified in the District Court that the marriage was performed in November of 1942 after he had escaped the Japanese, but then had been captured by the Igorots.

He became ill and was nursed by an Igorot girl chosen by the tribe's chief. He said that after regaining his health he learned tribal law required that he and the girl be married. At first, he said, he refused, but finally complied under threat of death. Lehnus escaped shortly after the wedding, but was recaptured by the Japanese and held prisoner until the war ended.

Canada Consolidates Armed Forces

Ottawa, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Canada's Army, Navy and Air Departments, under separate Ministers during the war, were back on a pre-war basis under a single Defense Minister today after a series of Cabinet changes. The Air Minister's post, held over from the war, finally was vacated as the result of yesterday's shuffle.

Brooke Claxton, head of Canada's Paris Peace Conference delegation, was shifted from Health Minister to Defense Minister; Paul Martin, now in the United Nations Assembly in New York, from State Secretary to Health Minister, and C. W. G. Gibson from Air Minister to State Secretary. In the Defense Ministry Claxton, a world war I artillery sergeant-major, succeeded another world war I artillery-man, Douglas Abbott, named Finance Minister two days before.

SIXTH NIGHT LEAD U.N. (ROUNDUP)

BY LARRY HAUCK

NEW YORK, SATURDAY, DEC. 14-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES, RUSSIA AND GREAT BRITAIN JOINED EARLY TODAY IN SUPPORT OF A BASIC ARMS LIMITATION PROGRAM BUT SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M. MOLOTOV INJECTED A CRITICISM OF THE UNITED STATES FOR MAINTAINING A STOCK PILE OF ATOMIC BOMBS.

AFTER HEARING MOLOTOV, BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY EARNEST BEVIN AND SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES, THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY ADJOURNED AT 1:22 A.M. (EST) UNTIL 11 A.M. (EST) WITHOUT TAKING A VOTE. THERE STILL APPEARED TO BE NO OPPOSITION TO THE WORLDWIDE ARMS SLASHING PLAN WHICH YESTERDAY RODE THROUGH THE POLITICAL COMMITTEE WITHOUT OPPOSITION.

AFTER DECLARING THAT DISARMAMENT WOULD BE HAILED WITH A SIGH OF RELIEF IN ALL COUNTRIES AND "THERE STILL IS FRENZIED PROPAGANDA IN FAVOR OF A NEW WAR," MOLOTOV TURNED TO THIS COMMENT ON THE ATOMIC BOMB:

"IT IS CLEAR THAT ATOMIC WEAPONS ARE NOT FOR DEFENSE AND THEREFORE WHEN PEOPLE TELL US OF THEIR INTEREST IN THE DEFENSE OF THEIR COUNTRIES IT GOES WITHOUT SAYING THAT SUCH DEFENSE IS NOT BY ATOMIC BOMBS. THE ATOMIC BOMB IS NOT DESTINED FOR USE IN ONE'S OWN COUNTRY. IT'S DESTINATION IS IN ANOTHER TERRITORY."

MOLOTOV THEN SAID THAT HE WOULD INSIST ON DEBATE OVER HIS DEMANDS FOR A WORLDWIDE CENSUS OF TROOPS AND ARMAMENTS, INCLUDING THE ATOMIC BOMB, AFTER THE ARMS VOTE.

EARLIER IN THE NIGHT BYRNES DISCLOSED TO THE WORLD THE DISPOSITION OF ALL AMERICAN TROOPS OUTSIDE U.S. BORDERS, SETTING THE TOTAL AT "LESS THAN 550,000," AND BEVIN DECLARED HIS NATION'S FORCES AT HOME AND ABOARD HAD BEEN CUT BELOW A MILLION.

THE ASSEMBLY THUS PASSED ITS ORIGINAL DEADLINE FOR ADJOURNMENT AND LATEST ESTIMATES WERE THAT THE BODY MIGHT BE ABLE TO WIND UP IN THE EARLY HOURS OF SUNDAY.

AFTER LONG DEBATE THE ASSEMBLY PASSED A WATERED-DOWN RESOLUTION ON THE CONTROVERSIAL VETO, 36 TO 6, WITH RUSSIA THE ONLY ONE OF THE VETO POWERS IN OPPOSITION. OF THE OTHERS, THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN VOTED YES AND CHINA AND FRANCE ABSTAINED.

IN ITS FINAL FORM THE RESOLUTION DID LITTLE MORE THAN CALL TO THE ATTENTION OF THE BIG FIVE THE OPPOSITION OF SMALL NATIONS TO THE EXERCISE OF THE SPECIAL VOTING PRIVILEGE AND ASKED THE MAJOR POWERS TO SEEK SOME AGREEMENT AMONG THEMSELVES ON CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH THE VETO SHOULD BE APPLIED. WS. NY-(N)-BYRUS-XXX GIVE JOINING RUSSIA IN OPPOSITION WHERE WHITE RUSSIA, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, POLAND, THE SOVIET UKRAINE AND YUGOSLAVIA.

THE ASSEMBLY THEN TOOK UP TRUSTEESHIPS.

THE MAJOR PROBLEM IN THE TROOP CENSUS QUESTION WAS RUSSIAN INSISTENCE THAT A FULL REPORT ON ARMAMENTS, INCLUDING THE ATOMIC BOMB, SHOULD ACCOMPANY ANY DATA ON TROOPS STATIONED AT HOME. IN ITS RESOLUTION THE SOVIET UNION CALLED ONLY FOR FIGURES ON FORCES STATIONED ABROAD. ALSO COMPLICATING THE PROBLEM WAS A BRITISH DEMAND FOR VERIFICATION OF THE REPORTS BY ON-THE-SPOT AUDIT.

EMBROILED IN A HOPELESS SNARL ON THE TROOP COUNT PROPOSALS, THE COMMITTEE FINALLY ACCEPTED SPAAK'S COMPROMISE. THE COMMITTEE THUS WOUND UP ITS WORK AND SPAAK SAID ITS APPROVAL OF THE ARMS RESOLUTION WAS "OF CAPITAL IMPORTANCE" AND AN AGREEMENT HE WOULD HAVE THOUGHT "IMPROBABLE" OF ACHIEVEMENT A MONTH AGO.

"THIS IS A CAMPAIGN IN WHICH WE NEED EVERY SOLDIER OF PEACE," SEN. TOM CONNALLY (D-TEX), SAID IN A FAREWELL SPEECH BEFORE THE COMMITTEE AT LAKE SUCCESS. "WE MUST MARCH FORWARD TO PEACE IN A SOLID PHALANX."

1946

A226UA

CONNALLY EXPRESSED GRATIFICATION OVER MOLOTOV'S PRESENCE AT THE FINAL COMMITTEE SESSION AND DECLARED:

"THE UNITY OF THE GREAT POWERS IS THE KEYSTONE OF PEACE. IF THE GREAT POWERS ACT IN UNISON TO KEEP BEFORE THEM THE OBJECTIVE OF PEACE THE WORLD WILL BE FREE FROM WAR. IF THEY DON'T-- IF THEY INDULGE IN RIVALRIES-- THERE WILL BE A ROADBLOCK ON THE ROAD TO PEACE."

MOLOTOV, WHO IS SCHEDULED TO LEAVE WITH THE BRITISH LINER QUEEN ELIZABETH, COMMENTED THAT ASSEMBLY APPROVAL OF THE ARMS RESOLUTION WOULD MARK THE FIRST STEP ON THE ROAD TO A GENERAL REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS. FOR THE BRITISH, SIR HARTLEY SHAWCROSS PREDICTED THAT THE CONVENTIONS (DISARMAMENT AGREEMENTS) WILL HAVE BEEN AGREED UPON" BY THE TIME THE ASSEMBLY RECONVENES NEXT FALL.

THE ARMS RESOLUTION RECOMMENDED THAT THE SECURITY COUNCIL FORMULATE PLANS FOR ARMAMENT LIMITATIONS AND SET UP INSPECTION AND CONTROL MACHINE TO BE PRESENTED TO A SPECIAL SESSION OF THE ASSEMBLY AND THEN GO TO MEMBER STATES FOR RATIFICATION. THIS MACHINERY WOULD BE FREE FROM THE VETO.

THE PROGRAM ALSO INCLUDED PROVISIONS FOR THE OUTLAWING OF ATOMIC BOMBS AND OTHER WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION AND THE CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY USED FOR PEACEFUL PURPOSES.

TU350PESNM 1946

JUST BEFORE MIDNIGHT THE ASSEMBLY APPROVED A RESOLUTION RECOMMENDING THAT ALL MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS WITHDRAW IMMEDIATELY THEIR AMBASSADORS AND MINISTERS FROM FRANCO SPAIN, THUS TAKING THE FIRST CONCRETE ACTION ON AN ISSUE THAT HAS DOGGED THE PEACE-KEEPING AGENCY SINCE ITS INCEPTION AT SAN FRANCISCO.

ANOTHER CONTROVERSIAL ISSUE -- THE VETO -- ALSO WAS READY FOR ACTION BY THE ASSEMBLY, POSSIBLY TODAY. BEFORE THE BODY IS A COMMITTEE-APPROVED RESOLUTION URGING THE BIG FIVE TO ENSURE THAT THE USE OF THEIR SPECIAL VOTING PRIVILEGE DOES NOT IMPEDE THE SECURITY COUNCIL IN REACHING DECISIONS PROMPTLY.

THE LONG SEARCH FOR A PERMANENT HOME FOR THE UNITED NATIONS APPEARED SETTLED AS THE HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE ACCEPTED THE OFFER OF JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., OF AN $8,500,000 SKYSCRAPER SITE IN MID-TOWN, MANHATTEN EAST SIDE PREPARED TO SEND IT TO THE ASSEMBLY FOR APPROVAL. THE COMMITTEE MEETS TODAY TO AUTHORIZE SECRETARY-GENERAL TRYGVE LIE TO ACCEPT THE TRACT.

THE ARMS LIMITATION PROGRAM WAS IN THE HANDS OF THE 54-MEMBER U.N. POLITICAL AND SECURITY COMMITTEE, MEETING AT LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., AT 10:30 A.M., AFTER IT HAD BEEN APPROVED UNANIMOUSLY BY A SUB-COMMITTEE.

THERE WAS THE POSSIBILITY THAT IF THE COMMITTEE COULD SETTLE THE TROOP CENSUS QUESTION, ON WHICH A SUB-COMMITTEE REACHED A COMPROMISE LAST NIGHT, BOTH IT AND THE ARMS REDUCTION PROGRAM MIGHT BE SUBMITTED TO THE ASSEMBLY FOR APPROVAL TODAY.

SHOULD THIS HAPPEN, U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES WOULD APPEAR BEFORE THE ASSEMBLY TO STATE HIS GOVERNMENT'S POSITION. SOURCES CLOSE TO THE AMERICAN SECRETARY SAID HE DEFINITELY WOULD APPEAR BEFORE THE ASSEMBLY WHEN THE ISSUES CAME UP FOR DEBATE.

AFTER WRANGLING FOUR HOURS LAST NIGHT OVER A RESOLUTION CALLING FOR A WORLDWIDE TROOP REPORT BY JAN. 1, A SUB-COMMITTEE ON ARMAMENTS ADOPTED A COMPROMISE PROPOSAL BY A VOTE OF 15 TO 2, WITH THREE ABSTENTIONS, TO LEAVE THE QUEST OF INFORMATION UP TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL WHEN IT TAKES UP ARMS LIMITATION. ADD NY-(DJ-ARMS PLAN-XXX UPON

RUSSIA AND THE SOVIET UKRAINE VOTED AGAINST THE COMPROMISE, INDICATING THAT THE SOVIET WOULD CONTINUE ITS FIGHT TO GET A REPORT ON THE TROOPS OF UNITED NATIONS MEMBERS ON FOREIGN SOIL. BUT MOST DELEGATES BELIEVED THAT IF RUSSIA MADE SUCH AN ATTEMPT IT WOULD BE VOTED DOWN.

IN EFFECT THE COMPROMISE ASKS THE SECURITY COUNCIL, WHICH MUST FORMULATE ARMS LIMITATION DETAILS, INCLUDING AN EARLY REDUCTION OF NATIONAL ARMED FORCES, TO DETERMINE AS RAPIDLY AS POSSIBLE WHAT INFORMATION MEMBER NATIONS SHOULD BE INVITED TO SUBMIT.

AMERICAN DELEGATION SOURCES POINTED OUT THAT IF THIS PROPOSAL WERE ADOPTED NO NATION COULD BE FORCED TO SUBMIT INFORMATION ON ITS FORCES. THE U.S. TOOK THE VIEW THAT WHEN THERE WERE THE NECESSARY SAFEGUARDS AND CONTROLS THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT WOULD NOT ONLY DISCLOSE THE NUMBER OF ITS TROOPS BUT ALSO ALL INFORMATION ON ITS SECRET WEAPONS.

DELEGATES CONSIDERED ADOPTION BY THE SUB-COMMITTEE OF THE ARMS REDUCTION PROPOSAL A MONUMENTAL STEP TOWARD WORLD PEACE AND SECURITY, EXPRESSING CONFIDENCE OF ITS APPROVAL UNANIMOUSLY BY THE ASSEMBLY.

THE RESOLUTION PROVIDES GENERALLY:

1. EARLY WORLD-WIDE ARMS LIMITATION AND REDUCTION OF FORCES.
2. OUTLAWING OF ATOMIC WEAPONS AND OTHER MAJOR MEANS OF WAR.
3. INTERNATIONAL CONVENTIONS SETTING UP ORGANIZATIONS REGULATING ARMS CONTROLS.
4. INSPECTION AND CONTROL UNDER THESE ORGANIZATIONS FREE OF THE BIG POWER VETO.
5. A BALANCED REDUCTION OF ARMED FORCES BY THE NATIONS.
6. THE EXPEDITIOUS CREATION OF AN INTERNATIONAL POLICE FORCE FOR THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL.
7. A SPECIAL SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO ACT ON CONVENTIONS ON TREATIES ON ARMS LIMITATION WHICH THEN WOULD BE SUBMITTED TO THE NATIONS FOR RATIFICATION.

THE UNITED STATES FOUGHT HARD AND SUCCESSFULLY TO INSERT A PARAGRAPH IN THE RESOLUTION SPECIFICALLY PROVIDING THAT NOTHING IN THE ARMS CONTR RESOLUTION WOULD CHANGE THE RESOLUTION OF JAN. 24, 1946, CREATING THE U.N. ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION.

BOTH YUGOSLAVIA AND GREECE WERE HEARD AT YESTERDAY'S SESSION AND THE ISSUE WAS CONTINUED UNTIL MONDAY AT 3 P.M. (EST), WHEN THE ALBANIAN AND BULGARIAN REPRESENTATIVES ARE EXPECTED TO PRESENT THEIR STATEMENTS.

SAVA N. KOSANOVIC, YUGOSLAV AMBASSADOR TO WASHINGTON, VEHEMENTLY DENIED THE GREEK CHARGES AND DEMANDED THAT THE SECURITY COUNCIL ESTABLISH IMMEDIATELY A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE CONDITIONS "INSIDE GREECE."

THE YUGOSLAV MOVE CAME AFTER GREEK PREMIER CONSTANTIN TSALDARIS DENOUNCED THE THREE NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES FOR WHAT HE CALLED A SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF AGGRESSION.

TSALDARIS FORMALLY CHARGED THAT YUGOSLAVIA, ALBANIA AND BULGARIA HAD WORKED OUT "IN MINUTEST DETAIL" A PLAN TO FORCE GREEK MACEDONIA INTO THE FEDERAL YUGOSLAV STATE OF MACEDONIA.

THE YUGOSLAV AMBASSADOR DECLARED THAT "IT IS WITHIN GREECE THAT THERE EXISTS A BREEDING-GROUND OF DISTURBANCES THAT IMPERIL THE PEACEFUL AND FRIENDLY DEVELOPMENT OF EASTERN EUROPE."

"WHAT THIS WHOLE SITUATION REQUIRES IS AN INVESTIGATION OF CONDITIONS INSIDE GREECE AT THE EARLIEST POSSIBLE MOMENT, AND THAT IS WHAT WE NOW PROPOSE," HE SAID.

(ADVANCE TO BE HELD FOR RELEASE WHICH IS EXPECTED ABOUT 10 P.M. EST TODAY, FRIDAY, DEC. 13.)
BY JOHN M.HIGHTOWER

(ADVANCE) NEW YORK, DEC. 13-(AP)-SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES, IN A PLEA FOR WORLDWIDE DISARMAMENT SAFEGUARDED BY INTERNATIONAL CONTROLS, TOLD THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY TONIGHT THAT THE UNITED STATES NOW HAS "LESS THAN 550,000 TROOPS OUTSIDE OF AMERICAN TERRITORY."

"MOST OF THESE TROOPS," BYRNES DECLARED, "ARE IN GERMANY, JAPAN AND THE JAPANESE ISLANDS, KOREA, AUSTRIA AND VENEZIA GUILIA (TRIESTE)."

IN HIS FIRST FORMAL APPEARANCE BEFORE THE ASSEMBLY IN ITS NEW YORK MEETING, BYRNES REJECTED FLATLY SOVIET ACCUSATIONS THAT AMERICAN TROOPS IN CHINA ARE A THREAT TO PEACE AND HE WARNED AGAINST DESTRUCTION OF THE SOVEREIGNTY OF ANY NATION "BY A WAR OF NERVES" OR "BY ORGANIEED POLITICAL PENETRATION

OF THE SOVEREIGNTY OF ANY NATION "BY A WAR OF NERVES" OR "BY ORGANIZED POLITICAL PENETRATION."

"WORLD PEACE," BYRNES ASSERTED, "DEPENDS UPON WHAT IS IN OUR HEARTS MORE THAN WHAT IS IN OUR TREATIES."

BYRNES WHO HAS JUST FINISHED A MOMENTOUS TASK IN HELPING WORK OUT FIVE PEACE TREATIES FOR EUROPEAN SATELLITE NATIONS, CONTINUED:

"GREAT STATES MUST STRIVE FOR UNDERSTANDINGS WHICH WILL NOT ONLY PROTECT THEIR OWN LEGITIMATE SECURITY REQUIREMENTS BUT THE POLITICAL INDEPENDENCE AND INTEGRITY OF THE SMALLER STATES.

"IT IS NOT IN THE INTERESTS OF PEACE AND SECURITY THAT THE BASIC POWER RELATIONSHIP AMONG GREAT STATES SHOULD DEPEND UPON WHICH POLITICAL PARTY COMES TO POWER IN IRAN, GREECE OR CHINA."

AT THE OUTSET OF HIS ADDRESS, DELIVERED AS THE ASSEMBLY CONSIDERED ADOPTION OF A RESOLUTION URGING THE SECURITY COUNCIL TO GET ON WITH THE TASK OF INTERNATIONAL DISARMAMENT, BYRNES DECLARED THAT THE UNITED STATES "SUPPORTS WHOLEHEARTEDLY THE PROPOSED RESOLUTION WHICH HAS AS ITS OBJECTIVE A GENERAL REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS WITH EFFECTIVE SAFEGUARDS TO INSURE COMPLYING STATES AGAINST THE HAZARDS OF VIOLATIONS AND EVASIONS."

BYRNES DECLARED THAT IN DISARMAMENT THE UNITED NATIONS MUST GIVE TOP PRIORITY TO THE "CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY TO INSURE THAT IT WILL BE USED ONLY FOR HUMAN WELFARE AND NOT FOR DEADLY WARFARE."

HE ARGUED THAT "IN A WORLD OF UNCONTROLLED ARMAMENTS, ATOMIC ENERGY WOULD BE AN ADVANTAGE TO THE UNITED STATES FOR MANY YEARS TO COME."

"BUT," HE SAID, "IT IS NOT THE DESIRE OF THE UNITED STATES TO BE THE LEADER IN AN ARMAMENT RACE. WE PREFER TO PREVENT, RATHER THAN TO WIN, THE NEXT WAR."

BYRNES ASSERTED THAT REDUCING ARMAMENTS WOULD NOT BRING PEACE "IF THE ARMS AND ARMED FORCES THAT REMAIN ARE USED TO UNDERMINE COLLECTIVE SECURITY."

IT WAS WITH THIS OBJECTIVE LARGELY IN VIEW, HE SAID, THAT THE UNITED STATES HAD PRESSED FOR CONCLUSION OF PEACE TREATIES WITH ITALY AND OTHER FORMER ENEMY SATELLITE STATES AND ALSO HAD SOUGHT TO BRING ABOUT A TREATY WITH AUSTRIA RECOGNIZING ITS INDEPENDENCE AND PROVIDING WITHDRAWAL OF FOREIGN TROOPS.

REFERRING TO A PROPOSAL HE HAD MADE TO THE BIG FOUR COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS, BYRNES SAID THAT HE HAD NOT BEEN ABLE TO OBTAIN AGREEMENT THIS WEEK ON LIMITING THE SIZE OF OCCUPATION FORCES IN EUROPE BUT THAT EFFORTS TO FIX A LIMIT WOULD BE CONTINUED

"WE ARE ALSO PREPARED TO FIX AGREED CEILINGS FOR THE OCCUPATION FORCES IN JAPAN AND KOREA," BYRNES SAID.

IN DISCUSSING REDUCTION OF AMERICAN FORCES OVERSEAS FROM 5,000,000 TROOPS ON V-J DAY TO 550,000 NOW, BYRNES DID NOT GIVE A COMPLETE BREAKDOWN. HE SAID THAT HE WOULD DISCUSS ONLY THE COMBAT TROOPS STATIONED IN STATES OUTSIDE THE REGULAR OCCUPATION AREAS--GERMANY, JAPAN, AUSTRIA, KOREA AND TRIESTE.

IN THE PHILIPPINES, HE SAID, THE UNITED STATES HAS 96,000 TROOPS BUT ONLY ABOUT 30,000 ARE COMBAT FORCES AND THOSE INCLUDE 17,000 PHILIPPINE SCOUTS. THEY SERVE PRIMARILY TO BACK UP FORCES IN JAPAN, BYRNES SAID, AND "SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTIONS ARE CONTEMPLATED IN THE NEAR FUTURE."

IN CHINA, BYRNES SAID, THE UNITED STATES HAS 19,000 TROOPS INCLUDING ABOUT 15,000 COMBAT PERSONNEL "AND ROUGHLY ONE-HALF OF THESE ARE UNDER ORDERS TO RETURN HOME."

IN PANAMA, HE DECLARED, THE UNITED STATES HAS ABOUT 1,500 TROOPS OUTSIDE THE CANAL ZONE, OF WHOM ABOUT 1,000 ARE COMBAT FORCES. THESE ARE ALL IN ADDITION TO "OUR NORMAL PROTECTIVE FORCES" IN THE CANAL ZONE PROPER.

IN ICELAND, THE UNITED STATES HAS LESS THAN 600 NON-COMBAT PERSONNEL, ALL OF WHOM ARE TO BE WITHDRAWN BY EARLY APRIL. THEY HAVE BEEN THERE, BYRNES SAID, ONLY TO MAINTAIN ONE OF THE COMMUNICATION LINES WITH GERMANY.

ON THE SOUTHERN AIR TRANSPORT LINE TO GERMANY, IN THE AZORES, HE REPORTED, THE UNITED STATES HAS ONLY ABOUT 300 SOLDIERS INCLUDING "NOT A SINGLE COMBAT SOLDIER."

RESPECTING THE SITUATION IN CHINA, WHICH PRIME MINISTER STALIN ONCE CRITICIZED, SAYING THAT THE WITHDRAWAL OF AMERICAN TROOPS WOULD BE A HELP TO PEACE, BYRNES SAID THAT ALL FORCES THERE ARE AT THE REQUEST OF THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT AND ALTHOUGH THAT GOVERNMENT HAS URGED THAT THEY BE RETAINED "INSTRUCTIONS HAVE ALREADY BEEN ISSUED FOR THE RETURN OF HALF OF OUR FORCES NOW IN CHINA."

"WE REPUDIATE THE SUGGESTION," HE ASSERTED, "THAT OUR TROOPS IN CHINA OR ELSEWHERE, WITH THE CONSENT OF THE STATES CONCERNED, ARE A THREAT TO THE INTERNAL OR EXTERNAL PEACE OF ANY COUNTRY.

"BECAUSE THE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SOVIET UNION HAS REFERRED TO OUR TROOPS IN CHINA I MUST SAY THAT I AM CONFIDENT THAT THE NUMBER OF AMERICAN TROOPS IN NORTH CHINA ARE FAR LESS THAN THE NUMBER OF SOVIET TROOPS IN SOUTH CHINA IN THE PORT ARTHUR AREA."

MOREOVER, BYRNES SAID, THE TEMPORARY PRESENCE OF UNITED STATES FORCES IN CHINA IS NOT ESSENTIALLY DIFFERENT FROM THE PERMANENT PRESENCE OF RUSSIAN TROOPS AT THE PORKKALA NAVAL BASE IN FINLAND UNDER AGREEMENT WITH THE FINNISH GOVERNMENT.

(END ADVANCE TO BE HELD FOR RELEASE WHICH IS EXPECTED ABOUT 10 P.M., EST, TODAY, FRIDAY, DEC. 13.)

UN-BYRNES--CONNALLY (470)
NEW YORK, DEC.13-(AP)-IN THE CLOSING SESSIONS OF THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY, SECRETARY OF STATE, JAMES F.BYRNES PLANS TO TAKE OVER THE SIGNAL CALLING FOR THE UNITED STATES ON THE MOMENTOUS ISSUE OF ARMS REDUCTION, REPLACING WHITE-THATCHED SENATOR TOM CONNALLY (D-TEX) AS AMERICAN SPOKESMAN IN THAT FIELD.

HIS TASKS DONE IN THE FOREIGN MINISTERS' COUNCIL HERE, BYRNES PLANNED TO STEP INTO THE ACRIMONIOUS CONTROVERSY "AT AN APPROPRIATE TIME," PERHAPS TODAY. IT WILL MARK THE FIRST MAJOR SHIFT IN THE U.S. ASSEMBLY LINE-UP WHICH HAS FOUND CONNALLY HOLDING DOWN THE TASK OF MATCHING WITS WITH TOP-RANKING DIPLOMATS OF RUSSIA AND, AT TIMES, OF BRITAIN.

TO THE ASSIGNMENT, BYRNES WILL BRING A CUMULATIVE STORE OF EXPERIENCE IN DIPLOMATIC AFFAIRS--ACQUIRED THE HARD WAY HERE AND IN PARIS, MOSCOW, AND LONDON--WHICH HAS TOUGHENED THE OUTLOOK GAINED BY YEARS IN CONGRESS, WHERE HE WON A REPUTATION AS A SHREWD AND ABLE CONCILIATOR.

1946

IN SOME QUARTERS, HIS DECISION TO TAKE OVER ON-THE-SPOT DIRECTION OF AMERICAN POLICY ON ARMS REDUCTION AT THE LAST MOMENT WAS INTERPRETED AS SHOWING THAT BYRNES' ADVISERS HAVE CONVINCED HIM THAT THE AMERICAN POSITION WOULD CARRY MORE WEIGHT IF HE LAID IT DOWN PERSONALLY--JUST AS FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV HAS PRESENTED THE VIEWPOINT OF RUSSIA AND FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN THAT OF BRITAIN.

IN HIS JOUSTS WITH MOLOTOV AND SOVIET DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER ANDREI Y.VISHINSKY, CONNALLY'S TABLE-THUMPING ORATORY, WHICH HAS MADE HIM A PICTURESQUE FIGURE ON THE SENATE FLOOR, HAS PROVED A SHARP CONTRAST TO THE EUROPEAN TYPE OF DIPLOMACY.

MOLOTOV HAS SHUTTLED REGULARLY BETWEEN THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL SESSIONS WITH BYRNES, BEVIN AND MAURICE COUVE DE MURVILLE OF FRANCE IN MID-MANHATTAN TO LAKE SUCCESS AND FLUSHING MEADOW PARK.

LAST SATURDAY, AFTER THE STRENUOUSLY ARGUED PRELIMINARIES OF THE GERMAN PEACE, MOLOTOV TURNED UP LATE IN THE EVENING AT FLUSHING AFTER IT BECAME KNOWN BRITAIN WAS INTRODUCING A MEASURE FOR ON-THE-SPOT AUDITING OF TROOP CENSUS REPORTS AT HOME AND ABROAD.

THAT QUESTION WAS DEFERRED BY DEBATE ON INDIA'S COMPLAINT OF RACIAL DISCRIMINATION IN SOUTH AFRICA, WHICH LEFT MOLOTOV COOLING HIS HEELS IN AN ANTE ROOM. HE WENT HOME SILENTLY BUT HE TURNED UP AGAIN ON SUNDAY TO ARGUE THE BRITISH PROPOSAL.

CONNALLY, WHO WILL RETIRE FROM THE CHAIRMANSHIP OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE WHEN THE REPUBLICAN CONGRESS TAKE OVER IN JANUARY, HAS REMAINED IN THE HOTTEST SPOT ON THE AMERICAN DELEGATION

SENATOR ARTHUR VANDENBERG (R-MICH), WHO IS SLATED TO SUCCEED CONNALLY AS HEAD OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE AND MAY BE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE AS WELL, HAS APPEARED ALMOST SOLELY IN THE ROLE OF ECONOMY PREACHER BEFORE THE 54-NATION BUDGETARY COMMITTEE. IT WAS HE WHO BEAT DOWN THE ORIGINAL ASSESSMENT OF 49.89 PERCENT AGAINST THE UNITED STATES FOR THE U.N.'S 1947 ADMINISTRATIVE BUDGET, WHICH HAS BEEN TRIMMED TO SOMETHING OVER $20,000,000, AND WHO SAID THE UNITED STATES WOULD PAY 39.89 PERCENT FOR NEXT YEAR AND NO MORE THAN ONE-THIRD THEREAFTER.

TWO ALTERNATES, ADLAI STEVENSON, CHICAGO LAWYER, AND REP.HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS (D-CALIF), REPRESENT THE UNITED STATES ON THE ECONOMIC COMMITTEE; MRS.FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT ARGUES FORECFULLY WITH VISHINSKY IN THE SOCIAL PROBLEMS COMMITTEE OVER THE RETURN OF REFUGEES TO FACE UNCERTAIN FATES IN THEIR HOMELANDS; JOHN FOSTER DULLES, REPUBLICAN ATTORNEY, AND REP.SOL BLOOM (D-NY) WERE ASSIGNED TO THE IMPORTANT TRUSTEESHIP COMMITTEE; AND CHARLES FAHY, OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT, IS THE REPRESENTATIVE ON THE LEGAL COMMITTEE.

FORMER SENATOR WARREN R.AUSTIN (R-VT), WHO HEADS THE AMERICAN DELEGATION AND WHO WILL BECOME THE PERMANENT U.S. DELEGATE TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL IN JANUARY, REPRESENTS THE UNITED STATES ON THE 14-MEMBER ASSEMBLY STEERING COMMITTEE AND ON THE 54-NATION HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE. AUSTIN HAS BEEN HEARD FROM MAINLY IN THE COMMITTEE CONCERNED WITH CHOOSING A SITE FOR THE PERMANENT U.N. CAPITAL IN THE UNITED STATES.

AS A LATE-COMER INTO THE UNITED NATIONS SINCE HIS RESIGNATION FROM THE SENATE UPON APPOINTMENT BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL SEAT, AUSTIN HAS SPENT DAYS AND NIGHTS PORING OVER THE RECORDS OF WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE--AT SAN FRANCISCO, LONDON AND HERE--WITH THE EXPECTATION OF EMERGING INTO FULL-FLEDGED AND CONFIDENT LEADERSHIP.

BY CARLOS R. ESCUDERO
NEW YORK, DEC. 13-(AP)-CUBA SUGGESTED TODAY THAT MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS SHOULD WITHDRAW THEIR AMBASSADORS AND MINISTERS FROM "SUCH COUNTRIES AS POLAND, YUGOSLAVIA AND ROMANIA" AS A LOGICAL CONSEQUENCE OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S RECOMMENDATION THAT SUCH ACTION BE TAKEN AGAINST FRANCO SPAIN.

CUBAN AMBASSADOR GUILLERMO BELT OFFERED HIS SUGGESTION IN AN INTERVIEW AS GREAT BRITAIN BECAME THE FIRST COUNTRY TO INDICATE COMPLIANCE WITH THE ASSEMBLY'S SPANISH RESOLUTION. A BRITISH SPOKESMAN SAID THE BRITISH AMBASSADOR WOULD BE RECALLED FROM MADRID "VERY SHORTLY."

BELT SAID THAT COUNTRIES WHICH HAD FOUGHT SO TENACIOUSLY FOR ACTION AGAINST THE FRANCO GOVERNMENT SHOULD "BACK UP THEIR WORDS WITH DEEDS" AND WITHDRAW THEIR TOP DIPLOMATS FROM POLAND, YUGOSLAVIA, ROMANIA AND OTHER "SATELLITES" OF A COUNTRY HE DID NOT NAME.

HE DESCRIBED THE GOVERNMENTS IN THESE COUNTRIES AS HAVING "GREAT SIMILARITY WITH FRANCO'S."

POLISH DELEGATE OSCAR LANGE, COMMENTING ON THE CUBAN SUGGESTION, SAID "BELT'S ARGUMENT IS TOO RIDICULOUS TO BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY."

FRANCO'S REGIME, ALWAYS A SORE SPOT WITH THE U.N., HAD BEEN DEBATED AT POTSDAM, SAN FRANCISCO AND LONDON. ALL THAT EVER CAME OF THOSE DISCUSSIONS, HOWEVER, WERE STEPS BARRING SPAIN FROM THE U.N., AND MORAL CONDEMNATION OF THE REGIME.

THE SOVIET UNION, WHICH WANTED ECONOMIC SANCTIONS, LONG HAS SPEAR-HEADED THE DRIVE FOR POSITIVE ACTION. THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN CONSISTENTLY HAVE OPPOSED ANY SHOW OF FORCE. AN AMERICAN RESOLUTION SUBMITTED TO THIS SESSION ASKED THE U.N. TO RECOMMEND THAT FRANCO GIVE UP POWER AND TO CALL UPON THE PEOPLE OF SPAIN TO GET THEIR HOUSE IN ORDER AND QUALIFY FOR U.N. MEMBERSHIP.

SPAIN'S CASE WAS RAISED IN NEW YORK LAST SPRING BY POLAND, WHICH DEMANDED A WORLDWIDE SEVERANCE OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS. AFTER WEEKS OF DEBATE, INCLUDING LONG DISCUSSIONS OF A REPORT BY A SUB-COMMITTEE, THE COUNCIL FAILED TO AGREE. IN THE END RUSSIA VETOED A COMPROMISE RESOLUTION ON GROUNDS IT WAS "TOOTHLESS."

POLAND THEN BROUGHT THE CASE BEFORE THE ASSEMBLY WITH VIRTUALLY THE SAME DEMANDS, AND WHITE RUSSIA CAME IN SOON AFTERWARD WITH A CALL FOR SANCTIONS. ADD-NY-BRIT. RECALL ENVOY-WYK AFRICA.

FOREIGN MINISTERS (500)

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

NEW YORK, DEC. 13-(AP)-DIPLOMATIC OFFICIALS OF RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN POWERS AGREED TODAY THAT THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS MEETING IN NEW YORK HAD MADE GREAT PROGRESS TOWARDS THE ESTABLISHMENT OF REAL PEACE IN EUROPE AND THE WORLD.

IN THE VIEW OF AMERICAN AND BRITISH DIPLOMATS PERHAPS THE MOST IMPORTANT SINGLE DISCLOSURE OF THE MEETING WAS A CHANGE IN DIRECTION OF RUSSIAN FOREIGN POLICY. THIS MADE POSSIBLE COMPLETION OF THE PEACE TREATIES WITH ITALY, BULGARIA, HUNGARY, ROMANIA AND FINLAND, AND AGREEMENT ON A PROGRAM FOR TACKLING A GERMAN PEACE SETTLEMENT AT MOSCOW MARCH 10.

THE NEW YORK CONFERENCE ENDED LAST NIGHT AFTER ALMOST SIX WEEKS OF DAILY MEETINGS THAT RAN TO 122 THE TOTAL NUMBER OF SESSIONS THE BIG FOUR HAS HELD ON THE SATELLITE PEACE TREATIES THIS YEAR.

SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V. M. MOLOTOV WHOSE CONCESSIONS ON TRIESTE AND MANY LESSER ISSUES MADE POSSIBLE COMPLETION OF THE TREATIES HERE, TOLD HIS COLLEAGUES THAT "WE ACCOMPLISHED AN ENORMOUS AMOUNT OF WORK IN PARIS," AT THE PEACE CONFERENCE AND BIG FOUR CONFERENCES AND AT THE EARLIER MEETINGS IN LONDON IN THE FALL OF 1945.

MOLOTOV, SECRETARYOF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES, BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN, AND FRENCH DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER MAURICE COUVE DE MURVILLE, ALL AGREED THAT -- AS BYRNES EXPRESSED IT -- "THE EXPERIENCES OF THE MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL IN THE NEGOTIATIONS OF THESE FIVE TREATIES WILL BE OF GREAT VALUE TO US IN THE CONSIDERATION OF THE GERMAN TREATY."

"WE KNOW EACH OTHER BETTER," BYRNES TOLD HIS COLLEAGUES, "WE KNOW THE PROBLEM, AND I LOOK FORWARD WITH CONFIDENCE TO THE SOLUTION OF THE VERY DIFFICULT PROBLEMS INVOLVED IN THE GERMAN TREATY."

SINCE IT HAD PREVIOUSLY BEEN DECIDED TO BEGIN HEARINGS FOR SMALL NATIONS ON GERMANY IN LONDON IN JANUARY, AND TO SIGN THE FIVE SATELLITE TREATIES AT PARIS FEB. 10 PRELIMINARY TO THE BIG FOUR MEETING IN MOSCOW MARCH 10, LAST NIGHT'S FINAL MEETING WAS DEVOTED LARGELY TO CLEARING AWAY DETAILS OF DECISIONS ALREADY MADE.

THE ONLY CONTROVERSIAL POINT DECIDED, DUE TO ANOTHER CONCESSION BY MOLOTOV, WAS GREEMENT THAT CIVIL AIRPLANES SHOULD HAVE THE RIGHT TO MAKE DISTRESS LANDINGS IN THE FIVE FORMER ENEMY COUNTRIES.

OF THE BROADER POLITICAL QUESTIONS RAISED BY DEVELOPMENTS IN THE BIG FOUR CONFERENCE AND BY PARALLEL EVENTS IN THE UNITED NATIONS, BY FAR THE MOST WIDELY DISCUSSED WAS THAT OF RUSSIA'S CHANGED DIPLOMACY. STME EXPERTS SUM IT UP AS REFLECTING A DESIRE ON THE PART OF THE KREMLIN, AND PARTICULARLY ON MOLOTOV'S PART, TO GET ALONG WITH OTHER GOVERNMENTS RATHER THAN HAVE CONSTANT TROUBLE AND FRICTION WITH THEM.

THIS IS IN SHARP CONTRAST TO RUSSIA'S OVERALL POLICIES AND METHODS DURING EARLIER CONFERENCES WHEN THE SOVIET UNION AND THE WESTERN POWERS WERE CONSTANTLY AT LOGGERHEADS. THE QUESTION WHICH IS WITHOUT ANSWER HERE SO FAR AS NON-RUSSIAN OFFICIALS ARE CONCERNED IS WHETHER THIS CHANGE MARKS A BAZIC RE-DIRECTION OF SOVIET FOREIGN POLICY OR WHETHER IT IS TACTICAL MANEUVER WHICH LEAVES RUSSIA'S LONG-RANGE OBJECTIVES UNCHANGED.

WESTERN DIPLOMATS GENERALLY LEAN TO THE IDEA THAT THERE IS NO EVIDENCE YET OF ANY TRULY FUNDAMENTAL SHIFT IN RUSSIAN OBJECTIVES, BUT BELIEVE THAT THIS NEED NOT BADLY OFFSET THE VIEW THAT AT A CRITICAL PERIOD IN WORLD HISTORY, THE EASTERN AND WESTERN POWERS HAVE SHOWN THEMSELVES ABLE TO COME TO AGREEMENT ON MAJOR, HIGHLY CONTROVERSIAL ISSUES.

BY MARC PURDUE

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC.13-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE, HAVING DECIDED TO ACCEPT JOHN D.ROCKEFELLER, JR.'S PROFFERED GIFT OF AN $8,500,000 PIECE OF MANHATTAN REAL ESTATE, WILL MEET THIS AFTERNOON TO EMPOWER SECRETARY-GENERAL TRYGVE LIE TO ACCEPT THE PROPERTY.

BOTH STEPS WERE CONTAINED IN A UNITED STATES RESOLUTION PRESENTED TO THE COMMITTEE LAST NIGHT BY WARREN R.AUSTIN, CHIEF U.S.DELEGATE, WHICH, WHEN ADOPTED BY THE COMMITTEE, WILL BE SUBMITTED FOR APPROVAL OF THE ENTIRE U.N. ASSEMBLY.

THE VOTE IN THE 54-NATION COMMITTEE ENDORSING THE FIRST CLAUSE OF AUSTIN'S RESOLUTION, THAT ACCEPTING THE ROCKEFELLER GIFT, WAS 33 TO 7, WITH SIX DELEGATES ABSTAINING. EIGHT COMMITTEE MEMBERS WERE ABSENT OR DID NOT PARTICIPATE IN THE VOTE.

THE ACTION MAY END MORE THAN A YEAR OF INDECISION AND WRANGLING OVER THE LOCATION OF THE WORLD PEACE CAPITAL, A DEBATE WHICH APPEARED SETTLED BY A DECISION TO SETTLE IN WESTCHESTER COUNTY, N.Y., VOTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN LONDON EARLY THIS YEAR.

THIS DECISION IS REPEALED UNDER PROVISIONS OF AUSTIN'S RESOLUTION.

ADVOCATES OF SAN FRANCISCO AND THE PRESIDIO IN THAT CITY IN PARTICULAR, STAGED A BITTER LAST DITCH FIGHT AGAINST NEW YORK AS THE U.N. HOME, UNDER AUSTRALIA'S LEADERSHIP.

AUSTRALIAN DELEGATE NORMAN J.O. MAKIN DECLARED THE COMMITTEE WAS BEING IMPOSED UPON IN BEING ASKED TO ACCEPT AN OFFER WHICH HAD BEEN

BEFORE IT LESS THAN 40 HOURS. HE WAS VEHEMENT IN HIS DENUNCIATION OF A HASTY DECISION AND WAS JOINED BY REPRESENTATIVES OF INDIA, SAUDI ARABIA, IRAQ, EGYPT, LEBANON AND SYRIA. FRANCE, WHICH ALSO OBJECTED TO THE SPEEDY ACCEPTANCE OF THE MANHATTAN SITE, ABSTAINED FROM VOTING.

CHINA ABANDONED THE RANKS OF THOSE ADVOCATING SAN FRANCISCO AND VOTED FOR NEW YORK.

THE ROCKEFELLER OFFER INCLUDES APPROXIMATELY 18 ACRES OF LAND BETWEEN FIRST AVENUE AND FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT DRIVE AND EXTENDING FROM FORTY-SECOND TO FORTY-EIGHTH STREET ON MANHATTAN'S MIDTOWN EAST SIDE.

PARTICULARLY JUBILANT OVER THE SPEEDY END OF THE COMMITTEE'S EXHAUSTIVE DISCUSSIONS OF THE SITE ISSUE WAS GEORGI SAKSIN, SOVIET DELEGATE WHO LAST WEEK HAD DECLARED RUSSIAN DELEGATES WOULD NOT ATTEND U.N. SESSIONS IF THE PERMANENT HEADQUARTERS WERE NOT LOCATED ON THE EAST COAST OF THE UNITED STATES, PREFERABLY IN OR NEAR NEW YORK CITY.

B5 (SCEG)
IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, THE DECISION TO ACCEPT ROCKEFELLER'S OFFER AND THE COROLLARY NEW YORK CITY OFFER TO PROVIDE ADJOINING SMALL TRACTS TO ROUND OUT THE SITE, WILL REQUIRE A TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY FOR RATIFICATION. BUT IT WAS EXPECTED TODAY THAT DELEGATIONS ABSENT FROM THE COMMITTEE LAST NIGHT AND A POSSIBLE CHANGE OF ATTITUDE BY NEW YORK'S OPPONENTS WOULD PROVIDE THE NECESSARY 36 VOTES.

THE COMMITTEE'S VOTE ELIMINATED FOR THE PRESENT TWO OTHER STRONG CONTENDERS FOR THE HEADQUARTERS SITE IN ADDITION TO SAN FRANCISCO -- THE CITIES OF PHILADELPHIA AND BOSTON.

A SUB-COMMITTEE, WHICH INSPECTED THE SITE OFFERED BY ROCKEFELLER, AND THE AREA NOW OCCUPIED BY GARAGES, BARS, SLAUGHTER HOUSES AND TENEMENTS IN A NEIGHBORHOOD NOTED FOR "DEAD END KIDS," REPORTED IT WOULD BE "EXCELLENT FOR CONSTRUCTION OF A VERTICLE TYPE HEADQUARTERS."

THE U.N. SECRETARIAT ALREADY WAS PLANNING AN INTERNATIONAL COMPETITION TO SELECT THE ARCHITECT FOR WHAT WAS GENERALLY ASSUMED WOULD BE A SKYSCRAPER DEVELOPMENT RESEMBLING ROCKEFELLER CENTER.

THE FIRST STEP IN SELECTING A U.N. HOME WAS THE ASSEMBLY'S DECISION IN LONDON THAT IT SHOULD BE IN THE UNITED STATES. APPROVING A PREPARATORY COMMISSION'S REPORT, IT VOTED TO SETTLE IN WESTCHESTER COUNTY, N.Y., OR FAIRFIELD COUNTY, CONN., AND ESTABLISHED A COMMISSION TO SELECT THE BEST SITE IN THAT AREA.

THE COMMISSION'S EXPLORATIONS OF THE TWO COUNTIES JUST NORTH OF NEW YORK CITY AND ITS SELECTION OF FIVE POSSIBLE LOCATIONS IN WESTCHESTER COUNTY BROUGHT PROTESTS FROM RESIDENTS WHO OBJECTED TO BEING MOVED FROM THEIR HOMES TO MAKE WAY FOR THE U.N.

LAST MONTH, DURING THE CURRENT ASSEMBLY SESSION, THE QUESTION WAS REOPENED AT UNITED STATES' INSISTENCE AND THE COMMITTEE WAS INSTRUCTED TO GIVE CONSIDERATION TO SAN FRANCISCO, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON AND NEW YORK SITES. A SUB-COMMITTEE TRAVELED TO INSPECT THE OFFERS IN THESE CITIES AT A COST OF APPROXIMATELY $34,000, BUT ITS REPORT THAT SAN FRANCISCO AND PHILADELPHIA WERE OF EQUAL MERIT PROVOKED RUSSIA'S ADAMANT STAND FOR THE EAST COAST AND A SUBSEQUENT U.S. MOVE TO POSTPONE ANY DECISION UNTIL NEXT YEAR.

THEN ROCKEFELLER'S OFFER WAS MADE AND AUSTIN RUSHED IT TO THE COMMITTEE. THERE IT WAS RECEIVED WITH OBVIOUS RELIEF BY ALL MEMBERS EXCEPT THE SAN FRANCISCO LOYALISTS.

MOSCOW, DEC.13-(AP)-THE ELECTION OF LEON BLUM AS HEAD OF THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT WAS PROMINENTLY REPORTED IN MOSCOW TODAY, BUT WITHOUT IMMEDIATE EDITORIAL COMMENT BY THE SOVIET PRESS OR RADIO.

A DECLARATION BY THE FRENCH COMMUNIST DEPUTY, JACQUES DUCLOS, THAT "WE ARE GOING TO VOTE FOR BLUM, BUT TODAY'S BALLOTING DOES NOT PREDETERMINE THE POSITION WE MAY ADOPT TOMORROW" WAS LIKEWISE PUBLISHED AND WAS NOT WITHOUT INTEREST TO THE RUSSIANS.

THE FRENCH POLITICAL SITUATION HAS BEEN FOLLOWED WITH GREAT INTEREST BY THE RUSSIANS AND THE EDITORIALS AND COMMENTATORS HAVE BEEN CAREFULLY OBJECTIVE IN APPRAISING THE DEVELOPMENTS.

WHAT THE RUSSIANS CONSIDER A DEMOCRATIC FRANCE, REPRESENTATIVE OF THE PEOPLE, IS GREATLY DESIRED HERE AND THE GENERAL IMPRESSION IS THAT THE FRENCH HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO ACHIEVE THIS -- IF LEFT TO GO THEIR OWN WAY.

U. N. VOTES TO LOCATE IN NEW YORK

EAST SIDE SITE ACCEPTED FOR HEADQUARTERS

Arms Cut Program Wins Unanimous Approval—Troop Census Waits

New York, Dec. 14—(AP)—The United Nations General Assembly tonight picked Manhattan's East Side for its permanent capital. The vote was 46 to 7. Haiti was absent.

Wading through a long list of problems still clogging the agenda, the Assembly also approved unanimously a resolution providing for a world conference on freedom of information in 1947, presumably to be held in New York.

The Assembly greeted the result with great applause.

The action, taken in about 30 minutes of short, snappy discussion, climaxed a year's search for a permanent home for the new world peace agency.

San Francisco and Philadelphia were the principal contenders at the end until John D. Rockefeller Jr., presented his surprise offer of $8,500,000 to buy land for a site in Manhattan's East Side.

In the final voting, Australia, Egypt, El Salvador, Iraq, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Syria cast ballots against New York City.

Australia and the Arab states thus carried to the end their fight against New York. Australia favored San Francisco in the long contest.

The Headquarters Committee proposed that the Assembly accept the site unanimously and thanked Rockefeller for his offer to buy the land for the skyscraper capital.

Chairman Quits Sick Bed

Eduardo Zuleta Angel, of Colombia, chairman of the committee, who has been suffering a heart attack, left his hospital bed to come to the Assembly and make his report.

The Assembly took up the site question immediately after returning from its dinner recess. Warren R. Austin, former United States senator and now chief of the United States delegation to the Assembly, asked for unanimous consent to move the site item ahead of a number of other minor matters on the still-crowded agenda in deference to the chairman's illness.

Earlier today Russia lost her fight to lay open the American atomic bomb secrets immediately but the United Nations Assembly approved a universally acclaimed plan for arms reduction which would in time, scrap all weapons of mass destruction.

Arms Program Hailed

Optimism over the arms program was the keynote as Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov sailed for home with American assurance that international control of atomic energy with step-by-step disclosure of all the facts would be given top priority in the plan to discard.

The optimism was reflected as away as Moscow where the government newspaper Izvestia declared the work of the United Nations and Foreign Ministers Council here had been "fruitful" and "substantial." The paper said that "one cannot fail to see a substantial achievement benefitting the cause of international peace."

These developments came after Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Molotov had addressed the Assembly.

The secretariat gave up hopes of final adjournment tonight and scheduled plenary sessions for 2:30 P. M. E. S. T. and 8 P. M. E. S. T. tomorrow. A long list of speakers remain on a number of matters before the final gavel falls but the assembly's major work was done.

The arms reduction program was approved unanimously this morning amid a wave of applause in the Flushing Meadows Assembly Hall.

Russia Suffers Setback

The 54-member nations then turned down by a vote of 36 to 6, the Russian demand for an immediate global census of troops and all armaments to implement a long-range proposal for their reduction to the size of a peacekeeping police force.

As Molotov boarded the liner Queen Elizabeth he commented that results were "as satisfactory to the Soviet delegation as they are to the other delegations."

Bevin, taking the same ship for home, said the ministers had "cleared away a good deal of the debris of misunderstanding and conflict and we can now proceed to lay the foundation of a durable peace."

Budget Action Taken

Other U. N. developments at today's plenary sessions included:

1—Approval of U. N. administrative budgets of $19,390,000 for 1946 and $27,740,000 for 1947 and establishment of a working capital fund of $20,000,000. The United States contribution finally was scaled down from 49.89 per cent to 39.89 per cent. Russia will pay 6.34 per cent and Great Britain 11.48 per cent.

2—Setting up of the U. N.'s last major body to be formed—the Trusteeship Council—with the election of Mexico and Iraq to the last two seats. Great Britain, France, Belgium, Australia and New Zealand, as administering states for eight former League mandates, and the United States, Russia and China, as members of the Big Five, automatically were seated.

3. Rejected by 37 to 0 a South African request for outright annexation of the mandated territory of South West Africa. The Assembly then recommended that the territory be submitted for U. N. trusteeship.

Security Council's Task

The Assembly action on the arms question gave the Security Council the task of formulating a detailed plan which will be submitted to a special session of the Assembly and then to the individual nations for ratification.

The resolution recommended action to prohibit atomic weapons and other means of mass destruction and called for controls to ensure that atomic energy will be used only for peaceful purposes. The set up also provides for an international system of inspection free of the Security Council veto to detect and prevent violations of arms reduction agreements.

To replace the rejected Russian plan for an immediate inventory of all troops and armaments, the Assembly recommended that the Security Council decide what information member nations should be asked to report.

EAST SIDERS LIKE U.N.'S SITE OFFER

New York Area Residents Welcome Rockefeller Bid

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—In general, those who live and work on the East River site offered the United Nations as a permanent home by John D. Rockefeller, gave that body as warm a welcome today as it has received in its long hunt for quarters.

Known locally as "Turtle Bay" since the days of Washington Irving, the area, now bounded by Forty-second and Forty-eighth streets and First avenue and Franklin D. Roosevelt drive, contains some history—and some irony, if the United Nations settle there.

Optimists And Pessimists

At the exact center of the proposed location, where the United States and Britain with other nations may pursue peace, the British tried and hanged Nathan Hale as a spy in the War of Independence. Near by, on September 15, 1776, the British landed and took possession of Manhattan to the consternation of Gen. George Washington.

Since the area was rich farmland it was changed until today meatpacking plants and machine shops shoulder gray warehouses and ramshackle tenements between the roar of midtown traffic and the moaning of ship's whistles on the river.

Like any area it breeds optimists and pessimists, idealists and pragmatists.

Wants Fit Place To Live In

Take Julius Weiner, who with his partner, Jack Neucoff, returned recently from army service overseas to run an auto service station.

"The United Nations are going to make the world a fit place to live in," Weiner said. "A few little guys like us don't make any difference. We don't like to have to move, but if it does any good I'm for it. Besides, any veteran knows griping won't get you anywhere. If an outfit's for a thing you've got to go along."

C. F. McCarthy, in charge of the Michigan Maple Block Company, said that while he didn't mind moving, why wouldn't it be better to erect a low-cost housing development instead of "another Rockefeller Center for the United Nations?"

Beautiful Monument Seen

"Why don't they stay on Long Island," cried tavern customers. "What about the housing shortage?"

Down First avenue Morris Getz, owner of a food shop, visualized himself participating in a great historical event. He sees the proposed structure as a beautiful monument on a grand scale to the inherent good will of man.

"Maybe they'll need my food shop to fed the crews who demolish these buildings," he added, "then to feed the crews who put up the new ones. But it will be nice anyway, whether I stay or go."

U.N. Okays Plan On Arms, Turns Down Census

John Fabris

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—The General Assembly of the United Nations today gave final approval to a basic plan for world-wide arms reduction and then rejected a proposal for an immediate international troop census.

The arms-limitation plan was approved unanimously amid a wave of applause. In rejecting an immediate troop census, the Assembly overrode vigorous Russian opposition.

By a vote of 36 to 6, the 54-nation body decided to refer the question of troop and arms data to the Security Council with a recommendation that the Council decide what information member nations should be asked to report.

Russian Position

The Russians had insisted on an immediate accounting of all troops stationed outide their home territories.

The Assembly's action thus gave the Security Council the task of formulating a detailed plan of arms limitation, which will be submitted later to a special session of the Assembly and then to individual nations for ratifications, and in addition gave it the final say on the troop census.

The resolution recommends action to prohibit atomic weapons and other means of mass destruction and calls for controls to insure that atomic energy in the future will be used only for peaceful purposes. It also provides for an international system of inspection free of the veto to detect and prevent violations of arms-reduction agreements.

Trusteeship Council

The Assembly took final action to set up a trusteeship council which will supervise the government of the millions of nonself-governing people throughout the world.

The Assembly decided that Mexico and Iraq would sit on the Council as the only two elective members, along with the eight nations which get automatic membership under terms of the Charter.

Mexico received 36 votes and Iraq 34. Both were chosen on the first ballot.

Former League Mandates

Under the Charter, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Australia and New Zealand become members as administrators of the eight former League of Nations mandates which have been placed under trusteeship. The United States, Russia and China get their seats as nonadministering members under a Charter requirement that the Big Five powers shall sit either as administering or nonadministering powers.

The Charter provides that enough members shall be elected to keep an equal balance between administering and nonadministering states.

Major Speeches

The Assembly's action on the arms plan came after major speeches last night by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, all of whom threw their support behind the arms plan.

While expressing complete accord with the United States and Britain in the arms-slash program, Molotov yesterday charged that America's stock pile of atomic bombs had been built up for use against foreign territory and not for defense.

U.S. Troop Figure

Molotov's declaration was one highlight of a pace-setting Assembly session that included these decisive steps along the road toward peace and security:

1. Byrnes disclosed to the world the disposition of all American troops outside United States borders, setting the figure "at less than 550,000."

2. Bevin said his country was ready to supply any information desired, and reported that Britain had slashed its forces from "over 6,000,000 to well below a million" and observed that after occupation commitments had been discharged the figure would go down even further.

Resolution On Veto

3. By a vote of 36 to 6, with Russia dissenting, the Assembly adopted a watered-down resolution on the controversial Security-Council veto which does little more than urge the Big Five to use their special voting privilege more sparingly.

Byrnes, making his first platform appearance before the Assembly here, surprised the delegates by naming the countries where American soldiers were billeted and then set down the exact figures on all units outside former Axis territory.

In giving the troop count, the Secretary of State thus backed up what delegates of his Government have repeatedly told the world assembly—"the United States has nothing to hide."

Byrnes announced first that most of the American troops abroad were in ex-enemy territory—Germany, Japan, the Japanese islands, Korea, Austria and Trieste.

96,000 In Philippines

He then gave these specific figures on others:

The Philippines—96,000 military personnel, including 30,000 combat troops.

China—19,000 troops, with 15,000 of them combat men.

Panama—1,500.

Byrnes declared that the United States had no combat units in any other country of the world.

Reporting on noncombat military personnel, he said the United States had 600 men in Iceland and 300 in the Azores.

Molotov told the Assembly that disarmament would be hailed with a sigh of relief in all countries, but added that "there is still frenzied propaganda in favor of a new war."

"Not For Defense"

Turning to the atomic bomb, the Soviet Foreign Minister said:

"It is clear that atomic weapons are not for defense and, therefore, when people tell us of their interest in the defense of their countries it goes without saying that such defense is not by atomic bombs. The atomic bomb is not destined for use in one's own country. Its destination is in another territory."

In his address preceding Molotov's, Byrnes had said:

"We are willing to share our knowledge of atomic weapons with the rest of the world on the condition, and only on the condition, that other nations submit, as we are willing to submit, to internationally controlled inspection and safeguards."

Budgets For '46, '47 Voted In U.N. Assembly

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—The United Nations Assembly today approved an administrative budget providing for expenditures of $19,390,000 in 1946 and $27,740,000 in 1947.

The Assembly also approved:

A working capital of $20,000,000 instead of $25,000,000 as originally proposed.

A scale of contributions under which the United States would pay 39.89 per cent of administrative costs for 1947, instead of 49.89 per cent, which the United States has refused to pay.

Contribution percentages assessed on other nations varied from 11.48 for Great Britain and 6.34 for Soviet Russia to .04 per cent for several small countries, including Costa Rica, Haiti, Paraguay, Iceland and Nicaragua.

Bevin, Molotov Sail For Home

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Foreign Ministers of Russia and Great Britain left for their homes today aboard the Queen Elizabeth, each expressing in varied degree satisfaction over the results of the Foreign Ministers Conference.

Through an interpreter, Russian Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov said the results were "as satisfactory to the Soviet delegation as they are to the other delegations."

Britain's Ernest Bevin asserted the Big Four conference had "cleared away a good deal of the debris of misunderstanding and conflict and we can now proceed to lay the foundation of a durable peace."

Hopeful Future

Molotov expressed confidence that the forthcoming session of the Foreign Ministers in Moscow, when the peace treaty with Germany will be considered, "will be as much successful."

Bevin, returning home accompanied by his wife and officials of his party, said that after eighteen months of effort the Foreign Ministers had completed their tasks on five treaties and "disposed of a number of other difficulties."

He expressed appreciation to the people of the United States and their Government for "very great kindnesses," adding that "the sun of peace is rising. May 1947 see it come out in all it fullness."

JINNAH BARS COURT ARBITER

Won't Leave Moslem-Hindu Issue to Judicial Ruling.

London, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, declared today that he would trust no court to resolve the fundamental issues at stake in the Moslem-Hindu dispute.

Calling on Britain to stand behind the Indian independence plan formulated by a Cabinet mission and announced on May 16, last, he told a news conference: "I cannot understand why his Majesty's Government adopted the course of taking legal advice to interpret the independence plan, seeing that it was the author of the proposals." In an effort to bring about agreement between the Hindus and the Moslems on the grouping of provinces in an independent India, Britain proposed this month that the dispute—which is threatening the entire independence plan—be submitted to the Federal Court of India for settlement. The predominantly Hindu All-India Congress party has agreed to this.

Jinnah today described himself as spokesman for 100,000,000 Moslems—the chief Indian minority. Making his last statement before his departure tomorrow for India, he warned of the possibility of further outbreaks of communal strife there. "If his Majesty's Government and Parliament do not realize the gravity of the situation and handle this issue boldly and frankly," he declared, "frankly, I'm afraid things will get worse."

Jinnah accused the Congress party leaders of preparing to "torpedo completely" the Moslem demands for Pakistan (the separation of Moslem from Hindu provinces). "Separation is the only practical way of solving this complicated problem," he said. "The sooner the British decide that, the better. Divide India: Pakistan and Hindustan. We cannot participate in this Constituent Assembly (meeting in New Delhi to draft a constitution) until and unless the Congress party is prepared to accept the long-term scheme."

Commons Facing Transport Battle

London, Dec. 14 (AP)—Political leaders ranged themselves today for the biggest parliamentary battle of this session in next week's House of Commons debate on the labor measure to nationalize Britain's railroads, road and canal transport and port facilities.

Minority leader Winston Churchill, expecting unanimous Conservative support, has announced he will ask for the censure of the Government.

Calling for Government acquisition of all forms of inland transport except road haulage concerns operating over distances of less than 40 miles, the bill is scheduled for second reading Monday.

With its lop-sided Labor majority, the Government expects to push the measure through both houses and before the end of the year transfer transport operations to a powerful five-man Government commission.

A huge sum will be involved in this ambitious undertaking, one of the two biggest Socialist measures since the Labor Government rose to power last year.

The bill authorizes the commission to borrow up to $1,000,000,000 to carry on its work, and the value of Britain transport stock to be issued in compensation for the acquisition of railways, canals and London passenger transport is $4,260,000,000.

Loud protests against the Government's plans have already come from the Stock Exchange, insurance companies and investment trusts complaining income from their transport investments will be reduced sharply.

'Ungrateful,' Eden Calls Russ Critics

London, Dec. 14 (AP)—Anthony Eden, former British Foreign Secretary, described as "ungracious" tonight what he said was Russian criticism of British-American wartime convoy methods. Eden said 91.6 per cent of all the war material shipped by the perilous Archangel route reached Russia safely.

Answering charges he said were made recently in the Russian Navy journal Red Fleet and republished today in British newspapers that the British Admiralty improperly organized one convoy, Eden said in a speech:

"It seems to me . . . it was ungracious that our rally should single out the fate of one convoy for remonstrance."

Eden did not reply to Red Fleet allegations that American merchant seamen left their ships "at the first danger."

British Blast Russ Views On Convoys

London, Dec. 14 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman, retorting to Moscow criticism about the handling of convoys to Russia during the war, said today that the Soviet tried to belittle her Allies' work.

He was commenting on an article in the Soviet Navy journal, Red Fleet, republished in British newspapers today, which said the British Admiralty did not properly organize a convoy of 37 transports that set out in June, 1942, for Archangel and that crews of American transports left their ships "at first danger. Only eleven ships reached Archangel.

"These reflections upon the conduct of Anglo-American convoy operations do not cause much surprise here," the spokesman said, "in view of the attitude of the Russion press during the war.

"It was noticed that the Soviet press played down the grand efforts and sacrifices endured by her Allies in bringing assistance to Russia. It looked as if they deliberately withheld information from the Russian people."

Range To Test Rockets Planned In Australia

London, Dec. 14 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. John Fullerton Evetts, British rocket specialist, sailed today for Australia to assist in establishing a range for testing guided missiles and other long-range weapons.

Because of the lack of space in the United Kingdom, Australia agreed to provide space for an initial 300-mile range for the full-scale testing of Britain's developments in the rocket field. Later the range may be enlarged.

Held Captive By Kin, Claim Of 'Deserter'

London, Dec. 14 (AP)—Thomas Crossan, convicted of desertion from the Irish Guards Regiment of the British Army, testified today that his British-hating grandmother kept him prisoner in Southern Ireland when he visited her on leave.

Crossan, 22, who was a.w.o.l. for more than a year, was convicted by a court-martial and sentenced to 112 days' detention. He said his grandmother, 70, took away his money and army papers, locked his bedroom door at night and made him work on her farm, 15 miles from a police station. He finally escaped on a bicycle smuggled to him by another guardsman.

The grandmother, in a letter produced at the trial, said:

"My policy being against a man from Eire joining the British forces, I decided to do all in my power to stop my grandson crossing to England."

Vicar Would Omit Christmas Day News

Malvern, England, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Rev. H. J. Freiensener, Malvern vicar, appealed to the British Broadcasting Corporation today to omit news broadcasts on Christmas Day.

"We can do without news for one day," he said, "so will the BBC. Let us forget Russia and Greece and riots, and concentrate on the peace which God offers."

British newspapers do not publish on Christmas.

Leon Blum Awaiting Word Of Communists

Paris, Dec. 14 (AP)—Leon Blum, Socialist Premier, awaited tonight word from the Communists that would permit him to announce formation of a caretaker Cabinet.

Maurice Thorez, France's No. 1 Communist, and Jacques Duclos, the party secretary, held three conferences during the day with Blum, but they were still unable to say whether they approved Blum's governmental program. They shuttled between Blum's quarters and the Communist Central Committee.

Blum has given no indication of how far apart he and the Communists remained, but Thorez, after leaving the third conference said, "Formation of the government doesn't depend on us."

It appeared that Blum was remaining adamant on including the Popular Republican movement (MRP) in the Cabinet and possibly retaining the MRP's Georges Bidault and Robert Schuman as Foreign Minister and Finance Minister.

Blum Hopes Cabinet Will Be Formed Tonight

Paris, Dec. 14 (AP)—Socialist Premier Leon Blum, beginning his third day of political conferences, said today that he hoped "ardently" to form a new Cabinet by tonight.

High on his appointment list this morning was Marius Moutet, Colonial Minister in the recently resigned provisional cabinet of Georges Bidault of the M.R.P. (Popular Republican Movement).

Reds Balk At Spread

Meanwhile, the Communist party served notice once again that it would not support a coalition government covering a spread of France's parties from left to right.

The Assembly at yesterday's session approved the following apportionment of additional seats for the new upper house of Parliament, the Council of the Republic:

Communists, 12; Socialists, 7; MRP, 12; Leftist Rally, 5; Liberal Republican, 3 Independents, 2, and Independent Moslems, 2.

This raised MRP strength in the council to 74, the Communists to 73 and the Socialists to 44.

German Town's Economic Ruin Held Shocking

U. S. Report on a 'Sample' Locality Tells of Hungry Children Living in Hovels

WIESBADEN, Germany, Dec. 14 (AP)—Colonel James R. Newman, American military governor of Greater Hesse, disclosed today a grim story of human wreckage in a German town where babies clothed in rags barely survive in crowded, rain-drenched ruins.

Newman made this comment:

"The report is shocking and deplorable. It concludes that the population is falling into nihilism and children are sinking into moral decay and misery.

Try to Teach Democracy

"We realize that suffering is as great, or many times greater in other, non-enemy countries. But at the same time, our mission here is to teach the German youth democracy. We are attempting to do that by alleviating misery such as this."

The investigator's report follows in part:

"Kostheim is a town of 11,200 persons in Wiesbaden's suburbs. Its population has increased 50 per cent since 1939. At the same time, housing space has diminished by 40 per cent because of war damage.

"In Kostheim, 2.3 per cent of children come to school bare-footed. Ten per cent have no shoes and are able to attend school only if the mother, father or one of the brothers or sisters stays at home. Thirty per cent have no lunch, 13 per cent come to school with empty stomachs and 14 per cent possess no stockings.

"A sample questioning of one class room showed 50 per cent of the children sleep two and three in a bed. A number of the children were absent with scabies. Others were kept away to go scavenging. Fourteen-year-old boys were found late at night begging cigarette butts outside American houses.

Approximately 25 per cent of the children are undernourished. 50 per cent of the students at one school have disposition for rickets.

Homes Are Breeding Grounds

"The homes of the school-children are breeding grounds for vermin, contagious diseases and the decay of morals and decency among youth. Large numbers of families live in over-crowded barracks and air shelters built during the war.

"In one flat, a family of nine lives in three small rooms. The family includes two children over 15 years of age. For all the family there are only two beds. One did not have a mattress. There was no bed or table linen.

"Owing to the damaged roofs of the barracks, the rainwater runs along the walls. The floor-boards have become rotten and the loamy soil on which the barracks are built can be seen.

"The same conditions prevailed in other quarters.

"In all, the youth is neglected to a shocking extent. The result on the population is a growing abnegation of the church and lethargy towards contemporary affairs."

As a result of the report, Newman announced that committees, of military government personel, American dependents, German officials and philanthropists were being formed to help children in such towns, and that American soldiers were intensifying their efforts to aid by means of parties and youth education.

Smugglers Thrive In Aachen, Other War Battle Areas

Aachen, Germany, Dec. 14 (AP)—The three famous battle areas of Ardennes, Hurtgen Forest and Aachen—engraved into the history books two years ago with the blood of British and American soldiers—today have become the scenes of a great smuggling operation.

It is estimated that more than $1,000,000 worth of illicit goods monthly are crossing the German-Belgian-Netherlands frontier.

British border guards say that much of the smuggling is being done by Allied soldiers—British, American, Belgian and Polish. Some of these men may once have fought in these same areas, although almost all the soldiers who saw combat here either have gone home or rest in near-by Belgian cemeteries.

Hub Of Operations

This battered city of Aachen (Aix-La-Chapelle) first large German city to fall to American arms, is the hub of the smuggling operations, so large that the chief British intelligence officer of the area described them as "fantastic."

A handful of British border guards, aided by regulation-bound German police and none-too-enthusiastic Belgian soldiers, are trying to halt the smugglers.

The loot going into Belgium includes jewels, furs, radios, kitchenware, automobiles and needles. Coming out of Belgium are coffee, food and cigarettes.

Needlework Looted

Three times in the last six months, large needleworks in Aachen have been burgled of millions of needles, which days later popped up in Brussels.

A typical deal works this way: Two pounds of coffee from Belgium, smuggled into Germany, are traded for a silver fox fur. The fur, smuggled into Brussels, may bring the equivalent of $100 or more.

Smuggled goods go over the frontier in soldiers' knapsacks, in suitcases and by truckloads. Although mile after mile of the border is mined, the smugglers know paths through the mine fields which the guards do not.

Thousands of GI's now at home will remember these mine fields in the gloomy Huertgen Forest and Ardennes.

Deserters In Area

Many American deserters, who are living by their wits with German girl friends, are reported to be in the area.

Lieutenant Aubrey Coward, of Memphis, Tenn., head of a small military police unit assigned as rail guards, said his men a few days ago picked up a United States deserter who had stolen a truck and had been stealing from United States supply trains as they passed through here en route to the United States occupation zone.

Overcrowded cities and huge stretches of forest and lonely roads make it easy for a.w.o.l. soldiers of all armies to hide in safety.

The commander of the British border control said his unit had just been able to "scratch the surface."

"Much of the smuggling is on an individual basis, but the big stealing is organized by international gangs headed in some cases, I am afraid, by Allied soldiers," he said.

British Woman Dead; American Is Held

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—A British woman was shot to death in her hotel room at Wiesbaden last night, and an American civilian is being held for observation during investigation of the shooting, United States Army headquarters announced today.

Everett H. Snedeker, 33 years old, of Lincoln, Neb., was apprehended at the scene of the crime, said the official announcement, which described him as a civilian employee in the office of the Army's European theater judge advocate.

The 26-year-old British woman, whose name was withheld pending notification of her relatives, was a civilian employee of the European Air Transport Service. Four bullets from a pistol were fired into her body, killing her immediately.

Italian Group's Vote Averts Internal Rift

Rome, Dec. 14 (AP)—The National Council of Italy's Christian Democrats today voted confidence in the party's executive committee, thus apparently staving off an internal split that could have brought Government crisis.

The party organ, Il Popolo, announced the vote, but did not state whether Attilio Piccione, general secretary, who submitted his resignation yesterday, would continue in his post.

Piccione offered to step down in the face of an accusation by one wing of the party that "faulty direction" had caused the Christian Democrats to suffer reverses in the recent municipal elections.

Workers Protest Italian Food Scarcity

Rome, Dec. 14 (AP)—Ansa, Italian news agency, reported last night that a group of workers marched into the prefecture and labor headquarters in Naples yesterday to protest against food scarcity and rising living costs. They were told by the prefect, the agency said, that food shipments were on the way.

DAY

Meanwhile, UNRRA officials in Rome estimated that Italy had only enough cereals to last eight weeks. The grain harvest is not due for 24 weeks.

Until the harvest, officials said, the country will need 100,000 tons of cereals a week. They said Italian bread for the present would consist of 25 per cent soft grain flour, 45 per cent hard grain flour and 30 per cent oats.

Italy to Get Penicillin Factory

ROME, Dec. 13 (AP)—An entire penicillin factory from the United States will be sent to Italy, the director of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration to this country disclosed today. Italians have gone to the United States, Britain and Canada to study the production of penicillin.

SWINDLER OUTWITS VENETIAN POLICE

Venice, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—Red-faced Venice police have discovered, they say, that the "American Army captain" who reported that bandits had kidnaped his wife and stolen his jeep actually was a notorious Italian swindler and had robbed them of a jeep.

DAY

Yesterday the police announced that a man who identified himself as Capt. John Willis told them that he and his wife were held up while driving along a country road and that the robbers retained the woman hostage and sent him back for ransom money of $2,250.

The police lent him a jeep but withheld the money. He and the police went to the payoff spot. There the police waited while he went ahead to make contact. After a short delay, they followed him. Both he and the jeep had vanished.

Circulars sent to police stations throughout Italy identified the man as William Capuzzo of Chioggia, near Venice, where, police said, he had represented himself as a captain in the United States Eighty-eighth Division.

FOOD STOCK POOL VOTED FOR AUSTRIA

Vienna, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—The Allied Control Council, resolving a long-standing disagreement over the Austrian food crisis, voted unanimously yesterday to pool existing stocks and imports, and turn over to the Government all indigenous food supplies.

DAY

The council also adopted an American proposal to put former Nazis into detention camps only after due process of law had been followed, and with full rights of habeas corpus. The Russians had first favored detaining all Nazis considered dangerous to the security of the State.

The council held that purging former Nazis from the University of Vienna student body was up to the Austrian Government and would not necessitate closing the university, as the Soviet representatives contended.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of American forces in Austria and United States representative on the council, signed a Christmas amnesty order today releasing from prison some 200 minor offenders, who had been sentenced by United States Military Government courts. The order, effective Monday, applies to persons sentenced before September 1 and whose terms would expire before February 1, 1947. Its purpose was to permit these minor offenders to spend Christmas with their families.

Guerrilla Loss Reported In Battle For Town On Turkish Border

Athens, Dec. 14 (AP)—Six gendarmes and twenty members of an anti-Government band were killed in a six-hour battle for the village of Verria 15 miles northeast of Sparta, the Ministry of Public Order reported today. Press dispatches said Greek Army units repelled guerrillas trying to force entry into a town on the Turkish border.

DAY

NIGHT

The attackers at Verria used heavy machine guns, mortars and grenades, but were finally turned back, the Ministry said. The battle occurred in the general area of Mount Parnon, the only section of the Peloponnesus where heavy fighting has been reported for several months.

Guerrillas Out Of 14 Villages

Meanwhile, 2d Division headquarters at Larisa announced that guerrillas had been cleared out of fourteen villages in a four-day mopping up operation in the lower Mount Olympus area in which six leftists were killed.

Gen. Constantin Ventiris, commander of the 3d Army Corps, issued a proclamation inviting members of guerrilla bands to surrender under amnesty terms provided by Parliament and work for "the salvation of Greece."

Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, Premier of South Africa, addressing a session of the Greek Parliament, said that Greece needs the backing of her "strong friends and allies abroad who know her needs."

He expressed the hope that Greece will receive "that sympathy, encouragement and backing she so richly deserves and will again repay so well."

1946 Greece Calls Up 2 Reserve Classes

Athens, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Greek Minister of War today ordered all reserve officers and men in the 1937 military class in seven northern provinces and in the 1936 class in central Greece and the Ionian Islands to report for service between December 17 and 20.

Meanwhile, 2d Division headquarters at Ugarisa announced that it had completed four days' mopping-up operations in the lower Mount Olympus area and cleared insurgents out of fourteen villages. The announcement said six guerrillas had been killed.

Gen. Constantine Ventiris, commander of the 3rd Army, now touring eastern Macedonia and western Thrace, has issued a proclamation inviting the guerrillas to surrender under terms of an amnesty provided by the Greek Parliament.

Turk Border Plans

The Greek Foreign Ministry said, meanwhile, it had reports that Turkey had decided to build fortifications along the Turkish-Greek frontier to ward off "a likely invasion" of Turkish territory by forces of the Macedonian autonomous movement.

The Foreign Ministry said the fortification order was understood to have resulted from a visit to the Greek frontier by the Turkish chief of staff. The Ministry said the Turks believed the movement for an independent Macedonia was "not a movement of Greek Partisans" but "a Slav movement with broader purposes."

The Ministry said Turkey also had ordered the arrest and deportation of all Yugoslavs and Albanians within its borders. (400)

SOVIET PAPER GIVES PRAISE TO U.N. WORK

Izvestia Terms Results 'Substantial' And 'Fruitful'

E. Gilmore

Moscow, Dec. 14 (AP)—Izvestia, the Soviet Government's newspaper, gave warm commendation today to the work of the United Nations Assembly and the Foreign Ministers Council in New York, declaring with some reservations that it was "fruitful" and "substantial."

Observers said the summary was the most optimistic in Izvestia in a long time and in itself was a contribution toward further collaboration by the great powers.

Izvestia said "one cannot be satisfied with all its (the Assembly's) results" but "one cannot fail to see a substantial achievement benefiting the cause of international peace."

NIGHT

Publicity Acclaimed

The Foreign Ministers, too, said Izvestia, "have overcome many difficulties for the solution of important international affairs in the interest of peace and democracy."

The Government organ said the publicity given the debates played an important part in bringing the issues squarely before the peoples of the world, despite the objections of some delegates to this spotlight of publicity who "apparently were not sure of the correctness of their position.

Izvestia objected to the noise made about the right of veto, but said the proposal to change the veto had ended in a "foggy" recommendation. The Soviet proposal on universal armaments limitations was the most important question and most constructive step since the formation of the United Nations, Izvestia declared, despite efforts to "confuse this question in every way."

U.S. And Britain Criticized

The United Nation's recommendation for withdrawal of top diplomatic representatives from Spain was characterized as a certain advance and a "first step" toward "practical action."

Izvestia said, however, that British and American policies were often a "duet" which sometimes became "comical" and even "scandalous."

The paper mentioned in this connection reports of negotiations between American and British military chiefs ta the moment when the question of arms limitation was before United Nations, and said this was the reason why such outspoken alarm was voiced in Britain over na alleged subordination of British policy to the "senior partner, the U.S.A."

Izvestia Calls Work Of U.N. 'Fruitful'

E. Gilmore

Moscow, Dec. 14 (AP)—Izvestia termed the United Nations General Assembly session in New York "fruitful" today in perhaps the warmest commendation the Soviet Government newspaper had given any international gathering in many months.

DAY

"One cannot be satisfied with all its results," said Izvestia in a long review of the session. "It can be assumed that the session could have reached better results with less waste of time and energy, but one cannot fail to see substantial achievement benefiting the cause of international peace."

Izvestia said the Four Power Foreign Ministers Council also "overcame many difficulties for the solution of important international affairs in the interest of peace and democracy."

Review "Cheery"

Observers called the review one of the cheeriest in a long time and said it, too, was a solid contribution toward further co-operation among the great powers.

Though generally approving, Izvestia was critical of some aspects of international relations, notably of efforts to do away with the principle of unanimity of the big powers in the United Nations Securtiy Council and of reported planning of United States and British militarists.

"Comical Duet"

Izvestia declared that the British and Americans worked like a duet at times and this often became "comical" and sometimes "even scandalous." Likewise it said that while disarmament talks were going on, reports circulated in London that the chiefs of staff of the United States and Britain had carried on secret negotiations without the knowledge of Congress and Parliament. Moscow Broadcasts Wallace Editorial

Moscow, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—A Tass dispatch from New York, giving a synopsis of Henry A. Wallace's debut editorial in the New Republic, was published today in Moscow newspapers and broadcast to the various republics in the U. S. S. R. There was no editorial comment.

DAY

In his first editorial, Wallace stated his platform for "jobs, peace and freedom." He said that "warm friendship" would never exist on a firm basis between the United States and Russia "until the peoples of both nations are given free access to the unbiased truth and complete freedom to express their reactions to that truth."

Use Truncheons And Tear Gas At Cyprus Harbor

Famagusta, Cyprus, Dec. 14 (AP)—Steel-helmeted British Marines and bluejackets swung truncheons and used tear gas today to restore order among 744 refugee Jews rescued from the Greek island of Syrina. The disturbance broke out when the Jews learned they were being landed.

NIGHT

The Jews, mostly young men and women, were brought here on a British LST after their rescue Wednesday from Syrina. They were shipwrecked there last week end, while en route to Palestine as un-certified immigrants.
